Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

Telegraphy

Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service

Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

STENOGRAPHY

We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING

Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES

Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.

Call, write or phone for particulars

Peterboro Business College

(Founded 1885)

McKONE & BURNS - Principal
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President

Backache, Headache Internal Pains.

"If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

MRS. JOSEPH LACELLE, 121 Bronson St., Ottawa East, Ontario, Canada, writes:

"I suffered with backache, headache and dragging pains for over nine months, and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for those troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable half-dead, half-alive condition.

"I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year.

"If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Mde. Joseph Beaudoin, 59 Rue St. Olivier, Quebec, P. Q. Can., writes:

"Peruna is wonderful for indigestion. I eat whatever I want and no longer feel any oppression. Having had dyspepsia for a long time and having tried various other remedies, I decided to try Peruna and with the fourth bottle of it I was perfectly cured.

"For this reason I recommend it to all those who are suffering with that terrible malady, dyspepsia. I hope that all who are afflicted in this way will take Peruna and Manalin as I did."

Chronic Nasal Catarrh.

Mr. Chas. H. Stevens, 122 Sixteenth St., Detroit, Mich., writes:

"It affords me great pleasure to testify to the merits of Peruna as a remedy for catarrh.

"I suffered for some time with chronic nasal catarrh, but after five months treatment during which time I used seven bottles of Peruna I am pleased to say that I am entirely well, there not being the slightest trace of catarrh left.

"Peruna is without a doubt, in my mind, the greatest remedy known for catarrh."

Weak, Tired Feeling.

Miss Marie A. Lesser, 921 W. 35th St., Chicago, Ill., Worthy Secretary I. O. G. T., writes:

"I am glad to give a good word for Peruna, and I hope that all who see this who are troubled with systemic catarrh as I was for years, will profit by it.

"I had tried many remedies, but none did more than give me temporary relief, and some did not even do that.

"I took Peruna at the suggestion of a friend, and was more than pleased and surprised at the results

"I am now perfectly well and strong. That weak, tired feeling has left me, and I feel like a different person entirely."

The Slavery of Disease.

It is wonderful how many women in Canada and the United States have been practically made new again by the use of Peruna.

Not the victims of any organic disease, but just a half-dead and half-alive, condition.

Miserable, dragging pains that keep a woman always from doing her best work, from being her best self. Cross and petulent, perhaps. Maybe even a slattern in her household, just because her health is continually below par. She never feels quite right. She gets the reputation of being sullen, or morbid, or ill tempered.

Her trouble is not a moral one at all, it is simply a physical one. Make such a woman well and she immediately becomes transformed into a new being mentally.

This is exactly what Peruna has done in a multitude of cases.

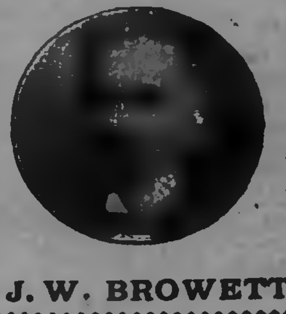
Heavy Holiday Traffic

A heavy holiday traffic is reported from the local depot offices of the G.T.R. and C.P.R. Trains are running with double headers and in two sections.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

St. John's Church Notes

St. John's choir boys will attend and sing carols at the Protestant Home this afternoon, while presents are being given to the inmates Carol singing on Christmas Eve is a very old English custom, that might be revived to advantage.



Lenses Changed After Xmas

The Optical Institute is supplying beautiful Eyeglasses and Spectacles complete with name in gold on the case, for Xmas gifts. They will comfort and please the recipient for many days. Many parents and others neglect their eyes until the necessity is noticed by some kind son daughter or friend.

Eyeglasses and Spectacles, $3.50, $5, $7.50 and $12.50.

Beautiful Reading Glasses $1.00, $2.50, $3 and $4.50.

Eyeglass Holders with chain and initials engraved, $1.50, $2.50 and $5.

The Peterboro Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

SOME SPECIAL HOLIDAY GOODS
—AT—
ROUTLEY'S

ROUTLEY'S being my headquarters for the past 25 years I still find the establishment up to the minute with all the latest lines of presents shown on the two floors:

FIRST FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

China Tea Sets from	$ 2.94
10 piece Chamber sets from $2 to	12.00
Limoges China Bread and butter plates, $3.50 doz. Now half dozen for	1.10
Austrian China bread and butter plates, dozen $2.00. Now half dozen for	80c
Tremendous range of fancy China Cups and Saucers, regular 25c for	14c

Collection of fancy China Salad Bowls, Bon Bons, Fern Pots, Hair Receivers, Toilet Accessories, Ash Trays and Candle Sticks, in china or brass, Jardineres, Gilt and silver Jewel Boxes, Dressing Cases, Shaving Cases, Comb and Brush Cases, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Manicure Sets, Ladies' Companions, Writing Portfolios, Music Cases. All kinds of Bibles and Prayer Books, Mirrors and Brushes of all kinds, Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses.

SECOND FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

Toy Tea Sets	5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Noah Arks	10c, 15c, 25c
Large Magnetic Toys	20c
Drums	5c, 10c, 20c, 50c, 75c
Iron Trains	25c, 50c
Tin Trains	25c, 50c, 75c, to $3.00
Friction Toys	50c to $1.25
Toy Trunks, brass locks	$1.00, $1.25, 1.50

Doll Carriages, all prices,

Boy's and Girl's Sleighs, all prices,

Toy Books, Guns, Bugles, Puzzles, Building and A.B.C. Blocks, Magic Lanterns, Steam and Hot Air Engines, Mechanical Toys

SPECIAL OFFER

90 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $1.00, for each	35c
66 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $3.00, for each	60c

SPECIAL OFFER

20 China Dinner and Tea Sets, 97 pieces, regular $25.00, for $14.85

Both Phones 366 | ROUTLEY'S | 376 George St., Peterborough

PROBABILITIES
Colder to-night. Wednesday, fair and decidedly cold.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. LXI., No. 147.
PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1910
TEN CENTS PER WEEK

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

CONTESTS TO BE HOT

Ontario Will Have Some Exciting Municipal Fights.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Nomination day passed off quietly in most of the cities, towns and rural municipalities of Ontario, though exciting contests for the mayoralties are promises in some places.

In Berlin Mayor Hahn's retention of the seat is contested by W. H. Schwartz and an exciting contest is certain. For the nine aldermanic seats no fewer than 45 names were put in nomination and 25 will contest the seven positions on the Board of Education.

In Port Arthur there are ten out for mayor and 43 for the council. Leamington has six mayoralty candidates.

In Hamilton two candidates are in the field, while Mayor McLaren, content with lesser honors, is out for controller. Brantford promises a warm fight between Ald. Rastall and W. R. Turnbull.

The Town of Harriston elects to all its civic offices by acclamation.

James McArthur of Powasson has the distinction of being elected mayor by acclamation for the sixth time.

Mayor Malcolm Cameron Graham of Goderich is re-elected.

The acclamations are:—

Barrie, T. Beacroft.
St. Mary's, F. G. Sanderson.
St. Thomas, Fred. Gust.
Goderich, M. C. Graham (re-elected)
Oakville, George Hillman.
Clinton, Jacob Taylor.
Meaford, J. G. Clarke.
Forest, E. Rumford.
Powassan, J. McArthur.
Uxbridge, N. R. Beal.
Palmerston, M. C. Burns.
Harriston, Anson Spotton.
Pembroke, W. L. Hunter.
Tottenham, A. P. Potter.
Stouffville, R. P. Coulson.
Woolwich Township, J. J. Wilkinson
Bradford, A. E. Scanlon.
Vaughan Township, S. A. Cameron.
Woodbridge, J. E. Harris.
Scarboro, W. D. Annis (re-elected).
Pembroke Township, W. H. Bumley.
Dundas, William Lawson.
Forest, C. McLean.
Thorold, William McGill.
Sarnia, J. Goodison.
Mesea Township, J. Drummond.
Meaford, R. Agnew.

Three Murders In a Day.

Greenburg, Pa., Dec. 27.—The third murder in 24 hours was reported to the coroner yesterday in the death of Tony Sarcino, a striker, formerly employed by the Youghiogheny & Ohio Coal Co. Mike Calcorski and John Nathan are being sought by the state police.

Sarcino was living in a strikers' camp and was shot to death Sunday night when there was an assault upon the camp. About 75 shots were fired.

Sawed His Head Off.

Bluefield, W.Va., Dec. 27.—By sawing for ten minutes, Hamilton Cook almost severed the head of Frank Bennett from his body Sunday at the home of the latte rat Lex, about 50 miles from here. The two men had quarrelled over domestic troubles.

Held Up a Train.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 27.—One man held and robbed every passenger on a Missouri Pacific passenger train, which arrived from the west Saturday night, bound for St. Louis. He boarded the train at Leavenworth and went through every coach.

Lynched Sheriff's Slayer.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 27—Oscar Chittwood, charged with having killed Sheriff Jake Houpt in Hot Springs, Ark., last August, was taken from the county jail at Hot Springs yesterday and shot to death. His body was riddled with bullets.

Threatened Several Persons.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 27.—Emanuel Provost, hailing from Quebec, was taken by the police Sunday night while in a demented condition. He is said to have threatened several persons, and is considered dangerous to be at large.

Shot Through Window.

Greely, Colo., Dec. 27.—Bending over the kitchen stove preparing the Christmas dinner Sunday, Mrs. Maggie Roberts was killed by a shot fired through the kitchen door at her home in Frederick, a neighboring coal mining camp where a strike is in progress. The shot is believed to have been for her husband, who is a foreman of the Evans Mine, and where, it is said, the trouble started. Five miners are under arrest.

Gave Prisoners a Scare.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 27.—Fire in the basement of the Court House here early yesterday morning did $150 damages. The prisoners confined in the jail were greatly alarmed when smoke poured into the cells, but no disorder occurred among them. The fire was caused by overheating of pipes in the fire room.

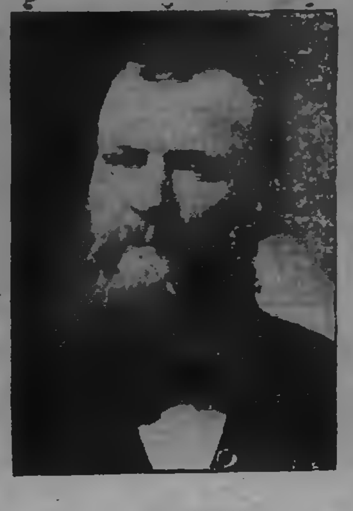
Little Interest at Capital.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—There is not a great deal of interest in the civic nominations here. The mayor, Charles Hopewell, will have two papers put in as opposition, Ald. Black's and Ald. Caron's, but neither are likely to go to the polls, or, if they do, to be elected. The same candidates as last year will be renominated for the Board of Control, and the old board is likely to go in, with or without opposition. There will be contests for aldermanic seats in all wards but one.

The aldermen are trying to abolish the Board of Control on the question of "patronage." It will be put to the vote, but is hardly likely to carry.

"BOYS OF THE OLD BRIGADE"--THEY WERE RENOMINATED

ALD. J. J. DUFFUS



ALD. JOS. BATTEN

ALD. HARRY PHELAN

ALD. R. HICKS

ALD. H. MORGAN

SHOCKING FATALITIES BLIGHT CHRISTMAS IN MANY HOMES

Four Children Burned to Death—Acetylene Gas Apparatus Blows up Setting Home on Fire on Christmas Eve—Long List of Disasters Come Over the Wires From all Parts of the Country—Child Tries to Hang Himself.

Montreal, Dec. 27.—A special from Warwick, Que., reports a sad fatality at that place. Rachel, 7 years; Lucinne, 5 years; Marcel, 4 years, and Marie Anne, 3 years, daughters of Ovide Baris, a well-known citizen, having been burned to death on Christmas Eve. This is a particularly sad case, as four of five children, all girls, have been taken from them.

The terrible disaster was caused by the explosion of an acetyline gas apparatus blowing the side out of the house and severely injuring Mr. and Mrs. Baris, who, with their youngest child, were sleeping below.

Flames cut off the four children at once, and the father was bodily burned attempting a rescue. When the local fire brigade had extinguished the fire, the little bodies, almost burned to a crisp, were removed.

Twins Burned to Death.

Weston, Va., Dec. 27.—During breakfast yesterday morning a lamp exploded in the bedroom at the home of Eldo Bech, at Byron, and burned to death twin boy babies, six months old. The home with all its contents were burned.

Tries to Hang Himself.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 27.—Ralph Shannon, 10 years of age, died at his home here yesterday in convulsions, resulting from an attempt to hang himself because his mother would not let him go to a moving picture show. The child wished to go to the show Saturday afternoon and when his mother told him to stay at home, he went to a woodshed in the rear of the house and tried to hang himself with a skate-strap. After he had fastened the strap so that his feet barely touched the ground he became frightened and screamed for help. His mother rescued him, but the boy went from one convulsion into another and died.

Two Dead; Four Injured.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 27.—Decorations for Christmas at the home of Daniel O'Connor, a mail carrier, ended in a fire which cost the lives of his two babies, seriously injured four other persons and destroyed the O'Connor home. The injured are: Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, Owen Peterson and Patrolman Schott, all burned while trying to save the children. A lamp used to light the fireplace exploded, setting fire to the house.

Heroic Husband Loses Life.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 27.—In attempting to rescue his wife from their burning home, H. Kellemeyer was burned to death, while his wife, trapped in a second storey room by the flames, escaped by jumping from a window.

Kellemeyer made two trips into the burning building and rescued his five children. He was on his third trip after his wife when he met death.

Suicides Amid Christmas Gifts.

Charlton Depot, Mass., Dec. 27.—The Christmas spirit did not lessen the melancholia which had possessed Henry Ryan for some time, and, surrounded by Christmas evergreens and the gifts of the day at his home, he stretched himself on a sofa, and, placing a shotgun muzzle in his mouth, discharged the weapon.

His wife and three children, who were at church, found his body with the head horribly disfigured when they returned.

Couple Asphyxiated.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 27.—James Tienry, 23 years old, and his wife, Margaret, 19 years old, to whom he had been married but a year, were found dead in bed from gas asphyxiation yesterday at the home of a friend, with whom they had spent the night. It is supposed that after the gas was turned out it was accidentally turned on again.

Musician Is Maimed.

Rome, Ga., Dec. 27.—As a result of his first experience with fireworks, Alex. Skibiniki, a Russian violinist and professor in Shorter College here, never will be able to play his violin again. Skibinski, who has been in America only since last September, went to a store Saturday night and called for Roman candles. Instead he was given a giant firecracker. The cracker exploded in his hand, tearing away three fingers. Mrs. Skibinski, also a teacher in the college, was standing nearby, and was rendered permanently deaf in one ear by the explosion.

Three Asphyxiated.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 27.—Three men are dead, two are dying and four others are seriously ill from gas poisoning caused by a leaky main under a rooming house. The three men who died have not been identified.

Two Men Drown.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 27.—While attempting to reach the bark Kingdom of the Holy Ghost and Us Society in a dory, two men were drowned in Chesapeake Bay off Ocean View Sunday night. The men came ashore to mail Christmas letter to friends and on their return trip ventured out in a 30-mile northwest gale. In attempting to cross a sandbar the dory was swamped. Five others in the boat were rescued.

Powder Explosion Kills Man.

Beaumont, Texas, Dec. 27.—As a part of the Christmas celebration Robert Herrington and a companion planned to explode a quantity of dynamite near Orange, Texas. It was their plan to convey the explosive in a buggy to a point several miles from Orange. The jostling of the vehicle caused a premature explosion and Herrington is dead and his companion slightly injured.

All But Six Drowned.

Antwerp, Dec. 27.—The steamers Finland and Baltique were in collision Sunday at the mouth of the River Eucaut. The Baltique sank quickly and all the crew excepting six men were drowned. The rescued were taken on board the Finland.

The Baltique, a Belgian steamer of 1,365 tons, was outward bound with a cargo of sand.

It is stated that the Finland, in veering, struck the Baltique amidships. Part of the crew was rescued by the Finland and others by a pilot boat.

Accidental Shootings at Kingston.

Kingston, Dec. 27.—Fooling with a rifle along with other lads led to a serious accident to Harry Riddle, aged 15, of Colerock. Riddle was about six feet away from his companions when one accidentally discharged his rifle. The shot hit him on the left leg, between the knee and ankle, and went clear through the member. He will recover.

John Johnston of Joyceville, who accidentally shot himself last Thursday while out on his farm shooting, is dead. He never regained consciousness. He was aged 35, and unmarried.

Toronto Woman Asphyxiated.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—A Christmas holly wreath, swinging from a chandelier, forced open a gascock early yesterday and caused the asphxiation of Mrs. Eda May Simpson of Toronto, Ont. She was dead when found by her daughter.

Mrs. Simpson came from Toronto last week on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Edward Tiffen.

Accidentally Shot.

Barrie, Dec. 27.—Harry Oliver, a lad of 16, is at present lying in a critical condition, resulting from a bullet wound, received from the accidental discharge of a gun while shooting sparrows on the premises of H. Dyment, his employer, Saturday. He displayed considerable courage, running three blocks to the nearest doctor after receiving the wound. At present he is holding his own. His only relative is a brother in Toronto.

Killed by Train.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Dec. 27.—Daniel Patterson, an employe of the ship canal, was killed Sunday evening by being struck by a C.P.R. train near the Wellington street crossing. Patterson, who was aged 72, was said to be deaf, and was making his way home.

Trivial Quarrel Ends In Murder.

Cypress, Fla., Dec. 27.—Jim Whitt of Altha, Fla., shot and fatally wounded Stephen Johnson, a neighbor, in a quarrel yesterday over a trivial matter. Whitt was in turn shot and instantly killed by the mother of Johnson. Several bystanders were injured.

Explosion Blows Out Whole Front of a Store In Dresden, Ont.

Chatham, Dec. 27.—A large portion of the business section of Dresden was wiped out early Sunday morning by fire, which started in C. A. Jeffery's millinery store, completely destroyed Edward Watson's grocery, Masonic Hall, Robinson's millinery store, John Adkin's billiard hall, Robert Aikens' drygoods store, together with their entire contents. The Bank of Commerce caught fire several times, but was saved.

The total loss is placed at $100,000, detailed figures being lacking. C. B. Watson, owner of the building, and Robert Aiken are the heaviest losers. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

While the fire was in progress an explosion took place in Aiken's store, the entire front being blown out. C. V. Hicks, ex-mayor, aged 65, was instantly killed, and Rev. G. H. Long, Methodist minister, so seriously injured that he died about 9.30 in the evening. He was the father of George Long, who was a former member of The Buffalo Courier and The London Free Press. Walter Dynes, Robert Aikens, Charles Aiken, Dr. McDonald and others suffered lesser injuries, and will recover.

The entire town is in mourning as a result of the tragedy. All festivities are suspended. Coroner Willey will hold an inquest to ascertain the cause of the explosion.

Slew His Wife.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 27.—The body of Mrs. Paul Faber, 30 years old, terribly bruised about the head and bust, was found under a mattress in her home. Her husband was arrested immediately, after the police had heard the story of his three-year-old daughter, May. The little girl said she had been awakened by hearing her father and mother quarreling and that she had seen her father strike her mother with a bludgeon, which he afterwards burned in the stove.

Sydney Express Wrecked.

Truro, N.S., Dec. 27.—As the Sydney express, crowded with Christmas visitors, was running through the yard yesterday, the engine and three cars jumped the track at a point below Young street crossing. No lives were lost. The engine and tender are canted over almost across the track and two cars following plowed up ground for about 50 yards, and both are lying almost on their sides.

An open switch is said to be the cause of the accident.

Killed by Eating Mistletoe.

Blytheville, Ark., Dec. 27.—Three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Ham Griffin died yesterday from eating berries from the mistletoe. The children were sent to the woods for decorations to make the Griffin home cheerful, during the holiday season, and on the way back they swallowed quantities of the little transparent berries. They became violently ill after they reached their mother, and all died within twenty-four hours.

Stabbing In London.

London, Ont., Dec. 27.—Jas. Fowler, a West London butcher, is in Victoria Hospital in a serious condition, and Wm. Hyslop is under arrest on a charge of assault and wounding, as the result of a sensational stabbing affray in West London on Saturday night, shortly before midnight.

There was a party at Hyslop's on Saturday night, at which it is said there was liquor served. During the course of this it is said that Hyslop's wife was found by her husband in Fowler's butcher shop. The husband went to the shop and attacked Fowler with a butcher knife.

Fowler jumped through the store window, with blood streaming from his wounds, and was chased down the street by Hyslop, armed with two butcher knives. Hyslop's brother interposed and Fowler made his escape. He later collapsed and was taken to the hospital. Hyslop was arrested.

AVIATOR HOXSEY REACHES ALTITUDE OF 11,474 FEET

Member of Wright Team at Los Angeles, Goes a Thousand Feet Higher Than Le Gagnoux—Makes Climb in an Hour and Forty-Five Minutes.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 27.—Seventy thousand people saw Arch Hoxsey of the Wright team of aviators break the world's record for altitude here yesterday. He soared more than two miles up into the sky, or almost a thousand feet more than the 10,499 fee, recently attained by Le Gagneux at Pau, France. Hoxsey accomplished his feat in a 40-mile gale, which wrecked Hubert Latham's Antoinette monoplane, and kept more cautious aviators on the ground.

Hoxsey sailed into the syk at one o'clock. At 2.45 his barograph showed the greatest height. He was then flying over Venice, a seashore resort, more than twenty miles from the aviation field.

Coming down, he made a series of thrilling spirals while thousands of feet in the air. Before he came lightly to earth, the crowd was on its feet cheering. He was lifted from his biplane by fellow aviators, who paraded up and down before the grand stand, bearing him upon their shoulders.

"Was it windy up there?" he was asked.

"It blew so hard," replied Hoxsey, "that my machine hardly moved, and barely held its own. It was so cold that more than once I thought my carburetter was about to freeze.

"I made the record because I determined to keep on going up until I passed Le Gagneux's record, or until the carburetter froze."

The gale which Hoxsey and his brethren of the Wright camp, Parmalee and Brookins, braved successfully, wrecked Latham's beautiful Antoinette machine completely. The Frenchman was among the aviators who answered the starting gun at one o'clock. For two hours and fifteen minutes he fought the wind, which blew directly off the ocean, six miles from the aviation field. Then an adverse current sent his aeroplane downward into a fence under the brow of a hill, and threw the aviator into a gully.

The Frenchman was unhurt, but his machine was a tangled mass of wires and silken fabric. The motor was the only part left intact, and Latham said that, having enough parts for three extra machines, he would build a new monoplane, and be in the air again before the end of the meet.

Notwithstanding the high wind Parmalee, driver of the "Baby" Wright, attained an altitude of 6,625 feet, and went through spectacular performances, apparently with ease.

Telegraph certificates of the barograph reading of Hoxsey's record flight were sent to Clifford B Harmon and J. K. Duffy, the president and secretary of the National Federation of Aero Clubs of America.

No Undue Concessions.

Montreal, Dec. 27.—La Patrie referring to the statement of a Toronto paper to the effect that the Minister of Finance would make undue concessions to the farmers of the west, says:

"No doubt the Federal Government desires to be agreeable to the farmers of Western Canada, but it is quite certain that they will do nothing of a nature to compromise the interests of the other sections of the Dominion. The Government realizes well enough that it would go to pieces if they were to sacrifice the general prosperity of the Canadian people, simply to serve certain western groups and the great American enterprises. 'Canada for the Canadians,' and Mr. Fielding and Mr. Paterson can have no other device."

Borne on Hose Cart.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Funeral services of public character were held yesterday for Fireman James Haron, who met his death in the stock yards fire Thursday with twenty-two others. Mayor Fred A. Busser rode in the mourners' section, and Chief of Police Leroy Steward led several platoons of police on foot. Acting Fire Marshal Charles Zieferlich, who arrived at the blaze Thursday a moment after his chief had been buried beneath the falling walls, marched at the head of the section of the firemen. The corpse, borne on a horse cart, was accompanied by a guard of honor of the fire department division heads, and was followed by a line of equipages extending back for a mile and a half.

W. R. Travers Refused Admittance.

Toronto, Dec. 27.—Some comment has been made on the fact that W. R. Travers, vice-president of the Farmers' Bank, was not present at the directors' meeting on Saturday.

In explanation of the circumstances Mr. Travers said that his services were at the bank's disposal, but that on Thursday last when he entered the bank, Daniel Miller, on behalf of G. T. Clarkson, curator, declined to allow him to take a part.

GOOD ORDER FOR THE HOLIDAY

Only One Case at the Police Court—Drunk Was Discharged

Only one drunk graced the Police Court this morning.

His was the only arrest made by the police service Saturday.

That's a pretty fair record for a police force and a city of 17,000.

There was, of course, many a Christmas jay, but of that order, which permits of an officer using his discretion. None was troublesome and the heading tells the tale.

Four Storey Building Burns.

Winnipeg, Dec. 27.—Fire broke out a second time in Donald Fraser & Co. of Montreal, on Rorie street, last night and completely gutted the four-storey building. The first fire was got under control in about half an hour, but about 10.45 it was discovered that the fire had worked its way to the third floor, and a general alarm concentrated the brigade on the spot.

When the leading companies arrived, flames were bursting from all windows on the third floor, and they evidently had a good hold on the second and fourth floors.

The flames spread to the adjoining building, occupied by McAllister & Watts, wholesale stationers, but is likely to be confined to water and smoke.

At midnight, while the fire is not out, all danger of its spreading further seems at an end.

The building is valued at about $65,000.

DAMAGES OF $300

For Wm. McMullen Who Had Trouble With Conductor on Train From Millbrook

William McMullin, who, in October, while returning from the Millbrook Fair, had some trouble with Clarence Long, the conductor of the G. T. R. passenger train and the latter took action against the Company, was on Friday given $300 as damages, both parties agreeing on this amount.

MEETING OF POULTRY ASSN.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Poultry Association, also of those having tickets for sale at Mr. J. T. C. Lang's store on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. All are requested to attend.

JOE KELLY,
Sec-Treasurer.

"Thank You"

Mr. and Mrs. Kitsey, thank Nicholls Lawn Tennis Club for the Christmas present [illegible]

THE FATAL CROSSING

Carriage With Family Party Hit by a M.C.R. Train.

Nashville, Mich., Dec. 27.—Reuben Lawrence, 14 years old, was killed, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Llewelyn Lawrence, were probably fatally injured, and two sisters and a brother were less seriously hurt, when their carriage was struck by a Michigan Central passenger train, as the Lawrence family was driving home from a Christmas celebration, near Vermontville, Saturday.

Train Hits Auto Car.

Philadelphia, Dec. 27.—While delivering Christmas packages in a big auto truck for a Philadelphia department store, two men and a boy who were in the vehicle, were killed Friday night when a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train struck the truck at Moore, ten miles from this city.

Two at Dunnville.

Dunnville, Dec. 27.—Friday morning about 11 o'clock, at the Dilts road crossing of the Wabash Railroad, about five miles from here, a terrible accident took place, in which the lives of two men were lost. The unfortunate victims were Rev. Mr. Mills, the United Brethern minister at Elcho, and Eugene Pyle of Stromness.

Mr. Hills was driving to Dunnville in a covered buggy, and had picked up Mr. Pyle, who was walking only a short distance from the track. They evidently did not notice the approaching Wabash flier, and the train struck the buggy in the centre, throwing both the occupants into the ditch, and evidently killing both instantly, and also the horse. The engineer immediately stopped the train and backed to the crossing.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

A great strike of oil is reported a short distance north of Edmonton.

The heavy rainfall in New England has brought relief from the long-continued drought.

It is reported at Winnipeg that some of the street railway strikers have applied to be reinstated.

It is rumored that the United States fleet will visit German waters in response to an invitation from the Kaiser.

Cesare Guyatt, aged 111 years and nine months, died at Bewdley, Ont., Dec. 25. Deceased was a native of Lower Canada.

The Electrical Trust Co., "the greatest trust in the world," will be indicted by the U. S. Government for alleged conspiracy to restrain trade.

Skating out the close of the Christmas holiday at Boston, Earl P. Peterson, aged 21, and Miss Lilla Paul, aged 20, broke through the thin ice last night and were drowned.

Five women were found dead in bed Christmas Day in Philadelphia by other occupants of the houses where they lived. In each instance death was due to heart disease.

Fred. Brown, a circus performer of Buffalo, N.Y., while attempting to make a balloon ascension in Havana yesterday, struck a projection of a building He fell 100 feet to the ground, and was killed.

A landing force from the British cruiser Hyacinth had a furious brush with Arabian gun runners on the south coast of Persia yesterday. Fourteen of the British were killed or wounded. The Arabs lost forty.

Found Dead on Grave.

St. Catharines, Dec. 27.—James Hindson, a well-known resident of the city was found dead on the grave of his son-in-law yesterday morning. For some time past he has been in poor health, but was able to be about the house. A few years ago on Christmas Day, his son-in-law, William Marshall, died, and since then it has been Mr. Hindson's custom to visit his grave and decorate it on Christmas Day. Yesterday morning, in company with his little grandson, Mr. Hindson visited the cemetery for that purpose. Some time later residents in the vicinty, attracted by the cries of he child, were astonished to find Mr. Hindson lying on the grave of his son-in-law. Medical aid was hastily summoned, but in vain, death having resulted instantly from heart failure.

A Burglar Guest.

Boston, Dec. 27.—A prosperous appearing man, wearing an expensive fur-lined coat, registered under the name of Dr. R. B. Wilhson, Portland, Me., at the Hotel Westminster, Copely Square, and an hour later appeared before Jerome O. Carey, the night clerk, with a loaded revolver, and demanded that the clerk hand out to him the money and valuables in the hotel safe.

Carey tossed him a small bundle of bills, containing $40, telling him that that was all that was in the safe, and the visitor departed. When the police began the investigation they found that in his haste, the thief had dropped behind him a bundle of wigs, false beards and other disguises.

A Veteran Barrister.

Chatham, Dec. 27.—C. R. Atkinson, K.C., a well-known resident of this city, passed away on Christmas eve, after a lengthy illness, aged 83 years. He was for many years a leader of the western Ontario bar.

Didn't Obey Orders.

Quebec, Dec. 27.—Notwithstanding Archbishop Begin having requested the faithful not to attend the grand opera, there was a crowded house last evening, and all the seats are sold for several days ahead.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, DEC. 27, 1910.

NO MONKEY ANCESTORS

After having been told since the palmy days of Charles Darwin that our ancestors were apes and monkeys it is rather surprising to see a scientist arise and indignantly deny the dreadful accusation for us. At the age of 87 Prof. Alfred Russell Wallace LL.D. F.R.S., a co-worker and contemporary of Darwin in the formulation of the Darwin theory of Man's evolution has come to the conclusion that he was wrong and Darwin was wrong on the monkey theory.

Prof. Wallace now says he believes the simple Biblical relation of man's birth, and as a reason for his conversion points out that man has a soul, animals have none. After ten years of scientific research Prof. Wallace makes this important declaration:

"NOTHING IN EVOLUTION CAN ACCOUNT FOR THE SOUL OF MAN. THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MAN AND THE OTHER ANIMALS IS UNBRIDGEABLE."

Prof. Wallace declares his belief in a conscious and intelligent direction of things in this world—that in a word there is a Mind. He points to the delicate construction of a feather, beyond the scope of man's ingenuity, as an evidence of a creative force superior to evolution.

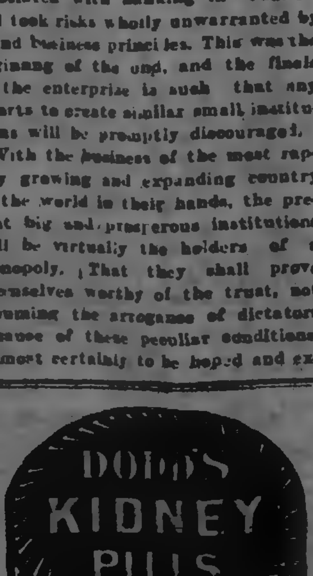
It should surely raise ourselves in our estimation very much to reflect that after all we are not the posterity of monkeys. Many people seem to inherit some of their antics; but perhaps the similarity is merely one of the curiosities of nature. At the magnificent age of eighty-seven Prof. Wallace will probably know in the course of a few years, the truth beyond all realm of theory and speculation. But it will be too late for us to benefit, and the world will go on to the end of time speculating as to "whence we growed."

A BANKING MONOPOLY

With the practical elimination of the Farmers' Bank from the list of Canadian banking institutions the end is probably reached of the small bank, with meagre capital and limited resources. The failure of the Sovereign Bank, of the Ontario Bank, was the outcome very largely of conditions similar to to those which forced the Farmers' Bank to the wall. The older banks, entrenched with huge resources, doubling their capital every six years on the average, have probably the field to themselves for all time to come, and will wax great with swollen assets like some of the personal fortunes across the border.

The Farmers' Bank given the cold shoulder by the big institutions, and deprived of the good business, abandoned the restraint and conservatism associated with banking in Canada, and took risks wholly unwarranted by sound business principles. This was the beginning of the end, and the finale of the enterprise is such that any efforts to create similar small institutions will be promptly discouraged.

With the business of the most rapidly growing and expanding country in the world in their hands, the present big and prosperous institutions will be virtually the holders of a monopoly. That they shall prove themselves worthy of the trust, not assuming the arrogance of dictators because of these peculiar conditions, is most certainly to be hoped and expected; and judged by the high level on which Canadian banking has been maintained there is every ground for the assumption that the banks will continue to lead business ventures into sound and safe channels, giving proper and reasonable assistance to worthy undertakings, and discouraging wild and visionary enterprises that can only result in damaging Canada's fair financial name.



BONNER-WORTH BY-LAW

In an editorial on Saturday, on the Bonner-Worth factory by-law, the Review presented figures that were too conservative. It is expected that the company will have an annual payroll of $20,000 or $25,000; and the annual carrying expense to the city of the $12,000 loan will be $292. The company guarantees to employ only 30 hands, but this is a minimum dictated by business caution, whereas the number which will be employed will be forty or fifty.

The city's loan is fully secured, and the men behind the company have in their financial arrangements given every assurance of solidity and business acumen.

This is a by-law worthy of the undivided support of the people of Peterborough. The combined judgment of the city council supports it. The judgment of the business men approves of it, as a sound business arrangement. Vote for the by-law.

HUDSON'S BAY RAILWAY

The Western farmers will be furious if the Hudson Bay Railway, after being built by the Government is handed over to one of the big corporations, presumably the C. N. R., to operate. Granted that its operation for only two months of the year is possible—and M. J. Butler, former deputy minister of railways and canals is authority for this statement—Government operation could only result in a large annual deficit. The difficulty of securing a staff competent to handle a traffic rush of only two months is apparent—as it would not possibly pay to maintain a large permanent operative force, with everything closed up tight for nine or ten months.

In addition to building the railway and terminals, the Government is expected, or will be expected, to provide elevators, shipping facilities map out a safe water course, and perhaps provide a line of steamers All this costs the country much good money, simply for the benefit of the farmers of the Saskatchewan valley

In undertaking such a large project for the benefit of one section of the Dominion and in the face of great difficulties, one might reasonably expect a special contribution from those benefited, toward large annual deficit sure to follow. If the proposed line were to meet expenses, or approximately so, the case would assume an entirely different complexion. Were the road for general benefit, it would be different.

It should be the aim of a Government to provide cheap and difficult transportation for its people, but in the case of the Hudson's Bay Railway, where the practicability of the whole scheme yet remains to be proven surely the farmer of Prince Edward Island, the miner of British Columbia, the lumberman of Northern Ontario, is not entitled to equally share the risk and loss of Government operation with those directly served. The Hudson Bay railway can only be a grain line — a short outlet to the sea, and its value is limited.

If the western farmers insist on Government operation at a large annual loss, they should be prepared to make good a large portion of that loss to the country, since a leasing of the line would remove the waste.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Vote for the by-laws next Monday and start the New Year right.

Well, here's hoping that your Christmas dinner didn't lead you to the druggist or the doctor for repairs.

"Aspartation" is the act of a thief who succeeds in getting away with the goods. They probably never heard of the word around Ottawa.

When Earl Grey made his reference to childish bad manners in some parts of Ontario he must have been thinking of some Toronto newspaper editors.

The Spanish cortes has passed the padlock bill aimed at religious orders, and His Holiness is wroth. Wonder Vatican do about it?

The western farmers would have Canada's workshop in the United States to which they would send their wheat in exchange for its products Why have a border line separating the two countries at all?

The mammoth deputation of manufacturers and farmers who believe in retaining for Canada its home market will visit Laurier et al about the middle of January. They have a strong case to present and its presentation will lack none of the picturesque features of the western farmers' march on Ottawa. The country's industrial prosperity the influx of hundreds of millions of dollars of foreign capital, the standing of Canada as a nation depends on the continuance of present fiscal conditions which the deputation will urge the Government to maintain.

REFERENCES TO CHRIST.

Almost Contemporaneous Hebrew Manuscripts Are Found.

New York, Dec. 27.—The Times says: "The discovery of what is probably a Hebrew gospel writer earlier than the gospel of the New Testament, has just been made public by President Solomon Schechter of the Swiss Theological Seminary of America.

The document contains practically the only contemporary Hebrew record of persons and events described in the New Testament, and pictures what are probably one of the first Judaeo-Christian sects in which primitive Christianity found a hold and was nourished.

The document consists of eight pages of manuscript, evidently forming part of a larger writing, which President Schechter obtained along with some 20,000 other old Hebrew manuscripts, from the Jewish congregation at Cairo, Egypt, fifteen years ago. This collection, which has been guarded jealously by the Cairo congregation for 1,000 years, was taken by President Schechter to the University of Cambridge, where he was then professor of semitics. In the collection, Dr. Schechter found one other treasure, a Hebrew text of Ecclesiastics; but his newest find will probably far outrank the other in general importance and interest.

Hitherto scholars have been able to find no contemporary Jewish references to the events or characters of the New Testament, barring a few generally suspected passages in Josephus, the genuineness of which has been rejected by both Jewish and Christian critics, and a few contemptuous references in the Talmud.

The manuscript discovered and translated by Dr. Schechter seems to have been composed in the second part of the first century of the Christian era. It represents a personal address of a religious leader to his followers, laying down in form of a manifesto the principles of belief of his religious views. The personal note, expressed in frequent use of the well-known Hebrew form of "Hearken ye unto me," seems to prove the document was composed at the time of the religious events it treats of.

The manifesto voices belief in two great personages who have been sent to strengthen and enlighten the Hebrew nation. The first is referred to as a Messiah, "from the family of Aaron and from Israel." The second is called a "Teacher of Righteousness," and also designed as a Messiah. Both Messiahs had died when the document was written, but both were expected to reappear in the latter days. A third person, called in one place "a man of scoffing" and in another "Belial," is put toward for special denunciation, on a charge of detaching the people from ordinances of the law and from sound moral principles.

These are believed to be Christ, John the Baptist and the Apostle Paul. In Dr. Schechter's manuscript, the new sect is spoken of several times as the "new covenant," which is in all likelihood identical with that of the first believers in the New Testament.

Phones Girl; Shoots Himself.

New York, Dec. 27.—After firing a revolver bullet into his head, John Rice propped himself on his elbow on the floor and, and calling for the telephone receiver, calmly resumed a conversation he had been holding with a young woman at the other end of the line.

"You should see me now, Ray," he said. "I'm an awful mess."

This episode took place in the Chatham Club early Saturday.

Rice was sitting with several friends when suddenly he jumped up and went to the telephone.

"Is that you Ray?" he enquired when the ring was answered, and then after he had the reply said:

"I'm going to do it."

With that he pulled the revolver from his pocket and placing the muzzle at his right ear, fired. It is said at the hospital that Rice has an even chance for his life. He would not say why he tried to kill himself.

Not Friendly to de Celles.

Paris, Dec. 27.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A rumor that M. de Celles, librarian of the Federal Parliament, is to be appointed high commissioner for Canada in Paris has aroused the protest of the French press. Celles, who received the legion of honor in 1904, has, it seems, given great offence to France and French-Canadians by an article he wrote The Montreal Presse a year ago. The Echo De Paris says Celles would be out of place in Paris, and The Journal says. "It is impossible that Sir Wilfrid Laurier contemplates confiding in him the precious trust of Franco-Canadian friendship."

Skirts Said to Be Doomed.

Paris, Dec. 27.—It is solemnly announced here that the successor to the hobble skirt has arrived, and that it is an exact reproduction of the dress worn by Turkish ladies, minus the veil.

Loose-fitting pantaloons fashioned as elegantly as possible will be fastened close at the ankles.

A well-known firm of Paris dressmakers will launch the models of this costume.

They say that the petticoat is finally doomed.

Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

For the Children

Accomplishments of a Clever Chimpanzee.

Susie, a chimpanzee recently brought to this country by Professor Garner, eats her bread and milk with a spoon just like real children. She is very accomplished for a monkey, and the professor says she can talk and understands English. The professor has been making a study of the simian family for many years and knows a great deal about them. He says that Susie can distinguish red from blue and both colors from white and she understands about twenty words of English. "She is only about eight months old," said Professor Garner, "and I bought her when she was only five weeks old. I raised her like a baby on milk. She is the most intelligent ape I have so far found, and I can distinguish about twelve words of her own language and hope to be able to interpret them all before long."

"We Are Seven."

So said the little girl in Wordsworth's well known poem. Many things, if they could speak, might make the same answer—the days of the week, for example, the notes of the musical scale, the colors of the rainbow. The Germans say that "all good things are three," but seven also is certainly a remarkable and distinguished number. There were said to be seven kings of Rome and seven sages of Greece. In ancient times men said that there were seven wonders of the world, but we have more than seven now. Those "wonders" of antiquity were the Colossus of Rhodes (a huge statue striding across the entrance to the harbor of Rhodes), the pyramids, the Ephesian temple of Diana, the mausoleum (or tomb of King Mausolus, the remains of which are now in the British museum), the hanging gardens of Babylon, the statue of Jupiter and the Pharos. The Coliseum, the catacombs, the Great wall of China, Stonehenge, the leaning tower of Pisa, the porcelain tower of Nanking and the mosque of St. Sophia at Constantinople have been called "the seven wonders of history." There were seven famous cities of antiquity—Rome, Antioch, Nineveh, Babylon, Athens, Tyre and Carthage. Rome stood upon seven hills, and London city has seven hills also—Cornhill, Snow hill, Ludgate hill, Fish street hill, Bread street hill, Holborn hill and Tower hill.

They Didn't Bag the Birds.

Two New Jersey boys found a woodcocks' nest with four eggs in it and laid a plan to capture a pair of woodcock as well as the eggs. John was going to place a bag over the female bird while she sat on her nest. Will was going to do the same to the male when he came to take his mate's place on the eggs, and then the boys intended to carry the nest and birds to the barn and see the birds raise their young. The boys found the female on the nest, and John was about to bag her when she shot into the brush so suddenly that two little fledglings fell out of the nest. John's shout of surprise brought Will to the spot, but before they could replace the birds the parent woodcocks came whirring through the bushes and darted at the intruders. They aimed at the boys' faces with their sharp bills, and the boys were incapable of defense. After trying in vain to shield themselves, they ran away in a panic. The next day they recovered their courage and stole up to the nest again, but found that the woodcocks had taken the little birds away.

Conundrums.

Why is a thunderstorm like an onion? Because it is peal on peal.

What did the potter say to the clay? Beware.

When is a fowl's neck like a bell? When it is rung for dinner.

What is the difference between a fool and a looking glass? A fool speaks without reflecting, and a looking glass reflects without speaking.

What is there that the fewer there are to guard it the safer it is? A secret.

A Rainy Day Game.

Lots of fun can be had with a peanut tournament. Have four people at each table and in the center of each table have a large bowl of peanuts and a pair of tongs, such as come in candy boxes. Each person must try to remove the peanuts one at a time without stirring the other nuts. At the end of twenty minutes a bell is rung, and the one having removed the largest number of peanuts is awarded a simple little prize.

Charles Corbett, governor of the county jail at Kingston, celebrated his 45th anniversary.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, maids, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light

One Cent Per Word
Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

LOST

LOST ON TUESDAY, 20th inst. BETWEEN St. Luke's Rectory, Ashburnham and Auburn the sum of $85 contained in a small linen bag. The denominations are $10 Bank of Montreal notes and a $5 bill of United Empire Bank. The finder will be rewarded on leaving same at this office 3d

Wanted

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dif

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dif

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 311 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY
Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL
If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.
—AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.
291 George Street. Opposite Opera House

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst. Sec.
Phone 1120 76 George St

EAST CITY
COAL
And Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
Limited
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 278. (Machine)—278.
134 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 362

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships
MONTREAL, QUEBEC and LIVERPOOL
Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Dec. 30, Feb. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to
I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
HOLIDAY RATES
BETWEEN ALL STATIONS IN CANADA
at Single Fare

Good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD

Good going daily until January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid returning until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911.

Full particulars and tickets from—
W. BUNTON, City Agent. F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S RATES
Single Fare

Going Dec. 24, 25 and 26th. Return limit December 27th.
Also going Dec. 31st, 1910; Jan. 1st and 2nd, 1911. Return limit Jan. 3rd, 1911.

Fare and One-third

Good going Dec 21st, 1910, to Monday Jan. 2nd, 1911, inclusive. Good returning until January 4th, 1911.

For territory, rates and tickets see—
W. McIlroy, Agent — Peterboro

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT
of the
Canadian Northern Ry. System
is prepared to obtain
FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
General Immigration Agent
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

COAL
THAT IS COAL
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON
Hardwood
First-Class. - - - Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

ORDER NOW
The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co
243 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London, "Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 851, mach. 225
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S., Edinb.; M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—543 Water Street
Bell Phones. Office 463—House 1201

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
Robt. Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
Daniel O'Connell George K. Gordon

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 426 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor.
Louis M. Hayes, K.C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water St., Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. Bennett E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
— on —
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

TORONTO SAVINGS & Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending 31st December at the rate of Eight per cent (8%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after January 3rd, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st day of December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.
Peterborough, Dec. 2nd, 1910.

AUCTIONEER
James E. Cope
Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

900 DROPS

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. NEW YORK.

At 6 months old 35 DOSES 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

CHAPTER I.

THE trail to Kalvik leads down from the northward mountains over the tundra which flanks the tide flats, then creeps out upon the salt ice of the river and across to the village.

A Greek church, a Russian school with a cassocked priest presiding and about a hundred houses beside the cannery buildings make up the village.

Early one December afternoon there entered upon this trail from the timberless hills far away to the northward a weary team of six dogs, driven by two men.

The travelers had been plodding sullenly hour after hour, dispirited by the weight of the storm.

"Fingerless" Fraser broke trail, and Boyd Emerson drove.

"Another day like this and we'd both be snow blind," observed Emerson grimly as he bent to his task. "But it can't be far to the river now."

An hour later they dropped from the plain down through a gutterlike gully to the river, where they found a trail, glass hard beneath its downy covering. A cold breath sucked up from the sea. Ahead they saw the ragged ice upended by the tide. One branch led to the village, which they knew lay somewhere on the farther side, hidden by a mile or more of sifting snow.

The going here was so rough that both men leaped from their seats and ran beside the sled. They mounted a swelling ridge and rushed down to the level river ice beyond, but as they did so they heard a shivering creak on every side and saw water rising about the sled runners. Emerson shouted, the dogs leaped, but with a crash the ice gave way, and for a moment the water closed over him. "Fingerless" Fraser broke through in turn, gasping as the icy water rose to his armpits.

Each man aimed to secure an independent footing, but the efforts of all only enlarged the pool. Emerson shouted:

"Cut the team loose, quick!" But the other spat out a mouthful of salt water and spluttered:

"I—I can't swim!"

Whereupon the first speaker half swam himself through the slush to the forward end of the sled and, seeking out the sheath knife from beneath his parka, cut the harness of the two animals. Once free they scrambled to safety and rolled in the dry snow.

Emerson next attempted to lift the nose of the sled up on the ice, shouting at the remainder of the team to pull, but they only wagged their tails and whined. Each time he tried to lift the sled he crushed through fresh ice, finally bearing the next pair of dogs with him and then the two animals in the lead. All of them became hopelessly entangled.

Suddenly rang out a sharp command uttered in a new voice. Out of the snow fog from the direction in which they were headed broke a team, running full and free. Emerson marveled at the outfit, having never seen the like in all his travels through the north, for each animal of the twelve stood hip high to a tall man, and they were like wolves of one pack, gray and gaunt and wicked. A tall Indian runner left the team and headed swiftly for the scene of the accident. The man ran forward till he neared the edge of the opening where the tide had caused the floes to separate; then, flattening his body on the ice, he crawled out cautiously and seized the lead dog. Carefully he wormed his way backward to security.

It had been a ticklish operation, requiring nice skill and dexterity, but now that his footing was sure the runner exerted his whole strength, and as the dogs scratched and tore for a firm foothold the sled came crunching closer and closer through the half inch skin of ice. Then he reached down and dragged Emerson out, dripping and nerveless from his immersion. Together they rescued the outfit.

The person in the sledge had watched them silently, but now spoke in a strange patois, and the breed gave voice to her words, for it was a woman.

"One mile you go—white man house. Go quick—you freeze."

"Ain't you got no dry clothes? Our stuff is soaked."

Again the Indian translated some words from the girl.

"No. You hurry and no stop here. We go quick over yonder. No can stop at all."

He hurried back to his mistress, cried once to the pack of gray dogs, "Oonah!" and they were off as if in chase.

As they dashed past both white men had one fleeting glimpse of a woman's face beneath a furred hood, and then it was gone.

"Did you see?" Fraser ejaculated. "Good Lord! It's a woman—a blond woman!"

"Nonsense! She must be a breed." said Emerson.

"Breeds don't have yellow hair!" declared the other.

Swiftly they bent in the free dogs and lashed the team to a run. They felt the chill of death in their bones, and instead of riding they ran with the sled till their blood beat painfully. Their outer coverings were like shells, their underclothes were soaked, and, although their going was difficult and clumsy, they dared not stop, for this is the extremest peril of the north.

They swung over the river bank and into the midst of great rambling frame buildings. Their trail led them to a high banked cabin. Another mile would have meant disaster.

"Rout out the owner and tell him we're wet," said Emerson. "I'll free the dogs."

Before he could reach the cabin the door opened and Fraser appeared, a strange, dazed look on his face. He was followed by a large man of sullen countenance.

"It's no use," Fraser said. "We can't go in."

"What's wrong? Somebody sick?"

"I don't know what's the matter. This man just says 'nix,' that's all."

The fellow growled. "Yeas; Ay got no room."

"But you don't understand," said Emerson. "We're wet. We broke through the ice. Never mind the room. We'll get along somehow."

"You can't come in bar. You find anoder house t'ree mile furder."

The traveler pushed forward. Involuntarily the watchman drew back, whereupon the unwelcome visitor crowded past, jostling his inhospitable host roughly. Emerson's quick action gained him entrance, and Fraser followed behind into the living room, where a flat nosed squaw withdrew before them. The young man addressed her peremptorily:

"Punch up that fire and get us something to eat, quick!"

Sour obedience followed.

Fraser had been watching the fellow and now remarked to his companion:

"Say, what ails that ginney?"

The assumption of good nature fell away from Boyd Emerson as he replied:

"I never knew anybody to refuse shelter to freezing men before."

The watchman reappeared.

"You can't stop bar!" he said. "Ay got orders. By Yingo, Ay trow you out!"

He stooped and gathered up the garments nearest him, then stepped toward the outer door, but before he could make good his threat Emerson whirled like a cat, his deep set eyes dark with sudden fury, and seized his host by the nape of the neck. He jerked him back so roughly that the wet clothes flapped to the floor in four directions, whereat the Scandinavian let forth a bellow, but Emerson struck him heavily on the jaw with his open hand, then hurled him backward into the room so violently that he reeled, and, his legs colliding with a bench, he fell against the wall. His assailant stepped in and throttled him, beating his head violently against the logs. Emerson, stepping back, spoke in a quivering voice which Fraser had never heard before:

"I'm just playing with you now. I don't want to hurt you."

"Get out of my house! Ay got orders!" cried the watchman and made for him again.

Emerson dragged him to his own doorsill, jerked the door open and kicked him out into the snow, then barred the entrance and returned to the warmth of the logs, his face convulsed and his lips working.

When the slatternly woman had slunk forth and was busied at the stove Emerson observed musingly:

"I wonder what possessed that fellow to act as he did."

"He said he had orders," Fraser offered. "If I had a warm cabin, a lot of grub and a squaw I'd like to see somebody give me orders."

Their clothing was dry now, and they proceeded to dress leisurely. When they had finished their coffee Emerson laid two silver dollars on the table, and they left the house to search out the river trail again.

The darkness was upon them when they crept up the opposite bank an hour later toward a group of shadowy buildings. Approaching the solitary gleam of light shining from the window of the watchman's house, they applied to him for shelter.

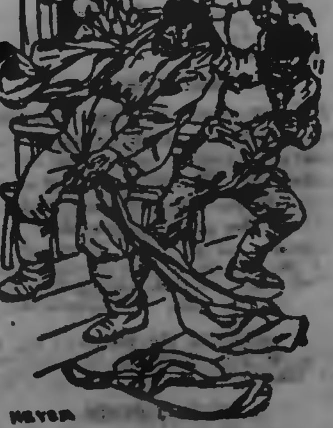
"You can't stop here," gruffly.

"Is there a roadhouse near by?"

"Try the next place below," said the watchman hurriedly, slamming the door in their faces and bolting it.

At the next stop they encountered the same gruff show of inhospitality.

"I'll make one more try," said Emerson between his teeth grattingly. "If that doesn't succeed then I'll take possession again."



EMERSON SEIZED HIS HOST BY THE NAPE OF THE NECK.

A mile farther on they drew up before a white pile surmounted by a dimly discerned Greek cross, but their signals awakened no response.

"Gone!"

They wasted no words when, for the fourth time their eyes caught the welcome sight of a shining radiance in the gloom.

"Unhitch!" ordered Emerson doggedly as he began to untie the ropes of the sled. He shouldered the sleeping bags and made toward the light that filtered through the crusted windows, followed by Fraser similarly burdened. But as they approached they saw at once that this was no cannery; it looked more like a roadhouse or trading post. Behind and connected with it by a covered hall or passageway crouched another squat building of the same character, its roof piled thick with a mass of snow, its windows glowing.

They mounted the steps of the nigh building and without knocking flung the door open, entering. With a sharp exclamation an Indian woman regarded them round eyed.

"We're all right this time," observed Emerson. "It's a store." Then to the woman he said briefly, "We want a bed and something to eat."

On every side the walls were shelved with merchandise, while the counter carried a supply of clothing and skins.

"What you want?" demanded the squaw.

Boyd and Fraser, divesting themselves of their furs, noticed that she was little more than a girl—a native undoubtedly.

"Food! Sleep!" Boyd replied.

"You can't stop here," the girl asserted firmly.

"Oh, yes, we can," said Emerson.

The squaw called, "Constantine!"

The tall figure of a man emerged, advancing swiftly.

It was the copper hued native who had rescued them from the river earlier in the day. The Indian girl broke into a torrent of excited volubility.

"You no stop here," said Constantine. Making toward the outer door, he flung it open.

"We've come a long way and we're tired," Emerson argued. He faced the Indian with his back to the stove, his voice taking on a determined note. "We won't leave here until we are ready. Now tell your 'klootch' to get us some supper. Quick!"

A soft voice from the rear of the room halted the advancing Indian.

"Constantine," it said.

The travelers whirled to see, standing out in relief against the darkness of the passage whence the Indian had just come a few seconds before, the golden haired girl of the storm to whom they had been indebted for their rescue. She advanced, smiling pleasantly.

"These men no stop here!" cried Constantine violently.

"I—I—beg pardon," began Emerson. "We didn't intend to take forcible possession, but we're played out—we've been denied shelter everywhere—we felt desperate"—

She addressed the Indian girl in Aleut and signaled to Constantine, at which the two natives retired.

"We're glad of an opportunity to thank you for your timely service this afternoon," said Emerson.

"Oh, that was nothing. I've been expecting you hourly. You see, Constantine's little brother has the measles, and I had to get to him before the natives could give the poor little fellow a Russian bath and then stand him out in the snow. They have only one treatment for all diseases."

"If your—er—father"— The girl shook her head.

"Then your husband—I should like to arrange with him to hire lodgings for a few days. The matter of money"—

Again she came to his rescue.

"I am the man of the house. I'm boss here. You are quite welcome to stay as long as you wish. Constantine objects to my hospitality and treats all strangers alike, fearing they may be company men."

"We throwed a Swede out on his neck," declared Fraser, swelling with conscious importance, "and I guess he's 'crabbed' us with the other squareheads."

"Oh, no! They have instructions not to harbor any travelers. It's as much as his job is worth for any of them to entertain you. Now, won't you make yourselves at home while Constantine attends to your dogs? Dinner will soon be ready."

He murmured "Gladly" and then lost himself in wonder at this well gowned girl living amid such surroundings. Undeniably pretty, graceful in her movements, bearing herself with certainty and poise, who was she? Where did she come from? And what in the world was she doing here?

He became aware that "Fingerless" Fraser was making the introductions. "This is Mr. Emerson. My name is French. I'm one of the Virginia Frenches, you know. Perhaps you have heard of them. No? Well, they're the real thing."

Emerson forestalled her acknowledgement by breaking in roughly:

"His name isn't French at all, madam; it's Fraser—'Fingerless' Fraser. He's an utterly worthless rogue and absolutely unreliable, so far as I can learn. I picked him up on the ice in Norton sound with a marshal at his heels."

"That marshal wasn't after me," stoutly denied Fraser, quite unabashed. "Why, he's a friend of mine—we're regular chums. Everybody knows that. He wanted to give me some papers to take outside, that's all."

Boyd shrugged his shoulders indifferently:

"Warrants!"

Their hostess, greatly amused, prevented any further argument by saying:

"I suppose you are bound for the States?"

"Yes. We intend to catch the mail boat at Katmai. I am taking Fraser along for company. It's hard traveling alone in a strange country. He's a nuisance, but he's rather amusing at times."

"I certainly am," agreed that cheerful person, now fully at his ease.

By and by the girl rose, and after showing them to a room she excused herself on the score of having to see to the dinner. When she had withdrawn "Fingerless" Fraser pursed his thin lips into a noiseless whistle, then observed:

"Well, I'll—be—cussed!"

CHAPTER II.

"WHO is she?" asked Emerson.

"You heard, didn't you? She's Miss Malotte, and she's certainly some considerable lady," answered the crook.

"Yes, but who is she? What does this mean?" Emerson pointed to the provisions and fittings about them. "What is she doing here alone?"

"Maybe you'd better ask her yourself," said Fraser.

For the first time in their brief acquaintance Emerson detected a strange note in the rogue's voice.

The Indian girl summoned them, and they followed her through the long passageway into the other house, where, to their utter astonishment, they seemed to step out of the frontier and into the heart of civilization. They found a tiny dining room perfectly appointed, in the center of which, wonder of wonders, was a round table gleaming like a deep mahogany pool, upon the surface of which floated gauzy hand worked napery, glinting silver and sparkling crystal, the dark polish of the wood reflecting the light from shaded candles. It held a delicately figured service of blue and gold, while the selection of thin stemmed glasses all in rows indicated the character of the entertainment that awaited them. The men's eyes were too busy with the unaccustomed sight to note details carefully, but they felt soft carpet beneath their feet and observed that the walls were smooth and harmoniously papered.

"This is m-marvelous," murmured Emerson. "I'm afraid we're not in keeping."

"Indeed you are," said the girl, "and I am delighted to have somebody to talk to. It's very lonesome here."

"This is certainly a swell tepee," Fraser remarked. "How did you do it?"

"I brought my things with me from Nome."

"Nome!" ejaculated Emerson quickly.

"Yes."

"Why, I've been in Nome ever since the camp was discovered. It's strange we never met."

"I didn't stay there very long; I went back to Dawson."

Again he fancied the girl's eyes held a vague challenge, but he could not be sure, for she seated him and then gave some instructions to the Aleut girl. Boyd, becoming absorbed in his own thoughts, grew more silent as the signs of refinement and civilization about him revived memories long stifled. This was not the effect for which the girl had striven. Her younger guest's taciturnity, which grew as the dinner progressed, piqued her, so at the first opportunity she bent her efforts toward rallying him. He answered politely, but she was powerless to shake off his mood.

At last he spoke:

"You said those watchmen have instructions not to harbor travelers. Why is that?"

"It is the policy of the companies. They are afraid somebody will discover gold around here. You see, this is the greatest salmon river in the world. The 'run' is tremendous and seems to be unfailing; hence the cannery people wish to keep it all to themselves."

"I don't quite understand"—

"It is simple enough. Kalvik is so isolated and the fishing season is so short that the companies have to send their crews in from the States and take them out again every summer. Now, if gold were discovered hereabouts the fishermen would all quit and follow the 'strike,' which would mean the ruin of the year's catch and the loss of many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Why, this village would become a city in no time if such a thing were to happen. The whole region would fill up with miners, and not only would labor conditions be entirely upset for years, but the eyes of the world, being turned this way, other people might go into the fishing business and create a competition which would both influence prices and deplete the supply of fish in the Kalvik river. So, you see, there are many reasons why this region is forbidden to miners. You couldn't buy a pound of food nor get a night's lodging here for a king's ransom. The watchmen's jobs depend upon their unbroken bond of inhospitality, and the Indians dare not sell you anything, not even a dogfish, under penalty of starvation, for they are dependent upon the companies' stores."

"So that is why you have established a trading post of your own?"

"Oh, dear, no. This isn't a store. This food is for my men."

"Your men?"

"Yes. I have a crew out in the hills on a grub stake. This is our cache. While they prospect for gold I stand guard over the provisions."

To be continued.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.
Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of Brentwood
See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.
Very small and as easy to take as sugar.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Purely Vegetable.
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

At Townsend village, Harry Withrow's house was burned to the ground.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
[illegible] OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER
Absolutely smokeless and odorless

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

The Queen City Oil Company. Limited.

Benjamin Samway, a farmer living near Paris, was nearly killed when his horse ran away and dashed into a locomotive.

LUMBER
And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Get . . . the Latest
We supply the correct things in
WEDDING INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL STATIONERY
The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.
Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

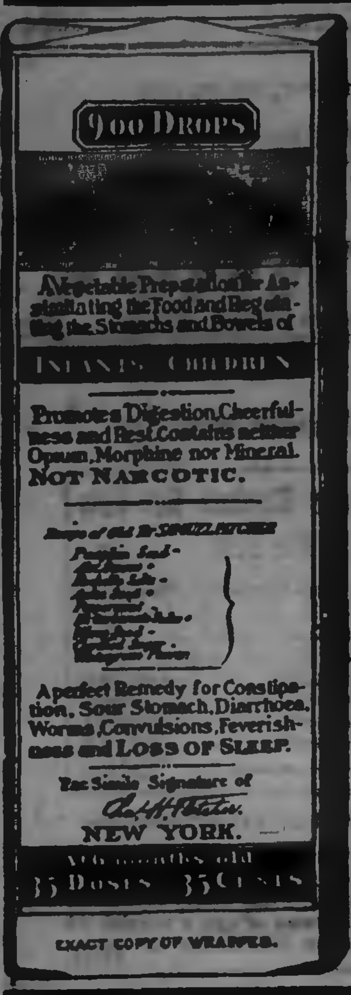
DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call
328 GEORGE STREET

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices
J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING
Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, at these stores. Contracts taken. We call for and deliver
TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 357

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities
Cold Storage
In Full Operation
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

A Macey Sectional Bookcase Would Make an Excellent Christmas Gift in Many Homes
The "MACEY" have points in quality that place them ahead of all other makes.
Absolutely NON-BINDING DOOR, Variety and Beauty of designs and moderate prices give them the lead. Call and see them and get prices
MADE IN CANADA
Agents for Peterborough
437 George Street
CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE
'Phone Number 78



900 DROPS
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT. 1909. BY HARPER & BROTHERS

CHAPTER I.

THE trail to Kalvik leads down from the northward mountains over the tundra which flanks the tide flats, then creeps out upon the salt ice of the river and across to the village.

A Greek church, a Russian school with a cassocked priest presiding and about a hundred houses beside the cannery buildings make up the village.

Early one December afternoon there entered upon this trail from the timberless hills far away to the northward a weary team of six dogs, driven by two men.

The travelers had been plodding sullenly hour after hour, dispirited by the weight of the storm.

"Fingerless" Fraser broke trail, and Boyd Emerson drove.

"Another day like this and we'd both be snow blind," observed Emerson grimly as he bent to his task. "But it can't be far to the river now."

An hour later they dropped from the plain down through a gutterlike gully to the river, where they found a trail, glass hard beneath its downy covering. A cold breath sucked up from the sea. Ahead they saw the ragged ice upended by the tide. One branch led to the village, which they knew lay somewhere on the farther side, hidden by a mile or more of sifting snow.

The going here was so rough that both men leaped from their seats and ran beside the sled. They mounted a swelling ridge and rushed down to the level river ice beyond, but as they did so they heard a shivering creak on every side and saw water rising about the sled runners. Emerson shouted, the dogs leaped, but with a crash the ice gave way, and for a moment the water closed over him. "Fingerless" Fraser broke through in turn, gasping as the icy water rose to his armpits.

Each man aimed to secure an independent footing, but the efforts of all only enlarged the pool. Emerson shouted:

"Cut the team loose, quick!" But the other spat out a mouthful of salt water and spluttered:

"I—I can't swim!"

Whereupon the first speaker half swam himself through the slush to the forward end of the sled and, seeking out the sheath knife from beneath his parka, cut the harness of the two animals. Once free they scrambled to safety and rolled in the dry snow.

Emerson next attempted to lift the nose of the sled up on the ice, shouting at the remainder of the team to pull, but they only wagged their tails and whined. Each time he tried to lift the sled he crashed through fresh ice, finally bearing the next pair of dogs with him and then the two animals in the lead. All of them became hopelessly entangled.

Suddenly rang out a sharp command uttered in a new voice. Out of the snow fog from the direction in which they were headed broke a team, running full and free. Emerson marveled at the outfit, having never seen the like in all his travels through the north, for each animal of the twelve stood hip high to a tall man, and they were like wolves of one pack, gray and gaunt and wicked. A tall Indian runner left the team and bended swiftly for the scene of the accident. The man ran forward till he neared the edge of the opening where the tide had caused the floes to separate; then, flattening his body on the ice, he crawled out cautiously and seized the lead dog. Carefully he wormed his way backward to security.

It had been a ticklish operation, requiring nice skill and dexterity, but now that his footing was sure the runner exerted his whole strength, and as the dogs scratched and tore for a firm foothold the sled came crunching closer and closer through the half inch skin of ice. Then he reached down and dragged Emerson out, dripping and nerveless from his immersion. Together they rescued the outfit.

The person in the sledge had watched them silently, but now spoke in a strange patois, and the breed gave voice to her words, for it was a woman.

"One mile you go—white man house. Go quick—you freeze."

"Ain't you got no dry clothes? Our stuff is soaked."

Again the Indian translated some words from the girl.

"No. You hurry and no stop here. We go quick over yonder. No can stop at all."

He hurried back to his mistress, cried once to the pack of gray dogs, "Oonah!" and they were off as if in chase.

As they dashed past both white men had one fleeting glimpse of a woman's face beneath a furred hood, and then it was gone.

"Did you see?" Fraser ejaculated. "Good Lord! It's a woman—a blond woman!"

"Nonsense! She must be a breed," said Emerson.

"Breeds don't have yellow hair!" declared the other.

Swiftly they bent in the free dogs and lashed the team to a run. They felt the chill of death in their bones, and instead of riding they ran with the sled till their blood beat painfully. Their outer coverings were like shells, their underclothes were soaked, and, although their going was difficult and clumsy, they dared not stop, for this is the extremest peril of the north.

They swung over the river bank and into the midst of great rambling frame buildings. Their trail led them to a high banked cabin. Another mile would have meant disaster.

"Rout out the owner and tell him we're wet," said Emerson. "I'll free the dogs."

Before he could reach the cabin the door opened and Fraser appeared, a strange, dazed look on his face. He was followed by a large man of sullen countenance.

"It's no use," Fraser said. "We can't go in."

"What's wrong? Somebody sick?"

"I don't know what's the matter. This man just says 'nix,' that's all."

The fellow growled. "Yaas; Ay got no room."

"But you don't understand," said Emerson. "We're wet. We broke through the ice. Never mind the room. We'll get along somehow."

"You can't come in bar. You find anoder house t'ree mile furder."

The traveler pushed forward. Involuntarily the watchman drew back, whereupon the unwelcome visitor crowded past, jostling his inhospitable host roughly. Emerson's quick action gained him entrance, and Fraser followed behind into the living room, where a flat nosed squaw withdrew before them. The young man addressed her peremptorily:

"Punch up that fire and get us something to eat, quick!"

Sour obedience followed.

Fraser had been watching the fellow and now remarked to his companion:

"Say, what ails that ginney?"

The assumption of good nature fell away from Boyd Emerson as he replied:

"I never knew anybody to refuse shelter to freezing men before."

The watchman reappeared.

"You can't stop bar!" he said. "Ay got orders. By Yingo, Ay trow you out!"

He stooped and gathered up the garments nearest him, then stepped toward the outer door, but before he could make good his threat Emerson whirled like a cat, his deep set eyes dark with sudden fury, and seized his host by the nape of the neck. He jerked him back so roughly that the wet clothes flapped to the floor in four directions, whereat the Scandinavian let forth a bellow, but Emerson struck him heavily on the jaw with his open hand, then hurled him backward into the room so violently that he reeled, and, his legs colliding with a bench, he fell against the wall. His assailant stepped in and throttled him, beating his head violently against the logs. Emerson, stepping back, spoke in a quivering voice which Fraser had never heard before:

"I'm just playing with you now. I don't want to hurt you."

"Get out of my house! Ay got orders!" cried the watchman and made for him again.

Emerson dragged him to his own doorsill, jerked the door open and kicked him out into the snow, then barred the entrance and returned to the warmth of the logs, his face convulsed and his lips working.

When the slatternly woman had slunk forth and was busied at the stove Emerson observed musingly:

"I wonder what possessed that fellow to act as he did."

"He said he had orders," Fraser offered. "If I had a warm cabin, a lot of grub and a squaw I'd like to see somebody give me orders."

Their clothing was dry now, and they proceeded to dress leisurely. When they had finished their coffee Emerson laid two silver dollars on the table, and they left the house to search out the river trail again.

The darkness was upon them when they crept up the opposite bank an hour later toward a group of shadowy buildings. Approaching the solitary gleam of light shining from the window of the watchman's house, they applied to him for shelter.

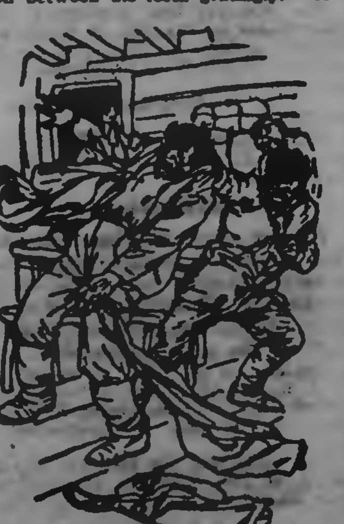
"You can't stop here," gruffly.

"Is there a roadhouse near by?"

"Try the next place below," said the watchman hurriedly, slamming the door in their faces and bolting it.

At the next stop they encountered the same gruff show of inhospitality.

"I'll make one more try," said Emerson between his teeth gratingly. "If that doesn't succeed then I'll take possession again."



EMERSON SEIZED HIS HOST BY THE NAPE OF THE NECK.

A mile farther on they drew up before a white pile surmounted by a dimly discerned Greek cross, but their signals awakened no response.

"Gone!"

They wasted no words when, for the fourth time their eyes caught the welcome sight of a shining radiance in the gloom.

"Unhitch!" ordered Emerson doggedly as he began to untie the ropes of the sled. He shouldered the sleeping bags and made toward the light that filtered through the crusted windows, followed by Fraser similarly burdened. But as they approached they saw at once that this was no cannery; it looked more like a roadhouse or trading post. Behind and connected with it by a covered hall or passageway crouched another squat building of the same character, its roof piled thick with a mass of snow, its windows glowing.

They mounted the steps of the nigh building and without knocking flung the door open, entering. With a sharp exclamation an Indian woman regarded them round eyed.

"We're all right this time," observed Emerson. "It's a store." Then to the woman he said briefly, "We want a bed and something to eat."

On every side the walls were shelved with merchandise, while the counter carried a supply of clothing and skins.

"What you want?" demanded the squaw.

Boyd and Fraser, divesting themselves of their furs, noticed that she was little more than a girl—a native undoubtedly.

"Food! Sleep!" Boyd replied.

"You can't stop here," the girl asserted firmly.

"Oh, yes, we can," said Emerson.

The squaw called, "Constantine!"

The tall figure of a man emerged, advancing swiftly.

It was the copper hued native who had rescued them from the river earlier in the day. The Indian girl broke into a torrent of excited volubility.

"You no stop here," said Constantine. Making toward the outer door, he flung it open.

"We've come a long way and we're tired," Emerson argued. He faced the Indian with his back to the stove, his voice taking on a determined note. "We won't leave here until we are ready. Now tell your 'klootch' to get us some supper. Quick!"

A soft voice from the rear of the room halted the advancing Indian.

"Constantine," it said.

The travelers whirled to see, standing out in relief against the darkness of the passage whence the Indian had just come a few seconds before, the golden haired girl of the storm to whom they had been indebted for their rescue. She advanced, smiling pleasantly.

"These men no stop here!" cried Constantine violently.

"I—I—beg pardon," began Emerson. "We didn't intend to take forcible possession, but we're played out—we've been denied shelter everywhere—we felt desperate"—

She addressed the Indian girl in Aleut and signaled to Constantine, at which the two natives retired.

"We're glad of an opportunity to thank you for your timely service this afternoon," said Emerson.

"Oh, that was nothing. I've been expecting you hourly. You see, Constantine's little brother has the measles, and I had to get to him before the natives could give the poor little fellow a Russian bath and then stand him out in the snow. They have only one treatment for all diseases."

"If your—er—father"— The girl shook her head.

"Then your husband—I should like to arrange with him to hire lodgings for a few days. The matter of money"—

Again she came to his rescue.

"I am the man of the house. I'm boss here. You are quite welcome to stay as long as you wish. Constantine objects to my hospitality and treats all strangers alike, fearing they may be company men."

"We throwed a Swede out on his neck," declared Fraser, swelling with conscious importance, "and I guess he's 'crabbed' us with the other squareheads."

"Oh, no! They have instructions not to harbor any travelers. It's as much as his job is worth for any of them to entertain you. Now, won't you make yourselves at home while Constantine attends to your dogs? Dinner will soon be ready."

He murmured "Gladly" and then lost himself in wonder at this well gowned girl living amid such surroundings. Undeniably pretty, graceful in her movements, bearing herself with certainty and poise, who was she? Where did she come from? And what in the world was she doing here?

He became aware that "Fingerless" Fraser was making the introductions. "This is Mr. Emerson. My name is French. I'm one of the Virginia Frenches, you know. Perhaps you have heard of them. No? Well, they're the real thing."

Emerson forestalled her acknowledgement by breaking in roughly:

"His name isn't French at all, madam; it's Fraser—'Fingerless' Fraser. He's an utterly worthless rogue and absolutely unreliable, so far as I can learn. I picked him up on the ice in Norton sound with a marshal at his heels."

"That marshal wasn't after me," stoutly denied Fraser, quite unabashed. "Why, he's a friend of mine—we're regular chums. Everybody knows that. He wanted to give me some papers to take outside, that's all."

Boyd shrugged his shoulders indifferently:

"Warrants!"

Their hostess, greatly amused, prevented any further argument by saying:

"I suppose you are bound for the States?"

"Yes. We intend to catch the mail boat at Katmai. I am taking Fraser along for company. It's hard traveling alone in a strange country. He's a nuisance, but he's rather amusing at times."

"I certainly am," agreed that cheerful person, now fully at his ease.

By and by the girl rose, and after showing them to a room she excused herself on the score of having to see to the dinner. When she had withdrawn "Fingerless" Fraser pursed his thin lips into a noiseless whistle, then observed:

"Well, I'll—be—cussed!"

CHAPTER II.

"WHO is she?" asked Emerson.

"You heard, didn't you? She's Miss Malotte, and she's certainly some considerable lady," answered the crook.

"Yes, but who is she? What does this mean?" Emerson pointed to the provisions and fittings about them. "What is she doing here alone?"

"Maybe you'd better ask her yourself," said Fraser.

For the first time in their brief acquaintance Emerson detected a strange note in the rogue's voice.

The Indian girl summoned them, and they followed her through the long passageway into the other house, where, to their utter astonishment, they seemed to step out of the frontier and into the heart of civilization. They found a tiny dining room perfectly appointed, in the center of which, wonder of wonders, was a round table gleaming like a deep mahogany pool, upon the surface of which floated gauzy hand worked napery, glinting silver and sparkling crystal, the dark polish of the wood reflecting the light from shaded candles. It held a delicately figured service of blue and gold, while the selection of thin stemmed glasses all in rows indicated the character of the entertainment that awaited them. The men's eyes were too busy with the unaccustomed sight to note details carefully, but they felt soft carpet beneath their feet and observed that the walls were smooth and harmoniously papered.

"This is m-marvelous," murmured Emerson. "I'm afraid we're not in keeping."

"Indeed you are," said the girl, "and I am delighted to have somebody to talk to. It's very lonesome here."

"This is certainly a swell tepee," Fraser remarked. "How did you do it?"

"I brought my things with me from Nome."

"Nome!" ejaculated Emerson quickly.

"Yes."

"Why, I've been in Nome ever since the camp was discovered. It's strange we never met."

"I didn't stay there very long; I went back to Dawson."

Again he fancied the girl's eyes held a vague challenge, but he could not be sure, for she seated him and then gave some instructions to the Aleut girl. Boyd, becoming absorbed in his own thoughts, grew more silent as the signs of refinement and civilization about him revived memories long stifled. This was not the effect for which the girl had striven. Her younger guest's taciturnity, which grew as the dinner progressed, piqued her, so at the first opportunity she bent her efforts toward rallying him. He answered politely, but she was powerless to shake off his mood.

At last he spoke:

"You said those watchmen have instructions not to harbor travelers. Why is that?"

"It is the policy of the companies. They are afraid somebody will discover gold around here. You see, this is the greatest salmon river in the world. The 'run' is tremendous and seems to be unfailing; hence the cannery people wish to keep it all to themselves."

"I don't quite understand"—

"It is simple enough. Kalvik is so isolated and the fishing season is so short that the companies have to send their crews in from the States and take them out again every summer. Now, if gold were discovered hereabouts the fishermen would all quit and follow the 'strike,' which would mean the ruin of the year's catch and the loss of many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Why, this village would become a city in no time if such a thing were to happen. The whole region would fill up with miners, and not only would labor conditions be entirely upset for years, but the eyes of the world, being turned this way, other people might go into the fishing business and create a competition which would both influence prices and deplete the supply of fish in the Kalvik river. So, you see, there are many reasons why this region is forbidden to miners. You couldn't buy a pound of food nor get a night's lodging here for a king's ransom. The watchmen's jobs depend upon their unbroken bond of inhospitality, and the Indians dare not sell you anything, not even a dogfish, under penalty of starvation, for they are dependent upon the companies' stores."

"So that is why you have established a trading post of your own?"

"Oh, dear, no. This isn't a store. This food is for my men."

"Your men?"

"Yes. I have a crew out in the hills on a grub stake. This is our cache. While they prospect for gold I stand guard over the provisions."

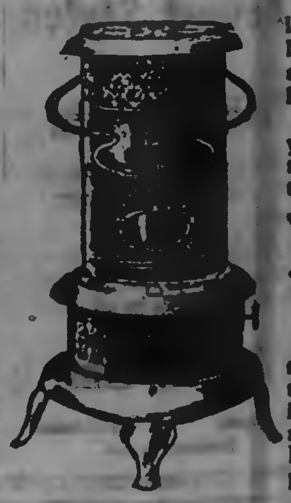
To be continued.

At Townsend village, Harry Withrow's house was burned to the ground.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.
Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good
See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.
Very small and as easy to take as sugar.
CARTER'S LITTLE IVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Purely Vegetable
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Fresh Air in Winter



In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

PERFECTION
SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER
Absolutely smokeless and odorless

solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly clenaed. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the
The Queen City Oil Company, Limited.

Benjamin Samway, a farmer living near Paris, was nearly killed when his horse ran away and dashed into a locomotive.

LUMBER
And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Get . . . the Latest
We supply the correct things in
WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY
The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.
Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

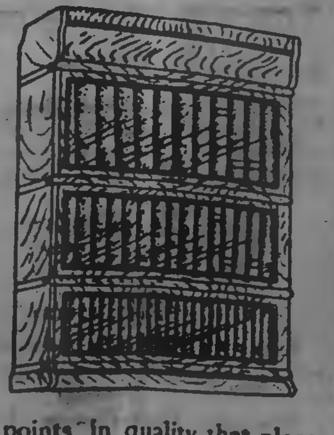
DOMINION
CHINESE CAFE
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call
328 GEORGE STREET

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices
J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING
Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, at their stores. Contracts taken. We call for and deliver
TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 357

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities
Cold Storage
In Full Operation
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

A Macey Sectional Bookcase
Would Make an Excellent Christmas Gift in Many Homes



The "MACEY" have points in quality that place them ahead of all other makes.

Absolutely NON-BINDING DOOR, Variety and Beauty of designs and moderate prices give them the lead. Call and see them and get prices
MADE IN CANADA

Agents for Peterborough
427 George Street
CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE
'Phone Number 79

The One Best Holiday Gift

And the one that brings the most grateful recollections of the giver, is to be found in the Nugent Drug Co's assortment of Perfumes.

Our window display is our best ad. It will pay you to give us a call. Our assortment is composed of the latest odors in dainty boxes. Prices from 25c to $4.00.

SOMETHING FOR MOTHER

One of our Gold Automatic Eyeglass Chains at $2.00 (initials engraved free).

SOMETHING FOR SISTER

A nice "Lemaire" Opera Glass, $5 to $10

Something that every elderly person appreciates at this season is a nice pair of

GOLD SPECTACLES or EYEGLASSES

Lenses can be fitted after Christmas.
Initials in gold on the case Free.
Prices from $3 50 to $6.50.

Everything we Sell is Guaranteed

NUGENT DRUG Co.

A. J. Johnston, Chemist. A. A. Fowler, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on Water St., and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters

Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street · Both Phones 237

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.
467 Water-St. Phone No. 590

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles —in— Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week.

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

523 George-st. Near McDonnel-st.
Machine Phone 133.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Box of Candies Free

A box of candies for the children given free this week with every $1 purchase. Walter M. Roebuck, Water and Smith streets.

Will Appear To-morrow

A full account of the wedding of the wedding of Miss Effie McWhinnie, which occurred this afternoon at the residence, Harvey street, will appear in to-morrow's issue.

Contributed to English Magazine

Among the contributors to the Northampton Independent, an English publication, is Mr. C. H. Ireson, a resident of Smith township. In the columns headed, "From Readers Abroad," is an article from him describing an experience at Christmas time in 1866, in the Rainy River district, when the snow was piled deep in the woods and thermometer away down. The article is very entertaining.

THE CANADIAN LADY

For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

All our Calendar Pads at one cent each, any size. Review Office.

Royal Templars

The meeting of the Royal Templars this evening in their Hall, on George Street, one door north of Crystal entrance will be open to all interested in the promotion of Temperance work in the city.

A discussion is invited upon the subject of City Temperance Work, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending.

Was Injured

J. Gamble, mentioned in the following dispatch from the Brockville Times was till recently employed at Higgin's Hardware store:

An employee of A. G. Dobbie & Co., named J. Gamble received a severe gash on the right forearm this morning. While measuring a door in the office of the Crown Bank for the purpose of replacing a plate glass, a broken piece fell from its position, striking Gamble on the arm with the above result. Dr. Williams dressed the injury.

DUTTON & CO.

Christie's Fancy Biscuits in Boxes; Ginger Wine; Black Currant, Black Cherry, Raspberry and Strawberry Wine Ripe Tomatoes.

Phone 304

You can be comfortable and stylish too—

Get away from the old idea that negligee garments do not need to be stylish and form-fitting. You can get style and fit as well as comfort and restfulness in

Galtfleece EIDERDOWN

Garments for Women

Each garment is cut to pattern and carefully made. There is a perfect fit for you—

These Galt-Fleece Eiderdown House Gowns, Bath Robes and Dressing Squares, are on sale at Adam's Store for Women. Colors:—grey, cardinal, mauve, sky; nicely trimmed with satin, silk braid, and frog fasteners.

House Gowns at $5.00, $6.00, $6.50

Dressing Saques at $2.00, $2.50, $3.00

Girls House Gowns at $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4

For girls from 6 to 16 years.

HARRY ADAMS

VISITORS FOR THE HOLIDAY

Miss Cora Montgomery was in Lakefield yesterday.

Mr. Alex. Gillespie, of Cobalt, spent the holiday in town.

Miss Edwards, of this city, was in Lakefield yesterday.

Mr. Frank Simpson, of Hamilton, was in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hillier of Welland are in the city.

Miss Mabel Curtis, of Toronto, spent the holiday at her home.

Mr. Hugh Burritt, of Toronto, was in the city for Christmas.

Miss Olive Simpson spent Christmas at her home in Rockcroft.

Mr. William Hipperson of Regina, is home for a few days.

Mr. Stewart Anderson of S.P.S., Toronto is in the city.

Mr C. H Ireson, of Smith, is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. William Garbutt is spending a few days in Toronto.

Rev. Canon Davidson is confined to his bed with a severe cold.

Mr. Jack Griminson of Welland, is in the city for the holidays.

Mr Colin Leas, of Millbrook, is in the city for the holidays.

Mr. Walter Guiddy, Miller of Grand Forks is in the city.

Mr. R. Schneider of Toronto was in the city for the holiday.

Mr. Jack Castor spent the holiday at his home in Pontypool.

Mr. Harry Seabrooks of Edmonton is in the city for a few days.

Mr. Percy Mowry of Hamilton was in the city for Christmas.

Mr. B. J. Gough of Lindsay, was in the city to-day on business.

Miss Luella Morrow of Toronto, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. W. A. Logan of Waddington, Y. was in the city for the holiday.

Mr. Stanley Wade of Montreal, is visiting his parents, London Street.

Mr. Frank Kenneally of Toronto spent the holiday at his home here.

Miss Jean Robinson of Prescott is the guest of Miss Agnes Logan, 14 Murray Street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hillier and son, of Toronto are in the city for the holidays.

Miss Lena Richardson of Toronto, is the guest of her parents for a few days.

Mr. Stanley Alford of Windsor, Ont. is in the city for a couple of days.

Mr. Charles Barrie of Hamilton, is visiting his parents for the holiday season.

Miss Mamie Montgomery of McMaster University is home for the holidays.

Mrs. Kingsboro of St. Thomas, was the guest of friends in the city for Christmas.

Mr. Clayton Waram of the Bank of Toronto Petrolia, was in the city for Christmas.

Dr. and Mrs. Holloway of Peterborough are in Clinton for the holiday season.

Miss Ila Gould of Bowmanville, Ont., is the guest of Miss "Vi" Stevens for the holidays.

Mr. Arthur Dawe of Toronto, was in the city the guest of his parents for the holiday.

Miss Marjory Lyttle of Prescott, is visiting Miss Alice Logan 14 Murray street.

Mr. Jack Eastwood and Kenneth Crane of Toronto, were in the city for Christmas.

Miss N. Dunkerley of Toronto, is in the city to attend the McWhinnie nuptials this afternoon.

Mr. Walter Conway of Niagara Falls, and his brother of Edmonton, are in the city.

Mrs. James Bushnell and her daughter Miss Lulu Bushnell, of Omemee, were in the city on Saturday.

Mr. Laycock of the Bank of Toronto was in Woodstock on Christmas, the guest of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Baptie and the Misses Muriel Helen and Bess, of Toronto were in the city yesterday.

Mr. Will Eastwood son of Dr. Eastwood of the Bank of Commerce, Montreal was home for Christmas.

Mr. Ernest Brownscombe of Morrisburg is in the city, to be present at the wedding of Miss E. McWhinnie to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S Matchett spent the holiday, the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smart, Toronto.

Mr. George Powell was in Gravenhurst on Christmas with his sister Miss Bessie Powell who took part in a concert in that place.

Mr. David Peoples, of Toronto, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Stanley Gillespie, of Picton, is in the city for a few days.

Mr. Wallace Dixon, of Woodstock, is home for the holidays.

Mr. E. R. Whaley is spending a few days in Buffalo.

Mr. Leonard Patterson, of Napanee, in the city for a few days.

Miss Beatrice Montgomery, of Toronto, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Melville Moore, of Toronto, was in the city on Christmas Day.

Mr. Arthur Fuller of Chicago is home on a visit to his parents.

Sergt. Smith, of the Royal Military College, Kingston, is in the city.

Mr. Charles Kingan, of Detroit, is guest of his parents for a few days.

Mr. Vernon Dredge, of Toronto, is visiting his parents, 330 London street.

Mr. Wallace Wood, of Toronto, was a guest at his home, Hunter street.

Mr. Leo Barnet, of Chicago, is visiting friends in the city for a few days.

Misses Mina and Amy Crafts, of Toronto, were holiday visitors in the city

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hillier, of Welland, Ont., are visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Max Yelland, of Toronto University, is spending the holidays in the city.

Mr. George Godfrey of Toronto is in the city, the guest of his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Allison, Water street, visited friends in Listowel on Christmas.

Mr. Carol Hays, of the Bank of Ottawa, Kemptville, is home on a visit to his parents.

Mr. Herbert Long, of Fort William, is visiting his home here for a couple of days.

Mr. Walter Metheral, of the T. Eaton Co., Toronto, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Ernest Manley, of Chapleau, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Chapman, Bethune street.

Mr. Stephen Caddigan of Detroit is in the city visiting his home for a couple of days.

Mr. Thomas McGrath, of Rochester, is the guest of his parents for the holidays

Miss Lizzie Hillier, of Toronto, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. White, Waterford street.

Mr F. E. Barrett, of Rochester, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Bestard, North Monaghan.

Mr. John Reid of Bonnersferry is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Reid.

Messrs. Ross and Charlie Little of Detroit, are the guests of their parents for the holiday.

Mr. Fred Laing passed through the city yesterday on his way from Campbellford to Omemee.

Mr. Ruby Lynch of Rochester, spent the holiday the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs J. J. Lynch

Mr. Charlie Thornton, of the Tudhope Carriage Works, Orillia, is in the city for the Christmas holiday season.

Mrs. William B. Tapson, of Bowmanville, is the guest of Mrs. R. Thompson, Stewart street, till the end of the year.

Mr. Arthur Bennett returned to Toronto on the 4.38 to-day, after visiting his parents here for the holiday.

Mr. Matthew Reid of Wallhalla, N. D., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Reid, corner George and Smith Streets.

Mr. Michael O'Brien, of St. Michael's College, Toronto, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Brien, Gilmour street.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Scott of Ottawa are visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Joe. Goselin of Ottawa is visiting his parents here for the holiday season.

Mr. Herb Johnston is home for the holidays from Nyack Missionary Training Institute on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun avenue.

Mrs. M. R. Hilford, nee Grace M. Johnston, is visiting for a few days with her parents at 19 Dennistoun avenue, and will be pleased to meet her friends there on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 29th.

SHOTS FIRED INTO ROOM WHERE YOUNG GIRL SLEPT

Young Man, in Sherbrooke Street House, Discharged Shot Gun Several Times at Late Hour Last Night—Girl Was not Struck

At a late hour last-night, the residents of Sherbrooke Street, were alarmed at hearing the reports of a gun being discharged.

One window of a room in the house occupied by Mr. David W. Hamilton, 175 Sherbrooke Street, was broken, and the life of a young daughter, who was asleep, was endangered.

Investigation resulted in the finding of the location from where the shooting was taking place. One of several young men in an upper room of a house nearby, was handling a shot gun without any regard for the safety of others. The window was open, and the firearm was discharged several times. Some of the shot was found in the room where the young girl slept, but she was not injured.

The action of the young men, it is understood was brought about by their intoxicated condition.

THIS IS A FACT TO BE PROUD OF

Mr. Joseph Clark, of South Monaghan, is 85 years young. He informs us that he has chopped down on his farm the largest maple in the Province and this certainly is a creditable feat for a man who has seen as many maples sprout in the springtime as Mr. Clark has

This monarch of the bush is 44 inches in diameter and fifty-seven feet to the first branch. Mr. Clark remarks that "this is not bad work for a man in his 85th year." He wants to know how many of our subscribers can do better.

267th BARGAIN ANNEX EVENT WEDNESDAY, DEC. 28, 1910.

THE LAST ANNEX IN THE OLD YEAR

Bargain Annex

Registered.

One Day Only This Week...Wednesday

Boy's Fleece Lined Underwear Only 29c Per Garment.

About 200 garments of Boys' Sanitary Wool Fleece Lined Underwear, Penman's make, all sizes in shirts and drawers, from 22 to 32. This is the warmest and most comfortable line of Underwear for boys that can be bought; prices range 35c to 40c garment, according to size; for an Annex leader Wednesday, all one price. Per garment........ 29c

$1.75 Flannelette Blankets for Only $1.29 Per Pair

They're right from the mill—Bale after bale have arrived to supply the demand—yet they come and are asked for. Very large size blanket (70x80 inches) for a double bed, extra quality, in white or grey with colored border; a Blanket you always pay $1.75 for when sold at the actual worth. In the Annex Wednesday at only per pair........ $1,29

CHILDREN'S WHITE BEAR COATS—THE LAST

Wednesday will see the last of the Children's White Bearskin Coats—about 23 in all; made of good quality English curl bearskin cloth, with deep circular collar; sizes up to 3 years; worth $2 and more; for a final clearing, in the Annex Wednesday 98c

GIRLS' $1.00 WRAPPERETTE DRESSES 69c

4 dozen only girls' navy blue polka dot Wrapperette Dresses; trimmed with rows of white finishing braid; close fitting collar; for girls from 8 to 12 years of age; a regular $1 dress. In the Annex Wednesday at only........ 69c

OUR FIRST BIG SALE OF

WOMEN'S RUBBERS

In the Annex Wednesday Sharp at Two o'clock.

150 PAIR OF WOMEN'S GOOD RUBBERS AT 49c PAIR

"A brand new one on the Annex" and sure to bring immediate success:—150 pairs of Women's Rubbers; good quality, good fitting shapes; heavy corrugated soles and heels; black linings; a thoroughly well made foot garment with reinforced seams, sizes 2½ to 7; regularly sold at 65c. Provision will be made for the comfortable fitting of all rubbers in the Annex—Limit of 3 pair to a customer. No phone or mail orders. Two o'clock sharp in the Annex at per pair........ 49c

Christmas Goods reduced to a minimum, Shop in the Annex this week.

DEPARTMENT STORES Cressman's

All Christmas lines sacrificed this week in the Bargain Annex.

Gordian Knot

THOMPSON—MAGUIRE.

The marriage was quietly solemnized on Christmas night at 112 Stewart street, of Miss Florence Thompson and Mr. Walter Maguire, formerly of Peterborough, but now of Sherbrooke, Que.

The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock by the Rev. P. Scott, of Toronto, assisted by Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox church They were unattended.

A dainty luncheon was served afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Maguire left on the midnight C.P.R. for Sherbrooke, their future home.

GODFREY—CLANCY.

A quiet church wedding occurred this morning at seven o'clock in St. Peter's cathedral, when Miss Chloe Godfrey and Mr. William Clancy were united in marriage, by Rev. Father McColl. The young couple were unattended. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Clancy left for their future home in Schenectady, N. Y.

The bride was the recipient of a purse of gold from the boarders at the Munro House on Saturday evening.

KELLY—JUNKIN

The marriage took place last Wednesday at Verulam, of Miss Georgina Junkin, to Mr. Garfield Kelly. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Foley of Bobcaygeon. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will reside in this city.

St. John the Evangelist's Day

This is the festival of St. John the Evangelist, which is duly honored by the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches. The day is also observed by the Masonic fraternity and the joint installation of officers of the two local lodges will take place this evening for the current Masonic year (1911) to be followed by a banquet at the Masonic hall.

EXTRA SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Florida pineapples, tangerines, fancy California cauliflowers, California celery, hothouse tomatoes, mushrooms, fancy red apples, sweet potatoes, fancy, blue point shell oysters in kegs of 100 oysters, fresh boiled lobsters. Also fancy Malaga grapes, table raisins and high grade chocolates. All goods the very best we can buy. Leave order early and secure better attention

W. J. OKE, 376 George St.
Telephone 18.

Scene from the great racing play "Wildfire" which comes to "The Grand" next Saturday, matinee and evening. Original production and a great cast. Holiday Prices:—Matinee, 75, 50, 35 and 25c. Evening, $1.00, 75, 50 and 35c. Gallery 25c. Plan open Thursday morning.

THE TOWNSHIP REEVES AND COUNCILS BY ACCLAMATION

Yesterday was a day of general acclamation in rural Peterborough and the ratepayers gave evidence of the appreciation of the satisfactory work of the township councils by returning them to power for another year. In Otonabee though W. D. Johnston was nominated to contest the reeveship with Reeve Porter, it is understood he will withdraw.

In Douro Reeve Moher and all the council were re-elected; in North Monaghan Reeve Howden and his advisors were also returned to power; the same applies to Otonabee with the exception noted: Chandos Burleigh and Anstruther.

"GRAND" SATURDAY, MATINEE & EVENING DEC. 31

The Famous Racing Comedy

Written by
Geo N. Broadhurst, Author of "The Man of the Hour"
Geo. V. Hobart, Author of "The Boys & Betty"

"WILDFIRE"

A Great Cast. Original Scenic Production. Brimful of Humor.
One of the best Race Track Stories Ever Staged.

Evening — $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. Gallery 25.
Matinee — 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c. Seats on Sale Thursday

Grand Opera House

To-morrow (Wednesday) Evening

SEATS NOW ON SALE

FREDERIC CLARKE and a Strong Company Plays in Hall Caine's Masterpiece

"The Manxman"

A Magnificent Scenic Production

Prices:—$1.00, 75c, 50c, 35c.
Gallery 25c.

CANDIDATES WERE NOMINATED FOR LOCAL MUNICIPAL BOARDS

For Holiday Diamond Values

This year we are going to make a record in our DIAMOND selling. We have left no stone unturned for this end. You will find our DIAMONDS priced accordingly. But, remember this, we handle and sell only FIRST QUALITY DIAMONDS. On these we claim and do save you money. Then, again, we allow in exchange the full purchase price on all our DIAMONDS. Consult us for DIAMONDS and see for yourself the decided price advantage.

A SOLITAIRE DIAMOND RING FROM $16.00 UP.

F. S.
Schneider
& CO.
Marriage Licenses Issued
Open Evenings Until Christmas

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone636 170 Charlotte Street

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

J. J. Turner & Sons ——— Owners and Managers

To-night! To-night!!
Dec. 23rd and 24th, at 7.30 and 9.00 p.m.
Prices only 5c & 10c
TWO SHOWS NIGHTLY
Also Matinees at 2.30 and 4 p. m., Saturday, the 24th
Price only 5c
The Finest and Most Most Refined Vaudeville

BELL & WASHBURN
In "The Johnny and the Chorus Girl," Singing and Musical Act

WILLIAM LUDWIG
The Female Impersonator and Vocalist

The Finest and Largest Moving Pictures in the City
First Class Orchestra
Try the GRAND Friday or Saturday

Home Rule
FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
140½ Hunter Street.

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell.
JAY'S STORES
Phone 603. 380 Aylmer St
Peterborough.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned at 212 King Street West, Toronto, and endorsed "Tender for Power House," will be received up to 5 p. m. on January 5th, 1911, for the construction of a Power House on the Waterworks Dam near Peterborough.

Plans and specifications may be seen on application to the undersigned at 212 King Street West, Toronto, or in the office of the Company at Peterborough, or at the office of William Kennedy, Jr., Rooms 8 and 9, Y.M.C.A. Building, Montreal.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Canadian General Electric Company, Limited.

WHO WAS THE LUCKY CUSTOMER

All of Coleman Bros. Christmas Cake Was Disposed of—430 Pounds

Every pound of Coleman Bros.' mammoth Christmas cake was disposed of and some one purchaser is richer by $5.00, that amount in gold having been placed in the cake, which weighed 430 pounds. Coleman Bros. would like to know the winner, and the person giving proof of such will be presented with a box of chocolates valued at $1.00.

SINGING OF CHOIR WAS EXCELLENT

The choir of St. Peters, sang to splendid advantage at the Christmas masses. The choir's work was admirably executed and the several solos were given with fine effect.

Miss Doherty, the organist and choir leader, is to be congratulated on the excellent results of her well directed training.

KID GLOVES
T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

A PROGRAM OF CHRISTMAS MUSIC

League of Goodfellowship Held Successful Meeting, Sunday

A very pleasant hour was spent at the men's meeting in the Princess Theatre on Christmas Day.

The Rev. C. Carpenter gave most hearty seasonable greetings to the men present, and specially mentioned his obligations to the Y. M. C. A. Orchestra, and to several strangers who gave their services and did much towards the success of the afternoon.

Canon Davidson also attended and in a few well chosen sent nces offered his warmest greetings and wishes for the welfare of all present and expressed his pleasure that the League was doing its best to increase the brightness of this glad season. Music and a recitation filled up the remaining time.

The following programme gave great satisfaction.

Hymn — "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."
Selection — "Christmas Awake," Y. M. C. A. Orchestra.
Hymn — "Oh Come all ye Faithful"
Duet — "Into Thy Hands," Messrs Sharman and Pitchford.
Violin Solo — "Melodie," (J. Harold Henry), Mr. A. G. Cowie.
Hymn— "While Shepherds Watched."
Recitation — "The road to Heaven" Mr. A. Pitchford.
Song — "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," Mr. Sandiford.
Carol — "Good King Wences-law" Messrs. Begstrom and Woodworth.
Hymn — "Stand up for Jesus."
Carol — "Stars All Bright," Rev. C. Carpenter.
Violin Solo — "The Broken Melody" (Van Biene) Mr. A. G. Cowie.

The director, Rev. C. Carpenter, announced that in acknowledgement (in a small degree) of the kindness of Mr. Pappas, in granting the free use of his theatre every Sunday, the League had presented him with a small Christmas gift.

DIED

BRYSON — At the residence of D. H. Burritt, 232 Brock Street, on Tuesday morning, Mary J. Bryson. Funeral to Little Lake Cemetery, on Thursday, at 2.30 p.m.

Remember I Credit
EASY TERMS
Open your Credit before Christmas for your
CLOTHING AND FURS

You want to look your best for the holidays and have ready money to spend for Christmas gift-giving.

PAY AT $1.00 PER WEEK

SPECIAL FOR LADIES
Coats all reduced prices

Suits, reg. $25.00	$14.95
1 left, Fur-lined Coat, reg. $55.00 for	30.00
Skirts, good wearing for the house and nice colors, reg. $3.00 for	1.98
Another lot of Skirts, reg. $6.50	4.95
Veil Skirts, reg. $13.50 for	8.40
All Waists, not silk, at reduced prices

MEN'S OVERCOATS AND SUITS
in the best quality and workmanship all at Reduced Prices

HOUSEFURNISHINGS
Square Rugs, Linoleum; Curtains, Tapestry and Lace in the best qualities

CASH OR CREDIT

The Canadian Furnishing Co.
The Best Credit Clothiers in City
163 CHARLOTTE STREET

A FULL SLATE FOR THE ALDERMANIC ELECTIONS

Ward Nominations Resulted in Many Candidates Being Chosen--The Ratepayers Selections for the Different Wards--Some Candidates Nominated for More Than One Ward

The aldermanic elections will be attended with more excitement than was anticipated. The field is big and with the stimulus of yesterday's nominaitons, new interest will be created in the contest.

The revival of the ward system means that two candidates will be elected to represent each ward. Some candidates were nominated for more than one ward, but these will likely declare themselves for the ward they favor before the elections on New Year's Day.

The nominations took place yesterday afternoon between 12 and 1 o'clock at the following places.

South Ward—L. Spry's, 210 Stewart Street, William Buller nominated by John Edgar, seconded by W. S. Robinson.

George H. Duncan, proposed by J. M. Greene, seconded by F. C. Rooke.

Thomas Hooper, proposed by L. D. Letellier, seconded by M. H. Halpin.

Harry Phelan, proposed by R. Sheehy, seconded by W. S. Robinson.

William S. Robinson, proposed by W. G. Shiner, seconded by John Jackson.

Centre Ward—City Council Chamber.

William Herbert Bradburn, proposed by W. G. Morrow, seconded by M. E. Murphy.

George H. Duncan, proposed by W. H. Bradburn, seconded by J. A. Armstrong.

Joseph Metheral, proposed by Jas. W. Carey, seconded by J. A. Armstrong.

Henry Phelan, proposed by Agustus White, seconded by Archie Barbeau.

West Ward — N. Routley's, 392 Brock Street.

Joseph Batten, proposed by Geo. Laing, seconded by James B. Brown.

William H. Bradburn, proposed by David Mulholland, seconded by C. A. Londerville.

James B. Brown, proposed by John Williams, seconded by Jos. Batten.

Joseph J. Duffus, proposed by W. G. Morrow, seconded by A. Brown.

James Edgar, proposed by W. J. Henry, seconded by Geo. Laing.

G. N. Gordon, proposed by M. E. Conway, seconded by Chas. Mitchell.

Wm. J. Henry, proposed by Jas. Edgar, seconded by George Laing.

R. H. Hicks, propsed by Chas. H. J. Mitchell, seconded by M. E. Conway.

Robert Neill, proposed by Nelson Routley, seconded by George Laing.

North Ward — Mrs. Lee's shop, Smith Street.

James Bogue, proposed by James Davidson, seconded by W. S. Lodd.

John D. Craig, proposed by T. S. Detcher, seconded by E. C. Manning.

James Davidson, proposed by Jas. Bogue, seconded by J. Robson.

Alexander Gibson, proposed by E. C. Manning, seconded by J. J. Hartley.

James G. Graham, proposed by Chas. E. Wiley, seconded by E. C. Manning.

R. H. Hicks, proposed by E. H. Mann, seconded by E. C. Manning.

William Hill proposed by Erasmus Green, seconded by J. Bradley.

David Henry Kernaghan, proposed by R. H. Kidd, seconded by James Graham.

Robert J. Kidd, proposed by E. C. Manning, seconded by L. S. Edney.

Ernest T. Mason, proposed by Jas. Davidson, seconded by F. S. Detcher.

David Spence, proposed by W. J. Johnston, seconded by E. H. Mann.

East Ward — Old Village Hall, Ashburnham.

John C. Anderson, proposed by G. L. Hay, seconded by John Taylor.

John Carlisle, proposed by Joseph Barure, seconded by Andrew Brotherson.

George A. Gillespie, proposed by Wm. Scott, seconded by Robert Schnider.

John Malane, proposed by G. N. McCarthy, seconded by F. J. Guegin.

Henry Morgan, proposed by Wm. Scott, seconded by Robert Sheridan.

J. T. O'Connell, proposed by P. Doris, seconded by Wm. Quinn.

William Scott, proposed by G. L. Hay, seconded by John Taylor.

Frederick F. Sedgewick, proposed by M. H. Howley, seconded by Albert Milliken.

EIGHT CANDIDATES NOMINATED FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

And Three for Water Commission---Mayor Morrow Reviews Council's Work for the Year--Our Educational System Approved of and Condemned

The municipal nominations for Mayor, Water Commissioners and members of the Board of Education were held yesterday morning in the City Council Chambers, from 10 until 11 o'clock. Quite a number of citizens were present to hear the results, and Mayor Morrow's re-election to the position of Chief Magistrate of the city seemed to meet the unanimous favor of those assembled.

The following were the results:—For Mayor, George W. Morrow—Moved by T. F. Matthews, seconded by Wm. Langford.

WATER COMMISSIONERS.

For Water Commissioners, W. H. Hill—Nominated by T. F. Matthews, seconded by Robert Fair.

William Langford—Nominated by James C. Graham, seconded by W. S. Robinson.

James Kendry—Nominated by Erasmus Green, seconded by W. H. White.

T. F. Matthews, chairman, and W. H. Moore, K.C., have not yet served the three years' term for which they were elected and were therefore not renominated. There will be a contest for only one seat on the board.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Board of Education nominees with their nominators and seconders are:

J. E. L. Goodwill—Nominated by D. H. Moore, seconded by George H. Duncan.

Matthew A. Morrison—Nominated by D. W. Dumble, seconded by Wm. Langford.

Wm. S. Robinson, nominated by George H. Duncan, seconded by Jas. G. Graham.

Robert Fair—Nominated by T. F. Matthews, seconded by Jas. G. Graham.

B. F. Ackerman—Nominated by D. W. Dumble, seconded by M. A. Morrison.

D. W. Dumble—Nominated by R. Hicks seconded by E. H. Mann.

James Finnie—nominated by R. J. Kidd seconded by D. H. Kerneghan.

Vincent Eastwood—Nominated by A. A. McIntyre seconded by E. H. Mann.

L. M. Hayes K.C.; W. H. Hill, John Crane Dr. Burnham, T. H. Adams and Col. Miller have only served one year of their two year term of office.

A REVIEW OF COUNCIL'S WORK.

At the close of the nominations City Clerk Armstrong who presided, asked if any present desired to address the meeting. The Mayor in a brief and comprehensive address summed up the work of the Council for the past year. His remarks were as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen —During the past year the Council have had to deal with many matters of considerable importance to the city, and I can say without flattery that they have been dealt with in a business-like manner, and, while sufficient time has been given to careful consideration of every question, there has been no unnecessary delay and the business has been dealt with promptly.

The Public Library building has been completed, and is exceedingly well adapted for the purpose for which it is intended. It occupies a good site and the building is one of the best library buildings in the smaller cities of the Dominion. It is commodious and presents a good appearance, and the contractors have done good work on the interior finish, and it has a handsome and well-lighted interior. The city is to be congratulated upon having this building erected and the library established without cost to the citizens through the generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie and Mr. R. Hall and C. McGill, the executors of the Nicholls Estate.

For some years the necessity for a hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases has been recognized, and we have this year year had a building erected on the city's farm at the northern boundary for this purpose. This building is now practically completed and will be ready for receiving patients early in the year. We hope that this provision will enable the health authorities to check promptly any outbreak of diphtheria or scarlet fever, and will also be of advantage to families in which either of these diseases may appear.

During the past year the Council has had negotiations with five different manufacturing companies looking to the enlargement of their industries, and in each case the factory has been enlarged, resulting in the employment of an increased number of employees and an addition to the business carried on in the city. Acting with the Water Commissioners, an agreement was made with the Canadian General Electric Company, by which they utilize the surplus power at the waterworks dam. The Company will erect the building and instal the machinery for this purpose and pay the city $2,000.00 a year, and the building and machinery will belong to the city at the end of the term. This is a fair arrangement, and at the same time it secured the enlargement of the Company's works here. This Company now employs 1,493 hands, as compared with 1,046 a year ago. By the adjustment of Hunter street at the west end of the bridge, without narrowing the street, and by closing a short piece of street through the yard of the Quaker Oats Company, the expenditure of $200,000 was secured on additional buildings for this industry. The Council also gave to the Peterborough Canoe Company a piece of street that was not used, in exchange for a strip on the water front, and at the same time provided facilities for a considerable increase to the plant of this factory, and to the number of hands employed. The assessment of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co. and of the B.F. Ackerman, Son & Co's factories were fixed, except for school purposes, at practically their present assessment for ten years, and both these companies have made considerable additions, thus providing for the employment of more labor and increased output. The Council also this year completed the negotiations under which the Wm. Hamilton Co. works were revived.

At the present time two by-laws have been submitted to the electors, and if they are approved a new industry will be added which has good prospects for being a prosperous and growing concern, and a considerable sum will be expended by men of experience in that line in ascertaining whether natural gas in paying quantities can be found in this neighborhood. The new industry will help the growth of the city, and if natural gas is discovered it will be of benefit to the community.

The opening of the new Smith street bridge has removed the inconvenience of having this bridge closed at times for repairs, and a permanent structure has been provided that will be a handsome one as well.

A large section of the city in the southwestern district and a section that is being built up rapidly was without sewer accommodations and owing to the level at which the output was necessarily constructed this district could not be drained into it. The difficulty is being overcome and the necessary accommodation provided by the construction of a sewerage pumping station at the junction of George and Romaine streets and this work will benefit the health of the city as well as provide conveniences for the residents of the district.

These works as well as the ordinary sewers and the granolithic sidewalks that have been built, and the improvements to the waterworks system made by the commissioners, have called for the issuing of debentures and during the year debentures to the amount of $86,671.46 have been disposed of and the good standing of the city is shown by the fact that a premium of $627.00 was received.

The Council this year gave considerable attention to street paving, and although owing to opposition encountered, a beginning has not been made in constructing permanent pavements the information obtained will be useful and with further information and consideration there is no doubt that pavements of a permanent character will soon be constructed at least on leading streets.

The Council had negotiations beginning early in the year with the Canadian Pacific Railway regarding the construction of their Georgian Bay grain route through Peterborough. We fully expected that these negotiations would be concluded some time ago, but the railway company has not given a formal reply to the proposition in its final shape. This proposition, we understood, was acceptable to the company and have from day to day expected that the matter would be closed up, but any delay there has been has not been caused by the Council.

We have had negotiations with the representatives of the Peterborough Protestant Home in reference to the erection of a new Home for the Protestant poor of the city and legislation will be applied for at the coming session of the Legislature to enable the city to assist in defraying the cost of the building and empowering the city to levy a rate on the Protestant rate-payers for the maintenance of such inmates as may be sent from the city and for the same power to levy a rate on the Roman Catholic rate-payers for the maintenance of such inmates in the House of Providence as may be sent from the city.

The different committees of the Council, have, as far as I can ascertain to date, kept well within their appropriations so that we will have a balance on hand at the end of the year of $3000.

The amount at the credit of the city to-day being $13,183.00.

I again thank you for this evidence of the confidence you place in me and hope that the city will have another year of progress and prosperity.

"I wish all the people of Peterborough a Happy New Year."

He also explained what the introduction of the office of Industrial Commissioner meant to the city and paid a compliment to the commissioner for the excellent work he was doing. Many people were rather vague in their ideas as to the commissioner's duties, stated the mayor.

The mayor is in communication with a couple of other industries who may located here, one of which is a Furniture and Camp Bed Company.

This would employ from 30 to 40 men and would spend about $25,000 for land and buildings.

Mr. William Langford thanked the electors for his nomination to the water commission and said he would endeavor to do his best, if elected.

Dr. M. A. Morrison, a Board of Education candidate, also expressed similar thanks. He thought the people were now pretty familiar with the Board and stated that the children of Peterborough have at their disposal one of the best systems of education. The fact that teachers have been called to other places to teach proves the excellence of the staff. Our system taught our boys and girls the most useful things for them to know.

The education of the boys and girls is the best investment we could give them.

W. S. Robinson also spoke. If he were elected to the Board he would do his best in the interests of education. He was very strongly of the opinion that the majority of the students who leave school are not competent to hold good positions and that their education was deficient.

He also proposed that children be allowed to get out of school at a quarter to twelve to avoid obstructing or hindering workmen on their way home at noon.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

THEY WON'T BE CANDIDATES

Messrs. W. J. Henry, J. D. Craig, and Alex Gibson, have definitely announced that they will not be candidates in the aldermanic elections. They wish to express their thanks to their nominators.

A Correction

Through a clerical error, Miss Myra Baird, a pupil in the Ia form of the Collegiate Institute, was credited with having obtained 65 p.c., instead of 70 p.c.

Instead of standing seventh in her class she should be credited with fourth place.

MARRIED

MAGUIRE—THOMPSON—At 112 Stewart street, on the 26th inst., Florence M. Thompson and Walter S. Maguire of Sherbrooke, Que.

TO THE ELECTORS

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I am in the field as a candidate for election to the Council from the West Ward.

Respectfully,

J. J. DUFFUS

Centre Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CENTRE WARD, City of Peterborough:—

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I respectfully solicit your support as a candidate for the office of Alderman, for the year 1911. With the number of years of experience I have had in the Council, I believe I could continue to give good service to the City, and I will, if you favor me with your confidence, do all in my power to advance the City's interests.

Wishing you the compliments of the season.

Yours very truly.

HARRY PHELAN

Many Happy Returns

No doubt you have been remembered by either friends from home or abroad— everybody has. You may wish to return the compliment, and at no time will it be more acceptable than at New Years. A New Years gift is always acceptable and to our many friends would say that you can still make a good choice from our extensive

Furnishing Department

In this department you will find the best Underwear, Hoisery, Gloves, Neckwear, Scarfs, Mufflers, Handkerchiefs, Shirts, Suspenders, Vests, Cardigans, Coat Sweaters, etc., etc.

H. LeBRUN & CO.
The Style Store for Men and Boys

We make purity doubly sure, by pasteurizing every bottle of

O'Keefe's PILSENER LAGER

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"

It is the equal of any imported lager in purity and flavor—and costs about half because there is no duty to pay on it.

"The Beer with a Reputation" 212

At leading Hotels, Cafes and Dealers generally.

SPORTING NEWS

FOUR TURKEY WINNERS

The Shooting at Yeotes' Gallery

Turkey winners at Yeotes' shooting gallery for the past week were: C. Smith, H. Solmes, J. C. Claney and R. Revoy.

In the professional shooting Smith and Solmes tied at 59 for the turkeys and in breaking the tie Solmes took 57 and Smith 55. The other competitors shot as follows:—N. Perry, 58; W. L. Mitchell 58; J. Pearson, 58; . Metcalf 57; J. Simons, 57; R. D. Cole 57; W. Edmondson, 56; H. Lobb, 5; F. Andrews, 55; A. Chapman, 55; . Graham, 50.

In the amateur competition J. Claney shot at 58, and in the tie between Revoy and Thornton at 57 Revoy won out with 52, his opponent taking 48. The other scores were:—E. Rutherford, 56; H. Gandson, 56; J. Watt, 56; W. Merrett, 56; E. Hurtubise, 55; W. Kennedy, 55; E. Gutterson, 55; J. Reynolds, 54; J. Kellbrick, 54; W. Spilsbury, 54; A. Gidden, 54; E. Edgar, 53; P. Hanlin, 53; E. Quinlan, 53; M. McMahon, 53; S. Matthews, 50.

Good prizes will be offered in the competitions for this week. On Saturday last great interest was displayed, there being two hundred in attendance.

WON PRIZES AT CHRISTMAS SHOOT

At the Gold Lake Gun Club shoot Jackson Park yesterday morning prizes were won as follows:—C. Gunn, turkey; Baker, turkey; Perry, turkey; Elliott, turkey; George Fitzgerald, goose.

SPORT TALK

Hackenschmidt defeated Dr. Roller last night, winning two straight falls, the first in an hour and 5 minutes 20 seconds, and the second in 15 minutes 23 seconds. Six thousand people saw the bout.

Billy Papke lost to Dave Smith, an Australian middleweight champion at Sydney yesterday. Papke fouled Smith in the third round.

Junior players will practice this evening at the rink, and the intermediates to-morrow night.

Belleville pros. beat Trenton yesterday afternoon 4—0, and Port Hope won from Trenton at night by 4—3. According to the line-up of the Belleville team Dusty worked at rover.

TROTTERS' PEDIGREES

No Family Has Monopoly But There is One Comes Near to it

No trotting family has a monopoly in the production of world's champion trotters and pacers. The Hambletonian family comes nearer to it than any other, but there are so many subfamilies in the Hambletonian trotting family and present-day record breakers are so far removed from the fountain head that the most noted performers are classed in the sub-families, as Happy Medium, Dictator, Wilkes, Election, etc.

A large percentage of these trotters who have entered the extreme speed list (2:10) this season are members of the George Wilkes than any other family; that is, they trace directly in the paternal line to George Wilkes (2:22). Electioneer 125 ranks next to George Wilkes (2:22) in this respect. Limiting the animals to the record-breaking trotters of the year so far honors seem to be pretty evenly divided between Electioneer 125 and George Wilkes (2:22).

The four most prominent record-breaking trotters of the year so far are Uhlan (1:58¾), The Harvester (2:01), Colorado E. (3) (2:06¾), and Silent Brigade, race record (2) (2:11¼). Uhlan (1:58¾) and The Harvester (2:01) trace directly in the male line to Electioneer 125, while Colorado E. (2:06¾) and Silent Brigade (2:11¼) are direct descendants of George Wilkes (2:22). Electioneer may not be justly entitled to all the credit, however, of producing those two wonderful record breakers, for the dam of Bingen (2:06¼), sire of Uhlan (1:58), was by Young Jim 2009, a son of George Wilkes (2:22), and his second dam was by Red Wilkes 1749, another son of George Wilkes.

ICE RACES WERE CALLED OFF

Turf Club Will Run Off the Events on New Year's Day

The matinee which was to have been held yesterday afternoon at the new track of the Turf Club on the canal, was called off in the morning on account of the snow storm.

The events will be run off at the track New Year's day afternoon.

GEERS' BIG CAMPAIGN

Famous Light-Harness Man Has a Star Stable for the Big Circuit in 1911.

Advices received from the South state that Ed Geers, the master reinsman, is as busy as ever at Memphis with his Grand Circuit performers of 1911. The master of American reinsmen should have a great season next year.

The Harvester, 2:01, retires for the season in superb condition, and prominent also in the silent man's stable are Dudie Archdale, 2:06¼; The Hugenot, trial 2:13, owned by Arthur H. Parker of Shawsheen River Farm, Bedford; High Admiral (2) 2:16¾, by Admiral Dewey, 2:04¾; Arlo Leyburn, 2:14¼; three green mares of great promise, Eva Cord by Silk Cord, he by Prodigal, 1:16; Viola Strong by Strong Boy, 2:12¼, and Lady Alice by Allerton, 2:09¼.

Also among the prospects are Lady Willow, 2:24, by Minotaur; Peter Rede, 2:17¾, and Peter Boy (2), trial 2:23¼; both by Peter the Great, 2:07¼.

Among the promising two-year-olds are Judge Ha[illegible] bbe, 2:04; and Blue Feather by Walnut Hall, 2:08¼. There are also quite a promising host of youngsters by Bingen, Peter the Great, Moko, and Walnut Hall.

Gus Macey, the Lexington sulky knight, is preparing to leave for Denver in a few days. He declares that Colorado E., 2:04¼, the world's champion three-year-old trotter, will have only light work for the remainder of the season after the spring, and that starting as a five-year-old in 1912, he will trot the fastest mile ever stepped by a trotter.

There seems to be no question in the Southerner's mind but what he can win the classic M. and M. in 1911 with Lily W., who can trot in 2:07. Macey thinks his pacer C The Limit will pace in two minutes flat next season.

The other Esterbrook horses who are in the list for the grand circuit in 1911 are Nancy Gentry, 2:08¾, Fanny Lawson, Dorothy Axworthy, Aris by Arion, 2:07¾, and McKinney Mac (1), 2:27½.

Low Rates for Christmas and New Years

Via Grand Trunk Railway system, between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE—Good going December 24, 25 and 26th, 1910, return limit Tuesday, December 27th, 1910, also good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD.—Good going December 21st, 1910, to Monday, January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911. Secure tickets and full information from Grand Trunk agents. 64

John Owen, of Napanee, Ont., dropped dead in a barroom in Rochester, N. Y.

At Rockford, Ill., a concrete dam 550 feet long across Rock River was completed at a cost of $35,000.

Manchuria is being ravaged by the bubonic plague. Germany threatens to take repressive measures.

AN ALL AROUND ORDEAL.

When Papa Was Getting Ready to Attend a Banquet.

Papa was going to a banquet. It was unusual for him to attend banquets—so unusual, in fact, that the children had boasted of it for a week to all who would hear.

Now it was the night of the banquet, and papa was getting ready, and the once quiet and orderly house was much upset.

"Run on out," said mamma, "and don't bother your father while he's dressing." Papa was shaving and at the same time committing a speech to memory in case he should be called upon for something impromptu.

The tiny trickles of blood down his chin showed where the speech was getting the better part of his attention. On the bed lay a clean white shirt, and across a chair hung papa's dress clothes. He hadn't worn the dress clothes for two years and was considerably stouter now.

After awhile the children, crouching interestedly at the door, heard entertaining things.

"Confound the shirt!" howled papa. "I know I washed my hands, but the neckband's all dirty." Mamma's voice scotched him.

Through the keyhole the children saw papa struggle into his coat. The stiff shirt rose almost to his ears, and a high collar nearly sawed them off.

"Doggone it!" wailed papa. "The sleeves of this coat are a mile too short."

Then his shoes hurt him; he couldn't get his tie fixed right; his handkerchief was hopelessly missing, and finally he stood miserably in the middle of the floor.

His face was red, the perspiration poured down his nose, his thin hair stood up, and he was about the most uncomfortable looking person the children had ever seen.

"Now, then," said mamma, with a sigh, "you're fixed. You have no idea, dear, how nice you look."

"Oh, yes," papa snarled, "I look nice, I don't think." Then he found his hat and a light coat and stalked stiffly and uncomfortably out. The children, hiding behind the stair railing, saw him depart.

"Gee," said the little boy, "when I get big I won't go to any dinners. They can bring mine."

"You'll have to," said his sister wisely. "Men always have to go to dinners. But they dress up funny, don't they?"—Galveston News.

ALLIGATORS' NESTS.

They Resemble Haystacks and Are Natural Incubators.

"An alligators' nest is an interesting thing," said Alligator Joe. "Wild alligators build their nests on the bank of a river or in marshy places. They are made of mud, saw grass and leaves and mold. They are sort of natural incubators, for the eggs, which are laid from thirty-five to eighty in a nest at one time, are hatched out by the steam which comes up through the mud as much as by the sun. Around the nest a pile of grass is laid, sometimes as high as six feet, and from a distance resembles a stack of hay. The mother gator has her den near by. She makes it by burrowing into a bank of soft mud, and sometimes it is seventy feet or more inland. The only way to get her out of a den like that is to take a long steel rod and thrust it down the tunnel, which is always slanting. When the gator feels the prodding she will come out to see what the trouble is.

"It takes alligator eggs two months and six days to hatch. When the little ones come out the mother calls them together by a noise which is something between a cluck and a grunt, and they all scramble down from the nest to her den. If it is on the edge of a river the den is filled with minnows. As the mother enters the den she swishes her tail around with terrific force, killing the smallest fish, and when they float the little alligators nab them up.

"A mother alligator will sometimes have four or five dens, and she takes her brood from one to another, repeating the swishing process in each one until the young ones have had a full meal."—Harriet Quimby in Leslie's.

Tom's Memory.

"Before I went away I told Tom just what I wanted him to do about the house from day to day, and to make it doubly sure I talked my orders into our phonograph so he could play the record each night and so remember."

"And did he then forget?"

"I found everything in the house about ruined. He said he couldn't bear to play the phonograph in my absence; it reminded him so of me and made him lonely."—Boston Herald.

Not So Far Wrong.

"Have you written all the invitations to my party, mamma?" queried little Eva.

"Yes, dear," answered her mother. "They are all written and mailed."

"And how soon will the acceptions and deceptions begin to come in?"—Chicago News.

A Single Exception.

"Do you think a memory for dates helps a man?"

"Sometimes," replied Farmer Corntassel. "But not when he is selling spring chickens."—Washington Star.

Another Difference.

"I don't see any difference between you and a trained nurse except the uniform," said her sick husband.

"And the salary," she added thoughtfully.—Harper's Bazar.

Reckless haste is the direct road to ruin [illegible]

John H. Martin, a Hamilton bigamist was sent to the pen for five years.

GROWTH OF CANADA.

Her Amazing Progress Is Attracting World-wide Attention.

This is the tenor in which popular American papers are now speaking of Canada. It shows a change of front in the last two decades:

Canada's amazing growth is attracting world-wide attention. Not so very long ago that country was regarded as being one of the lesser elements in the progress of the world as a whole, but now, within a few years, there has come about a change which has placed Canada well toward the head of the list of those countries classed as well-to-do in a material sense. Natural resources have been developed through a splendid system of railroads, homesteaders have flocked in, and on every hand prosperity is evident.

Three great factors in the progress of Canada are agriculture, immigration and transportation, each of which is making a great showing. It means the dawn of a great and mighty nation, and one that is destined to have a great influence in the affairs of the world. In western Canada alone there are 334,000,000 acres of land, only 44,000,000 of which are now homesteaded. With only 12,000,000 acres of this under grain crop last year about 147,000,000 bushels of wheat were produced. What will it be when all of that immense territory is under cultivation? Is it not evident that Canada will become the bakeshop of the bunch?

That the world is beginning to realize this is shown by the confidence displayed in Canada's future. During the past five years Great Britain has invested $685,000,000 in Canada, mostly in railways, Government and municipal debentures, and during the same period the United States has invested $226,000,000 in Canada, mostly in establishing manufacturing plants. Quite recently French bankers have made known their desire to invest $50,000,000 in Canada this year. The trend of the times is fairly shown in these figures.

One can see plainly why the United States should look to closer trade relations with Canada. The fact that the wheat producing power of the United States has now almost reached its zenith, while the population grows unceasingly, shows that sometime, soon, the United States will have to buy her wheat from abroad. There is no doubt about this being a fact. In the face of a possibility such as this the United States should lay the foundation of her future food supply by meeting Canada squarely and fairly as a nation that has something of untold value to gain, to obtain which the complete sacrifice of present day vantage and ideas would be as nothing compared with cheap food for the next generation, and this one, too.

The Storm of 1905.

The great snow-storm of 1905 will be long remembered. The upper end of Lake Superior was fairly strewn with the stranded. The Western Star went ashore near Apostle Islands; the Corey wrecked on Gull Rock; on Minnesota Point the steamer England came to grief. The life-saving crew rescued the men. At Duluth piers the Metaffa broke her back and nine men were lost. At Lester Park, six miles to the east, the Crescent City went on the rocks. The men laid a hatch across the rail and walked ashore. It was a more convenient wreck than most. The Lafayette, further east, was a total loss, though her engines and boilers were afterwards salvaged. The Edenborn and her tow barge, the Madeira, were put up high and dry. The Spencer and her barge, Amboy, were lost, and the Monkshaven may still be seen on the rocks of Angus Island.

The ill-fated Metaffa had ventured out of Duluth's bottle harbor, but decided to turn back. She headed for the mouth of the canal that leads into Duluth as into a pound net. A strong current was pouring out between the piers, and a cross swirl caught the bow of the Metaffa and flung it to one side. She missed the channel, hit one of the piers, swung around it broadside, and dropped outside the breakwater, where the seas drove her into shallow water. She grounded 100 feet out from the breakwater. Here, within plain view of thousands of people, she was beyond aid. The seas had all Superior and a hurricane behind them, and piled up over the stranded vessel and over the breakwater. Two men in the deckhouse tried to make their way aft, where the others were, and where there was warmth from the boiler. The crowds on shore saw these two men washed overboard, and beheld one of them caught in a cross swirl and restored to the deck. He clung there exhausted, and was presently frozen in the centre of a solid cake of ice.

The storm raged all night. When they got out to the Metaffa the next day, they found the water had put the engine fires out. Nine men they found frozen, and they chopped them out of solid ice one foot thick, with axes. As for the Metaffa, her back was broken. They towed her into the dry dock at Superior and took her apart. The machinery was removed and sold.

An Overburdened Hen.

There is a certain hen, residing on a certain small farm on the Hamilton road, just outside the city limits, that is one of the most overburdened of mothers.

Some time ago she hatched out nine beautiful chicks. The same day two incubators which had been at work brought out 175 birds.

The hen, being a poor hand at arithmetic, and possessing an open heart, imagined herself the mother of the whole tribe, and daily she does her best to keep order in the family, and scratch for the 184 little bills.

When she croons to them, a perfect avalanche of broilers races in her direction. When she seeks repose, she is almost smothered under brand new chickens.

When a reporter saw her she was doing her best to get her wings over all her chickens, but in a minute she looked like a well-decorated miniature pyramid of spring fowl.—London Advertiser.

W. J. Smith of Kingston has been appointed chief of the Gananoque fire brigade.

"ROBIN ADAIR."

Famous Love Song Had Its Original in Eighteenth Century.

"Robin Adair" is one of those old-fashioned love songs which has lived for more than a century, and has retained its popularity probably more by reason of its pretty and plaintive melody than the words written by Lady Caroline Keppell. It is old-fashioned, for it must be confessed that a lady of to-day would scarcely lay aside her modesty to the extent that did Lady Keppell, to tell Robin how much she was enamored of him. In spite of what may be the feeling of a young woman in love at present, she would hardly dare to address the object of her affection in such endearing terms and then publish that confession to the world. She affirms that the "town was dull without him," the "assembly stupid," and that she can "ne'er forget him"; she prayed for him, tried to make him jealous by confessing that "many had made love to her," and ended by begging him to "come to her heart again."

It was nearly a century and a half ago since there lived in Dublin a young Irishman named Robin Adair. At the time he was studying for the medical profession in that city, and, getting into some sort of trouble, the exact nature of which is not clear, he was compelled to leave the city. He started for London, but on arriving at Holyhead he found that his purse would not pay for the journey by coach, and so he set off on foot. He had not gone far when he came upon an overturned carriage, the owner of which happened to be a well-known lady of fashion.

The lady had received some slight injury, and our medical student proceeded to exercise his art in having her set right. Presently the journey was resumed. Robin having a place in the carriage bound for London as that happened to be the lady's destination as well as that of Adair. Arriving at the metropolis, Robin found himself in the possession of a check for a hundred guineas and an invitation to visit his fellow-traveler as often as he pleased. With the money placed at his disposal, he completed his medical studies, and soon acquired an excellent practice.

One night Robin was at a dance given by his benefactress, where he met Lady Caroline Keppell, second daughter of the Earl of Albemarle. On both sides it was a case of love at first sight; but its course was naturally far from smooth. On the part of the lady's family the idea of such a mesalliance was not to be thought of, and every means was taken to disillusionise her. She came home, and a residence at Bath was tried. It was all to no purpose.

What's this dull town to me?
Robin's not near.

At last the union was reluctantly consented to, and in The Grand Magazine of Universal Intelligence those who are interested may to-day read the following chronicle of the event:—

"February 22nd, 1758.

"Robin Adair, Esq., to the Right Hon. the Lady Caroline Keppell."

Proving His Contention.

"Jones is an optimist, even in the most discouraging circumstances, isn't he?"

"Why, no. His mother-in-law is slightly indisposed, and he thinks there's no hope for her recovery."

"Well, what did I tell you?"—Cleveland Leader.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.

Capital Authorized	$5,000,000.
Capital Paid Up	$3,297,550.
Rest and Undivided Profits	$3,753,466.

Savings Bank Department

Every facility extended to depositors in operating their accounts. No formality when depositing or withdrawing money.

Peterborough Branch, George Street
G. C. WAINWRIGHT, Manager

Found a Place.

The billposter had one poster left and no conspicuous place to put it. He stood on the corner and wondered what he should do with it. Presently an Italian woman carrying a big load of wood on her head passed by.

"Better than a Broadway electric tower for my business," said he.

Paste brush and paste were requisitioned, the poster was clapped on the perambulating wood pile, and for fifteen minutes the ever curious Broadway crowd stopped, turned and even followed to learn something about the commodity that was advertised in that novel manner.—New York Sun.

STOCKS and BONDS

WARREN, GZOWSKI & CO.

Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Traders' Bank Building, Toronto
and
25 Broad Street, New York

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE
UNEXCELLED SERVICE.

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to THE LENOX.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at THE LENOX. The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $250,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY

MERSON & CO.

Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

The First Impression

Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in

The Stationery He Uses

If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to

THE REVIEW

for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are:—

Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.

Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—

REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

TORTURED HIM FOR 25 YEARS

"Fruit-a-tives" Brought Mr. Jones Quick Relief.

SARNIA, ONT.

"I have been a sufferer for the past twenty-five years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and doctors but derived no benefit whatever. Finally I read an advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives" in which Hon. John Costigan (Senator from New Brunswick) stated that he had been cured of Constipation by "Fruit-a-tives" so I decided to give it a trial. It is the only medicine that does me any good. I recommend "Fruit-a-tives" and cannot praise it too highly."

PAUL J. JONES.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that will actually and completely cure chronic Constipation and effectively regulate the bowels to move regularly and naturally. "Fruit-a-tives" is also the only medicine in the world made of fruit that acts directly on the liver—and the only possible way to cure constipation is to make the liver healthy and active.

If you suffer with Constipation, do just as Mr. Jones did—take "Fruit-a-tives". 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Otttawa.

DR. T. J. MACNAMARA

A Close Student of Education in the Old Land and a Vigorous Advocate of Reforms

Dr. Thomas James Macnamara, who has been elected in Camberwell, North, is regarded as one of the cleverest all-round hands amongst the younger race of politicians. The son of a private soldier, he was born in Montreal in 1861, but removed to England in early childhood with his father when the latter's regiment was recalled to Lancashire. He was a Board School teacher between the ages of sixteen and thirty, and in 1891 he became editor of the "Schoolmaster." In 1894 he achieved a record poll in his candidature for the London School Board. In 1896 he was elected president of the National Union of Teachers. The cause of education has always been near and dear to his heart, hence it is not surprising that no sooner had he been elected to the Commons in 1900 than he began to devote his attention to the educational policy of the government. He was one of the most vigorous champions of the Liberal Government's Education Bill. On the floor of the Commons and between sessions he wrote in leading periodicals in support of that measure. In 1906, in an article in the Nineteenth Century, he charged that the outcry of the clergy of the Established Church and of the Roman Catholic community was unreasonable. "In what circumstances, let me ask," he wrote, "can they ever hope to do better than this? As I have said, they have only to carry their growing fury against the bill far enough to push religious teaching out of the schools altogether. Do they want that?"

DR. T. J. MACNAMARA

The Contemporary Review of about the same period published an article on the same question in which Dr. Macnamara pointed out that London alone had a million pupils and students, 20,000 Public School teachers, and an expenditure annually on education of $20,000,000. In the United Kingdom there were 11,817 Church of England schools, 450 Wesleyan schools, 1,063 Roman Catholic schools, 12 Jewish schools, and 739 Undenominational schools. Many of these were old, ill-adapted, ill-ventilated and ill-drained.

Subsequently, in his article on "The Education Bill and After," he wrote with great vehemence against Mr. Balfour, whom he accused of killing the bill. "Had it not been," he said, "for the persistent determination of Mr. Balfour to keep this festering wound open, a compromise would have been attained honorable to both parties and of lasting benefit to the children of the country. Well, he will live to regret it."

Dr. Macnamara obtained his first political preferment in the Parliamentary Secretaryship of the Local Government Board in 1907, and in 1908, was transferred to the Secretaryship of the Admiralty. He is an admirable party speaker and a clever writer, his productions including a most humorous collection of schoolboys' blunders.

Twenty-four canaries and many moving picture slides are the Christmas gifts planned by the superintendent to the inmates of the State Hospital, at Elgin, Ill.

MILITARY FORMS.

The Why and Wherefore of Many Army Customs.

HAND AND SWORD SALUTES.

The Origin of the Former Goes Back to the Time of the Borgias and the Latter to the Knights of the Crusades—Funeral Volleys and Taps.

Why does a soldier when saluting a superior raise his hand to his head covering? The beginning dates back to the time of the Borgias, if not to an earlier date. In those days assassination was in vogue, and in order that an inferior might not have a superior at advantage the inferior was compelled when coming into his superior's presence to raise his right hand, palm to the front, to show that no dagger was concealed there. From this old custom our hand saluté has come down.

The salute with the sword was not done that way in the beginning without any reason. When knights of the crusades received their orders it was the custom for them to call upon God to witness their assumption of the orders given. To do this the sword was raised to the front so that the hilt reached the lips, when the cross formed by the hilt and blade could be kissed and an oath registered to carry out the orders faithfully. The dropping of the sword, point to the front, indicates submission.

Why in the funeral cortege of a mounted officer or soldier is the horse, saddled and equipped, with the boots of the late rider placed heels to the front in the stirrups, led to the place of burial? To show by reversal of the boots the owner's march has ended.

We must go back to the days of the Romans for the reason why in the service three volleys are fired over the open grave of a comrade. Among the Romans the burial consisted of the throwing of earth three times on the coffin. Three times was the dead man called by name, which ended the ceremony, and as the friends and relatives departed each said "Vale" three times. So as a farewell to our dead comrades we fire three volleys over the grave. Then the service called taps is sounded, this closing the ceremony.

Why should the call taps be sounded in preference to any other? Because taps is the call for "lights out," and the lights of life are out in the comrade who has "joined the silent bivouac of the dead." This ending of a service funeral dates back to the early forties, but did not become a fixed custom till late in the civil war.

There was a reason for causing all witnesses before a military court to remove the glove from the right hand before taking the oath. The raising of the hands and eyes toward heaven when taking an oath is of great antiquity. When the Bible was printed the bare hand was laid on the book, which was afterward kissed. But the Bible was not always at hand when needed. So the custom of raising the right hand and uncovering the head has grown into general practice. In olden days the criminal was branded in the palm of the right hand, and for this reason the custom of requiring the removal of the glove came into vogue in order that the hand might be inspected.

The colored silk sash long worn by officers of our army, which for many years has ceased to form part of the uniform, except for general officers, was not adopted simply because it looked pretty. It was originally intended that this sash, which was very strong, woven of silk and could be stretched out to over a yard in width, should be used as a hammock in which wounded officers could be carried off the battlefield.

And likewise the gaudy colored horsehair plume that flowed from the helmet was not placed there because it looked so well. The original hair plume hung down on the shoulders of the wearer, and it was intended that it should be a safeguard against a saber cut aimed at the back of the neck, for the long thick hair would turn the blow and save decapitation or an ugly wound. Today the little hair tuft seen on the headdress of mounted soldiers is the result.

There is a reason why the flag at half staff, as an indication of sorrow, must always be hoisted to the top of the staff before being lowered. The flag is saluted when raised and lowered only when it is at the peak of the staff. So when it is necessary to display it at half mast it must be raised to the top before being finally lowered, for at this time the gun fires its salute, and either the band or the trumpeters are sounding appropriate music or call.

Twenty-one guns, the number fired in the international salute, were not selected at random. The number was chosen by our government because it was the number long used by the British for their international salute. Why the British used twenty-one guns was no doubt due to an early custom which had for a warship salute seven guns. A fort was allowed to fire three times as many guns as a warship, because in those days it was difficult to keep powder in good condition at sea. It could be kept in good condition on land, and consequently the shore battery was allowed a larger number, or twenty-one. When the time arrived that better powder was made and it could be carried at sea without deterioration the warship was allowed the same number of guns as the shore battery, and the twenty-one of today are the result. —Major B. W. Atkinson, U. S. A., in Chicago Record-Herald.

The C. P. R., C. N. R. and G. T. R. show an enormous increase in earnings in 1910 over previous years.

Milady's Mirror

"Now we're busy teaching women to be hobble headed," said a woman who takes care of the hair. "With the hobble skirts the old style of hairdressing looks funny. It gives a woman a top heavy look to have her hair dressed high with a pompadour and puffs while her skirt is drawn in around her feet in hobble fashion. So we devised the hobble headed hairdressing.

"To dress your hair hobble style you take it and part it in the middle. Then you drape it back from the face in some soft way, and finally you bunch it at the back in a big mass, around which you twist a coil of hair or a band of ribbon or anything else that may strike your fancy. This makes the hobble.

"While a hobble may sound awkward for the head, it is really the most becoming coiffure we have had in years, for it does away with the top heavy chorus girl pompadour and makes a woman's head look more nearly ideal. Her head keeps its shape, and the knot at the back suggests to the uninitated that it is merely a method of twisting up her own hair."

For Oily Skins.

When one's skin is oily do not try to conceal it by excessive use of powder. It makes the face pasty and clogs the pores.

There are various drying lotions that are excellent for this condition. Wiping off the face with pure alcohol has a drying effect on the skin. Various good lotions are sold for this purpose, but a teaspoonful of borax in a basin of water is excellent.

If you fear pure borax try this lotion: One tablespoonful of powdered borax, two tablespoonfuls of glycerin and a quart of camphor water. Dip a soft linen cloth in this and mop the face several times a day.

Do not make the mistake of using spirits of camphor, which is diluted in alcohol and much stronger. Camphor water is made by letting two ounces of gum camphor stand in water for twenty-four hours. The lump can be used repeatedly, as its size is little decreased.

What Are Your Eyebrows Like?

Straight and level eyebrows denote mentality. Musicians often have these. Brows that meet over the nose usually prove the love of authority and mark a capable person.

Beautifully arched brows usually adorn a rather empty forehead and indicate an opposite degree of intelligence to that shown by the long, straight brow.

When the arch is but slight the forehead may be strong, full of individuality and with a fine central spread. When like this, however, there is usually a lack either of time, tune or locality.

Very fine, distinctly outlined brows indicate an artistic nature.

Much elevated eyebrows show artistic perception of color and shape, good taste, organization and mathematical powers.

A Toilet Economy.

The particular hostess now uses individual pieces of soap in her guest room and gives to each new guest a fresh piece. Where much entertaining is done this means numerous odds and ends of fine soap.

One woman has hit upon the plan of using this for the children in a wire soap shaker, such as is found for dishwashing. The tiniest pieces can be thus utilized. A basin is filled with warm water and the shaker agitated until a thick lather is formed.

Another way to use up small pieces of fine soap is to put them into small cheesecloth bags and use as one would a bran or almond meal bag.

Low Shoe Peril.

The constant wearing of low shoes and slippers will spoil the shape of the ankles, especially if one must be much on the feet. An exercise which gives shapeliness to the lower limbs consists in standing straight, hands on hips, heels together, then rising slowly on the tips of the toes while drawing in the breath; then while exhaling it slowly return to the first position, feet flat on floor. Do this every morning and evening for ten minutes; also as much as you can wear high laced boots, drawing the laces as snugly as comfort will permit. Draw them in by degrees, not all at once.

Perfuming the Hair.

The perfumed hair cap has met with favor with women who are fond of dainty conceits, and one may be easily made at home. After the shampoo and at night these caps should be worn, and the fragrance is lasting. Fashion them after the style of the Dutch bonnet. Between two layers of silk put a sheet of cotton batting with plenty of sachet powder, using always the same perfume. Many women prefer the Florentine orris, but when you find a perfume to your liking use it all the time, as it bespeaks more refinement than having all sorts of essences about your garments.

After being on strike thirteen weeks, Montreal plumbers gave up the struggle and returned to work.

DEMON SHIPS.

Vessels That Seemed to Be Moved by the Spirit of Destruction.

There is an old Cornish legend of a phantom ship which is seen in or off Porthcurno harbor and which, unlike most ghosts, has a terrifying habit of pursuing any vessel which it sights. If it catches its victim there is a collision, but no roar of inrushing water. At the moment of contact the ghost ship vanishes into thin air, and the puzzled crew of the other vessel rub their eyes in terrified amazement.

To any one who knows the legend the vessel that saw the phantom ship is, however, doomed. Before the next New Year's day she will be sunk in collision with another vessel or a rock.

One wonders whether the original of this phantom at all resembled that notable and appropriately named yacht Satanita. The Satanita was a fine and very powerful cutter, which originally belonged to Mr. C. D. Clarke and afterward to Sir Maurice Fitzgerald.

The Satanita was a hard weather craft, but let the breeze be the least heavier than she liked and she would be seized with what seemed more like demoniacal possession than anything else, and even with four men hanging on her helm she would sometimes take charge and rush right up into the wind.

She was the cause of several serious accidents, the worst of which happened at the Mudhook club's regatta in 1894. On that occasion she was behaving in the most perfect fashion when suddenly and without the slightest warning she flung all control, and, just as a race horse will sometimes "savage" an opponent, she dashed in a mad fury at Valkyrie II. and sank her like a stone. Well was the Satanita called the "demon" yacht.

But it is not only sailing ships that act at times in a strange and unaccountable fashion. Some years ago the British warships Pique, Mutine, Rosario and Britomart entered Kiukiang harbor and dropped anchor in single file. Presently a steamer which had been discharging her cargo unanchored and began to steam out.

She was just abreast of the warships when she suddenly made straight for the Pique. The warship's officers and men saw the man at the steamer's wheel doing all he knew to keep her off, but she flatly refused to answer her helm and went crashing into the Pique, smashing her boats and davits.

After clearing her she went for the Mutine, but luckily did not strike her full. However, she carried the Mutine's bowsprit clear away. Not yet satisfied, she made a rush at the Rosario, but by superhuman efforts on both ships the mad steamer was prevented from doing more than graze the third warship.

Something of the same kind was seen in the Thames a few years ago when the British steamship Poplar, turning to enter her dock, was struck and cut down to the water line by the French vessel Cordilleras. She at once began to fill, and the captain ordered full speed ahead for the purpose of beaching her.

Instead of making for the beach the Poplar made a sudden rush in a great circle out into the river, smashing into everything she came across. Then, as if filled with a spirit of revenge, she made for the vessel which had so terribly damaged her.

The Cordilleras tried in vain to get out of the way, but the Poplar smashed into her, damaging her so severely that she, too, had to be beached.—Pearson's Weekly.

Styles In Teeth.

Pearly teeth are not the fashion everywhere. One firm of artificial teeth manufacturers have to keep in stock molars of every shade of color from white to black. There is a steady demand for black teeth for Siam, Java, Batavia and Burma, where the natives chew the betel nut, which blackens the teeth. For Persia the teeth must be absolutely milk white. Recently an order was received from Bhavnagar, in India, for some bright red and blue artificial teeth. Smokers' teeth are regularly supplied to dentists in shades to match those which have been discolored by nicotine.—Argonaut.

A Fish Out of Water.

Many people think that fish when taken out of the water die because air has a fatal effect on them. The real reason, however, is that their delicate gill filaments or membranes become dry and stick together, so that no air can pass between them. Thus they lose the power to imbibe necessary oxygen, and the circulation of their blood stops. The painful gasping of a fish out of water is nature's effort to free the passage through the filaments.

Hop Pillows For Insomnia.

George III. derived great benefit from the hop pillow prescribed for him by Dr. Willis after other sedatives and drugs had failed, and a similar remedy was eminently successful in 1871 with his late majesty King Edward VII., then Prince of Wales, who was suffering from typhoid fever.—London Telegraph.

Right on the Job.

A pupil had been naughty all day, and the teacher sent him a note ordering him to stay after school. The boy wrote an answer on his slate saying: "Dere Teacher—Except the ooer with pleasure. Always keep mi engagements with the ladies. Will be at the tristing place at 4 p. m."—Argonaut.

It is of no use to wait for our ship to come in unless we have sent one out.—Anon.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

THE REVIEW'S NEW STORY

"The Silver Horde" by Rex Beach Commences in This Issue

The breath of the wild northwest is in this great story of love and life and hate and death. Rex Beach and Jack London have revealed the hidden mysteries and romances of the Alaskan wastes as have no other authors, and in this stirring, gripping narrative is shown the best work of Mr. Beach's career. Boyd Emerson and his superhuman efforts to win a fortune for the woman he loved; Cherry Malotte, the captivating, energetic young woman who combated desperate men on the battleground of their own choosing; Mildred Wayland, the imperious beauty and society favorite, whose hand was sought by bitter rivals who did not stop at murder; George Ball, the sturdy fisher hero, whose voice was like the roar of giant waves on a lee shore; "Fingerless" Fraser, whose quaint humor alone prevented him from going to jail, where he really belonged, and Willis Marsh, unprincipled intriguer and a betrayer of men and women—these are some of the characters and elements that make this story one of the greatest tales of adventure ever written.

Origin of the Safety-Pin.

An historian of invention tells us that to the wails of a long-suffering infant we owe the boon of the safety-pin. Here is the story: A little boy, named Harrison, an English blacksmith's son, had to look after his baby brother. The baby often cried, and its tears were usually traced to pin punctures. The boy nurse tried a long time to bend the pins in such a form that they could be used with safety to his brother's flesh. In this he failed; but his father, the blacksmith, perceiving the utility of the idea that the lad had been at work on, took it up on his own account and eventually turned out the safety-pin that is in use to-day all over the world. Whether the safety-pin would have still remained in oblivion but for the tormenting of one little English baby no one knows, of course.

Will Need Forbearance.

Speaking at Cape Town recently, Mr. Malan, South Africa's Minister of Education, said that the smooth-working of the Union required from every one restraint and toleration. Otherwise they would be laying up for themselves not union, but a hell. The two great principles which must be observed, were—firstly, the equality of the two predominant races, and the equality of their languages; and, secondly, the recognition of the Union as an integral part of the Empire. In that spirit the Government would work.

Big Blaze at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 27.—Fire yesterday destroyed the dry goods and shoe store of J. M. Brecker & Co., Joseph White's clothing store, and Joseph Wolf's millinery shop in High street. The loss is $200,000. The firemen working on the front of the building had a narrow escape when the walls of the Brecker building fell. Only one, Edward Snyder, was slightly hurt.

Earl of Ancaster Dead.

London, Dec. 27.—The Earl of Ancaster died Saturday. William Henry Heathcote-Drummond Willoughby was born Oct. 1, 1830. The Earldom of Ancaster was created in 1892. The earl was a privy councillor and joint hereditary Lord Great Chamberlain of England.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.00 a.m. 9.50 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—
11.20 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—
5.26 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc
8.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Caesarville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.26 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

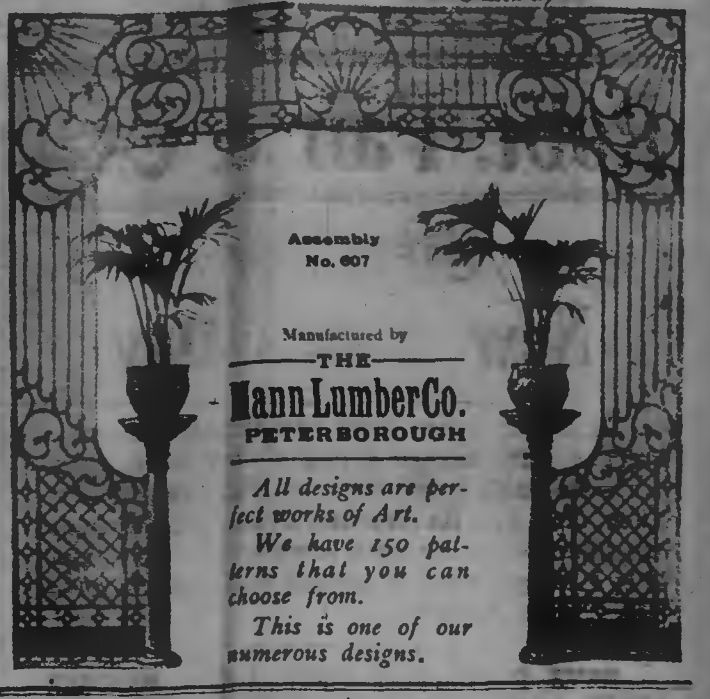
Xmas Will Soon Be Here

And you naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
762 Water St. Phone 1140



Assembly No. 607

Manufactured by THE Mann Lumber Co. PETERBOROUGH

All designs are perfect works of Art.
We have 150 patterns that you can choose from.
This is one of our numerous designs.

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS
Skates Sharpened and Repaired
MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1266

A. G. Hurd, K. C., is dead, at Sherbrooke. He was one of the oldest practising lawyers at the Quebec bar.

FANCY GOODS
AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST PHONE 226

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, which is why an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

The Men Who Insure
WHO ARE THEY?

Are they not the men who consider FIRST their responsibilities to THOSE DEPENDENT ON THEM?
Are they not the TRUE MEN, the men who do not live to THEMSELVES ALONE, the 100 per cent FINE MEN?
Are they not the men who remember that THEIR BENEFICIARY LIVES AFTER THEM, and, knowing THEY HAVE PROVIDED carry their heads higher and their chins in, they step firmer, and because they NEED NOT WORRY, they live longer and better? They realize that LIFE INSURANCE is not a duty, but a PRIVILEGE.
ARE YOU A 100 per cent MAN? The chances are that you have not thought of THE ADVANTAGES TO YOU, as well as the others. CAN YOU GET INSURANCE? Possibly without your knowledge it is already too late. Perhaps to-morrow you will be beyond Life Insurance. Better call in at the SUN LIFE OFFICE, 159 Hunter street, and have a talk about it right away.
THEY ARE GIVING THE MOST SATISFACTORY RESULTS IN CANADA.
Call or Phone, NEITHER PUTS YOU UNDER ANY OBLIGATION.

W. H. HILL
Manager
159 HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH
Phone 14 Bell or Machine.

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited

Gifts for New Year's Day

Stronger every year grows the custom, a graceful one, too, of giving dainty little keepsakes to one's loved ones on New Year's Day. Then, also, can be remembered those who by some mischance or other were forgotton at Christmas. It is a simple way of paying one's gift debts—a New Year's Present.

MEN'S PURE IRISH LINEN INITIAL HANDKERCHIEFS, neatly hemstitched. 3 IN A FANCY BOX FOR 75c

LADIES' PURE IRISH LINEN INITIAL Hemstitched HANDKERCHIEFS, reg. value, 3 in a box for 50c. Special while they last 35c a Box

Neckwear at a Saving

Special Value in Ladies' FANCY COLLARS in all styles and patterns, from 25c up to.... $1.50

IF SANTA CLAUS DISAPPOINTED YOU and you did not get those Silk Stockings you were looking for, we will be pleased to show you the values we have at..........$1.00, $1.35 and $1.50 pr.

Ladies' Umbrellas

At Special Prices for this week Ladies' Umbrellas with neat and fancy handles from $1.00 up to.................................. $5.00

Suit and Cloak Department

MAID'S LONG COATS, in black, navy and grey heavy serges and wide wale cloths. $7.50, $10 and $12 values, your choice for $5 & $6.50

CLASSY CHILDREN'S COATS, in exclusive cloths, $7.50 and $10.00 values. Your choice for.............................. $4 & $5

LADIES' CARICUL CLOTH COATS, $18 values, for.............................. $11.75

LADIES' LONG BLACK COATS. semi and close fitting, man tailored, at.................. Former value $7.50 and $10.00. $4 & $5

LADIES' LONG BATH ROBES and dressing gowns, made from handsome patterns in eider cloths, always in favor. No two patterns alike, at.. $4.48

THREE PRICES AND STYLES in ladies' high class tailored plain white linens and vestings and fancy dress blouses, $1,25 $1.50 and $1,85 values. Your choice for.............................. 75c

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited

CHRISTMAS IN THE CITY

Christmas has come and gone agian. It was a happy one for citizens of Peterborough and hundreds of visitors. Probably on no other occasion was sweet charity distributed with such a broad hand and this brought happiness to every corner of the city.

The services in the churches on Sunday were bright and in keeping with the spirit of the day and large congregations were present. During the night the weather turned decidedly cold the thermometer registering 11 degrees below zero.

Yesterday the mercury moved up to 11 and 12 above.

Skaters made merry at this outdoor recreation and the rink of the Radial Street Railway was largely patronized. The ice was in excellent condition and a detachment of the 57th band was present both afternoon and evening. The toboggan slide too, was in first-class shape and provided keen enjoyment for large numbers of both young and elderly people.

"The Thief" played to a small audience in the afternoon but at the evening performance a capacity house brought out excellent work from the company and the offering was well received.

At the Children's Shelter House of Providence Protestant Home, St. Vincent's Children's Home and the hospitals the inmates spent a particularly happy Christmas. Had the many citizens who assisted been present at any of these institutions they would have been amply repaid for the small or large part they took in answer to the duty of the day.

The livery stables handled a big business and the street railway had a heavy traffic. The cars ran till a late hour Saturday night and the added service was much appreciated.

The interest displayed in the nomination proceedings was not greater than in past years although the attendance at the Council Chamber was large.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS HELD BIG INITIATION HERE

A large meeting of the Knights of Columbus was held here yesterday at St. Peter's school hall, Reid street. A special train from Belleville and Toronto brought visiting Knights. A large number from surrounding towns and cities were present.

The ceremonies, which were held in St. Peter's school, commenced at 1.30, and all attended benediction at 7.30 in the evening at St. Peter's Cathedral, where an eloquent sermon was delivered by Rev. M. Fitzpatrick, of Ennismore. The address was timely and most suitable to the occasion. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor also spoke.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, [illegible] 10 degrees stronger, [illegible] No. 3, for special cases, [illegible] per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. [illegible]

Effie Petrie, a young Scotch domestic, of Amherst, N. S., poured coal oil on the kitchen stove. There was an explosion and the unfortunate girl was so severely burned that she died.

FORMER LOCAL BOY OCCUPIED THE PULPIT

At Charlotte Street Church on Sunday--Is Pastor of a Church in Iowa, and Has Had Successful Ministerial Career

The pulpit of Charlotte street Methodist church was most acceptably filled on Sunday by Rev. Herbert Taylot, son of Mr. William Taylor, of this city. Mr Taylor is an old Peterborough boy, who has already had a very useful ministerial career and yesterday he recounted several interesting experiences in the West and in North Dakota.

Rev. Mr. Taylor is pastor of a Presbyterian church in Bonaparte, Iowa, and is one of the successful men in the ministry which Charlotte street Methodist church has produced.

OBITUARY

ALTA L. BOATE.

A bright young life came to a close yesterday morning about nine o'clock, when Alta L. Boate, daughter of Mrs. J. Magee, passed away at the age of thirteen years and four months.

The deceased had been taken ill suddenly. Last Wednesday she attended the closing exercises of S. S. No. 10, Emily, of which she was a pupil, and took part in the entertainment, reciting "The Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night."

The funeral will take place at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, from the late residence, lot 21, concession 2, Emily, and proceed to the Emily cemetery.

MARY J. BRYSON.

The death occurred this morning at the residence of Mr. D. H. Burritt, Brock street, of Miss Mary J. Bryson. The deceased, who was about 87 years of age, was born in New York and was adopted when a child by the mother of the late Robert Nicholls, of Peterborough. She came to Peterborough with Mr Nicholls and lived with the family till the death of Mrs. Nicholls. Since then she has resided with Mr. and Mrs. Burritt.

Miss Bryson was one of the best known residents of Peterborough. She was a member of St. John's Anglican church.

The funeral will take place to the Little Lake cemetery Thursday afternoon at 2.30.

WILLIAM PRESTON ROBINSON.

At the age of forty-seven, William Preston Robinson, passed away on Sunday, Dec. 25th, at 315 King street, after a lingering illness.

The deceased was highly respected in the city and his death will be generally regretted

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence and proceed to Little Lake cemetery.

Rev H J. Keith will conduct the funeral service at the house at two o'clock.

DOING THE BUMPS ON GEORGE STREET

Young Ladies Had a Trying Experience During Runaway

A runaway on George Street, Sunday afternoon made considerable amusement for the spectators, although the occupants of the cutter didn't at the time see any joke in the affair.

The party included several young ladies, who were thrown out of the cutter at intervals, to be treated to a sensation, similar to that experienced in doing the "bumps" at a summer park. None of the occupants of the cutter was injured to any extent.

THEATRICAL

The Thief

"The Thief" is a play that offers a psychological study as old as the sun fundamentally, but this version of erring woman and tolerant, forgiving man is dressed in an absolutely new garb.

The drama presents a problem that appeals to the thoughtful auditor and was given a reception that indicated emphatic approval at the Grand yesterday at matinee and night performances. The story tells of a woman who stole that she might gown herself so as to appear to the best advantage in her husband's eyes, and a youth who has an ardent but unreciprocated affection for the woman confesses to the theft to save her. The husband learns the truth, however, and is distraught with grief. His wife is a selfconfessed thief and he also suspects her of illicit relationship with Fernaud, the impetuous youth. That is the basis of the plot the development of which is marked by a series of tense, dramatic climaxes. The logical and the happiest solution is employed by the author and the final curtain falls with a foregiving husband and a penitent wife with all misunderstandings brushed away.

Edna Archer Crawford, as Marise, was superb as "the thief" and gave a most satisfying delineation of the part, James A. Heenan was powerful and convincing as Richard and the stars were given fine assistance by the brilliant and judiciously cast support.

BIRTH

ROBERTSON—At Chengtu, China, on Christmas Day, 1910, the wife of Mr. H. D. Robertson, BA, of a son

THE SPITBALL

It Takes Great Strength and Speed to Pitch It Properly.

Describing the spitball in baseball and the way it is pitched, Hugh S. Fullerton in the American Magazine says:

"There came into baseball in 1903 a ball which came near revolutionizing the game and brought a new era of pitching, made great pitchers out of 'has-beens' and poor hitters out of once mighty sluggers.

"The ball is pitched with two, sometimes with three, fingers held on one side of the ball and with the thumb or tip of the thumb and nail being gripped hard against the seam at the opposite side of the sphere. The top of the ball is made slippery at the point of contact with the fingers, so that the sphere slides off the fingers with the minimum of friction, while the thumb, pressed hard against the seam, gives the maximum of friction, the result being that the ball, leaving the hand, takes heavy 'English' from the thumb and starts revolving rapidly in the direction opposite to that in which it naturally would rotate. Therefore it whirls rapidly for a short distance until the natural but suspended motion of the ball overcomes the false 'English' applied by the thumb and a contest between the natural and unnatural forces ensues. The ball ceases revolving unnaturally and floats and wabbles until the natural twist overcomes the false one, and then the ball darts just as it would have done if it had been curved naturally, shooting in the direction in which the heaviest friction was applied. A spitball if pitched directly overhand darts almost straight downward, and if pitched side arm with the thumb toward the body it shoots outward and down as a fast outcurve does, the quickness and speed of the break depending entirely upon the amount of force with which it is thrown and in ratio to the amount of friction applied by the thumb or lack of friction by the fingers. Great strength and speed are essential to the best pitching of this kind of ball."

TOMBS OF THE PHARAOHS.

The Precautions Taken to Guard Against Grave Robbers.

The ingenuity displayed by the ancient Egyptians to prevent robbers from breaking into the pharaonic graves merits admiration from present day engineers, writes Dr. Holscher, chief architect in the Prussian government, in a work on the sarcophagus of Khafra, the builder of the second Gizeh pyramid, who reigned in Egypt some 5,000 years ago.

The lid of the red granite sarcophagus was dovetailed with minute precision into the receptacle. To prevent the cover from being drawn back the Egyptian builders bored two holes in the lid at the edge, not showing above. These corresponded exactly with two similar holes, less deep than the other two, sunk in the front of the receptacle. Two copper bolts were then placed in the lid holes, and at the moment the sarcaphagus was fully closed the holes met and the bolts dropped in position from the upper holes partly into the lower, thus making it impossible to move the lid.

It must have struck the Egyptian engineers that grave robbers might get at the body by turning the sarcophagus upside down, in which case the bolts would glide back into their original position and permit the lid being drawn out. To prevent this they filled the lower holes with wax and made the bolts hot. Upon the lids being placed in position the bolts melted their way into the wax and upon cooling became so firmly fixed that nothing short of complete destruction could open the royal tomb.

It must have been a herculean labor to hew the whole edge away, but that is what grave desecrators did, and the wax can still be seen in the bore holes. —New York Sun.

The "House Fly."

The reminiscent man suddenly found a gap in the conversation.

"I was in Kansas once," he began, "when one of those old time cyclones struck the town. I happened to be in my brother's house at the moment and heard the roar of the coming wind. I knew enough to run out in the street and lie down in the gutter with my arms clasped around a hitching post. The next moment the cyclone hit the town. Say, you ought to have seen the house fly."

"Did you swat it?" inquired the mean man on the soap box.

And the story promptly ended.— Denver News.

An Ancient Steam Man.

There are a host of authorities on hydraulics and mechanics that could be quoted to support the assertion that the steam engine is not a modern invention. Carpini in the account of his travels, A. D. 1280, describes a species of aeophile, or steam, engine made in the form of a man. This contrivance was filled with "inflammable liquid" (probably petroleum) and made to do terrible work in the battles between the Mongols and the troops of Prester John.

Remarkable.

"He takes a cold bath every morning —a very remarkable man!"

"Plenty of men do that."

"But I knew him for five years before he ever mentioned the fact."— Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Easier Way.

"Do foreigners buy many of our stocks?"

"Some. Usually, though, they prefer to acquire them by marriage."—Pittsburg Post.

Every member of the Hewitt Scouts should be at the Armouries tonight at eight o'clock.

HORSES ON THEIR BAD BEHAVIOUR

Three Runaways With no Serious Injuries to Occupants of Cutters

There must have been something in the air that put the horses in high spirits for the holiday. Three young ladies were thrown out of a cutter Saturday evening at the corner of Charlotte and George streets. The horse frightened in taking a turn and the occupants took occasion to give full vent to their feelings. They screamed. The horse and cutter parted company near Nixon's hotel and the drivers of the Dominion Express Company, by a united move, effected the capture at the C.P.R. station.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

Sunday afternoon an Italian was left alone at the corner of Hunter and George streets, while his steed dashed away. He was carried into Moncur's drug store in an unconscious condition, but revived after refreshments, and in a few minutes was able to leave unassisted.

He had two bruises about his face.

MORE EXCITEMENT.

Two young fellows took to the road at the railway crossing on Park street last night, and their steed tore off a record clip on McDonnel street. It was caught by W. Curtis and returned to the youths, one of whom was in the humor for hugging posts.

SOME POINTS FOR VOTERS

The Bylaws Should be Supported —Three Fifths Necessary

If you don't vote that's one vote lost.

And three-fifths of those entitled to vote, must vote for the by-laws, or they can't be carried.

The by-laws required too, are of course, the Bonner-Worth and Littman by-laws.

The papers have explained fairly comprehensively the nature of the by-laws, but every ratepayer should read and carefully digest the municipal notices concerning the measures, the natures of both of which are fully explained.

It's to Peterboro to secure the Bonner-Worth industry. It's too good a thing to let slip away.

Excellent Day and Night Services From Peterboro to Montreal Via Grand Trunk Railway System

Day train leaves Peterborough 8.30 a.m., arrives Belleville 11.10 a.m., and Montreal 6 p.m., carrying parlor-library car and dining car, Belleville to Montreal, also Pullman sleeper to Boston.

Night train leaves Peterborough 9.05 p.m., leaves Port Hope Jct. 10.39 pm., arrives Montreal 7.01 a.m., carrying modern Pullman sleepers, Port Hope to Montreal. By travelling this way you can take Pullman at convenient hour and enjoy comfortable night's rest over a first-class double-tracked line.

Full information, tickets, berth reservations, etc., may be obtained from W. Bunton, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, or F. Sandy, Depot Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

Special Notice

To all whom it may concern,

As there are several parties still owing accounts to us, we will thank them to kindly call and settle or remit at once, so that we may close our books at end of year.

Wishing all a prosperous New Year,

We are,
Respectfully yours,
J. J. TURNER & SON.

If one be troubled with corns and warts, he will find in Holloway's Corn Cure an application that will entirely relieve suffering.

Telegraphy

Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service

Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

STENOGRAPHY

We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING

Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES

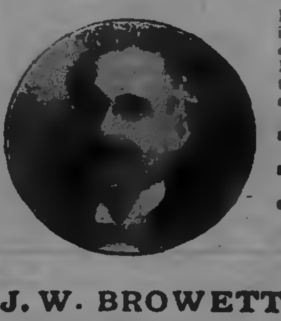
Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.

Call, write or phone for particulars.

Peterboro Business College

(Founded 1885)

McKONE & BURNS - Principal
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President



Lenses Changed After Xmas

The Optical Institute is supplying beautiful Eyeglasses and Spectacles complete with name in gold on the case, for Xmas gifts. They will comfort and please the recipient for many days. Many parents and others neglect their eyes until the necessity is noticed by some kind son daughter or friend.

Eyeglasses and Spectacles, $3.50, $5, $7.50 and $12.50.

Beautiful Reading Glasses $1.00, $2 50, $3 and $4 50.

Eyeglass Holders with chain and initials engraved, $1.50, $2.50 and $5.

The Peterboro Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

WAS GIVEN A PURSE OF GOLD

Miss Chloe Godfrey, of the Munro House, who was joined in wedlock today to Mr. Wm. Clancy, was on Saturday evening given an expression of appreciation of her services at the Munro House by an address and presentation.

Miss Godfrey has been a most capable waitress at the Munro House, for the past ten years and previous to that for two years in Lakefield and the proprietor, boarders and employees united in showing their esteem for her by presenting her with a purse, containing $80 in gold, and also a lady's chatelaine. Mr. John Green read a glowing address and Mr. Fred Lund made the presentation.

Separate School Entertainment

The annual Sabbath school tea and entertainment will be given in Knox church to-night tea being served at 5.30. Mr. Henry Simpson, of Toronto, architect, is also an entertainer of note and he will give an hour's fun with his talking dolls. The program will commence at 8p. m, There will be no Brotherhood meeting.

All our Calendar Pads at one cent each, any size. Review Office

At Prince Albert, Sask., Willie Taylor, aged 12, was shooting at a mark and accidently shot his eight-year-old sister, who died shortly afterwards.

Millinery Sale

MISS McGIVERIN

offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings

—At Cost—

The opportunity is one that should be availed of.

The values are surprisingly good.

No. 431 George-St

Phone 1385.

Miss Jean Robson

Teacher of Singing and Junior Piano

Soprano Soloist at Knox Presbyterian Church Peterborough. Pupils prepared for Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations. Concert engagements accepted. Apply Friday or Saturday, No. 461 Bolivar Street tf.

Mary Ragnon, found suffering from dementia and exposure on the shores of Thunder Bay, died in a Port Arthur hospital.

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to let
MONEY TO LOAN.

C. BLEWETT, 332 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1271,
House Phone 566

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc., catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

Walk Right In—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

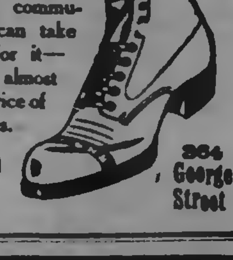
J. T. Stenson & Sons

364 George Street



SOME SPECIAL HOLIDAY GOODS

—AT—

ROUTLEY'S

ROUTLEY'S being my headquarters for the past 25 years I still find the establishment up to the minute with all the latest lines of presents shown on the two floors :

FIRST FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

China Tea Sets from	$ 2.94
10 piece Chamber sets from $2 to	12.00
Limoges China Bread and butter plates, $3.50 doz. Now half dozen for	1.10
Austrian China bread and butter plates, dozen $2.00. Now half dozen for	50c
Tremendous range of fancy China Cups and Saucers, regular 25c for	14c

Collection of fancy China Salad Bowls, Bon Bons, Fern Pots, Hair Receivers, Toilet Accessories, Ash Trays and Candle Sticks, in china or brass, Jardineres, Gilt and silver Jewel Boxes, Dressing Cases, Shaving Cases, Comb and Brush Cases, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Manicure Sets, Ladies' Companions, Writing Portfolios, Music Cases. All kinds of Bibles and Prayer Books, Mirrors and Brushes of all kinds, Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses.

SECOND FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

Toy Tea Sets	5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Noah Arks	10c, 15c, 25c
Large Magnetic Toys	20c
Drums	5c, 10c, 20c, 50c, 75c
Iron Trains	25c, 50c
Tin Trains	25c, 50c, 75c, to $3.00
Friction Toys	50c to $1.25
Toy Trunks, brass locks	$1.00, $1.25, 1.50

Doll Carriages, all prices.

Boy's and Girl's Sleighs, all prices.

Toy Books, Guns, Bugles, Puzzles, Building and A.B.C. Blocks, Magic Lanterns, Steam and Hot Air Engines, Mechanical Toys.

SPECIAL OFFER

90 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $1.50, for each 35c

65 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $3.00, for each [illegible]c

SPECIAL OFFER

20 China Dinner and Tea Sets, 97 pieces, regular $25.00, for $14.85

Both Phones 366 | ROUTLEY'S | 376 George St. Peterborough

PROBABILITIES
Thursday, light local snow falls, lower temperature.

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXI., No. 148. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1910 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

WRECKAGE OF STEAMER, WASHED ASHORE, TELLS STORY OF SEA TRAGEDY

Little St. Denis Caught in Wild Pacific Storm, Goes to the Bottom With all Hands.

Vancouver, Dec. 28.—The fate of the little steamer St. Denis, a familiar vessel at this port during the past two years, is no longer in doubt. Somewhere off Cape Flattery, in the fierce gales that prevailed two weeks ago, she was lost.

Without hope of succor, blown far from the beaten track, she went down with all on board, and her wreckage strews the graveyard of dead ships, the west coast of Vancouver Island. For more than two weeks an isolated beach at Cape Scott has harbored all that is left of the old St. Denis, her pilot house, wreckage and miscellaneous floats carrying unmistakable evidence of their origin.

The following telegram was received by the C. Gardner Johnston Co. of this city: "Following wireless received from steamer Tees, Cape Scott residents report, 10th inst., wreckage from steamer St. Denis, including deck house, pilot house, hatches, portions of boats washed ashore."

Those on board all told were: Capt. Thomas S. Davis, Chief Officer C. J. Gold, Second Office Weightman, Chief Engineer W. Dodge, Second Engineer E. Steel, Chief Stewart A. C. Delpecht and crew of twelve Chinamen.

Picked Way Through Trees.

New Orleans, Dec. 28.—Spirally gliding from an altitude of almost 9,000 feet with a frozen carburetter and a dead engine, after having been blown from his course by a forty-mile an hour wind, John B. Moisant, international aviator, swept within twenty feet of a stump-strewn, tree studded area at the rate of a hundred miles an hour yesterday afternoon at the aviation field. His engine thawed in the warmer level only in time to allow the daring aviator to start his propellers, and thread a perilous passage from among the trees, rise and settle with a graceful swoop on the field, amid the cheers of several hundred people, who had started to rush where Moisant was thought to have fallen to wreck and possible injury.

Moisant later explained that only the downward rush resulted in sufficient pressure against the bevel blades of the propellors to keep the turning long enough to take the impulse of the revived motor when the carburetter thawed. That saved him from a wreck.

Willing to Co-operate.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—The report that the proceedings against the Farmers' Bank was instigated by the Finance Department, was given a denial yesterday when Hon. W. S. Fielding gave out this statement:

"No such action is necessary at present. It must be remembered that while the Dominion Parliament enacts the criminal law, the administration of the law is in the hands of the provincial authorities, represented in each province by the Attorney-General. The provincial authorities will, no doubt, require the co-operation of officers of the Finance Department to prove the filing of the bank's returns, and that co-operation will, of course, be given."

Willing to Retract.

Rome, Dec. 28.—Prince Maximilian of Saxony, who is professor of canon law at the Swiss University of Friedburg, had interviews yesterday with the Pope and the papal secretary of state, to whom he made full explanations for an article on the union of the Roman and Oriental churches, which he wrote some time ago for an ecclesiastical periodical. He made submission to the Holy See, and declared he was ready to retract the article to which objection had been made.

Four Trainmen Killed.

Parkerburg, Dec. 28.—Four trainmen were killed and two others injured in a collision of two freight trains on the Ohio River division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Mercer Bottom, W.Va., early yesterday. The dead are: Wm. Steffey, Parkerburg; C. J. Moffatt, Huntington, brakeman; B. H. Bradham, Parkerburg; R. H. Kanta, Mason City, fireman. It is said that the crew of one of the trains made a mistake in reading its orders.

Fire Burned Centre of Block.

Montreal, Dec. 28.—Fire last night burned a hole in the centre of the block bounded by St. Peter, Notre Dame, St. Helen and Recollet streets, doing damage estimated at about $200,000. The fire started in the premises of the Anglo-Canadian Leather Co. on Recollet street, and burned its way through the block to Notre Dame street, spreading along Recollet street into the rear of the drygoods house of W. R. Brock & Co., where considerable damage was done by water.

An Anarchist Arsenal.

London, Dec. 28.—According to The Daily Telegraph, the search by the police for the Houndsditch burglars, who shot several policemen to death a few night ago, has led to the discovery of a complete anarchist arsenal in the house in Gold street, Stepney, formerly occupied by the dead burglar, Gardsein. In this house the police found large quantities of materials used in the manufacture of explosives, anarchist literature, weapons of various kinds and dum-dum bullets.

ATTACK ON THE SAILORS ALARM WAR OFFICE

Only the First of a Long Series of Engagements it is Feared.

London, Dec. 28.—Reports received yesterday from Southern Persia and from Dibai, Arabia, have alarmed the War Office. They indicate clearly that the recent engagement between English bluejackets from the cruiser Hyacinthe and the tribesmen at Dibai, in which fourteen sailors and three times this number of natives were slain, was only the beginning of a widespread campaign against the British, who are accused of seeking the permanent occupation of Southern Persia.

A despatch from Bushire, on the southern coast of Persia, says that the English consulate at Bandar, Abbas, a town of strategical importance, has been fortified against attack, and that a gun platform has been erected outside the consulate.

All mails to the north have been destroyed, and many of the telegraph lines have been cut. The Kuhrgelus tribesmen, north of Shiraz, have destroyed a number of villages, and massacred many of the inhabitants.

Still Searching For Grace.

London, Dec. 28.—Unwilling to reject even the strangest suggestions, searchers for Cecil Grace, the aviator who disappeared on Saturday while attempting a return cross-Channel flight from France, the authorities are acting on a mysterious telegram from an unknown person in Sweden, who presumably relying on spiritualistic aid, has been begging the Aero Club not to assume that Mr. Grace has fallen into the sea. After an exchange of messages the correspondent telegraphed:

"He fell on land, not into water. Search the east coast of England minutely."

The coast guards accordingly have been directed to make a careful search along about 60 miles of the coast line.

Dying Man Immersed In Ice Water.

North Bay, Dec. 28.—Henry Stokes, a young Englishman, was brought to North Bay Hospital from a lumber camp across Lake Nipissing, suffering with typhoid fever. The journey out was a hard one, with many miles of walking and the sick man was immersed in water several times, breaking through the ice. His condition rapidly grew worse until death resulted. He has no friends in this country, and will be buried at North Bay, under the auspices of the Sons of England.

FARMERS BANK SHAREHOLDER FOUND DEAD

Woodstock, Dec. 28.—"I will make my speech after I do the chores," said Alfred Baker, a wealthy and prominent farmer of Lakeside, as he got up Monday from his Christmas dinner.

There had been a family reunion, with speeches and distribution of gifts. Baker went out to the barn, and a short time later his dead body was found by his young son, hanging from a beam in the barn.

Baker was a shareholder in the defunct Farmers' Bank, but his friends say he wasn't worrying very much about his loss. He gave no intimation of what he intended to do, and there is no insanity in his family.

Upper Berths Reduced 20 Per Cent.

Montreal, Dec. 28.—The Pullman Co. yesterday definitely announced its decision to make the reduction of 20 per cent. in the price of upper berths apply to its cars in Canada as well as in the United States. Most of the sleeping cars in Canada are operated by the companies over whose lines they run, and none of these, which includes the C.P.R., the G.T.P., the C.N.R., and Intercolonial Railways, have made any announcement in this connection, but it is believed in railway circles that the Pullman rate of $1.60 a night for an upper berth will become general throughout the Dominion.

Building Owned by Balfour.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—The building occupied by R. J. Whitla and the Donald Fraser Co. of Montreal, which was burned Monday night, is owned by Right Hon. A. J. Balfour. Damage to the stock of R. J. Whitla is $150,000; insured for $85,000; total loss to R. J. Whitla is $65,000. Loss to building, $40,000; loss to McAllister & Watts, slight, fully insured; loss to the Donald Fraser Co., $2,500, fully insured; loss to Exchange Garage, $10,000, fully insured.

Wife Murderer at Sixty.

Pittsburg, Dec. 28.—In the presence of his mother, 100 years old, James Mitchell, aged 60, a Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad engineer, yesterday shot and fatally wounded his wife and fired two bullets into his head, from a heavy revolver.

Charged With Horse Stealing.

Belleville, Dec. 28.—A fifteen-year-old boy, named William McCaw, of Elzevir Township, was yesterday brought to the city on a charge of horse stealing.

THE CANDIDATES WHO HAVE QUALIFIED

(One Didn't But His Name Goes on the Ballot)

A peculiar situation has arisen in in connection with the Board of Education nominations. One candidate, W. S. Robinson, did not qualify as a candidate. On instruction from the City Solicitor, City Clerk Armstrong put his name on the ballot, however. The regulations as to non-qualifying candidates for the Board of Education are not so explicit as they are with reference to Council candidates and on account of this it was decided to place Mr. Robinson's name on the ballot.

In the event of a protest if he is elected the matter will have to be decided in a court of law.

The aldermanic candidates who have qualified are:

SOUTH WARD.—Ald. W. Buller, Ald. Geo. Duncan, T. H Hooper.

CENTRE WARD—Ald. W. H. Bradburn, Ald. Jos. Metheral, Ald. H. Phelan.

NORTH WARD—James Davidson, Ald. James Graham, David Kerney.

WEST WARD—James B. Brown, Ald. H. Phelan, Ald. J. J. Duffus.

EAST WARD—John C. Anderson, J. T. O'Connell, Ald. H. Morgan, F. S. Sedgwick.

The following candidates are on the ballot for the Board of Education;—B. F. Ackerman, V. Eastwood, R. Fair, M. A. Morrison, W. S. Robinson

W. H. Hill and Wm. Langford have qualified for Water Commissioners.

NEW YORK JUDGE GIVES KIDNAPPERS BODY BLOW

Hands Out Indeterminate Sentences of 25 to 49 Years For Holding a Child in Custody—An Object Lesson Provided.

New York, Dec. 28.—A body-blow to kidnappers was administered by Judge Fawcett in the County Court in Brooklyn yesterday, when after mercilessly scoring Maria Rappa and Stanislao Pattensea as a menace to the community, and deserving of the death penalty, he gave them the maximum sentence for kidnapping, an indeterminate period of from 25 to 49 years and ten months in states prison. They were convicted recently in quick trials of having abducted and held in captivity eight-year-old Guiseppe Longo and Michael Rizzo, seven years old, sons of well-to-do Brooklyn Italians. The Rappa woman will be sent to Auburn prison and Pattensea to Sing Sing.

The Longo boy was kidnapped on Nov. 19 last, and a few days later the Rizzo child. The Longo boy's parents soon received a letter, demanding $15,000 for the return of their child. The case, being put into the hands of Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn, a clue was obtained to the whereabouts of the supposed kidnappers, and in a raid on the house the Longo child was found, and ten prisoners were made, two of them women.

Little Guiseppe Longo was the chief witness against both prisoners at their trials. The prosecution alleged that Pattensea was the chief kidnapper and that Maria Rappa was one of his most important aids.

Four Years far Assault.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—Judge Winchester yesterday sentenced W. Edgar Hughes to four years in the Central for carnally knowing a girl under fourteen years. Milton De Lhorbe, guilty of conspiracy in connection with the Canadian Eatables Co., was allowed off on suspended sentence, on account of his having voluntarily endeavored to pay off the persons who had been defrauded by the institution.

Judge Denton sent James Lanahan for six months to the Central for theft and receiving. N. B. Schaab, guilty of false pretences, will stand over till next sessions; Thomas Guinn, theft and receiving; T. Fred. Hamilton, abduction, and John Ryan, theft and receiving, come up to-day.

William McNary, attempted criminal assault, goes over pending an appeal, also Sydney H. Lee, breach of the Gold and Silver Mining Act.

DINES HIS SUPPORTERS.

Minister of Labor is Host at Christmas Dinner In Berlin.

Berlin, Dec. 28.—The Minister of Labor gave a Christmas dinner at the Walper House here yesterday to the members of the executive of the Reform Association of North Waterloo, and made it an occasion to present a review of the work of the Government since the similar event held here a year ago.

Speaking of the recent deputation of farmers to Ottawa, Mr. King said he hoped the Government would find it possible to advance the welfare of the farmers without injuring other interests, because upon the well-being of the farmers rested the prosperity of the whole country.

As to the trade negotiations with the United States, much depended upon what they had to offer. Canada was prepared to meet them on fair ground for the equal benefit of both countries, but always with the stipulation that Canada's preference to Britain must remain intact.

Respecting the naval question, Mr. King distinguished between the terms "Canadian navy," and the proper one of "The Canadian naval service." The Government's idea was rather to police Canada's coasts, and place the warships at Britain's disposal, should need arise, than to maintain an aggressive navy.

Following this meeting Mr. King addressed the Women's Canadian Club of Berlin and Waterloo on the work of the Department of Labor, and its bearing upon the conditions of women and children.

Ran Over Little Girl.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 28.—Rose Siedel Tresselt, wife of a well-known business man, yesterday pleaded guilty to manslaughter for having run over with her auto and killed Irene Cox, aged nine years, Aug. 20 last. Mrs. Tresselt was sentenced to serve from two to twenty-one years in prison, but the sentence was suspended. She paid the father of the girl $5,300.

New Fire Marshall.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—First Assistant Fire Marshal Charles S. Eyferlich was made fire marshal of Chicago yesterday, in the place of James Horan, who, with twenty-two others, was killed in the stockyards' fire last week. Mr. Eyferlich was older in years and in point of service as a fireman than Horan, and was in line for the promotion.

Failed to Clear Main Track.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 28.—Train No. 9, known as the "Red Hummer," of the Chicago and Alton Railroad, which Monday night left for Kansas, ran into a freight train near Farber, Mo., early yesterday. Three trainmen were killed, according to a statement of local official of the road. None of the passengers were injured. The passenger struck the caboose of the freight which had failed to clear the main track in going on to a switch.

Predicts War.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—A war between China and Japan, with America aiding the Chinese, is predicted by the newspaper Retch. It prints an alarming story of strained relations between the two Oriental powers, and publishes Vladivostock despatches to the effect that an early outbreak is expected there.

BLACK HAND MEN EXPLODE BOMB IN HOUSE

New York, Dec. 28.—More than 100 persons living in the five-storey tenement at 502 East Fourteenth street were thrown into panic early yesterday when Black Handers exploded a dynamite bomb, blowing away the staircase and preventing escape. The timely arrival of firemen and policemen, who took the thinly-clad persons out of windows and off fire escapes probably prevented several of them from plunging to the street in their fright.

The building is owned by Salvatore Catalino, a big importer of embroideries and crochet work. Two days before Christmas he received a letter signed "Black Hand," demanding a Christmas present of $1,000. Catalino refused to pay, and the bomb outrage followed.

Will Go to Privy Council.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—The Manitoba Court of Appeals yesterday morning allowed the application of the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway Co. for leave to appeal directly to the Privy Council against the judgment of the Manitoba Court of Appeals' decision that the company cannot erect or maintain electric light or power poles, other than necessary for their car service, without the permission of the city.

The company's claim is that it has the right to maintain its power plant at Lac Du Bonnet, instead of within the city.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The affairs of the Northern Bank of New York have been taken over by the State Superintendent in the interest of the depositors.

The White Star-Dominion Line will run the steamer Teutonic to Montreal next season, and may also put the Majestic on the St. Lawrence route.

Wilson Ford of Milton, N.S., woke up and found his house in flames. He had just time to seize his wife and child and jump from the bedroom window.

President Taft has at present under consideration the pro-British speech at the Guildhall, London, of Commander Sims, which gave offence in many quarters.

On Dec. 19, 1910, Judge Collister of Cleveland, O., granted Mrs. Will Smith of Owen Sound her divorce. She will assume her maiden name, Alice Ashdown.

The brother of Dolphis Droulliard, the Sandwich farmer, who was thought to be the victim of the "log cabin murder mystery," came to Detroit yesterday and was unable to identify the murdered man as his brother.

The body of a colored man named Willis was found in the ruins of the King's Hall at Montreal, which was burned on October 13.

BIRD MEN KILLED

Special to the Review.

Paris, Dec. 28.—Marquis Paulla and Alexandre Laffon, chief pilot of the Antoinette school of aviation, were killed at Issy to-day by their Antoinette motorplane capsizing at a height of 80 feet and falling to the ground with two men. Laffon was piloting the machine and Paullo, who owned the monoplane, was his passenger.

The two were contesting for the twenty thousand dollar prize offered for the speediest two passenger flights from Paris to Brussels and return. Laffon's wife witnessed the tragedy.

MORGAN'S BOYHOOD.

The Financier Was Known as "Pip" to His Schoolmates.

John Pierpont Morgan spent the first fourteen years of his life in Hartford. The house in which he was born still stands. It was a small and unpretentious building of red brick, which stood on the village street in the center of a few acres of land. Some years ago it was raised one story and a store was set under it, and now it is being closely crowded by business blocks in what is the center of Hartford.

As a boy young Morgan was a quiet, reticent personage, one who went about his own affairs and who was marked neither by especial brilliancy nor especial dullness at his studies.

He was cool, matter of fact and stamped with a determined quality and a kind of dignity which left a lasting impression upon the memory of some of his schoolmates, even if it did not awe them very much at the time. The first thing he gained at school was a nickname, in this way: The roll of the class was being called, and one by one the boys stood up and gave their names. It came Morgan's turn.

"John Pierpont Morgan," he announced. He was asked to say it again because of his uncommon middle name. "Pierpont," he repeated—"John Pierpont Morgan."

The teacher got it correctly, but not the other boys. They saw fun in that middle name. "Pierp"—"Pip"—"Pip Morgan" came from the back of the room in a loud whisper, and "Pip" Morgan he was called and nothing else from that day on.—Metropolitan Magazine.

QUEEN ANNE OF BRITAIN.

Her Portrait Said to Be the Most Familiar One in the World.

Do any of my readers know what is the most common and familiar portrait in the world? I heard this matter discussed the other evening with rare erudition and cogency. One of the gentlemen was sure that Raphael's "Sistine Madonna" was the best known portrait in the world. Another was all for Leonardo's "Mona Lisa." Still another contended that no likeness was so universally known as that of King Edward on the coins of Great Britain. I mentioned the sphinx, and somebody else mentioned the Venus of Milo. The discussion was growing warmer when a mild and callow youth chirped up with:

"You are all wrong, all of you! The best known portrait in the world is the queen of spades."

He then proceeded to prove to us what, it seems, is common knowledge among the cognoscenti—namely, that the queen of spades is a bona fide likeness of the late Queen Anne of Britain. It seems that somewhere along about 1710 the English and European stationers fixed on the image of the then queen of England as a suitable one to inscribe on their playing cards. For 200 years or more her face has looked out at us, not altogether unpleasantly—particularly in bezique—from the depths of the pack. How much longer, we wonder, will her physiognomy be shuffled down the corridors of time?—Ainslie's Magazine.

Deception in Furs.

Ladies, beware of mink furs and tartar sables, for they are not the real thing. Here's our consul general at Moscow warning us that both those skins are sold as Russian sables, especially the latter. The tartar sable, he says, is a member of the squirrel family, and, while the coat is brilliantly yellow in its native state, it is dyed to resemble the color of the genuine sable and can hardly be distinguished in many instances even by the most experienced judges. Even hare, rabbit, muskrat, fitch and marmot skins are treated by the gentle Russian as sables, while the fur of the white arctic hare is often substituted for the Russian fox.—Argonaut.

Brothers in the Navy.

Not long ago we mentioned the enlistment of three brothers in the navy on the same date and that they were under training at Newport. Since then the navy department has issued an order that these brothers shall be kept together while under training and transferred to the same ship. It will be interesting to learn how long it will be possible to keep them together. It has been noticed that the navy department is always willing to stretch a point to keep brothers together in the service or help one to reach a ship on which a near relative is already serving.—Bluejacket.

THE UNITED EMPIRE BANK MERGES WITH THE UNION; PROPOSITION COMPLETE

90,000 MEN WANT TO GO OUT ON STRIKE

Rome, Dec. 28.—More than 90,000 railway employes in Italy have just completed the taking of a referendum to determine what attitude they should assume in order to bring about an amelioration of their condition. The men declare by a large majority in favor of the instruments of strike and "Sabotage." In France "Sabotage" has come to indicate organized acts of violence such as the destruction or crippling of machinery or other property to force a suspension of work.

Objects to Finding.

London, Dec. 28.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—In connection with the stranding of the Manchester Engineer at Belle Isle on Aug. 24, the Imperial Merchant Service Guild has sent an objection on Capt. Begg's behalf to the Canadian Minister of Marine to a finding, in which doubt is created as to whether blame attached to Capt. Begg or those responsible for maintaining navigation safeguards.

Punctured His Windpipe.

St. Catharines, Dec. 28.—Charles Darker of the building firm of Darker & Williams, is in a critical condition at the home of his brother-in-law, ex-Mayor W. B. Burgoyne, resulting from the swallowing of a small piece of Christmas turkey bone which lodged in his throat. Efforts to release it have caused the windpipe to be punctured. It's doubtful if he will recover.

A Bargain Hunter.

Montreal, Dec. 28.—By someone's blunder in a French paper, the Sellers-Gough fur store was placed in the position of selling a sealskin coat for $2.95, instead of $295. A. L. De Martigny demanded a coat at that price, which the store people declined to give, and yesterday Mr. De Martigny entered suit to secure the coat, as advertised.

Priest Risked His Life.

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—While vain efforts were being made to rescue her, and after a priest, who had risked his life on the thin ice, had administered to her the last rites of the church, Margaret Shaw, aged 19 years, sank to death yesterday under the ice of the Schuylkill River.

A Small Revolution.

Tsing Tsu, China, Dec. 28.—The German cruiser Emden sailed yesterday for Ponapea, Caroline Islands, where an insurrection has occurred.

Berlin, Dec. 28.—The Colonial Office yesterday received a message from the German governor of the Caroline Islands reporting his arrival at Ponapea with 100 soldiers. He states that the insurgents do not exceed 260 and that the natives generally are loyal.

Both Feet Frozen.

North Bay, Dec. 28.—Gottlieb Hannselman, a farmer of Granite Hall, near Trout Creek, drove forty miles to North Bay, leaving home just before dark, and arriving here early in the morning. The night was intensely cold, and both Hannselman's feet were frozen. He was removed to the hospital and amputation will be necessary. Hannselman's wife died three years ago, and he has three children.

Four Firemen Injured.

New York, Dec. 28.—In a fire yesterday which burned out the three upper floors of the building at 24-26 Valdewater street, occupied by the Munro Publishing Co., and printing and bookbinding companies, four firemen were injured by a falling cornice. None of the injured was fatally hurt. The damage is $160,000.

Actor Dropped Dead.

Detroit, Dec. 28.—Frank Worthing, a leading man with Grace George, now playing at the Garrick Theatre here, dropped dead in the theatre just before the performance last night. The company is booked to play in Toronto shortly.

Fire Inquest.

Chatham, Dec. 28.—A coroner's jury has been empaneled to enquire into the Dresden fire. The inquest is being held on the body of D. V. Hicks. The jury, after viewing the body on Monday, adjourned till Wednesday night.

Dr. Ami Retires.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—Dr. H. M. Ami, for 28 years on the staff of the Dominion Geological Survey Department, has found it necessary to retire permanently from the Government employ, owing to ill-health, and has applied for his retiring allowance. Dr. Ami returns to Italy this week.

The Plague In Manchuria.

Harbin, Manchuria, Dec. 28.—In the Chinese suburb of Fudseiadian there were 23 deaths from bubonic plague in houses and in the streets on Christmas Day. Ninety-eight persons suffering from the disease were taken to the hospital.

Declared a Lockout.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—Yesterday the Manitoba Clothing Co. paid off and locked out its employes and threw out the union label, as the result of employes refusing to make suits for the street railway company's present employes.

Process of Eliminating the Small Institutions Goes Steadily on—Details of Transfer.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—An authorized statement announces that the United Empire Bank of Toronto has been merged with the Union Bank of Quebec. The little bank was the smallest in the list save the new Bank of Vancouver—had less than four millions of assets; the Union has over forty-seven millions. Combined the assets will be fifty millions, with 224 branches. This will make the Union sixth, measuring by amount of assets.

The United Empire, which has $550,000 paid-up capital, was founded and organized in 1906 by George P. Reid, then with the Standard Bank. The directors are Samuel Barker, M.P., president; Mark Bredin, Geo. A. Clare, M.P., E. A. Duvernet, Rev. T. C Street Macklem, M. McLaughlin, B. Rosamond, W. J. Smith, with three directors in England. The head office was in the Board of Trade Building, Yonge and Front streets. It had seventeen branches.

It was very conservative in management and in its risks, and there is no likelihood of any loss. The shareholders will get stock in the big bank when the deal is confirmed, and this will soon be done.

A gentleman identified with the United Empire said that since it started in 1906, no fewer than four banks had gone out of business, and in recent years the Northern and the Crown had merged, the Royal had absorbed the Union Bank of Halifax, the Bank of Commerce had taken over the Bank of British Columbia, and now this one. The reason given for the merger is that the directors thought that it would be difficult for a small bank to struggle against the larger ones. The shareholders will receive par value for their shares.

The only branch of the United Empire Bank in this district is at Bridgenorth. Mr. James M. O'Brien, formerly of the staff of the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, is the manager.

Railway Delayed.

Winnipeg, Dec. 28.—Some time ago the city presented notice to the G.N.R. Co., threatening to consider all negotiations at an end unless the railway took immediate steps towards construction. Yesterday reply was received from the railway's representative, intimating that the Midland Railway would not be proceeded with before spring. The prospect is that it will be delayed another year.

Talk Over Wharves.

St. John, N.B., Dec. 28.—A joint committee of the City Council and Board of Trade met Hon. Mr. Pugsley yesterday morning and urged that the Federal Government take over the wharves and other terminal facilities owned by the city at West St. John. Mr. Pugsley asked them to submit their proposition in writing, so that it could be laid before the Cabinet.

Died From Burns.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—From burns received while engaged in preparation of breakfast Monday morning, Emma Tache, aged 40, daughter of the late Ivanhoe Tache, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, died in a local hospital yesterday. The deceased was an employe of the Postoffice Department of the civil service.

For Triple Murder.

New York, Dec. 28.—Sought for three years, John Kaley, charged with a triple murder, was arrested here last night. He admitted his identity. Three years ago this Christmas, there was a celebration among the Welsh miners at a house in Elkhorn, W.V. Kaley lived on the ground floor and the noise of the family upstairs so angered him that he marched up, hammered on the door, and threatened, it is charged, to shoot, if the racket did not stop. The guests laughed at him, for he is a little man. Three shots were the answer, and when the smoke cleared away, Kaley had vanished. Two persons were killed outright, and a third died shortly after in a hospital.

Boiling Tar Caught Fire.

Goderich, Dec. 28.—At six o'clock last night the Goderich Skating Rink was damaged by fire to the extent of about $1,000, which is partially covered by insurance.

The fire was caused by a pot of tar boiling over and catching on fire. The tar was being used to cover the roller skating floor before flooding for ice. The fire is very regrettable, as the first hockey match is scheduled next week. However, it is hoped that the building may be temporarily repaired in time. It is suggested that the rink may be enlarged when rebuilt.

Death of D. B. Jones.

Brockville, Dec. 28.—Brockville lost a worthy citizen yesterday in the death of D. B. Jones, one of the founders of the Brockville General Hospital. The shock following an operation for appendicitis brought on the end quite unexpectedly. Mr. Jones was a native of Brockville, and for over fifty years prior to the return of the Whitney Government, was the local division court clerk. He was also prominently connected with the Brockville Loan & Savings Co. as managing director. Mrs. Jones and three sons survive.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM
and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING
and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 28, 1910.

A BIT OF CZARDOM

The London County Council has forbidden the use and circulation of one of Count Tolstoy's books in the libraries over which it exercises jurisdiction. This book is a collection of twenty-three folk-stories, of an anti-militarist nature. Just what the members of the County Council intend, in acting as censors of public library fiction is not clear.

The only books that should be barred from a public library are those of a suggestive or indecent nature. The action of the London Council savors a great deal of Czardom. Any man has a right to an anti-militarist opinion, and it is neither treason nor sedition to advocate it in any manner.

The Toronto Star is using this news item, and in fact, most of the Canadian newspapers in referring to the Russian author, have been guilty of a "barbarism" on Tolstoy by spelling his name "Tolstoi." It is a common error. One who has read many of Tolstoy's works would not be likely to make it.

VOTE FOR IT

When it comes to marking your ballot on the Bonner-Worth by-law next Monday do not forget that what Peterborough needs is industries, more industries, all the industries it can get. The concessions the city is asked to make are not heavy and will be a burden to no one. The $20,000 or $25,000 per year, which Peterborough residents will receive in wages, to be passed around the city in the ordinary course of business, is worth while. The provision of steady employment for forty or fifty hands is worth while. Peterborough is not "bonusing" the industry in the ordinary sense of the word. It is acting the part of a trust company, loaning a certain sum for a definite period, with full security.

When Peterborough begins to refuse worthy industries, the industries will naturally shy away. Being a sound business bargain, the by-law is entitled to your support. Vote for it on Monday.

EXPRESS RATES

The Dominion Railway Board has certainly given another example of the wisdom and need of its creation. In investigating the express rates, the commissioners has been probing into the capitalization of the two companies, and their findings confirm what the general public has long suspected, but was in no position to authoritatively affirm. The railway companies of Canada own the express companies as subsidiary concerns, the Dominion Express being the C. P. R. company and the Canadian Express being owned by the Grand Trunk. As to watered stock, the profits out of all reasonable proportion, the discoveries are most illuminating. The railway commission finds:—

That the express companies, being owned and operated by the railways, pay as much to the parent concerns as do the independent companies of the United States.

That when the Canadian Express Company was bought in 1892, by the G.T.R., its assets were valued at $60,000, and franchise [illegible]. The assets have grown to [illegible], and the stock issued is $3,000,000. The tangible assets are one-fifteenth of the capitalization.

That the Dominion Express, in which $24,500 has been paid into the treasury, is capitalized at $2,000,000. The assets actually are above $800,000 now, yet $2,000,000 of stock is actually outstanding.

That out of $21,000,000 earned in the years from 1891-1899 by the Dominion Express, $13,360,000 was paid to the C.P.R. or over 63 per cent.

That during the same period the Canadian Express Co. paid to the Grand Trunk $8,467,397 out of earnings of $15,322,000, or 55 per cent.

The railway board points out that as the express business is conducted by the railways, there is no real reason for a separate incorporation as this has led to the concealment of the real earnings of the express companies by reason of heavy exactions from the parent corporations.

It cannot be denied that the board's findings show an extraordinary case of stock watering, and inflation of value, and it cannot be gainsaid that the public is fully entitled to whatever reductions in rate that the commission may order. On the financial showing, the express companies have been profiting by the growth and development of Canada to an astonishing degree.

FINANCIAL ASTIGMATISM

As an aftermath of the Sheldon business in Montreal, one of the newspapers of that city has secured a list of the clients of the "wizard" broker. It says that to publish the list would cause too much suffering, and mercifully withholds the names.

According to this paper, Sheldon's clients included prominent railway officials, lawyers, doctors, bank clerks, municipal officials, government officials in Ottawa and Toronto, and men whose reputation for business sagacity is undisputed. Of course there are the usual number of women, at which one cannot be surprised, as they are, as a rule, the easy dupes of men like Sheldon. But that shrewd, keen business men should be taken in is astonishing.

That men with wide experience in money matters—some who have had the pleasant experience of being shorn as lambs on the exchange themselves—will believe in a "system" whereby a man may beat a market game, and a hundred opponents is indeed a curious commentary on the average wisdom of mankind in financial affairs. While those who do not know any better, and are misled through ignorance of economic and commercial usage, are to be excused in all cases, no one is apt to proffer much sympathy for those who ought to know better.

Even in the case of bank officials, the glamor of rich returns often shadows the unsafe and unsound features sticking out of a proposition. The risk undertaken on the advancement of $560,000 by the Farmers' Bank for the development of the Keeley "Mine" in Cobalt is a sample of this speculative temperament. In this case cited, however, the loan was made by the bank officials to themselves as officers of the Keeley "Mine" Company, which in itself is not so speculative as a near criminal use of the assets of a public financial institution.

So many instances have recently come to public notice where men who ought to know that money can earn safely only a moderate interest, have attempted to get inordinate profits—and been bitten in the process—that the conclusion is forced on us that Canada seems to offer itself as an Eldorado to the "Sheldon" operator, providing he can elude the clutches of the law.

It is to be hoped that after these financial revelations, the authorities will watch all get-rich-quick schemers, as the mails are undoubtedly being wrongly used in the furtherance of their nefarious business.

THE YELLOW PERIL

The Examiner in referring to a news item in the Review a few days ago which mentioned that two hundred Chinamen had been imported for Canadian railway labor, and taken to Halifax, says that "to correct this misleading statement it is only necessary to give the facts." The Examiner gives us the benefit of what the custom is in allowing Chinese to pass through Canada in bond, so to speak, but we fail to see any "facts" regarding this particular importation of Chinese. The Examiner also says the Chinese are taken all the way across Canada in order to be sent into the United States. Probably by travelling 3,000 miles farther the Celestials can get in at New York by the back door at less cost than on the Pacific coast.

We would like the "facts" as to where those two hundred Chinese went to, if they were not distributed to various centres for railroad work.

EDITORIAL NOTES

They tell us that to-morrow never comes, but a second term came to Morrow.

Being "express" companies, it is quite natural that they should be quick in disposing of excess profits.

The lower tariff movement has even extended to the express companies. How a fever does catch on!

The wheat crop, the cotton crop, or the corn crop may fail, but the aldermanic candidate crop is with us every year—it never fails.

The east will be very hard to convince on the question of government operation of railways. The Intercolonial is too close at hand, as a sad example.

The Ottawa Journal says that Ottawa is the centre of half the population of Canada—that within 300 miles radius live four million people. Jesso! Just like a doughnut! A vacuum in the centre and good stuff all around.

The fine western city of Lethbridge has voted strongly in favor of civic government by commission, with three elected commissioners for six years, subject to recall. The commission system is becoming epidemic in the west. In doing away with its aldermanic committees, etc., Lethbridge is depriving its newspapers of a great deal of "hot stuff," as civic politics in Lethbridge never were of the lukewarm variety.

Low Rates for Christmas and New Years

Via Grand Trunk Railway system, between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N.Y.

AT SINGLE FARE—Good going December 24, 25 and 26th, 1910, return limit Tuesday, December 27th, 1910, also good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD.—Good going December 21st, 1910, to Monday, January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911. Secure tickets and full information from Grand Trunk agents. 6d

Going Motoring.

Have you seen the new knitted hoods with border and ties that are brought round the neck, cross in front and tie low at back? They are cone shape like the caps of early Tudor reign.

Another quaint motor cap of velvet folds with brocade or cretonne border in lighter tone, ornamented on each side with a huge velvet colored button mold, is peaked like the caps of colonial days.

A close fitting motor bonnet for cold weather is of fine colored beaver with the brim turned back on the fulled crown to a depth of five inches and studded on edge with small silk rosettes.

Is 110 Years Old.

New Zealand has an interesting old pioneer in Henry Burling of Waikanae. Henry is 110 years of age, and came from England in 1840. Just to show the young fellows how to do it in the small township where he resides he opened the football season last year by "kicking off" at the opening game. Mr. Burling and his grandson both draw the old-age pensions. His eldest son is eighty-five, but cannot draw the pension as he is too well off. The grandson is well over sixty-five.

Wireless In Polynesia.

The Australian Government has decided to adopt the recommendations of the conference of representatives of the Admiralty, the Commonwealth, New Zealand, and Fiji for linking up the British islands in the Pacific by wireless telegraphy. The scheme provides for the establishment of high-power stations at Sydney, Doubtless Bay (New Zealand), Suva, and Ocean Island, and medium power stations in the New Hebrides and the Solomon Islands, all to be controlled by the Government.

Britain's Exodus.

Last year 282,786 people left the United Kingdom for Canada, the United States, and Australia.

THE STRENGTH OF A CHAIN

Is that of its Weakest Link. Father Morriscy's No. 10 Forges it Anew.

The chain of the physical system is only as strong as its weakest link. When that link breaks, the chain breaks, and serious illness followed by death often results. The weak link with many people is the throat and lungs. In fact, statistics show that over twenty-five per cent of all deaths can be directly traced to diseases of these most important respiratory organs. Weakness here is very dangerous.

During his long and successful practice, Father Morriscy, the learned priest-physician, was often called upon to treat bronchial and pulmonary affections. He soon found that it was not enough to make temporary repairs on the "link," but that it had to be forged anew, in order permanently to strengthen the chain.

After much study, he succeeded in devising a prescription that would secure this result, by not only giving prompt relief but also by rebuilding and strengthening the delicate cells and membranes of the throat and lungs.

This prescription, Father Morriscy's Lung Tonic, or No. 10, has cured thousands. It is absolutely free from any dangerous drug, being compounded from Nature's own roots, herbs and balsams.

No. 10 stops the cough, relieves the soreness and strengthens and fortifies the system against future attacks. Even in the early stages of consumption it has proved helpful, but the wise plan is to take it in time, and avoid serious disease.

In our climate it is well to have a reliable and tested remedy like No. 10 always on hand. Take it at the first appearance of a cold, and keep the chain of life strong and capable of resistance.

Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c. At your druggist's or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham. 96

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Exchange Closed, Chicago Wheat Futures Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, Dec. 27.

The Liverpool grain exchange was closed to-day (bank holiday).

At Chicago December wheat closed to-day ⅛c lower than on Saturday; December corn unchanged, and December oats unchanged.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg December wheat closed ⅛c lower than on Friday; December oats ⅛c lower.

	Close Dec. 23.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
Dec.	90⅝	....	....	....	90
May	94⅝	94⅝	94⅞	94¼	94⅝
July	95⅞	95⅞	95⅞	95½	95⅝
Oats—
Dec.	32⅝	[illegible]	32⅝	32¼	32⅝
May	36⅝	36⅜	36⅝	36⅜	36⅝

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 85 to	$0 88
Wheat, goose, bush	0 80	....
Rye, bushel	0 62	....
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 26	0 28
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 28	0 30
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 50	3 00
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Butter—Steady; extra, 29½c to 30c; third to first, 23c to 29½c; creamery held trade to 23c to 30c; State dairy, common to finest, 21c to 29c; process to special, 20c to 25c; imitation creamery first, 23c to 24c; fair held.

Cheese—Steady; receipts 1218. State, whole milk, Sept. quality specials, 15¾c to 17¼c; do., fancy, 16¼c; do., choice, 14¾c to 15¼c; do., October quality, fine, 14c to 14½c; do., current make, common to fair, 12c to 13c; frosted or poor, 11c.

Eggs—Easy; receipts 3887. State, Penna. and nearby hennery white fancy, 48c to 50c; do., gathered white, 40c to 45c; do., hennery, brown fancy, 40c to 41c; do., gathered brown, 33c to 39c; western gathered white, 33c to 40c; fresh gathered, extra first, 35c to 36c; do., first, 32c to 34c; do., seconds, 28c to 30c; refrigerator special marks fancy in local storage, 25c to 25½c; do., first, 24c to 24½c; do., second, 22½c to 23½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Hogs Steady to Higher at Buffalo—Trading Quiet.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—London cables quote American cattle to-day steady, at 13¼c to 13¾c per lb.; refrigerator beef at 9¼c to 9¾c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Dec. 27.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were 4 carloads, consisting of 83 cattle, and 29 sheep and lambs.

Dunn & Levack sold one load butchers, 900 lbs., at $4.00 to $5.

Maybee & Wilson sold 1 load butchers, 1070 lbs., at $5.50 per cwt.

Prices for hogs have again advanced 25c per cwt., and selects are now worth $7 fed and watered, and $6.65 f.o.b. cars, to drovers at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 27.—Cattle—Receipts 150 head; fairly active and barely steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75; shipped, $6.20 to $6.25; butchers, $5 to $6.00; heifers, $4.50 to $6; cows, $2.75 to $5.25; bulls, $3.75 to $5.25; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.25; stock heifers, $3.75 to $4; fresh cows and springers, steady, $20 to $64; veal steady, active and 50c lower, $4.75 to $10.50.

Hogs—Receipts 3000 head; active and steady to 50c higher; mixed, $8.30 to $8.35; yorkers, $8.30 to $8.40; pigs, $8.40 to $8.50; rough, $7.15 to $7.35; stags, $6.00 to $6.50.

Sheep and lambs—Sheep and handy lambs active; wethers 10c lower; heavy lambs slow and steady; heavy lambs, $5 to $5.75; handy lambs, $6 to $6.90; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.25; wethers, $4 to $4.15.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Beeves—Receipts 400. Market steady; steers nominal; bulls, $4 to $4.50; cows, $2.50 to $3.90. Dressed beefs—Steady. Calves—Receipts 505.

Veals—Steady; calves steady; westerns lower; veals, $7 to $10.75; culls, $5 to $6; westerns, $4.50; fed calves, $4.50 to $5; dressed calves quiet; city dressed veals, 11c to 16c; country dressed calves, 8c to 9c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 1735; sheep, $2.50 to $4; lambs, $6 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts 2076; market firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Cattle—Receipts 800; strong; beeves, $4.65 to $5.30; Texas steers, $4.20 to $5.25; western steers, $4 to $5.80; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.50 to $4.25; calves, $7.25 to $9.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000; weak; early advance partly lost; light, $7.20 to $7.65; mixed, $7.05 to $7.95; heavy, $7.00 to $7.95; rough, $7.00 to $7.70; good to choice, heavy, $7.70 to $7.95; pigs, $7.25 to $8.65; bulk of sales, $7.80 to $7.90.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 18,000; market strong; native, $3.00 to $4.25; western, $3.75 to $4.30; yearlings, $4.25 to $5.80; native lambs, $4.25 to $6.50; western, $4.75 to $6.40.

Canada First Choice.

London, Dec. 28.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The North Queensland Herald says that without public expenditure to cheapen the cost of passage Australia cannot acquire its much-needed additional population at a reasonable rate until Canada is "full up," judging by the steady flow of population into the "nearly fully up" United States. That will certainly not occur before the yellow man is knocking at the Australian gate and peremptorily demanding admittance to its unoccupied territory with arguments which no military force possible for so numerically feeble a people as the Commonwealth will be able to answer.

Canada's Flour Exports.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—That Canada's flour exports to South Africa are rapidly increasing, along with those of Australia, while those from the Argentine and the United States are decreasing, is shown by the reports to the trade and commerce department from Cape Town. Canada sent 86,158 tons of the 167,551 tons of flour imported by the Cape last year.

Strike Ended.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 28.—After being out eighteen months the striking machinists of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad System reached an agreement with the company yesterday, and will return to work. It is understood that concessions were made by both parties.

Annuity for Widow and Children.

Dayton, Ohio, Dec. 28.—An annuity for $1,000 a year is to be settled by the Wright Brothers upon the widow and children of Ralph Johnstone, the aviator, who was killed while flying for the Wrights at Denver.

Charles Corbett, governor of the county jail at Kingston, celebrated his 45th anniversary.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, maids, or workmen, try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pin-case to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 42 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

PURSE FOUND

ON PARK ST, A PURSE CONTAINING A small sum of money. Owner can have it by applying at 491 Gilmour St. 1d

LOST

LOST ON TUESDAY, 20th inst. BETWEEN St. Luke's Rectory, Ashburnham and Auburn the sum of $65 contained in a small linen bag. The denominations are $10 Bank of Montreal notes and a $5 bill of United Empire Bank. The finder will be rewarded on leaving name at this office 3d

Wanted

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 731 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL
If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street, Opposite Opera House

EAST CITY
COAL
And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
Limited
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 201, 278. (Machine)—278.
134 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 302

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships

MONTREAL, QUEBEC and LIVERPOOL

Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Dec. 30, Feb. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

HOLIDAY RATES

BETWEEN ALL STATIONS IN CANADA

at Single Fare

Good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD

Good going daily until January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid returning until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911.

Full particulars and tickets from—
W. BUNTON, City Agent. F. SANDY, Depot Agent

CANADIAN PACIFIC

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S RATES

Single Fare

Going Dec. 24, 25 and 26th. Return limit December 27th.
Also going Dec. 31st, 1910; Jan. 1st and 2nd, 1911. Return limit Jan. 3rd, 1911.

Fare and One-third

Good going Dec 21st, 1910, to Monday Jan. 2nd, 1911, inclusive. Good returning until January 4th, 1911.

For territory, rates and tickets see—
W. McIlroy, Agent — Peterboro

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT
of the
Canadian Northern Ry. System
is prepared to obtain
FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

COAL
THAT IS COAL

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON

Hardwood

First-Class. - - - Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

ORDER NOW
The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. F[illegible] Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co
243 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London.
"Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 851, mach. 225
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S., Edinb.; M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 466—House 1201

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office—No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
Robt. Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro. Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 436 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. MONEY TO LOAN.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC. Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. MONEY TO LOAN at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor.
Louis M. Hayes, K.C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
R. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water St., Peterborough. Telephone No 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
—on—
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce.

TORONTO SAVINGS & Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending 31st December at the rate of Eight per cent (8%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after January 3rd, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st day of December, both days inclusive.

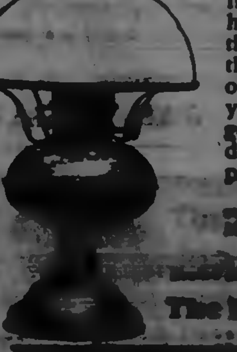
By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Dec. 2nd, 1910.

AUCTIONEER
James E. Cope
Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At [illegible] House Saturdays

The Famous Rayo



Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This seamless burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickeled, and easily polished.

Once a Rayo User, Always One

Dealers everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

The Imperial Oil Company
Limited.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT. 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

Fraser chuckled softly. "Then you are bucking the salmon trust?"

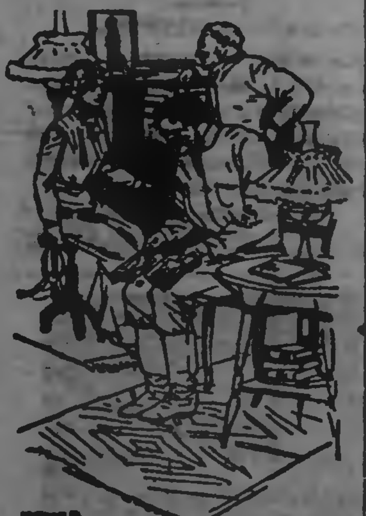
"After a fashion, yes. I knew this country had never been gone over, so I staked six men, chartered a schooner and came down here from Nome in the early spring. We stood off the watchman, and when the supply ships arrived we had these houses completed, and my men were out in the hills where it was hard to follow them. I stayed behind and stood the brunt of things."

"But surely they didn't undertake to injure you?" said Emerson, now thoroughly interested in this extraordinary young woman.

"Oh, didn't they!" she answered, with a peculiar laugh. "You don't appreciate the character of these people. There is no real code of financial morality, and the battle for dollars is the bitterest of all contests. Of course, being a woman, they couldn't very well attack me personally, but they tried everything except physical violence, and I don't know how long they will refrain from that. These plants are owned separately, but they operate under an agreement with one man at the head. His name is Marsh—Willis Marsh—and of course he's not my friend."

"Sort of 'united we stand, divided we fall.'"

"Exactly. That spreads the responsibility and seems to leave nobody guilty for his evil deeds. The first thing they did was to sink my schooner. In the morning you will see her spars sticking up through the ice out in front there. One of their tugs 'accidentally' ran her down, although she was at anchor fully 300 feet inside the channel line. Then Marsh actually had the effrontery to come here personally and demand damages for the injury to his towboat, falsely claiming there were no lights on the schooner. When I still remained obdurate be—he"— She paused. "You may have heard of it. He killed one of my men."



WITH A QUICK STROKE HE CUT A SINGLE LEAF.

"Impossible!" ejaculated Boyd.

"Oh, but it isn't impossible. Anything is possible with unscrupulous men where there is no law. They halt at nothing when in chase of money. They are different from women in that. I never heard of a woman doing murder for money."

"Was it really murder?"

"Judge for yourself. My men came down for supplies, and they got him drunk—he was a drinking man—then they stabbed him. They said a Chinaman did it in a brawl, but Willis Marsh was to blame. They brought the poor fellow here and laid him on my steps, as if I had been the cause of it. Oh, it was horrible, horrible!"

"And you still stuck to your post?" said Emerson curiously.

"Certainly! This adventure means a great deal to me, and, besides, I will not be beaten"—the stem of the glass with which she had been toying snapped suddenly—"at anything."

The unsuspected luxury of the dining room and the excellence of the dinner itself had in a measure prepared Emerson for what he found in the living room. One thing staggered him—a piano. The bearskins on the floor, the big sleepy chairs, the reading table littered with magazines, the shelves of books, even the basket of fancy work—all these he could accept without further parleying, but a piano—in Kalvik!

Again Boyd withdrew into that silent mood from which no effort on the part of his hostess could arouse him, and it soon became apparent from the listless hang of his hands and the distant light in his eyes that he had even become unconscious of her presence in the room.

After an hour, during which Emerson barely spoke, she tired of Fraser's anecdotes, which had long ceased to be amusing, and, going to piano, shuffled the sheet music idly, inquiring:

"Do you care for music?" Her remark was aimed at Emerson, but the other answered: "My favorite hymn is the 'Maple Leaf Rag.' Let her go, professor."

Cherry settled herself obligingly and played ragtime. She was in the midst of some syncopated measure when Boyd spoke abruptly. "Please play something."

She understood what he meant and began really to play, realizing very soon that at least one of her guests knew and loved music. Under her deft fingers the instrument became a medium for musical speech. Gay roundelays, swift, passionate Hungarian dances, bold Wagnerian strains followed in quick succession, and the more her utter abandon the more certainly she felt the younger man respond. Then her dream filled eyes widened as she listened to his voice breathing life into the words. He sang with the ease and flexibility of an artist, his powerful baritone blending perfectly with her contralto.

For the first time she felt the man's personality, his magnetism, as if he had dropped his cloak and stood at her side in his true semblance.

"Oh, thank you," she breathed.

"Thank you," he said. "I—I—that's the first time in ages that I've had the heart to sing. I was hungry for music; I was starving for it. I've sat in my cabin at night longing for it until my soul fairly ached with the silence."

He took a seat near the girl and continued to talk feverishly, unable to give voice to his thoughts rapidly enough.

Fraser ambled clumsily into the conversation. Emerson listened tolerantly, idly running through the magazines at his hand, his hostess watching him covertly. Suddenly the smile of amusement that lurked about his lip corners and gave him a pleasing look hardened in a queer fashion. He started, then stared at one of the pages, while the color died out of his brown cheeks. Cherry saw the hand that held the magazine tremble. He looked up at her and, disregarding Fraser, broke in harshly:

"Have you read this magazine?"

"Not entirely."

"I'd like to take one page of it."

"Why, certainly," she replied.

He produced a knife and with one quick stroke cut a single leaf out of the magazine, which he folded and thrust into the breast of his coat.

"Thank you," he muttered, then fell to staring ahead of him, again heedless of his surroundings. This abrupt relapse into his former state of sullen and defiant silence tantalized the girl. He offered no explanation and took no further part in the conversation until, noting the lateness of the hour, he rose and thanked her for her hospitality in the same deadly, indifferent manner.

"The music was a great treat," he said, looking beyond her and holding aloof, "a very great treat. I enjoyed it immensely. Good night."

Cherry Malotte had experienced a new sensation, and she didn't like it. She vowed angrily that she disliked men who looked past her. Indeed, she could not recall any other who had ever done so. Her chief concern had always been to check their ardor. She resolved viciously that before she was through with this young man he would make her a less listless adieu. She assured herself that he was a selfish, sullen boor, who needed to be taught a lesson in manners for his own good if for nothing else. She darted to the table, snatched up the magazine and skimmed through it feverishly. Ah, here was the place!

A woman's face with some meaningless name beneath filled each page. Along the top ran the heading, "Famous American Beauties." So it was a woman! She skipped backward and forward among the pages for further possible enlightenment, but there was no article accompanying the pictures. It was merely an illustrated section devoted to the photographs of prominent actresses and society women, most of whom she had never heard of, though here and there she saw a name that was familiar. In the center was that tantalizingly clean cut edge which had subtracted a face from the gallery—a face which she wanted very much to see.

She shrugged her shoulders carelessly. Then, in a sudden access of fury, she flung the mutilated magazine viciously into a far corner of the room.

The travelers slept late on the following morning, for the weariness of weeks was upon them, and the little bunk room they occupied adjoined the main building and was dark. When they came forth they found Chakawana in the store and a few moments later were called to breakfast.

"Where is your mistress?" inquired Boyd.

"She go see my sick broder," said the Indian girl, recalling Cherry's mention of the child ill with measles. "She all the time give medicine to Aleut babies," Chakawana continued, "all the time give, give, give something. Indian people love her."

They were still talking when they heard the jingle of many bells, and the door burst open to admit Cherry, who came with a rush of youth and health as fresh as the bracing air that followed her. The cold had reddened her cheeks and quickened her eyes.

"Good morning, gentlemen!" she cried, removing the white fur hood which gave a setting to her sparkling eyes and teeth. "Oh, but it's a glorious morning! We did the five miles from the village in seventeen minutes."

"And how is your measly patient?" asked Fraser.

"He's doing well, thank you." She stepped to the door to admit Chakawana, who had evidently hurried around from the other house and now came in, bareheaded and heedless of the cold, bearing a bundle clasped to her breast. "I brought the little fellow home with me. See!"

* * * * * * *

"I dare say Kalvik is rather lively during the summer season," Emerson remarked to Cherry later in the day.

"Yes; the ships arrive in May, and the fish begin to run in July. After that nobody sleeps."

"It must be rather interesting."

"It is more than that; it is inspiring. Why, the story of the salmon is an epic in itself. You know they live a cycle of four years, no more, always returning to the waters of their nativity to die. And I have heard it said that during one of those four years they disappear, no one knows where, reappearing out of the mysterious depths of the sea as if at a signal. They come by the legion, in countless scores of thousands, and when once they have tasted the waters of their birth they never touch food again, never cease their onward rush until they become bruised and battered wrecks, drifting down from the spawning beds. When the call of nature is answered and the spawn is laid they die. They never seek the salt sea again, but carpet the rivers with their bones. When they feel the homing impulse they come from the remotest depths, heading unerringly for the particular parent stream whence they originated. If sand bars should block their course in dry seasons or obstacles intercept them they will hurl themselves out of the water in an endeavor to get across. They may disregard a thousand rivers one by one, but when they finally taste the sweet currents which flow from their birthplaces their whole nature changes, and even their physical features alter. They grow thin, and the head takes on the sinister curve of the preying bird.

"Why, you just ought to witness the 'run.' These empty waters become suddenly crowded, and the fish come in a great silver horde, which races up, up, up toward death and obliteration. They come with the violence of a summer storm; like a prodigious, gleaming army they swarm and bend forward, eager, undeviating, one purposed. It's quite impossible to describe it, this great silver horde. They are entirely defenseless, of course, and almost every living thing preys upon them. The birds congregate in millions, the four footed beasts come down from the hills, the Apaches of the sea harry them in dense droves, and even man appears from distant coasts to take his toll, but still they press bravely on. The clank of machinery makes the hills rumble; the hiss of steam and the sighs of the soldering furnaces are like the complaint of some giant overgorging himself."

"How long does it all last?"

"Only about six weeks; then the furnace fires die out, the ships are loaded, the men go to sleep, after which Kalvik lags back into its ten months' coma, becoming, as you see it now, a dead, deserted village, shunned by man."

"But I don't see how these huge plants can pay for their upkeep with such a short run."

"Well, they do, and, what's more, they pay tremendously, sometimes 100 per cent a year or more.

"Two years ago a ship sailed into port in early May loaded with an army of men with machinery, lumber, coal, and so forth. They landed, built the plant and had it ready to operate by the time the run started. They made their catch and sailed away again in August with enough salmon in the hold to pay twice over for the whole thing. Willis Marsh did even better than that the year before, but of course the price of fish was high then. Next season will be another big year."

"How is that?"

"Every fourth season the run is large; nobody knows why. Every time there is a presidential election the fish are shy and very scarce; that lifts prices. Every year in which a president of the United States is inaugurated they are plentiful."

Emerson rose.

"I had no idea there were such profits in the fisheries up here."

"Nobody knows it outside of those interested. The Kalvik river is the most wonderful salmon river in the world, for it has never failed once. That's why the companies guard it so jealously."

It was evident that the young man was vitally interested now.

"What does it cost to install and operate a cannery for the first season?"

"About $200,000, I am told. But I believe one can mortgage his catch or borrow money on it from the banks, and so not have to carry the full burden."

"What's to prevent me from going into the business?"

"Several things. Have you the money?"

"Possibly. What else?"

"A site."

"That ought to be easy."

Cherry laughed. "On the contrary, a suitable cannery site is very hard to get, because there are natural conditions necessary, fresh flowing water for one, and, furthermore, because the companies have taken them all up."

"Ah! I see." The light died out of Emerson's eyes; the eagerness left his voice. He flung himself dejectedly into a chair by the fire, moodily watching the flames licking the burning logs. All at once he gripped the arms of his chair and muttered through set jaws, "God, I'd like to take one more chance."

CHAPTER III.

THE girl darted a swift look at Boyd, but he fell to brooding again, evidently insensible to her presence. At length he stirred himself to ask:

"Can I hire a guide hereabout? We'll have to be going on in a day or so."

"Constantine will get you one. I suppose, of course, you will avoid the Katmai pass?"

"Avoid it? Why?"

"It's dangerous, and nobody travels it except in the direst emergency. It's much the shortest route to the coast, but it has a record of some thirty deaths. I should advise you to cross the range farther east, where the divide is lower. The mail boat touches at both places."

On the following morning Cherry told Constantine to hitch up her team and have it waiting when breakfast was finished. Then she turned to Emerson, who came into the room and said quietly:

"I have something to show you if you will take a short ride with me."

The young man, impressed by the gravity of her manner, readily consented. Constantine freed the leader and they went off at a mad run. They skimmed over the snow with the flight of a bird.

The young man gave himself up to the unique and rather delightful experience of being transported through an unknown country to an unknown destination by a charming girl of whom he also knew nothing.

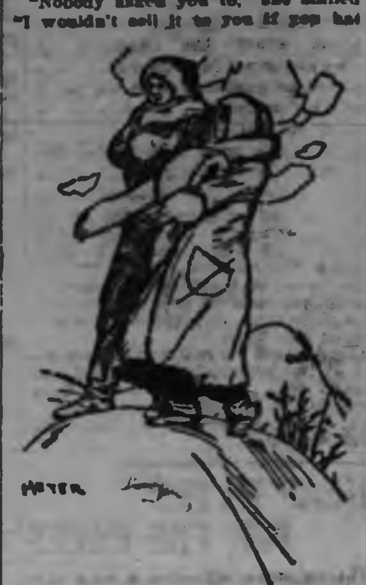
"Yesterday you seemed to be taken by the fishing business," she finally said.

"I certainly was until you told me there were no cannery sites left."

"There is one. When I came here a year ago the whole river was open so as an outside chance I located a site, the best one available. When Willis Marsh learned of it he took up all of the remaining places, and, although at the time I had no idea what I was going to do with my property I hung on to it."

"I can't buy your site."

"Nobody asked you to," she smiled. "I wouldn't sell it to you if you had the money, but if you will build a cannery on it I'll turn in the ground for an interest."



TOGETHER THEY ASCENDED THE BANK AND SURVEYED THE SURROUNDINGS.

Emerson meditated a moment then replied, "I can't say yes or no. It's a pretty big proposition—$200,000, you said?"

"Yes. It's a big opportunity. You can clean up 100 per cent in a year. Do you think you could raise the money to build a plant?"

"I might," he said cautiously.

"At least you can try?"

"But I don't know anything about the business."

"I've thought of all that, and there's a way to make success certain. I believe you have executive ability and can handle these men."

"Oh, yes, I've done that sort of thing." His broad shoulders went up as he drew a long breath. "What's your plan?"

"There's a man down the coast, George Balt, who knows more about the business than any four people in Kalvik. He discovered the Kalvik river, built the first cannery here and was its foreman until he quarreled with Marsh. Balt isn't the kind of man to be disciplined, so, not having enough money to build a cannery, he took his scanty capital and started a saltery on his own account. Marsh broke George in a year, ruined him, utterly wiped him out, just as he intends to wipe out insignificant me. Thinking to recoup his fortunes, George came back into camp, but he owns a valuable trap site which Marsh and his colleagues want, and before they would give him work they tried to make him assign it to them and contract never to go in business on his own account. Naturally George refused. He's been starving now for two years.

"No man dares to furnish food to George Balt; no man dares to give him a bed; no cannery will let him work. He has to take a dory to Dugall Harbor to get food. He doesn't dare leave the country and abandon the meager thousands he has invested in buildings, and every summer, when the run starts he comes across the marshes and slinks about the Kalvik thickets like a wraith, watching from afar just in order to be near it all. He stands alone and forsaken, harking to the clank of machinery, every bolt of which he placed, watching his enemies enrich themselves from that gleaming silver army, which he considers his very own. He is shunned like a leper. Some time I believe he will kill Marsh."

"Hm-m! One seems to be forever crossing the trail of this Marsh," said Boyd, who had listened intently.

"The man who beats Marsh will have done something." She paused, then said deliberately, "And I believe you are the one to do it."

To be continued.

You May Have Charming Hair

There is a reason for the phenomenal sale of Parisian Sage in Canada and the reason is plain to all; Parisian Sage does just what it is advertised to do. It is guaranteed to cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

One thing that has made Parisian Sage so famous is its peculiar power to turn the harsh unattractive hair that many women possess into luxuriant and radiant hair in a short time. Women of refinement the country over are using it and it never disappoints.

Sold by leading druggists everywhere for 50c. a large bottle. The girl with Auburn hair is on each package. Mail orders filled charges prepaid, by the Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

TO GET "QUALITY"

Pure water, special yeast from Munich, finest barley—above all, the greatest care and cleanliness and full ripening of REGAL LAGER make it the perfect tonic beverage it is, for abounding health is at the table of its patrons.

For Sale by all Liquor Dealers and Leading Hotels

707

HAMILTON BREWING ASSOCIATION Ltd.
HAMILTON, CANADA

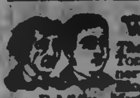
WHOLESALE ORDERS
Phone 494, Hamilton; Main 2661, Toronto; 4365, Ottawa

Five women were found dead in bed in Philadelphia on Christmas Day. Heart disease was the cause in each case.

Clara M. Swain, M.D., the first woman missionary sent by a society to the Orient, died at Castile, N.Y., aged 76.

There is still no trace of Cecil B. Grace, the missing aviator, who lost his way in a fog while crossing the English channel.

Fire destroyed the main building of the Sunnyside Distilling Co's. plant at El Rama, Pa., with a loss of $75,000.



Wood's Phosphodine,
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

FANCY GOODS

AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST. PHONE 226

LET US SUGGEST

A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper

As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices

J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING.

Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, at their stores. Contracts taken. We call for and deliver.

TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 857

EGGS

For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage
In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

A Macey Sectional Bookcase

Would Make an Excellent Christmas Gift in Many Homes

The "MACEY" have points in quality that place them ahead of all other makes.

Absolutely NON-BINDING DOOR, Variety and Beauty of designs and moderate prices give them the lead. Call and see them and get prices.

MADE IN CANADA

Agents for Peterborough

487 George Street

CLEGGS FURNITURE STORE

Phone Number 79

The One Best
Holiday
Gift

And the one that brings the most grateful recollections of the giver, is to be found in the Nugent Drug Co's assortment of Perfumes.

Our window display is our best ad. It will pay you you to give us a call. Our assortment is composed of the latest odors in dainty boxes. Prices from 25c to $4.00.

SOMETHING FOR MOTHER

One of our Gole Automatic Eyeglass Chains at $2.00 (initials engraved free).

SOMETHING FOR SISTER

A nice "Lemaire" Opera Glass, $5 to $10

Something that every elderly person appreciates at this season is a nice pair of GOLD SPECTACLES or EYEGLASSES

Lenses can be fitted after Christmas.
Initials in gold on the case Free.
Prices from $2.50 to $6.50.

verything we Sell is Guaranteed

NUGRNT DRUG Co.

A. J. Johnston, Chemist. A. A. Fowler, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on WateSt, and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters
Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.
New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street Both Phones 337

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 Water-St. Phone No. 59C

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mewhl

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles
—in—
Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

323 George-st. Near McDonnel-st,
Machine Phone 133.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

All Saints' Choir

All Saint's choir will practise this evening at eight o'clock.

Knox Church

Mid-week service will be held this evening at 7.30 in the ladies' parlors

Lindsay Nominations

Seven candidates were nominated for the Mayoralty contest in Lindsay and twenty-three as aldermen.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

Box of Candies Free

A box of candies for the children given free this week with every $1 purchase. Walter M. Roebuck, Water and Smith streets.

Is in Montreal

Mr. Robert Fair is in Montreal today in the interests of his store. He will do considerable buying, including all lines of winter specialties.

Salada Tea Same Price

Notwithstanding the extraordinary advance that has taken place in the price of tea at the gardens, the public are getting "SALADA" of exactly the same quality and at exactly the same price as they did last year.

THE CANADIAN LADY
For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C. Elliot, 592 George Street.

Will Snap No More

An unusual sight was witnessed on Water street this morning as a local carter drove along with three dead bodies on the truck.

They were dogs who had been poisoned in East City, were being taken to the canine cemetery.

All our Calendar Pads at one cent each, any size. Review Office.

Infant Dies

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Milburn, 285 Lake street, died last night.

The funeral will be held this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

W. C. T. U. Meeting Friday

The December meeting of the W.C.T.U. To be held this Friday at the Y.W.C.A. is to be of a social character for the reception of new members and reunion of others who are unable to attend regularly. Mrs. Britton, Provincial Treasurer, and a sister of Mrs (Dr.) Scott, will be present.

Adams'
Great Cash
REALIZATION SALE
For 15 Days, Commencing
Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911
Closes Saturday, Jan. 21st, 1911.

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash
You Want the Goods

Harry Adams

George Street . . . . . . Peterborough

SMALL PENALTY

Fine of $2 Imposed on Fred Stevens Who Discharged Shotgun

Fred Stevens couldn't remember anything about the shooting on Sherbrooke street Monday night, when asked for an explanation at the police court this morning. It was all a mystery to him, he said.

He was the man who loaded the shot-gun, the discharging of which caused alarm in the home of David Hamilton, and endangered the life of a young daughter who was asleep. Shots from one discharge went through the window.

The room occupied by Stevens and two others was in a house directly across the road, and the window was open at the time.

He appeared to realise the seriousness of the offence this morning, and claimed that the affair would be a lesson which he would never forget.

His Worship imposed a fine of $2 which was paid.

CHEAP RATES FOR THE RACES

The railways will give a rate of a fare and one-third for the Peterborough ice races on January 16th and 17th. This applies to places the single fare from which to Peterborough does not exceed $2.50.

A good field of starters will take part and Secretary Hall is already receiving many inquiries from horsemen.

Gordian Knot

WHITCROFT—BOSWELL.

At Rexboro, Alta., on Tuesday, December 27th, the marriage of Miss Fannie M. Boswell to Mr. Fred J. Whitcroft, was solemnized.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boswell, formerly of this city and a graduate of Nicholls Hospital. The groom is a son of Mr. Wm. Whitcroft, Aylmer street.

MELLIS—LOGAN.

The marriage of Miss Venie Logan, eldest daughter of Mrs. William Logan, Brock street, to Mr. William H. F. Mellis, took place Monday evening, Rev. H. J. Keith, conducting the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellis will reside at 578 Sherbrooke street.

McWHINNIE—BALL.

One of the prettiest house weddings of the season was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon at the handsome residence of Mr. Robert McWhinnie, 543 Harvey street, when his daughter Effie I., was joined in marriage to Mr. Frank W. Ball, of Kerrobert, Sask.

Rev. I. Couch, of George street Methodist church, officiated. The contracting parties were unattended. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Letitia Elliott., the bride leaning on the arm of her father, entered the parlor. The ceremony was performed under a large arch of evergreens and roses, with a back ground of palms. The bride looked graciously charming in a becoming suit of white liberty satin, with the usual bridal veil caught with genuine orange blossoms from California.

At the conclusion of the ceremony all partook of a dainty wedding luncheon, Mr. T. H. Hooper, catered.

The house throughout was tastefully adorned with evergreens, holly, roses and palms.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball left on the 5.20 G.T.R. for an extended wedding trip, before taking up residence at Kerrobert, Sask.

GREENE—SHERBINO.

Kingston Whig.—A pretty wedding was solemnized Monday morning, at the residence of the bride's parents, University avenue, when their daughter Miss Alma Jane Sherbino, was unietd in marriage to George Frederick Greene, of Peterborough. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Dr. MacTavish, took place under an arch of holly and other Christmas decorations. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a gown of white silk covered with point d'esprit lace, and entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Wilson. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the spacious dining room, where a dainty repast was served. The happy couple left, on the noon train, for Peterborough, where the groom has a lucrative position. Miss Sherbino was very popular here, as was testified by the number of beautiful and costly presents which were showered upon her, including a present from the choir and Young People's Guild of Cooke's church, of which she was amember.

WINDSOR — LARUSH

A quiet wedding took place on Monday evening at seven o'clock, when Miss Charlotte Larush was united in marriage to Mr. James Windsor.

Miss Margaret Brady was bridesmaid, while Mr. George Lighthart supported the groom. Rev. J. G. Brown, pastor of St James' Methodist Church officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Windsor will reside on Lake Street.

GUNN—HATTON.

The wedding was solemnized this afternoon at the residence of Mr. Thomas Gunn, 403 London street, of his daughter Jessie, and Mr. D. H. Hatton.

Rev I. Couch of George St. Mehtodist church, officiated.

The young couple left on the 4.38 C.P.R. on a short wedding trip.

MASONIC OFFICERS WERE INSTALLED

At Joint Communication of Local Lodges Last Evening

The festival of St. John the Evangelist, was duly observed by the local Masonic lodges, together with their brethren throughout the English-speaking world by the installation of the officers for the ensuing Masonic year (5911.)

Rt. Wor. Bro. W. J. Drope, of Grimsby, a former active member of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, was the installing master and was ably assisted by Pastmasters of both local lodges. The following officers were installed;

CORINTHIAN LODGE No. 101.

Wor. Bro. M. Comstock... ...W. M.
" " R. P. Watt... ...I. P. M.
" " F. D. Kerr .... S. W.
" " T. H. Gillespie... ...J. W.
" " M. A. Morrison......Chap.
" " T. A. S. Hay... ..Treas.
" " R. M. Waddell... .....Sec.
Rt " " H. R. H. Kenner..D. of C.
" " H. W. Morphet ... ...S. D.
" " J. Allin...... ....J. D.
" " W. R. Morris ... .S. S.
" " F. Dawson... ... . J. S.
" " W.T. Holloway Organist
" " W. G. Morrow... ...Tyler
" " R. E. Wood... ...Trustee
" " W. H. Bradburn and......
" " W. R. Morris...Auditors

PETERBOROUGH LODGE, No. 155.

Wor. Bro. W. J. Henry... ...W. M.
" " A. P. McLean .. ...I.P.M.
" " A. Davidson... ... ...S. W.
" " W. R. G. Higgins...J. W.
" " Rev J. R. Bonner,Chap
Rt. " " A. Gibson... ...Treasurer
" " " W. H. Walkey ... Secy.
" " " J. G. M. Wilson...D. of C.
" " A. A. Fowler ... ... S. O.
" " W. S. Campbell... ...J. D.
" " D. H. Downie ... ...I. G.
" " Dr M. McClelland...S. S.
" " J. Roszel...... ...... J. S.
" " J. Crane... ... ...Organist
" " E. D. Wilson ...... Tyler
" " Wm. Hill ... ... Trustee
" " H. Rush ,and...... ....
" " R. F. Morrow...Auditors

The installation ceremonies were followed by a banquet in the spacious dining room which was filled to its utmost capacity, where ample justice was done to the good things provided by Bro. T. Hooper.

A toast list interspersed with songs, recitations, etc., was given and was thoroughly enjoyed. Rt. W. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner's address on Masonic Symbolism, being well received.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a Junior Warden's regalia to Rt. Wor. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner. The proceedings were brought to a close with the Junior Warden's toast.

XTRA SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Florida pineapples, tangerines, fancy California cauliflowers, California celery, hothouse tomatoes, mushrooms, fancy red apples, sweet potatoes, fancy, blue point shell oysters in kegs of 100 oysters, fresh boiled lobsters. Also fancy Malaga grapes, table raisins and high grade chocolates. All goods the very best we can buy. Leave order early and secure better attention.

W. J. OKE, 376 George St.
Telephone 18.

THEATRICAL

"WILDFIRE"

Referring to the great racing play, "Wildfire," which appeared in Toronto two weeks ago, the Toronto News says:—"The racing play, 'Wildfire,' at the Grand this week is probably one of the best plays of its type and affords excellent scope for a company of merit. The well-known writers, George H. Broadhurst, author of 'The Man of the Hour,' and George V. Hobart, have, in their book, provided ample material of value for good dramatic exposition. Lucille Morey as Mrs. Barrington adds to her reputation as a clever comedienne, and makes the most of her opportunities. The action does not "drag," and Gus. Alexander as Bud, one of the many curious characters in the cast, does his full share to give a fillip to the show, upon which the curtain falls with the play-goer's desire for more. G. E. Gaden as Matt Donovan, and R. G. Edwards as John Harrison, performed their parts especially well. Lance Burritt as Bertie Almsworth, an English 'importation,' carried his amusing role to the delight of the audience."

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

"ST. ELMO"

The New Year's Attraction at the "Grand"

There are many people to-day who remember as if it were only yesterday the instant popularity achieved by "St. Elmo," the novel by Augusta Evans-Wilson Forty years have elapsed since it was offered as a play, this time with the work of dramatization skillfully done, its stirring story of a clash of strong characters shaped into a vehicle for fine acting. A company well suited to the demands of Mrs. Wilson's characters has been organised and has entered upon a tour which people, fitted by long experience to judge, say is bound to prove a notable success.

St. Elmo Murray, Edna Earl and all the other important people of the story are shown true to the author's design. The play, in the cities in which it has been presented, has struck a new note in contemporaneous stage history.

Its visit to the Grand Opera House New Year's, Monday, January 2nd, matinee and evening, will be one of the season's notable events.

ARGONAUTS COMING MONDAY

Exhibition Game With Local Intermediates Booked for New Year's Night

The can-opener will be applied at the rink Monday night when Toronto Argonauts, of the senior O. H. A. series, will meet the local intermediates for an exhibition game.

Word was received to-day to the effect that the Oarsmen will come here New Year's night with their own lineup.

NO WORD AS TO COMMUTATION

No word has been received concerning the commutation of the sentence of James Gorham. It is understood that the action of the Department of Justice will not be probably known till after the new year.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

AN ARTISTIC WINDOW SCENE

The display window of Lendrum's photograph studio contains a set of photos arranged in a manner entirely new to the photographers of the city. The pictures are of several of those, who took part in a recent play in St. Peter's Hall, the performers being attired in costumes of a couple of centuries back. The pictures are all of uniform size and are exhibited in an attractive manner.

John Matthewson, a C.P.R. fireman, was run over and killed at St. John, N.B.

WARD NO. ONE

VOTE FOR

WILLIAM H. BULLER

The People's Candidate for election as

ALDERMAN

for the South Ward

Ward No. Five

VOTE FOR

J. C. ANDERSON

A life-long resident of the East Ward

Many important questions will arise during 1911, and these questions will receive my most careful consideration if I am favored with your support.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours, etc.,
J. C. ANDERSON.

For North Ward as Alderman

I respectfully ask the ratepayers of the Ward to vote for

Jas. Davidson

For Alderman for 1911

If elected I engage to do my utmost to promote the best interests of the City.

—For—

BOARD OF EDUCATION

I respectfully ask your approval of my candidature, and trust to be re-elected as a member of the Board of Education.

ROBERT FAIR.

For Water Commissioner

Your vote and influence respectfully solicited for

WILLIAM LANGFORD

For Water Commissioner.

Your Vote and Influence Are Respectfully Requested for

J. T. O'CONNELL

As Alderman for Ward Five

Have your municipal Business done on practical business methods.

5th WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having had the honor of being nominated for Alderman for No. Five Ward, and not having time to make a personal canvas, I take this manner of soliciting your vote and influence.

If elected I will give support to every good, clean movement for the benefit of our city.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I am,

-Yours respectfully,
R. F. SEDGWICK

Centre Ward

To the Electors

Vote to Re-elect

J. R. Metheral

Who believes in practical economy with efficiency, and submitting the question of exemptions to the electors.

FOR ALDERMAN North Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been nominated a candidate for Alderman in the North Ward for the ensuing year, I respectfully ask your support at the coming election. If honored with your confidence, I will exercise my best energy in advocating and supporting such measures as will assure progress and economy in all civic affairs.

With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,
David H. Kerneghan

South Ward

Municipal Elections

Your vote and influence is respectfully requested for

THOS. HOOPER

for Alderman for 1911

A new man and promising good, careful service if elected

North Ward

Municipal Elections For Alderman

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for election to the Council, and engage, if elected, to look after the interests of the Ward and of the City in general, to the best of my ability.

Very Respectfully.
JAS. G. GRAHAM

Your Vote and Influence in favor of re-election —of—

W. H. BRADBURN

is respectfully solicited as one of the representatives from the

Centre Ward

in the City Council

WEST WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

Having been nominated as a candidate for Alderman for the West Ward, I hope to solicit your vote and influence.

If elected I shall do my best to serve the citizens and to use every effort for the city's advancement.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,
JAS. EDGAR

TO THE ELECTORS

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I am in the field as a candidate for election to the Council from the West Ward.

Respectfully,
J. J. DUFFUS

No. ONE WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for your favor as Alderman for the year 1911.

I have endeavored to serve you faithfully during the last four years, and engage, if elected, to use my influence and energy in advancing in every way the interests of the Ward and City.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours hopefully,
GEO. H. DUNCAN

For Alderman

As Representative to the Council from the East Ward

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

This is my first essay as a candidate, and I throw myself on your consideration, trusting to have your approval of my candidature. I trust to be a useful member of the Council should you send me there.

Respectfully and Hopefully,
JAMES B. BROWN

Centre Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CENTRE WARD, City of Peterborough:—

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I respectfully solicit your support as a candidate for the office of Alderman, for the year 1911. With the number of years of experience I have had in the Council, I believe I could continue to give good service to the City, and I will, if you favor me with your confidence, do all in my power to advance the City's interests.

Wishing you the compliments of the season.

Yours very truly,
HARRY PHELAN

Grand Opera House
TO-NIGHT
ONE OF THE SEASON'S BEST ATTRACTIONS

FREDERIC CLARKE and a Strong Company Plays in Hall Caine's Masterpiece
"The Manxman"

A Magnificent Scenic Production
Prices:—$1.00, 75c, 50c, 35c.
Gallery 25c.

WE WISH YOU ALL THE
COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

And embrace this, the first opportunity, of thanking the public for their generous patronage. Our policy of selling only the most reliable goods at the closest possible prices, based on good honest business principles, has received the most unqualified endorsation of the jewelry buyers of this rising city of Peterborough and vicinity this Christmas season. Again wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

F. S. Schneider & Co.
Our window for suggestions in New Year's Gifts.
MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED.

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 626 170 Charlotte Street

Millinery Sale
MISS McGIVERIN
offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings
—At Cost—
The opportunity is one that should be availed of.
The values are surprisingly good.
No. 431 George-St
Phone 1385.

Home Rule
FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
140½ Hunter Street.

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell.
JAY'S STORES
Phone 663. 360 Aylmer St Peterborough.

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc., catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT
A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from
Coleman Bros.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers
Prices only 5c & 10c
TWO SHOWS NIGHTLY
Thursday and Friday
Nights Only
GEO. GRANT
The Comedy Select Wire Artist
GEO. W. DAVIS
In his great Character Singing and Talking Act
The Finest and Largest Moving Pictures in the City
First Class Orchestra

Miss Jean Robson
Teacher of Singing and Junior Piano
Soprano Soloist at Knox Presbyterian Church Peterborough. Pupils prepared for Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations. Concert engagements accepted. Apply Friday or Saturday, No. 461 Bolivar Street. tf.

THE MAPLE LEAF AS AN EMBLEM

Stewart Paterson, senior chaplain of the Red River expedition of 1870, says that the Maple Leaf was the recognized emblem of Canada long before 1860, the date claimed for its first recognition. On the initiative of the late Dr. Richardson, of Toronto, he, as secretary of a patriotic association of Peterborough in 1856, designed a badge on which there was a wreath of maple leaves. He also wrote verses mentioning the maple leaf and ranking it with the rose, shamrock and thistle.—From "Opportunity."

DUTTON & CO.
Limburger Cheese.
Roquefort Cheese.
Cream Cheese in bulk.
Dairy Butter, pound 25c.
Challenge Tea, pound 25c.

CLARINA NEWS

Clarina, Dec. 28.—We are sorry to learn that Mr. Fred Dunsford has sold out and is going to Peterborough to live.

Mr. and Mrs. David Darling and family spent Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. M. Edwards and Mrs. David Drain and son, of Warsaw, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Drain on Wednesday.

Miss Roxie Andrews and Mr. Richard Andrews, of Norwood, made a flying visit in our neighborhood last week.

Miss Zella Miles has returned home after spending a few weeks with her friends in Havelock.

We are glad to see Mrs. D. Drain able to be around again after her short illness.

The school entertainment which was held on Thursday afternoon proved a great success after which a taffy pull and nut shower took place.

A number of our young folks attended the Christmas entertainment Thursday evening at Centre Dummer. Some report a good time others rather disappointed.

Special Notice

To all whom it may concern.

As there are several parties still owing accounts to us, we will thank them to kindly call and settle or remit at once, so that we may close our books at end of year.

Wishing all a prosperous New Year,

We are,
Respectfully yours,
J. J. TURNER & SON.

James Hindson, of St. Catharines, was found dead at the grave of his son-in-law in Victoria Lawn cemetery, in that city.

Remember I Credit
EASY TERMS
Open your Credit before Christmas for your
CLOTHING AND FURS
You want to look your best for the holidays and have ready money to spend for Christmas gift-giving.
PAY AT $1.00 PER WEEK
SPECIAL FOR LADIES
Coats all reduced prices

Suits, reg. $25.00	$14.95
1 left, Fur-lined Coat, reg. $55.00 for	30.00
Skirts, good wearing for the house and also colors, reg. $3.50 for	1.98
Another lot of Skirts, reg. $8.50 ...	4.88
Veil Skirts, reg. $13.50 for	8.40

All Waists, not silk, at reduced prices

MEN'S OVERCOATS AND SUITS
in the best quality and workmanship all at Reduced Prices
HOUSEFURNISHINGS
Square Rugs, Linoleum, Curtains, Tapestry and Lace in the best qualities
CASH OR CREDIT
The Canadian Furnishing Co.
The Best Credit Clothiers in City
163 CHARLOTTE STREET

MUNICIPAL CONTESTS FOR NORWOOD WILL BE KEEN

(Special to the Review.)

Norwood, Dec. 28.—The nominations for village councillors and school trustees for the village of Norwood were held in the town hall on Monday evening, Jas. Calder being returning officer.

Quite a large number of ratepayers assembled, and considerable interest was taken bring out good strong candidates for the Council of 1911. The nominations for school trustees brought out the names of men (well qualified to fill the vacancies caused by the withdrawal of J. S. Squire and Thos. Loughbridge. As the Council is composed of four men with reeve, there will in all probability be a contest, as, we understand, there are at least six men who are anxious to share in the municipal government of our village in 1911. Those nominated were:—

FOR REEVE

A. Breault, by Messrs. D. Sodgewick, and J. Doherty.

C. J. Blake, by John Hubert and John Burkell. Mr. Blake has since withdrawn, leaving Mr. Breault elected by acclamation.

FOR COUNCILLORS.

H. Fry, by Messrs. C. W. Waters and J. Alf. Finlay.

John A. Robb, by Messrs. A. Breault and Rev. M. Dree.

Thomas Watson, by Messrs. C. O'Reilly and J. Hubert.

C. J. Searight, by Messrs. W. Gilders and D. Sedgewick.

John Hubert, by Messrs. C. J. Searight and D. Sedgewick.

C. J. Blake, by Messrs J. G. Keefer and W. A. Richardson.

Wm. R. Howson, by Messrs. W. A. Richardson and J. Doherty.

Stan. Hendren, by Messrs. F. B. Garlick and E. J. Laing.

Charles O'Reilly, by Messrs. J. S. Fry and John Doherty.

TRUSTEES.

Thomas Burkell, by Messrs. J. F. Elliott and D. Mahoney.

Andrew Marks, by Messrs. D. McNaughton and George Buck.

W. H. Brethen by Messrs. John A Robb and A. Breault.

George H. Niebel by Messrs. J. G. Keefer and D. McNaughton.

Fred Fry, by Messrs. John Doherty and D. Sedgewick.

W. R. Howson, by Messrs. J. A. Finlay and Rev. W. Peer.

J. H. Squire, by Messrs. J. Alf. Finlay and J. A. Robb.

Wm. Cuthbertson, by Messrs. Chas. O'Reilly and J. Alf. Finlay.

CHRISTMAS VISITORS.

Mr. E. C. McLeod, formerly of the Union Bank staff here, is the guest of friends.

Miss Lily Scott, of Toronto, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. C. Squire.

Miss Lila Finlay, of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. Ackerman.

Howard Searight, of Calumet, is the guest of his parents here.

Stanley Holcombe, of Toronto, who is visiting his parents in Havelock, was in Norwood on Sunday.

Miss E. T. Beavis, of Peterborough, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. J. Laing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Fitzgerald and children, of Tweed, are visiting Norwood friends.

Donald McTavish is visiting his parents in Cornwall.

Bert Saunders, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. Birt.

Geo. Houson, of Carleton Junction, spent the holiday with his parents here.

Miss Jessie Young, of Elora, is the guest of her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Juniac and daughter, are visiting friends in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Squire and son of Havelock, were in town on Monday.

Miss Hattie McLachlan, of Bracebridge, is the guest of her sisters here.

Miss Burkell is the guest of her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Searight and family spent the holiday in Peterborough the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moore.

Miss Beatrice Finlay, of Toronto, is the guest of her mother.

Miss Edith Stuart, of Toronto, is the guest of her sister, Miss Beatrice Stuart.

Mrs. Campbell, of Georgetown, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pearce.

Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Ford are visiting their son, Professor H. E. and Mrs. Ford, in Washington, Penn.

Mrs. (Rev.) Tucker and son Albert, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Huff, in Belleville.

Harvey Elliott, who is attending S. P.S. Toronto, is home for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs J. G. Keefer is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pickering, of Forest.

J. Alf. Finlay returned last week from a trip to Quebec.

T. J. Rahal, who has been working for some time in Toronto, is home.

Robert Howard, of the Union Bank staff in Berlin, was in the village on Tuesday.

Miss Annie Birt is the guest of her parents here.

Miss Una Duffield returned last week after visiting with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. H Young is in Peterborough, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Peter Christie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson are visiting friends in Montreal.

Mrs. Harold Beavis, of Hastings, was in Norwood on Tuesday.

A number of our young people intend taking in the tea and entertainment in the Brick school on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Trenouth are visiting friends in Bowmanville.

ENTERTAINMENT OF ST. JAMES' SUNDAY SCHOOL

Last evening, the second annual Sunday School entertainment of St. James' Methodist Church was held, a large number of scholars, teachers and friends being present, all of whom spent a most enjoyable time.

The programme was an excellent one. St. James' Sunday School is growing, and although but in its second year, has a membership of over two-hundred. Mr. A. E. Frost, the superintendent, was the chairman, and the programme was as follows:

Selections from Y. M. C. A. Orchestra.

Chorus — Jesus loves the little children.

Prayer by pastor, Rev. J. G. Brown.

Words of Welcome — Primary boys.

Recitation — Eva Payne.

Solo Ruby Moss.

Selection — We all must scratch, primary girls.

Recitation — Earl Goodwin.

Recitation — Gerald Green.

Selection — Little mushrooms, primary girls.

Duet — Keep praying, Muriel and Dorothy Fox.

Recitation — Lizzie Howarth.

Recitation — Christmas has come, Ross Payne.

Recitation — Dorothy's Mustn'ts', Winnie Saunders.

Chorus — Jesus wants me for a sunbeam, Mrs. Brown's class.

Recitation — Two deeds, Jennie Peters.

Recitation — Love, May Colley.

Intermission.

Pastor's Address.

Selection — Y. M. C. A. Harmony Club.

Recitation — The volunteer's life, Viola Palmer.

Dialogue — What girls love to do, Six Girls.

Recitation — Hazel Hicks.

Chorus — Message of Christmas.

Cantata — the Joy of Christmas morn eight young ladies.

Selection — Y. M. C. A. Harmony Club.

Chorus.

Benediction.

By Acclamation

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Dec. 27.—Reeve, Council and Trustees elected by acclamation.

Reeve—Jos. Knox.

Councillors—Geo. Young, George Philips, Wm. Weese, Alex. Mathison.

Trustees—J. Barlow, C. H. Brewster and C. S. Taylor.

KNOX SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNUAL

Tea and Entertainment an Enjoyable Success —Architect of Church Was Present

The annual tea and entertainment of the Knox Church Sunday School was held in the hall, last evening, and the occasion was a happy one for the scholars, teachers and friends.

The attendance was large, and an interesting feature on the program was the entertainment provided by Mr. Henry Simpson, of Toronto, and the architect of the new church.

PRESENTED WITH FUR-LINED COAT

The Women's Guild of All Saints' church presented their pastor, Rev. H. R. Trumpour, with a handsome fur-lined coat on Dec. 19th.

The presentation was accompanied by an address, the event being held at the residence of Mrs. D. J. Lundy. Mrs. T. E. B. Yeats made the presentation, and Mrs. Harry Morgan read the address.

The pastor was greatly surprised, but thanked the givers of the serviceable gift in suitable words.

NOMINATIONS AT SEPARATE SCHOOL

The nomination for Trustees for the Separate schools was held to-day at noon in the Board room at St. Peter's school, when the following nominations were made:—Rev. Dr. O'Brien James Murty, John J. Lynch, Thomas J. Lane, John Kylie.

All our Calendar Pads at one cent each, any size. Review Office

Committee Meetings

The property Committee will meet to-morrow-night at 7.30 and the Board of Education at 8 o'clock.

A fire in the basement of the jail at Sault Ste. Marie caused a loss of $150 and frightened the prisoners badly.

Judge Barron, of Stratford, will investigate the position of the G.T.R. strikers not so far reinstated by the railway.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. F. D. Kerr is in Toronto to-day.

Miss Ella Girard spent Christmas at her home in Coe Hill.

Mr. Gordon Wright was in Toronto for a couple of days this week.

Mr. J. C. Smith is visiting in the city.

Miss Morris, of Toronto, is visiting Miss Fair for a few days.

Mr. Joseph Welch, of Ottawa, spent the holiday at his home in Otonabee.

Miss Kate Hazlitt, of Trenton, spent the holiday at her home here.

Mrs. R. D. Preston and her son, Roy, of Midland, are visiting her brother, Dr. R. F. Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kingsbury are visiting friends in Montreal for a week.

Mrs. Baker, of Rochester, is visiting her mother for a couple of weeks.

The numerous friends of Mr. Ernest Tovey will regret to know that he is seriously ill.

Miss Grace Crowe, of Brantford, was in the city for Christmas, the guest of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Welch, of Port Arthur, were in Otonabee for the holiday, visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Mix of Warkworth were at the National yesterday.

Mr. T. C. Wilcox, advance agent for St. Elmo, registered at the National yesterday.

Mr. Ince of Toronto, of the firm of Perkins and Ince, is at the National.

Miss Ruth Morrison, night operator of the Bell Telephone Company, spent the Christmas holiday with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Max J. Dobbin, of the advertising and publicity department of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Montreal, is home for a few days.

Miss Ethel Clarkson, of the firm of Dumble & Johnston, is spending the holidays at her home in Lakehurst.

Miss Amy L. Armour of Hartford, Connecticut, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Warde, of Ashburnham.

St. John's Sunday School scholars will meet in the Sunday School tomorrow, Thursday, at 9.30 a.m. to practice.

Messrs. Bert Miller and Travers Wilmot are in the city from McGill University, the guests of the former's parents, McDonnel Street, for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kohl, of Brockville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elsie Wilson, to Mr. F. D. Hammond, son of the late J. E. Hammond and of Mrs. Hammond, of Peterborough.—Toronto News.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

HOLDING BACK THE CHILDREN

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir: Permit me to say a few words through your columns regarding the selection of our members of the Board of Education. There is something radically wrong somewhere regarding the whole system of looking after the advancement of the pupils. At the present rate, an ordinary child would not be ready to pass the entrance at 14 years.

I think our board should interest themselves in this. They are spending all kinds of money in providing commodious quarters for at least nine tenths of the present teachers to pass away their time and draw advanced salaries, without putting the vim into the work that an efficiently qualified teacher should. Remember I am a heavy tax payer one of the heaviest, and am not making this kick without being backed up by hundreds of disgruntled tax payers, and fathers of children that feel just as I do. It is time something was done. The best way is to elect men who will see that our best interests will be looked after at the proper time and by the proper persons.

ONE OF THE ABUSED.

NEWS GRIST FROM BAILIEBORO

Special Events and Comings and Goings in a Busy Place

Special to the Review.

Bailieboro, Dec. 28.—Wm. Wood, of Alameda, Sask., returned a short time ago and will sojourn with us during the winter months.

George Gainer, contractor and builder of Peterborough, has leased the residence recently vacated by Mr. John Hawthorne, where he will reside until building commences in the spring.

Wm. O'Hare and Miss Cora Bullock attended the Xmas concert at Bewdley schoolhouse, and report a swell time.

We noticed Harry Perrin, of Bailieboro, also at the Bewdley concert.

At a shooting match held a short time ago at Thos. Sidey's, Bewdley, a number of the crack shots of our vicinity carried off several trophies. Jos. Lang is reported as having won the prize goose. Mr. Lang is to be congratulated on his marksmanship, which secured for him the Xmas roast.

A very pleasant event took place last Thursday night at the home of J. W. White, when the members of the Bailieboro Methodist choir, on behalf of the members of the Bailieboro Methodist church, presented their organist, Miss Cora White, with a very pretty purse, containing $12.50. An appreciative address was read by Jos. Lang, which expressed in a slight tangible way the appreciation of the valuable services Miss White has rendered during the past year. Clarence Dawson then handed Miss White the purse as a slight memento of their respect, good-will and esteem. Miss White made a very grateful and appropriate reply, after which a very pleasant time was spent.

Miss Edith C. Dawson, eldest daughter of J. W. Dawson, returned on Saturday from Alberta, where she has been engaged as teacher for the past nine months.

George Tippet, a Bailieboro Old Boy, who for the past seven or eight years has been seeking fortune in the great West, returned recently on an extended visit to friends and relatives in this district. No doubt George will be on the lookout for a mate to share the happiness of his prairie home.

We noticed Barry Finney and R. Morrison, of Beaufort, at the basket social held recently at Carmel. The Beaufort boys seemed well pleased with their basket companions, and promised to come again.

Among our Xmas holiday visitors who are spending a few days with their parents and relatives, we notice: Miss May Byers, of Toronto; Miss Edna Dawson, of Toronto; Roy Byers, of Toronto; Miss Edith Barnard, of Peterborough; Delbert Armstrong, of Toronto; Miss Hattie Dawson, of Peterborough; Miss Olive Fisher, of the Faculty of Education, Toronto; Arthur Wood, of Robert Fair's, Peterborough.

Fred Byers, of Toronto, is the guest of his father, Mr. Jos. Byers, "Harmony Hall," South Monaghan.

Many Happy Returns

No doubt you have been remembered by either friends from home or abroad— everybody has. You may wish to return the compliment, and at no time will it be more acceptable than at New Years. A New Years gift is always acceptable and to our many friends would say that you can still make a good choice from our extensive

Furnishing Department

In this department you will find the best Underwear, Hoisery, Gloves, Neckwear, Scarfs, Mufflers, Handkerchiefs, Shirts, Suspenders, Vests, Cardigans, Coat Sweaters, etc., etc.

H. LeBRUN & CO.
The Style Store for Men and Boys

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

WANTED
A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

Walk Right In
—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES
are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
366 George Street.

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call
328 GEORGE STREET

Fred Brown, a circus performer, was killed while trying to make a balloon ascension at Havana.

"GRAND" SATURDAY, MATINEE & EVENING DEC. 31
The Famous Racing Comedy
"WILDFIRE"
Written by
Geo. H. Broadhurst Author of "The Man of the Hour"
Geo. V. Hobart, Author of "The Boys & Betty"
A Great Cast. Original Scenic Production. Brimful of Humor.
One of the best Race Track Scenes Ever Staged.
Evening — $1.00, 75c, 50c, 35c. Gallery 25.
Matinee — 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c. Seats on Sale Thursda

"Grand" New Years Monday, Jan. 2 MATINEE AND EVENING
AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFERING!
Augusta J. Evans' Stirring Narrative
"ST. ELMO"
By GRACE HAYWOOD (Dramatist of "ISHMAEL" and "GRAUSTARK")
Greatest Book Play of the Decade. Nothing quite so interesting or unique has been produced in years.
PRICES:—Matinee 25c to 75c, Children 15c. Evening 25, 35, 50, 75c. Few at $1.00. Seats on sale Friday.

THE ONTARIO-CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $500,000.00 — PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and assay returns.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

For Further Particulars Apply

MERSON & CO.

Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange

16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

SPORTING NEWS

SPORT TALK

The Eastern League will have a staff of eight umpires next season. New material will be tried along with some of the veterans.

Will somebody tell us where Ben [illegible] spent the holiday? One despatch from Belleville placed Dusty [illegible] rover, another report of the game [illegible] include his name, and one of [illegible]day's Toronto evening papers [illegible] him at right wing on a lineup [illegible] Stratford.

[illegible] four men to meet Hackenschmidt at Riverdale rink, Toronto, [illegible]day night, have been named by [illegible] Flanagan, the promoter of the [illegible] and are as follows—Yankee [illegible], Buffalo, weight 230 pounds; [illegible], Pittsburg, weight 200 [illegible]; Carl Becker, Germany, weight [illegible] pounds; O'Connell, Ireland, weight [illegible] pounds. The Russian has one [illegible] and thirty minutes to floor the [illegible].

[illegible] latest from Jack Johnson is [illegible] a chauffeur made an attempt [illegible] a bullet through the champ's top piece. Next.

[illegible] Hoxsey made a new altitude [illegible] of 11,474 feet at Los Angeles, [illegible], and despite the advice of [illegible] will attempt to make a still [illegible] flight.

The Wright Bros. have granted the widow and children of Ralph Johnstone, the dead aviator, an annual sum of $1,000.

Ad Wolgast has the Tommy Burns grab. He wants $15,000 win, lose or draw as a guarantee for a fight with Moran. Perhaps the champion's recent bride won't let him take a chance.

Jacksonville, Dec. 27.—A contest unique in sporting events was decided at Moncrief yesterday, when the management provided as an added holiday attraction a special handicap race which tested the relative speed of a runner, a thoroughbred race horse, a mule and an automobile.

The winner was 'Marie Hyde', the race horse, favorite in the betting at 2 to [illegible], which, under the handicap conditions, was required to cover a six furlongs.

Eight lengths back came the mule, which started at four and a half furlongs from the wire, while the man, who had 550 yards to negotiate, finished third.

The automobile, which was asked to travel one and five-eight miles after a running start of a sixteenth of a mile, [illegible] a distant trailer, probably due to the slow track.

Picton professionals play at Belleville to-morrow night.

The following is from the Belleville Ontario—Professional hockey has been given a good start here, but the roughness must be cut out if it is to continue its popularity.

St. Michael's, [illegible] O.H.A. champions, defeated New York A.C. seven at New York last night by 8—0. A despatch says of Jack Spratt's work—One little skater in the Canadian team carried off the honors of the contest. He was Jack Spratt, the St. Michael's rover. [illegible] only a seventeen-year-old boy, but he was far superior to any of the others on the ice. He shot four of the six goals and dodged with the rubber so skilfully that it seemed like mere play to him to get it away from the New York skaters and [illegible] over the ice at terrific speed with the disc bouncing playfully in front of him as he ploughed through the New York team, leaving them all by the wayside. He got up [illegible] quickly and after two or three strokes on distanced the players who tried to catch him. Every time he went down on the ice he was up again like a rubber ball, and he was a wonder at dodging.

Lal Quinn, the local City League graduate, is with Oshawa again this season.

PUCKLAND

The juniors should be in good trim for their first game at Cobourg next Monday. The youngsters have been turning out at practices in good numbers, and Trainer Breen, who is now on the job, should uncover a few tricks for the benefit of the Petes.

Intermediate practice to-night and a full turnout of players is asked for.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

WILD GEESE.

They're shy as the otter; they're sly as the fox;
They're worse to approach than the craftiest mind.
You may freeze on the foreshore or crouch on the rocks,
You may soak in the sea fog or wait in the wind,
Though their magical music will give you no peace,
Yet your bag shall go empty, for aren't they wild geese?

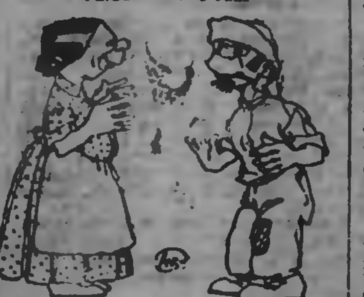
Honk-honk, honk-honk—the distant voices chant it—
The wet retriever trembles at your knee,
For he hears the lone notes falling
Where the long gray tides are crawling,
Through the shouting west wind's buffets on the dripping fog's chill blanket
As the wild geese come shoreward from the sea!

You may stalk them at sundown, at dawning's first flame—
They've ears for the wariest, softest of treads—
And, stook time or snow time, the end is the same—
A picket gives warning, and up go their heads.
Yes, your boots, wet as sponges in spite of their grease,
You may wear to brown paper in chasing wild geese.

Yet still, honk-honk, a northern charm shall fold you.
Though sleet shall shake the raindrops from his sides,
Though you catch the drifting clamor
Through the sleet squall's sting and hammer,
Still the flight shall work its magic and the breathless stalk shall hold you
When the gray geese come calling off the tides.

—Punch

Value of Pat's Job.



"Bridget, Oi hev that job ov night watchman."

"Shure, thin, Pat, Oi'll use yer slapin' shirt f'r rags. Ye'll not be needin' ov it now."

Just Struck 1.

It was an old custom among highwaymen to stop prosperous looking men on the street at night and inquire the time and then when the obliging party had pulled out his watch and named the hour to snatch the watch and run off with it.

One night one of these footpads accosted an athlete.

"What time is it?" inquired the footpad.

The athlete dealt the crook a hard punch on the jaw.

"Just struck 1," said the athlete as the footpad went down before his stinging blow.

"Gee," said the crook as myriads of stars were clouding his vision, "I'm glad I didn't meet you an hour ago!" —National Monthly.

There is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E W Grove

WHOLE TOWNS DESERTED.

Places Where All the People Take a Vacation at the Same Time.

Persons unacquainted with the north of England and Scotland are often surprised during their visits to those countries to find whole towns deserted. Here in Canada only a few of us take our annual vacation at the same time, so that business is still carried on, but over their various weeks or fortnights are set aside for rest, when business practically stops.

In Lancashire these holidays are known as wakes, and beginning from about the middle of June one town after another takes its holiday, until early September sees the end. Liverpool and Manchester are about the only towns of importance that do not follow the custom, as they are too large to shut down in this manner.

Every town has its holiday fund, which in each case amounts to many thousands, Oldham saving between $750,000 and $1,000,000 for its outing, while Blackburn operatives have more than once saved some $750,000 for the same purpose. At one time these thousands of workers on holiday seldom traveled farther afield than the Isle of Man, Blackpool or the Yorkshire coast, but now many of them go to Switzerland or France—on one occasion 700 men from Burnley paraded before the President in Paris—while great numbers visit all the English seaside towns.

Most of the Scottish towns take a week off in the same way. In July the visitor is often surprised at the crowded trains that pass him as he is journeying toward Edinburgh, and when he inquires why his train is an hour late he is told that traffic is very heavy as holiday week has begun. When Edinburgh's holiday is over Glasgow's turn comes, maybe, and so on until the season is over.

In the south of England there is one town that shuts down for a week. This is Swindon, the Wiltshire town that consists almost exclusively of Great Western Railway workers. Naturally when some take a holiday all must follow, so about the beginning of July some 25,000 people leave Swindon on one day, Weymouth and Weston-super-Mare usually being the favorite destination. About two dozen trains are required to carry away this holiday crowd.

King Edward's Card-Indexes.

Several persons of importance when first presented to King Edward expressed their amazement at the marvellous knowledge His Majesty possessed concerning their affairs, their achievements, and the members of their family. As people never obtained access to His Majesty without a previous appointment or invitation, the sovereign had plenty of time to order those under him to look up particulars of the "caller" and place the same before him. In this way the King became quite intimate with the affairs of the majority of the people who entered his palace.

It is not generally known that King Edward for many years ran a series of card-indexes, of the kind common in all large commercial houses. These were kept at Buckingham Palace, and when a person not attached to a royal family called upon the King, his name, together with a short account of what passed at the interview, particulars of his career and his achievements, and a short history of his family, were placed on a card and filed in the usual way. If the "caller" again visited the King, the card-index was consulted. In this way His Majesty was able to recall to mind who and what his visitor was, and prepare himself accordingly.

At several courts of Europe, including Britain, brief records of scandals affecting people are preserved, in order that the appearance at court of those compromised thereby may be avoided. The British royal records of unpleasant incidents are kept by the Lord Chamberlain's department.

People who invite the King and Queen to dinner must escort their royal guests into the dining-room first and see that they are placed in the centre of one side of the table, with the principal guests on both sides of them. It is considered etiquette for people to address the King as "Sir" and the Queen as "Madam."

Best Known Portrait.

In a discussion as to what is the most common and familiar portrait in the world, writes Arthur Loring Bruce, one man was sure Raphael's Sistine Madonna was the best known portrait in the world. Another was all for Leonardo's Mona Lisa. Still another contended that no likeness was so universally known as that of King Edward on the coins of Great Britain. The sphinx was mentioned and the Venus of Milo. The discussion was growing warmer when a mild and callow youth chirped up with:

"You are all wrong! All of you! The best known portrait in the world is the queen of spades."

He then proceeded to prove what, it seems, is common knowledge among the cognoscenti, namely, that the queen of spades is a bona fide likeness of the late Queen Anne of Britain. It seems that somewhere about 1710 the English and European stationers fixed on the image of the then Queen of England as a suitable one to inscribe on their playing cards. For 200 years or more her face has looked out at us, not altogether unpleasantly—particularly in bezique—from the depths of the pack. How much longer, we wonder, will her physiognomy be shuffled down the corridors of time?

A Carlyle Snub.

Carlyle had an inveterate hatred for Darwinism, which he described as the "gorilla damnification of humanity." Leonard Huxley in his life of his father recalls an incident that happened shortly before Carlyle's death. "My father," he writes, "saw him walking slowly and alone down the opposite side of the street and, touched by his solitary appearance, crossed over and spoke to him. The old man looked at him and merely remarking, 'You're Huxley, aren't you, the man that says we are all descended from the monkey?' and went on his way."

Cerzatre Guyatt, who claimed to be 111 years and 9 months old, died at Bendley on Christmas Day.

WHERE THE WHEAT GOES

ELABORATE MACHINERY THT RECEIVES IT AT LONDON.

Strange Barge Interviews the Wheat Laden Vessels on Their Arrival and by Means of Ingenious Devices Relieves Them of Their Burden—All the Old System of Lightening Is Done Away With.

Grain flows in a vast stream from Canada to London.

How is it handled on its arrival there?

Five years ago there was towed across the Thames from Milwall to the Surrey Commercial Docks a curious vessel, rather larger than a Thames sailing-barge; the hull low in the water, a great square iron tank at both ends; above her iron decks were no masts and spars, neither had she at all the appearance of an ordinary steamship. But instead two enormous towers and three funnels or chimneys reared themselves high into the air.

All other craft drew aside, as slowly and making heavy weather of the running tide, this strangest of all vessels passed from bank to bank and made its first and only voyage in safety.

This was the new pneumatic elevator for grain built by the East Ferry Engineering Works. Arrived in the Surrey Docks, she caused a feeling almost of consternation and alarm, so peculiar was her appearance.

Captains of liners, masters of sailing ships, mates who had visited every clime—none in any port had seen a vessel such as this, even the fo'c'stle wit for once was silenced. Foreign sailors were given to understand this was the latest torpedo-boat, for, as the engineer said, "You can see all the tubes!"

But very soon speculations were set at rest, as the leviathan was towed alongside one of the grain steamers in dock. Somewhere from the upper part of each tower four six-inch tubes of metal or armadillo hose-pipe were let down into the grain in the steamer's hold, barges were brought up to each side of the elevator at the base of each tower—some with sacks are standing little groups of men assembled on platforms expectant just under the six shoots projecting overhead—smoke was seen to be issuing from the taller and blacker of the three chimneys; and then, a low, deep, regular sound was heard—"Heujh! heujh! heujh!"—like the panting of some enormous animal. With each breath from the top of the other two chimneys came filmy rings, much as rings of smoke are blown by a cigarette-smoker—the four great air-suction cylinders in the hold of the elevator had been set at work. A few seconds later, through one of the six shoots over the heads of the little group of dockers, swish! came the grain, 248lb., equivalent to a sack of four bushels of wheat, weighed and checked automatically up in the tower. "Swish! swish!" as one shot after another delivered the grain, either to be shot in bulk into the barge below or put into a sack and then tumbled overboard.

The elevator was designed to deal with 150 tons of grain an hour, but, on her trial, 211 tons of grain passed through the weighing-machines in one hour. Yet still another surprise was in store. Two tanks, traveling on rails, had lately been put on a gallery high up on the face of an adjacent warehouse, fifty or sixty feet above the ground. None of the onlookers quite knew what these tanks had been placed there for, or why the little gallery with its railway had been built. These tanks were connected by two stouter tubes to points just under the centres of each tower.

No men clustered on the little platforms and the cornshoots were unhooked. No barges moored themselves against the elevator's sides. The steam in the boilers down in the hold of the elevator was under full pressure, two small wheels on the exhaust-pipe of the air-cylinders were turned and the machine for suction again set in motion. No filmy rings now appeared at the top of the two chimneys—what was happening?

The grain, sucked up out of the ship, was being blown, by the exhaust air from the cylinders, up the two pipes into the receiving tanks and shot into the warehouse—this at the rate of 160 tons an hour. So fast did the elevators blow the grain that it was found impossible to deal with it in any ordinary warehouse.

The cost of such an elevator is about $115,000, and a crew of twelve men is required. The hull, towers, and vessel generally are made of steel plates, and the following are the principal measurements: Length of hull, 123 feet; breadth, 27 feet; depth, 14 feet 6 inches; draught, 11 feet; height above water-line, 62 feet; displacement, 1,000 tons. The suction power is 5lb. to the inch, and the blowing power 10lb.

Below deck are four air-cylinders, worked by a cross compound surface condensing steam-engine, working up to 600 h.p.; 350 h.p. is sufficient for suction only.

The air-cylinders exhaust the air from the canisters. Air then strives to rush up these pipes, whose ends are down in the hold of the vessel—this, in order to fill the vacuum caused in the canisters. But as the ends of the tubes are in the grain, that grain also gets drawn up with the air.

Arrived in the canisters, the grain is shot downwards by means of half-sleeves placed over the entrances of the tubes inside the canisters, while the air, is now free of the grain, rushes out through the pipe at the top of each canister, down through the cylinder and out at the exhausts. The grain meanwhile passes through the air-locks, which are simply air-tight turnstiles revolving at a maximum rate of twenty-two revolutions per minute.

At London, Eng., innoculation experiments for the prevention of peritonitis are being conducted.

PRIMITIVE PHYSIC.

John Wesley as a Physician and Some of His Remedies.

It is not generally known that John Wesley in one of his brief intervals of leisure published a sort of medical vade mecum called not inappropriately "Primitive Physic." It was first published in 1747, and it ran into at least twenty-four editions. The author was greatly surprised there was so swift and large a demand for it. In the later editions he was able to add the word "Tried" to certain remedies the virtues of which he had meanwhile found opportunities of testing. After five years' careful trial and notwithstanding the objections of the learned he recommends for the ague "to go into the cold bath just before the cold fit," but omits to say how to time the coming of the fit. To prevent apoplexy use the cold bath and drink only water. If this proves useless and a fit should declare itself you have only to "put a handful of salt with a pint of cold water and if possible pour it down the throat of the patient." To cure asthma "take a pint of cold water every morning, washing the head therein immediately after." Wesley gives four ways of curing old age—"take tar water morning and evening" or "a decoction of nettles" or "be electrified daily" or "chew cinnamon daily and swallow your saliva." The two great panaceas in the Wesleyan doctrine are the use of cold water and the use of electricity, and at the end of the book are columns of every sort of disease which may be overcome by these simple expedients.—St. James' Gazette.

WANTED A JOB.

Therefore He Did His Best to Please the Manager.

A certain playwright relates how a manager was much annoyed by the persistent applications for a "job" made by a peculiarly seedy individual. Time and again the manager had referred this person to his stage manager. "See Blank," he would say, interrupting the man's attempts to set forth his qualifications.

At last the applicant did succeed in gaining audience of Blank, the stage manager, who was in the theater for the time "sizing up" candidates for the chorus.

There were, of course, a number ahead of him, but this fact did not prevent the seedy man from interrupting the stage manager between songs with requests for a job.

Exasperated, the stage manager at length turned to the pianist and ordered him to play an accompaniment for the stranger. With considerable hesitation the seedy person raised what voice he had in song. The result was bad as bad could be.

The manager suddenly commanded him to desist.

"What do you mean by this tomfoolery?" he demanded, disgusted. "You certainly have confounded impudence to ask me for a job!"

"Look here!" said the stranger, angry in turn. "I don't claim to be able to sing. In fact, I don't want to sing. I'm a stage carpenter. I only sang to please you because you insisted on it!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Docking the Sheep.

Methods employed in cutting the tails from sheep in the division of animal husbandry at University farm, St. Paul, are best to place the lamb on its back, pushing the skin on the tail back toward the body as far as possible so that enough skin will remain to cover the stump of the bone when the tail is cut off. In operating on lambs several months old draw the skin back closely to the body and tie a ligature tightly around the stub of the tail until an hour or two afterward to prevent excessive bleeding. Place the lamb in a clean pen bedded with clean straw. Cleanliness prevents infection, and in such an inclosure bleeding can be detected. Rams should be castrated at time of docking, while in the hands of the operator, if proper physical development of the organs has been reached. This condition occurs about ten days after birth.

Keep the Horse's Skin Clean.

If the skin of the horse is kept clean he will sweat more freely, which is necessary to keep him in good condition.

Relieves the PAIN of a BURN Instantly and takes out all inflammation in one day. The most serious Burns and Scalds instantly relieved and quickly healed by

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil

A soothing antiseptic discovered by an Old Railroad Surgeon. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c, 50c & $1.

Paris Medicine Co. Bang. N. C.

My wife was severely burned from a red hot cook stove. We applied DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING OIL, and in ten minutes her burns were relieved. We used it as directed and in a few days the burns were entirely healed. We can strongly recommend it to heal the worst burns and sores.

(Signed) J. W. Church, Notary Public.

Made by

E W Grove

Maker of

Laxative Bromo Quinine

O'Keefe's "Gold Label" ALE

The New O'K Brew. A treat in hops and malt. Rich and old and creamy.

Remember to ask for O'Keefe's "Gold Label" Ale—O'Keefe's new brew.

10

SKATES

STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS

Skates Sharpened and Repaired

MILLARD'S

BICYCLE SHOP

Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1256

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

STOCKS and BONDS

WARREN, GZOWSKI & CO.

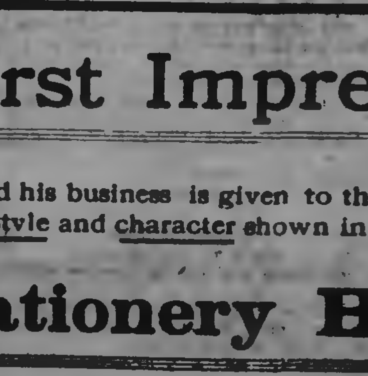
Members Toronto Stock Exchange

Traders' Bank Building, Toronto

and

25 Broad Street, New York

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.



FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE

UNEXCELLED SERVICE

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to The Lenox.

EUROPEAN PLAN

$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at The Lenox. The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

The First Impression

Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in

The Stationery He Uses

If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to

THE REVIEW

for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are:—

Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.

Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—

REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

A soft answer turneth away wrath, and a little of Abbey's Salt sweetens a sour stomach.

25c and 60c.
Sold everywhere.

Xmas Will Soon Be Here

And you naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
762 Water St. Phone 1140

Mr. Mieklejohn

He Was a Fine Fellow and Served an Important Purpose

By F. A. MITCHELL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Everard Tomlinson was considered an admirable catch. He was a fine fellow in every way and when he came of age fell heir to a fortune of some $600,000. He was besieged by fortune hunting girls.

It was something of a relief, therefore, when Mrs. Stetson, an old friend of his mother, reminded him that he was promised to her for a visit at her unpretentious bungalow on Lake Wasapogie for the last two weeks in September. He had engaged for this visit in the spring to please his mother and before he had made his round of house parties. At that time he looked forward to two weeks in Mrs. Stetson's bungalow as burying himself in the woods. There was to be no other guest, and the family consisted only of Mrs. Stetson, her son, Roy, aged sixteen, and her daughter, Alice, aged twenty. Tomlinson was told that it would not be necessary to bring evening dress; that he would need flannel shirts and any old clothes he might possess. His days would be passed in a rowboat and his evenings in the living room of the bungalow with the family sitting around a table reading by a kerosene lamp.

After being hunted by spinsters Tomlinson rather liked the idea of getting away by himself. True, there was Alice Stetson, who might be lying in wait for him, but it was not improbable that he could get away occasionally alone for a pull over the waters of the lake.

It was near the 1st of October when Tomlinson was driven up to the rear door of the bungalow—the house faced the lake and was built on its verge—and the foliage had already begun to take on its variegated hues. Mrs. Stetson and Roy welcomed the guest. Tomlinson noticed the absence of Miss Alice and was so well bred as to say that he hoped she was not from home. He was told that she was in the house, but would not appear before dinner. Her mother vaguely hinted that there was a reason for her keeping her room for the present, and from the sympathetic tone in which the statement was made Tomlinson inferred that some sad event had occurred.

Alice came out of her room as dinner was announced. She did not say anything about the lugubrious event, but she looked intensely sad. Indeed, her eyes were red, an evidence that she had been weeping. The effort she made to seem cheerful was touching. Tomlinson was tempted to inquire what was the cause of her melancholy, but was too well bred to trespass on the sacred feelings of a young girl. Alice retired to her room early in the evening.

The next morning her depression continued, though Tomlinson noticed that she ate heartily. Mrs. Stetson suggested that she show Tomlinson the beauties of Wassapogie lake. Alice cast a look of appeal at her mother, as much as to say, "It's cruel that I must exert myself to entertain a stranger when my heart is crushed," but the mother insisted, telling her daughter that the fresh air would raise her spirits and that she should make an effort.

What kind of an effort she should make the mother did not explain. Roy got out a boat, and as Alice stepped into it dressed in a very becoming blouse and a short skirt Tomlinson noticed that she possessed a foot and ankle the curves of which were very delicately turned. She asked Roy if he was not going with them, and when he said he was going instead for ducks she gave him a reproachful glance. Tomlinson, relieved at Roy's refusal, took the oars and pulled away from the front porch, which served as a landing for the little bungalow buried under trees and shrubbery, dipping his oars into water lilies, then gliding away into deep water.

There was an autumn crispness in the air, and Tomlinson wished the lady were in a better condition to enjoy it with him. He drew her into conversation and soon learned the cause of her distress. When he admired a clump of trees on the crest of a knoll she said, "Mr. Mieklejohn always admired that." When he pulled into a little cove with a tiny beach overhung with wildwood and remarked what a charming spot it was she replied sadly, "Mr. Mieklejohn and I always used to pull in here when we came out boating."

"May I ask who Mr. Mieklejohn is?"

"Oh!" This was an exclamation as though she had unwittingly betrayed herself. "Mr. Mieklejohn is a very good friend of ours. He left us yesterday morning just before you came."

It was all out. This bee Mieklejohn had been there, had captured the prize and there was no sweetness left for poor Tomlinson.

"Pardon me," he said, with a suspicion of hauteur. "I did not know that I was trespassing on sacred ground."

"Oh, no. I assure you you quite mistake me."

"In what respect?"

"It's as I said. Mr. Mieklejohn is a very good friend to us all—mother, Roy, all of us."

"But when he goes away you do the mourning."

She looked very much hurt at this, almost offended.

Tomlinson was disgruntled. Notwithstanding that this was very different from the social life he had been enjoying he would have liked the change, especially for the company of this pretty girl, had not Mieklejohn spoiled it all by going away, taking her heart with him. With the girls Tomlinson had met he was surfeited. Here was a girl so preoccupied with another that she couldn't even be companionable. This is a specimen of the way she talked about Mieklejohn:

"Do you sing? No! Mr. Mieklejohn has such a lovely tenor voice. When he sings he thrills me. He used to sing parts from 'Faust,' and I almost wished I had been Marguerite. Mr. Mieklejohn is very versatile. He is the best whist player, the best billiard player, the best horseback rider, the best swimmer"—

"Did you tumble out of the boat when he was here that he might swim ashore with you?"

"How ridiculous!" She pouted. Tomlinson asked her to go on with the catalogue of Mieklejohn's accomplishments, but she turned away from him as from one who had slapped the face of her idol and, pulling on the port rudder rope, headed the boat for the bungalow.

After dinner Alice sat at the table in the living room with her mother, her brother and Tomlinson—that is to say, she was going to sit there, but the guest spoiled it all and drove her away by asking if Mr. Mieklejohn read poetry to her by the dim light of the kerosene lamp. At this reference to the dear departed Mieklejohn Mrs. Stetson cast a frightened glance at her daughter. Roy was reading a book on the game of football and was oblivious to the shock to his sister's sensibilities. Alice arose and, with her eyes bent to the floor, left the room. Tomlinson could have bitten off his tongue, for a long evening was before him with no other companions than an elderly lady and a boy, the room in which they were being lighted by a dim lamp. Mrs. Stetson retired at 9 and Roy half an hour later. Tomlinson vowed that if the period of this seclusion ever expired—it seemed to him that it never would—he would not get into such a trap again. Besides, he was much piqued after having been sought by finer girls to be completely ignored, considered a personage of no importance whatever compared with the immaculate Mieklejohn. A desire came to him to supplant Mr. Mieklejohn and when he had done so leave Lake Wasapogie with his nose in the air.

The next morning Mrs. Stetson, evidently still concerned about her daughter's sorrow, suggested another boat ride. Alice didn't seem to care what she did so long as Mr. Mieklejohn was absent. She yielded possibly to her mother's wish. The boat was taken out, and the guest of the house, with the listless girl, again left the bungalow.

Tomlinson bore the references to Mieklejohn, gritting his teeth, but making no reply. His object was rather to draw Alice's attention away from this remarkable man to other subjects from which he might the more easily direct it to himself. He exerted whatever lady killing faculties he possessed for an hour, at the end of which time his companion seemed really to have plucked up some interest in her surroundings. Then for an hour she failed to mention the lost one. Tomlinson was encouraged.

Two weeks passed, each day being a gradual drawing away of Alice Stetson from a man who was absent to a man who was present. All the delicious little nooks which bordered on the lake were visited again and again, and at last Tomlinson chuckled to himself:

"Now bring on your Mieklejohn."

One bright morning they were drifting idly through some rushes. There's nothing like some rushes, some smooth water, a little brush and a few overhanging trees, with a man and a girl in a boat, to make a picture of young love. Tomlinson was making an effort to complete the shattering of the sacred image—Mieklejohn. He overshot the mark and made use of the word "love." Had Miss Stetson been sitting at the other end of the boat from him, possibly what happened might not have happened, at least not then. But they were sitting side by side. Alice's head fell on Tomlinson's shoulder. What could he do? He completed the transition. The burden was removed from the shoulders of the dear departed and placed upon those of the newcomer.

This is a letter written by Alice Stetson to her bosom friend Molly Bawn announcing her engagement:

"You see, dearest, mamma knew from Mrs. Tomlinson that Ned was beset by a lot of society girls of that class which is trying to live in swelldom without having the means to do so. Mrs. Tomlinson was afraid some of them would get him and, knowing what a plain, modest, unassuming girl I am, without a bit of deception in my nature, she asked mamma to invite Ned here, hoping he and I might make a match. Mamma said he wouldn't 'look at' me after all the fine ladies he had met. This set me to thinking, and I determined to be as unlike them as possible. When he came I pretended to have just parted with somebody else—a Mr. Mieklejohn, I called him—talking about what a fine fellow he was, how I missed him, and all that, till Ned got so mad every time I mentioned his name that I thought he would murder me. Now I'm afraid he'll murder me when he finds out that Mr. Mieklejohn is a myth.

"We're going to be married during the holidays, and I wish you to be my first bridesmaid. We're not going to have a splurge wedding, but quite gay enough to warrant the prettiest gown you can invent."

PURITY FLOUR
Use it for bread, pies, cakes, biscuits, everything
It's the champion all-purpose brand.
WESTERN CANADA FLOUR MILLS COMPANY
Purity
CANADA
MANITOBA HARD WHEAT
Western Canada Flour Mills Co., Limited.

Details of the Horror.

Just after the wild eyed man with the fierce mustache had left the smoking car of the elevated railway train at one of the stations on the loop he suddenly turned and hurried back.

But he was too late. The guard had closed the gate, and the train was moving.

The man ran along the platform.

"Say," he exclaimed in an excited tone to a passenger sitting by an open window, "I've forgotten my valise! That's it on the seat right behind you. Hand it to me, please. Hurry! Handle it carefully!"

The passenger grabbed it and handed it out of the window, but he was a fraction of a second too slow. The car was just passing the end of the platform. The man outside made a frantic attempt to catch the valise, but in vain, and it fell to the street below.

Then followed a loud, terrific detonation. An automobile tire had exploded.—Chicago Tribune.

One Side of the Phone.

The theatrical manager was at the telephone:

"Yes; we have some good seats for tonight. How many?"

"Yes; I can give you two in the third row."

"Now, what is the name?"

"Sheanton?"

"Spell it."

"Sankjom?"

"I didn't get it."

"Johnson?"

"Well, try again."

"Scrongton?"

"Say, I am going to mark these seats for Brown—Charley Brown—and you ask for his seats tonight."

Joe Mueller then hung up the receiver.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Matches.

In the field of matrimony, as in parlor match boxes, the flame and the match usually go together. After the match has been fully made, beware of the brimstone. A little rubbing the wrong way will start smoke and fire that will often destroy the whole match and leave nothing but old charred sticks which refuse to blaze again.—Judge.

AN IRISHMAN'S WIT.

Why Malaney Disobeyed the Order of the Boss.

Several years ago, while managing the gas and electric property at Madison, Wis., I came in daily contact with an Irishman by the name of Malaney who was then superintendent. He had a keen appreciation of humor and wit and was never so happy as when he could make you wonder whether he was extremely foolish or extremely witty. His bulls were often and perhaps always premeditated. I liked to joke with him, although I generally got the worst of it.

He had a persistent habit of working on Sunday, and it seemed to me that he always picked out a job of trenching in front of some church or equally conspicuous place. While in spirit he was one of the most loyal and obedient employees I ever had, in reality he did not know how to mind.

Whenever I spoke to him about his Sunday work he would always say, "When the ox falls into the pit he shall be taken out."

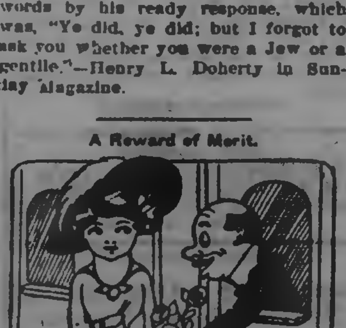
The whole difference was between his opinion and mine as to what really constituted an ox in a pit. Finally I had to give him orders that he was never to work on Sunday without my consent.

For several weeks there was no cause for complaint.

I was absent from the city for two or three weeks and returned unexpectedly on a Sunday. While out for a drive I saw a ditch open in a side street and guessed in a moment that Malaney was at work there with some of his men. I drove down to the ditch and found him on his knees trying to blow up a fire in a lead kettle. He would not have seen me at all if I had not spoken to him; but, coming up immediately behind him, I said, "Mr. Malaney, have I not told you repeatedly that you must not work on Sunday?"

He almost collided with my last words by his ready response, which was, "Ye did, ye did; but I forgot to ask you whether you were a Jew or a gentile."—Henry L. Doherty in Sunday Magazine.

A Reward of Merit.



Bank Teller (to lady depositor)—Will you take it as presumptuous, madam, if I offer you these roses?

"But I don't know you, sir."

"I am aware of that, but you are the only one of your sex that ever indorsed a check on the right end."

Had Learned.

"Why don't you get a motor?"

"I don't know whether I could manage one or not."

"That's not much of an argument. You took the same chance, didn't you, when you acquired a wife."

"Yes. That's what makes me so jolly careful."—London Opinion.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

A St. Louis Highwayman.

A general police order has been issued for the arrest of a "highwayman" who held up Frances Mueller, fifteen years old, and robbed her of a kiss the other night.

Miss Mueller alighted from a car, approached the "highwayman" and asked him to direct her to a Russell avenue address.

"I'm a stranger in the neighborhood, and I'm afraid," she said.

"Well, miss, don't worry. I'll take you there," the man replied.

When in front of the house the stranger stepped in front of Miss Mueller and commanded her to hold up her hands. As the girl obeyed he stooped over and kissed her on the right cheek.—St. Louis Times.

No Telling How Soon.

"So you don't guide hunting parties any more?"

"Nope," was the slow rejoinder from the man whittling in front of the village store; "got tired of bein' mistook fer a deer."

"How do you earn your living now?"

"Guide fishin' parties. So fer nobody ain't mistook me for a fish."—North Beach Cynosure.

Profound Truth.

"There's one good thing about married women."

"What's that?"

"They don't understand the things they've always wondered about, even after they've asked their husbands and been told."—Cleveland Leader.

The Costly Interim.

"One reason," said the milk team philosopher, "why a good many young men aren't married isn't because they're too poor to get married, but it's because they're not quite ready yet, and they're too poor to be engaged."—Browning's Magazine.

Too Bad.

Playwright—I'd like you to read my new drama, "The Hero of the Sea."

Actor—Couldn't produce it.

Playwright—Why not?

Actor—I can't swim.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

One of Many.

He—So she's a business woman! What business is she interested in?

She — Oh, everybody's. — Chicago News.

New Version.

"Mother, may I go out to shop?"
"Why, certainly, my honey.
If you'll keep the clerks upon the hop
And not spend any money."
—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.48 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.25 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west	8.25 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	5.30 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, [illegible], Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 12.25 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—
11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
1.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—
5.26 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto.
7.12 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.36 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

The Men Who Insure

WHO ARE THEY?

Are they not the men who consider FIRST their responsibilities to THOSE DEPENDENT ON THEM?
Are they not the TRUE MEN, the men who do not live to THEMSELVES ALONE, the 100 per cent FINE MEN?
Are they not the men who remember that THEIR BENEFICIARY LIVES AFTER THEM, and knowing THEY HAVE PROVIDED carry their heads higher and their chins in, they step firmer, and because they NEED NOT WORRY, they live longer and better. They realize that LIFE INSURANCE is not a duty, but a PRIVILEGE.
ARE YOU A 100 per cent MAN? The chances are that you have not thought of THE ADVANTAGES TO YOU as well as the others. CAN YOU GET INSURANCE? Possibly without your knowledge it is already too late. Perhaps to-morrow you will be beyond Life Insurance. Better call in at the SUN LIFE OFFICE, 159 Hunter street, and have a talk about it right away.
THEY ARE GIVING THE MOST SATISFACTORY RESULTS IN CANADA.
Call or Phone, NEITHER PUTS YOU UNDER ANY OBLIGATION.

W. H. HILL
Manager
159 HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH
Phone 14 Bell or Machine.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

A soft answer turneth away wrath, and a little of Abbey's Salt sweetens a sour stomach.

25c and 60c.
Sold everywhere.

Xmas Will Soon Be Here

And you naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
782 Water St. Phone 1140

Mr. Mieklejohn

He Was a Fine Fellow and Served an Important Purpose

By F. A. MITCHELL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Everard Tomlinson was considered an admirable catch. He was a fine fellow in every way and when he came of age fell heir to a fortune of some $900,000. He was besieged by fortune hunting girls.

It was something of a relief, therefore, when Mrs. Stetson, an old friend of his mother, reminded him that he was promised to her for a visit at her unpretentious bungalow on Lake Wasapogie for the last two weeks in September. He had engaged for this visit in the spring to please his mother and before he had made his round of house parties. At that time he looked forward to two weeks in Mrs. Stetson's bungalow as burying himself in the woods. There was to be no other guest, and the family consisted only of Mrs. Stetson, her son, Roy, aged sixteen, and her daughter, Alice, aged twenty. Tomlinson was told that it would not be necessary to bring evening dress; that he would need flannel shirts and any old clothes he might possess. His days would be passed in a rowboat and his evenings in the living room of the bungalow with the family sitting around a table reading by a kerosene lamp.

After being hunted by spinsters Tomlinson rather liked the idea of getting away by himself. True, there was Alice Stetson, who might be lying in wait for him, but it was not improbable that he could get away occasionally alone for a pull over the waters of the lake.

It was near the 1st of October when Tomlinson was driven up to the rear door of the bungalow—the house faced the lake and was built on its verge—and the foliage had already begun to take on its variegated hues. Mrs. Stetson and Roy welcomed the guest. Tomlinson noticed the absence of Miss Alice and was so well bred as to say that he hoped she was not from home. He was told that she was in the house, but would not appear before dinner. Her mother vaguely hinted that there was a reason for her keeping her room for the present, and from the sympathetic tone in which the statement was made Tomlinson inferred that some sad event had occurred.

Alice came out of her room as dinner was announced. She did not say anything about the lugubrious event, but she looked intensely sad. Indeed, her eyes were red, an evidence that she had been weeping. The effort she made to seem cheerful was touching. Tomlinson was tempted to inquire what was the cause of her melancholy, but was too well bred to trespass on the sacred feelings of a young girl. Alice retired to her room early in the evening.

The next morning her depression continued, though Tomlinson noticed that she ate heartily. Mrs. Stetson suggested that she show Tomlinson the beauties of Wasapogie lake. Alice cast a look of appeal at her mother, as much as to say, "It's cruel that I must exert myself to entertain a stranger when my heart is crushed," but the mother insisted, telling her daughter that the fresh air would raise her spirits and that she should make an effort.

What kind of an effort she should make the mother did not explain. Roy got out a boat, and as Alice stepped into it dressed in a very becoming blouse and a short skirt Tomlinson noticed that she possessed a foot and ankle the curves of which were very delicately turned. She asked Roy if he was not going with them, and when he said he was going instead for ducks she gave him a reproachful glance. Tomlinson, relieved at Roy's refusal, took the oars and pulled away from the front porch, which served as a landing for the little bungalow buried under trees and shrubbery, dipping his oars into water lilies, then gliding away into deep water.

There was an autumn crispness in the air, and Tomlinson wished the lady were in a better condition to enjoy it with him. He drew her into conversation and soon learned the cause of her distress. When he admired a clump of trees on the crest of a knoll she said, "Mr. Mieklejohn always admired that." When he pulled into a little cove with a tiny beach overhung with wildwood and remarked what a charming spot it was she replied sadly, "Mr. Mieklejohn and I always used to pull in here when we came out boating."

"May I ask who Mr. Mieklejohn is?"

"Oh!" This was an exclamation as though she had unwittingly betrayed herself. "Mr. Mieklejohn is a very good friend of ours. He left us yesterday morning just before you came."

It was all out. This bee Mieklejohn had been there, had captured the prize and there was no sweetness left for poor Tomlinson.

"Pardon me," he said, with a suspicion of hauteur. "I did not know that I was trespassing on sacred ground."

"Oh, no. I assure you you quite mistake me."

"In what respect?"

"It's as I said. Mr. Mieklejohn is a very good friend to us all—mother, Roy, all of us."

"But when he goes away you do the mourning."

She looked very much hurt at this, almost offended.

Tomlinson was disgruntled. Notwithstanding that this was very different from the social life he had been enjoying he would have liked the change, especially for the company of this pretty girl, had not Mieklejohn spoiled it all by going away, taking her heart with him. With the girls Tomlinson had met he was surfeited. Here was a girl so preoccupied with another that she couldn't even be companionable. This is a specimen of the way she talked about Mieklejohn:

"Do you sing? No! Mr. Mieklejohn has such a lovely tenor voice. When he sings he thrills me. He used to sing parts from 'Faust,' and I almost wished I had been Marguerite. Mr. Mieklejohn is very versatile. He is the best whist player, the best billiard player, the best horseback rider, the best swimmer"—

"Did you tumble out of the boat when he was here that he might swim ashore with you?"

"How ridiculous!" She pouted. Tomlinson asked her to go on with the catalogue of Mieklejohn's accomplishments, but she turned away from him as from one who had slapped the face of her idol and, pulling on the port rudder rope, headed the boat for the bungalow.

After dinner Alice sat at the table in the living room with her mother, her brother and Tomlinson—that is to say, she was going to sit there, but the guest spoiled it all and drove her away by asking if Mr. Mieklejohn read poetry to her by the dim light of the kerosene lamp. At this reference to the dear departed Mieklejohn Mrs. Stetson cast a frightened glance at her daughter. Roy was reading a book on the game of football and was oblivious to the shock to his sister's sensibilities. Alice arose and, with her eyes bent to the floor, left the room. Tomlinson could have bitten off his tongue, for a long evening was before him with no other companions than an elderly lady and a boy, the room in which they were being lighted by a dim lamp. Mrs. Stetson retired at 9 and Roy half an hour later. Tomlinson vowed that if the period of this seclusion ever expired—it seemed to him that it never would—he would not get into such a trap again. Besides, he was much piqued after having been sought by finer girls to be completely ignored, considered a personage of no importance whatever compared with the immaculate Mieklejohn. A desire came to him to supplant Mr. Mieklejohn and when he had done so leave Lake Wasapogie with his nose in the air.

The next morning Mrs. Stetson, evidently still concerned about her daughter's sorrow, suggested another boat ride. Alice didn't seem to care what she did so long as Mr. Mieklejohn was absent. She yielded possibly to her mother's wish. The boat was taken out, and the guest of the house, with the listless girl, again left the bungalow.

Tomlinson bore the references to Mieklejohn, gritting his teeth, but making no reply. His object was rather to draw Alice's attention away from this remarkable man to other subjects from which he might the more easily direct it to himself. He exerted whatever lady killing faculties he possessed for an hour, at the end of which time his companion seemed really to have plucked up some interest in her surroundings. Then for an hour she failed to mention the lost one. Tomlinson was encouraged.

Two weeks passed, each day being a gradual drawing away of Alice Stetson from a man who was absent to a man who was present. All the delicious little nooks which bordered on the lake were visited again and again, and at last Tomlinson chuckled to himself:

"Now bring on your Mieklejohn."

One bright morning they were drifting idly through some rushes. There's nothing like some rushes, some smooth water, a little brush and a few overhanging trees, with a man and a girl in a boat, to make a picture of young love. Tomlinson was making an effort to complete the shattering of the sacred image—Mieklejohn. He overshot the mark and made use of the word "love." Had Miss Stetson been sitting at the other end of the boat from him, possibly what happened might not have happened, at least not then. But they were sitting side by side. Alice's head fell on Tomlinson's shoulder. What could he do? He completed the transition. The burden was removed from the shoulders of the dear departed and placed upon those of the newcomer.

This is a letter written by Alice Stetson to her bosom friend Molly Bawn announcing her engagement:

"You see, dearest, mamma knew from Mrs. Tomlinson that Ned was beset by a lot of society girls of that class which is trying to live in swelldom without having the means to do so. Mrs. Tomlinson was afraid some of them would get him and, knowing what a plain, modest, unassuming girl I am, without a bit of deception in my nature, she asked mamma to invite Ned here, hoping he and I might make a match. Mamma said he wouldn't 'look at' me after all the fine ladies he had met. This set me to thinking, and I determined to be as unlike them as possible. When he came I pretended to have just parted with somebody else—a Mr. Mieklejohn, I called him—talking about what a fine fellow he was, how I missed him, and all that, till Ned got so mad every time I mentioned his name that I thought he would murder me. Now I'm afraid he'll murder me when he finds out that Mr. Mieklejohn is a myth.

"We're going to be married during the holidays, and I wish you to be my first bridesmaid. We're not going to have a splurge wedding, but quite gay enough to warrant the prettiest gown you can invent."

PURITY FLOUR
Use it for bread, pies, cakes, biscuits, everything
It's the champion all-purpose brand.
WESTERN CANADA FLOUR MILLS COMPANY
Purity
CANADA
MANITOBA HARD WHEAT
18
Western Canada Flour Mills Co., Limited.

Details of the Horror.

Just after the wild eyed man with the fierce mustache had left the smoking car of the elevated railway train at one of the stations on the loop he suddenly turned and hurried back.

But he was too late. The guard had closed the gate, and the train was moving.

The man ran along the platform.

"Say," he exclaimed in an excited tone to a passenger sitting by an open window, "I've forgotten my valise! That's it on the seat right behind you. Hand it to me, please. Hurry! Handle it carefully!"

The passenger grabbed it and handed it out of the window, but he was a fraction of a second too slow. The car was just passing the end of the platform. The man outside made a frantic attempt to catch the valise, but in vain, and it fell to the street below.

Then followed a loud, terrific detonation. An automobile tire had exploded.—Chicago Tribune.

One Side of the Phone.

The theatrical manager was at the telephone:

"Yes; we have some good seats for tonight. How many?"

"Yes; I can give you two in the third row."

"Now, what is the name?"

"Sheanton?"

"Spell it."

"Sankjom?"

"I didn't get it."

"Johnson?"

"Well, try again."

"Scrongton?"

"Say, I am going to mark these seats for Brown—Charley Brown—and you ask for his seats tonight."

Joe Mueller then hung up the receiver.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Matches.

In the field of matrimony, as in parlor match boxes, the flame and the match usually go together. After the match has been fully made, beware of the brimstone. A little rubbing the wrong way will start smoke and fire that will often destroy the whole match and leave nothing but old charred sticks which refuse to blaze again.—Judge.

AN IRISHMAN'S WIT.

Why Malaney Disobeyed the Order of the Boss.

Several years ago, while managing the gas and electric property at Madison, Wis., I came in daily contact with an Irishman by the name of Malaney who was then superintendent. He had a keen appreciation of humor and wit and was never so happy as when he could make you wonder whether he was extremely foolish or extremely witty. His bulls were often and perhaps always premeditated. I liked to joke with him, although I generally got the worst of it.

He had a persistent habit of working on Sunday, and it seemed to me that he always picked out a job of trenching in front of some church or equally conspicuous place. While in spirit he was one of the most loyal and obedient employees I ever had, in reality he did not know how to mind.

Whenever I spoke to him about his Sunday work he would always say, "When the ox falls into the pit he shall be taken out."

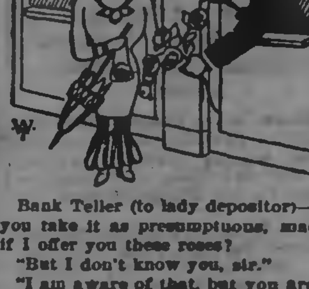
The whole difference was between his opinion and mine as to what really constituted an ox in a pit. Finally I had to give him orders that he was never to work on Sunday without my consent.

For several weeks there was no cause for complaint.

I was absent from the city for two or three weeks and returned unexpectedly on a Sunday. While out for a drive I saw a ditch open in a side street and guessed in a moment that Malaney was at work there with some of his men. I drove down to the ditch and found him on his knees trying to blow up a fire in a lead kettle. He would not have seen me at all if I had not spoken to him; but, coming up immediately behind him, I said, "Mr. Malaney, have I not told you repeatedly that you must not work on Sunday?"

He almost collided with my last words by his ready response, which was, "Ye did, ye did; but I forgot to ask you whether you were a Jew or a gentile."—Henry L. Doherty in Sunday Magazine.

A Reward of Merit.



Bank Teller (to lady depositor)—Will you take it as presumptuous, madam, if I offer you these roses?

"But I don't know you, sir."

"I am aware of that, but you are the only one of your sex that ever indorsed a check on the right end."

Had Learned.

"Why don't you get a motor?"

"I don't know whether I could manage one or not."

"That's not much of an argument. You took the same chance, didn't you, when you acquired a wife."

"Yes. That's what makes me so jolly careful."—London Opinion.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

A St. Louis Highwayman.

A general police order has been issued for the arrest of a "highwayman" who held up Frances Mueller, fifteen years old, and robbed her of a kiss the other night.

Miss Mueller alighted from a car, approached the "highwayman" and asked him to direct her to a Russell avenue address.

"I'm a stranger in the neighborhood, and I'm afraid," she said.

"Well, miss, don't worry. I'll take you there," the man replied.

When in front of the house the stranger stepped in front of Miss Mueller and commanded her to hold up her hands. As the girl obeyed he stooped over and kissed her on the right cheek.—St. Louis Times.

No Telling How Soon.

"So you don't guide hunting parties any more?"

"Nope," was the slow rejoinder from the man whittling in front of the village store; "got tired of bein' mistook fer a deer."

"How do you earn your living now?"

"Guide fishin' parties. So fer nobody ain't mistook me for a fish."—North Beach Cynosure.

Profound Truth.

"There's one good thing about married women."

"What's that?"

"They don't understand the things they've always wondered about, even after they've asked their husbands and been told."—Cleveland Leader.

The Costly Interim.

"One reason," said the milk toast philosopher, "why a good many young men aren't married isn't because they're too poor to get married, but it's because they're not quite ready yet, and they're too poor to be engaged."—Browning's Magazine.

Too Bad.

Playwright—I'd like you to read my new drama, "The Hero of the Sea."

Actor—Couldn't produce it.

Playwright—Why not?

Actor—I can't swim.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

One of Many.

He—So she's a business woman! What business is she interested in?

She — Oh, everybody's. — Chicago News.

New Version.

"Mother, may I go out to shop?"
"Why, certainly, my honey,
If you'll keep the clerks upon the hop
And not spend any money."
—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 5.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 8.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.20 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 8.15 p.m.	8.25 a.m. 12.25 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

8.26 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago etc.
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto.
7.12 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.38 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

The Men Who Insure

WHO ARE THEY?

Are they not the men who consider FIRST their responsibilities to THOSE DEPENDENT ON THEM?

Are they not the TRUE MEN, the men who do not live to THEMSELVES ALONE, the 100 per cent FINE MEN?

Are they not the men who remember that THEIR BENEFICIARY LIVES AFTER THEM, and, knowing THEY HAVE PROVIDED carry their heads higher and their chins in, they step firmer, and because they NEED NOT WORRY, they live longer and better. They realize that LIFE INSURANCE is not a duty, but a PRIVILEGE.

ARE YOU A 100 per cent MAN? The chances are that you have not thought of THE ADVANTAGES TO YOU as well as the others. CAN YOU GET INSURANCE? Possibly without your knowledge it is already too late. Perhaps to-morrow you will be beyond Life Insurance. Better call in at the SUN LIFE OFFICE, 159 Hunter street, and have a talk about it right away.

THEY ARE GIVING THE MOST SATISFACTORY RESULTS IN CANADA.

Call or Phone, NEITHER PUTS YOU UNDER ANY OBLIGATION.

W. H. HILL
Manager
159 HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH
Phone 14 Bell or Machine.

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited

Gifts for New Year's Day

Stronger every year grows the custom, a graceful one, too, of giving dainty little keepsakes to one's loved ones on New Year's Day. Then, also, can be remembered those who by some mischance or other were forgotton at Christmas. It is a simple way of paying one's gift debts—a New Year's Present.

MEN'S PURE IRISH LINEN INITIAL HANDKERCHIEFS, neatly hemstitched. 3 IN A FANCY BOX FOR 75c

LADIES' PURE IRISH LINEN INITIAL Hemstitched HANDKERCHIEFS, reg. value, 3 in a box for 50c, Special while they last 35c a Box

Neckwear at a Saving

Special Value in Ladies' FANCY COLLARS in all styles and patterns, from 25c up to.... $1.50

IF SANTA CLAUS DISAPPOINTED YOU and you did not get those Silk Stockings you were looking for, we will be pleased to show you the values we have at..........$1,00, $1.35 and $1.50 pr.

Ladies' Umbrellas

At Special Prices for this week Ladies' Umbrellas with neat and fancy handles from $1.00 up to.................................... $5.00

Suit and Cloak Department

MAID'S LONG COATS, in black, navy and grey heavy serges and wide wale cloths. $7.50, $10 and $12 values, your choice for $5 & $6.50

CLASSY CHILDREN'S COATS, in exclusive cloths, $7.50 and $10.00 values. Your choice for.................................. $4 & $5

LADIES' CARICUL CLOTH COATS, $18 values, for.............................. $11.75

LADIES' LONG BLACK COATS, semi and close fitting, man tailored, at.................... Former value $7.50 and $10.00. $4 & $5

LADIES' LONG BATH ROBES and dressing gowns, made from handsome patterns in eider cloths, always in favor. No two patterns alike, at.. $4.48

THREE PRICES AND STYLES in ladies' high class tailored plain white linens and vestings and fancy dress blouses, $1,25 $1.50 and $1,85 values. Your choice for.............................. 75c

Robt. Fair & Co. LIMITED

NEWSY ITEMS FROM HUSTLING HAVELOCK

Special to The Review.

Havelock, Dec. 23rd. — Havelock's financial statement for 1910 compiled to the 20th of Dec., shows a balance of $625.40 for the year. The taxes for the year amount to $8,205 of which $6358 was paid before the 20th of December. The balance of $1847 will be increased by the addition of 5 p.c. for taxes not paid by Dec. 20th.

In Belmont township the assets over liabilities amount to $1392.05.

SUCCESSFUL RECITAL

Rev. J. R. Real acted as chairman at Miss Chiles' recital on Friday evening last. Those taking part in the programme were Misses G. Brewster, Pearl Brown, Ethel Hogg, Mabel Pacey, Violet Black, Katherine Falkner, Reta Donnelly, Mabel Leon, Secreta Woods, Ella Forde, Nora Beatty, Neita Beatty, Mabel Buchanan, and Ed. Jones. Vocal solos were rendered by Misses Clara Green and Ruth Leon, and Master Mowat Garrat gave a cornet solo.

INKSTER — CLEMANGER

The marriage of Miss Mildred Clemanger to Mr. Herbert Inkster, both of Marmora, took place on Dec. 21st, at the Presbyterian Manse, Rev. Jas Skene officiating.

PERSONAL

Mr. E. J. Daly of Montreal was in town this week.

Mr. Frank Hill of Hastings was in town on Sunday last.

Mrs. Ford of Omemee was the guest of her brother, Mr. J. W. Bryans this week.

Mrs. Williamson of Norwood is visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. A. Ormiston.

Miss Leila Leist is visiting at her home in Arden.

Mr. Henry Seabrooke of Calgary, Alta., is spending the Christmas holidays at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Nesbitt of Shoal Lake, Man., visited the latter's uncle, Mr. A. Ormiston, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. O. Hicks, Toronto was the guest of friends on Friday.

Mr. Laing of Norwood was in town on Wednesday.

Miss Marion Smith has returned from an extended visit with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Deegan are spending Christmas with friends at Smith Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Easterbrook and children are visiting friends in Tweed.

Mr. Earl Lancaster of the Port Hope Times is the guest of his brother, Mr. T. P. Lancaster.

Mr. Wm. Falkner of Proton Station is visiting at his home here.

Miss Dolan of the school staff is visiting at her home in Carleton Place, Miss Bailey at her home in Anson, Miss McDonald at her home in Sterling and Miss Driscoll at her home in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Kelsey are visiting in Brockville.

Mrs. Thos. Bennett and Miss Julia have returned from a visit to Toronto.

Mrs. Willis Hubble and Mrs. H. Chase were in Peterboro on Friday.

Miss Kellar of Peterboro is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kellar.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Haig are visiting with friends in Albion N. Y.

Mr. Erie West of Trent Bridge was in Ottawa this week.

Mr. Maines of Smith Falls was in town on Thursday.

Mr. Clarence Holdcroft of Lindsay Collegiate is visiting at his home here.

Miss Myrtle Buchanan of Toronto is visiting at her home here.

Mr. Wood of Toronto is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Woods, at Trent Bridge.

Mrs. Barrie and Miss Annie Parrie of Peterboro, are visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. Jas. Fowler.

Mrs. A. McGuire was in Peterboro on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O'Hara and children are visiting with friends in Eganville.

Mrs. Gonidier of Toronto is visiting her mother, Mrs. Dunlop.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Tornan are visiting at the latter's home in Smith Falls.

Miss Francis Scott was in Peterboro on Friday.

Mr. Geo Andrews of Norwood was the guest of his brother, Mr. Wm. Andrews on Friday.

Mrs. J. H Beaver is visiting with friends in Lindsay.

Mr. Ben Weymark of Alberta, is on a visit to friends in town.

Mrs. Alex. Innis was in Peterboro on Friday.

Miss Vanvalkenburg of Cookston is visiting her brother, Mr. Geo. Vanvalkenburg at Trent Bridge.

Mr. Jas. Seeney of the C. P. R. Telegraph linemen, is visiting at his home here.

Miss Bessie Rose was in Peterboro Friday.

A number from town attended the Christmas Tree at Preneveau on Wednesday evening.

Mr. R. J. Graham who is moving to Toronto, sold his household goods by public auction on Wednesday.

Havelock, Dec. 26th. — The nomination meeting in the Town Hall last night for Reeve, Councillors and trustees was a very tame event compared with other years, for, while last year the contestants nearly resorted to the scientific game in order to settle their disputes, this year, some of those nominated did not even take off their overcoats let alone get warmed up.

Mr. Jos. Knox, the present Reeve was returned for another year by acclamation and it looks like no election in the village this year. Those who are still on the sheet for Councillors are Geo. Young, John Towan, Geo. Philips, Alex. Mathison, and Wm. Weese, four of which are to be elected.

For school trustees in the field so far are Isaac Barlow, Chas. Tylor, C. H. Brewster and J. V. A. Coon.

BELMONT NOMINATIONS

Both Reeve and Councillors were elected by acclamation in the township of Belmont, last year's Council being returned. The township officials are: Reeve — Jas. Russell. Councillors—Jas. Kitchen, A. Wilde. Wm. Griffith, and Thos. McConnel.

HEALEY FALLS CONSTRUCTION

Although the cold weather has acted somewhat as a hindrance, the work on the canal at Healey Falls is progressing favorably. The scene at Healey Falls is now one of business and there are a large number of men in the employ of the contractors, who have that section under tender.

The contractors have an engine and several cars at work at this place. They employed a novel method of transferring the engine and cars from Campbellford to the scene of action, some 7miles. It was done by means of about 300 yards of track. The engine and cars were run ahead as far as the track was built and then the portion behind was taken up and placed in front, and with wonderful quickness the engine and cars were transferred to the required distance.

A great deal of rock and earth has to be taken out at Healey Falls to construct thee canal in the proposed course, down the left bank of the river. This earth will be loaded on the cars and transferred by the engine to a point down the river.

A big dam is also being built at this place, as several locks will have to be installed, there being a dip in the river level of 73 feet from the top of the upper falls to the bottom of the lower falls.

STAGE TENDER

Mr. Sam. Quackenbush of Oak Lake has had his tender for the stage route between Havelock and Oak Lake accepted. The contract calls for a bi-weekly service on Wednesday and on Saturday. His term commences on January 1st.

For the first time since the local has been installed between Toronto and Tweed, there were two sections of the local train on Saturday night, the passenger traffic being extra heavy.

SCHOOL CONCERT

There was a good attendance at the school concert in the Town Hall on Thursday evening last, an enthusiastic portion of the school children turning out in full force for this banner event.

These who took part in the programme rendered their parts well and evidenced the fact that the rising generation in Havelock will make their mark in the world as entertainers. The proceeds of the event will be devoted to procuring equipment for the school.

TOOL HOUSE MOVED

The C. P. R. tool house at the east end has been moved about 100 yards eastward in order to make room for some improvements that the C. P. R. intend making. A novel method was used in moving the house. It was placed on stringers across the track and shunted down the track the required distance.

CHRISTMAS TREE.

The annual Christmas entertainment of the Round Lake Church, was held on Friday evening last with a large attendance.

Rev. Jas Skene on Christmas Day took as the subject of his morning service, "Song of the Angels at the Birth of Christ," and in the evening "Gold, Frankincense and Myrrh."

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. P. Cann are visiting with friends in Orillia.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams were in Peterboro on Friday last.

Mrs. Ferguson of Norwood was in town on Saturday.

Mr. P. J. Wright, manager of the Bank of Toronto, spent Christmas with Mrs. Wright in Collingwood; Mr. Miller at his home in Barrie, Mr. Gracey at his home in Deseronto and Mr. Meyer at his home in Newmarket.

Dr. J. McArthur of Markdale spent Sunday and Monday with Havelock friends.

Mr. Herb. Barrie of Toronto was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Jas. E. Fowler.

Mr. Stanley Holcombe of Toronto is spending a week at his home here.

Miss Jennie Barlow was in Peterboro on Friday last.

Mr. Earl Lancaster spent Sunday with friends in Madoc.

Mr. Harry Downey of Toronto was the guest of friends on Sunday and Monday.

Miss Mary Anderson, teacher at Rookdale, is visiting at her home in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Roche spent Christmas at the former's home in Wilbur.

Mr. H. Williams of West Toronto is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Richards.

Mrs. Armstrong of West Toronto is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Tornan, sr.

Miss Lynch of Toronto is visiting at her home here.

Miss Rosie Weese of Toronto is on a visit to her home here.

Mr. Ed. McMullin of West Toronto is visiting his sister, Mrs. A. Watson.

Mrs. Killenbeck of Peterboro is visiting her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hubble.

Mrs. Herrington was in Peterboro on Friday last.

Mrs. Bert Deremo is visiting with friends in Consecon.

Miss I. Butters of Toronto is visiting her sister, Mrs. Anderson.

Mr. Jno. Jackson was in Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. J. B. Skene of Ottawa spent Sunday at his home here.

BETHANY NEWS

Special to The Review.

Bethany, Dec. 27.—Christmas Day was observed here in a very quiet manner. During the evening service at the Methodist church the choir gave two anthems, which were creditably rendered. The solo in the second place, sung by Miss Pearl Preston, and the flute solo, which was the prelude to the second anthem, was admirably rendered by Alfred Driver. Both were fully appreciated by the large congregation. Rev. D. Williams, the pastor, preached an interesting sermon, dwelling chiefly upon the birth of our Lord and His childhood.

The Christmas tree and entertainment given in aid of the Methodist Sunday school by the scholars and outside talent was very well attended.

Miss Frances Williams, of Toronto, and her sister, Edna, of Paris, Ont., were the guests of their father, Rev. D. Williams.

Stanley Hutchison was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rowan this.

A grand carnival is to to be held here in the rink on Tuesday, December 29, instead of Wednesday, as billed. Prizes to the value of $50 will be given.

Among the many residents who went to town Saturday, was W. Gillespie.

Chas. Durrant has hired Cecil DeLong and Hugh Russell to cut wood for him this winter. Both Cecil and Hugh are well known for their steady work.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

HAPPENINGS OF CAVAN DISTRICT

Special to The Review.

Cavan, Dec. 27.—We are sorry to announce the death of Mr. Williamson, of Rochester, who died last week This highly respected gentleman was once a neighbor of ours in the vicinity of Millbrook and Cavan

The Christmas entertainment by the scholars of the Methodist church, "Christmas Fairies" proved to be a great success, and was well attended by a large gathering of residents of Cavanville and surrounding country, many coming from places as far off as Millbrook, Bethany and Springville. Everything went off without a hitch and the scholars are to be congratulated over their strenuous efforts in providing for the enjoyment of their numerous friends.

Skating is now in full swing, the rink being all that can be desired. The boys worked nobly for this cause and deserve all praise for their efforts this season. Already about fifty season tickets have been sold, which alone goes to prove what a boom a rink is in a village, to the younger generation at any rate. S. Hutchison says the hockey season in Cavanville will shortly open with a match with either Millbrook or Bethany.

We are pleased to hear that the proposed telephone line of the 10th concession is again before the public. Dr Turner is endeavoring to boost the line through for the convenience of all on that concession. Among others prominent in the affair, the names of A. K. Kennedy and John Pritchard are to be seen. Whether the proposition will materialize depends solely upon the decision of the farmers of the 10th concession, who doubtless will give their gladsome assent.

KID GLOVES
T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

Excellent Day and Night Services From Peterboro to Montreal Via Grand Trunk Railway System

Day train leaves Peterborough 8.30 a.m., arrives Belleville 11.10 a.m., and Montreal 6 p.m., carrying parlor-library car and dining car, Belleville to Montreal, also Pullman sleeper to Boston.

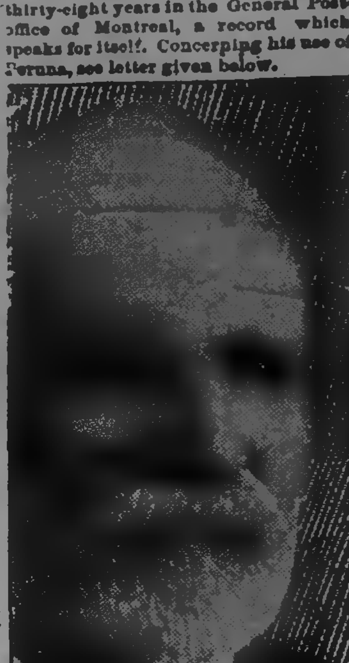
Night train leaves Peterborough 9.06 p.m., leaves Port Hope Jct. 10.39 pm., arrives Montreal 7.01 a.m., carrying modern Pullman sleepers, Port Hope to Montreal. By travelling this way you can take Pullman at convenient hour and enjoy comfortable night's rest over a first-class double-tracked line.

Full information, tickets, berth reservations, etc., may be obtained from W. Bunton, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, or F. Sandy, Depot Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c

NASAL CATARRH PRODUCES DEAFNESS RELIEF IN PE-RU-NA.

Mr. R. J. Arless, 401 City Hall Ave., Montreal, Quebec, is an old gentleman of wide acquaintance, having served thirty-eight years in the General Postoffice of Montreal, a record which speaks for itself. Concerning his use of Peruna, see letter given below.



MR. R. J. ARLESS.

"I have been afflicted with nasal catarrh to such a degree that it affected my hearing.

"This was contracted some twenty years ago by being exposed to draughts and sudden changes of temperature.

"I have been under the treatment of specialists and have used many drugs recommended as specifics for catarrh in the head and throat—all to no purpose.

"About three years ago I was induced by a confrere in office to try Peruna.

"After some hesitation, as I had doubts as to results after so many failures, I gave Peruna a trial, and am happy to state that after using eight or ten bottles of Peruna I am much improved in hearing, and in breathing through the nostrils."

Irving's Magnanimity.

The changes of fortune place people sometimes in peculiar and embarrassing positions. A good story is told of the late Sir Henry Irving, the famous actor. When a young man, earning his laurels and comparatively unknown, Shakespeare's play, "Much Ado About Nothing," was about to be presented to the public by a certain manager of prominence. Irving had a part assigned to him, which he diligently studied. Letter-perfect in his lines, he felt assured of ultimate success, but, unfortunately, the manager disliked his acting of it, and took occasion to censure him before the company much to his mortification. Furthermore, the manager took his part away, and gave him another, less prominent, but more difficult.

Years went by, and Irving steadily climbed to a fame which brought him knighthood while the critical manager gradually lost ground. One day, shortly after Irving announced his intention of producing "Much Ado About Nothing," the old manager presented himself and asked that a part be assigned to him. Irving granted the request, and gave him the very part he had forced him to play years before. During rehearsal Irving narrowly watched the manager's acting, and at the conclusion went up to him and shook his hand, after gravely complimenting him upon his rendering of the part. Then he promoted him to the part from which he had been reduced. "I never knew what 'coals of fire' meant till then," was the remark which the old actor and manager was overheard to make when Irving retired.

From His Pa's Side.

"She doesn't know where the baby gets his bad temper."

"That's strange. Most young mothers can place that sort of responsibility in a jiffy."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Another Definition.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a coquette? Pa—A coquette, my son, is a girl who gets more admiration than proposals.—Exchange.

Telegraphy
Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service
Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

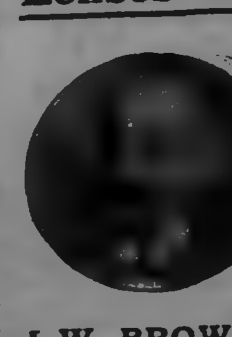
STENOGRAPHY
We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING
Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES
Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.
Call, write or phone for particulars

Peterboro Business College
(Founded 1885)
McKONE & BURNS - Principal
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President

Lenses Changed After Xmas



The Optical Institute is supplying beautiful Eyeglasses and Spectacles complete with name in gold on the case, for Xmas gifts. They will comfort and please the recipient for many days. Many parents and others neglect their eyes until the necessity is noticed by some kind son daughter or friend.

Eyeglasses and Spectacles, $2.50, $5, $7.50 and $12.50.

Beautiful Reading Glasses $1.00, $2 50, $3 and $4 50.

Eyeglass Holders with chain and initials engraved, $1.50, $2.50 and $5.

The Peterboro Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING
J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

Make Your NEW YEAR HAPPY
By getting your New Outfit from us

You will surely be delighted and look well in one of our most up-to-date and stylish garments, which you can afford to have now without paying all the cash down.

Easy terms of payment—$1.00, $2.00 or $3.00 per week, and you may have :—

FOR LADIES—Handsome Suits, Skirts, Coats, Underskirts, Blouses, and Furs of all sorts.

FOR GENTLEMEN—Heavy weight Winter Suits, also blue and black Serges, Fur lined Coats, Trousers

Fine assortment of Home Furnishings, Floor Oilcloths, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, and a very large assortment of all-wool Blankets.

Open an Account with Us this New Year and You will be Happy all Year

THE KNICKERBOCKER CO.
CREDIT CLOTHIERS
422 George Street Phone 711

KEENE

Keene, Dec 27.—There passed away on Sunday morning, December 11th of heart failure, an old and highly respected resident, in the person of James Armstrong, of Lang. The deceased had been unwell for some time, but it was only during the past two weeks that he took seriously ill. He was 79 years and 10 months old. He leaves a wife and seven of a family to mourn his death. They are, Thomas, of Slocan, B.C.; Robert and and William, of Marshall, Sask.; John of Havelock; Mrs. Robert Charlton, Young's Point, and Mrs. Moore and Evelyn, of Peterborough. The remains of the deceased were followed to Fife's cemetery by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and neighbors, where his body was deposited in its final resting place. We sympathise with the bereaved wife and family in their time of affliction.

At the nomination meeting on Monday all the old councillors for the township of Otonabee were re-elected with the exception of Mr Porter, the reeve. Mr. W. J. Johnston opposes Mr. Porter. The vote on Monday next will decide which is the most popular man

Mr Wilbert Bull, of Montreal, and Miss Kathleen Houlahan, of New York, are spending their Christmas holidays with their aunt, Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison

Misses Eleanor and Stella Scriver, of Whitby, are spending their holidays with their parents

Santa Claus gladdened the hearts of many children of the village by stuffing their stockings with good things on Christmas eve

SPORT TALK

George Carruthers, of Winnipeg, has trained some live geese as decoys and they act most effectively. The geese appear to know that they are safe however fierce may be the cannonade, and accordingly they continue to call down the passing flocks by every goosey wile of which they are capable. Many offers have been made for the use of these trained decoys, but their owner prefers to keep them under the cover of his own guns

Real Estate
City and Farm Property for sale or to let
MONEY TO LOAN.
C. BLEWETT, 232 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1271,
House Phone 566

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

SOME SPECIAL HOLIDAY GOODS —AT— ROUTLEY'S

ROUTLEY'S being my headquarters for the past 25 years I still find the establishment up to the minute with all the latest lines of presents shown on the two floors :

FIRST FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

China Tea Sets from	$ 2.94
10 piece Chamber sets from $2 to	12.00
Limoges China Bread and butter plates, $3.50 doz, Now half dozen for	1.10
Austrian China bread and butter plates, dozen $2.00. Now half dozen for	59c
Tremendous range of fancy China Cups and Saucers, regular 25c for	14c

Collection of fancy China Salad Bowls, Bon Bons, Fern Pots, Hair Receivers, Toilet Accessories, Ash Trays and Candle Sticks, in china or brass, Jardineres, Gilt and silver Jewel Boxes, Dressing Cases, Shaving Cases, Comb and Brush Cases, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Manicure Sets, Ladies' Companions, Writing Portfolios, Music Cases. All kinds of Bibles and Prayer Books, Mirrors and Brushes of all kinds, Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses.

SPECIAL OFFER
28 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $1.00, for each 35c
65 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $3.00, for each 69c

SECOND FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

Toy Tea Sets	5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Noah Arks..............	10c, 15c, 25c
Large Magnetic Toys............	20c
Drums........	5c, 10c, 20c, 50c, 75c
Iron Trains..................	25c, 50c
Tin Trains..	25c, 50c, 75c, to $3.00
Friction Toys............	50c to $1.25
Toy Trunks, brass locks..	$1.00, $1.25, 1.50

Doll Carriages, all prices.

Boy's and Girl's Sleighs, all prices.

Toy Books, Guns, Bugles, Puzzles, Building and A.B.C. Blocks, Magic Lanterns, Steam and Hot Air Engines, Mechanical Toys.

SPECIAL OFFER
20 China Dinner and Tea Sets, 97 pieces, regular $25 00, for $14.85

Both Phones 366 | ROUTLEY'S | 376 George St. Peterborough

PROBABILITIES
falls and change to colder.
Snow or rain. Friday snow

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXI., No. 149. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1910 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY COMMISSION ENDORSED; TO GOVERN BOTH SIDES

Result of Conference at Washington Between Chairman of Commerce and Railway Commissions — To Regulate Railway Rates.

Washington, Dec. 29.—As a result of conferences between Judge Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and J. F. Mabee, chief of the Railway Commission of Canada, an agreement has been reached to recommend to the Governments of the United States and Canada, the creation of an international railroad commission, which shall have supervision authority over the railway rates between the two countries.

Mr. Mabee arrived in Washington from Ottawa Tuesday night, to discuss the details of an agreement he had reached with Judge Knapp last August, and yesterday the two officials, who were designated by their respective Governments to consider the subject and make a report upon it, were in conference. Their report has not been completed, but will be in a day or two.

No details of the report are yet available, beyond the fact that it recommends the establishment of the international commission, upon which shall be conferred certain defined regulatory powers. Whether the commission is to be created by treaty between the two Governments or by joint legislation cannot be announced at this time.

For a considerable period it has been realized that the increasing traffic, both passenger and freight, between the United States and Canada, was likely to render control over rates in the future difficulty, unless some international action was taken.

The acquisition by American railroads of Canadian terminals, and by Canadian railroads of American terminals and lines, present increasing difficulties. In the existing circumstances, it is not possible to compel either railways or express companies to establish joint through routes and rates to and from points in the two countries. In other words, neither an American or a Canadian carrier may be required to furnish to a shipper a through bill of lading to any point in one country from any point in the other.

The reasonableness of the international rates, which ordinarily are a combination of the rates local to each country, can be determined only by a circuitous proceeding, instituted before the commission of both countries. No power at present exists that can require carriers engaged in international transportation to establish what may be regarded officially as reasonable, through joint rates, and to apportion those rates among the participating carriers, in the event they cannot reach an agreement among themselves.

Rushing N.T.R.

Montreal, Dec. 29.—The Macdonnell and O'Brien contracts on the Transcontinental from the City of Quebec to the Ontario boundary line, 418 miles long, are being pushed ahead. Some 227 miles of steel have been laid, and on this distance all the ballasting has been done, save fifteen miles, while the concrete and steel bridges over the Batiscan and the three crossings of the St. Maurice and the Vermilion, have all been completed. The entire length of these contracts are to be completed in 1912.

Blasting Powder Exploded.

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 29.—Five persons were killed, a score injured and an extensive property damage resulted yesterday when workmen at the plant of the American Smelter & Refining Co., endeavoring to destroy a slag pile, accidentally exploded 240 pounds of blasting powder. The explosion partially wrecked the plant and many small houses in the vicinity, while windows three miles distant were broken.

RAINBOW WILL MEET EARL GREY

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—It is intended that the cruiser Rainbow of the Canadian navy will be sent from Victoria to the mouth of the Mackenzie River to meet Earl Grey in the trip which he has planned for next summer to the Arctic.

The time of starting will likely be in June, and will be made from Edmonton, but whether the Peace River route or another will be followed to the Mackenzie River is not yet determined.

The Governor-General will be escorted by a detachment of the Northwest Mounted Police, and it is stated that the trip from Edmonton to the mouth of the Mackenzie can be covered in the space of three weeks. The sea trip by the Rainbow would be four thousand miles, and would be the farthest north that a warship has ever gone.

A. M. & M. Line.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 29.—A rumor that cannot be verified, is in circulation here to the effect that D. D. Mann has been secretly elected vice-president of the International Railway. It is understood that a Canadian syndicate, headed by Mackenzie and Mann, desire control of the International, which operates between here and Buffalo.

Gets Beauport Brewery.

Quebec, Dec. 29.—The Beer Trust has succeeded in absorbing the Beauport Brewery, which has just been put in liquidation. George Legaire has been appointed liquidator and the sale is only a question of days.

HAMAR GREENWOOD.
The Brilliant Canadian, who has been Admitted to the Asquith Cabinet.

INVESTIGATION OF WIRELESS

Washington, Dec. 29.—Demands will be made upon Congress, it is said, for an investigation of the wireless telegraph situation throughout the United States.

Letters are being sent to members asking that the matter be taken up. These letters charge that a conspiracy was set on foot to destroy the United Wireless Telegraph Co. because its present officers would not surrender $5,000,000 worth of stock. When Congress reassembles next week formal request will be made for the appointment of a committee in each branch with authority to summon witnesses and inspect the books of all wireless companies.

First Bye-Election.

London, Dec. 29.—The death of the Earl of Ancaster creates the first vacancy in the newly-elected Parliament. The fight for the seat, which will begin as soon as Lord Ancaster's funeral is over, will be watched with great interest. It is probable that Mr. Bonar Law, the defeated candidate of Manchester, may be the Unionist champion.

The King's Effigy.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—The Finance Department is awaiting the approval by King George V. of his effigy to be used on the Canadian gold coins. As soon as they are done, and the dies are forwarded, the coinage of gold will begin at the Ottawa branch of the royal mint. This will likely be next month.

BANK INSPECTION

Montreal Witness: The Witness was the pioneer in demanding either government inspection or independent audit of banks. It entered into this campaign because it took pride in our splendid banking system, and because it wished that system to be rid of all its obvious defects. In the course of its campaign it was attacked vigorously by Mr. Fyshe, ex-manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Merchants' Bank and it was attacked vitriolically by certain so-called financial journals which were inspired by bankers wishing to keep their ways dark. It is in evidence on the pages of The Witness that we made several special analyses of the statements that was furnished to the government monthly by the banks, and that we called the government's attention to the perilous position in which five of the banks were, even according to their own showing. These included the Bank of Yarmouth, the Banque St. Jean, the Banque St. Hyacinthe, and the St. Stephens' Bank, all of which have since closed their doors, and the Farmers' Bank, which is now in jeopardy. We strongly urged on the Minister of Finance the necessity of amending the Bank Act, so that independent inspection should be automatic, and so that directors should be responsible for the documents they signed. The Canadian Bankers' Association was short-sighted enough to bitterly oppose our publicity campaign, in which we were joined by Mr. McLeod of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and to assert that it was quite competent to oversee the chartered banks and to prevent them from doing anything crooked. It is not necessary to say that it has lamentably failed in doing this in half a dozen recent cases, including the Farmers' Bank. Take only one revelation in the case of the latter. It is now made public that notes were taken in payment for the stock of this bank, and that these notes figured in the statements of the bank, both as capital paid up and as current loans! If there had been government inspection, or independent audit, or any proper publicity of this one fact alone, the Farmers' Bank would not have been allowed to injure so many people as we fear now will be injured. It is curious what motherly care the government takes of insurance companies, each of which has 10,000 busy detractors throughout the country picking its published statements for flaws for the edification of would-be policyholders, while it takes none at all of the banks concerning whose condition there is nobody to warn the public.

The "Padlock" law has been signed by the King of Spain and is now law.

UNLUCKY DINNER

New York, Dec. 29.—A man and a woman are dead and two other men are seriously ill in hospitals as a result of drinking liquor said to have contained wood alcohol at a lower westside Christmas celebration on Monday night. The dead are Mrs. Maria Del Gudicia, 22 years old, and Rocco De Marco. The condition of the other two men is said to be serious.

All attended a Christmas feast for which the host had laid in a large store of wine of which the party drank freely. Soon afterward four members of the company were taken violently ill. Mrs. Gudicia died Tuesday night and De Marco early yesterday.

Children Burned to Death.

Columbus, Ohio., Dec. 29.—Little four-year-old Myrtle Sheets and her baby sister were burned to death yesterday. Their mother had gone to a nearby grocery and returning found the little bodies huddled in a heap on the kitchen floor, their clothing burned entirely away. The fire door of the coal range was open and a piece of partially burned paper gave silent testimony.

Victims Out of Danger.

Dresden, Dec. 29.—Walter Dynes, Dr. McDonald, Robt. Aiken and Chas. Aiken, the men injured by the explosion during the recent fire, are all pronounced out of danger.

Rev. George Long, who died from his injuries, was buried yesterday afternoon at two o'clock. D. V. Hick's funeral will take place this afternoon. The inquest is adjourned until next week.

Future of the Yukon.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—A. E. Snyder, superintendent of the mounted police in the Yukon, speaks glowingly of the future in store for Dawson. He says there is still a good deal of gold being shipped out.

New Boats For Allans.

London, Dec. 29.—It is stated that the Allans have entered into an arrangement with a large shipbuilding company for two new monster steamers of the fastest type.

PLANS GREAT CANAL

Toronto, Dec. 29.—A. P. Gillies, the man who appeared before the Board of Control with an army of New York financiers last summer and presented a scheme for the building of a subway terminal in Toronto, is here again with another scheme which he proposes to work in conjunction with his subway terminal idea and one, which according to Mr. Gillies, will, if, operated successfully, make Toronto the hub of the continent, double Hamilton's population, and make Ontario one of the greatest manufacturing provinces in the world. In looking for a source of power to operate the proposed subway terminal, the idea of digging a canal from Goderich to Hamilton, which would effect a fall of 200 feet between the two lakes, occurred to Mr. Gillies, and he claims he has now the backing of sufficient capital to see the scheme completed.

Early in January he will present his project to the Federal and Provincial Governments, asking their co-operation in the undertaking, which he believes is truly a national one and also to ask them to guarantee bonds for construction of the canal.

The proposed canal will be 35 feet deep and 300 feet wide and by deepening the canals on the St. Lawrence River, ocean liners will be able to sail from Chicago and Fort William direct to Liverpool, making a saving of 1,700 miles of marine transportation. The benefit the New England States have been reaping in consequence of the prosperity of the West will now be diverted to the provinces of Eastern Canada.

The scheme has been assured the backing of the financial world, including banks in Belgium and Holland. F. M. Andrews & Co. of New York, of which Charles B. Taft, brother of President Taft, is a director, will be the engineers and architects in charge.

JAPANESE PLOT UNEARTHED

Planned to Blow Up Ships it is Said — Mine Discovered at Manila — Great Excitement in Naval and Military Circles.

Manila, Dec. 29.—A Japanese plot to mine Manila harbor for the purpose of blowing up American warships at their anchorage in the event of hostilities between Japan and the United States was discovered here yesterday, according to persistent reports circulated in military circles. The reports are emphasized by the result of the organized search by the military authorities of the Japanese quarter, a quantity of high explosives having been found in one of the houses.

So serious is the situation that Maj.-Gen. Wm. P. Duvall, commanding the department, has assumed personal charge of the search. Official information is refused and every effort is being made to keep from the public the nature of the discoveries.

The authorities are understood to have secured by means of their secret service complete information of the plans of the Japanese. It is understood that the arrest of the Japanese spy on the Corregidor Island Tuesday was merely an announcement of a round-up that is to come. Leading members of the Japanese colony in Manila have been under surveillance for some time past, and in the house to house search made Tuesday which resulted in the [illegible] it is rumored that papers were found disclosing the identity of the Japanese secret agents who are operating here. These men are to be arrested. It is hinted some of them are already in custody, but because of the attitude of the authorities it is impossible to confirm this.

One report is that the Japanese have smuggled quantities of explosives into the country, their method being to land the contraband articles at obscure spots on the Luzon coast, and then to smuggle them into Manila under loads of produce.

Just how extensive the proposed plot to mine the local harbor is cannot be ascertained. One report has it that the scheme was to plant the mines close to the bottom, adjacent to the anchorages of the warships, so that in case they were wanted they could be discharged by electrical current from the shore.

There is considerable excitement in military and naval circles in connection with the latest Japanese scare, but none of the officers will talk, fearing to incur wrath of Gen. Duvall, who has warned all who are supposed to have knowledge of what is going on that a court-martial will follow any talk.

SAW THREE SCORE AND TEN OVER FORTY YEARS AGO

Death of Cezare Guyatt, a Bewdley Centenarian — Lived Under Reign of Six Sovereigns and Watched Canada Grow From an Infant Colony to an Important Dominion.

Cobourg, Dec. 28.—The funeral of Cezare Guyatt, perhaps the oldest man in Ontario, who died at Bewdley at the great age of 111 years and nine months, took place here to-day. Born in what was then called Lower Canada, Mr. Guyatt was one of a family of sixteen, one of whom is still living. The latter is the youngest of the family, and is now 86 years of age. It seems remarkable that deceased should have not lived under the reign of six Sovereigns, but should have watched the growth of a small colony to a great nation. His birth was about the time that Canada first began to take up constitutional government, when her first newspaper was inaugurated, and when Upper Canada had only about 20,000 inhabitants.

Moving with his family early in life to Ontario, he saw the wilderness give place to peaceful homesteads and the Province take a proud place in commerce, education, arts and agriculture. The funeral took place to St. Michael's cemetery here. Service at the church was conducted by Rev. Father Murray.

THE DIAMONDS STILL MISSING

Cobalt, Ont., Dec. 28.—Wm. Ormandy was this afternoon released from custody on the charge of the theft of diamonds worth $2,000 from Alex. Marks, the actor, but Jack Terry is still held. The police so far have been unable to obtain any trace of the missing gems.

Terry will be arranged to-morrow morning before Magistrate Atkinson. Marks recollects nothing of the time he was in Terry's company and can give the police no assistance.

Death of Railwaymen

James Young, an ex-engineer on the G.T.R., died last night in Toronto. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. R. Foster of this city and was well known here. He was 61 years of age.

Burial will take place in Toronto on Saturday.

DIED

YOUNG — At 115 St. Patrick Street Toronto, on Wednesday, Dec. 28, 1910, James Young.

Light earthquake shocks have been felt in different parts of California.

INSANITY GROWING

New York, Dec. 29.—At the first public meeting in the campaign for the prevention of lunacy, held in the Academy of Medicine, Dr. Albert Warren Ferris, president of the New York State Commission in Lunacy, declared that one out of every 279 persons in this state is downright insane. He said, further, that while the increase in population since 1890 had been 47.6 per cent., the increase in the number of crazy persons had been 103.9 per cent.

Taft Will Run Again.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Word has gone out definitely among close friends of President Taft that he will be an active candidate for renomination in 1912. Not only that, but steps are being taken to clear the way for Mr. Taft's renomination. The rough edges are being smoothed over where it is possible and friendships are being sought rather than enemies.

A Ticklish Proposition.

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—While visiting winter quarters of a wild animal show yesterday, John Kellert, of Knight's Landing, Cal., was told that he could make a lion yawn by tickling his chin. John tried, with the result that he is now in the hospital nursing a hand from which two fingers are missing.

Entire Family Wiped Out.

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 29.—An entire family of three persons was wiped out by asphyxiation yesterday morning. The victims were: Mrs. John Rucker, aged 60; Joseph Rucker, a son, 17 years old; Mathilda Rucker, a daughter, 20 years old.

Three Children Suffocated.

New York, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Julia Jemison returned to her home in Brooklyn late Tuesday night to find that during her absence her three children had been suffocated by smoke.

New Factory For Falls.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 29.—The Waters Garment Co. of New York will locate a Canadian factory here for manufacturing petticoats.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

To men over 100 years old died in Ontario.

The relations between President Taft and Mr. Roosevelt are said to be very friendly.

United States Steel Corporation reported to be purchasing land near Dunnville.

The output of the Scotch distilleries has decreased by over two million gallons during the past year.

Railway companies will disregard the Quebec dual language bill intended to govern the issue of all tickets, railway forms and literature.

Ten large engines for the C.N.R. are to be built at the Canadian Locomotive Works at Kingston, the contract having just been signed.

The Island of Gomera, in the Canary group, has been devastated by a terrible tornado, which cost 150 lives and wrecked scores of villages.

Mrs. Clarke, sister of Mrs. Pankhurst and a prominent British suffragette, has died after leaving prison, where, the suffragettes allege, she was harshly treated.

A cablegram to his family at Niagara Falls yesterday stated that N. B. Colcock, Ontario Trade Commissioner in London, is in a critical condition, suffering from pleuro-pneumonia. His son, Bert, has left for England.

Mount Etna in Sicily continues to emit flames and smoke, but no lava. The people, who for a time were wrought up over the possibility of a disaster, are now tranquil, and it is believed that the volcano will soon subside.

James Coburn, a well known resident of North Crosby, Ont., is alleged to have stabbed his son-in-law, a young man named Gibson, four times, after the latter had taken him home drunk. One of the wounds is within half an inch of the heart.

Contemplate Reductions.

Brockville, Dec. 29.—Under municipal management the Brockville waterworks department has closed the best year in its history. The revenue from all sources realized are $34,599.68. Of this amount $30,853.94 was collected from consumers, being an increase of $1,000 over last year. After meeting operating expenses, writing off $2,000 for depreciation in plant, giving a grant of $12,000 to the corporation for street repairs, and liquidating the debenture debt by $9,297, the statement shows a surplus of $9,771.

In the past eighteen years the net surplus was $43,349. Of this amount $35,642 was spent on extensions and improvements. The commissioners are considering a further reduction in rates to domestic consumers.

Leased Wires.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—The tariffs on leased wires have not yet been filed with the Railway Commission by the telegraph companies, but they are expected shortly, when the question will be dealt with.

Better Late Than Never.

London, Dec. 29.—James Mansell, an employe of the Hastings Corporation, has just received his medal for taking part in the storming of the Taku Forts more than fifty years ago.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

WITNESSES IN OXFORD COUNTY INQUIRY SAY THAT BUCHANAN GOT RAKE OFF

EX-PREMIER BALFOUR.
Whom Some of His Party Declare is Becoming "Bryanized."

CONNAUGHT MAY COME AFTER ALL

London, Dec. 29.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Canadian Associated Press has reason to believe that the whole question of the Duke of Connaught and the governorship of Canada is still under consideration, though no definite decision has yet been taken. When the duke arrived in London, he had received no intimation of any such change in plans as has been intimated from Ottawa. He returned to England in expectation of proceeding to Canada as soon as he can be spared after the coronation.

A Peaceful Solution.

Washington, Dec. 29.—In order to avoid hostilities, Hayti has approved the appointment of committees, representing that country and Santo Domingo, to decide the boundary dispute between the two countries. This information reached the United States War Department yesterday. It is probable, the despatch adds, that this plan will succeed, unless the troops facing each other get beyond control.

A Big Mortgage.

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—Covering properties in Minnesota, Wisconsin, New York, New Jersey the Standard Milling Co. filed with the state auditor yesterday a mortgage for $12,000,000. The mortgage covers besides the Minneapolis properties, the holdings at Buffalo, Syracuse and Lysander, N.Y., Superior, Wisconsin, and stock in many mills throughout the northwest.

Greed For Cargo.

Vancouver, Dec. 29.—That greed for cargo was responsible for the foundering of the steamer St. Denis and loss of her crew off Cape Flattery in many quarters. The little steamer took on 600 tons of coal at Comox in addition to filling her bunkers, and it is said that Chief Officer Gould made the remark that she would never reach Mexico.

TELEGRAPH WIRES ARE CRIPPLED

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Telegraph and telephone companies reported early yesterday that weather conditions threaten a serious crippling of service in the Middle West, with a possibility that Chicago may be cut off from direct communication both east and west.

A wet heavy snow storm originating in the West traveled eastward all night and interfered with the transmission of messages of nearly all trunk lines. Rain, gradually turning to snow, in Indiana, caused serious wire delay there. This necessitated the re-routing of much telegraph matter.

If the weather turns colder soon it is feared that a general prostration of wire service may result.

Printing Bureau Changes.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—Numerous changes are being made in internal arrangements at the Government Printing Bureau, and the work of officials so assigned is calculated to prevent a recurrence of charges of extravagance and dishonesty which have been established. Structural alterations will be made, so as to permit of the printing staff being under the view of the superintendent. It is understood also that employes will be put under the provisions of the act as regards the outside service.

The new superintendent, Mr. Boardman, leaves for New York and Washington on Saturday, to get pointers respecting the operation of the bureaus in those cities.

A Centenarian Dead.

Kingston, Dec. 29.—John Barton, aged 101, died yesterday. He was only ill a short time, and had the use of his faculties to the last. He was a carpenter by trade and had lived here all his life. One son, Alexander, a marine engineer, living in Toronto, survives. At ninety years the deceased was a long distance trotter, and took great delight in taking a few belongings tied in a handkerchief and going on a long tramp.

Evidence to the Effect That He Received $742.50 Fee for Putting Through Purchase of Road Making Machinery — An Agent and Manager Testify.

Woodstock, Dec. 29.—Graft poked its nose out without a veil on for the first time yesterday, in connection with the Oxford County investigation which Judge Snider is conducting. M. T. Buchanan was flatly confronted with statements that he got $742.50 from the Sawyer-Massey Co. of Hamilton for swinging the purchase of two lots of road-making machinery by the county from that company. Both Manager Edward Crawford and Alex. Calder, agent for the firm in Bright, Ont., swore to it on the witness stand.

When the latter had finished, Counsel E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., offered Buchanan the opportunity of cross-examining the witnesses.

"You've asked him enough, I think," rejoined Buchanan, doggedly, "and you have heard what he said."

"So have you," put in counsel.

"Well, you don't expect me to get him to tell anything different, do you?"

Witness was dismissed with the comment from Judge Snider, "We only want you to understand, Mr. Buchanan, that you will be treated fairly."

Explaining that he had become confused under Mr. Johnston's rapid fire examination, Robert Tate reappeared on the stand. He wanted to say that he gave the $2,007, after cashing the check for the sale of the northern gravel road, to James Mills (now deceased). Before he stated that it had been taken from him on the street by someone, and he presumed that Buchanan had got it. His memory was hazy then, but yesterday he was quite clear that he either met Mills on the street after emerging from the bank, or Mills overtook him. They went into the King Edward rotunda, and Tate handed the money to Mills.

Manager Crawford of the Sawyer-Massey Co. swore that Buchanan had called at his office in Hamilton in May, 1907, and told him that Oxford County would be buying a lot of road machinery, and, although he was not on the purchasing committee, he controlled the situation, and the dealings must be done through him.

"He said a commission of ten per cent. must be paid to him in some way or other. He laid special stress on this, saying he could easily throw the business to other companies. I referred him to Mr. Calder, our agent at Bright, but he said that made no difference, he controlled the situation," said witness.

Mr. Crawford then advised Calder to canvass and see if he could not get the business in some other way, but it seemed impossible.

The first order for rollers, witness said, went through on that basis, Buchanan getting $460. Buchanan again talked to witness concerning two more sales, and asked if it was clearly understood that he was to get the commission. Mr. Crawford replied that, if the agent had made arrangements, the firm would have to stand behind him. The sales totalled $1,275 and $1,550 respectively, and Buchanan's commission was $282.50. These items were entered on the firm's books as a bonus to Calder.

"Had you any doubt as to who that money was to be paid to?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"I understood it was for Mr. Buchanan."

Mr. Johnston then entered into a letter from Crawford to Calder, urging the agent to push the sale of a steam roller on the county if possible, and asking if the commissions he was being allowed were sufficiently attractive to his customers.

Asked for an interpretation of this, the manager admitted that it was intended for the agent to understand that his commission would be raised if necessary—"to buy the other fellow," counsel put in.

While this evidence was coming out Buchanan was absent from the court room, and when Mr. Johnston explained to him what witness had said, he appeared dazed. "No, I have no questions," he announced huskily.

Alexander Calders, the agent, told of meeting Buchanan at Paris, Ont., as instructed in Mr. Crawford's letter. He offered Buchanan six per cent., but he would not take less than 10. Later on witness paid Buchanan $460, under instructions, in the latter's driving shed.

"And did you get a receipt?"

"No, I didn't ask for one."

Mr. Calder further understood that whatever the county bought generally, whether through Buchanan or not, the latter was to get 10 per cent. On Oct. 10, 1908, witness paid him another $200, as he was pulling out of Paris on a train. Later, on a highway at Innerkip, he gave him $88.

"Then you still owe him 50 cents? You ought to pay him that," continued counsel.

Witness further was led to say that he once heard Byron McCarthy, a member of the purchasing committee, ask Buchanan to lend him $50, and saw them go aside for a few minutes. He couldn't swear as to what passed between them.

Appearing on behalf of the Sawyer-Massey Co., Lawyer K. Martin explained to the commission that, while all the firm's documents were produced at the enquiry in Hamilton on Saturday, all the facts had not been, and he had discovered that the company had been in the practice of allowing commissions of from 4 to 10 per cent. to agents.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, DEC. 29, 1910.

FARM IMPLEMENT DUTY

The farmers of the west are demanding the abolition of duties on agricultural machinery, and tools—the implements peculiar to their business, as well as a lowering of the duties on the necessities of farm life. They are paying a duty of 17 1-2 per cent. on their machinery—the lowest duty of the tariff on any great staple commodity. If the duty on such a staple commodity is lowered, why should not the artisans, the lumbermen, the miners, be entitled to decreased duties on their implements for work?

If the farmers are admitted to this preferential treatment, to "special privilege" as a class, is it not an injustice to all other workmen to maintain higher duties on their implements and on their necessities of life? If all are admitted to the "special privilege" class, what of the revenue?

Canada is a protectionist country. It could not be otherwise, and continue prosperous. It is an eminently sound and safe proposition that goods will be manufactured WHERE THEY CAN BE PRODUCED MOST ECONOMICALLY. If goods can be produced in the United States more cheaply than in Canada, that is where the manufacturer will locate, unless there is some barrier, some method of equalising the costs in the two countries. This is the primary reason for the Canadian tariff—not only as a means of revenue to the country, but to force the manufacture in Canada of all articles which can be reasonably and profitably produced here.

It is undoubtedly true that many articles equal in quality, produced both in Canada and the United States, bear a lower cost across the border. Contributing causes to this might be cheaper material—in some lines—a bigger output, a market ten times larger than we possess, specialization. With a lower cost, the United States manufacturers, put on an equal basis with Canadian manufacturers, would force the closing of the smaller Canadian industries. The tariff is the differential, the means by which Canada preserves her industrial independence and integrity!

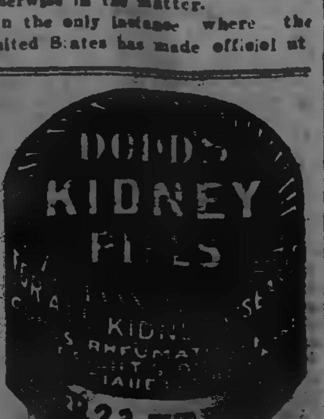
The lower the tariff the closer the precipice. We are not arguing that Canadian industries should receive more protection than is necessary to maintain Canadian industries on a reasonable profit basis. The consumer has to be considered, but inasmuch as the consumer is dependent on the country's commercial prosperity for a living, it is the best of policy for the consumer's sake to do nothing to imperil that pleasant condition.

THE OPIUM TRAFFIC

The Imperial Government of China has taken steps by which the planting transportation and use of opium will be prohibited after 1912. In conjunction with this movement the United States Government has called a conference of all powers to consider international methods for the suppression of the traffic. The only nation not responding was Austria, and its reason simply was that it had no interest commercially, or otherwise in the matter.

In the only instance where the United States has made official utterance relative to the use of opium in the Orient, it has spoken with strong voice. By a treaty made in 1880 and again in 1903, no American bottoms are allowed to carry opium in Chinese waters. The law of Japan now forbids the transportation and use of opium, except as a medicine, and according to the Philippine Opium Commission, this law is kept to the letter by a population of 47,000,000 of whom half are Chinese. New Zealand now prohibits the opium traffic, with a penalty of $2500 for each offence, and petitions bearing 200,000 signatures forced the Australian Government to prohibit the importation of opium in 1906.

The opium curse gets a strong hold on its victims, and the only way to prevent a more general addiction to the deadly curse, is for the nations to work in conjunction for its complete extinction.



A FRENCH OPINION

As an expression of French opinion on the demands of the Western farmers, LaPatrie, one of the leading Montreal papers, says—"No doubt the Federal Government desires to be agreeable to the farmers of Western Canada, but it is quite certain that they will do nothing of a nature to compromise the interests of the other sections of the Dominion.

"The Government realizes well enough that it would go to pieces if it were to sacrifice the general prosperity of the Canadian people simply to serve certain Western groups and the great American enterprises.

"'Canada for the Canadians,' and Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson can have no other device."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Ex. Secretary, Elihu Root, has rented a flat in New York for $25,000 a year. Most of us would consent to life in a New York flat for that amount.

Archbishop Begin of Quebec has put a grand Opera Company in in Montreal, under his ecclesiastical ban. The Opera Company will begin to take notice shortly.

Having burned several street cars and raised quite a rumpus over the street car strike, the people of Winnipeg are celebrating the holidays by riotous living.

It is announced that Dr. Wiley, the pure food expert, will be married in the near future. The doctor will probably be wise enough not to invade the kitchen and tell the cook how it ought to be done.

It is reported that after the shareholders of the Farmers' Bank have been called on for their double liability, the depositors will be able to get only 25 cents on the dollar. The innocent depositors will regard this as a most timely Christmas box from the banking fraternity.

The merger of the United Empire Bank with the big Union Bank, is another evidence of the handicap in which the small bank is placed in Canada. While the United Empire Bank has been conservatively and properly managed, the officials found the race too strenuous. Canada's "bank trust" will soon be an actuality.

There are many Unionists in England at the present time who are strongly favorable to the deposition of the thrice-defeated Mr. Balfour. Mr. Balfour is by long odds the most capable man in the party in England, though perhaps lacking in the ruggedness of character displayed by some of his lieutenants. It is not likely that the Unionists will be able to bring out any leader who can approach Mr. Balfour in wideness of comprehension, even though there be a sharp split on tariff reform. It will take one or two more elections to Bryanize Mr. Balfour.

PERRYTOWN

Special to the Review.

Perrytown, Dec. 28.—Mrs. A. Smith and Miss Laura Smith, of Saskatoon, are visitors with Mr. and Mrs. F. Smith.

Miss Wilma Fair, teacher at Argyle, is holidaying at home.

Misses Marguerite and Ada Corbett, of Toronto, are under the parental roof for Xmas holidays.

Mr. Tom Walsh, of Queen's College, Kingston, is also under the parental roof for the holidays.

Miss Edna Campbell, of the McDonald Institute, Guelph, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. T. Campbell.

Miss Carrie Mackie, of Port Hope, is a guest at Mrs. Fred. Wilson's.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tambtyn, of Elizabethville, spent Xmas at S. P. McMurtry's.

Mr. and Mrs. Monford Wilson and family, and Mrs. Rooney spent Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dean, Garden Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Noble and the Misses Emma and Bertha spent Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. F. Halloran Bawdley.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Noble, of Campbellcroft, spent Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. Crossland.

Mr. and Mrs. Crossland spent Monday with Mrs. Noble at Canton.

The Chinese of Java are planning the cultivation of cotton.

THE SPITBALL.

It Takes Great Strength and Speed to Pitch It Properly.

Describing the spitball in baseball and the way it is pitched, Hugh S. Fullerton in the American Magazine says:

"There came into baseball in 1903 a ball which came near revolutionizing the game and brought a new era of pitching, made great pitchers out of 'has-beens' and poor hitters out of once mighty sluggers.

"The ball is pitched with two, sometimes with three, fingers held on one side of the ball and with the thumb or tip of the thumb and nail being gripped hard against the seam at the opposite side of the sphere. The top of the ball is made slippery at the point of contact with the fingers, so that the sphere slides off the fingers with the minimum of friction, while the thumb, pressed hard against the seam, gives the maximum of friction, the result being that the ball, leaving the hand, takes heavy 'English' from the thumb and starts revolving rapidly in the direction opposite to that in which it naturally would rotate. Therefore it whirls rapidly for a short distance until the natural but suspended motion of the ball overcomes the false 'English' applied by the thumb and a contest between the natural and unnatural forces ensues. The ball ceases revolving unnaturally and floats and wabbles until the natural twist overcomes the false one, and then the ball darts just as it would have done if it had been curved naturally, shooting in the direction in which the heaviest friction was applied. A spitball if pitched directly overhand darts almost straight downward, and if pitched side arm with the thumb toward the body it shoots outward and down as a fast outcurve does, the quickness and speed of the break depending entirely upon the amount of force with which it is thrown and in ratio to the amount of friction applied by the thumb or lack of friction by the fingers. Great strength and speed are essential to the best pitching of this kind of ball."

TOMBS OF THE PHARAOHS.

The Precautions Taken to Guard Against Grave Robbers.

The ingenuity displayed by the ancient Egyptians to prevent robbers from breaking into the pharaonic graves merits admiration from present day engineers, writes Dr. Holscher, chief architect in the Prussian government, in a work on the sarcophagus of Khafra, the builder of the second Gizeh pyramid, who reigned in Egypt some 5,000 years ago.

The lid of the red granite sarcophagus was dovetailed with minute precision into the receptacle. To prevent the cover from being drawn back the Egyptian builders bored two holes in the lid at the edge, not showing above. These corresponded exactly with two similar holes, less deep than the other two, sunk in the front of the receptacle. Two copper bolts were then placed in the lid holes, and at the moment the sarcophagus was fully closed the holes met and the bolts dropped in position from the upper holes partly into the lower, thus making it impossible to move the lid.

It must have struck the Egyptian engineers that grave robbers might get at the body by turning the sarcophagus upside down, in which case the bolts would glide back into their original position and permit the lid being drawn out. To prevent this they filled the lower holes with wax and made the bolts hot. Upon the lids being placed in position the bolts melted their way into the wax and upon cooling became so firmly fixed that nothing short of complete destruction could open the royal tomb.

It must have been a herculean labor to hew the whole edge away, but that is what grave desecrators did, and the wax can still be seen in the bore holes. —New York Sun.

The "House Fly."

The reminiscent man suddenly found a gap in the conversation.

"I was in Kansas once," he began, "when one of those old time cyclones struck the town. I happened to be in my brother's house at the moment and heard the roar of the coming wind. I knew enough to run out in the street and lie down in the gutter with my arms clasped around a hitching post. The next moment the cyclone hit the town. Say, you ought to have seen the house fly."

"Did you swat it?" inquired the mean man on the soap box.

And the story promptly ended.—Denver News.

An Ancient Steam Man.

There are a host of authorities on hydraulics and mechanics that could be quoted to support the assertion that the steam engine is not a modern invention. Carpini in the account of his travels, A. D. 1286, describes a species of aeophile, or steam, engine made in the form of a man. This contrivance was filled with "inflammable liquid" (probably petroleum) and made to do terrible work in the battles between the Mongols and the troops of Prester John.

Remarkable.

"He takes a cold bath every morning —a very remarkable man!"

"Plenty of men do that."

"But I knew him for five years before he ever mentioned the fact."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Easier Way.

"Do foreigners buy many of our stocks?"

"Some. Usually, though, they prefer to acquire them by marriage."—Pittsburg Post.

A man charged with murder was shot to death by a masked mob at Hot Springs, Ark.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, Dec. 28.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ⅛d to ⅛d higher than on Saturday last; corn ⅛d to ¼d higher.

At Chicago, December wheat closed to-day ⅛c higher than yesterday; December corn, ⅛c lower, and December oats, ⅛c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

Winnipeg December wheat closed to-day ¼c higher than yesterday; December oats unchanged.

	Close Dec. 27.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
Dec.	90	....	....	....	90¼
May	94½	94¼	94⅝	94¼	94⅝
July	95½	95⅝	95⅞	95½	95⅝
Oats—
Dec.	32⅝	....	....	....	32⅝
May	36½	36¼	36¼	36⅛	36¼

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bush	$0 85 to	$0 86
Wheat, goose, bush	0 80	....
Rye, bushel	0 67	....
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 68
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 28	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Butter—Easy; receipts, 3335. Creamery, third to first, 23c to 28c; process, second to special, 20c to 25c.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 428.

Eggs—Barely steady; receipts, 10,952. State, Pennsylvania and nearby gathered white, 38c to 48c; do., hennery, brown, fancy, 40c; refrigerator, first in local storage, 23½c to 24½c; do., seconds, 22½c to 23c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Trading Slow on All Exchanges—Hogs Lower at Buffalo.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Dec. 28.—The railways reported 27 carloads of live stock at the City Market, consisting of 416 cattle, 444 hogs, 152 sheep and lambs and 17 calves.

Butchers.

Best butchers sold at $5.40 to $5.75; medium butchers, $5 to $5.30; cows, $3.25 to $5; light bulls, $4 to $4.25; export bulls, $1.40 to $4.60.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.25 to $4.60; lambs, $5.40 to $5.75.

Calves.

Veal calves sold at $3.50 to $8 per cwt.

Hogs.

Receipts light; selects, fed and watered, at $7, and $6.65 to drovers at country points for hogs, f.o.b., cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Dec. 28.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Dec. 24 were 1250 cattle, 950 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs and 75 calves. The offerings on the market this morning consisted of 300 cattle, 500 sheep and lambs, 300 hogs and 25 calves. There was a good demand for cattle, and, as supplies were small, a firm feeling prevailed in the market, and prices show no important change. The few choice steers met with a ready sale at 6c to 6¼c; good at 5½c to 5¾c; fair at 5c to 5¼c, and common at 4c to 4¾c per lb. The trade in small meats was fairly active, and prices ruled firm. Sheep sold at 4½c to 5c; lambs at 6½c to 6¾c per lb. The market for hogs was strong, owing to the limited offerings, and the good demand for the same from packers, and sales of selected lots were made at $7.50 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

At the Canadian Pacific live stock market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Dec. 24 were 1400 cattle, 1100 sheep and lambs, 1385 hogs and 250 calves, for local consumption, and 100 cattle for export account. The supply of live stock on the market this morning was 500 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 700 hogs and 100 calves.

A fairly good trade was done in cattle; but, as there were no choice stock on the market, the top price realized was 5¾c for the best, and from that down to 4½c for the lower grades of steers. Cows brought from 3c to 4½c, and bulls from 3c to 4c per lb. The demand for sheep was good at 4c to 4½c, and lambs brought from 6¼c to 6½c per lb.

Calves were in good demand, at from $3 to $10 each. The market for hogs was active and strong, with sales at $7.25 to $7.40 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 28.—Cattle—Receipts, 50 head; slow and steady.

Veals—Receipts, 125 head, active and strong, $5.75 to $10.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 3200 head; fairly active, 5c to 15c lower; heavy, $8.15 to $8.20; mixed, $8.20 to $8.25; yorkers, $8.20 to $8.30; pigs, $8.25 to $8.35; roughs, $7.20 to $7.40; stags, $5.75 to $6.25; dairies, $8 to $8.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5000 head; active and steady; heavy lambs, slow, $6 to $6.75; handy lambs, $5 to $6.90; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.25; wethers, $4 to $4.15; ewes, $3.50 to $3.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Beeves—Receipts 1950; steers, slow to 10c lower; bulls steady; cows, generally steady; steers, $5.25 to $6.65; bulls, $4 to $5; cows, $2.25 to $4.25; dressed beef, dull, at 8c to 10½c per pound.

Calves—Receipts, 1000; market quiet, but about steady; veals, $6.50 to $10.50; culls $5 to $6; barnyard calves, $3.50 to $4.50; westerns, $4.50 to $4.62½; dressed calves slow; city dressed veals, 11c to 16c; country dressed calves, 8c to 10c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4120; quiet but steady; handy lambs, firm; sheep, $2.50 to $4.25; culls, $2 to $2.25; lambs, $5.75 to $7; culls, $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 7800; market, strong at $8.15 to $8.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Cattle—Receipts, 18,000; market weak; beeves, $4.65 to $7.20; Texas steers, $4.20 to $5.35; western steers, $4 to $5.90; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.10 to $6.35; calves, $7.25 to $9.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 14,000; market, 5c to 10c lower than early; light, $7.65 to $7.90; mixed, $7.60 to $7.90; heavy, $7.55 to $7.90; roughs, $7.55 to $7.70; good to choice heavy, $7.70 to $7.90; pigs, $7.25 to $8.05; bulk of sales, $7.75 to $7.85.

Sheep—Receipts, 15,000; market, strong; native, $2.50 to $4.25; western, $2.75 to $4.20; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.80; lambs, native, $4.25 to $6.50; western, $4.75 to $6.50.

Unauthorized Autopsy.

New York, Dec. 29.—Eight thousand dollars damages for performing an unauthorized autopsy on the body of Mrs. Jane Allen Boyd has been awarded the woman's children, by a Supreme Court jury in the borough of Queens.

For Trip Over Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 29.—Bobby Leach has received a letter from Chas. Duggan of Halifax, offering him the use of an iron life boat, invented by him, for a trip over the falls.

Morris Siney saved 40 guests at a party in Philadelphia from death by fire.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, maids, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 35c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 35 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

ON TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27th, GOLD necklace set with pearls, between Fair's and Hall's stores on George St. Liberal reward for return to Review Office 3d

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF. on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

LOST

LOST ON TUESDAY, 20th inst. BETWEEN St. Luke's Rectory, Ashburnham and Auburn the sum of $85 contained in a small linen bag. The denominations are $10 Bank of Montreal notes and a $5 bill of United Empire Bank. The finder will be rewarded on leaving same at this office 3d

Wanted

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital, dtf

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 711 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL
If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street. Opposite Opera House

EAST CITY COAL And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED
163 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
124 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 362

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships

ST. JOHN, N.B. and HALIFAX, N.S.

Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian........................ Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland ....Feb. 10, Mar. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

HOLIDAY RATES

BETWEEN ALL STATIONS IN CANADA

at Single Fare

Good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD

Good going daily until January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid returning until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911.

Full particulars and tickets from—
W. BUNTON, CITY AGENT. F. SANDY, DEPOT AGENT

CANADIAN PACIFIC

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR'S RATES

Single Fare

Going Dec. 24, 25 and 26th. Return limit December 27th.

Also going Dec. 31st, 1910; Jan. 1st and 2nd, 1911. Return limit Jan. 3rd, 1911.

Fare and One-third

Good going Dec 21st, 1910, to Monday Jan. 2nd, 1911, inclusive. Good returning until January 4th, 1911.

For territory, rates and tickets see—
W. McIlroy, Agent — Peterboro

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT of the Canadian Northern Ry. System is prepared to obtain

FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

COAL
THAT IS COAL

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON

Hardwood

First-Class. - - - Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

ORDER NOW
The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co
248 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London.
"Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 861, mach. 825
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S., Edinb.; M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 463—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
ROBT. RUDDY, K.C. J. H. BURNHAM, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro
Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 415 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. MONEY TO LOAN.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. MONEY TO LOAN at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL, City Solicitor.
LOUIS M. HAYES, K.C. BASIL D. HALL

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD W. S. DAVIDSON

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. BENNET E. L. GOODWILL

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
— on —
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS, Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

TORONTO SAVINGS & Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending 31st December at the rate of Eight per cent (8%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after January 3rd, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st day of December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Dec. 2nd, 1910.

AUCTIONEER
James E. Cope
Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

They had reached their destination—the mouth of a deep creek, up which Cherry turned her dogs. Emerson leaped from the sled and, running forward, seized the leader, guiding it into a clump of spruce, among the boles of which he tangled the harness, for this team was like a pack of wolves, ravenous for travel and intolerant of the leash.

Together they ascended the bank and surveyed the surroundings, Cherry expatiating upon every feature with the fervor of a land agent bent on weaving his spell about a prospective buyer. And in truth she had chosen well, for the conditions seemed ideal.

"I've watched you, and I know you are down on your luck for some reason," the girl said. "You've been miscast somehow, and you've had the heart taken out of you, but I'm sure it's in you to succeed, for you're young and intelligent, cool and determined. I am giving you this chance to play the biggest game of your life and erase in eight short months every trace of failure. I'm not doing it altogether unselfishly, for I believe you've been sent to Kalvik to work out your own salvation and mine and that of poor George Balt, whom you've never seen. You're going to do this thing, and you're going to make it win."

Emerson reached out impulsively and caught her tiny, mittened hand. His eyes were shining; his face had lost the settled look of dejection and was all aglow with a new dawn of hope. Even his shoulders were lifted and thrown back as if from some sudden access of vigor that lightened his burden.

"You're right!" he said firmly. "We'll send for Balt tonight."

In the days that followed Cherry was at Boyd's elbow constantly, aiding him at every turn in his zeal to acquire a knowledge of the cannery system. The odd conviction grew upon her that he was working against time, that there was a limit to his period of action, for he seemed obsessed by an ever growing passion to accomplish some end within a given time and had no thought for anything beyond the engrossing issue into which he had plunged. She was dumfounded by his sudden transformation and delighted at first, but later, when she saw that he regarded her only as a means to an end, his cool assumption of leadership piqued her and she felt hurt.

Constantine had been sent for Balt with instructions to keep on until he found the fisherman even if the quest carried him over the range. During the days of impatient waiting they occupied their time largely in reconnoitering the nearest cannery, permission to go over which Cherry had secured from the watchman, who was indebted to her. The man was timid at first, but Emerson won him over, then proceeded to pump him dry of information, as he had done with his hostess.

Fraser looked on in bewilderment at the change in Emerson.

"What have you done to 'Frozen Annie'?" he asked Cherry on one occasion. "You must have fed him a speed ball, for I never saw a guy gear up so fast. Why, he was the darndest crape hanger I ever met till you got him gingered up. He didn't have no more spirit than a sick kitten."

Fraser then eyed the girl keenly.

"This is a lonely place for a woman like you," he said, "and our mutual friend ain't altogether unattractive, eh?"

Cherry's cheeks flamed, but her tone was icy. "This is entirely a business matter."

"Hm-m! I ain't never heard you touted none as a business woman," said the adventurer.

"Have you ever heard me"—the color faded from the girl's face, and it was a trifle drawn—"discussed in any way?"

"You know, Emerson makes me uncomfortable sometimes, he is so d——d moral," Fraser replied indirectly. "He won't stand for anything off color. He's a real square guy, he is, the kind you read about."

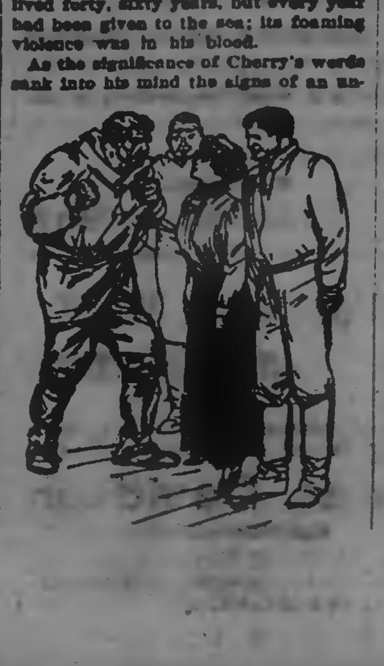
"You didn't answer my question," insisted Cherry.

Again Fraser evaded the issue. "Now, if this Marsh is going after you in earnest this summer why don't you let me stick around until spring and lookout your game? I'll drop a monkey wrench in his gear case or put a spider in his dumpling, and it's more than an even shot that if him and I got to know each other right well I'd own his cannery before fall."

"Thank you; I can take care of myself," said the girl.

Late one stormy night—Constantine had been gone a week—the two men whom they were expecting blew in through the blinding smother. Balt refused rest or nourishment until he had learned why Cherry had sent for him. As briefly as possible she outlined the situation. Boyd Emerson saw a huge, barrel chested creature whose tremendous muscles bulged beneath his nondescript garments, whose red, upstanding bristle of hair topped a leather countenance from which gleamed a pair of the most violent eyes Emerson had ever beheld, the dominant expression of which was rage. His voice was hoarse with the echo of drumming ratlines. He might have lived forty, sixty years, but every year had been given to the sea; its foaming violence was in his blood.

As the significance of Cherry's words sank into his mind the signs of an unholy joy overspread the fisherman's visage, and his hairy paws continued to open and close hungrily.



"Do you mean business?" he bellowed at Emerson. "Can you fight?"

"Yes."

"This gang won't stop at anything," warned Balt.

"Neither will I," affirmed the other, with a scowl and a dangerous down drawing of his lip corners. "I've got to win, so don't waste any time wondering how far I'll go. What I want to know is if you will join my enterprise."

"I'll give my life to it."

"I knew you would," flashed Cherry.

"And if we don't beat Willis Marsh, by glory, I'll kill him!" Balt shouted, fully capable of carrying out his threat, for his bloodshot eyes were lit with bitter hatred. Turning to the girl, he said:

"Now give me something to eat. I've been living on dogfish till my belly is full of bones."

Long after Cherry had gone to bed she heard the murmur of their voices.

"It's all arranged," they advised her at the breakfast table. "We leave tomorrow."

"Tomorrow?" she echoed blankly.

"We start in the morning. We have no time to waste."

She felt a sudden dread at her heart. What if they failed and did not return? What if some untoward peril should overtake them on the outward trip? It was a hazardous journey, and George Balt was the most reckless man on the Bering coast. Emerson's next words added to her alarm:

"We'll catch the mail boat at Katmai."

"Katmai!" she broke in sharply. "You said you were going by the Iliamna route." She turned on Balt angrily. "You know better than to suggest such a thing."

"I didn't suggest it," said Balt. "It's Mr. Emerson's own idea; he insists."

"I shall be dreadfully worried until I know you are safely over," said the girl, a new note of wistful tenderness in her voice.

"Nonsense! We've all taken bigger risks before."

"Do you know," she began hesitatingly, "I've been thinking that perhaps you'd better not take up this enterprise after all."

"Why not?" he asked, with an incredulous stare. "I thought you were enthusiastic on the subject."

"I am. I believe in the proposition thoroughly," Cherry limped on, "but—well, I was entirely selfish in getting you started, for it possibly means my own salvation, but"—

"It's my last chance also," Boyd broke in.

"A few days ago you were a stranger; now you are a friend," she said steadily. "One's likes and dislikes grow rapidly when they are not choked by convention. I like you too well to see you do this. You are too good a man to become the prey of those people. Remember George Balt."

"Balt hasn't started yet. For the first time he is a real menace to Willis Marsh."

"Won't you take my advice and reconsider?" urged the girl.

"Listen," said the young man. "I came to this country with a definite purpose in mind, and I had three years in which to work it out. I needed money—God, how I needed money! They may talk about the emptiness of riches and tell you that men labor not for the 'kill,' but for the pursuit; not for the score, but for the contest. Maybe some of them do, but with me it was gold I needed, gold I had to have, and I didn't care much how I got it so long as I got it honestly. I focused every power upon my desire, but a curse was on me—a curse, nothing less. At first I took misfortune philosophically, but when it came and slept with me I began to rage at it. It was terrifying because my time was shortening, and the last day of grace was rushing toward me.

"Just to show you what luck I played in, at Dawson I found a prospect that would have made most men rich, and, although such a thing had never happened in that locality before, it pinched out. I tried again and again, and finally found another mine, only to be robbed of it by the Canadian laws in such a manner that there was not the faintest hope of my ever recovering the property. I finally shifted from mining to other ventures, and the town burned. I awoke in a midnight blizzard to see my chance for a fortune licked up by flames, while the hiss of the water from the firemen's hose seemed directed at me, and the voice of the crowd sounded like jeers.

"I was among the first at Nome and staked alongside the discoverers who undertook to put me in right for once; but, although the fellows around me made fortunes in a day, my ground was barren and my bedrock swept clean by that unseen hand which I always felt, but could never avoid. Once a broken snowshoe in a race to the recorder's office lost me a fortune; at another time a corrupt judge plunged me from certainty to despair, and all the while my time was growing shorter and I was growing poorer.

"Two hours after the Topkuk strike was made I drove past the shaft, but the one partner known to me had gone to the cabin to build a fire and the other one lied to me, thinking I was a stranger. I heard afterward that just as I drove away my friend came to the door and called after me, but the day was bitter, and my ears were muffled with fur, while the dry snow beneath the runners shrieked so that it drowned his cries. He chased me for half a mile to make me rich, but the hand of fate lashed my dogs faster and faster, while that hellish screeching outdinned his voice. Six hours later Topkuk was history. You've seen stampedes—you understand.

"My name became a byword and caused people to laugh, though they shrank from me, for miners and sailors are equally superstitious. No man ever had more opportunities than I, and no man was ever so miserably unfortunate in missing them. In time I became whipped, utterly without hope. Yet almost from habit I fought on and on with my ears deaf to the voices that mocked me.

"And something tells me that I have left that ill omened thing behind at last, and I am going to win!"

"But you're too late," suggested Cherry. "You say your time was up some time ago."

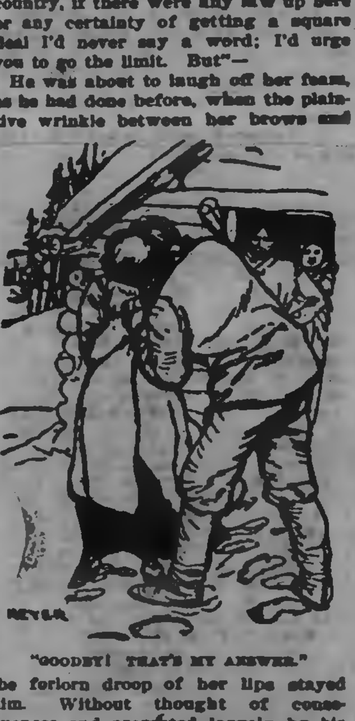
"Perhaps," he returned, staring into the distances. "That's what I was going out to ascertain. I thought I might have a few days of grace allowed me. That's why I can't quit, now that you've set me in motion again, now that you've given me another chance. That's why we leave tomorrow and go by way of the Katmai pass."

CHAPTER IV.

During the evening Emerson left the two other men in the store, and, seeking Cherry out in the little parlor, asked her to play for him. Again the blending of their voices brought them closer, his aloofness wore off, and he became an agreeable, accomplished companion whose merry wit and boyish sympathy stirred emotions in the girl that threatened her peace of mind. It was their last hour together before embarking on his perilous journey in search of the golden fleece, and his starved affections clamored for sympathy, while the iron in his blood felt the magnetic propinquity of sex. For her part, she lay awake far into the morning hours, now blissfully floating on the current of half formed desires, now vaguely fearing some dread that clutched her.

The goodbys were brief and commonplace. There was time for nothing more, for the dogs were straining to be off and the December air bit fiercely. But Cherry called Emerson aside and in a rather tremulous voice begged him again to consider well this enterprise before finally committing himself to it. "If this were any other country, if there were any law up here or any certainty of getting a square deal I'd never say a word; I'd urge you to go the limit. But"—

He was about to laugh off her fears, as he had done before, when the plaintive wrinkle between her brows and the forlorn droop of her lips stayed him. Without thought of consequences and prompted largely by his leaping spirits, he stooped and, before she could divine his purpose, kissed her.



"GOODBY! THAT'S MY ANSWER."

"Goodby," he laughed, with dancing eyes. "That's my answer!" And the next second he was at the sled. The dogs leaped at his shout, and the cavalcade was in motion.

But the girl stood without sound or gesture, bareheaded under the wintry sky, a startled, wondering light in her eyes which did not fade until the men were lost to view far up the river trail. Then she breathed deeply and turned into the house, oblivious to Constantine and the young squaw, who held the sick baby up for her inspection.

The hazards of winter travel in the north are manifold at best, but the country which Emerson and his companions had to traverse was particularly perilous owing to the fact that their course led them over the backbone of the great Alaskan range, that desolate, skyscraping rampart which interposes itself between the hate of the arctic seas and the tossing wilderness of the north Pacific.

A week of hard travel found the party camped in the last fringe of cottonwood that fronted the glacial slopes, their number augmented now by a native from a Russian village with an unpronounceable name, who, at the price of an extortionate bribe, had agreed to pilot them through. For three days they lay idle, the taut walls of their tent thrumming to an incessant fusillade of ice particles that whirled down ahead of the blast, while Emerson fumed to be gone.

The fourth morning broke still and quiet, but after a careful scrutiny of the peaks the Indian shook his head and spoke to Balt, who nodded in agreement.

"What's the matter?" growled Emerson. "Why don't we get under way?" But the other replied:

"Not today. Them tips are smoking, see!" He indicated certain gauzy streamers that floated like vapor from the highest pinnacles. "That's snow, dry snow, and it shows that the wind is blowing up there. We dassent tackle it."

"Do you mean we must lie here waiting for an absolutely calm day?"

"Exactly."

"Why, it may be a week!"

"It may be two of them; then, again, it may be all right tomorrow."

"Nonsense! That breeze won't hurt anybody."

"Breeze!" Balt laughed. "It's more like a tornado up yonder. No, we've just got to take it easy till the right moment comes and then make a dash. It's thirty miles to the nearest stick of timber, and once you get into the pass you can't stop till you're through."

The next dawn showed the mountain peaks limned like clean cut ivory against the steel blue sky, and as they crept up through the defiles the air was so motionless that the smoke of their pipes hung about their heads, while the creak of their soles upon the dry surface of the snow robbed echoes from the walls on either side. At first their progress was rapid, but in time the drifts grew deeper and they came to bluffs where they were forced to notch footholds, unpack their load and relay it to the top, then free the dogs and haul the sled up with a rope hand over hand.

It was early in the afternoon when the Indian stopped and began testing the air.

"Feels like wind," said Balt, with a shake of his head. The native began to chatter excitedly, and as they stood there a chill draft fanned their cheeks. Little wisps of snow vapor began to dance upon the ridges, whisking out of sight as suddenly as they appeared. They became conscious of a sudden fall in the temperature and they knew that the cold of interstellar space dwelt in that ghostly breath which smote them. Before they were well aware of the ominous significance of these signs the storm was upon them, sweeping through the chute wherein they stood with rapidly increasing violence. The terrible unseen hand of the frozen north had unleashed its brood of furies, and the air rang with their hideous cries.

There was no question of facing the wind, for it was more cruel than the fierce breath of an open furnace searing the flesh like a flame.

All the morning the air had hung in perfect poise, but some change of temperature away out over one of the rival oceans had upset the aerostatic balance, and the wind tore through this gap like the torrent below a broken reservoir.

Balt came close to Emerson and bellowed into his ear:

"What shall we do? Roll up in the bedding or run for it?"

"How far is it to timber?"

"Twelve or fifteen miles."

"Let's run for it! We're out of grub, anyhow, and this may last for days."

There was no use of trying to secure additional clothing from the supply in the sled, so they abandoned their outfit and allowed themselves to be driven ahead of the storm, trusting to the native's sense of direction and keeping close together. The dogs were already well drifted over and refused to stir.

Once they had gone a stone's throw from the sled there was no turning back, and, although the wind was behind them, progress was difficult, for they came upon chasms which they had to avoid; they crossed slippery slopes where the storm had bared the hard crust and which their feet refused to grip. In such places they had to creep on hands and knees, calling to one another for guidance. They were numbed, blinded, choked by the rage of the blizzard; their faces grew stiff and their lungs froze. At times they fell and were skidded along ahead of the blasts. This forced them to crawl back again, for they dared not lose their course.

To be continued.

He Planted a Barn.

Perhaps the most remarkable barn in the world is owned by Harold Mackubbic, a farmer at Lloydminister, Saskatchewan, in Canada's northwest. When building the structure several years ago he was short of money and timber was scarce. He used green willow for the corner posts and sides, setting them into the ground in a vertical position.

The following season he found that the posts had roots and were growing rapidly. That fall the floor of the barn, which before had been on the ground, was three feet above the ground level. A year ago the barn was on stilts nine feet high, and the owner put another story underneath, making the original one-story barn a two-story structure.

The lower floor is now two feet from the ground, the willows are growing rapidly, and the farmer looks forward to the time when he can put in a third story, when, so he says, he will convert the structure from a barn into a dwelling and live in it.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good
See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

LESS THAN IN CIDER

REGAL LAGER nourishes. It is the same brew that built the German race into a sturdy people. With less alcohol than cider, sparkling and clear, it helps digestion and nerves as nothing but pure lager made the old Munich way can. It is the lightest and most tonic of table beverages—and pure.

For Sale by all Liquor Dealers and Leading Hotels

705

Regal
HAMILTON BREWING ASSOCIATION Ltd. HAMILTON, CANADA
WHOLESALE ORDERS
Phone 439, Hamilton;
Main 381, Toronto; 4368, Ottawa.

Chess in Ancient Ceylon.

In ancient Ceylon the game of chess was played with local variations peculiar enough to note. The king may not castle, but he is permitted to jump like a knight till checked. The pawns are exchangeable on the last row for the pieces on whose row they stand.

Though the world may owe every man a living, only the persistent collector gets it.

Every member of the Peewitt Scouts should be at the Armouries tonight at eight o'clock.

Wood's Phosphodine,
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

Get . . .
the Latest
We supply the correct things in
WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY
The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.
Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

FANCY GOODS
AT BARGAIN PRICES
All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.
MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST PHONE 226

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices.
J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING
Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, in their stores.
Contracts taken. We call for and deliver
TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 357

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities
Cold Storage
In Full Operation
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

THE Season's Greetings
TO ALL
Our Patrons and Friends
We thank you for your patronage and goodwill during 1910, and hope we will be able to merit a continuance of the same during the year 1911. We wish you all a happy and prosperous New Year.
E. B. CLEGG & Co.
FURNITURE

The One Best Holiday Gift

And the one that brings the most grateful recollections of the giver, is to be found in the Nugent Drug Co's assortment of Perfumes.

Our window display is our best ad. It will pay you you to give us a call. Our assortment is composed of the latest odors in dainty boxes, Prices from 25c to $4.00.

SOMETHING FOR MOTHER

One of our Gold Automatic Eyeglass Chains at $2.00 (initials engraved free).

SOMETHING FOR SISTER

A nice "Lemaire" Opera Glass, $5 to $10

Something that every elderly person appreciates at this season is a nice pair of

GOLD SPECTACLES or EYEGLASSES

Lenses can be fitted after Christmas.
Initials in gold on the case Free.
Prices from $2.50 to $6.50.

Everything we Sell is Guaranteed

NUGENT DRUG Co.

A. J. Johnston, Chemist. A. A. Fowler, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on WateSt, and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters

Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.
New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 Water-St. Phone No. 596

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles —in— Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week.

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

523 George-st. Near McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers

Prices only 5c & 10c
TWO SHOWS NIGHTLY

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!

GEO. GRANT
The Comedy Select Wire Artist

GEO. W. DAVIS
in his great Character Singing and Talking Act.
The Finest and Largest Moving Pictures in the City
First Class Orchestra

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Don't forget the Grand Opera House, Thursday and Friday. All new pictures and new vaudeville.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

Lansdowne Lodge Meeting

Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England will hold their meeting to-night in the S. O. E. Hall instead of on Jan. 2nd, New Year's Day.

Box of Candies Free

A box of candies for the children given free this week with every $1 purchase. Walter M. Roebuck, Water and Smith streets.

Police Court

It was a clean sheet at the police court this morning.

Two local vags who were sent to the hill for a week come up to-morrow.

Missionary Graduates to Speak

At the regular weekly prayer meeting in Bethany Tabernacle to-night, several graduates and students of the Nyack Missionary Training Institute, who are in the city for the Christmas holidays, will speak.

All our Calendar Pads at one cent each, any size. Review Office.

W. C. T. U. Meeting Friday

The December meeting of the W.C.T.U. To be held this Friday at the Y.W.C.A. is to be of a social character for the reception of new members and reunion of others who are unable to attend regularly. Mrs. Britton, Provincial Treasurer, and a sister of Mrs (Dr.) Scott, will be present.

You can be comfortable and stylish too—

Get away from the old idea that negligee garments do not need to be stylish and form-fitting. You can get style and fit as well as comfort and restfulness in

Galtfleece EIDERDOWN

Garments for Women

Each garment is cut to pattern and carefully made. There is a perfect fit for you—

These Galt-Fleece Eiderdown House Gowns, Bath Robes and Dressing Squares, are on sale at Adam's Store for Women. Colors:—grey, cardinal, mauve, sky; nicely trimmed with satin, silk braid, and frog fasteners.

House Gowns at $5.00, $6.00, $6.50
Dressing Saques at $2.00, $2.50, $3.00
Girls House Gowns at $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4
For girls from 6 to 16 years.

HARRY ADAMS

PRESENTATION TO POPULAR YOUNG LADY

A complete surprise was sprung on Miss Olive Allison last evening at her home, 887 Water street, when she was presented with a handsome silver-mounted parasol on behalf of the teachers and officers of Grace Church Sunday school.

Miss Allison, who is soon to leave the city, has been a faithful teacher and also the organist of the church, and the members felt that they must show in some slight manner that her presence will be much missed.

Accordingly a number of them gathered last night at her residence. Mr J. J. Hartley, the superintendent of the school, paid a strong tribute to the earnest work of Miss Allison. He spoke very feelingly, and assured her that while her departure will be severely felt, still they hoped for her an enjoyable and useful stay in the place to which she was going.

Miss Gertie Hartley then made the presentation.

Miss Allison although greatly surprised managed to thank the company in a few suitable words, and assured them that many pleasant memories would always linger around the associations contracted in Peterborough.

Miss Allison has been connected with the mantle department of Richard Hall & Sons for some years, and was very popular among the employees. She also belonged to the Madrigal Club of the Conservatory of Music.

LAID AT REST

The funeral of the late William P. Robinson took place yesterday afternoon from the late residence, 318 King street, to Little Lake cemetery, Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox church, conducting the service at the home and grave.

The obsequies were attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances of the deceased, he having been well known and highly esteemed. Many beautiful floral tributes were sent. The late Mr. Robinson was a Mason, Canadian Forester and a member of the Black Knights preceptory. He was born in this city forty-seven years ago, and for fifteen years was a foreman with the Dickson Co. Before his illness he was with the Victoria Lumber Company. He is survived by his mother, a widow, one brother and eight sisters. The brother is Thomas Robinson, of this city, and the sisters are Mrs. George Grange, Mrs. Thos. Foster, Mrs. Walter Milburn and Misses Margaret and Katharine, city; Mrs. H. R. Saunders, Cobourg; Miss Elizabeth Robinson, Buffalo, and Miss Lettie Robinson, of Hespeler.

EXTRA SPECIAL FO THE HOLIDAYS

Florida pineapples, tangerines, fancy California cauliflowers, California celery, hothouse tomatoes, mushrooms, fancy red apples, sweet potatoes, fancy, blue point shell oysters in kegs of 100 oysters, fresh boiled lobsters. Also fancy Malaga grapes, table raisins and high grade chocolates. All goods the very best we can buy. Leave order early and secure better attention.

W. J. OKE, 376 George St.
Telephone 18.

ENJOYABLE DANCE LAST EVENING

The Gentlemen's Club of Peterboro gave a very brilliant dance last evening in the Conservatory of Music Hall. There were nearly two hundred present and the affair did not dismiss till about two thirty. The Conservatory as usual was very prettily decorated for the occasion and the usual high standard of music was furnished by Fralick's Orchestra of six pieces from Toronto.

About twelve o'clock, refreshments were served after which the dancing was resumed.

The affair was a decided success from every standpoint and the committee are to be congratulated.

The names of the committee are: Ross Cameron, secretary; Richard Davidson, Walter Davidson, Sidney Rush, J. C. Wainwright, Keith Leech, James Hamilton, and John Crane.

THE CANADIAN LADY

For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

A GREAT STORY

Rex Beach is at His Best in "The Silver Horde" Now Appearing in the Review

"The Silver Horde," and "The Spoilers" are the best stories Rex Beach ever wrote. "The Silver Horde" is now running in the Review. The first installment appeared on Tuesday. Don't miss a single chapter. It's immense.

Special Notice

To all whom it may concern.

As there are several parties still owing accounts to us, we will thank them to kindly call and settle or remit at once, so that we may close our books at end of year.

Wishing all a prosperous New Year,

We are,
Respectfully yours,
J. J. TURNER & SON.

"Brug," a genuine German police dog, has been installed as a patrol in Providence, R. I.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

THE CANDIDATES.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—We have in the field four candidates for election in the East City Ward. Of these I wish particularly to urge the claims of Alderman Morgan. He deserves re-election because he has given us five years of good honest service, and will continue to do so.

It is better for us, so long as we have confidence in our men, to keep the experienced men in the council, as by so doing they are familiar with affairs. The new man, be he ever so good and able, has to learn. Alderman Morgan has our confidence. His election for five successive years says so. Why hesitate to send him on for a sixth.

By all means give him a good support. Trusting it may be the case, I am

Yours respectfully,
ACROSS THE RIVER.
Peterborough, Dec. 29, 1911.

WICKET NEEDED

To The Editor of The Review.

Peterborough, Dec. 29.

Sir: Couldn't something be done to relieve the jam at the post office during the busy holiday season? One stamp wicket is inadequate to give proper service when the crowd amounts to a congestion.

The question is not a small one. The supplying of another wicket would result in the saving of much time and would be a convenience that the public would appreciate.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

THE LABERGE CASE

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—The following editorial from the Montreal Witness Friday, December 23, will interest those readers who are Freemasons. The Witness being on the ground ought to be a good judge—

"Alderman Emard, seconded by Alderman Bastien, moved in the City Council yesterday that Dr Laberge's name be struck from the list of city employees. The motion actually carried but as a two-thirds majority is necessary, and that was not obtained, Dr. Laberge remains, for the present at least, in his position. A motion was finally carried recommending the Controllers to drop Dr Laberge's name from the list of employees, so that it is now 'up to them.' The grounds taken for the attempted dismissal of the medical officer of health are that he is a Freemason. It may appear odd that a City Council should try to interfere in such a matter as this; but a City Council so pious as to censure a Mayor of Rome for something that he said concerning Vatican rule will rise to any height of piety. Would that its loyalty to the interests committed to its keeping could keep pace with its piety. Would that, besides minding people's religious opinions, which do not come within its function, it would occasionally find time to do something for the city. Dr. Laberge is persecuted because he is regarded as an enemy of the Church. Dissidents from the ecclesiastical order are rapidly multiplied by persecution now as in the days of the Apostles. Alderman Robinson told his fellow-members they spent the whole of the afternoon in endeavoring to interfere with the Board of Control, and in passing a motion which simply disgraces them. It was plain-speaking, but it was richly deserved. But as Mr Wanklyn said all the Council fortunately are not 'children'; and Mr. Wanklyn further told the Council that so far as the Controllers are concerned 'We will never dismiss a man for such a reason as given here.'"

Watchnight Service

A watchnight service will be held on Saturday night from 10 to 11 o'clock at the Salvation Army barracks.

Your Vote and Influence Are Respectfully Requested for

J. T. O'CONNELL

As Alderman for Ward Five

Have your municipal Business done on practical business methods.

Your Vote and Influence in favor of re-election — of —

W. H. BRADBURN

is respectfully solicited as one of the representatives from the

Centre Ward

in the City Council

For Water Commissioner

Your vote and influence respectfully solicited for

WILLIAM LANGFORD

For Water Commissioner.

To the Electors

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Having served during the past nine years as a Water Commissioner with that attention to duties which has, I hope, been of help to my co-commissioners, and of some service to the city, I am desirous of continuing for another term, for what I believe will be considered as a fairly sufficient reason.

The ratepayers are aware that the Commissioners have had during the past two years under construction for the city a new waterworks dam and pumping station, which with the additional pumping power now supplied will, I am sure, prove one of the most effective systems in Ontario. The contracts heve not yet all been completed for these works, nor settlements made, nor has all fear of difficulties with contractors passed. My co-commissioners are anxious that I should continue on the Board, for they think that I would be of assistance in these matters from my necessarily intimate knowledge of circumstances surrounding these contracts.

I am inclined to think the ratepayers will approve of my course in presenting myself, in view of what I have said, and therefore with some degree of confidence most respectfully ask for their support.

W. H. HILL

Peterborough, Dec. 29th, 1910.

Found the Gold Piece

Mrs. C. J. Snyder, 51 McDonnel street, found the five dollar gold piece, in her purchase of the 430 pound Christmas cake at Coleman's.

5th WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having had the honor of being nominated for Alderman for No. Five Ward, and not having time to make a personal canvas, I take this manner of soliciting your vote and influence.

If elected I will give support to every good, clean movement for the benefit of our city.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours respectfully,
R. F. SEDGWICK

WARD NO. ONE

VOTE FOR

WILLIAM H. BULLER

The People's Candidate for election as

ALDERMAN

for the South Ward

Ward No. Five

VOTE FOR

J. C. ANDERSON

A life-long resident of the East Ward

Many important questions will arise during 1911, and these questions will receive my most careful consideration if I am favored with your support.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours, etc.,
J. C. ANDERSON.

— For —

BOARD OF EDUCATION

I respectfully ask your approval of my candidature, and trust to be re-elected as a member of the Board of Education.

ROBERT FAIR.

For East City

Your Vote and Assistance for

HARRY MORGAN

— for —

Alderman

FIVE YEARS — Make It Six

Centre Ward

To the Electors

Vote to Re-elect

J. R. Metheral

Who believes in practical economy with efficiency, and submitting the question of exemptions to the electors.

FOR ALDERMAN North Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been nominated a candidate for Alderman in the North Ward for the ensuing year I respectfully ask your support at the coming election. If honored with your confidence, I will exercise my best energy in advocating and supporting such measures as will assure progress and economy in all civic affairs.

With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,
David H. Kerneghan

South Ward

Municipal Elections

Your vote and influence is respectfully requested for

THOS. HOOPER

for Alderman for 1911

A new man and promising good, careful service if elected

North Ward

Municipal Elections For Alderman

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for election to the Council, and engage, if elected, to look after the interests of the Ward and of the City in general, to the best of my ability.

Very Respectfully.
JAS. G. GRAHAM

For North Ward as Alderman

I respectfully ask the ratepayers of the Ward to vote for

Jas. Davidson

For Alderman for 1911

If elected I engage to do my utmost to promote the best interests of the City.

WEST WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

Having been nominated as a candidate for Alderman for the West Ward, I hope to solicit your vote and influence.

If elected I shall do my best to serve the citizens and to use every effort for the city's advancement.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,
JAS. EDGAR

FOR ALDERMAN West Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST WARD.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been duly nominated as Alderman for a third term, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence. If elected I will continue to do my utmost to further the interest of our progressive city and to promote the general welfare of all citizens alike.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, believe me to remain

Yours very truly,
J. J. DUFFUS

No. ONE WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for your favor as Alderman for the year 1911.

I have endeavored to serve you faithfully during the last four years, and engage, if elected, to use my influence and energy in advancing in every way the interests of the Ward and City.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours hopefully,
GEO. H. DUNCAN

For Alderman

As Representative to the Council from the West Ward

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

This is my first essay as a candidate, and I throw myself on your consideration, trusting to have your approval of my candidature. I trust to be a useful member of the Council should you send me there.

Respectfully and Hopefully,
JAMES B. BROWN

Centre Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CENTRE WARD, City of Peterborough:—

Ladies and Gentlemen:—I respectfully solicit your support as a candidate for the office of Alderman, for the year 1911. With the number of years of experience I have had in the Council, I believe I could continue to give good service to the City, and I will, if you favor me with your confidence, do all in my power to advance the City's interests.

Wishing you the compliments of the season.

Yours very truly.
HARRY PHELAN

WE WISH YOU ALL THE

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

And embrace this, the first opportunity, of thanking the public for their generous patronage. Our policy of selling only the most reliable goods at the closest possible prices, based on good honest business principles, has received the most unqualified endorsation of the jewelry buyers of this rising city of Peterborough and vicinity this Christmas season. Again wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

F. S. Schneider & Co.

Our window for suggestions in New Year's Gifts.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED.

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM

Phone 626 170 Charlotte Street

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

136 Hunter Street, Open Evenings

"It's Confidence That Does It"

YOUR TABLE

Will not be complete without something nice and toothsome for

LUNCHEON

SUCH AS

JELLY POWDER, MARMALADE
HORSE-SHOE and CLOVER-LEAF
SALMON, FRENCH SARDINES,
HAM, CHICKEN and TONGUE
FINE OLD CHEESE,
MacCONACHIE'S SAUCE
MIXED PICKLES.
A FULL RANGE OF CHRISTIE'S FANCY BISCUITS; ORANGES, LEMONS, COWAN'S CHOCOLATES
LIME JUICE, RASPBERRY,
STRAWBERRY and
CURRANT WINE,
Unequalled in Purity.

PORTER S. WHITE

336 George St. Phone 280

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.

C. BLEWETT, 332 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1221.
House Phone 666

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
140½ Hunter Street.

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell.

JAY'S STORES
Phone 623. 260 Aylmer St Peterborough.

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc., catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

Millinery Sale

MISS McGIVERIN

offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings

—At Cost—

The opportunity is one that should be availed of.

The values are surprisingly good.

No. 431 George-St

Phone 1385.

Miss Jean Robson

Teacher of Singing and Junior Piano

Soprano Soloist at Knox Presbyterian Church Peterborough. Pupils prepared for Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations. Concert engagements accepted. Apply Friday or Saturday, No. 461 Bolivar Street tf.

CONTRIBUTIONS ARE GENEROUS

Salvation Army Band Has Received $425 as Result of This Week's Serenades

The Salvation Army Band is meeting with gratifying success in its annual serenading, this week. To date $245 has been contributed. The contributions compare well with those given for the same length of time last year.

A number of regular subscribers were not at home when the band called but the staff captains gratefully anticipates the continuance of their practice of giving to the band each year.

The serenading will be concluded on New Year's Day.

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

Ten Dollars Taken

The sum of ten dollars was taken from a George Street departmental store on Saturday evening. The owner would be greatly obliged if the same would be returned immediately.

DUTTON & CO.
Limburger Cheese.
Roquefort Cheese
Cream Cheese in bulk.
Dairy Butter, pound 25c.
Challenge Tea. pound 25c.

St. John's Notes

There will be no practice of St. John's choir to-night.

General rehearsal of the Sunday school scholars in school Friday morning at 9.30 for "Kriss Kringle." All must attend as the entertainment is on Tuesday next.

Kiddies Had Sleigh Drive

The kindergarten and primary departments of St. Andrews Sunday School had a sleigh drive around the city last night. About twenty five of the little folks accompanied by their teachers enjoyed the outing.

The senior pupils will have their sleigh drive this evening.

New Year's Monday at the "Grand"

"St. Elmo" on the stage! That's the news that comes from theatrical centres, and for which thousands of the readers of Augusta Evans-Wilson's novels have long awaited. There is everything in "St. Elmo," to make a good play and it is said to have been seized with good grip by Miss Grace Hayward, the playwright. Her dramatization of "Graustark" has achieved great success and her "St. Elmo," is expected to achieve a popularity not confined to our own land.

"St. Elmo" in dramatized form will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre, New Year's Monday, matinee and evening.

Charles Meron's attempt to fly across the Hudson ended in the wreck of the aeroplane and his injury.

Remember I Credit

EASY TERMS

Open your Credit before Christmas for your

CLOTHING AND FURS

You want to look your best for the holidays and have ready money to spend for Christmas gift-giving.

PAY AT $1.00 PER WEEK

SPECIAL FOR LADIES

Coats all reduced prices

Suits, reg. $25.00	$14.95
1 left, Fur-lined Coat, reg. $55.00 for	30.00
Skirts, good wearing for the house and nice colors, reg. $3.00 for	1.98
Another lot of Skirts, reg. $8.50	4.95
Veil Skirts, reg. $12.50 for	8.40

All Waists, not silk, at reduced prices

MEN'S OVERCOATS AND SUITS

in the best quality and workmanship all at Reduced Prices

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

Square Rugs, Linoleum; Curtains, Tapestry and Lace in the best qualities

CASH OR CREDIT

The Canadian Furnishing Co.

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

163 CHARLOTTE STREET

CHURCH WILL BE BUILT IN THE SPRING

Murray Street Baptists Will Have Splendid New Edifice of Stone

The Review was in conversation with Rev. J. R. Webb to-day in connection with the proposed new church for the Murray street congregation. It appears that they have been considering the question of whether the building shall be of brick or stone; but it is now assured that the structure will be of stone. The matter, however, will come before the entire congregation in about two weeks' time for their consideration and decision. The building will go right ahead early in the spring on the site previously decided on, on Murray street.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. C. L. Fisher, of Winnipeg, is at the Oriental.

Mr. M. Burton, of Millbrook, is at the Munro House.

Mr. W. H. McGill, of Lindsay, is visiting in the city.

Mr. F. A. Tully, of Bowmanville, is at the Munro House.

Miss Cora Fee, of Toronto, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Geo. E. Sherry, of Deloraine, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. Hugh Hall, of Edmonton, is registered at the Munro House.

Mr. G. W. Davis and sister, May, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. James Beatard.

Mr. W. Tucker and P. Kuept of Norwood were at the National yesterday.

Miss Margaret McMillan, of Hamilton, is visiting at the Springville manse.

Miss Lilah, of Otonabee is visiting her cousin, Miss Gladys Crowe, 493 Cross street.

Miss Grace E. Crowe has returned to Brantford after spending the holiday with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, city, attended the Flett-Hopper nuptials at Toronto yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Fitzgerald Hamilton, are visiting Mrs. P. Preston, McDonnel street.

Mrs. W. T. Turnbull, Stockton, Man., is visiting her mother, Mrs. P. Preston, 295 McDonnel street.

Mr. Frederick Clark and entire Company, of the "Manxman" registered at the National, yesterday.

Mrs. S. H. Baker and Miss Dora and Master Marvin Baker are visiting with their uncle, Mr. James Sheppard, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mrs. Jas. E. Moore, New York City, is spending a month visiting with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Jackson, 232 Perry street.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, who has been confined to the rectory since Sunday with a severe cold, is better to-day and hopes to be out again to-morrow.

Rev. Mr. Hartsell, Presbyterian minister of Trinity church, Cincinnati, Ohio, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cunningham, 617 Rubidge street, during Christmas week.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson and wife, of Plainfield, New Jersey, are in the city, the guests of Mr. Stevenson's mother. Rev. Mr. Stevenson is a former vicar of St. John's Church.

Messrs. Robert and William Pidgeon, Miss Annie Pidgeon, Mrs. C. Cornthwaite and Mrs. Ean. Byrone, all of Port Hope were in the city yesterday, attending the funeral of the late William Robinson.

Mr. E. T. Carter and family spent Christmas in Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reesor were in Peterborough on Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gregory spent the holiday with Peterborough friends. Rev. Balfour, wife and family, were in Omemee on Monday. Miss Fox spent Christmas day in Peterborough. Miss Madge Graham passed through Peterborough yesterday to Rosedale to spend the New Year with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Spence. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Robertson, were in Peterborough over Christmas.—Lindsay Post.

The local resources and liabilities of all banks in California exceed, for the first time, $1,000,000,000.

ARRANGEMENTS UNDER WAY FOR NEW METHODIST CHURCH

Sum Asked for Almost Subscribed—Meeting of the Board Next Week to Appoint Building Committee and Engage Architect.

The prospects for the new Charlotte street Methodist church are bright, as far as arrangements for the project are known.

The sum of $40,000 was necessary to build and nearly all of this sum has been raised by the congregation and supporters. There is a small balance yet to be subscribed and this is expected to be contributed by members who have not yet been canvassed.

There will be a meeting of the official board of the church some time next week to make complete preliminary arrangements for getting the church under way. A building committee will be appointed and an architect engaged to go over the grounds.

Two entrances to the church, one from Reid and one on Charlotte, will likely be a feature of the new edifice.

MISS NELLIE HOPPER

With "St. Elmo" which comes to "The Grand" for Matinee and Evening, New Year's Monday, Jan. 2nd. Seats on Sale Friday Morning.

LOCAL POULTRY MEN TO EXHIBIT AT PERTH

At a business meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association held last night, the superintendent and other officers were appointed for the winter show at the Market hall, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 10, 11 and 12.

Officers and members are working hard and faithfully and hope for a large patronage this year.

Ticket sellers reported at the meeting last night and large returns were made.

Entries are now coming in from all parts of the country, and the list promises to be heavier, and of a better class than ever before.

Local breeders are sending seventy entries to the show at Perth, which commence next Tuesday. Among those exhibiting are Messrs. Paxman, Robinson, Kelly, Grose, Lush and Dunnitt.

CONGESTION IN THE SCHOOLS SAYS INSPECTOR MOWAT

And That is the Reason Why Pupils Are Not Promoted More Rapidly From One Room to Another—A Reply to Charges Made in Letter in Last Night's Review.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The charges made by a correspondent in last evening's Review that the Board of Education has been remiss in looking after the advancement of the public school pupils, and that too much money is being expended on school buildings and in payment of teachers' salaries, call for a brief explanation.

The public school course, not including the kindergarten, is one of eight years. Regular promotions are made at midsummer, and in the lower forms at Christmas as well. Some few of the brighter pupils in the higher forms are also promoted at Christmas, if their record shows that they are able to cover the work of two forms in one year. This enables the average child to cover the course in eight years, and the brighter ones may do it in a shorter time.

The chief difficulty in making promotions at Christmas is to find room for the promoted pupils. This year all of the schools, with one exception, were crowded. Under such conditions the pupils will have to remain in the same form, but the teachers will keep them in classes by themselves and take them over the work of the next higher grade. This means that many of the teachers will have two classes in one form, but it will enable the pupils to cover the work of two grades in one year, and is the most satisfactory arrangement that can be made. This applies chiefly to the lower forms.

That the public school course is being covered about fast enough is shown by the last Entrance class. One hundred pupils were sent up for examination and the average age was not over 14 years. This is none too old, considering the difficult nature of High School work, and it is even too young if the pupils have to go out into the world on leaving the public school.

The charge that too much money has been spent upon school buildings cannot have been made seriously. The new public school buildings are plain and substantial, none too good for children whose parents have any regard for their health and comfort.

The old buildings are still far from being satisfactory. They have no system of ventilation, and two of them are lacking in modern conveniences.

A glance at the advertising columns of the "Daily Mail" or "Globe," will show any ratepayer that the salaries being paid our teachers are not so high as those paid by rural school boards. The Peterborough Board was unable to secure a supply teacher last midsummer because the salary offered was not sufficient inducement, and great difficulty was experienced in securing capable teachers to fill other vacancies.

That the teachers are earnest and conscientious is shown by the very fact that they will not recommend the promotion of pupils until the work has been thoroughly mastered. If they were careless and indolent it would be an easy matter to try to cover up their defects by recommending pupils for promotion whether they were fit or not.

Everything possible is being done to promote the efficiency of the schools, and when, in the near future, more school accommodation is provided by the fitting up of one or two additional rooms, the conditions for greater efficiency will have been provided, and even more satisfactory results will follow.

A. MOWAT,
I.P.S

Scene from the great racing play "Wildfire" at the "Grand" next Saturday, Matinee & Evening, Dec. 31. Original scenic production—great cast. Holiday prices:—Night, $1 00, 75, 50, 35c. Gallery 25c. Matinee, 75, 50, 35, 25c. Sit the old year out at "The Grand." Seat Sale opens To-morrow Morning.

SOME SPECIAL HOLIDAY GOODS
—AT—
ROUTLEY'S

ROUTLEY'S being my headquarters for the past 25 years I still find the establishment up to the minute with all the latest lines of presents shown on the two floors:

FIRST FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

China Tea Sets from	$ 2.94
10 piece Chamber sets from $2 to	12.00
Limoges China Bread and butter plates, $3.50 doz. Now half dozen for	1.10
Austrian China bread and butter plates, dozen $2.00. Now half dozen for	59c
Tremendous range of fancy China Cups and Saucers, regular 25c for	14c

Collection of fancy China Salad Bowls, Bon Bons, Fern Pots, Hair Receivers, Toilet Accessories, Ash Trays and Candle Sticks, in china or brass, Jardineres, Gilt and silver Jewel Boxes, Dressing Cases, Shaving Cases, Comb and Brush Cases, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Manicure Sets, Ladies' Companions, Writing Portfolios, Music Cases. All kinds of Bibles and Prayer Books, Mirrors and Brushes of all kinds, Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses.

SECOND FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

Toy Tea Sets	5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Noah Arks	10c, 15c, 25c
Large Magnetic Toys	20c
Drums	5c, 10c, 20c, 50c, 75c
Iron Trains	25c, 50c
Tin Trains	25c, 50c, 75c, to $3.00
Friction Toys	50c to $1.25
Toy Trunks, brass locks	$1.00, $1.25, $1.50

Doll Carriages, all prices,

Boy's and Girl's Sleighs, all prices.

Toy Books, Guns, Bugles, Puzzles, Building and A.B.C. Blocks, Magic Lanterns, Steam and Hot Air Engines, Mechanical Toys.

SPECIAL OFFER

50 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $1.00, for each	35c
65 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $2.00, for each	69c

SPECIAL OFFER

50 China Dinner and Tea Sets, 97 pieces, regular $25 00, for $14.85

Both Phones 366 | ROUTLEY'S | 376 George St., Peterborough

Separate School Trustees

At a meeting held in the Board room of St. Peter's school yesterday the following gentlemen were nominated as the local Separate school trustees for 1911—Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Jas. Murty, J. J. Lynch, Thos. Lane, John Kylie.

All our Calendar Pads at one cent each, any size. Review Office

COAL OIL BARGAIN

China Hall is selling the best Canadian Coal Oil at 12c and best Water White American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots, and 14c and 17c per single gallon, delivered to any part of the city.

3d3w Macfarlane Wilson

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

Walk Right In

—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON

364 George Street.

DOMINION
CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call

328 GEORGE STREET

"GRAND" SATURDAY, MATINEE & EVENING DEC. 31

The Famous Racing Comedy

"WILDFIRE"

Written by
Geo N. Broadhurst Author of "The Man of the Hour"
Geo. V. Hobart, Author of "The Boys & Betty"

A Great Cast. Original Scenic Production. Brimful of Humor. One of the best Race Track Stories Ever Staged.

Evening — $1.00, 75c, 50c, 35c. Gallery 25.
Matinee — 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c. Seats on Sale Thursday

"Grand" New Years Monday, Jan. 2 MATINEE AND EVENING

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFERING!

Augusta J. Evans' Stirring Narrative

"ST. ELMO"

By GRACE HAYWOOD (Dramatist of "ISHMAEL" and "GRAUSTARK")
Greatest Book Play of the Decade. Nothing quite so interesting or unique has been produced in years.

PRICES:—Matinee 25c to 75c, Children 15c. Evening 25, 35, 50, 75c. Few at $1.00. Seats on sale Friday.

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $650,000.00 PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and specie letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY

MERSON & CO.

Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

SPORTING NEWS

CHALLENGE FROM GOTCH

Kelly Claims Middleweight Honors—Valuable Rooster Killed by Mistake.

CHALLENGE FROM GOTCH

Chicago, Dec. 29. — Frank A. Gotch has issued a formal challenge to Hackenschmidt or any other wrestler for a match for the championship of the world.

He posted $500 as a forfeit to bind a match for a side bet of $20,000.

MIDDLEWEIGHT HONORS

Chicago, Dec. 29 — Hugo Kelly, the Italian prize-fighter, said last night that he would claim the middleweight championship of the world, because of the defeat of Billy Papke at the hands of Dave Smith in the Antipodes. Since Stanley Ketchel was killed, the title has been claimed by all the middleweights. Kelly has fought two draws with Papke, while the latter has only one victory over the Californian.

A DEAR FEAST

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 29 — Henry Odum, gardener for George E. Ross of Indiana, made his Christmas feast yesterday on a $150 rooster. Odum had been told that he could have a rooster confined in a particular coop, but made a mistake and chopped off the head of "King Richard," mate to "Martha," a prize winner at the Chicago Poultry Show. Eggs from this particular pair were in demand at $20 a dozen.

PHILLIPS TO WED.

Hamilton Spectator — Tom Phillips, the famous hockey player, is expected in town this week. Tom's wedding to a Hamilton girl is set for Jan. 4.

CORBETT AND LACROSSE

James J. Corbett writes as follows—A despatch from Seattle states that Tommy Burns was injured severely in a railroad collision recently. As the former champion has not fully recovered from the injury to his right knee, and this latest accident has crippled him badly, it would appear that his chances for returning to the ring are mighty slim. That sore knee, the souvenir of a lacrosse game, still is in bad shape, and Tommy's announcement that he has retired from the game probably goes.

A great many people who make a specialty of trying to run everybody else's business and to "regulate" everything in the sporting line, keep harping on the brutality of professional boxing. I wish some of these birds could be taken on a jaunt into Canada somewhere when the professional lacrosse season is in full swing, and let them have a look at the game as played by the athletes over the border. After watching a game between two fast teams it's a hundred one that boxing would be voted a pink tea affair alongside of lacrosse.

While in the city of Ottawa, Canada, a few years ago, I attended a match between the Capitals of that city and the Shamrocks of Montreal, which was the deciding game of the championship series. I was asked to start the game (I believe that's the right term), and, appreciating the honor, agreed to do so. My part of the job was easy but that is neither here nor there. When that gang of husky young fellows got after the ball with those gut-strung sticks I was out of the way in a hurry.

And say, talk about blood being spilled at a boxing contest. I never saw so much claret drawn as on that afternoon in Ottawa. Every few minutes a player would be carried off the field, and after being patched up a bit would come back for more. There was no mercifully short count of ten seconds for the crippled athletes. They had to come back and take their medicine if able to stand up.

A professional boxer does not belong in that company. He would prove too slow, and the sport is altogether too rough for some of our hothouse boys. Ask Tommy Burns about it. He has been out of commission ever since that game he played in a few months ago. Possibly some of the opposing team laid for Tommy on account of his reputation as a fighter and handed him a little more of the rough stuff than is common, but in its mildest form the game would be an eye-opener to lovers of strenuous athletic sports in the States. The peaceful pursuit of professional pugilism is like unto professional lacrosse as the toy tin whistle compares with the latest model screecher in use on the leviathans that plow the Atlantic.

CAN HACK DO IT

Can Hackenschmidt do it? Can he throw the four of them in an hour and a half? Is it in him?

These are the timely questions the Toronto wrestling fans and others interested in that Hackenschmidt-four man handicap are asking themselves and each other. The Toronto papers spend much time and devote much space to asking the same questions.

The bout takes place at Riverdale rink Toronto, to-night, and the Review will be represented at the ropes. The four stalwarts face the celebrated grappler from the kingdom of the Czar will be Yankee Rogers, Carl Becker, Mort Anderson and an Irish man named O'Neill.

In answer to the original question its safe to say that Hack can win in easy fashion if he wants to. The whole bunch would be pie for him going at fair speed, in, say, three-quarters of an hour, as a nice reasonable limit. Yankee Rogers is the heaviest and oldest man of the lot, and Yankee is now a dead one at the game of the wrecking and cauliflower ear-grips.

A short time ago Zybszko threw three men in 21 minutes at Buffalo, and Mr. Rogers was among the trio that hit the canvass during that brief period. Gotch threw "Zyb" twice in 28 minutes, while in the world's championship bout in Chicago he couldn't throw Hack in two hours.

Can Hack do it? You've solved that 2 plus 2 problem. Apply the same deep reasoning here.

And the above named quartette is the four that Tom Flanagan will line up as the representatives for the defence in the "any four men in America outside of Gotch in an hour and a half" proposition. He's "betting" a cold $1,000 on them too.

But the Toronto public are tense to the bursting point with excitement and the Riverdale rink will likely be tense to the same point with spectators—so what's the difference?

BASKETBALL

The first basketball team of Toronto University, and of which Mr. Ira Dobbin is manager, leaves Toronto on January 6th for a tour through New York State. Seven games will be played.

BELGIAN PUT ONE OVER ON HACK

Russian Failed to Land One Fall at Mixed Styles—Appears in Toronto To-night

Montreal, Dec. 28.—George Hackenschmidt lost a handicap wrestling match here to-night to Steurs, a Belgian heavyweight, who came over about a month ago. The match was at mixed styles and the Russian Lion was handicapped to win two falls within an hour and a quarter. He failed to gain one fall. Steurs won the toss and choosing the Graeco-Roman style, held Hack off for the 75 minutes. He was about five pounds heavier than the Russian and played a defence game safely.

Hackenschmidt will endeavor to throw four men at Riverdale rink, Toronto, to-night, within one hour and thirty minutes.

Scottish Cup Draw

At a meeting of the Scottish Football Association, held in Glasgow on Tuesday, the draw for the first round of the Scottish Cup resulted as follows;

Glasgow Rangers v. Kilmarnock, Brechin City v. Aberdeen, Celtic v. St. Mirren, Galston v. Lochgelly, Leith Athletic v. Falkirk, East Stirlingshire v. Greenock Morton, Annbank v. Motherwell, Dundee v. Hibernians, 3rd Lanark v. Hamilton Academicals, Forfar Athletic v. 5th. K. O. Scottish Borderers, Airdrieonians v. Bolness, Stanley v. Queen's Park, Patrick Thistle v. Bernard's, Heart of Midlothian v. Clyde, Inverness Thistle v. Johnstone, Nithsdale Wanderers v. Inverness Caledonians.

Ties to be played off on the ground of the first-named club on Jan 28th

Mrs. Nellie Kniffen, formerly of Simcoe, Ont., will receive a preliminary trial at Detroit, Dec. 30th, on a charge of slaying her husband with an axe.

SPORT TALK

The intermediates got away with another workout last night that tickled the railbirds, of which there were a goodly number. Some stellar shooting from the boards somewhat featured the practice, as many of the shots found the netting from between the small space between Derocher's pads and the posts, and that's the kind of scorin a hockey fan takes to. They let the goalminder down easy and show up a good point in the player doing the shooting.

Despite a feeling during the initial practices that the defence of the intermediates would be weak, that department is shaping up on the whole much better than the forward line, where the men have not yet found their pace. A whole lot depends on the work which will be done at the exhibition game against the Argonauts on New Year's night. Then it will be seen where the weakness exists.

That new man who was working against Sorrel last night is connected with one of the city public schools, and more may be said about him later.

Its up to somebody connected with the senior church league to make a move, and that right away. The Burnham Cup rests with the St. Andrew's church team. At the present time All Saints' is the only organisation to show signs of life.

Oshawa Intermediates with Leo Quinn at cover-point, defeated Bowmanville in a scheduled game last night by 13—2.

Belleville professionals worked a player, Stoddard, by name, in the game against Trenton last night. Surely this can't be our old friend Bill? Belleville won 8—2.

A number of the old school boys, who are home for the holidays, had a workout at the rink this morning. Among those out were Richardson, Geale, Denison, Stratton, Clegg, P. Campbell, A. Campbell, Morrow, Matthews.

No O.H.A. practice is billed for to-night, but to-morrow at the usual hour intermediates and juniors will work out together.

INDIAN RIVER

Indian River, Dec. 27 — Mr. Ashley Andress, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Andress.

Mrs. John Duff, Tweed, visited in the village on Saturday.

Miss Phyllis Lorland, of Norwood High School, is home for the Christmas vacation.

Mr. Tom Whibbs, of Lindsay, and Mr. George Whibbs of Cobourg, spent Sunday and Monday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Whibbs.

Among those from Indian River who attended the funeral of the late Miss Rose Spence, of Norwood, last Wednesday, were Miss Belle Kidd, Miss Florence Mann and Messrs. Norman and Will Patterson.

Mr. J. A. Crowe, of Warsaw, was in the village on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Gregory of Lakefield conducted the services in the Baptist Church, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kidd, of Peterborough spent Monday in the village.

Mr. John Sullivan, Peterborough, was home for Christmas.

Mr. Gordon Earle, Toronto is spending the holidays in Indian River.

At the close of the school entertainment on Thursday afternoon, the pupils read an address and presented their teacher, Miss L. Waterman, with a manicure set. Miss Waterman left on Friday for her home in Bensfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Patterson entertained the members of the Epworth League of Bethel Church, on Tuesday evening of last week.

Mr. Will Sheperdson, of Norwood, High School is home for the holidays.

Mr. Earle Kidd, Toronto, spent Christmas at the home of his mother, Mrs. S. A. Kidd.

OSHKIGMONG

Oshkigmong, Dec. 27.—The entertainment given by the children last night was a success and everything passed off pleasantly. Among the best was the distribution of presents to the children sent by Wm. Lech and Sons, of Peterborough, which were received with much delight.

Mrs. Brown and others of Halls Bridge, were here at the entertainment.

Quite a number of people from Ennismore were here last night, among them was Miss Frances Herrington, who gave a song at the entertainment with much expression

A hockey match was played here yesterday afternoon between the senior and juniors of Chemong, the game resulting in favor of the seniors.

Mr. L. D. Taylor, a choir leader of Chemong church, received a presentation of a hymn book from the Ladies' Aid Society and a purse from the congregation in recognition of his faithfulness as a leader. Mr. L. D. Taylor has been a member of the Chemong choir for thirty-five years. He made a few touching remarks after having received the gifts.

Seven Chinamen were found hiding and starving in a box car at Utica, N.Y. They had been smuggled from Canada and will be deported to China.

Police of Troy, N.Y., captured Geo. Dall, a noted cracksman.

THE QUIVERING EARTH.

Our Globe Frequently Trembles Like a Mass of Jelly.

Among the astonishing discoveries that have recently been made by means of the delicate instruments contrived primarily for the investigation of earthquakes none is more surprising than that of the existence of vast quiverings of the earth's crust which affect tens of thousands of square miles of surface and sometimes continue for weeks on end. These strange pulsations, which are called "microseisms," are due, incredible though it may seem, to nothing else than the varying pressure of the air!

Who could have believed that the seemingly solid globe could be thus shaken by the soft tread of the invisible powers of the atmosphere?

But the mystery is deepened by the fact, which stands out clearly from the investigations of Dr. Otto Klotz, that the ocean plays a master part in the phenomenon. When an area of low barometric pressure passes across the United States no microseisms are produced as long as the cyclone remains distinctly over the continent, but when it rushes out upon the surface of the ocean the needles of the seismographs begin to tremble.

These strange movements affect blocks of the earth's crust so large that their surface, as already remarked, covers tens of thousands of square miles. Over these immense areas the solid earth trembles like a jelly, and the motion, instead of passing away rapidly, as in an earthquake, continues day after day and week after week. Microseisms are most common in winter. But whenever a well marked low pressure area—in other words, a storm center—sweeps up the Atlantic coast from Florida to the gulf of St. Lawrence the tremblings begin. Dr. Klotz has shown that it is not the surface wind that produces these disturbances, but the change of pressure. Yet the winds and the tides, too, have their effects, which can be clearly distinguished from the true microseisms.

This adds another to the many sources of disturbances which affect the stability of the earth. Every fresh investigation brings new proof that the earth is an astonishingly high strung organism, its ribs of rock, as rigid as steel in the interior, responding like the strings of a harp to the slightest touch. And we, microscopic creatures, dwell upon this globe of stretched and living strings.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York American.

Selling a Book.

At the last dinner of the American Booksellers' association one of the souvenirs was a paperweight which contained this rubricated text: "To write a book is an easy task; it requires only pen and ink and some patient paper. To print a book is slightly more difficult, because genius often expresses itself in illegible manuscript. To read a book is still more difficult, as one must struggle against sleep. But the most difficult task that any one may attempt is to sell a book." The Harpers presented the paperweights, but the sentiment belongs to one of the most prolific modern writers, Felix Dahn, a man who, moreover, never sold a book in his life. He is a German novelist, historian, jurist and playwright and has written half a hundred works of all sorts.—Argonaut.

A New Death Dealer.

The recently invented Benet-Mercier gun combines the rapidity of fire, range and effectiveness of a machine gun with the lightness and ease of action of a magazine rifle. The gun is fired from a rest and is held against the shoulder of its operator, who can either fire from a sitting position or lying prone. The regulation cartridge is used in clips that hold fifty. A good rifleman can discharge from 300 to 500 shots per minute if assisted in feeding by a man to fill the clips. The gun is at present undergoing a series of tests by army officers with a view to its adoption by the government.—Popular Mechanics.

Horses and the British Army.

The British army on mobilization will require 182,000 horses, and no one has the slightest idea where they can be found. Good authorities tell us that this number of animals of the military age does not exist in the country. With the growth of mechanical transport the necessity of taking steps to secure a supply of horses in war grows more and more urgent. We can not, unfortunately, mount our cavalry on taxicabs. We still breed the best horses in the world, but they are bought up for the use of foreign armies while the British war office is counting its pence.—London Mail.

Making Himself Useful.

Persia's former shah appears to be supporting his exile more philosophically than Abdul Hamid. According to the Cri de Paris, he has learned Russian and reads Tolstoy, Dostoievsky and Gorki in the original. He attends some of the lectures at the University of Odessa and has paid his entrance fees to the school of medicine. This branch of study appeals to him most strongly, and he hopes in due course to take a medical degree and even to practice as a doctor should his subjects not recall him to the throne.

Contracting the World.

The world is growing too small. One can go to Peking in a fortnight; an aeroplane service is to be run from Algiers to Timbuktu, and a wireless station is being installed on Crusoe's island. Farewell to mystery!—Paris Matin.

Charles Corbett, governor of the county jail at Kingston, celebrated his 65th anniversary.

CAMPBELLCROFT

Special to the Review.

Campbellcroft, Dec 26.—Miss Jane Wright, of Saskatchewan, a sister of Mr. Robert Wright's, is renewing old acquaintances here during Xmastide.

Mr. Van Wright and Miss Esca, of Redfern, Sask., are home for Xmas.

Mr. Cyrus Allison, express agent, Peterborough, is also a holiday visitor at home.

Mrs. Andrew Smith and Miss Laura, of Saskatoon, Sask., are visiting at Thomas Frank Smith's.

Mrs. Jack Smith, of Keene, is a guest at Mr. Wm. Hoskin's for Xmas.

Mr. Walter Bruce, lineman on the C.P.R., is home for Xmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Toms took in the Xmas tree at the Presbyterian church at Garden Hill last Monday night.

CLYDESDALE

Special to the Review.

Clydesdale, Dec. 26.—Santa will soon be here again, and we have plenty of snow for him this year.

Miss E. Gerrard is spending Xmas at her home here.

Miss B. Kerr has returned to her home in Norwood.

A few sleigh loads attended the reception at Mr. George Bullied's on Wednesday evening, and an excellent time was the result.

Miss Ella Knox is visiting her cousin, Miss Edna Trotter.

Messrs. L. Bullied and L. Haskins are guests of F. J. Bullied.

A number of our local young men are home for Xmas, viz, M. Hobbins, D. Gooley, E. Gooley, J. O'Brien, etc.

NEW STATION FOR GUELPH

While in the west last week First Vice-President Fitzhugh met a committee representing the city of Guelph and after several hours' deliberation settled the long-standing question of a new station, sub-ways and track elevation which has been up on and off for the past ten years.

Under the arrangement made the Grand Trunk has to pay the city $9,000, and has to construct a foot subway at Neeve street. On the other hand the city is to transfer to the Grand Trunk Jubilee Park, one block west of the present station. Here the new station is to be erected.

A number of minor matters were settled involving the surrender by the Grand Trunk of a narrow strip of land near the old station, and the transfer to the Grand Trunk by the city of certain territory for freight facilities south of the new station. Also the city surrenders to the company certain lands which have been used by the city either for sites or lots, but which really was the property of the Grand Trunk.

All the members of the committee expressed their satisfaction with the outcome of the negotiations.

CHANDOS

Special to the Review.

Chandos, Dec. 26.—Mr. Harry Roberts is paying a professional visit to Toronto.

Mr. Bobbie Knox is visiting in the neighborhood.

The Misses M. and N. Kilbornes attended the concert at Tucker's school, which was a decided success despite the very stormy evening.

Miss Marion McPherson is spending her holidays at her home in Clydesdale.

Mrs. Charles Hawkes is spending Xmas at her sister's, Mrs. Henry Hubble's, Colborne.

GARDEN HILL

Special to the Review.

Garden Hill, Dec. 28.—Miss Aileen Ferguson and Mr. Toosley, of Toronto, are guests at Mr. J. Ferguson's.

Mr. Percy Little, of Toronto, one of the News reporters, is holidaying at home.

Misses Amanda and Edyth Hamill, of Toronto, are under the parental roof.

Anniversary services and Xmas tree at Presbyterian church was, as usual, a huge success. The honor is due Mr. Aleex. Allison, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Hockey is all the rage here now and if you cannot play hockey keep off the ice.

Mrs. John Thornton and Mrs. and Miss Hutchinson, of Peterborough, were guests at J. D. Gray's for Xmas. and Mrs. Dobbin, Bailieboro, is there also.

Lambert Gibson, of Cornel, was a guest at Richard Beatty's for Xmas.

Miss Smithson, of Bailieboro, visited in our town and took in the Xmas tree on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gist, of Canton, were Xmas guests at T. M. Little's.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Paid Up Capital, Rest & Undivided Profits $7,061,018.81

Open an account in the

Savings Bank Department

and make a practice of at once depositing any monies you may receive. Your savings will increase and your idle capital will be earning interest.

Peterborough Branch, George Street
G. C. WAINWRIGHT, Manager

SKATES

STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS

Skates Sharpened and Repaired

MILLARD'S

BICYCLE SHOP

Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1256

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

GET THE LATEST

THE REVIEW SUPPLIES THE CORRECT THINGS IN WEDDING INVITATIONS PROGRAMMES, PERSONAL STATIONERY, ETC.

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE UNEXCELLED SERVICE.

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to The Lenox.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at The Lenox The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

The First Impression

Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in

The Stationery He Uses

If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to

THE REVIEW

for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are:—

Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.

Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—

REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

Brighten Up Your Home

And you naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
762 Water St. Phone 1140

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

SCOTLAND YARD.

Its Council of Sleuths Is a Thing Dreaded by Evil-Doers.

In the great, rather grim, red-brick building which, like a medieval fortress, dominates the Thames, within a stone's throw of the Houses of Parliament, there is a large, barely-furnished room, which holds more secrets than any other in London, with the possible exception of the the room of Cabinet mysteries. It is the nerve centre of England's great and complex detective system, which controls the currents radiating all the world over for the discovery of crime; and it is in this secret chamber that the mysterious Council of Seven hold their meetings to unravel the tangled skeins of tragedy.

If walls could speak, the walls of this room could unfold stories of romance, tragedy, and mystery such as would drive the writers of fiction to despair; for there is no form of crime which has not been dissected and laid bare there in all its complex and naked hideousness. But walls are dumb; and so are the members of this secret Council, who recognise that silence is one of their most powerful weapons.

This Council has not long been in existence; in fact, it is practically unknown to the outside world. It is only a short time since it occurred to the authorities of New Scotland Yard that, in place of casual conferences between detectives engaged in the solution of some problem of crime, it would be well to appoint a body of their cleverest detectives—men of acute and astute brains, with long experience of crime and criminals—to combine their efforts in solving the principal mysteries; and, as might be expected, the plan has worked admirably.

The greatest care has naturally been taken in choosing men for this responsible work. It was important that the Council should, as far as possible, cover the whole range of crime. The detective who has specialised in murder or burglary may know little of, say, coiners and begging-letter imposters; and thus the leading expert in each of the principal branches of crime was chosen—men who know practically all that is to be known about their own branch and its professors, and whose names even are a terror to evil-doers the whole world over.

But let us see how this Council works. Suppose that a mysterious murder has taken place in London. Within a few minutes after it has been reported to the nearest police station the detective-inspector and his assistants are on the spot making investigations. Meanwhile the news has been flashed to New Scotland Yard; and almost before the local men have well commenced their inquiries a member of the Council—the man whose special province it is—appears on the scene and takes charge of the operations.

If the problem is a fairly simple one, as it often is, and the murderer is speedily run to earth, the services of the Council are naturally not required. But if there is no sufficient clue to the assassin, or he has made his escape good, the Council is at once summoned, and takes the case in hand.

All the available evidence is placed before it and thoroughly sifted, deductions are made, a plan of campaign is drawn up, and the whole of the complicated and far-reaching machinery of Scotland Yard is set to work under the collective guidance of the cleverest detective brains in England. How energetically and thoroughly the Council does its work has been shown in the recent Crippen case, in which a closely-meshed net was in a few days thrown round the world for the capture of the criminal.

Meanest Traders in the World.

There is a colony of merchants in Kingston, the capital of Jamaica, who can give cards and spades even to the bland Chinaman "for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain." They take one match out of every box they sell until they have enough matches to fill another box and so make an extra cent. They shave tiny flakes off cakes of soap and boil them down to make other cakes. They put a thin layer of molasses on the bottom of the scoop with which they serve rice so that a few grains will stick to the bottom. These are only a few of their thousand tricks to turn a dishonest penny. Without doubt they are the meanest traders in the world.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

CANNOT BE ARRESTED.

Ambassadors and Their Servants Are Immune.

Except on felony charges peers of the realm are immune from arrest. If they are arrested for treason or felony they can demand to be tried by their fellow nobles, and should they have the misfortune to be sentenced to death they can exact the use of a silken cord instead of the hempen rope commonly used by the public hangman.

The members and servants of every one of the foreign embassies to the Court of St. James's cannot be touched by British laws, even if they commit murder. The official headquarters of the representatives of foreign powers in London are the territory of the particular country or state which the embassy in question represents. This being so, the laws passed by Parliament and the judges, being operative only in the dominions of the King, have no effect upon the persons residing in the little foreign "countries."

The reason why ambassadors and their servants have this advantage over the average Britisher is that during the reign of Queen Anne a statute was passed by the law makers owing to an imbroglio arising from the seizure of a Russian envoy's effects for debt. This law, which was passed for "the preserving of the privileges of Ambassadors and other public Ministers of foreign Princes and States," has it that any person "presuming to prosecute any writ or process for the arrest or imprisonment of an Ambassador or his domestics shall be deemed a violator of the law of nations."

Though exemption from criminal courts is granted to foreign diplomats and their servants, there is no written law declaring the fact. It is merely a privilege of international law. Immunity from criminal jurisdiction was not always granted to these persons, for it is on record that a secretary of the Portuguese Legation, who was arrested for killing a man in the Royal Exchange, was tried by jury, found guilty, and sentenced to death.

Although it is generally known that the laws of Britain cannot affect in any way the King or any member of his family, most people are not aware that no civil action can possibly lie against the servants of His Majesty, including lords of the bedchamber and other officers of the household. The employes of the King while being immune from arrest, cannot go free if they commit a crime, however. All misdeeds committed within the precincts of the royal palaces and residences are tried by special courts presided over by the Lord Steward, Treasurer, Comptroller, and Master of the Household.

Any crimes committed by the servants at Buckingham Palace are adjudicated on by the Board of Green Cloth, whose powers are limited to a circuit of twelve miles from Whitehall; while the Court of Marshalsea, which dates from the reign of Henry VIII., administers justice between the King's servants at Windsor and elsewhere. Both courts are ruled over by the high officials stated.

Members of Parliament cannot be arrested while actually within the precincts of the Commons, and they are immune while Parliament is in session and for forty days before and after. It will be remembered that in 1888 a Metropolitan police officer made an attempt to arrest a member of the Irish Parliamentary party in Palace Yard. His colleagues were greatly upset at the incident, and the adjournment of the House was moved, a committee being appointed to consider the alleged breach of privilege. The breach was finally affirmed, and the unfortunate officer was severely censured by Parliament.

Barristers on circuit, solicitors engaged on a case, and witnesses in any case are temporarily protected from arrest, and clergymen enjoy the same privilege while actually conducting divine service.

Indian Sedition Trials.

The activity of the Calcutta police in the search for arms continues. One night recently the authorities raided a house in Northern Calcutta, and found two revolvers, some gun barrels, and a quantity of cartridges. The occupants of the house are two Bengali youths, who, however, succeeded in effecting their escape. Information received by the police pointed to this house being the centre of a new conspiracy. Meanwhile the special tribunal is engaged upon the trial of thirteen respectable Bengalis from Khulna, whom the Government charge with conspiracy to wage war against the King. When these proceedings are over, the tribunal will try the sensational Howrah conspiracy case. There are forty-five accused, some of whom are men of wealth and position. All the preliminary hearings will be held in camera. The nature of the charges and also the evidence is unknown.

Dr. Johnson's Fruit Appetite.

No man ever welcomed the return of the fruit season more heartily than did Dr. Johnson. Of strawberries and cream he declared that he could never have enough, though in his later years he devoured enormous quantities of them. A voracious eater at any time, Johnson's appetite for fruits was limitless. Mrs. Thrale says that he used to eat seven or eight peaches before he began his breakfast. Lucy Porter, at Litchfield, used always to keep the best gooseberries on the bushes in her garden until Johnson came down to pick them.

Using Left-Over Apples.

There is money even in poor quality apples, and Australian growers are deriving considerable profit from apples formerly thrown away. An apple-evaporating plant has been introduced, and a new industry started, which last year yielded profit of over $3,000,000. The machines pare and core the apples, which are then sliced into chips and dried. Even the cores and skin peelings are utilised, being exported to France for the manufacture of vinegar, cameos, etc.

A large force of workmen is engaged in raising the battleship Maine wreck in Havana Harbor.

Good Form

Women who are polite in practically all other places sometimes are positively rude at card tables. It would perhaps help them to be self controlled and civil when the game is going against them to remember that, after all, it is only a game and, though they lose, their defeat is only temporary.

However different one may be in fact when one is losing, and few persons are as interested when the cards are against them, it is a matter of good breeding to pretend as much enjoyment as when success is on her side. It is not politic to be snappy and dull just because one is losing. Such conduct makes the winning couple extremely uncomfortable.

Courtesy, at all times desirable, at cards should be regarded as imperative. To comment unfavorably upon the playing of a hand is the height of ill manners and need not be excused on the ground of instructing the ignorant. A woman who might sincerely wish to play a better game does not care to be criticised and drilled in public, and the one giving information is a self appointed teacher who is not desired.

At a bridge luncheon recently the players at one table were amused to hear at the completion of every hand a lecture by one of the guests. The woman who talked played well—all admitted that—but the afternoon was not a class in card playing. It was a social meeting where each woman was supposed to stand upon the merits of her game. The woman who did the talking was not disagreeable, nor did she select one person for her victim. Impartially she instructed the whole table, with the result that when she had gone at the end of the afternoon those remaining later declared that she had almost spoiled their game.

The correct thing for her to have done was to remain quiet, no matter how poor the playing of others might be. If she were asked any questions as to what to do she might have answered briefly and courteously, but she should have remembered that the afternoon was one of relaxation and amusement, not of instruction.

The woman who loses her temper with her partner commits an unpardonable breach of good manners. No is it enough to control the tongue alone at such times. Manner as well must be courteous, and one who cannot regard these dictates of good breeding should never play cards.

Automobile Etiquette.

It looks unconventional for a young girl to go automobiling with several young men unless they are relatives, for somehow it is suggestive of a "sporty" tendency on her part, and so the one girl in a group of men is never quite as delicately treated by the world as is the maid who has somebody of her own sex in her company. Therefore, all things considered, the chaperon is a useful personage, and if she is a good deal older than the rest of the party everybody is likely to behave in the best possible manner.

Proper dress for motoring depends upon the excursion itself, whether taken in town or in the country or if the trip is to be long or short. For wear in town the coquettish little bonnets with wide strings and side rosettes or flowers sometimes accompany the daintiest dinner frocks, for the spin may come after dinner in a restaurant, but over the gown must go a rajah or pongee coat cut with kimono sleeves and fastened smartly at the waist with two huge buttons of gilt or white embroidery. The long chiffon veil is a necessity for a smart look, and of course there are all sorts of gimcracks designed especially for motor wear—bracelets, watches, brooches, hatpins, etc. The country getup, especially if there is to be a long spin, is less elegant, coats, hoods, gloves and veils all looking to a great extent as if designed purely for usefulness.

Invitations to Children's Parties.

Good form requires that all invitations of both girls and boys shall be issued in the names of their parents or of one of the guardians with whom they live. The very obvious reason for this is that did one of the minors give invitations it might be done without the knowledge of elders.

Rarely do birthday parties need invitations other than formal notes to be written by the mother. It is not to parents of the others that the communications are addressed, but to the young people themselves, in notes something after this fashion:

My Dear Mary—Will you not give Anna and me the pleasure of your presence at a birthday party we are giving for her on Thursday, the 25th? We are asking some of her young friends to be here about 8 o'clock and hope you will be among them.

A Social Duty.

To send a box of candy, a book or a box of flowers after having made a short visit is a tactful act which costs little either in time or money. Only a visiting card bearing no writing may be inclosed.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

SPENCER'S NEW EARL.

Lord Althorp, Who Succeeds His Half Brother, Is Widely Known.

Spencer's new earl has been a member of the House of Lords for the last four years, having been raised to the peerage as Lord Althorp in 1906, on the occasion of his appointment to the office of Lord Chamberlain, which he still holds. He is a half-brother of the late earl and is widower of a sister of Lord Revelstoke and of Cecil and Hugo Baring, all three of whom are well konwn in America. Moreover, he is a man of very chivalrous instincts and of a sense of honor unfortunately rare in these modern days. For on the occasion of the troubles of the fire at banking house of Baring, some fifteen years ago, he, although possessed of no fortune of his own, voluntarily came to the rescue of his father-in-law, the late Lord Revelstoke, and of the other Baring relatives of his wife, by surrendering to them her dowry. It was by sacrifices of this kind that the House of Baring was able to weather the storm. And now that it is once more on the high tide of prosperity, the money thus surrendered by the peer, familiarly known in the House of Commons as "Bobbie" Spencer, has been restored to him. But at the time when he turned it over to the committee of liquidation formed by the leading bankers of London it seemed doubtful whether he would see a penny of it again.

The new earl is noted for the perfection of his manners and of his attire, his collars in particular being as famous in their way as were those of the late Mr. Gladstone. It is this that caused his commencement of a speech in the House of Commons with the words, "I am not an agricultural laborer," to excite so much hilarity. Among the sobriquets which were applied to him in the lower House was that of "Bradlaugh's Baby," owing to his political connection with Northamptonshire, with which county the first professed atheist to occupy a seat in Parliament was identified. That he is a man of some pluck is shown by the fact that at the time his half-brother, the late earl, was Viceroy of Ireland and in constant danger of assassination, he made a point of accompanying him, in an unofficial capacity, everywhere in and around Dublin, no matter whether walking or riding, for the purpose of protecting him. He succeeds to the ownership of a very stately mansion in London, known as Spencer House, overlooking Green Park, and formerly leased to Mrs. Ogden Goelet, of New York, but now rented by Baron de Forest.

Althorp, his country seat in Northamptonshire, has been in the possession of the Spencers since long before the reign of Henry VIII., and although the celebrated library was sold by the late earl to Mrs. John Rylands for the Rylands Public Library at Manchester, yet the house remains full of treasures of every kind, including no fewer than twenty paintings by Sir Joshua Reynolds and thirty-two by Lely, in addition to masterpieces by Titian, Raphael, Rubens, Murillo, Holbein, Rembrandt, Kneller, Frans Hals, Gainsborough, Vandye and Guido. The Spencer plate is also extremely valuable. It comprises two pails which are the largest pieces of pure gold plate in any private collection, and a silver wine cistern as large as a bath, all three inherited from the first Duke of Marlborough. Perhaps the most cherished pieces in the collection of plate are, however, the gold casket in which the third earl received the freedom of London when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer, and a beautiful silver-gilt jug, one of four provided by penny subscriptions from the nation for Lord Althorp, Lord Russell, Lord Grey and Lord Brougham, in recognition of their efforts in passing the Reform Bill, in the early part of the last century.

"CATCH MY PAL" UNION.

A Temperance Movement That Is Sweeping Great Britain.

Great Britain and Ireland are now being swept by a strong temperance movement which is being directed by the Irish Protestant Total Abstinence Union, or, as it is better known, the Catch My Pal Society. Its origin was singular.

July 13, 1909, Rev. R. J. Petterson, LL.B., a Presbyterian clergyman in the city of Armagh, happened to pass a lamp post around which stood six men, some of whom were recovering from the effects of a drinking bout the day before. One of the men suggested half in jest to Mr. Patterson that he should try and induce his companions to take the pledge. A conversation followed, and the six men promised to go the manse three days later as the curfew rang and take the pledge. The men carried out their undertaking, signed the pledge, and the union became an accomplished fact and grew rapidly.

From Ulster the organization spread to other parts of Ireland, and now branches are to be found south, east and west. Then the channel was crossed, and several of the large industrial centres in Scotland came under the influence of the movement, branches being formed in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Paisley and other towns.

The churches have taken a very laudable part in this organization and have worked tirelessly in promoting the cause.

The wonderful effect of the movement has surprised even those who hoped most from it. In many cases hardened drunkards have become the best pledge keepers and the anxiety of the quondam inebriate to reform his boon companion has stirred the emotion of the most phlegmatic onlooker. The result is that in every town there are at least a score of members who, in the past deemed to be hopeless slaves of drink, are now living as respectable citizens. Moreover, trade has revived. Men are now paying their debts. Children are being better fed and clothed and a higher standard of living prevails among the people.

A cigar tossed from a window in Washington set a girl's hat on fire. She was [illegible] of her danger, [illegible]

PRIMATE OF ENGLAND.

Dr. Lang Is the Youngest Archbishop Since the Middle Ages.

Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York and Primate of England, is not only the youngest archbishop in Great Britain, but the youngest who has been raised to that dignity in that country since the Middle Ages. He is the son of Principal Lang, of Aberdeen University, who has acted with distinction as moderator of the Church of Scotland and as president of the Council of Presbyterian Churches. The son left Scotland, however, to enter Balliol College at Oxford, where he soon became noted as an athlete, being specially devoted to football. In his studies his interest in sociology and economics naturally led him into the debating field, and he won the honor of being elected president of the renowned Oxford Union, that training ground of so many great Parliamentary leaders. This position may well have been the turning point in his career, for later he was appointed secretary of a committee to investigate social conditions in London's East End.

What he learned by actual observation, combined with his academic interest in social questions, caused him to resolve upon a political career as the most effective way of bringing about the changes he thought were necessary. Soon after leaving Oxford he found that his income could not stand the strain of politics, so he turned to the law and entered the Inner Temple, London, although during the years of his reading there he found time to work for improvement in slum life. His friends naturally enough predicted a brilliant and useful career for him as a barrister, but after he had passed all his examinations he withdrew his name from the list of those to be called to the Bar. He had arrived at a final decision as to his life work and had chosen the ministry.

He soon received an opportunity to put into practice his plans for the betterment of the poor, for he was given charge of the large church at Portsea, near Portsmouth, where he found plenty of work for a dozen curates as well as himself in social service. Merited recognition of his labors came eight years ago, when he was appointed Bishop of Stepney, a district in London including many of the poorest quarters, where as a young student he had first become interested in the social problem.

From this squalid and rocky vineyard he was promoted to the archbishopric of York, where he draws a salary of $50,000 a year.

Schools for Baroda.

A small, dark man, accompanied by two beautiful women in eastern dress and with a train of olive-skinned dependents, landed in England the other day. No one who saw him land or who watched his pleasant, modest demeanor on board during the voyage from America would have guessed that he was the ruler over 2,000,000 people, the richest, one of the most enlightened, and one of the most powerful of the princes of the native states of India. The Gaekwar of Baroda is a great admirer of English institutions. He has been especially struck with the quiet, friendly charm of its country life. "One object of my journey," he said, "is to add to my knowledge of educational methods and ideals. Baroda is the only state in India where schools are free and compulsory. I established them because I am sure that it is useless to expect any real progress among the Indian people until they are less ignorant."

A Singular Request.

A peculiar fate is said to overhang the family of the late Sir Julian Goldsmid. An ancestor of his, so says the legend, once gave shelter to a rabbi, who at his death left to him a bequest of a mysterious box which was on no account to be opened until after the customary seven days of mourning. If opened before that time a curse would fall upon the family. Curiosity got the better of superstition, and the box was opened before the seven days were up. In it was found a document which said that as the injunction of the rabbi had not been heeded no future owner of the estate would be succeeded by a son. And such, strangely enough, has been the case ever since.

Cheetahs Train For the Hunt.

Trained cheetahs are used in Persia and India in much the same manner that hounds are used in European and North American countries. The game they are used to hunt is principally deer and antelope. The cheetah is an animal with black and brown spots resembling a leopard, but longer in body and limb. The Indian princes keep packs of them for the hunt. The heads of the hunting cheetahs are usually covered with a hood until within 200 yards of the game. The hoods are then removed, and the animals creep stealthily toward the herd and, having approached as near as possible, pounce upon their prey, killing with one blow of the paw.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.00 a.m. 9.10 p.m.	8.20 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 8.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.20 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 8.15 p.m.	8.25 a.m. 12.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—
11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—
5.38 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.03 a.m. for Orangeville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.38 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

Rev. Samuel Martin, D.D., a pioneer missionary of the Presbyterian church, died at Lialkot, India.

A New Laxative —the best known to modern medicine —is the active principle which makes

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES

so much better than ordinary physics. While thoroughly effective, they never gripe, purge or cause nausea, and never lose their effectiveness. One of the best of the NA-DRU-CO line.

25c. a box. If your druggist has not yet stocked them, send 25c. and we will mail them. 23

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. - - - Montreal.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

To One and All is the Wish of

E. F. MASON

New York 'longshoremen ended their plan to strike on January 1st, waiting promise of increased pay.

Mrs. Abbie Pingham, colored, whose death occurred in New York, had reached the age of 112 years.

Grief over the death of Count Tolstoi caused a Williamsburg, N.Y., man to become violently insane.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas H. Fletcher

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.

Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe	570	Bronchitis	196
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	86	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL

150 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 16, Bell or Machine.

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited

Gifts for New Year's Day

Stronger every year grows the custom, a graceful one, too, of giving dainty little keepsakes to one's loved ones on New Year's Day. Then, also, can be remembered those who by some mischance or other were forgotton at Christmas. It is a simple way of paying one's gift debts—a New Year's Present.

MEN'S PURE IRISH LINEN INITIAL HANDKERCHIEFS, neatly hemstitched. 3 IN A FANCY BOX FOR 75c

LADIES' PURE IRISH LINEN INITIAL Hemstitched HANDKERCHIEFS, reg. value, 3 in a box for 50c, Special while they last 35c a Box

Neckwear at a Saving

Special Value in Ladies' FANCY COLLARS in all styles and patterns, from 25c up to.... $1.50

IF SANTA CLAUS DISAPPOINTED YOU and you did not get those Silk Stockings you were looking for, we will be pleased to show you the values we have at..........$1,00, $1.35 and $1.50 pr.

Ladies' Umbrellas

At Special Prices for this week Ladies' Umbrellas with neat and fancy handles from $1.00 up to.................. $5.00

Suit and Cloak Department

MAID'S LONG COATS, in black, navy and grey heavy serges and wide wale cloths. $7.50, $10 and $12 values, your choice for $5 & $6.50

CLASSY CHILDREN'S COATS, in exclusive cloths, $7.50 and $10.00 values Your choice for.................. $4 & $5

LADIES' CARICUL CLOTH COATS, $18 values, for.................. $11.75

LADIES' LONG BLACK COATS, semi and close fitting, man tailored, at.................. $4 & $5
Former value $7.50 and $10.00.

LADIES' LONG BATH ROBES and dressing gowns, made from handsome patterns in eider cloths, always in favor. No two patterns alike, at.. $4.48

THREE PRICES AND STYLES in ladies' high class tailored plain white linens and vestings and fancy dress blouses, $1.25 $1.50 and $1,85 values. Your choice for.................. 75c

Robt. Fair & Co. LIMITED

RESUME OF POWER DEVELOPMENT

(From Bowmanville Statesman)

Last week we had only space for a brief reference to the advent of electric power to Bowmanville and promised our citizens this week fuller particulars of our interview with managers of the Seymour Power & Electric Co. They have since their visit to town supplied us with an illustration that will aid the reader in getting a clearer idea of the district operations of this enterprising company—a real boon to the whole district. We desire, therefore, to direct the attention of our readers at the outset of the illustration showing the electric power transmission lines which are now under construction by the Seymour Power and Electric Co., and the other companies associated with it in the distribution of electric power through the Trent River district.

Our readers will specially notice that the operations of these companies are limited strictly to those counties and townships which have been grouped together by the Hydro Electric Commission in its report of the water powers of Ontario under the happy title of the Trent River district, in which is included all the municipalities and townships which can be most economically served with electric power from the Trent River as the source of supply.

It will, we feel sure, be a matter of great satisfaction to all our county readers to know that development of electric power in our district is being carried out by local people and that we have not had to look outside our own boundaries for the enterprise which is developing the power for the co-operation of our present and future factories.

The Seymour Power and Electric Company was originally formed to develop certain water powers in the vicinity of Campbellford and the head office of the Company is still located in that town. Its work of construction organization has been proceeded with very quietly and practically the attention of the public has never been drawn to the rapid creation of this great enterprise. It has followed almost as a matter of course that the other companies operating along the Trent River have found it to their advantage to form a friendly working arrangement with the Seymour people and to secure the service of the energetic management of that company to handle the development of the water powers which the various companies controlled.

When we realize that active construction by the Seymour Company was only commenced in the early months of the year 1909, and that we are promised transmission lines and delivery of power throughout the district before the end of 1911, we must express our appreciation of the sound business judgment which has been shown by the many citizens of our district who held water power investments previous to the year 1909 and whose co-operation has been necessary in the building up of the great transmission system.

The water powers on the Trent River are in three separate groups, the first group extending from Trenton to Frankford, a distance of about six miles, in which approximately 25,000 horse-power can be developed. The second group extends from Meyersburg to Healy Falls, a distance of about 10 miles, in which about 30,000 h.p. can be developed, and the third extends from Peterboro to Burleigh Falls, a distance of about 20 miles, in which 25,000 h.p. can be developed. It is the announced intention of the power company to develop its various holdings along the river as rapidly as possible, concentrating the power developed on each section of the river into one main switching station, through which all the power of that section will be handled.

During 1911 the power company expects to furnish power from two stations near Trenton with a capacity of approximately 8,000 h.p., from two stations near Campbellford with a capacity of about 6,000 h.p., and from two stations in Peterborough with a capacity of about 4,000 h.p., making 18,000 h.p. ready for delivery in 1911.

The power company is also constructing a main transmission, which will connect the three switching stations to which we have referred, and will pass through Peterborough, Hastings, Campbellford, Trenton, Cobourg, Port Hope and Bowmanville. The purpose of this transmission system is to minimize the possibility of interruption of service from accidental cause of any nature. This arrangement, taken together with the number of independent stations at which power will be developed, reduces the possibility of shutdown to a minimum and places the entire power of the Trent river available at any point in the transmission district.

The progress of construction is well advanced and power is now being delivered to some 12 sub-stations over nearly 175 miles of transmission system. By the end of 1911 it is expected that at least 25 sub-stations will be in service, and from 300 to 350 miles of transmission line, the purpose of the company being to reach with its service every commercial centre in the district having a population of about 500 or over and from these commercial centres it is expected that local transmission lines will be constructed throughout the townships on the co-operation plans already being followed in connection with telephone and similar public services.

It is estimated that at the present time not more than one-third of the power of the Trent river can be utilized in the district, even if it is assumed that all the factories at present operating by steam power are willing and ready to alter their equipment to suit electric power.

The greatest problem, therefore, that lies before the officials of the power company is to find a market for some 60,000 h.p. at present running to waste, and it is understood that it is the purpose of the company to aid manufacturing development in every legitimate way, co-operating in this work with the councils and the boards of trade of the different municipalities who have done so much in recent years to aid in the development and up-building of our district.

It is estimated that the expense of developing and utilizing the Trent river powers will be a sum in the neighborhood of $15,000,000.00, and as it is not physically possible to transmit the power from the Trent river advantageously to any point outside of our district, the successful development of the water powers means an even greater and more satisfactory development of manufacturing industry in our midst.

It is, of course, a matter of common knowledge that nearly all the most prominent manufacturing concerns in this district have been interested in the Trent river water powers and are acting in co-operation with the new company, and the future manufacturer may therefore expect effective assistance not only from the municipality from which he decides to locate but also from the power company which is so vitally interested in the successful building up of its business.

There is perhaps no organization that can more successfully aid the extension of industry amongst our towns than a power company. The interests of the great railway companies are not confined to our own district and they have no object in concentrating their energies to the uplifting of this particular locality in preference to any other locality served by them. The ability of the municipalities to aid industry is strictly limited by law so that it is only in special cases that a municipality can act aggressively in its own interests, whereas a power company is necessarily confined in its activities to its own district and is free to aid in the upbuilding of any industrial undertaking which in the judgment of its managers is in the hands of capable, experienced and trustworthy people.

It should be generally known that the development of the greatest powers on the Trent River, namely, Healy Falls and Ranney Falls, has not yet been commenced, the desire of the power company being to avoid any interference with progress of the works of the Trent Canal now in progress at both the points mentioned. These two great powers amounting together to approximately 30,000 h.p. will be available for the use of the district in 1912 or 1913. As an instance of the conservation of the natural resources for the benefit of the public at large, we would point out that the water powers on the Trent River are under strict government control; the operation of these powers, and the construction of the power plants being in all details subject to the local officers of the Department of Railways and Canals. The jurisdiction of the Board of Railway Commissioners is absolute over the critical question as to the rates at which power will be furnished to the users in the district, the authority of the Board in any cases of injustice or overcharging being absolute, and the record of the Board in its many controversies with the great railway companies is such that we may look for very effective relief from it if the power company is unwise enough to give us reason to make application to the Board.

The transmission lines are planned so that the power may be delivered at almost equal cost to the point within the district, and it is the announced policy of the power company to extend equal treatment to all the municipalities so that any privilege as to rate or terms of sale granted to any one municipality will be extended on request to any other municipality similarly situated. Our readers may have noted in the several franchises which are now being advertised for by-law in different municipalities that the rates for power are practically the same at all points, although we must reasonably expect that more advantageous contracts can be obtained in the towns directly on the river or very close to it where the expense of high voltage transmission can be avoided.

For operating purposes the headquarters of the company has been established in Belleville, but the management of the company will remain in the hands of the original officers of the Seymour Power and Electric Co. The President of the company being Mr. J. G. G. Kerry, a member of the firm of Smith, Kerry & Chase, Toronto, and recently General Manager of the Northumberland Paper & Electric Co., of Campbellford. The secretary is Mr. A. P. Colville, of Campbellford, Ont.

ANNUAL TEA AT APSLEY WAS SPLENDID SUCCESS

Apsley, Dec. 28.—The annual tea meeting and entertainment with a Christmas tree under the management of the Methodist church, was held here on Christmas Eve. The tea was given in the town hall, after which all repaired to the church, where the following programme was rendered—

PART I.

Chairman's address—Rev. H. G. Garbutt.
Anthem—All Hail.
Acrostic—Christmas Children.
Solo—Julia Earnshaw.
Recitation—Miss M. A. Hales.
Anthem—Choir.
Chorus—"Where the Sugar Maple Grows," by the School.
Dialogue—Circumstances Alter Cases
Recitation—Mildred Kilborn.
Flag Drill.
Recitation—Miss Bessie Hales.
Distribution of presents by Santa Claus.

PART II.

Dialogue—The Old Maid.
Instrumental Duet—Mrs. W. Lean and Mrs. W. Staples.
Recitation—Emma Masters
Solo—Mr. Baldry.
Dialogue—Peach Pie.
Recitation—Miss Gertie Hearns.
Violin Solo—Mr. W. Staples.
Chorus—"Christmas Bell," School
Recitation—Mildred Kilborn.
Solo—Mr. Baldry.

Mr. J. W. Hales, of Peterborough was present with his phonograph and favored the audience with a number of selections throughout the programme.

The programme was closed with the National Anthem.

The members of the church were rewarded for their persistent efforts to prepare and render a programme of exceptional merit by a full house, and all fully appreciated the rendition of the several numbers on the programme. The parts rendered by the little folks were of high merit and were given in a manner which showed great care had been used in the preparation.

The Christmas tree was a marvel of beauty, and was a credit to the committee in charge. Santa Claus, who had driven up from Peterboro, appeared in latest costume, and greeted everyone in his jovial, good-natured manner. He, with the aid of the ladies of the church, relieved the tree of its many gifts and distributed them to those whom they were awarded. Baskets of candies and nuts were passed around among the children. Before leaving Santa Claus said this was his first visit to the Apsley Methodist church and he was delighted to meet the little folks, and also to have the pleasure of giving a few gifts to the older ones, and hoped he would have the pleasant opportunity of meeting them all again at the Yuletide season of 1911.

BETHANY SUNDAY SCHOOL HELD AN ENTERTAINMENT

The Bethany Presbyterian Sunday school held their annual Christmas tree and entertainment on Tuesday evening. The scholars and friends met at the Orange Hall, where sleighs awaited them, and a drive was enjoyed. Returning to the hall tea was served and the following program was given with Rev. Dr. Marsh making a happy chairman—

Duet—Katie Babbington and May Hoodie.
Reading—Alice Ryley.
Trio—Three Girls.
Reading—Mr McCartney.
Speech—Mr. Bateman.
Song—May Hoddie.
Recitation—Mary McGill.
Song—Kate Babbington
Recitation—Arthur Jamieson.
Song—Three Girls.
Speech—Mr. Jamieson.
Dialogue — Arthur Jamieson and others.

Presents were distributed from the Christmas tree and all present were made happy.

COULD SELL GOODS AT HOME IF CATALOGS TOLD TRUTH

There has of recent years arisen an agitation in the United States looking to the protection of people in the smaller towns, and in the rural districts from what are known as mail order sharks. The schemes of some of these firms were so plausible and so far-reaching that the Legislatures of several States have found it necessary to pass laws curbing the thing as far as possible. Under the United States system of government, it is difficult to bring unprincipled firms to task if they are doing business from another state and as the loss to any one individual is not sufficient to justify him in incurring the expense of protracted law suits, and no one was deeply enough interested to organize the victims with a view to co-operate action the matter went from bad to worse.

Now, however, the Federal Government at Washington has taken a hand in the matter, and accomplished considerable good by prohibiting these firms from using the United States mails to forward their nefarious schemes. It was found that a large number of socalled magazines were merely organs for these mail order houses. They would offer a somewhat pretentious monthly paper at an absurdly low subscription price, not sufficient to pay for the ink, to say nothing of the paper on which they were printed, or the cost of compilation or postage. One monthly offered a three years' subscription for twenty-five cents.

It is not assumed that all mail order houses are positive frauds. In many cases they do send the material paid for; but even in those cases experienced buyers found that the prices paid were too high for the quality of merchandise furnished. The point is that a paternal government found it necessary to protect the people against themselves, and to show that it did not pay to patronize mail order houses.

Things have not reached such a condition in Canada yet, but there is ample evidence that there is a tendency in the same direction. If we would profit by the mistakes of our neighbors, we will confine our purchases to our immediate vicinity, and deal with people who are not only perfectly responsible financially, but who are right at our doors. Experience has shown this to be the wisest policy. If there is any mistake, the local merchant finds it to his own interest, for the sake of further business, to satisfy his customer; but the mail order house knows that no person will go to the expense of taking a small matter into the courts, and trust to their flamboyant advertisements to keep their business up to a high point.

Every one knows that it must cost such firms more to do business. Some one must pay for the catalogues and postage and the express charges they offer to pay if you buy a certain amount. People should realize that they are the ones who pay, for all these things, and that the effort to get something for nothing always results in getting nothing for something. You may depend upon it that if an article is worth anything, the merchant in this city either has it or will get it for you and will charge only a fair price for it. He knows values and can be depended upon to get you your money's worth in every transaction.

Buy at home. It will save many disappointments and will make you a more valuable citizen of Peterborough.

ANSTRUTHER

Special to the Review.

Anstruther, Dec. 26.—Messrs. Will and Joe Tucker are home for Christmas.

Miss Ella Knox, Lakefield, spent a few days, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Zac Tucker.

The concert on the 23rd was a success, and those who took part are to be congratulated.

Messrs. Walter Gerrard and Alex. Trotter and Misses Edna Trotter and Marion McPherson, from Clydesdale, attended the concert of the school.

Miss Ella Brown is the guest of Miss Emma Tucker.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

Many Happy Returns
of the Day.
MR. E. LECH,
Dec. 29, 1870.
A. G. CARRUTHERS,
Dec. 29, 1870.

THE G.T.P. CO.'S NEW STEAMERS

The new steamships of the Grand Trunk Pacific Coast Steamship Co., operating between Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Prince Rupert, and the Portland Canal, are receiving pleasing encomiums regarding the service they are offering.

At Grand Trunk Pacific headquarters a letter has been received from a prominent member of the Government which reads as follows—

"I made so enjoyable a trip on the steamer "Prince Rupert," to the north and return that I cannot allow the occasion to pass without congratulating you on the splendid service of the steamer.

Capt Johnson and his officers are a fine lot of men, and the service and attention on the vessel are all that can be desired."

Another letter which came in by the same mail from a prominent traveller, and which was unsolicited, reads as follows:

"Along with a couple of friends of mine, I travelled to Prince Rupert early in October, and I feel that it would be lacking in appreciation not to let you know how much we were impressed with the magnificent steamships you have on that route. The appointments, food, and service we found all that could be desired, and as one of the party stated "This is the finest steamship 'Prince George' I have ever the good fortune to travel on, the service the best, and the trip the most interesting I have ever had."

Same-Municipal Board

The following is a statement of nominations for the township of Chandos, 1911:

For Reeve—Wm. Hales, elected by acclamation.

For Councillors—Chris. Jones, Mike Hoobins, Jno. Winters, Jos. Whitmore, all elected by acclamation.

Lenses Changed After Xmas

The Optical Institute is supplying beautiful Eyeglasses and Spectacles complete with name in gold on the case, for gifts. They will comfort and please the recipient for many days. Many parents and others neglect their eyes until the necessity is noticed by some kind son daughter or friend.

Eyeglasses and Spectacles, $3.50, $5, $7.50 and $12.50.

Beautiful Reading Glasses $1.00, $2.50, $3 and $4.50.

Eyeglass Holders with chain and initials engraved, $1.50, $2.50 and $5.

The Peterboro Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING
J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

Make Your
NEW YEAR HAPPY
By getting your New Outfit from us

You will surely be delighted and look well in one of our most up-to-date and stylish garments, which you can afford to have now without paying all the cash down.

Easy terms of payment $1.00, $2.00 or $3.00 per week, and you may have :—

FOR LADIES—Handsome Suits, Skirts, Coats, Underskirts, Blouses, and Furs of all sorts.

FOR GENTLEMEN—Heavy weight Winter Suits, also blue and black Serges, Fur-lined Coats, Trousers

Fine assortment of Home Furnishings, Floor Oilcloths, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, and a very large assortment of all-wool Blankets.

Open an Account with Us this New Year and You will be Happy all Year

THE KNICKERBOCKER CO.
CREDIT CLOTHIERS
422 George Street Phone 711

ENTERTAINMENT FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL AT SPRINGVILLE

The annual entertainment of Springville Presbyterian Sunday school was held last night with a large attendance. The following was the excellent programme of songs, recitations, and dialogues;

Opening number, All Hail the Power.
Song, God Preserve Thee Canada, by the young men.
Song, Miss Tindle and Mr. Tully.
Recitation, Marion Clark.
Dialogue, Melleville and Harry Brown.
Recitation, Lizzie Sherwood.
Recitation, Oren Robinson.
Violin duet, Miss Ira Marsh and Mr. John Wilson.
Quartette, Fred Wilson, Thos. McConnel, J. B. Fowler and John Marsh.
Recitation, Cecil Fowler
Recitation, Phelma Hall.
Dialogue, Marion Clark and Bobbule Whitfield.
Song, Will Whitfield and Thos. McConnel.
Song, One Hundred Pipers, by young men.
Recitation, Miss Wilkinson.
Solo, Mr. Tully.
Song, Cort. Miller.
Dialogue, Seven Girls.
Recitation, Miss Velda Thew.

During an intermission a diploma was presented to Bessie Wilson for memorizing Scripture verses.

Reading, W. Whitfield.
A clever musical selection, Thos. McConnel and Bert Sanderson.
Reading, Mary Marsh.
Dialogue, George Whitfield, John Whitfield, Bobbie Ball, Velma Sanderson and others.

After the distribution from the Christmas tree to the scholars the young men sang "The Maple Leaf," and the entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of God Save the King.

Excellent Day and Night Services From Peterboro to Montreal Via Grand Trunk Railway System

Day train leaves Peterborough 8.30 a.m., arrives Belleville 11.10 a.m., and Montreal 6 p.m., carrying parlor-library car and dining car, Belleville to Montreal, also Pullman sleeper to Boston.

Night train leaves Peterborough 9.03 p.m., leaves Port Hope Jct. 10.30 p.m., arrives Montreal 7.01 a.m., carrying modern Pullman sleepers, Port Hope to Montreal. By travelling this way you can take Pullman at convenient hour and enjoy comfortable night's rest over a first-class double-tracked line.

Full information, tickets, berth reservations, etc., may be obtained from W. Bunton, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, or F. Sandy, Depot Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

Many Happy Returns

No doubt you have been remembered by either friends from home or abroad— everybody has. You may wish to return the compliment, and at no time will it be more acceptable than at New Years. A New Years gift is always acceptable and to our many friends would say that you can still make a good choice from our extensive

Furnishing Department

In this department you will find the best Underwear, Hoisery, Gloves, Neckwear, Scarfs, Mufflers, Handkerchiefs, Shirts, Suspenders, Vests, Cardigans, Coat Sweaters, etc., etc.

H. LeBRUN & CO.
The Style Store for Men and Boys

PROBABILITIES
Decidedly colder Saturday, fine and very cold.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. LXI., No. 150. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1910 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

ANOTHER COMMISSION; THIS COMPANY ENTERED SUIT AND GOT ITS MONEY

A Second Declaration of His Having Received Rake-Off Confronts M. T. Buchanan at Oxford County Inquiry, and Sequel is Pathetic—Fred Vickert Says He Was Offered the Wardenship For a Price.

Woodstock, Dec. 30.—Three officials of Oxford County slept contentedly last night. Investigation proceedings regarding them were dropped by Crown Inquisitor E. F. B. Johnston, after he had made them squirm uneasily in the witness box in an endeavor to unravel a mesh of rumors to the effect that they had paid for their positions. Counsel withdrew the charges against them because he was indisposed to pursue on "hearsay evidence."

But in the case of M. T. Buchanan, ex-warden and county "boss," there is no let-up.

He was confronted yesterday afternoon with another flat declaration of having demanded and received a commission on road machinery bought by the county. J. L. Thayer, former territorial agent for the John C. Case Co., gave evidence that Buchanan received $340 as a commission upon $5,000 worth of rollers and wagons from this firm.

This little incident had a painful sequel for Buchanan, for, when the company learned of the transaction, they entered suit against him and the money was returned. All of which was brought out by Counsel Johnston, and Mr. Buchanan did not offer to repudiate it when offered the opportunity by Judge Snider.

Two other little affairs were touched upon which may be at least taken as indicators of the mammoth influence Buchanan is believed to have had in the appointment of county officials.

Fred Vickert was called to the stand to explain the meaning of a speech he made in the City Hall Wednesday night, when he stated publicly that the wardenship of 1905 had been offered to him by Buchanan, and if he'd been willing to put up the price he could have had it. He asserted under oath that Mr. Buchanan had told him he could be warden and still retain the job of road commissioner and, though he confessed that there had been no suggestion of "paying the price," he understood that that was what was meant.

He had spurned the offer, saying: "If I can't have it without paying for it, I don't want it."

"What justification did you have for making such a statement in addressing a public meeting? Was there a price mentioned?" asked Mr. Johnston.

"No; but I inferred it."

Another allegation that Buchanan tried to get control of the Ingersoll and Port Burwell Road Co.'s toll road before it was taken over by the county was brought up, and will be continued when the enquiry resumes on Wednesday next.

Dr. F. D. Canfield, vice-president of the road company, testified that Buchanan had called at his house in the spring of 1904 and had asked what the shareholders would take for the road. He was told that $16,500 was the price, and he asked if they would not be satisfied to take $15,000, proposing that $1,500 could be used to advantage in facilitating the deal through council. The proposal was not entertained. In the fall they offered the road to the council for $19,000 and the council rejected it. It went to arbitration, and the board on Oct. 3 awarded them $17,000, plus $150 for fees. This money was paid to Secretary-Treasurer W. A. Dowler. Dowler got the shareholders to assign individually to him at something less than 100 cents on the dollar, and they were paid out of the $17,000.

Judge Snider announced in adjournment till Wednesday next, that he would conclude the enquiry next Thursday evening. He hopes to have the report ready by the middle of January.

Nationalist Defeated.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—The Liberals swept everything before them in St. Johns yesterday, where Mr. Robert was elected by 600 majority, carrying every poll in the constituency. At the last general elections Gabriel Marchand, Liberal, carried the county by 332, the party majority yesterday being almost double. The English vote went solid for the Liberals, both in the Town of St. Johns and in Lacolle. The Nationalists played the anti-navy game for all it was worth, and their defeat has been a crushing one.

Reciprocity Negotiations.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—An effort is being made to induce Sir Richard Cartwright to accompany Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. William Paterson to Washington to take part in the reciprocity negotiations, but it is unlikely that he will go. The proceedings there will begin probably on Jan. 12. Mr. Fielding, while still suffering from his facial trouble, is in much better health than he was in the autumn. It is expected that he will be in his seat in the House after his return from Washington.

Bedouins on Rampage.

Constantinople, Dec. 30.—The Bedouins of the district adjoining Kerak have massacred several Government officials and a number of the inhabitants. They also tore up the railway line and cut the telegraph wires.

Their dissatisfaction is due to the census of Bedouins that has been taken, and to measures of disarmament. Modeba is besieged. Details are lacking.

ATTACK ON CONSORT

London, Dec. 30.—Edward Mylius, who was arrested Monday at Shepherd's Bush, charged with being concerned in the publication of a paper called The Liberator, was arraigned before Sir Samuel Evans Wednesday charged with sedition.

The Liberator is published in Paris by the Ponroy Co., and its publisher is Edward Hilton James, said to be a wealthy American lawyer. The police have been watching it closely for some time, but no action was taken until the November issue appeared.

A colored leaflet was issued with the June issue, setting forth in large type: "France and America salute thee, England—Long Live Kier Hardie—Hail to the Revolution—Down With the Proletariat—Long live Egypt, India and Ireland—Hail to the People, and Long May they Reign."

A virulent attack on the consort of the late Queen Victoria and statements concerning the alleged morganatic marriage of King George caused the raid.

Robberies to Help Anarchists.

London, Dec. 30.—Some of the evening papers assert that the police investigations of the recent burglaries committed by a band of Russians show that London was the headquarters of a gang which carried on extensive robberies to secure money, with which to further an anarchistic propaganda.

Literature preaching anarchy has been discovered among the burglars' effects, as well as explosives, which might be used in the construction of bombs, or for the purpose of safe-blowing. Translators are engaged on bundles of letters discovered, and which, according to the newspapers, make important revelations.

Several anarchist clubs have meeting places in the east end where the burglars lived, but they have not been molested, as the members confined their activities to writing and making speeches. The papers says that the Government is likely to change its policy in this respect, as is already indicated in the recent suppression of an anarchist paper. Neighbors of the burglar who was fatally wounded at the time that three police officers, who had interrupted a burglary were shot to death, state that the man recently made a trip to America and that he received mail from that country.

Protest the Award.

Berlin, Dec. 30.—The Lower Rhine Aeronautic Association yesterday announced its decision to protest the award of the James Gordon Bennett Cup to Alan R. Hawley, winner of the last international balloon race.

A statement, setting forth the grounds of the contest of the American's right to the trophy, alleges first, that the American Aero Club did not enter its contestants two months in advance of the race, as is provided by the rules, and again that Hawley failed to furnish documents attesting his landing place, as required by the International Aeronautic Federation, his log book being illegible.

Hawley, accompanied by Augustus Post, piloted the balloon America II, from St. Louis to Peribonka River, Saguenay district, Quebec, a distance of 1,171 13-100 miles, Oct. 17-19, 1910.

Boy Had Foot Crushed.

Kingston, Dec. 30.—Thomas Clifford, aged 7, of Deseronto, had a very narrow escape from death yesterday. He was riding on a farmer's sleigh and fell off just at the railway crossing. His foot fell on the rails and the train crushed one side of it into pulp. He was operated on at the Hotel Dieu Hospital. After the accident the lad walked some distance. He did not seem to have sustained serious injury, as the rubber he wore was not even cut.

Militia Changes.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—Militia orders issued yesterday announce that Major R. A. Helmer is appointed director of musketry and Albert E. Swift inspector of small arms.

Lt.-Col. A. C. Henderson will command the 3rd Infantry Brigade, vice Col. A. Bertram, who goes to the reserve of officers.

Col. A. Roy becomes D.O.C. for the Quebec district, in place of Col. Gordon, who has been retired.

A Fatal Mistake.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 30.—Three communicants have died and 29 others are seriously ill as a consequence of a mistake made by an elder of the Lutheran Church in the Peterhof district, who Wednesday evening filled the communion cup with a mixture of sulphurated chromate instead of wine.

Dividing the Spoils.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 30.—Rev. James Barber, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, charged yesterday that issuers of marriage licenses regularly divided profits with hackmen who bring them purchasers. It is also charged that two local ministers divide marriage fees with hackmen.

Called at the White House.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Chairman Mabee of the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, called at the White House yesterday, with Chairman Martin A. Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

PREACHERS AND WOMEN FINED

Disfranchised for Selling Votes and Receive Six Months Suspended Sentence---Pastors' Names Are Suppressed by Jury.

Special to The Review.

West Union, Ohio, Dec. 30.—Two preachers and many women have been drawn into the Adams county ballot scandal, the ministers confessing they had sold their votes for $5 each, and the women asserting they had put a price on the votes of their husbands, sons and sweethearts. Following these disclosures, men appeared in court in droves and confessed selling their votes to-day.

All were fined the amount they said they received, disfranchised for five years and sentenced to six months in the workhouse. The last part of the sentence was suspended.

The names of the two pastors were kept secret by the grand jury.

The total of indictments now reaches 1,071, and not a single citizen will be with the right of franchise in one school district of Jefferson township, which includes the town of Walmsleyville.

Quebec Bridge.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—There is said to be a difference of opinion between the members of the Quebec Bridge Commission over the award of the contract and outside experts may have to be called in to decide on a technical point of design. The choice is understood to lie between the British Empire Co. of England and the St. Lawrence Bridge Co.

And Still They Come.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—Official Government estimates of the immigration to Canada during 1910 place the number at 350,000, of whom 150,000 are from the United States. For the coming year the influx is expected to be about half a million.

Clemency For Express Robber.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Dec. 30.—It is reported here that William Dobson, serving four years in Kingston for robbing the Canadian Express Co. of $14,000, will be released Saturday through efforts of petitions.

PLANS FAR-REACHING; ASQUITH'S PROGRAMME IS AN EXTENSIVE ONE

Veto Bill, Local Government For Ireland, Redistribution, Electoral Reform, $1,500 a Year to Members of Commons, State Insurance, and Welsh Disestablishment Are Among His Bills.

London, Dec. 30.—It is learned on good authority that the Asquith Government, feeling that the result of the recent general election justifies them in the belief that they have received a mandate from the people to carry out far-reaching measures of reform, have decided to introduce the following program:

1. Veto Bill.
2. Local government for Ireland, and possibly home rule all around.
3. Electoral reform, including
   (a) Re-distribution according to population. The basis will be about 12,000 voters for one member.
   (b) One man one vote.
   (c) Elections on one and the same day. (Elections now last three weeks.)
   (d) Payment of members—$1,500 a year.
   (e) Reduction of the legal expenses of elections.
   (f) Stringent regulations as to voters.
   (g) Three months' residence to qualify for a vote. (It now takes about 18 months.)
4. State insurance against
   (a) Unemployment.
   (b) Sickness.
   (c) Invalidity.
5. Disestablishment of the Church of England in Wales.

The Ulster Firebrands.

London, Dec. 30.—"Many Irishmen have been sent to penal servitude for life for doing nothing worse than the Orangemen are now boasting of in Ulster."

This declaration in The London Leader by Harold Spender, the best-informed publicist in the Liberal ranks, shows how the Liberal leaders take the threat of an Ulster uprising, in the event that Parliament eventually grants home rule.

"I do not suggest that the terrible punishments which the Orangemen joyfully saw meted out to their opponents in 1886 should now be meted out to them," Spender says. "But I do suggest that when people, defeated at the polls, begin to advertise in German newspapers for weapons with which to fight the forces of the crown, the Government would be wise to keep a careful eye on their activities."

A Corner on Power.

Winnipeg, Dec. 30.—According to a local paper, private corporations are working out a plan to acquire all hydro-electric sites on the Winnipeg River below Lac Du Bonnet, using small companies and dummy directors to make applications for charters, which will later, when secured, be in all probability merged or incorporated into one large company. The paper deduces from the manner in which the work is being carried on and the conditions existing at the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway's plant at Lac Du Bonnet, that Mackenzie and Mann are behind the project.

A Queer Mix-Up.

Tilbury, Dec. 30.—A queer mix-up has occurred in Tilbury West Township as the result of non-compliance with the statute requiring all nominations to be made in writing and four candidates for reeve and nine for township councillors may be disqualified.

The statute provides for every possible emergency except the one that has arisen, but it is considered probable that if any attempt at disqualification is made it will be necessary to hold a new election.

Black Hand Outrage.

New York, Dec. 30.—Because Giordino Sargona, a wealthy Italian grocer, refused to pay tribute to the Black Hand, his home at 54 East 13th street, was dynamited yesterday. The lower floors were wrecked and Sargona's bride of two months, and his aunt, had narrow escapes from death. At the time of the explosion a special "Black Hand squad" from police headquarters was at work almost within a stone's throw of the outrage, looking for suspects.

No Need for Subjects.

Kingston, Dec. 30.—Medical authorities at Queen's say that, as the college is well supplied with bodies for dissecting purposes, there is no need for students to steal bodies. A few years ago the situation was serious, as some inspectors sent bodies to Toronto instead of Kingston. Protests from the authorities, however, increased the supply, which now averages about two bodies a month the year round. The number required each year is 15 to 18.

Power Proposition for Kingston.

Kingston, Dec. 30.—Iroquois capitalists have secured water powers adjacent to Calabogie, Renfrew County, and High Falls, Labelle County, Que., and if there is sufficient market will transmit power through Eastern Ontario. M. Beach, who is here representing the capitalists, says he can provide Kingston with electric energy for not more than $20 per horse-power, and he will make the city a proposition.

Fortunes For Aviators.

Paris, Dec. 30.—Nearly $60,000 in aeroplane prizes remains to be won before Jan. 1, but the weather is bad and there is small chance of new world records being made in the interval.

Maurice Tabuteau and Henry Farman yesterday tried to beat Le Gagneux's record for the Michelin Cup, but a fog compelled them to descend at the end of three hours.

"Billy, the Gambler."

Calgary, Dec. 30.—Harry Steele shot himself in the stomach yesterday, and is not expected to recover. He expressed regret that he was unsuccessful. He is about 36 years old, and came here from Crow's Nest, where he was known as "Billy the Gambler." His former home was in Montreal. He had been working here in a cafe.

Won't Dismiss Laberge.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—All the controllers except M. Guerin have refused to dismiss Dr. Laberge, the city health officer, because he happens to be a Freemason. The men who stand for liberty of conscience are Dr. Lachapel and Messrs. Dupuis, Ainey and Wanklyn, so to-day the council will again take up the matter.

SPECIAL NEW YEAR'S ATTRACTION

Grand Opera House, Monday, January 2

SCENES FROM ST ELMO

THE MUCH TALKED OF PLAY

SCENE FROM ST. ELMO

SCENE FROM ST. ELMO

SCENE FROM ST. ELMO

SCENE FROM ST. ELMO

Special Matinee at 2:30 p.m.
Prices 25 to 75c; Children 15c

Evening at 8:30 p.m.
Prices 25c to 75c, Few at $1.00

YOU WILL DO WELL TO BOOK YOUR SEAT EARLY

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, DEC. 30, 1910.

HUDSON BAY RY. OPERATION

With the west unanimous in its demands that the Hudson's Bay Railway be a "people's road," and operated by the Government independently of the corporations, the problem, apart from the question of the merits and demerits of public ownership and operation, presents some peculiar features. Those who know the country tell us that such a road can be operated only two or three months of the year—offering an intensely practical objection to the operation of the road by a government commission. Such operation could be attended only by as much confusion incident to hasty organization, and by a large annual deficit.

The handing of the road after construction, to Mackenzie and Mann, or any other corporation, for operation is equally objectionable. The farmers tell us that they would rather not be given the line at all than see it hung on as an appendage to the C.N.R. system, or any other system. They reason, with good ground, that when suffering from evils in heavy rates on grain and produce to the head of the lakes, to lose this opportunity to have an independent, competing route, is criminal against the community interest.

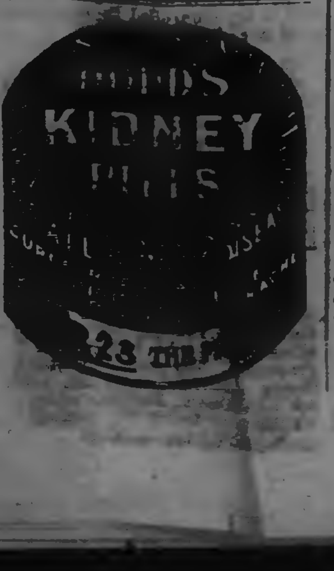
Here is a solution to the question, as proposed by a prominent railroad contractor. It avoids the pitfalls and retains the benefits of private operation, guards the interests of the people, keeps the line free for competition, and maintains it in full governmental control.

Let us, grant that, in this case, the obstacles to government operation are so great that they make an impassable barrier. The suggestion is advanced that the Government should build the line for the people, making it double track if necessary. Let the government build the terminals, the stations, (not many will be needed) equip the road with fixtures, operate the telegraph line, all under a commission which shall have charge of the property. This leaves the provision of rolling stock, and carrying facilities out of the question. This is where the railways enter.

Let all the railways alike be given running rights without lease over this "people's" road, a tonnage per mile rate to be fixed by the commission. This shall be included in the freight charges by railways from point of shipment—so that each railway shall practically use the line as its own, except that for the government section the rate is commission-set. This means also that shipments from internal points to the bay terminus can be made direct, without transference at the Pas —or wherever the government section starts—to government cars. At this point, in a union switching yard, all tonnage should be checked by commission officials, to be settled for by the railway which collects the through rate from the shipper.

With a standard tonnage mileage charge over the government section, any discrimination by the railroads against the Hudson Bay route would be found in the rates from the point of shipment to the union yards, and such rates would have to be regulated by the Dominion railway commission, if injustice were shown the shipper.

This broad outline does not include passenger traffic, nor would the west object to a lease of passenger rights—since it is on freight that the whole question hinges. This scheme provides for no discrimination against the new route, in favor of the longer haul to the lakes, it gives justice to the people to each railway the same privileges, and will serve the west wherever a railway line reaches.



BOURASSA'S ACCENT

Henri Bourassa's accent delighted the Parisians. The Libre Parole says "We have all admired not only the accuracy but the elegance and richness of his speech. Possibly some of his Canadian expressions have become obsolete, but they are to be found in Bossuet and Moliere. As for the Canadian accent, it is much nearer the accent of Paris than is the accent of Marseilles or St. Fleur."

Why should not Henri Bourassa's accent be correct? He is a well educated man, of exceptional mental qualifications. He, whose attachment for the mother tongue is so great—having got him into considerable notoriety—would surely be able to speak it properly. We may not agree with Mr. Bourassa's views or ideals—and, in fact, few English-speaking people can tolerate some of them—but no one who knows the natural grace and charm of the man, his culture, his evident sincerity in his beliefs, is disposed to deny that he is personally one of the cleverest men in Canada to-day.

Henri Bourassa's ideals are dangerous to the peace and unity of Canada, if spread and assimilated by his compatriots. Yet he has clothed himself in the constitution; and what he advocates, as the Moses who would lead his chosen out of bondage, is strictly within his idea of what is perfectly legal.

The trouble is, that in stretching the constitution to enlarge the French sphere in Canada—to propagate a racial and sectional influence—he is handling a bomb, the explosion of which might have serious results for Canadian peace and harmony. His return to Canada will be marked by mote tri-color pyrotechnics, no doubt. Perhaps his pure Parisian accent will be the means of improving the barbarous patois of his fellow-Quebeckers.

DOESN'T CARRY WEIGHT

Catholic Register

Mr. Sifton dealt with these great questions from a national point of view; but unfortunately his words do not seem to carry the weight that his ability and knowledge evidently warrant, largely from the fact that he is supposed to have acquired immense wealth during his term of office as a Minister of the Crown. During this comparatively brief period he was not known to be engaged or interested in any large or lucrative business concerns that would bring financial aid, and judging the cost of living and its effect on the incomes of his Cabinet colleagues—and he lived as well as the best of them—he could not have saved to any extent on his salary as Minister of the Interior.

LAW FEES

The statement made by President Lazier, in his annual address to the Ontario Bar Association, that the majority of lawyers can barely make a decent living, when one considers their tastes, education and environment, is worthy of some consideration.

The general impression has been that the legal fraternity has been comparatively well treated in Ontario. It is true that the Whitney Government has taken into consideration the question of law reform, simplifying procedure in appeals, and enlarging the jurisdiction of the inferior courts. The movement by the Whitney Government was in distinctly the right and proper direction, because the common people have suffered through too heavy exactions in fees.

In the distinguished profession of law, as well as in every other class and condition of labor, there will be found good lawyers, and poor lawyers—lawyers earning a good income, and lawyers barely living. It is largely a question of ability, and to raise the general fee standard, in order to assist legal misfits to make an income suitable to their "tastes, education and environment," would be an injustice to the public.

The number of instances where law costs have to be taxed is evidence that the legal fraternity usually endeavors to look after itself properly. The ordinary man, seeking legal light, usually finds that his bill seems very steep for the services rendered, but he has no alternative.

We are speaking of the matter from the lay standpoint, from the standpoint of the common public, which is content to work in competition, for what it can get—without a fixed scale of remuneration—and without reference to its "tastes, education, and environment."

The public weal must come first in all cases, and, while fees should be sufficient to make the rewards worthy of the dignity of the law, there should be no increase that cannot be justified by the application of ordinary business principles.

POLITICAL APPOINTMENTS

The Lethbridge Herald is a strong Liberal paper, the leading government organ in Southern Alberta. It does not approve of the choice of the Government in the matter of an appointment to the Intercolonial railway board, referring to the selection of J. T. F. Caron, ex-M.P., for Ottawa, and defeated Liberal candidate in L'Islet. The Herald says:

But in spite of all this it looks as though the Government had made a mistake. There is one objection to Mr. Caron, which at the present time should outweigh all his advantages. The Government has been making an effort to take politics out of the management of its railway. There has been a demand for more business and less politics in the affairs of the Intercolonial. In the face of all this to appoint a politician like Mr. Caron, looks like a mistake. He may be perfectly qualified to fill the position, but there are plenty of other men who are not politicians, who could do so equally as well. There should be nothing that looks like political patronage in connection with the Government railway business. Mr. Caron's appointment does not appear to be free from this taint.

In spite of being a supporter of the Laurier Government, the Herald is forced to recognize the fact that Dominion appointments are made with a view, not to obtaining independent efficiency, but to satisfy the clamorings of a horde of hungry followers. The barnacles that clung to the old Ross administration in Ontario, have been covering the Dominion ship of state.

Mr. Caron, being a defeated member, must be found some nice, easy post, there being no senatorships available. The management of the Intercolonial has been so uniformly bad that the addition of Mr. Caron, be he really capable or otherwise, will make no material difference. The Intercolonial management, to be made effective, must be administered by an independent commission, and only in that way can it be freed from the political wirepulling that has destroyed its efficiency under the Laurier regime.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Vote for the by-laws on Monday and boost Peterborough.

The Rainbow, Canada's flagship, will meet Earl Grey in the Arctic Sea. To complete the frigidity, Earl Grey should take along a few Nationalists!

The lawyers claim that fees are so low that they cannot make a decent living. When most of us consult a lawyer, we are prepared to hand over our bank book and give a deed of any real estate we might have lying around.

The Ontario Law Association proposes a divorce court for Ontario, because nineteen applications are in, to Parliament this season. The very difficulty in obtaining divorces in Canada—there being no court to handle the cases—has reduced divorce to a minimum in Canada. Long may this condition obtain!

Premier McBride received the good wishes of all British Columbians a few days ago when he celebrated his fortieth birthday. As the youngest of Provincial Premiers, Richard McBride has before him many years of usefulness in the service of his province and country. Premier McBride is said to have Dominion Cabinet aspirations, and in the natural course of events, it may be that his sphere of labor will be in Ottawa, instead of Victoria, and not in the far future. Premier McBride has given evidence of a comprehensive character, and broad statesmanship that would well fit him for serving the Dominion, instead of a province.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Excellent Day and Night Services From Peterboro to Montreal Via Grand Trunk Railway System

Day train leaves Peterborough 8.30 a.m., arrives Belleville 11.10 a.m., and Montreal 6 p.m., carrying parlor-library car and dining car, Belleville to Montreal, also Pullman sleeper to Boston.

Night train leaves Peterborough 9.00 p.m., leaves Port Hope Jct. 10.30 p.m., arrives Montreal 7.01 a.m., carrying modern Pullman sleepers, Port Hope to Montreal. By travelling this way you can take Pullman at convenient hour and enjoy comfortable night's rest over a first-class double-tracked line.

Full information, tickets, berth reservations, etc., may be obtained from W. Bunton, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, or F. Sandy, Depot Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Dec. 29.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ⅝d to 1d higher than yesterday; corn futures ⅜d to ⅝d higher.

At Chicago, December wheat closed 1c higher than yesterday; December corn, 1c higher, and December oats, ⅛c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg, December wheat closed 1⅝c higher than yesterday; December oats, unchanged.

	Close Dec. 29.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
Dec.	90¼	90⅝	91⅝	90⅝	91⅜
May	94¼	94⅝	95⅜	94⅝	95⅜
July	95¼	96⅝	96⅛	95⅛	97⅛
Oats—
Dec.	33⅝	....	....	....	33⅝
May	36¼	36⅝	36⅜	36¼	36⅜

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 86	to $0 88
Wheat, goose, bush	0 90	....
Rye, bushel	0 67	....
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 29
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Butter—Easy; receipts, 6581; creamery, specials, 30½c to 31c; extras, 29c to 29½c; third to first, 23c to 28c.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 7548.

Eggs—Easy; receipts, 10,794; state, Pennsylvania and nearby hennery, white fancy, 46c to 48c; do., gathered white, 38c to 45c; do., hennery brown fancy, 38c to 40c; do., gathered brown, 35c to 38c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Trading Generally Dull—Hogs Lower on All Markets.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Dec. 29.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were 15 carloads, consisting of 179 cattle, 361 hogs, 21 sheep and lambs, and 8 calves.

Trade was steady for cattle at unchanged quotations.

Geo. Rowntree bought for the Harris Abattoir Co., 215 cattle at following prices: Butchers, $5.12½ to $5.75; cows, $3 to $5.15; bulls, at $4 to $4.90.

Wesley Dunn bought on Wednesday and Thursday as follows: 150 lambs at $5.50 to $6.30; 25 sheep at $4.25 to $4.60, and 10 calves at $3.50 to $8.25 per cwt.

J. L. Rowntree bought 1 load of butchers, 965 lbs. each, at $5.70 per cwt., less $5 on the lot.

Maybee & Wilson sold 1 load of cows, 1000 lbs. each, at $3.80.

A. W. McDonald bought for Gunns, 4 loads of butcher steers and heifers, at $4.90 to $5.80; 10 bulls at $4.25 to $4.75.

Receipts of hogs were light, 361 all told. Prices were firm at $7 for hogs fed and watered at the market, and $6.65 to drovers for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points. A little more money was paid for a few small lots in one or two instances, where they had to be had for local killing purposes.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 29.—Cattle—Receipts, none; market, dull.

Veals—Receipts, 150 head; slow and steady, $6.75 to $10.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 2300 head; fairly active, 10c to 25c lower; heavy, $7.90 to $8; mixed yorkers and pigs, $8 to $8.10; roughs, $7 to $7.15; stags, $5.75 to $6.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 9000 head; slow; wethers, 10c; yearlings, 25c lower; lambs, 25c to 40c lower; lambs, heavy, $5 to $5.50; lambs, $6 to $6.30; yearlings, $4.75 to $5; wethers, $3.75 to $4; ewes, $2.50 to $3.75; sheep, mixed, $3 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Beeves—Receipts, 1730. No trading; feeling, steady; dressed beef, slow at 8½c to 10c per lb.

Calves—Receipts, 562; feeling, steady; veals, $7 to $10.75; culls, $5.50 to $6; western calves, $5.50 to $6; city dressed veals, 11c to 15c; country dressed calves, 8c to 13c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2316; sheep, unchanged; lambs, slow to 25c lower; sheep, $2.50 to $4.25; lambs, $5.50 to $6.75; culls, $5 to $5.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 1670 head; market lower; state and Pennsylvania hogs, $8 to $8.25.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Cattle—Receipts 7000; market steady to strong; beeves, $4.65 to $7.65; Texas steers, $4.20 to $5.25; western steers, $4 to $5.90; stockers and feeders, $3.60 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.50 to $6.25; calves, $7.25 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts 27,000; market dull, 10c to 15c lower than yesterday's average; light, $7.40 to $7.75; mixed, $7.45 to $7.75; heavy, $7.40 to $7.75; rough, $7.40 to $7.55; good to choice heavy, $7.55 to $7.75; pigs, $7.15 to $7.65; bulk of sales, $7.60 to $7.70.

Sheep—Receipts 15,000; market steady; native, $3.00 to $4.25; western, $2.75 to $4.30; yearlings, $4.25 to $5.60; native lambs, $4.25 to $6.60; western, $4.75 to $6.60.

A Dangerous Task.

Kingston, Dec. 30.—In a blinding snowstorm the steambarge Navajo made a trip to the steamer John Sharples, wrecked on Stony Point, and succeeded in getting off 5,000 bushels of corn. The weather was so rough that she had to come back and was in danger of being pounded to pieces. For a time the vessel groped around in a snowstorm and could not find her bearings. The crew say they will not try the task again.

A Judge Drowned.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 30.—Precipitated into Shoal Creek, when the ice under the weight of his horse and buggy, broke, Judge M. M. Creighton of the Montgomery County Circuit Court of Litchfield, drowned yesterday. Another jurist, riding with him, escaped. Judge Creighton was a brother of Judge J. A. Creighton of this city, and Circuit Judge John Creighton of Fairfield, Ill.

Hasn't a Speaking Part Yet.

Boston, Dec. 30.—Just before she was ready to go on the stage with her sketch at the Hub Theatre yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Fred. Pisano, whose stage name is Kitty Bingham, gave birth to a six-pound baby girl. Mr. Pisano, who was on the stage at the time, called a physician and both mother and daughter were sent to the City Hospital.

To Speak at Albany.

Albany, N.Y., Dec. 30.—G. C. Creelman of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ont., along with several other experts, has accepted an invitation to present papers at the annual meeting of the New York State Agricultural Society, to be held in Albany Jan. 17-19.

Morris Siner saved 40 guests at a party in Philadelphia from death by fire.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—servants, hands, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pinkase to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

ON TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27th, GOLD necklace set with pearls; between Fair's and Hall's stores on George St. Liberal reward for return to Review Office. 3d

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF, on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

LOST

LOST ON TUESDAY, 28th inst. BETWEEN St. Luke's Rectory, Ashburnham and Auburn the sum of $66 contained in a small linen bag. The denominations are $10 Bank of Montreal notes and a $5 bill of United Empire Bank. The finder will be rewarded on leaving same at this office. 3d

Wanted

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m. or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

PARCEL WANTED

THE PARTY TO WHOM RED AND GREY Kimonas were delivered by mistake on Saturday last will save trouble by returning same at once to I. Noble, 189 Hunter St. 1d

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 711 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY
Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL
If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.
AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.
291 George Street. Opposite Opera House

EAST CITY
COAL
And Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships
ST. JOHN, N.B. and HALIFAX, N.S.

Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Feb. 10, Mar. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
HOLIDAY RATES
BETWEEN ALL STATIONS IN CANADA
at Single Fare

Good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD

Good going daily until January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid returning until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911.

Full particulars and tickets from —
W. BUNTON, CITY AGENT. F. SANDY, DEPOT AGENT

CANADIAN PACIFIC
FLORIDA
CALIFORNIA, CUBA
FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO

You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect.

Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT
of the
Canadian Northern Ry. System
is prepared to obtain
FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

COAL
THAT IS COAL
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON
Hardwood
First-Class. . . . Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

ORDER NOW
The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co
248 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London, "Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 884, mach. 235
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S., Edinb.; M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 160 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 468—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
ROBT. RUDDY, K.C. J. R. BURNHAM, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro
Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 426 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL, City Solicitor.
LOUIS M. HAYES, K.C. BASIL D. HALL

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD W. S. DAVIDSON

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water Peterborough. Telephone No 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. BENNET E. L. GOODWILL

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
—on—
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY
ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

TORONTO SAVINGS & Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending 31st December at the rate of Eight per cent (8%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after January 3rd, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st day of December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Dec. 2nd, 1910.

AUCTIONEER
James E. Cope
Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 233 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

SOME SPECIAL HOLIDAY GOODS

—AT—

ROUTLEY'S

ROUTLEY'S being my headquarters for the past 25 years I still find the establishment up to the minute with all the latest lines of presents shown on the two floors :

FIRST FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

China Tea Sets from..........	$ 2.94
10 piece Chamber sets from $2 to	12.00
Limoges China Bread and butter plates, $3.50 doz, Now half dozen for..........	1.10
Austrian China bread and butter plates, dozen $2.00. Now half dozen for..........	59c
Tremendous range of fancy China Cups and Saucers, regular 25c for..........	14c

Collection of fancy China Salad Bowls, Bon Bons, Fern Pots, Hair Receivers, Toilet Accessories, Ash Trays and Candle Sticks, in china or brass, Jardineres, Gilt and silver Jewel Boxes, Dressing Cases, Shaving Cases, Comb and Brush Cases, Collar and Cuff Boxes, Manicure Sets, Ladies' Companions, Writing Portfolios, Music Cases. All kinds of Bibles and Prayer Books, Mirrors and Brushes of all kinds, Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses.

SPECIAL OFFER

16 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $1.00, for each	35c
63 Ladies' French made Hand Bags, regular up to $2.00, for each......	89c

SECOND FLOOR SUGGESTIONS

Toy Tea Sets	5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00
Noah Arks..........	10c, 15c, 25c
Large Magnetic Toys..........	20c
Drums..........	5c, 10c, 20c, 50c, 75c
Iron Trains..........	25c, 50c
Tin Trains	25c, 50c, 75c, to $3.00
Friction Toys..........	50c to $1 25
Toy Trunks, brass locks..	$1.00, $1.25, $1.50

Doll Carriages, all prices.

Boy's and Girl's Sleighs, all prices.

Toy Books, Guns, Bugles, Puzzles, Building and A.B.C. Blocks, Magic Lanterns, Steam and Hot Air Engines, Mechanical Toys

SPECIAL OFFER

20 China Dinner and Tea Sets, 97 pieces, regular $25 00, for $14.85

Both Phones 366 | ROUTLEY'S | 376 George St. Peterborough

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

Much has been written concerning the red man's physical powers of endurance, but as a rule no Indian is the equal of his white brother, due as much perhaps to lack of mental force as to generations of insufficient clothing and inanition, so it was not surprising that as the long afternoon dragged to a close the Aleut guide began to weaken.

Darkness found them staggering on, supporting him wherever possible. At length he became unable to guide them farther, and Balt, who had once made the trip, took his place, while the others dragged the poor creature along at the cost of their precious strength.

They had long since lost all track of time and place, trusting blindly to a downward course. The hurricane still harried them with unabated fury, when all at once they came to another bluff where the ground fell away abruptly. Without waiting to investigate whether the slope terminated in a drift or a precipice, they flung themselves over. Down they floundered, the two half sensible men tangled together as if in a race for total oblivion, only to plunge through a thicket of willow tops that whipped and stung them. On they went, now vastly heartened, over another ridge, down another declivity, and then into a grove of spruce timber, where the air suddenly stilled, and only the treetops told of the rushing wind above.

It was well nigh an hour before Balt and Emerson succeeded in starting a fire, for it was desperate work groping for dry branches, and they themselves were on the verge of collapse before the timid blaze finally showed the two more unfortunate ones huddled together.

Cherry had given Emerson a flask of liquor before starting, and this he now divided between Fraser and the guide, having wisely refused it to them until shelter was secured. Then he melted snow in Balt's tin cup and poured pints of hot water into the pair until the adventurer began to rally, but the Aleut was too far gone, and an hour before the laggard dawn came he died.

The day was well spent when they struggled into Katmai and plodded up to a half rotted log store. A globular quarter breed Russian trader took them in and administered to their most crying needs.

As soon as Emerson was able to talk he inquired concerning the mail boat.

"She called here three days ago, bound west," said the trader.

"That's all right. She'll be back in about a week, eh?"

"She won't stop coming back."

"What!" Emerson felt himself sickening.

"No; she won't call here till next month, and then if it's storming she'll go on to the westward and land on her way back."

"How long will that be?"

"Maybe seven or eight weeks."

In his weakened condition the young man groped for the counter to support himself. So the storm's delay at the foot of the pass had undone him! Fate, in the guise of winter, had unfurled those floating snow banners from the mountain peaks to thwart him once more!

Out of consideration for his companions Emerson did not acquaint them with the evil tidings until the next morning; moreover, he was swallowed up in black despair and had no heart left in him for any further exertion. He had allowed the Russian to show him to a bed, upon which he flung himself, half dressed, while the others followed suit.

Emerson fell into a deep sleep, and it was late in the day when he awoke, every muscle aching, every joint stiff, every step attended with pain. He found his companions up and already breakfasted, Big George none the worse for his ordeal, while Fraser, bandaged and smarting, was his old shrewd self.

"Have you heard about the mail boat?" asked Emerson.

"No."

"We've missed her."

"What d'you mean?" demanded Big George blankly.

"I mean that that storm delayed us just long enough to ruin us."

"Why—er—let's wait till the next trip," offered the fisherman.

Emerson shook his head. "She may not be back here for eight weeks. No! We're done for."

Balt was like a big boy in distress. His face wrinkled as if he were about to burst into loud lamentations. Then a thought seized him.

"Where in blazes is this steamer?" he cried.

"Out to the westward somewhere."

"Well, she's a mail boat, ain't she? Then why don't she stop here coming back? Answer me."

The rotund man shrugged his fat shoulders. "She's got to call at Uyak bay going east."

Emerson looked up quickly. "Where is Uyak bay?"

"Over on Kadiak island."

"When is the boat due at Uyak?" Emerson asked.

"Most any time inside of a week."

"How far is that from here?"

"It ain't so far—only about fifty miles." Then, catching the light that flamed into the miner's eyes, Petellin hastened to observe: "But you can't get there. It's across the straits—Shelikof straits."

"What of that! We can hire a sailboat and"—

"I ain't got any sailboat. I lost my sloop last year hunting sea otter."

"We can hire a small boat of some sort, can't we, and get the natives to put us across? There must be plenty of boats here."

"Nothing but skin boats, kyaks and bidarkas, you know. Anyhow, you couldn't cross at this time of year—it's too stormy. These straits is the worst piece of water on the coast. No; you'll have to wait."

Emerson stared hopelessly at the fire.

The disheartened man started at this juncture as if a sudden thought impelled him and followed Balt out into the cold. He turned down the bank to the creek, however, and made a careful examination of all the canoes that went with the village. Fifteen minutes later he had searched out the disgruntled fisherman and cried excitedly:

"I've got it! We'll catch that boat yet!"

"How?" growled the big man sourly.

"There's a large open skin boat, an oomiak, down on the beach. We'll hire a crew of Indians to put us across to Uyak."

"Can't be done," said Big George, still gruffly. "It's the wrong season. You know the Shelikof straits is a bad place even for steamships at this time of year. They're like that pass up yonder, only worse."

"But it's only fifty miles across."

"Fifty miles of that kind of water in an open canoe may be just as bad as 500—unless you're lucky. And I ain't noticed anything so darned lucky about us."

"It's our only chance. Are you game?"

"Come on," cried Big George; "let's find Petellin!"

That worthy uttered a shriek of denial.

"In summer, yes, but now—you can't do it. It has been tried too often. The straits is always rough, and the weather is too cold to sit all day in an oomiak; you'd freeze."

"We'll chance it."

"No, no, no! If it comes on to storm you'll go to sea. The tides are strong; you can't see your course and"—

"We'll use a compass. Now, you get me enough men to handle that oomiak; that's a good fellow. I'll attend to the rest."

"But they won't go," declared the little fat man. "They know what it means. Why"—

"Call them in. I'll do the talking." And accordingly the storekeeper went in search of the village chief, shaking his head and muttering at the madness of these people.

But it all proved useless. The natives would not risk it. Desperate, the three men fitted up a boat themselves and resolved to make the attempt.

CHAPTER V.

ALL three knew the desperate chance they were taking, and they spoke little as they made their way out into the straits. Their craft was strange to them, and the positions they were forced to occupy soon brought on cramped muscles. The bidarka is a frail, narrow framework over which is stretched walrus skin, and it is so fashioned that the crew sits, one behind the other, in circular openings with legs straight out in front.

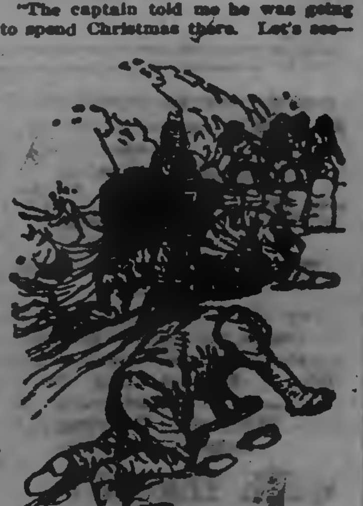
Gradually, imperceptibly, the mountain shores behind them shrank down upon the gray horizon. It seemed that for once the weather was going to be kind to them, and their spirits rose in consequence. They ate frequently, food being the great fuel of the north, and midday found them well out upon the heaving bosom of the straits with the Kadiak shores plainly visible. Then, as if tired of toying with them, the wind rose. Had it sprung from the north it would have wafted them on their way, but it drew in from the Pacific, straight into their teeth, forcing them to redouble their exertions. In the hope that it would die down with the darkness the boatmen held on their course, and night closed over them still paddling silently.

It was nearly noon of the following day when the watchman at the Uyak cannery beheld a native canoe creeping slowly up the bay and was astonished to find it manned by three white men in the last stages of exhaustion. One of them, in fact, was unconscious and had to be carried to the house. He did marvel, however, that another of the travelers should begin to cry weakly when told that the mail boat had sailed for Kadiak the previous evening.

"Too bad you didn't get in last night," said the caretaker sympathetically. "She won't be back now for a month or more."

"How long will she lie in Kadiak?" Big George asked.

"The captain told me he was going to spend Christmas there. Let's see—



THEY COULD NOT WALK, BUT CREPT.

today is the 22d. She'll pull out for Juneau on the morning of the 26th; that's three days."

"We must catch her," cried Emerson quickly. "If you'll land us in Kadiak on time I'll pay you anything you ask."

"I'd like to, but I can't," the man replied. "You see, I'm here all alone, except for Johnson. He's the watchman for the other plant."

Emerson turned his eyes upon the haggard man who sprawled weakly in a chair. And Fraser, noting the appeal, answered gamely with a forced smile on his lips, though they were drawn and bloodless:

"Sure! I'll be ready to leave in the morning, pal!"

The old Russian village of Kadiak lies on the opposite side of the island from the canneries, a bleak, wind swept relic of the country's first occupation, and, although peopled largely by natives and breeds, there is also a considerable white population, to whom Christmas is a season of thanksgiving and celebration, and it caused much comment when late on Christmas afternoon an ice burdened canoe, bearing three strange white men, landed on the beach beside the dock—or were they white men, after all? Their faces were so blackened and split from the frost they seemed to be raw bleeding masks, and their hands were cracked and stiff beneath their mittens. They were hollow eyed and gaunt, their cheeks sunken away as if from a wasting illness, and they could not walk, but crept across the snow covered shingle on hands and knees, then, reaching the street, hobbled painfully, while their limbs gave way as if paralyzed.

A week later Boyd and George were watching the lights of Port Townsend blink out in the gloom astern. A quick change of boats at Juneau had raised their spirits, enabling them to complete the second stage of their journey in less than the expected time.

"I suppose a feller has got to dress pretty swell back there in Chicago," George ventured. "Full dress suits of clothes, eh?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever wear one?"

"Certainly."

"Well, I'll be"— The fisherman checked himself and gazed at his companion as if he saw him suddenly in a new light. "Right along?" he questioned incredulously.

"Why, yes; pretty steadily."

"All day at a time?"

Boyd laughed. "I haven't worn one in the daytime since I left college. They are used only at night."

"A feller told me a funny thing once," went on George. "He said them rich men back east had women come around and clean their finger nails and shine 'em up. Is that right?"

"Quite right!"

"Well, I don't suppose—you ever had 'em—shine your finger nails, did you?"

"Yes."

The big man opened his mouth to speak, then, evidently changing his mind, observed, "Seems to me I'd better stay here on the coast and wait for you."

"No, indeed!" the other answered quickly. "I will need you in raising that money. You know the practical side of the fishing business, and I don't."

Finally the steamer docked, and the three men put up at a hotel.

"You better train me up to wearing a dress suit before we get east," George warned, "or I'll make your swell friends sore and spoil the deal. I could wear it on the cars and get easy in it."

"My dear fellow, it takes more than a week to 'get easy' in a dress suit." Boyd smiled, amused at his earnestness, for the big fellow was merely a boy out on a wonderful vacation.

"Well, if there is a down east manicure woman in Seattle show her to me, and I'll practice on her," he insisted. "She can halter break me at least."

It was the labor of several hours to fit Big George's balky frame, and when the two returned to the hotel Emerson found the representative of an afternoon newspaper anxiously awaiting him at the desk.

"Mr. Athens sent me down to get a story."

"Athens—Billy Athens?"

"Yes. He is the editor. I believe you two were college mates. He wanted to know if you are the Boyd Emerson of the Michigan football team."

"Well, well," Boyd mused. "Billy Athens was a good tackle."

"He thought you might have something interesting to tell about Alaska. Your partner has been telling me all about you and your trip and your great success."

"My partner?"

"Yes. Mr. Frobisher volunteered an interview in your name."

"Frobisher!" said Emerson.

"Sure. That's him over yonder." The reporter indicated "Fingerless" Fraser, who, having watched the interview from a distance, now solemnly closed one eye and stuck his tongue into his cheek.

"Oh, yes, yes—Frobisher!" Boyd stammered. "Certainly!"

"He is a character, isn't he? He told me how you rescued that girl when she broke through the ice at Kalvik."

"He did?"

"Quite a romance, isn't it? It's a good newspaper story, and I'll play it up. He is going to let me in on that hydraulic proposition of yours too. Of course I haven't much money, but it sounds great, and"—

"How far along did you get with your negotiations about this hydraulic proposition?" Boyd asked curiously.

"Just far enough so I'm all on edge for it. I'll make up a little pool among the boys at the office and have the money down here before you leave tonight."

"I am sorry, but Mr. Frobisher and I will have to talk it over first," said Emerson grimly. "I think we will keep that 'hydraulic proposition' in the family, so to speak."

"Then you won't let me in?"

"Not just at present."

"I'm sorry. I should like to take a chance with somebody who is really successful at mining. When a fellow drones along on a salary month after month it makes him envious to see you Klondikers hit town with satchels full of coin. Perhaps you will give me a chance later on?"

"Perhaps," acceded Boyd, but when the young man had gone he strode quickly over to Fraser.

"Look here, Mr. 'Frobisher,'" he said in a low tone, "what do you mean by mixing me up in your petty larceny frauds?"

Fraser grinned. "'Frobisher' is hot monaker, ain't it? It sounds like the money. I believe I'll stick to 'Frobisher.'"

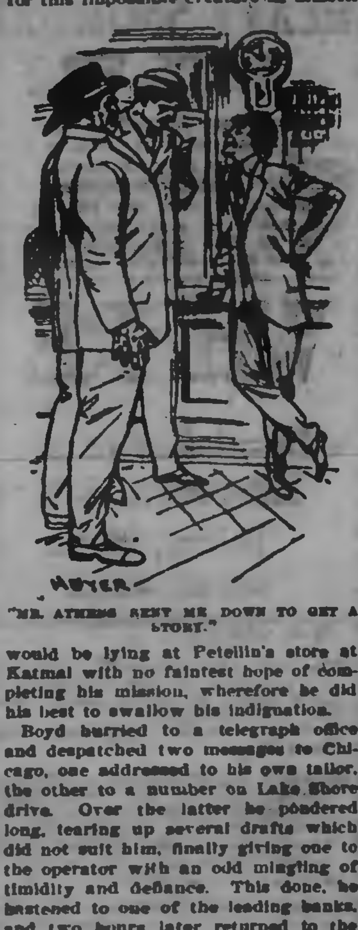
"I spiked your miserable little scheme, and if you try anything more like that I'll have to cut you out altogether."

"Pshaw!" said the adventurer mildly. "Did you say that hydraulic mine was no good? Too bad! That reporter agreed to take some stock right away."

"Now, see here, Fraser, I want you to leave me out of your machinations absolutely. You've been very decent to me in many ways, but if I hear of anything more like this I shall hand you over to the police."

"Don't be a sucker all your life," admonished the rogue. "You stick to me and I'll make you a lot of money. I like you"—

Emerson, now seriously angry, wheeled and left him, realizing that the fellow was morally atrophied. He could not forget, however, that except for this impossible creature he himself would be lying at Petellin's store at Katmai with no faintest hope of completing his mission, wherefore he did his best to swallow his indignation.



"MR. ATHENS SENT ME DOWN TO GET A STORY."

Boyd hurried to a telegraph office and despatched two messages to Chicago, one addressed to his own tailor, the other to a number on Lake Shore drive. Over the latter he pondered long, tearing up several drafts which did not suit him, finally giving one to the operator with an odd mingling of timidity and defiance. This done, he hastened to one of the leading banks, and two hours later returned to the hotel, jubilant.

He found Big George in the lobby, staring with fascinated eyes at his finger nails, which were strangely purified and glossy.

"Look at 'em," the fisherman broke out admiringly. "They're as clean as a hound's tooth. They shine so I dassent take hold of anything."

"I have made my deal with the bank," Boyd exulted. "All I need to raise now is $100,000. The bank will advance the rest. That $100,000 makes all the difference in the world. The task is easy now. We will make it go sure. These bankers know what that salmon business is. Why, I had no trouble at all. They say we can't lose if we have a good site on the Kalvik river."

That evening Boyd and George started away, but could not locate Fraser.

When the train pulled out a familiar voice greeted them:

"Hello, you"—and there was Fraser, grinning.

"What are you doing here?"

"Oh, I'm on my way east."

"Whereabouts east?"

"Chicago, ain't it? I thought that was what you said." He seated himself and lighted another long cigar.

To be continued.

Wood's Phosphodine,
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

To One and All

is the Wish of

E. F. MASON

A Strenuous Life.

A remarkable career has been that of Captain Pentecost, commander of the Cunard liner Saxonia, who has retired from the company's service. He was born in Sydney, N.S.W., joined the Cunard in [illegible], being appointed commander in [illegible]. While in Burma he was attached to the Irrawaddi flotilla. He holds the Brazilian captain's certificate, also a first master's certificate for the inland waters of Bermuda. Captain Pentecost's escapes from death have been as varied as his nautical career. On three occasions he fell from aloft while at sea, was washed overboard twice during gales, and once, off the Cape of Good Hope, he had a narrow escape from drowning. The damage to his body in these accidents included the breaking of all the lower ribs on his left side and the fracture of one of his arms three times. Notwithstanding these experiences, the captain, who is now in the prime of life, looks robust and fit for many more strenuous years.

George Mowat, a Kingston sailor, fell in a snowbank while drunk. A dog barked, a constable investigated and the man's life was saved.

A mad bull at Hickson charged a horse and then jammed Solomon Hunsberry through a fence, breaking several of his ribs. The bull was shot.

SANTAL-MIDY
"Leading remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles"
MIDY

FANCY GOODS

AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday nove ties in China, Dolls, Toys, Basket and things to wear, at most rea sonable prices. See our stock— will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
[illegible] GEORGE ST PHONE 228

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices.

J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING

Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, at other stores. Contracts taken. We call for and deliver.

TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 375
Machine Phone 357

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage
In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

THE

Season's Greetings

TO ALL

Our Patrons and Friends

We thank you for your patronage and good-will during 1910, and hope we will be able to merit a continuance of the same during the year 1911. We wish you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

E. B. CLEGG & Co.
FURNITURE

The One Best
Holiday Gift

And the one that brings the most grateful recollections of the giver, is to be found in the Nugent Drug Co's assortment of Perfumes.

Our window display is our best ad. It will pay you to give us a call. Our assortment is composed of the latest odors in dainty boxes. Prices from 25c to $4.00.

SOMETHING FOR MOTHER

One of our Gold Automatic Eyeglass Chains at $2.00. Initials engraved free.

SOMETHING FOR SISTER

A nice "Lemaire" Opera Glass, $6 to $10

Something that every elderly person appreciates at this season is a nice pair of
GOLD SPECTACLES or EYEGLASSES
Lenses can be fitted after Christmas.
Initials in gold on the case Free.
Prices from $2.50 to $6.50.

Everything we Sell is Guaranteed

NUGENT DRUG Co.

A. J. Johnston, Chemist. A. A. Fowler, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on Water St., and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W. G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters
Are the Best in the World
We have them.
The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.
New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.
C. BLEWETT, 33? George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1221.
Home Phone 586

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles
—in—
Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week.

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

52? George-st. Near McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers

Prices only 5c & 10c
TWO SHOWS NIGHTLY

TO-NIGHT! TO-NIGHT!

GEO. GRANT
The Comedy Select Wire Artist

GEO. W. DAVIS
in his great Character Singing and Talking Act
The Finest and Largest Moving Pictures in the City
First Class Orchestra

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

School to Re-open

Miss D. J. Hall, 334 Charlotte street private school, will open Monday, Jan. 9th.

Don't forget the Grand Opera House, Thursday and Friday. All new pictures and new vaudeville.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

Lansdowne Lodge Meeting

Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, will hold their meeting to-night in the S.O.E. Hall instead of on January 2nd, New Year's Day.

THE CANADIAN LADY
For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00
T. C. Elliot. 92 George Street.

Box of Candies Free

A box of candies for the children given free this week with every $1 purchase. Walter M. Roebuck, Water and Smith streets.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

At All Saint's

There will be a watchnight service at All Saints' to-morrow, Saturday night, beginning at 11.30. Suitable prayers and short address by the rector.

Free legal aid is being furnished to the poor in Kansas City, Mo., at the expense of the municipality.

WENT TO PORT HOPE TO BUY STOCK OF LIQUOR

Two Charges Against Blacklister—Fined for Drinking—Other Was Dropped

"Booze" played a prominent part in three cases heard at the police court this morning.

Two disorderlies of Tuesday pleaded guilty and were fined $2 with costs.

CHARGES AGAINST LISTER

License Inspector Stewart brought two charges against a blacklister. One was for having been found with liquor in his possession and the other for partaking of the forbidden liquid. He pleaded not guilty to both charges.

One bottle of whiskey and one of brandy, both sealed, were found in his trunk, by a member of the family.

Another bottle, from which he drank, on Tuesday, Dec. 27, while at his home, he also had hidden in his bed.

Inspector Stewart saw him at this hour on Tuesday, and he then gave the appearance of a man, recuperating from a spree.

This morning his wife testifed to his having been under the influence of liquor.

His Worship imposed a fine of $10 in this charge and the other was dropped.

According to the statements of the accused, made in the witness box, he bought the liquor at Port Hope, taking the morning train to that place and returnign in the evening. He stated that on another occasion he went to Toronto with $10, and drank there and took a trip to Hastings, at another date for a similar purpose.

It appears that on the day of his last offence, the Inspector, asked him to give up the liquor and stop drinking in the future, with a promise that while a charge would be made out, it would not be proceeded with.

He refused to listen or take heed to the advice.

HEAVY SNOWFALL AND STRONG WINDS FELT BY RAILWAY MEN

The heavy snowfall and strong winds of last night and this morning were severely felt by the railroad men. Engineer Levcie, of the Belleville train, stated that so fierce was the driving snow that it was sometimes impossible to see his mate in the cab. He also said that the snow was beginning to drift into the cuts out in the country, and if it kept on some trouble might be experienced by the trains. On the Grand Trunk the only train that was late was No. 2, which leaves here at 8.30 a.m. for Toronto.

The C.P.R. trains were all on time with the exception of the 11.38, which was forty minutes behind time.

WHERE TO VOTE

A Description of the Five Wards, the Polling Sub-Divisions in Each Ward, and the Polling Places in Each Sub-Division

SOUTH WARD

All of that part of the city south of Sherbrooke street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 1—All that part of the South Ward lying south of Lake street, and east of Park street.
Polling Place—A. Whitered's, 239 Lake street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 2—All that part of the South Ward lying south of Albert street, and the southern limit of lots Nos. 41 and 42, plan 30, and west of Park street.
Polling Place—The old Baptist Church, 11 Park street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 3—All that part of the South Ward lying south of Townsend street, north of Lake street, east of Park street between Lake and Rink streets, and east of Rubidge street between Rink and Townsend streets.
Polling Place—M. H. Halpin's, 30 George street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 4—All that part of the South Ward lying north of Townsend street and east of Rubidge street.
Polling Place—L. Spry's, 210 Stewart street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 5—All that part of the South Ward lying north of Albert street, and the southern limit of lots Nos. 41 and 42, plan 30; and west of Rubidge street.
Polling Place—T. J. Murray's, 111 Rubidge street.

CENTRE WARD

That part of the city between Sherbrooke and McDonnel streets and between Bethune street and the river.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 6—All that part of the Centre Ward lying east of Water street.
Polling Place — F. Mason's, 434 Water street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 7—All that part of the Centre Ward lying south of Simcoe street and west of Water street.
Polling Place—City Council Chamber.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 8—All that part of the Centre Ward lying south of Brock street between Water and Chambers streets, and south of Hunter street between Chambers and Bethune streets north of Simcoe street and west of Water street.
Polling Place—G. H. Howson's, 38 Water street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 9—All that part of the Centre Ward lying west of Water street between McDonnel and Brock streets, and north of Hunter street between Chambers and Bethune streets.
Polling Place—Alex. Walker's, 464 Aylmer street.

WEST WARD

All that part of the city lying between Sherbrooke and McDonnel streets, west of Bethune street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 10—All that part of the West Ward lying south of King street.
Polling Place—George Matthew's Co's. corner Park and Sherbrooke streets.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 11—All that part of the West Ward lying south of Hunter street, east of Park street, and north of King street.
Polling Place—J. E. Lillico's, 336 Charlotte street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 12—All that part of the West Ward lying west of Park street, south of Hunter street and Homewood avenue, and north of King street.
Polling Place—R. Begley's, 363 Bibb's Lane.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 13—All that part of the West Ward lying north of Hunter street and east of Park street.
Polling Place—N. Routley's, 362 Brock street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 14—All that part of the West Ward lying west of Park street and north of Hunter street and Homewood avenue.
Polling Place—J. J. Lynch's, 465 Park street.

NORTH WARD

All that part of the city lying north of McDonnel street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 15—All that part of the North Ward lying south of Smith street and east of George street.
Polling Place—Mrs. Wm. Lee's Shop, Smith street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 16—All that part of the North Ward lying south of Dublin street, west of George street and east of Stewart street.
Polling Place—J. J. Cocks', 153 Dublin street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 17—All that part of the North Ward lying west of Stewart street.
Polling Place—M. Mahoney's, 301 Smith street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 18—All that part of the North Ward lying south of Smith street, east of Stewart street, west of George street and north of Dublin street
Polling Place—T. H. Hooper's, 601 George street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 19—All that part of the North Ward lying north of Smith street and east of Stewart street.
Polling Place—J. T. Braund's, 720 George street.

EAST WARD

All that part of the city lying east of the river.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 20—All that part of the East Ward lying west of Mark street and south of Douro street.
Polling Place—The Former Village Hall.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 21—All that part of the East Ward lying east of Mark street and south of Douro street.
Polling Place—R. Hamilton's Shop, 127 Hunter street east.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 22—All that part of the East Ward lying north of Douro street and the division line between blocks U. and V.
Polling Place—George Coon's, 559 Rogers street.

Lost Articles

A Dominion Bank account book awaits an owner at the police station. A black cloth shawl also occupies valuable space.

Notice to Boy Scouts

Owing to unavoidable circumstances it will be impossible for the Boy Scouts to meet to-night in the Armouries.

Y.W.C.A. RECEPTION ON NEW YEARS

The secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association will be "At Home" to the city girls and all friends of the Association on Monday afternoon from 4 to 6, and in the evening from eight to 9. Miss McCalla will be prepared to welcome a large number. The Association looks very pretty and attractive with its beautiful decorations of cedar, holly and Christmas bells. Will you not call in on New Year's Day?

To one and all---A Happy and Prosperous 1911

WATCH FOR THE GREEN PRICE CARDS
Saturday Snaps

50c RIBBED WOOL HOSE 39c
All sizes in our special 50c heavy ribbed black wool hose for boys, girls and ladies' wear, also used for warm overstockings; sold all over at 50c pair. All sizes, for one day only, Saturday Snap .... 39c Pair
—Main Floor Left—

PHOENIX STYLE MUFFLERS 20c
The most popular style Muffler of to-day, for men, women and children, a comfortable neck and chest protector for winter weather, comes in shades of fawn, brown and navy, also white. Saturday Snap for all day Saturday........ 20c
—Main Floor Centre—

WOMEN'S LION BRAND AND DOMINION RUBBERS 57c
6 cases of Women's Lion Brand and Dominion Rubbers: the very best quality, with heavy corrugated sole and heel and reinforced seams; perfect fitting; in three styles of heels, all sizes 2½ to 7. Saturday Snap........ 57c
—Second Floor—

WOMEN'S $1.75 DONGOLA WALKING SHOES $1.39
48 pairs of Women's Dongola Winter Walking Boots, dressy Duchess lasts, with double extension sole, patent tip, blucher cut and military heels; all sizes 2½ to 7; good shoe value at $1.75. Saturday Snap $1.39
—Second Floor—

WOMEN'S $15 COATS $8.95
Winter in reality has just nicely begun. There will be months yet of weather such as we have had for the last few weeks, so if you are in need of a new coat do not hesitate to take advantage of this offer. We are showing the most complete range of Women's Coats valued at from $12 to $15 for $8.95, that you would think possible. The lot comprises all the season's natty tweed effects, plain cloths, in black and colors, all the newest styles shown, Sat. Snap price.................. $8.95
—Second Floor—

CHILDREN'S AND MISSES' COATS $3.69
A low price indeed for such garments—the price in itself is misleading to a very great degree and surprising to a greater degree when you see the coats. They're the season's best values at the regular prices, $5 up, and come in tweeds and plain fabrics, in the best shades and black. A whole rack full to choose from on the second floor. Come Saturday. Saturday Snap price... $3.69
—Second Floor—

Saturday's Two Big Early Risers From the Corset and Hosiery Sections---Most Wanted Lines at Big Reductions for the First Two Hours Only, Saturday Morning ---8:15 to 10:15

PENMAN'S BLACK CASHMERE HOSE for WOMEN 35c VALUE FOR 24c
For two hours only, from quarter past eight to ten fifteen, we will sell a complete range of all sizes in Penman's 35c Black Cashmere Hose, made without seams, in perfectly fashioned shape, the finest quality cashmere, at the regular price in the trade today. For two hours only Saturday morning, all sizes, at per pair 24c
No phone or mail orders.
SEE WINDOW.

EARLY RISER No. 2
D. and A. LONG DIRECTOIRE CORSETS 39c.
Just 100 pairs of our special D and A Corsets (No. 430,) made of medium weight French Coutil, in white only, with four hose supporters attached, all sizes 18 to 27. See this line on exhibition in our show windows, Friday and Friday night. For two hours only Saturday morning, 8:15 to 10:15 at per pair...... 39c

MEN'S $4.00 BOOTS AT $1.99
48 pairs men's regular $4 boots to clear Saturday at $1.99—odd lines with only a few sizes in the lot; every pair Goodyear welted; in patent leathers, vici kid and box calf; one of the biggest boot bargains in the history of this department. On sale Saturday only at per pair.......... $1.99
—Men's Shoe Section—Rear Semi Ready—

MEN'S BEST DOLLAR RUBBERS 79c
120 pairs Men's Maltese Cross Rubbers, very highest grade; wide, medium and narrow toe, perfect fitters for any shoe. This is rubber footwear weather, so all should take advantage of this extraordinary bargain. Saturday Snap in the men's wear section, at per pair.................. 79c
—Rear Semi-Ready—

Men's Smoking Jackets and Dressing Gowns reduced in price ONE-THIRD.
—Semi-Ready Wardrobe—

Cressman's

Special line of women's Rubbers to-day at........ 49c
See these—second floor.

Is Getting Better

Charles Downs, who went to England from this city, suffering from a severe attack of tuberculosis, has written to Mr. R. J. Devey from Bourn Sanitarium, Worcestershire, England, that the open air treatment has been very beneficial to him and he expects to be convalescent in a month or so. His many Peterborough friends will be pleased to hear of his recovery.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork Sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited 'phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd

WERE THROWN FROM CUTTER

A runaway occurred yesterday on Smith street, when the horse belonging to Dr. Langfeldt took fright when the sleigh slewed on to the street car track and overturned. Dr. Langfeldt, including his wife and children, were all thrown out, fortunately sustaining no injuries. The horse ran down Smith street towards the railroad track, where it was soon after caught.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

"GRAND" SATURDAY, MATINEE & EVENING DEC. 31
The Famous Racing Comedy
"WILDFIRE"
Written by
Geo. N. Broadhurst, Author of "The Man of the Hour"
Geo. V. Hobart, Author of "The Boys & Betty"
A Great Cast. Original Scenic Production. Brimful of Humor.
One of the best Race Track Stories Ever Staged.
Evening — $1.00, 75c, 50c, 35c. Gallery 25
Matinee — 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c. Seats on Sale Thursday

"Grand" New Years Monday, Jan. 2 MATINEE AND EVENING
AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFERING!
Augusta J. Evans' Stirring Narrative
"ST. ELMO"
By GRACE HAYWOOD (Dramatist of "ISHMAEL" and "GRAUSTARK")
Greatest Book Play of the Decade. Nothing quite so interesting or unique has been produced in years.
PRICES:—Matinee 25c to 75c, Children 15c. Evening 25, 35, 50, 75c. Few at $1.00. Seats on sale Friday

You can be comfortable and stylish too—

Get away from the old idea that negligee garments do not need to be stylish and form-fitting. You can get style and fit as well as comfort and restfulness in

Galtfleece EIDERDOWN
Garments for Women

Each garment is cut to pattern and carefully made. There is a perfect fit for you—

These Galt-Fleece Eiderdown House Gowns, Bath Robes and Dressing Squares, are on sale at Adam's Store for Women. Colors:—grey, cardinal, mauve, sky; nicely trimmed with satin, silk braid, and frog fasteners.

House Gowns at $5.00, $6.00, $6.50
Dressing Saques at $2.00, $2.50, $3.00
Girls House Gowns at $2.50, $3, $3.50, $4
For girls from 6 to 16 years.

HARRY ADAMS

Big Savings Saturday in the Cloak Section

A Clean-up of All Coats. For tomorrow only we will offer you the choice of any coat in our stock that was up to $10.95, for.......... $5.95

— See Window —

Girls' Cloth Coats in heavy weight with high double collars in cardinal, green or navy; some lined; will fit 4 to 12 years. Were up to $6.00, tomorrow each..... $2.98

Kimonas made of fine American kimona cloth with sailor collar and new sleeve, trimmed with 1½ inch fold of satin to match; mauve, fawn, helio, pink, pale blue or grey grounds with large floral designs in contrasting colors. Regular $3.00, tomorrow.......... $1.89

New Sailor Suits made of good quality navy blue serge in yoke effect and large sailor collar trimmed with 3 rows of red silk soutache braid and ribbon bow; skirt is full pleated; will fit 14-16-18 years. Saturday special ... $7.50

Separate Skirts. A clean-up of odd lines, the balance of our best selling lines up to $6.00; mostly blacks; tomorrow choice.......... $3.98

Net or Silk Waists, the surplus stock of a big waist maker, secured by us at a little over half price. White, cream and blacks in nets (all silk lined) and black, navy and gendarme in taffeta. Best $4.00 lines, tomorrow choice.......... $2.98

A Saturday Leader in the Underwear Section

HEAVY WEIGHT VESTS OR DRAWERS FOR 49c

500 Women's Vests and Drawers, in heavy weight wool qualities in whites or greys; well finished, good washing garments, worth up to 75c. (See window). Tomorrow.......... 49c

Ladies' Handkerchiefs boxed in ½ dozens; fine quality linen with initial. $1.25 lines, tomorrow, a box.......... 89c

Men's Handkerchiefs, linen, in ¼ dozen boxes; embroidered initial; 90c values, a box.......... 59c

Women's Belts. A clean-up of odd lines of wash silk and patent leather lines worth up to 35c. Tomorrow, choice.......... 15c

Hosiery for children, sizes 4 to 6½ in fine lamb's wool cashmere in cardinals, skys, tans, pinks and black; 25c lines, a pair..... 19c

Wool Toques for skating and tobogganing in mostly light colors. 25c qualities. Tomorrow.......... 2 for 25c

Knit Overalls for children in heavy quality with attached feet; black only; 50c lines, tomorrow a pair.......... 29c

Bath Towels in extra large size, linen color with red border. Also a line of all linen huck, hemstitched, size 22x38; 75c values, a pair.......... 49c

Towelling for kitchen use in bleached wash crashes, grey and white stripe crashes, and white with red borders, all pure linen; a yard.......... 9½c

A Saturday Leader in the Blanket Section

LARGEST SIZE FLANNELETTE BLANKETS 98c

25 pairs only White Flannellette Blankets in 12/4 size, which are slightly imperfect in weave but not sufficiently to impair their wearing qualities. (See window). Tomorrow, a pair.......... 98c

TURNBULL'S

Home Furnishing Leaders for Saturday

Shirt Waist Boxes. A clearance of large sizes, strongly made with hinged covers and mounted on ball bearing castors; each neatly covered with English cretonnes with cover upholstered; colors; self green, green and rose, brown and rose, cream and pink. Tomorrow.......... $1.95

Heavy Cretonnes, 30 inches wide, in bright floral patterns of green, and red and brown; suitable for curtains, cushions and coverings. Tomorrow, a yard 7½c

Enamel Iron Bed with massive brass trimmings, height of head 60 inches, 1 1-16 inch posts finished with brass knobs and caps; brass rail and spindles on head and foot with neat filler design between posts; sizes 3 ft. 6 in., 4 ft. and 4 ft. 6 in. Tomorrow.......... $3.89

Velvet Door Mats for doorways, neatly bordered in conventional or floral patterns in colors of crimson, fawn greens and browns; size 14x31 inches. Tomorrow 39c

RUGS

Carpet Samples of tapestry and balmoral stair carpets, each finished with neat border on sides and with bound ends. Colors—rose, greens, fawns, browns and crimson. Tomorrow, each.......... 47½c

Wool-felt Mattress to fit any size bed, with covering of strong twilled feather ticking, made with 5 inch border; well sewn to prevent breaking down and with top securely tufted. Tomorrow.......... $4.89

New Piano Warerooms

— and —

Real Estate Office

TAYLOR & WOOD

390 WATER STREET

Miss Jean Robson

Teacher of Singing and Junior Piano

Soprano Soloist at Knox Presbyterian Church Peterborough. Pupils prepared for Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations. Concert engagements accepted. Apply Friday or Saturday, No. 461 Bolivar Street. tf.

WE WISH YOU ALL THE

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

And embrace this, the first opportunity, of thanking the public for their generous patronage. Our policy of selling only the most reliable goods at the closest possible prices, based on good honest business principles, has received the most unqualified endorsation of the jewelry buyers of this rising city of Peterborough and vicinity this Christmas season. Again wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

F. S. Schneider & Co.

Our window for suggestions in New Year's Gifts.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED.

Framed Views and Calendars

— FOR —

HOLIDAY GIVING

NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE

SEE THEM AT

THE ROY STUDIO

140½ Hunter Street.

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc., catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned at 212 King Street West, Toronto, and endorsed "Tender for Power House." will be received up to 5 p.m. on January 5th, 1911, for the construction of a Power House on the Waterworks Dam near Peterborough.

Plans and specifications may be seen on application to the undersigned at 212 King Street West, Toronto, or in the office of the Company at Peterborough, or at the office of William Kennedy, Jr., Rooms 8 and 9, Y.M.C.A. Building, Montreal.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Canadian General Electric Company, Limited.

WILLIAM LANGFORD

— A CANDIDATE FOR —

Water Commissioner

To the Citizens;—

I have been requested by my friends to place myself in nomination for the very responsible position of Water Commissioner. I have accepted and ask for your support. As to the reasons why the ratepayers who have urged me to accept this nomination, and whilst not wishing to take from Mr. Hill any credit justly due him for his lengthy services as Water Commissioner, it is considered that too much of a good thing might satiate his appetite for future services on behalf of the citizens in this or other positions of a like nature. There is as yet no good reason given why the three gentlemen who have occupied the position of Water Commissioners, should continue indefinitely. He is a good man indeed whose place cannot be filled. New blood is needed in the best of us at times.

The citizens feel strongly that not sufficient publicity is given to the work and expenditure in connection with the new dam. After two years from the letting of the contract, and over six months from the completion of the work, we are told because of threatened litigation, and for fear of it, we should retain the services of Mr. Hill. Is it not that the doings of the Water Commissioners may be kept in that opaque condition, which has existed for so many months, that the return of Mr. Hill, by his co-operators is so devoutly hoped for? Is it not desirable, and even imperative, that the ratepayers be afforded much more definite information than heretofore of the large expenditure of moneys by the Commissioners on this account?

It is with the desire to give that publicity to all and every matter and concern that the ratepayers are entitled to and whose money is taken and expended that I have allowed myself to accept the nomination. The public know of the positions of trust I have occupied on behalf of the ratepayers. I feel that I can from my experience as a contractor and past councillor, fill the position quite as well as my esteemed opponent.

On these and other grounds, which I may refer to again, I respectfully ask for your votes.

WM. LANGFORD.

Special Notice

To all whom it may concern.

As there are several parties still owing accounts to us, we will thank them to kindly call and settle or remit at once, so that we may clear our books at end of year.

Wishing all a prosperous New Year,

We are,

Respectfully yours,

J. J. TURNER & SON.

Remember I Credit

EASY TERMS

Open your Credit before New Years

CLOTHING AND FURS

You want to look your best for the holidays and have ready money to spend for Christmas gift-giving.

PAY AT $1.00 PER WEEK

SPECIAL FOR LADIES

Coats all reduced prices

Suits, reg. $25.00	$14 95
1 left, Fur-lined Coat, reg. $55.00 for	30.00
Skirts, good wearing for the house and nice colors, reg. $3 00 for	1 99
Another lot of Skirts, reg. $6.50	4 95
Veil Skirts, reg $13.50 for...	8.49
All Waists, net silk, at reduced prices

MEN'S OVERCOATS AND SUITS

in the best quality and workmanship all at Reduced Prices

HOUSEFURNISHINGS

Square Rugs, Linoleum; Curtains, Tapestry and Lace in the best qualities

CASH OR CREDIT

The Canadian Furnishing Co.

The Best Credit Clothiers in City

163 CHARLOTTE STREET

LAST SESSION OF THE COUNCIL

The "dying council" gave its last gasp last night. The city fathers met in final session and cleaned up the small volume of business on the slate. Previous to the meeting of the council meetings of the Property Committee and Committee of the Whole Council were also held.

WANT THE JOB.

Chairman Duncan of the Property Committee announced that there were eighteen tenders from applicants for the position of caretaker of the library. It was decided to let the new council make the appointment

An electric buzzer connecting with the basement will be placed at the desk of the librarian in the public library. It will be employed by the librarian in communicating with the janitor.

FOR WATER COMMISSION

Ald Phelan suggested to the council that Mayor Morrow be appointed an ex-officio member of the Water Commission He thought the council should be represented on the board

"You'll have to increase the mayors salary if the appointment is made," said Mayor Morrow.

Ald Batten called attention to the fact that in case the mayor was appointed that would make four members on the commission, and it would thus be possible for a deadlock to result in the voting.

Ald. Hicks wanted to know if it was the practice for other cities to follow the course suggested by Ald Phelan. The latter explained the idea was original with himself, and he merely submitted it for consideration If the council looked upon it in a favorable light they could apply for legislation to give authority to carry it into effect.

Ald Bradburn was suggested as a good man for the fifth commissioner.

No action was taken on Ald Phelan's suggestion.

Ald. Hicks was opposed to the principle upon which sewers are constructed Under conditions as they exist now a vote of two-thirds of the ratepayers representing fifty per cent of the property holders is necessary before the construction of a sewer can be authorized

The sewers and mains run parallel and Ald Hicks didn't see why the same legislation shouldn't govern both

On motion of Ald Hicks and Ald. Butler it was decided to advertise the municipal voting places in the three local papers.

The following report of the Finance Committee was adopted as read—

Council of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—Your finance committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows—

1. That the city treasurer be instructed to pay to the Water Commissioners the proceeds of the $20,000 for waterworks debentures which have been sold.

2 That the matter of the price of pipes for the sewer in the south-western section of the city be left with the mayor and the engineers to adjust

3 That the following accounts be paid—

Bell Telephone Co..........	$ 90
G Walter Green Co..........	11 00
James Lynch..........	1 90
Fitzgerald & Co..........	3 00
A. J. Haddon..........	42 00
Peterborough Teachers' Insti-..........	25 00
Peterborough Machine Co..........	25
L Mowry..........	5 00
W. J. Kennedy..........	10 60
C. N. Brown..........	2 00
H. C. Bacon..........	3 68
Times Printing Co..........	210 06
Trebilcock Bros (when certified)	2 90
Thos Irwin..........	8 20
B Morrow..........	2 00
Wm Weatherstone..........	7 35
R Gibbs..........	2 00
C Rutherford..........	3 00
The Peterborough Review..........	8 50
The Peterborough Examiner ..	5 00
Mrs Harris..........	40
Jacob Isbister..........	1 35
Peterboro Light & Power Co..........	84 78
V Eastwood..........	60 00
T G Robinson..........	1 33
Adam Hall..........	5 70
F L Payne..........	1 85
T. A. Redner..........	35
W J Colin..........	3 60
Gunsolus & Co..........	1 75
J J. Turner & Sons..........	9 50
C P Railway Co..........	50 83
G T. Railway System..........	11 50
The Peterboro Typewriter Co	5 25
C P. Railway Co's Tel..........	1 00
Higgins Hardware Co..........	65 12
Wm Hetherington..........	4 80
Wm Hetherington..........	4 80
Peterborough Hardware Co..........	150 60
F Bartlett..........	17 61
S. W. English..........	50
Fitzgerald & Co..........	2 00
Walter Stocker..........	20 00
Garstone Thompson Co..........	379 10
E. Chamberlain Estate..........	100 00

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. BRADBURN,
Chairman.

WHAT PETERBOROUGH WILL ASK THE LEGISLATURE FOR

The following application to the Legislature was approved of by the City Council last night—

Notice is hereby given that the corporation of the city of Peterborough will apply to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario at its next session for an Act for the following purposes—

1. To ratify and confirm the following by-laws of the corporation—

(a) A by-law to fix the assessment of B F. Ackerman Son & Company, except for school purposes, at the sum of $15,000 for ten years;

(b) A by-law to fix the assessment of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company Limited, except for school purposes, at the sum of $27,000 for ten years;

(c) A by-law to aid the Bonnerworth Company Limited, by advancing by way of loan, the cost of the land for a site for and the erection of a factory building thereon, not exceeding the sum of $12,000, and to issue the debentures of the corporation therefor, and to exempt the building, plant and machinery and the business assessment of the company from taxes, except for school purposes for a period of ten years.

(d) A by-law to authorize the execution of an agreement with Charles E. Dittman in respect to natural gas, which proposed agreement is to grant to the said Dittman or his assigns or a company to be formed, the right on the conditions in said agreement set out to lay and maintain gas mains and connections on the streets for the supply of natural gas for twenty years and the exclusive right for such purpose for ten years.

2 To authorize the council to use the sum of $1,071 27, the unexpended balance raised for the purpose of reconstructing and repairing certain bridges under by-laws numbbers 1119 and 1270 for or towards the payment of the cost of constructing and repairing other bridges and culverts in the municipality.

3. To authorize the conveyance to the Peterborough Cereal Company, Limited, free of conditions or restrictions of the part of the reserve along the river Otonabee and of the land formally covered with water opposite the same described in by-law number 1126 on payment to the corporation of the sum of $1,000 therefor.

4. To provide for the incorporation of the Peterborough Protestant Home and the election of one member thereof from each of the Protestant churches, including the Salvation Army, in the city, and for the appointment by those so elected of the Board of Management of the said Home, of which Board the mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee of the City Council shall be members ex-officio.

5. To authorize the council to pass a by-law without submitting the same to the ratepayers, to issue debentures payable within thirty years from the date of issue thereof, for the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of assisting the Peterborough Protestant Home to erect and equip a Home for the Protestant poor of the city and to levy the interest and sinking fund required for the payment of said debentures exclusively upon the rateable property of the ratepayers of the said city who are not Roman Catholics.

6. To authorize the said council to levy in each year upon the rateable property of ratepayers who are not Roman Catholics, a sum sufficient to maintain at said Home, such of the inmates thereof who are unable to pay for same and have been admitted by order or under the authority of the council

7. To authorize the said council to levy in each year upon the rateable property of ratepayers who are Roman Catholics, a sum sufficient to maintain at the House of Providence controlled by the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of the Diocese of Peterborough, in said city, such of the inmates thereof who are unable to pay for same, and have been admitted by order or under the authority of the council.

The amount of the rateable property of the municipality is the sum of $8,873,145, and the existing debenture debt, exclusive of local improvement debts payable by local special rates, but including the debt of $452,000 incurred for the purchase and improvement of the waterworks, is the sum of $1,157,849 64.

Dated at Peterborough this 29th day of December, 1910

E. H. D. HALL.
Solicitors for Applicants.

DEATH OF MAJOR BELLASIS

He Was Well Known Here Several Years Ago, He Was An Adept at Moorish Tracery—A Man of Interesting Presonality—Died in Nice, France

BELLASIS.—At Nice, France, on Dec. 11th, Major G. M. Bellasis, Bengal Staff Corps, late of Lakefield and South Beach, Young's Point, Ont.

The above death notice was received by the Review this morning from Robert N. Stuart, of South Beach. Major Bellasis was several years ago one of the best known and most interesting men in this district. He was an Englishman who served for a long time in the Imperial service in India and retiring on half pay came to Canada twenty-five years ago. He took up his residence in Lakefield and later bought what is now South Beach hotel. This commodious structure served him as a residence for some time. He sold it to Mr. Brooks, the present owner, who converted it into a summer hotel.

Major Bellasis was a gentleman of keen intellect and engaging personality. He had a marked "hobby" for Moorish tracery and spent much of his time perfecting his skill in the art. He had a mill at Lakefield which be used for the manufacture of woodwork of this character.

About twelve or fifteen years ago, when his designs showed a mature development of ideas he went to Boston to place his work on that market in that centre of refinement and art. To the general public of Peterborough Major Bellasis has been lost trace of since he left for Boston, but it is understood that his Moorish tracery met with the approval of the Boston connoisseurs and had an encouragingly large sale.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited 'phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd

Holiday Gifts

For this week Ladies' Waists in silk fancy net, cashmere and wash goods 50c. to $3 75. Skirts, in ladies' cloth voile, serge and Panama, different designs, $2.50 to $10 00 Underskirts in cotton, black sateen, and moire 65c. to $1.50. A large assortment of fancy belts and collars aprons and ladies' underwear. Wholesale prices. GEMMELL & Co., 208 Charlotte Street.

Band at Street Railway rink to night and on New Year's afternoon.

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 WATER-ST. PHONE No.

Millinery Sale

MISS McGIVERIN

offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings

—At Cost—

The opportunity is one that should be availed of.

The values are surprisingly good.

No. 431 George-St

Phone 1385.

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call

328 GEORGE STREET

Lenses Can Be Changed

The Optical Institute is supplying beautiful Eyeglasses and Spectacles complete with name in gold on the case, for gifts. They will comfort and please the recipient for many days. Many parents and others neglect their eyes until the necessity is noticed by some kind son daughter or friend.

Eyeglasses and Spectacles, $3.50, $5, $7.50 and $12.50.

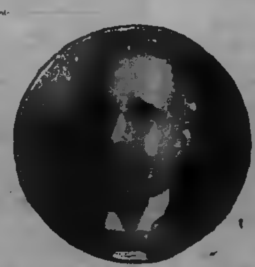
Beautiful Reading Glasses $1.00, $2 50, $3 and $4 50.

Eyeglass Holders with chain and initials engraved, $1.50, $2.50 and $5.

The Peterboro Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto



Make Your

NEW YEAR HAPPY

By getting your New Outfit from us

You will surely be delighted and look well in one of our most up-to-date and stylish garments, which you can afford to have now without paying all the cash down.

Easy terms of payment—$1.00, $2.00 or $3.00 per week, and you may have :—

FOR LADIES—Handsome Suits, Skirts, Coats, Underskirts, Blouses, and Furs of all sorts.

FOR GENTLEMEN—Heavy weight Winter Suits, also blue and black Serges, Fur lined Coats, Trousers

Fine assortment of Home Furnishings, Floor Oilcloths, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, and a very large assortment of all-wool Blankets.

Open an Account with Us this New Year and You will be Happy all Year

THE KNICKERBOCKER CO.

CREDIT CLOTHIERS

422 George Street Phone 711

Many Happy Returns

No doubt you have been remembered by either friends from home or abroad—everybody has. You may wish to return the compliment, and at no time will it be more acceptable than at New Years. A New Years gift is always acceptable and to our many friends would say that you can still make a good choice from our extensive

Furnishing Department

In this department you will find the best Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Neckwear, Scarfs, Mufflers, Handkerchiefs, Shirts, Suspenders, Vests, Cardigans, Coat Sweaters, etc., etc.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

The Style Store for Men and Boys

SPORTING NEWS

MERCANTILERS ARE READY

Wm. Hartley Again President, With F. J. Heaslip Secretary—Five Teams in Schedule, Which Calls For Twenty Games.

At a meeting of the Mercantile League last night at the Y.M.C.A., the following officers were elected:—

Patrons and Patronesses—Mr. W. Denham and Mrs. Denham, Mr. Jas. Kendry and Mrs. Kendry, Mr. E. G. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. James Lynch and Mrs. Lynch.

President—Mr. Wm. Hartley.

Vice-President—Mr. Wm. Richardson.

Secretary-Treasurer—F. J. Heaslip.

Executive—C. A. Primeau, Fred Reid, J. Evans, C. Spilsbury and G. Mitchell.

The team entered are: Pill Pounders, C.G.E. Tool Room, C.G.E. Office, Machine Shop and Lock Works.

The schedule was drawn up as follows:—

Jan. 7th—Office vs. Lock Works.
Jan. 9th—Pill Pounders vs. Machine Shop.
Jan. 14th—Tool Room vs. Office.
Jan. 16th—Lock Works vs. Pill Pounders.
Jan. 21st—Machine Shop vs. Tool Room.
Jan. 23rd—Pill Pounders vs. Office.
Jan. 28th—Machine Shop vs. Lock Works.
Jan. 30—Tool Room vs. Pill Pounders.
Feb. 4th—Office vs. Machine Shop.
Feb. 6th—Lock Works vs. Tools.
Feb. 11th—Office vs. Lock Works.
Feb. 13th—Pill Pounders vs. Machine Shop.
Feb. 18th—Tool Room vs. Office.
Feb. 20th—Lock Works vs. Pill Pounders.
Feb. 25th—Machine Shop vs. Tool Room.
Feb. 27th—Pill Pounders vs. Office.
March 4th—Machine Shop vs. Lock Works.
March 6th—Tool Room vs. Pill Pounders.
March 11th—Office vs. Machine Shop.
March 13th—Lock Works vs. Tool Room.

EASY PICKING FOR HACK

Flanagan's Quartette Were Thrown in Quick Succession—Yankee Rogers Was the Snag.

Toronto, Dec. 30 — Georges Hackenschmidt, "The Russian Lion," took about half the time alloted him to dispose of Tom Flanagan's four grapplers at Riverdale Rink last night. Flanagan trotted out "Yankee," Carl Becker of Germany, Jack Anderson of New York, and O'Connell of Ireland. It was agreed that Hackenschmidt should have one hour and 45 minutes in which to pin down the four men. "Hack" took just 55 minutes and [illegible] seconds. In the preliminary Dr. R. F. Roller of Seattle took two straight falls from Chas. Fraser, the Maritime Provinces wrestler. Roller toyed with his man, who was getting about 50 pounds the worse of the matter of weights. Rogers, who gave Hackenschmidt the hardest bout of the evening signed articles to meet Roller in a match here or elsewhere at any time.

JAKIE WIENERKRAUT

(Who Struck Out Mighty Casey)

All readers are familiar with the famous "Casey at the Bat" and how he struck out at the critical time." Nothing has ever been said of that nameless hero, the pitcher who struck him out." These lines written by Geo. Applegarth, of Pittsburg, pay belated tribute to the slab artist.

'Twas New Year's Eve; the big cafe was bright with yuletide cheer,
Where flowed the festive T. & J. and fizzed with foaming beer.
Along the broad mahogany a score of fans or more
Were fighting o'er the battles of the season gone before.
They talked about the pennant race and how the Pirates' slump
He put them on the chute the chute and made 'em bump the bump;
They played again the series of Athletics versus Cubs;
They talked of next year's prospects and the make-up of the clubs;
They argued over batting stars and pitchers known to fame—
And some there were who rooted fair and some who knocked the game
The players of the leading teams successively were panned;
They lauded Cobb and Lajoie for landing on the ball.
They toasted mighty Honus as the greatest of them all;
They cited old time champions and quoted famous plays
And dug up baseball anecdotes of prehistoric days,
And ever as night wore on and tale succeeded tale
They blithely filled the brimming bowl and quaffed the good wassail,
And health was drunk in lusty draughts to every famous name
That ever lent its lustre to the nation's favored game.
When suddenly there came a sound from out the sombre gloom
That lurked behind the chimney in the corner of the room,
And presently there shambled forth a stranger long and lean,
Of solemn face and ancient garb and patriarchal mien.
His locks were lank, his beard was dank, his face was seamed and old,
But underneath the shaggy brows his eyes gleamed keen and bold.
He swept them with a piercing glance that made the stoutest quake.
A silence fell upon the throng and thus the stranger spake:—
You gents hez hed your little say about the grand ol' game
And told about the players that hez earned undyin' fame;
You've boasted of the heroes of the present and the past
And loaded them with honors from the first one to the last.
But gentlemen, I beg to state, one name you're leavin' out—
You never yet ain't spoke the name of Jakie Wienerkraut.
What! Never heard of Wienerkraut, the giant of 'em all?
Well, all I got to say is, then you chaps don't know baseball.
If Jakie ever got his dues, the name of Wienerkraut
Would rumble down the hall of fame in one eternal shout.
Of course you're familiar with that celebrated wheeze—
(Why, yes, I don't care if I do—a leetle hardware please) !—
About that famous baseball game in Mudville long ago.
An' now the score stood 2 to 4; one inning more to go!
You recollec' the awful strain that blanched each pallid face
When two Mudvillians died at first, then two got safe on base!
An' then mayhap you may recall that gosh-all fired yell
That rumbled in the valley an' rattled in the dell;
That rapped agin' the mountain an' recoiled upon the flat
When Casey, mighty Casey, comes amblin' to the bat?
Well, gents, your humble servant was a factor in that game.
An' if you'll listen—(thanky, yes, a leetle o' the same)—
I'll tell some inside history, as I was sayin', pards,
About the world's most famous game of ball. (Here's my regards).
The tension sure was fierce that day when Casey faced the plate;
Ten thousand eyes were on him; the hour was big with fate.
Now think of what a clean home run for Mudville would do!
Instead the umpire called "Strike one!" and then he called "Strike two."
And then when Bonehead Casey tore loose his awful clout
The air was smashed to bits and mighty Casey had struck out.
But where does Jakie Wienerkraut come in? I hear you say.
Why, Jakie was the pitcher that was on the slab that day.
An' where do I come in you say. Why, I'm Jake Wienerkraut,
The man that pitched the ball that struck the mighty Casey out!
"But what—how—why?" arose the cry. But answer came there none—
The great cafe with dawn was grey, the ancient fan was gone.
Then rose they all throughout the hall, in awe each head was bowed,
Their glasses filled, while each was thrilled, nor spoke his thoughts aloud,
But each belated tribute paid to Jakie Wienerkraut,
The man that pitched the ball that struck the famous Casey out.

—the healthful drink
—the wholesome drink
—the cooling drink
—the delicious drink
—the satisfying drink is

O'Keefe's Pilsener Lager

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"
113

PUCKLAND

Juniors and intermediates will practice to-night and the following players are asked to be out:—Intermediate—Derocher, Bond Hefferman, Campbell, Dobson, Shortt, Soul, McMillan and Park.

Juniors—Patterson, Coughlin, Pratt, McMartin, Matthews, Anderson and Giroux.

CURLING

The annual match of President vs. Vice-President will be played on Monday, January 2nd. The draw is as follows:—

9.30 a.m.

R. M. Waddell vs. J. H. Connal
H. W. Morphet vs. Thomas Brightman.
T. F. Matthews vs. Dr. McCulloch.
J. W. McDermid vs. T. F. Lockhart
J. E. A. Fitzgerald vs. R. Neill

2.30 p.m.

Dr. Greer vs. D. Davidson.
A. Moore vs. J. H. Ferguson.
W. G. Ferguson vs. S. T. Medd.
R. G. Sturgeon vs. Dr. Eastwood.
T. E. Butler Yeats vs. G. E. Clarke.
W. G. Morrow vs. H. F. Foote.

8.00 p.m.

Dr. Wightman vs. G. H. Giroux.
G. B. Stevenson vs. R. Pinchin.
W. G. Read vs. R. Hicks.
W. H. Taylor vs. Charles N. Brown.

Athletes Attention

Don't fail to see the great picture to-night at the Grand Opera House showing all the champion wrestlers in their wrestling matches. This is the finest moving picture ever shown. The other pictures are also very fine and funny, and will make you laugh; and the vaudeville acts you will enjoy very much, and the Grand orchestra is a treat to listen to. This is the last night for these pictures and acts, so don't miss them. Two shows nightly, at 7.30 and 9.00. Prices only 5c. and 10c. Try the Grand to-night. To-morrow (Saturday) afternoon and night the great racing play "Wildfire" one of the treats of the season.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

RING AND MAT

Boston Pug Says Slugger Has the Call at Present--McIntosh Wants Kauffman--Wrestling Clubs After Hack.

KAUFMAN AND LANG

New York, Dec. 29 — Hugh McIntosh has cabled to Al Kaufman advising him to come to England as soon as possible to fight Bill Lang, the Australian heavyweight champion who made a chopping block of Burns in London on Monday. Kaufman, it is understood, informed McIntosh some time ago that he was anxious to meet the winner of the Lang-Burns battle. McIntosh believes that a twenty round fight between Kaufman and Lang will develop a suitable opponent for Jack Johnson and his cable dispatch to the big Californian will doubtless bear fruit.

The fact that Lang could not knock out Jack Burns in twelve rounds is regarded here as further evidence that the Australian heavyweight is not a first-class man. Burns, it is believed would not stand a ghost of a chance to remain on his feet more than two or three rounds if that long, in a scrap with either Johnson or Langford, while he would prove an easy mark for Jim Barry and Tony Ross, who fought an eight round draw in Memphis on Monday night. On that kind of dope Burns would be a punching bag for Kaufman, who probably could put him away in less than ten rounds.

"HACK" IN DEMAND.

Buffalo, Dec. 29. — Wrestling clubs all over the country are trying to bind George Hackenschmidt to articles of agreement to meet the winner of the Zbyszko-Lemn bout in a finish match, which will it is hoped lead up to a championship match later on with Champion Frank Gotch. It is likely, too, that Mahmout, the Turk, will also be heard from in this elimination program.

Both the Swiss and the Pole seem to be willing to make the match with the Russian in the event of a victory on New Year afternoon, so that the Lion should be willing to meet the victor of this Buffalo match, either in this city or elsewhere. Probably Chicago will make a big offer for the match, as it is better prepared to stage a match of this kind than any of the big cities. Several of the clubs will have representatives at the Buffalo match on Monday afternoon. Local sport followers generally, are expressing satisfaction with the dating of the big match for the afternoon, as it will fill an otherwise empty day and will afford abundant time for the principals to battle it out to a definite conclusion.

THE LION WILL ACCEPT.

A special from New York says:—George Hackenschmidt has "called" Frank Gotch. Through his manager, Jack Curley, Hackenschmidt has wired to Robert Edgren, of the Evening World, offering to accept Gotch's defi putting up a side bet of $20,000, and wrestling before the club offering the largest purse winner to take all.

Curley declares he has wired a forfeit to a Chicago sporting editor, and that he will reach Chicago some time to-day, prepared to talk business with Gotch or his trainer, Farmer Burns. He expressly points out that Hackenschmidt is not challenging Gotch, but is merely accepting his defi.

NOTED PLAYER DEAD.

London, Dec. 29.—Reginald F. Doherty, elder of the brothers of the noted English tennis team, died today. He had been in ill-health for some time.

HOCKEY

An important meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held at the Examiner office to-night at 8.30 for the purpose of selecting the teams to play against the Argonauts and Cobourg on Monday.

DUTTON & CO.
Limburger Cheese.
Roquefort Cheese.
Cream Cheese in bulk.
Dairy Butter, pound 25c.
Challenge Tea, pound 25c.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

D. Vine, of Barrie, is at the Oriental.

A. R. Deyell, of Cobalt, is at the Oriental

Dr. T. W. H Young was in Toronto yesterday.

R. J. Doak, of Millbrook, is registered at the Oriental.

Rev. G. W. Henderson was in Windsor for a few days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baker are visiting friends in Buffalo.

Mr. Fred. Jones went up to Toronto today.

Mr. Morris Rosenburg spent a few days in Toronto this week.

D. F. Longoken, of Philadelphia, is registered at the National.

Miss Elma Storey is the guest of friends near Millbrook for a week.

H. A. Morrow went up to Toronto to-day.

Mr. Frank Bradburn of Edmonton, is in the city for a few days.

Mr. Reuben Lynch of Rochester, is spending a few days in the city.

Belleville pros beat Trenton last night 7—1. Dusty played rover for the losers.

William Benton has returned home after spending a few days in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jacob are spending a few days in St. Catharines, Ont.

Rev. B. F. Austin, of Rochester, and son Albert, are the guests of W. C. Austin, Weller street, for a few days.

E. S. Lorimer of the Candian Machine Telephone Company, Toronto, was in the city last evening.

Rev. E. B. Stevenson of New York who has been visiting friends in the city, returned home to-day.

Miss Vida Samis, of Bowmanville, has returned home after visiting her cousin, Miss Ethel Regan, Gilmour street.

Mr. William Grice and his sister, Mabel, of St. Thomas, are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Testard, North Monaghan.

Percy Lynch, formerly of Peterboro, but now residing in the state of Virginia is in the city for a few days.

Ald. Duncan's son, of Rochester, is in the city on his way to Campbellford, where his grandmother is seriously ill

Mr. G. W. Powell has returned from Gravenhurst, where on Monday and Tuesday he visited his daughter, Miss Bessie Powell, at the Sanitarium. Her many friends will be pleased to learn that she is steadily in health. Miss Powell took part in a concert at which her father attended.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon

The American Radiator Company, Kansas City, will employ 800 men.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd

A HARD LUCK TALE THAT SHOULDN'T BE

A young married man presented himself at the City Relief Officer's headquarters this morning with a story that the family larder was at low ebb, and that his wife did not have anything to eat.

However, this tale does not average up very well, with the facts that he has been working all summer at a good wage, but had neglected to provide for the "rainy day." His request fell on deaf ears.

Measles proved fatal to Mrs. Ellen Connors, 65 years old, of Summit, N.J.

Assembly No. 807

Manufactured by THE Mann Lumber Co. PETERBOROUGH

All designs are perfect works of Art.

We have 150 patterns that you can choose from.

This is one of our numerous designs.

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $250,000.00 — PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY

MERSON & CO.

Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

The Presbyterian Hospital, New York, purchased twelve and one-half lots adjoining the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research.

A young woman telephone operator going to work in a hotel at Spokane, Wash., signed a $500 bond that she would not marry within six months.

Proclamations ordering additions and eliminations in national forests in California, Idaho and Utah, were signed by President Taft.

Police are looking for a man said to have gagged and robbed the girl cashier in a Cliff street plumbers' supply shop, New York.

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE
UNEXCELLED SERVICE.

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to THE LENOX.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1 50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at THE LENOX. The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

The First Impression

Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in

The Stationery He Uses

If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to

THE REVIEW

for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are:—

Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.

Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—

REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

Walk Right In

—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
204 George Street.

Brighten Up Your Home

You will naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
702 Water St. Phone 1100

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 626 170 Charlotte Street

EARTH SHAKES

And Several Villages in Greece are Destroyed --Many Killed It Is Feared.

Special to the Review.

Athens, Dec. 30. — Fragmentary reports received to-day from the Province of Elis, on the southwest coast of Greece, indicates that several villages were wrecked by yesterday's earthquake and that hundreds of people have been rendered homeless. It is feared that many have been killed. Owing to the interruption of telegraph communication details are lacking.

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades.

TO VOTERS

Voters should remember on Monday that they may vote for two candidates in each ward.

They may vote in each ward in which they own property, and a man owning property in each of the five wards is entitled to vote for two candidates in each of the five.

Indiana has 8,000 fewer farm owners than it had ten years ago. But land values nearly doubled.

Mrs. F. Brown, of Beaver Falls, Pa., while cleaning a chicken, found a gold nugget worth $10 in its craw.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

JUUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

Mr. G. W. Hatton Awarded $450 and Costs in His Action Against City—A Case of Much Interest to Public

His Honor Judge Huycke gave judgment this morning in the Hatton v. City of Peterborough action, in which the plaintiff was awarded $450 and costs.

It is just possible that the city will appeal.

This action was brought by Mr G. W. Hatton, following an accident in which he was a principal, and which occurred on Concession street, he alleging that obstructions and obstacles on the street were responsible for his horse becoming frightened and running away.

The plaintiff further alleged that the accident was due to the negligence of the city.

As a result of the runaway, the vehicle was damaged, the plaintiff was injured about the shoulder and arm, and the animal, which was one of a valuable team, depreciated in value, and was unsafe to drive.

The accident occurred in the latter part of the month of October, 1909. The city was constructing a granolithic sidewalk on Concession street and had material and machines on and near the roadside.

Mr. Hatton stated that he was advised by the city solicitor that he could not get damages, but placed the matter in the hands of his counsel Mr. D. O'Connell, to have the trouble at issue remedied, he maintaining that the city should not act in the manner as has been the case, in regard to the material and machines used in connection with the construction of sidewalks.

His Honor says:—It is not a case of non-repair or non-feasance within the memory of section 606 of the Municipal Act, though, perhaps, the heaps of sand and gravel might cause liability alone from that standpoint.

But I place the liability on the grounds of malfeasance in placing and leaving there article knowing them to be dangerous and likely to frighten horses passing by.

Continuing, he says in part:—I am compelled to disagree with this view, for, as above pointed out, in such cases the obstructions and objects were placed on the street by other and third parties, which alters the whole aspect of the case.

PETERBOROUGH COMPARES MOST FAVORABLY IN THIS

Comparison of the Assessment Per Capita of Various Ontario Cities Favors the Electric City.

By H. C. Carson, F.S.S.

Some time ago The Financial Post published a special article on assessment for taxation. A plea was then made for the adoption of a uniform basis of valuation for all the provinces. Without such basis, it is futile for, say an incoming manufacturing company, to attempt to compare the assessment or tax rate of one city with another, excepting by a process of standardization.

In Ontario, however, the law is specific. It provides that property shall be assessed at its market value. To what extent the law is regarded is a matter for conjecture. That it is observed at all is doubtful. Evidences point to the non-observance of the statute in every city in the province. To carry it into effect, some method of assessing, different from, or supplementary to the system in vogue now, is essential. Even an assessor subject to human limitations, and to expect him to determine actual values in all parts of a city with any degree of percision, seems a travesty. The owner of a property, if honest, is its best vlauator, and a declaration required from him, under oath, as in England, to some extent and elsewhere, would materially assist. Under such plan the court of revision would still exercise its functions, the assessor being the appellant against such declarations as failed to meet his view of value.

As the table herewith presented shows, the gross assessment of the cities of Ontario, eighteen in number, reaches a sum exceeding 534 million dollars. The average equivalent per capita is $735.24, ranging from $517.36 in Belleville, to $895.48 in Port Arthur. Ottawa is next highest with $842.55, followed by Toronto with $818.85. All of the other cities, except Fort William with $806.14 per capita, are well below the line of average.

It is well known that in the majority, and the conclusion is forced that in none of these cities is property assessed at its market value, in accordance with law, the figures are absurdly low. It is doubful if the average reaches 2-3 of actual value. Even the highest figures of Toronto and Ottawa for instance are exceptionally moderate, rather than excessive.

So long as the statute demands valuation at par, no good purpose can be served by departure from its provisions. More likely is an injury done. The tendency is to hinder reality transactions, especially with non-residents, who, perhaps, know the law's requirements, but are uninformed as to its non-observance. An impression is abroad particularly among the unitiated, that a high assessment results in a high rate of taxation. The exact reverse is, of course the case. If the tax rate is 20 mills on an assessment based on 2-3 of actual value, the rate would be reduced to 13 1-3 mills on a par valuation. There would be no addition to the taxes, and the owner would have the satisfaction of recording his property in the books of the city at something like its value. In the event of a contemplated sale the transaction would be greatly facilitated by such a record. Suppose that a manufacturer from the United States, or elsewhere, is contemplating the establishment of a factory in Canada, to cost a million dollars. One of the first matters he will look into is the tax rate. One of Ontario's cities is found suitable for his purpose but the tax rate is 25 mills. He has looked up the law and found that property is assessed at its actual value, which in this case would be 2 1-2 per cent. on the full cost of the plant or $25,000. His margin of profit would not permit of such taxation, and he decides to locate elsewhere. The point is that if the law regarding assessment had been observed, and property valued at par, in that city, the assessment for taxation would have been at least 1-3 greater, resulting in a rate of 16 2-3 mills instead of 25, and in the case of the manufacturer, the taxes would have been $16,667 instead of $25,000.

Under-valuation also reduces the legal borrowing power of a city, which is based on a percentage of the total assessment. That city is best off, others things being equal, which has the largest margin of unappropriated borrowing power or line of credit. Not only is the power to borrow, restricted by the assessment, but by it is the ability to repay determined. It follows, therefore, that the credit of a municipality in the bond market is materially influenced, because unquestionably the real security for a city's debt of any nature, for interest as well as principal, rests in the assessment for taxation. The greater the assessment, not exceeding actual value, the better will be the demand for debentures, other conditions being favorable.

Showing gross assessment of cities of Ontario arranged consecutively from lowest per capita upwards—

		Gross Assessm't.	Prop of Total p.c.	Gross Assesam't per capita
1	Belleville	$ 5,179,813	0.9694	$517.36
2	Woodstock	4,923,433	0.9214	532.66
3	Guelph	7,900,180	1.4785	435.11
4	St. Thomas	7,975,572	1.4927	536.27
5	Stratford	7,981,375	1.4938	540.04
6	Niagara Falls	4,775,877	0.8939	582.43
7	St. Catharines	7,202,868	1.3481	585.27
8	Windsor	9,572,339	1.7915	593.00
9	London	29,138,666	5.5096	594.63
10	Chatham	6,180,226	1.1567	599.63
11	Peterborough	10,179,842	1.9052	602.12
12	Kingston	12,024,700	2.2505	626.45
13	Hamilton	44,925,530	8.4808	639.76
14	Brantford	13,415,960	2.5109	647.77
15	Fort William	14,514,277	2.7184	806.14
16	Toronto	266,378,572	49.8532	818.85
17	Ottawa	69,235,160	13.1449	842.55
18	Port Arthur	11,517,618	2.1556	895.48
		$534,317,025	100 p.c.	average $735.24

BREEZY BITS OF BRITISH NEWS

(By Percival G. S. Webb)

Serious riots have taken place in Belmont Workhouse, Sutton Surrey. Complaining of the food given them, over 350 of the inmates threatened the officials, the police were called in and a fight ensued. Plates and knives were used against the police, who were compelled to use their truncheons. Eighty-six arrests were made.

The Lord Mayor of Bristol has presented Royal Humane Society medals to four men of that city for bravery in saving lives.

Burglars broke into St. George's Cathedral, Westminster Bridge Road and got away with some very valuable Church ornaments, valued at £393.

The Hon. Alexandra Knollys daughter of Lord Knollys, has been awarded £500 damages in respect to a libel published in "John Bull" the defendants being John Bull Limited, Mr. Horatio Bottomley, M. P. and Messrs. Oldhams Ltd., printers. The libel consisted of a statement that Miss Knollys had eloped with a British officer.

The only son of Mr. John Burns has been entered as a scholar at the City of London School.

The Royal National Lifeboat Institution has recently sent to Poolbey, in Dublin Bay, a new lifeboat. She is fitted with a drop keel and pulls eight oars.

The Union of City Hawkers has passed a resolution tendering to Mr. Winston Churchill, their heartfelt gratitude for the generous sympathy he showed them at a time when the City of London Traffic Regulation Act sought to remove them from those streets where for many years they had sold their wares.

Mr. Lloyd George speaking at Newtown said that no Home Rule Bill would ever be proposed that would give the Irish Parliament the slightest power over religion either Protestant or Roman Catholic.

The coal bill of the fourteen principal railways in the United Kingdom last year totalled £5,603,490.

The King and Queen have presented a Zulu shield, basket beer bottle, horn cups, mats, horse trappings and a chief's dress, and forty-one Australian spears, three spear throwers, dancing plumes, eight war boomerangs and other relics of their colonial tour to the Kings Lynn Museum.

Miss Margaret Lindsay Williams a young Welsh girl has carried off all the principal honors at the Royal Academy.

"Jack and the Beanstalk," is the pantomime at Drury Lane, "Cinderella," at the Lyceum, the Coronet, "Alladin" at the Kennington, and "Peter Pan," at the Duke of York theatres.

Messrs. Harding and Hobbs have just opened a new palatial store which contains five acres of floor space and 100 departments, at Clapham Junction, over the old premises which were burned down, it will be remembered, nine months ago.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The death of a British M.P. necessitates another bye-election.

A new company has been organized to build motor cars at Galt.

Some charges of graft in connection with the sale of city lots are made at Belleville.

Advices from Lisbon describe the political situation in Portugal as threatening.

Prof. S. H. Butcher, M.P. for Cambridge University and a distinguished Greek scholar, is dead.

Over forty arrests were made in a raid on the Central Club at Hamilton, an alleged gambling house.

While there was a falling off in grain traffic through the Sault Ste. Marie canals, this season's business was the largest on record.

A despatch from Montreal describes the express officials as dismayed by the Railway Commissions' order, but preparing to obey it.

George Davy, a well-known lake captain, employed by the Montreal Transportation Co., died at Kingston yesterday aged forty-four.

Rosario Casavant, the man who is charged with having killed Ernest Bigras by striking him with a stick, was found by the Montreal police after a two-days' search.

The Canada and Gulf Terminal Railway was opened yesterday from St. Flavie on the I.C.R. to Matane, 45 miles. Speeches were made by Hon. L. P. Taschereau for the Quebec Government, and others.

Special despatches from Athens say that the earthquakes in the Elis district have been continuous for five days. The Villages of Lechaena, 36 miles from Patras, and Andravida, 38 miles from Patras, have been destroyed.

Arch. Hoxsey yesterday flew over Mount Wilson, the highest peak of the mountain range that rims the valley in which Los Angeles, Pasadena and the towns of the orange belt lie. Under ideal weather conditions, he soared 10,000 feet into the sky.

Has a Novel Plan.

Berlin, Dec. 30.—Joseph Brucker, who has announced his intention of attempting in March or April next to cross the Atlantic from the Cape Verde Islands to the Barbados or Trinidad, in the airship Suchard, will utilize a novel system to keep his gas cool and prevent loss from radiation. This will be accomplished by sprinklers constructed at the top of the envelope, which will spray water over the surface of the balloon. The water supply will be hand-drawn from the ocean in torpedo-shaped cylinders, offering a minimum resistance to the waves, and after being taken on board will be pumped through a hose to the sprinklers.

Brucker proposes to carry a crew of six in his craft, which will be equipped with two motors, each of 100 horse-power. A non-sinkable lifeboat will be taken along. He hopes to arrive on the other side after four or five days and six nights of the air, taking advantage of the trade winds as far as possible.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.08 p.m.	8.30 a.m 5.35 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west,	8.25 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	5.30 p.m.	9.05 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.40 p.m
Lakefield	10.08 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.25 a.m 12.50 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

5.28 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Oywanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.30 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

SIXTEEN ARE KILLED

Boiler Blows Up in Ice Plant at Pittsfield, Mass.

Men Waiting to Go to Work Cutting Ice Are Near Boiler When It Explodes, Hurling Fragments of Iron and Timber Into the Mass of Human Beings — Bodies Found 200 Feet Away From Disaster.

Pittsfield, Mass., Dec. 30.—Sixteen workmen were killed yesterday by the explosion of a boiler at the plant of the Morewood Lake Ice Co., near this city. In addition twelve men were injured, two of whom, it is feared, will die. The dead:

Wm. Dunn, engineer; George Ward, fireman; John Raymond, carpenter; Edgar Allen, employe; Leo Ternandz, M. F. Smith, Wyatt Moore, Wm. Pehoon, Alfred Bens, Frederick Ruther, Elmer Eldridge, James McNalus, George Houghtaling, Joseph Gallego, Obelino Gallego, all laborers; unidentified laborer.

The City Council yesterday afternoon passed a resolution with a view to supplying the wants of those left fatherless, and to help the injured. Within a short time nearly $3,000 were subscribed.

Gathered in and about the little boiler building some distance from the icehouses, were about 125 men, mostly Polanders and Italians, awaiting to go to work cutting ice. With a crash that was heard for miles around the boiler burst, and bodies of men and fragments of iron and timbers were hurled through the air. Those of the workmen who were not killed outright were either seriously injured or dazed by the shock.

Physicians, ambulances and automobiles were rushed from this city to the lake, and the injured men brought to the hospital here. In some instances the bodies of the dead were so badly mutilated that identification was impossible for many hours.

Parts of the bodies were found some 100 to 200 feet from the site of the destroyed building. The boilerhouse and the boiler itself were broken into hundreds of pieces. The icehouse was damaged but little, and the entire monetary loss will not exceed $500.

No definite determination of the cause of the explosion is likely until the state officers have completed their investigation.

Japs Not Plotting.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Reported publication of statements that Japanese activities in the Philippines have given rise to the belief that plots are being laid against Americans, yesterday called forth from the War Department the assertion that no information has been received there to justify such statements.

The officials insist that it would have been the duty of the Governor-general, or of Major-Gen. Duvall, the commander of the Philippine division, promptly to have cabled the Department of the discovery of spies, or of any facts that threatened American sovereignty in the Philippines, and, as no such reports have been received in Washington, it is assumed that neither Governor Forbes nor Gen. Duvall has any such information.

Pope Favors Cremation.

London, Dec. 30.—There is apparently confirmation for the recent report from a French source that the Pope is preparing a decree to authorize cremation. Die Flamme, the chief German organ of cremation, goes so far as to state that Pope Pius X. is personally greatly in favor of cremation, and that as Cardinal Sarto he made strenuous representations to Leo XIII. in order to procure the tolerari potest.

Die Flamme understands that the Pope has given directions for the cremation of his own body, although, of course, no absolutely authentic confirmation of this is obtainable.

Discharged From Bankruptcy.

Pittsburg, Dec. 30.—Harry Kendall Thaw, who killed Stanford White, the New York architect, in that city, was discharged from bankruptcy by Judge Orr in the U. S. District Court here yesterday. James C. Graham, who had filed exceptions on the ground that Thaw was insane when this bankruptcy petition was filed, withdrew his objections. Attorneys declared Thaw's recognized creditors would receive 20 per cent. of their accounts. According to the bankruptcy petition, Thaw's liabilities were $453,140, with assets of $128,017.

A Kidnapping Case.

New York, Dec. 30.—On the identification of six-year-old Guiseppe di Stefano, Giacoma Crimi was formally charged with kidnapping yesterday, and held to answer before the grand jury.

Crimi was taken by the police on Wednesday night in a raid on the Sicilian quarter, in which 18 men were arrested. The Stefano boy picked him out of the line of suspects, and the others were allowed to go.

Orillia Grocery Burned.

Orillia, Dec. 30.—Early yesterday morning fire broke out in the grocery store occupied by B. R. Kean. The cellar was completely gutted and the grocery department was also burned considerably and damaged by smoke and water. The loss is pretty well covered by insurance. Considerable damage was done to the buildings, which is owned by Mrs. Todd.

Limbs Frozen.

Sherbrooke, Que., Dec. 30.—Henry Thompson of Thetford Mines, who had his limbs so badly frozen by lying out all night while the thermometer was at 20 below zero, died yesterday. He had been about three years out from England.

Pilgrims to Ste. Anne.

Quebec, Dec. 30.—Statistics prepared by the Independent Fathers of St. Anne de Beaupre show that in the last twelve months 189,296 pilgrims visited the famous shrine.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

The Famous Rayo

Is the Lamp of Real Beauty

because it gives the best light of all lamps. The Rayo gives a white, soft, mellow, diffused light—easy on the eye because it cannot flicker. You can use your eyes as long as you wish under the Rayo light without strain.

The Rayo Lamp is low-priced, and even though you pay $5, $10 or $20 for other lamps, you may get more expensive decorations but you cannot get a better light than the low-priced Rayo gives. A strong, durable shade-holder holds the shade on firm and true. This season's new burner adds strength and appearance.

Once a Rayo User, Always One.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

The Queen City Oil Company
Limited.

Two Extradition Cases.

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—The Dominion police have two more extradition cases on their hands, the arrests having been made at the instance of the Belgian and French Governments.

E. O. Peugnet was taken into custody by the Mounted Police at Willow Bunch, Sask., on a charge of murder committed in Belgium. O. T. Popp was arrested in Montreal on a charge of theft in France.

Thirty Years With G.T.R.

Detroit, Dec. 30.—Thomas Grose, for more than thirty years an employe of the Grand Trunk Railway, died very suddenly Tuesday night of pneumonia. Mr. Grose was about 50 years of age. He leaves a widow and two sons in Detroit, and a daughter, Mrs. Watson of Montreal. Interment will be in Montreal.

Mr. Wilkerson, Assistant District Attorney, says the Government intends to prosecute criminally the packers.

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell

JAY'S STORES
Phone 623. 300 Aylmer St Peterborough.

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

SKATES

STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS

Skates Sharpened and Repaired

MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1286

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal; as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
Limited
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
124 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 302

"It's Confidence That Does It"

YOUR TABLE

Will not be complete without something nice and toothsome for

LUNCHEON

SUCH AS

JELLY POWDER, MARMALADE
HORSE-SHOE and CLOVER-LEAF SALMON, FRENCH SARDINES,
HAM, CHICKEN and TONGUE
FINE OLD CHEESE,
MacCONACHIE'S SAUCE
MIXED PICKLES.
A FULL RANGE OF CHRISTIE'S FANCY BISCUITS; ORANGES, LEMONS,
COWAN'S CHOCOLATES
LIME JUICE, RASPBERRY, STRAWBERRY and CURRANT WINE,
Unequalled in Purity

PORTER S. WHITE
336 George St. Phone 280

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS. Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	85	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL
159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 14, Bell or Machine

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited.

SPECIAL 'NEW YEAR'S GIFTS

Merchandise Greatly Reduced for Next Saturday and Saturday Night

Long Eider Kimonas in choice designs and patterns, many different colors. $5.50 quality for.............. $4 25
$5.00 quality for.............. 3.75

Children's White Bear Skin Coats, neatly made and lined all through. $5.50 quality for $3.98
$4.00 quality for 2 50

Ladies' Long Tweed Coats, the very latest styles. $18.00 Coats for $12.50 $14.00 Coats for $10.75

Ladies' Fancy Silk Blouses, the very latest and up-to-date styles. $3.50 quality for $2.35

Fancy Silk Crepe de Chene Blouses, nicely trimmed and tucked. $5.50 quality for.............. $3.50

Gentlemen's Pure Linen Initial Handkerchiefs. Regular 75c a box. 3 in a box for 50c

Just a Few Left, Ladies' pure linen Initial Handkerchief, 3 in a book. Regular 50c a book for.............. 35c

Ladies' Stock Collars, all the latest styles and colors Regular 35c for 15c

Black Taffeta Silk, 20 inches wide, worth in the regular way 50c yard. Saturday ...... 35c yard

Something Special, Chiffon black Taffeta Silk, 20 inches wide, just the right thing for dresses and blouses. The 75c quality for .... 50c yard

Ladies' Lined Kid Gloves, just the right weight for this time of the year. Regular $1.00 pair. Saturday .... 75c pair

Extra Fine Quality Kid Gloves, nicely lined and sold in the regular way at $2.50 pair. Saturday .... $1.50 pair

Fancy Battenburg Doylies, with linen centres, size 12x12. 35c quality for 20c

Japanese Hand Drawn Linen Doylies, size 9x9. 20c quality for 12½c

Round, Embroidery and Open Work Linen Centres, hand work, size 18x18. 75c value for......... 50c
Size 30x30, $2.00 value for $1.25

150 Pair of Boys' and Girls' heavy worsted Over Stockings. Regular 50c pair. Saturday ...... 25c pair

Duplex Chamois Gloves, a nice warm glove for this time of the year, in the natural shade only. Regular 50c pair. Saturday .... 25c pair

Ladies' Hand Purses with strap across the back, the 50c quality for 38c; the 30c quality for 19c

Children's Cotton Underwear worth in the regular way 25c a garment .... 17c a garment

Sign---The Golden Lion
ROBERT FAIR & CO. PETERBOROUGH

MADE PRESENTATION TO DISTRICT ORGANIZER

A. Bradshaw, D.S.C.R., Received Travelling Case From Court Chemong No. 530 I.O.F.—Is Promoted to Position of Organizer for Important Field in Western Canada.

The regular monthly meeting of Court Chemong, 530, I.O.F., was held last night. A number of applications for membership were received were received and several initiations took place.

After the regular business a presentation was made to Bro. A. Bradshaw, D.S.C.R., who is leaving for Calgary. The presentation was made by Bro. A. Allison, S.P.C.R., and the gift was a handsome travelling case. Mr. Allison expressed regret that Mr. Bradshaw was leaving for the Coast, as his efforts here had been so well directed and his work so highly appreciated. He stated, however, that the new field would offer Mr. Bradshaw wider opportunities, and the local court realized it was its duty to sacrifice its immediate interests for the advancement of the work in general.

Mr. Bradshaw, to whom the presentation came as a surprise, expressed his cordial thanks for the gift given in kindly remembrance of him. He also stated that he understood that Bro. Mullett, who had been organizer in Alberta, was to take his place as organizer in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Mullett, it is understood, will reside in Peterborough.

THE AREA PER CAPITA OF THE CITIES IN ONTARIO

(PETERBOROUGH'S BREATHING SPACE ABOVE AVERAGE

The eighteen cities of Ontario aggregated, cover a total area of [illegible] acres. This is equivalent to 4,818 sq. feet per head of population, including streets, parks, and open spaces, says the Financial Post. The proportion of streets, parks, public buildings, churches, etc., has been variously estimated at from 1-4 to 1-3 of the total area. The latter figure is doubtless the more accurate, being based on the opinions of about 20 city engineers furnished the writer some time ago. On this basis the eighteen cities have a net area of 53,561 acres, which, apportioned to total population, 726,727, will show an average of 16,000 square feet, or one lot 100 feet by 160, per each family of five, for residential and business purposes. Such average, if actual, would present a condition approaching ideality, but unfortunately, the following will not permit such conclusion.

The area of four cities of Ontario, according to 1910 assessment, arranged consecutively from greatest area per capita.

Port Arthur, area, 10,260 acres; Prop. of total P.C., 12.7706; area per capita, 34,743 sq. feet.

Fort William, area, 9,865 acres; Prop. of total P.C., 12.2788; area per capita, 23,866 sq. ft.

Guelph, area, 3,200 acres; Prop. of total P.C., 3.9836; area per capita, 9,452 sq. ft.

St. Catharines, area, 2,400 acres; Prop. of total P.C., 2.9783; area per capita, 8,494 sq. feet.

Adopting, for comparison, a uniform frontage for each family of five, it is found that the depth of the lot will vary in each city as follows, assuming, of course, that the deduction of 1-3 for streets, etc., is reasonably accurate:

	Depth Feet.
Port Arthur	1,158
Fort William	795
Guelph	314
St. Catharines	283
Stratford	173
Niagara Falls	250
Belleville	246
Peterborough	243
Woodstock	239
Chatham	232
Brantford	207
Windsor	182
St. Thomas	176
Kingston	174
London	131
Hamilton	126
Ottawa	69
Toronto	80

EXTRA SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Florida pineapples, tangerines, fancy California cauliflowers, California celery, hothouse tomatoes, mushrooms, fancy red apples, sweet potatoes, fancy, blue point shell oysters in kegs of 100 oysters, fresh boiled lobsters. Also fancy Malaga grapes, table raisins and high grade chocolates. All goods the very best we can buy. Leave order early and secure better attention.

W. J. OKE, 376 George St.
Telephone 18.

TAYLOR AND WOOD A NEW FIRM

Will Handle Real Estate and the Newcombe Piano Premises on Water St.

Taylor and Wood, real estate and Piano agents, is the name of a new firm located at 390 Water street.

Mr. W. L. Taylor will be remembered as a piano dealer in this city, some eight years ago, when he gave splendid satisfaction to his many customers. With him is associated Mr. J. C. Wood, late of the Central Milling Co. Both gentlemen who have had a wide business experience, solicit a call at their new premises. The "Newcombe" piano will be handled by the firm

COAL OIL BARGAIN

China Hall is selling the best Canadian Coal Oil at 12c and best Water White American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots, and 14c and 17c per single gallon, delivered to any part of the city.

303w Macfarlane Wilson

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

FRILLS IN EDUCATION

To The Editor of The Review,

Sir, — In my reading this week I came upon a paragraph from an address by the Bishop of Lincoln, given in connection with the Conference of the National Union of Women Workers in England, which bears upon a letter in the "Review" of Wednesday evening, in which the writer seems to think that too much attention is being given in our public school curriculum to studies other than the fundemental— reading, writing and arithmetic. The words of the Bishop of Lincoln are as follows:

"I note further that in the education of Christ, one element was not wanting which has been, until lately, much neglected by ourselves. He was reared in the household of a village carpenter, whose daily business lay in making and mending the homely implements of the husbandman, in building and repairing the houses of the peasants. So soon as the child Jesus was able to learn He would be frequenting the carpenter's shop and learning to use the tools. He was early taught a manual craft. At last we have permitted ourselves to see that in keeping children in school only to book work, we have deprived them of one of the most important elements in education. Manual teaching has been often recommended as a preparation for manual work in after years. But quite apart from such industrial advantage, the learning of manual crafts is wholesome in every way. It trains the eye and the hand; it develops the powers of observation; it leads to wholesome activity; it inculcates patience and sympathy; and it confers upon the worker a joy that nothing else can give—the joy of making something which is at once both useful and beautiful. These wholesome influences, these pure and innocent joys were not denied to the Holy Child. They must not be denied to our little children if we wish them to live by His rule and follow His blessed example."

ROBERT POGUE.

A PRESENTATION

Assistant Foreman of C.G.E. Press Punch Department Remembered by Employees

Just to let them know how popular he is with them, the employees of the press punch department of the C. G.E., presented James Kyle, their assistant foreman, with a pipe, ask tray and tobacco pouch. He was also given an address which was read by Mr. W. Warboy, who made the presentation.

Band at Street Railway rink to-night and on New Year's afternoon.

TEST CASES DISMISSED

Toronto Star — Joshua D. Collins and Mrs. Ellen Walsh, who were named as Ontario Bank contributories appealed from the official referee to Mr. Justice Riddell, and today his Lordship dismissed the appeals.

The Collins and Walsh appeals were test cases, and it was argued for these two shareholders that the Ontario Bank has acquired the shares. As a result, it was urged these shares had become extinct. Against this reasoning it was said that the shares had not been transferred to the bank.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited 'phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Lt.d

OBITUARY

CATHARINE DOROTHY LEVOIR

Catharine Dorothy Levoir, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levoir, Union street, died last evening after a short illness from heart trouble.

The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery

Have Extended a Call

Lakefield Presbyterian church has issued a call to Rev. Thomas Oswald, who for some time has been in British Columbia, but at present in Toronto. The meeting was held in Lakefield yesterday with Rev. H. J. Keith as Moderator. If he accepts he will succeed the Rev. Mr. Burns.

Kris Kringle Rehearsal

St. John's "Kriss Kringle" concert for the Sunday school entertainment on Tuesday next will be rehearsed on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. The cantata is a splendid one and the scholars are thoroughly enjoying its preparation

Watchnight Service

A watchnight service will be held on Saturday night from 10 to 11 o'clock at the Salvation Army barracks.

Your Vote and Influence Are Respectfully Requested for

J. T. O'CONNELL

As Alderman for Ward Five

Have your municipal Business done on practical business methods.

Your Vote and Influence in favor of re-election — of —

W. H. BRADBURN

is respectfully solicited as one of the representatives from the Centre Ward in the City Council

For Water Commissioner

Your vote and influence respectfully solicited for

WILLIAM LANGFORD

For Water Commissioner.

To the Electors

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

Having served during the past nine years as a Water Commissioner with that attention to duties which has, I hope, been of help to my co-commissioners, and of some service to the city, I am desirous of continuing for another term, for what I believe will be considered as a fairly sufficient reason.

The ratepayers are aware that the Commissioners have had during the past two years under construction for the city a new waterworks dam and pumping station, which with the additional pumping power now supplied will, I am sure, prove one of the most effective systems in Ontario. The contracts have not yet all been completed for these works, nor settlements made, nor has all fear of difficulties with contractors passed. My co-commissioners are anxious that I should continue on the Board, for they think that I would be of assistance in these matters from my necessarily intimate knowledge of circumstances surrounding these contracts.

I am inclined to think the ratepayers will approve of my course in presenting myself, in view of what I have said, and therefore with some degree of confidence most respectfully ask for their support.

W. H. HILL

Peterborough, Dec. 29th, 1910.

The faculty of Boston University forbade the Equal Suffrage League of the college to present a suffrage play.

5th WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having had the honor of being nominated for Alderman for No. Five Ward, and not having time to make a personal canvas, I take this manner of soliciting your vote and influence.

If elected I will give support to every good, clean movement for the benefit of our city.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season I am,

Yours respectfully,

R. F. SEDGWICK

WARD NO. ONE

VOTE FOR

WILLIAM H. BULLER

The People's Candidate for election as ALDERMAN for the South Ward

Ward No. Five

VOTE FOR

J. C. ANDERSON

A life-long resident of the East Ward

Many important questions will arise during 1911, and these questions will receive my most careful consideration if I am favored with your support.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours, etc.,

J. C. ANDERSON.

— For —

BOARD OF EDUCATION

I respectfully ask your approval of my candidature, and trust to be re-elected as a member of the Board of Education.

ROBERT FAIR.

For East City

Your Vote and Assistance for

HARRY MORGAN

— for —

Alderman

FIVE YEARS — Make It Six

Centre Ward

To the Electors

Vote to Re-elect

J. R. Metheral

Who believes in practical economy with efficiency, and submitting the question of exemptions to the electors.

FOR ALDERMAN North Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been nominated a candidate for Alderman in the North Ward for the ensuing year I respectfully ask your support at the coming election. If honored with your confidence, I will exercise my best energy in advocating and supporting such measures as will assure progress and economy in all civic affairs.

With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,

David H. Kerneghan

South Ward

Municipal Elections

Your vote and influence is respectfully requested for

THOS. HOOPER

for Alderman for 1911

A new man and promising good, careful service if elected

North Ward

Municipal Elections For Alderman

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for election to the Council, and engage, if elected, to look after the interests of the Ward and of the City in general, to the best of my ability.

Very Respectfully,

JAS. G. GRAHAM

For North Ward as Alderman

I respectfully ask the ratepayers of the Ward to vote for

Jas. Davidson

For Alderman for 1911

If elected I engage to do my utmost to promote the best interests of the City.

WEST WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

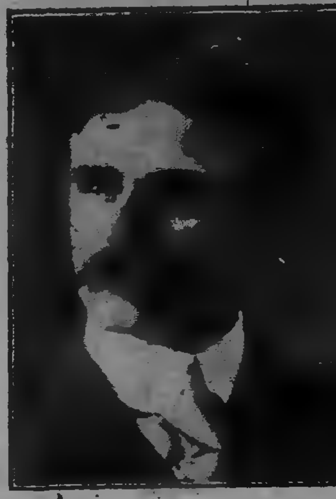
Having been nominated as a candidate for Alderman for the West Ward, I hope to solicit your vote and influence.

If elected I shall do my best to serve the citizens and to use every effort for the city's advancement.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,

JAS. EDGAR



FOR ALDERMAN West Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST WARD.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been duly nominated as Alderman for a third term, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence. If elected I will continue to do my utmost to further the interest of our progressive city, and to promote the general welfare of all citizens alike.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, believe me to remain

Yours very truly,

J. J. DUFFUS

No. ONE WARD

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for your favor as Alderman for the year 1911.

I have endeavored to serve you faithfully during the last four years, and engage if elected, to use my influence and energy in advancing in every way the interests of the Ward and City.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours hopefully,

GEO. H. DUNCAN

For Alderman

As Representative to the Council from the West Ward

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

This is my first essay as a candidate, and I throw myself on your consideration, trusting to have your approval of my candidature. I trust to be a useful member of the Council should you send me there.

Respectfully and Hopefully,

JAMES B. BROWN

Centre Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CENTRE WARD, City of Peterborough:—

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I respectfully solicit your support as a candidate for the office of Alderman, for the year 1911. With the number of years of experience I have had in the Council, I believe I could continue to give good service to the City, and I will, if you favor me with your confidence, do all in my power to advance the City's interests.

Wishing you the compliments of the season.

Yours very truly,

HARRY PHELAN

PROBABILITIES
Winds, partly fair with light local snow.

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXI., No. 151.
PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1910
TEN CENTS PER WEEK

May the New Year Bring You Happiness and Prosperity

DUTIES ARE GROWING; NEW PROVINCIAL POLICE SYSTEM GREAT SUCCESS

Superintendent Rogers Reports That Usefulness of His Force Is Increasing and Out of 1,377 Cases Convictions were Secured in 1,060, While 200 Persons Were Discharged, and In 17 Cases No Arrests Were Made.

Toronto, Dec. 31.—Since the organization of the provincial police force, ten months ago, the cases in which the force has been called upon to act have numbered 1,377, according to the annual report of Supt. J. E. Rogers, issued yesterday. In 1,060 instances convictions were secured, 200 persons were discharged, 45 cases were withdrawn, 44 were awaiting trial at the end of the financial year, while in 17 cases the alleged offenders have not been arrested.

The report comments favorably upon the new system established, under which all cases handled now find a place in the official records of the Department, and considerable overlapping in the work of the officers has been done away with.

Dealing with specific crimes, the report points out that the provincial police were called upon to act in sixteen murder cases, of which five resulted in convictions, three in acquittals, two are awaiting trial, and in six instances no arrest has been made.

Seven cases of crimes of violence, practically all being committed by foreigners, are reported, and commenting upon them, the report says: "It was only by lucky chance that the roll of murders was not added to."

In view of the fact that the penalty inflicted in two of these cases was a fine, the report says: "Having regard for the importance of the protection of the police, and for the further fact that the offenders were drawn from an element whose regard for human life is not so high as that demanded by Canadians, and also bearing in mind that 15 foreigners were convicted for carrying concealed weapons, it cannot be too strongly urged that offences of this character should be punished by the imposition of severe terms of imprisonment. It is also desirable that the sale of firearms, and as far as possible, all weapons, should be strictly governed. The indiscriminate marketing of cheap firearms is a menace to the safety of the public, and their unlicensed sale should be prohibited."

Dealing with the deportation of undesirables, the report chronicles the fact that 547 have been arrested at frontier points, and, being aliens, were turned over to the Federal authorities and deported. "Ontario," it says, "has ceased to be attractive to a very large number of persons, and offers a marked contrast to at least one other province, where crimes committed by the hobo and Yegg have been prevalent."

In enforcing the Liquor License Act, the provincial police have acted in 257 cases, with the result that 213 persons were convicted, 36 discharged, five cases were withdrawn and three are awaiting trial. In addition to sentences of imprisonment, fines aggregating $12,934, were imposed. During the ten months the force has seized 5,815 bottles of whisky, 108 gallons of whisky, 216 flasks, 18 barrels of whisky, one barrel of stout, two gallons of gin, 234 bottles of wine, and 86 gallons of high wines.

Enforcement of the fish and game laws resulted in the prosecution of 139 persons, of whom 120 were convicted, ten discharged, six cases were withdrawn and three are awaiting trial. The fines amounted to $12,912.

The fines imposed in cases in which members of the force acted, amounted to $43,775, and constables' fees, which for the first time were paid in to the Provincial Treasury, $2,758. Constables' traveling expenses amounted to $5,063. Salaries amounted to $37,236, uniforms $2,616, contingencies $1,333.

Reply to Mr. Russell.

Winnipeg, Dec. 31.—R. Mackenzie, secretary of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, replied yesterday to the criticisms of T. A. Russell before the Canadian Club of Toronto, regarding the representative character of the big delegation which recently interviewed Premier Laurier. As an automobile manufacturer, protected by a 35 per cent. tariff, Mackenzie says Russell is taking $350 out of the farmer for every thousand dollars the latter spends in his line, and, as long as such conditions obtain, it is little use for the manufacturer trying to "Take the farmer by the arm and dispel his erroneous impression that he is paying tribute to any class."

Merely a Rumor.

London, Dec. 31.—The Portuguese legation issued an official communication last evening, in which it is asserted that the rumor of a conspiracy in Lisbon against the Government was based solely upon the arrest at the Portuguese capital of a man who had spread a similar rumor throughout Portugal.

UNEASINESS IS GROWING

Toronto, Dec. 31.—From surface indications it appears that the wrecked Farmers' Bank will not only make a poor settlement to the creditors, but will also bring hardship to those who, through the provisions of the Bank Act, suffer by reason of the double liability in respect of their stock holdings.

A meeting recently held in Milton is said to have brought to light the fact that depositors and shareholders alike—men who had shown confidence in the institution and staked their all in its success—would be ruined by the insolvency.

W. R. Travers, general manager, appeared before Magistrate Denison yesterday morning on the charge of making false returns to the Government. Crown Attorney Corley asked for another remand of a week, and promised by that time to be in a position to proceed with the case.

Mr. Corley declined to say whether he had found any further discrepancies in the bank's returns, nor would he discuss the result of his search in respect of the item of $650,976 for railway debentures in the Government return. It is supposed that only a small portion of these securities were in the bank's possession at the time the return was made.

The Travers' case was adjourned until Jan. 6.

May End Strike.

Winnipeg, Dec. 31.—It is believed that a settlement of the street car strike is in sight. To-day it was learned that a committee, consisting of Principal Sparling, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Patrick and Dr. Bland, waited on W. Whyte, one of the directors of the company, as a result of which negotiations were carried on between the company and the men yesterday, the committee being empowered to make certain arrangements with the strikers, the result being that the difficulties separating the two bodies were considerably narrowed down. The new proposition is to be submitted to the men to-day, and it is stated that prospects are very bright for its acceptance.

Atlantic Mail Subsidy.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—Applications have been made by the Canadian Northern and the White Star lines for a share in the subsidy granted for the carriage of mails on the Atlantic. At present the service is performed by the Allan and the C.P.R. lines.

It is possible that the contract will be divided among all of the companies on the basis of paying for service by the tonnage of mail matter carried, and by the speed with which the service is performed.

An Inventory Taken.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Believing the attitude of the Portuguese Government with regard to the property of religious corporations, held to be illegal, is misunderstood in this country, the Portuguese Minister last night made the following statement: "Directly the congregations were dissolved, an inventory of their property was taken, with a view to its proper protection, and in order that it may be surrendered to the rightful owners."

MATTHEWS ON TRIAL

Witness says He Had Scratch on Night of Murder.

Colborne, Dec. 31.—The preliminary hearing in the case of H. I. Matthews, jr., who is charged with the murder of Josephine Brimacombe, came up for hearing yesterday morning before Magistrate Bott and Robert Snetzinger, J.P. Before the hearing, local License Inspector George Barrick laid a charge against Don. Hayes, bartender of the Bristol Hotel, for selling liquor without a license. In this case Matthews testified that he had on several occasions on Dec. 17, bought whisky and other liquors from Haynes. He knew the effects and taste of whisky, and laid the money on the shelf behind the bar. Other witnesses testified to buying whisky in the Bristol Hotel.

"It tasted like whisky," remarked one witness, "but I doubt it. It may be what is called whisky in this town, but it is not what I call whisky."

At the hearing of the murder indictment in the afternoon, which was in charge of Crown Attorney Kerr, it was brought out that Matthews, when he appeared after the noise upstairs in the Bristol Hotel, had a scratch on his cheek from one-half to three-quarters of an inch in length.

The subsequent evidence was largely corroborative of that given at the inquest. Coroner Latta and Dr. Houston, who conductd the post-mortem, were examined at length, and gave evidence with respect to the condition of the body.

Other evidence given was more or less in support of the testimony at the inquest.

SIR WILFRID WILL ATTEND

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—It is now authoritatively stated that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will go to the coronation of King George. Plans are maturing that will make this function the greatest in the history of the British Empire. Canada's share will not be the least.

Col. H. H. McLean, M.P. for Sudbury and Queen's, has been selected to command the Canadian contingent to the King's Coronation, but the second in command has not yet been chosen. The contingent will assemble at Quebec at the end of May and will put in a week's drill before embarking. The regiment will be a composite one, representing the different units of militia, and the corps will have a chance to send the pick of their men.

A Municipal Strike.

New York, Dec. 31.—New York City experienced yesterday its first municipal strike in years, when the firemen on the city's ferry boats which ply between Manhattan and South Brooklyn and Staten Island, went on strike, because the municipal government reduced the number of firemen on Leach boat from seven to six men in order to cut down expenses.

Skating Rink Roof Collapsed.

Kirkfield, Dec. 31.—The skating rink here, belonging to James Dancts, collapsed Thursday, owing to the great weight of snow on the roof. Fortunately no one was injured.

Fighting Commenced.

Puerto Cortez, Honduras, Dec. 31.—(Via wireless to New Orleans.)—Fighting has already started at Las Quabrados, according to reports which reached here yesterday.

THIRTY CHARGES BROUGHT BY INSPECTOR STEWART

Fines for Breaches of Liquor Law Amount to $410.00 for Year—No Informations Against Local Hotelkeepers—Eighty-six Names on Blacklist.

Four hundred and ten dollars have been imposed as fines in connection with the violation of the liquor law, the information of which were laid by License Inspector Stewart during this year.

There have been thirty cases, the fines ranging from $10 to $100, the majority being for the smaller sum.

The license year commences on Jan. 1st and closes on the last day of December.

The first information brought into court by the License Inspector for this year was not until February 14.

The list of cases include, offences of blacklisters and those who have supplied the "Indians" with liquor. The one hundred dollar fine was imposed this morning on the proprietor of the Chemong hotel, for selling liquor without a license.

Not one charge has been made out against a local hotel keeper by the inspector this year. This fact is significant when taken into consideration with the number of blacklisters which is at present eighty-six. Liquor license holders are abiding by the law now as never before and are wide awake to the fact that the department and its local inspector are right on the job.

All of the $410 goes to the Government, but the $100 is set apart to the credit of Smith township as a local option fund for the enforcement of the law.

Refused Master's License.

Buffalo, Dec. 31.—John I. Fleming of Amherst Island, Ont., who has been a shipmaster for several years, has been refused a renewal of his license by the American authorities because he is not a citizen of the United States.

SERIOUS CHARGES

Brought Against Belleville's Mayor and Treasurer by Prominent Citizens.

Belleville, Dec. 31.—At a mass meeting of the electors of the city, held last evening, most damaging charges were preferred against Mayor Marsh and City Treasurer D. Price, by such prominent speakers as Sir M. Bowell, H. Corby, ex-M.P.; J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., and J. C. Phillips, in reference to the sale of certain lots in this city. That an investigation will be held there is no doubt.

A resolution was adopted by the meeting, calling upon the mayor and the treasurer to return to the city some $1,500, which, it is alleged, they and their relatives made by the sale of certain lots. J. P. C. Phillips, who desired to redeem certain lots which he had previously owned, stated that he applied to the treasurer as to price of the lots, and stated that he wanted to buy them. The matter was left in abeyance for a few days, by no fault of his, and then, when Mr. Phillips applied to the treasurer to make a sale, the lots were sold.

In some cases it was declared that the mother-in-law of the mayor and the wife and son-in-law of the treasurer had purchased lots for a small sum, and re-sold them at a profit of some hundreds of dollars. Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., stated that the mayor's mother-in-law's profit on the transaction was $700, Mrs. Price's profit $295, and another relative of the treasurer's had a profit on the sales of $600.

The mayor and treasurer were not present at the meeting, although the mayor was notified on Wednesday.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Swiss National Assembly elected Marc Ruchet president and Ludwig Forrer vice-president of Switzerland for the year 1911.

The strike of 12,000 dockmen and coal heavers has tied up completely the business of Barcelona, Spain. No ships are being loaded or discharged.

At a special meeting of the Montreal City Council yesterday, a motion to dismiss Dr. Leberge, health officer, because of his Masonic intentions, was defeated by 15 to 13.

The Montreal Board of Trade and other public bodies will send a deputation to Washington to oppose the Long Sault Rapids power bill, introduced in the U. S. Congress.

The projected trip for Canadian business men to the West Indies, which was arranged to commence on Jan. 14, from St. John, N.B., and to last for some six weeks, has been finally abandoned.

J. E. Conmee of Moosejaw was convicted in that city of having wrongfully assumed the title of M.D., and of having led people to infer that he was a qualified medical practitioner. He was fined $45.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley heard the complaint regarding the erection of Hydro-electric towers in the lake, and it is stated he will not delay the work, but will have it done to the satisfaction of the Department's engineers.

Two preachers and many women have been drawn into the Adams County, Ohio, ballot scandal, the ministers confessing that they had sold their votes for $5 each and the women asserting that they had put a price on the votes of their husbands, sons and sweethearts.

A Fatal Fire.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 31.—One woman was burned to death, three women were probably fatally burned and ten other persons were injured in a fire which early yesterday destroyed a three-storey flat building on Eleventh street.

The fire spread rapidly, and the sleeping occupants of the eight flats in the building barely had time to get to the doors and windows, and were forced out into zero weather scantily clad.

Most of the injuries were received in jumping from windows. Three babies were safely dropped from the third floor into the arms of firemen.

Process of Detachment.

London, Dec. 31.—(via New York.)—The Standard turns yesterday morning to the question of American-Canadian reciprocity. It says:

"There are many persons in Canada who believe that the conclusion of a treaty of reciprocity with the United States may, in spite of strong considerations on the other side, be the beginning of a process of detachment from Great Britain. They have good reason for their fear."

FOUR HUNDRED BOYS ARE IN CONVENTION

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—Four hundred boys from all parts of Ontario and Quebec are in attendance at a conference which opened yesterday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A.

This is not merely a Y.M.C.A. conference. It is the fifth annual Y.M.C.A. boys work conference with which are affiliated conferences of collegiate institute and high school students, conference on Sunday school work for boys, and the conference of the Canadian Baden-Powell boy scouts. The convention is being conducted under the joint auspices of the Ontario and Quebec provincial committee of the Y.M.C.A. and the Ontario Sunday School Association. As the first such united convention it is by far the greatest ever of its kind witnessed in Canada.

Some of the finest speakers to boys on the continent are in attendance, including C. K. Calhoun of Montreal, general secretary of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. committee; Eugene C. Foster, boys' work secretary of the Detroit Y.M.C.A.; Hubert Carleton, M.A., D.C.L., Boston, general secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew; R. A. Waite, jr., boys' work secretary, international committee Y.M.C.A., New York; C. M. Copeland, Toronto, general secretary Ontario committee Y.M.C.A.; Frank H. T. Ritchie, Canadian boys' work secretary Y.M.C.A.; C. J. Atkinson, superintendent Broadview Boys' Institute, Toronto; W. E. Halpenny, B.D., general secretary Sunday School Association of Ontario.

In Memory of Tolstoi.

Berlin, Dec. 31.—With the hope of interesting American millionaires in a project to purchase Yasnaya Polyana, the estate of the late Count Tolstoi, Michael Alexandrovitch Kustinsky, a Russian, has sailed for New York, and will arrive there this week.

Mr. Kustinsky says he is acting as the agent of the sons of Count Tolstoi, who desire to perpetuate the doctrines and teachings of their father by means of a great educational establishment, to be named for the famous author, and to be devoted to the study of his philosophy, especially that regarding peace.

It is likely that the first Americans to be interviewed by M. Kustinsky will be John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie.

Dr. Cook Thanks Norway.

New York, Dec. 31.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the traveler, in the course of an interview yesterday in The Nordlyset, a local Danish paper, sends a message of thanks to the Danish people for their reception on his arrival from the north in 1909. The message, which has been cabled to the leading papers in Copenhagen, follows:

"In response to the offer of The Nordlyset, I take this opportunity to thank the Danish people for their uniform patience and loyalty to my interest. I have been deprived of much, but the sweetness of Danish hospitality will always remain to nurse the spark of ambition."

Arm Wrenched Off; Boy Dies.

Berlin, Ont., Dec. 31.—A fatal accident occurred at Breslau, four miles east of here, yesterday afternoon. Reardon Schiedel, the 12-year-old son of J. M. Schiedel, general merchant of that place, was playing around in the grist mill of the J. H. Dedel estate, and in some manner got tangled in a pulley of the machinery, with the result that his arm was wrenched from his body at the shoulder. He lived only about thirty minutes after the accident.

WAS SHOT BY NEIGHBOR

Austin, Man., Dec. 31.—Wednesday evening, Samuel Hodgins, an elderly farmer, was doing his chores when a gun was discharged in the vicinity, destroying the lantern and part of the charge entering Hodgin's side. A second charge almost immediately after, entered the old farmer's abdomen. No one was seen by the victim or his wife, who came to investigate the shots.

Next morning the provincial police arrested John Styff, a young Austrian homesteader in the neighborhood, who worked on and off for the victim, and charged him with the crime. Styff had supped with Hodgins, and borrowed the victim's shot gun to shoot rabbits. He is understood to have had trouble with the younger Hodgins, when the constables approached the Austrian's shack at midnight, a light was burning; this was extinguished, and the constables had to break in the door, when Styff sought to hide himself. The gun was found, both barrels being clean and shining. The prisoner speaks but little English. Hodgins, sr., is in a precarious but not hopeless condition.

City Will Take Up Fight.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—The City Council is in gripe with the turnpike trust, and the citizens have been told to take no more notice of the toll gates in the suburbs after Dec. 31. "We will say to the public," said Ald. L. A. Lapointe, "the roads are free, and the city will look after your free passage over them. What ever fighting is to be done for your rights will be done by the city for you. The city will hold herself responsible for any tax that the trust may seek to impose."

Cut His Throat.

Nelson, B.C., Dec. 31.—Geo. Willard Walmsley, for twelve years a well-known resident of Kootenay, and for the last five years a resident of Nelson, committed suicide in his rooms on Baker street, yesterday morning, by cutting his throat with a butcher knife. The act was committed in a moment of mental aberration. He had recently been ill, and was under the impression that some one was trying to arrest him.

Make No Distinction.

New York, Dec. 31.—The National Liberal Immigration League has sent a resolution to Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor, declaring that the wife and children of a naturalized citizen should be admitted to this country equally with the wife and children of a native citizen, and that no distinction should be made between one class of citizens and another, whether native or foreign born.

A World's Record.

Paris, Dec. 31.—Tabuteau, the French aviator, yesterday, for the second time, broke a world's record for time and distance when he had covered more than 380 miles in a few minutes under eight hours, while flying at Buc in an attempt to win the Michelin Cup and $4,000 in cash offered for the longest continued flight around a closed circuit.

BOLD THIEF STEALS FROM HOME OF G. W. POWELL

A well engineered and successful case of robbery is reported from the residence of G. W. Powell, 590 George street, and the thief made a large haul.

A suit case, an overcoat, razor, revolver, and other articles were stolen Thursday.

During the early part of the week a young man called at the house, asking if he might board there.

Arrangements were made for his meals only. He stated that he was working at Carey's.

On Thursday morning he went out, presumably to go to his work, but he did not report to Mr. Carey. He returned later in the day to the house, when the youngest son of Mr. Powell was alone in the house. With the excuse that he was ill, he succeeded in his request to the young lad, that he go out and purchase some medicine. It was while alone in the house that he stole the articles and left the city, by travelling east. He changed, it is understood, at Central Ontario Junction, and at Trenton made a clever escape from the police constable, who had in the meantime been advised.

He left the grip behind him, however, and ran across the ice, but the news of his arrest is expected at any time.

ICE CREAM PLANT TO BE ADDED TO CREAMERY

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, is adding an ice cream plant to his local creamery on Aylmer Street, for the manufacture of ice cream, and will cater to the wholesale and retail trade. Cold storage facilities will also be furnished, [illegible]

Operations will be commenced so that everything will be in readiness for the opening of next season.

This is another progressive move for Mr. Gillespie. It means a new business for Peterborough, and one that will no doubt be successful.

PLANS SEEMS ASSURED; INTERNATIONAL BOARD MEETS WITH APPROVAL

According to Report Filed at Washington With the Department of State, It Is Believed That the Proposed Board Would Be Open to Appeal by Shippers and Would Have Wide Powers.

Washington, Dec. 31.—An international railway commission, with supervisory authority over the railroads operating between Canada and the United States, is practically assured.

After many months of negotiations between the two Governments a conclusion was reached yesterday which means that probably within a few months regulatory authority will be extended over railway operations between the two countries.

For several days J. P. Mabee, chief commissioner of the Railway Commission of Canada, and Chairman Martin A. Knapp of the Interstate Commerce Commission, have been in conference on the subject. They reached an agreement last Wednesday. Since that time they have been working out the details of the report.

Yesterday Chairman Knapp and Judge Mabee called at the Department of State and presented their joint report. As it is a diplomatic matter, the commissioners were directed by the State Department not to make public at present the result of their negotiations. The text of the report, therefore, is not available.

It is known, however, that the commissioners have agreed as to the advisability of the creation of an international railway commission, which shall have supervisory authority over the railway lines doing an international business between the two countries. This authority is to extend to the regulation of international rates, both freight and passenger, and to the prescribing of through routes and joint rates and through bill of lading between points in one country to points in the other.

The commission will have authority over all international transportation, and may be appealed to by shippers or carriers in either country for relief from what they deem oppressive methods or regulations, or excessive or unreasonable rates.

The principal subject under consideration by the designated representatives of the two Governments was the method by which the commission should be created. It finally was decided to recommend that the arrangement between the two countries should be concluded by treaty, rather than by joint legislation.

Drank Her Blood.

Calgary, Dec. 31.—The Italian Blanco, who is held on charges of vagrancy, procuration and abduction, appeared before the magistrate yesterday. Mrs. Gasbari, a complainant, who testified that she was forced, under fear of a revolver, to leave her husband and to live with Blanco. Mrs. Gasbari, in cross-examination, again told of Blanco drinking her blood, and of her refusing to reciprocate.

A young Italian named Filippe, said to be a son of the accused, admitted taking her clothes to the station at the time of her flight to Nelson. The woman said she had lived with Gasbari for fourteen years without a wedding ceremony. A marriage had only taken place since information was laid against Blanco.

Four Days Without Food.

Port Arthur, Dec. 31.—After having lived for four days without food in a grease barrel, protecting himself from the wind by turning round from time to time, his head being covered only with an old bag, Richard Manning, an Englishman, arrived in Port Arthur from White River, in charge of Constable Phelan, to serve three months in jail, being committed by Magistrate Depew for vagrancy.

Manning was overcome on a tramp out from the Michipicoten mines, and taken to a shelter by the provincial constable, after sectionmen had found him. His fingers and feet were badly frozen, and he was committed to jail for care, because there was nothing else to do with him.

No Infraction of Law.

Saskatoon, Dec. 31.—Charges against the proprietors of the Queen's Hotel and the Royal Hotel were yesterday dismissed in the Police Court. The proprietors were charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours, having opened their bars after 5 o'clock on the day the local option vote was taken. The charges were brought up as a test, and it has been proven that there was no infraction of the law in the bars being opened.

May Lose Eyesight.

Welland, Dec. 30.—Angered because he would not pay a debt which he owed him, Daniel Hobden attacked and beat John Beach to such an extent that he was unconscious for some time. Beach will probably lose his eyesight. Hobden will be tried for assault.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, DEC. 31, 1910.

TO THE ELECTORS

Be true to Peterborough when you go to the polls on Monday to cast your vote, both in the choice of men to sit at the council board, to manage the school affairs and in the matter of the industrial by-laws. The Review presents no selections in the matter of candidates, because nearly all of them are well known to the electorate, and the people knowing them, may be safely left to exercise their own discrimination. Most of the retiring councilmen are standing for re-election, and while there may be ground for criticism in actions taken by the council, an alderman who has done his best for the good of the city, is entitled on ordinary considerations to re-election. It has been found that an experienced municipal legislator has a great advantage over a newcomer—and indeed, one of the great disadvantages of the present cumbersome system of municipal government is the fact that changing and shifting each year militates against the greatest efficiency of service.

On the other hand, a municipal legislator may have been in office too long—may have got into a rut, or lost the vigor and freshness that come with new blood. There is a medium in all things, and no newcomer in the civic field is entitled to a refusal of consideration simply because he is new. Every man, in this field or any other field, has to make a start, and after his initiation and the securing of a comprehensive grasp of the public questions, he may be a far better representative than an oldtimer.

It will be seen, then, in the selection of a governing body, the personality and probable ability in municipal work of a newcomer, have to be weighed against the record of an experienced municipal light—for a man may be known very largely by his past record. In entering a public career every man must submit his public actions to the test of opinion—whether that be criticism or praise.

The return to the ward system narrows the possible choices of the electors to three or four men. Instead of marking their ballots for a complete council, and thus giving expression to individual approval or disapproval of the general conduct of city affairs, the electors must this time select the best in their own little ward, and depend on the good sense and discrimination of their fellow-electors of other wards, to complete a first-class council for 1911.

There is no use discussing the merits of the ward system as against the at-large system at this stage of the game. The duty of every elector is to cast his individual votes according to his best judgment, and the result will probably be a first-class council.

There is need for still further energy, with reference to Peterborough's publicity. Commissioner Duggan has been at work but a short time, part of that in hot weather, when it is almost impossible to do more than missionary work in the good cause. No publicity commissioner can be judged safely on less than a year's trial, because results are at all times slow and uncertain. It must be remembered that while Peterborough has many advantages, many facilities to offer manufacturers, other cities have much to offer, and the competition is quite keen. Commissioner Duggan has, it must be said, worked most systematically in the compilation and preparation of statistics and argument for presentation to prospective locators, and has been busily engaged in cultivating by correspondence what is largely a virgin field. The results of this systematic inclusion of all possibilities, industrially, are beginning to be demonstrated in inquiries, and in the promise of visits to investigate the field. Of course, having actual results to show; being like an Indian brave, able to dangle so many scalps at his belt, is a different and difficult proposition. As we say, Commissioner Duggan has laid broad foundations on which to build a broad and substantial industry-getting structure. It is not fair to judge him by any standard, but this at present. No man in this peculiar and most uncertain work can be fairly judged on a few months' work.

This brings us to the consideration of the industry by-laws which Peterborough citizens are called on to accept or refuse. The Bonner-Worth by-law is that governing the coming of a new industry, a woollen yarn company employing forty or fifty hands. This company is headed by men who give every evidence of soundness and saneness in their business ideas, who are, in every way, exceptionally well qualified to conduct such an industry. The bargain with the city, on which the by-law is based, is very sensible, and has the approval of business Peterborough, including the city council. Roughly speaking, it provides for the loan of $12,000 for a ten year period, repayable in annual instalments of $1,000 each, after two years, $6,000 to be loaned on completion of the buildings, and $6,000 shortly after, on installation of machinery. The city obtains a mortgage covering the real estate, and rights on certain of the machinery, being fully protected in every contingency. The company, while binding itself to a minimum of 30 employes, will employ 40 or 50, with an annual pay-roll of $20,000 or $25,000. Is this to be displsed? Is not this industry worthy of a solid support? Refuse the ones that offer, and you won't have many more to refuse!

The other by-law is one which speculates on the possibility of finding natural gas in the vicinity. The gentleman seeking the franchise of 20 years is an expert in natural gas work, and in the event of securing a franchise agrees to spend $6,000 in boring for gas. In spending money seeking what may or may not be found, it is only right that he should be protected by the certainty of reward, in case of success. Failure means the loss of money to him; the possibility of finding gas is the only reason for risking this money. Natural gas has done much for Hamilton, St. Catharines, Welland, Buffalo and the advent of natural gas to Peterborough would be a great boon. Peterborough has nothing to lose in passing the by-law, if the boring operations thoroughly cover the possible field. Both by-laws can be safely and conscientiously supported.

DIVORCE IN CANADA

It will be found that many people will strongly oppose the suggestion advanced by the Bar Association for a regular divorce court to relieve parliament of a congestion of cases. The suggestion advanced is for an Ontario court. If such a court were created, it should be federal and not provincial. The various states of the Union handle the divorce question, and a shameful record it is. In Nevada, Idaho, Dakota and other western states, the grist makes a farce and burlesque of the marriage vow. Some women divorcees re-arrange their marital affairs so often by the convenient aid of these obliging courts, that their children are in doubt as to who their father is.

To introduce into Canada such intolerable conditions will call forth strong protests, and rightly so. Canada has been noted for the morality and rectitude of its people. Shall we imitate these states, and be a fair mark for the finger of scorn? It is argued that the present system of procuring divorce is so cumbersome and costly that poor people cannot take advantage of it. Do the common people want to? The records of divorce courts show that decrees of separation and issuance of divorces are confined entirely to what are termed the "upper class—the wealthy, the leisured, the men and women who have not to fight for a living. Had these divorcees more work, and less time to devote to finding reasons for marital unhappiness, the divorce courts would not be so popular.

The provision of easy methods for divorce will lead to a large increase of applications. It will lower the tone of Canadian morality, the violation of old-time standards. Is it not better to be old-fashioned in this case than be plagued with such a serious evil?

BENEFITING THE FARMER

J. A. Russell, in an address to the Toronto Canadian Club presenting the manufacturers' point of view of the tariff controversy, hits home in strong fashion, proving that the farmer has benefited by the prosperity the present fiscal system has produced more than other classes of citizens. Mr. Russell said, in part—

"I wonder if the farmers have stopped to reason out the significance of their last request for direct taxation. The farmer grows more of what he uses and therefore buys less proportionately than any other citizen. Hence a tax on imports like a tariff bears less on him than on any other citizen. What will direct taxation, largely or wholly on land values, do to him with his great holdings of land?

"These proposals are radical, revolutionary. They might, with propriety, be advanced at a time when trade was dull, farmers getting low prices for their produce, our population shrinking, our factories idle and our country's credit low.

"But what are the facts? Our western country is being filled up as fast as we can assimilate the additions; railways are being constructed, our factories are busy, our country's credit never stood so high. And what of the farmer? In the West he has grown rich in a decade. In the Niagara peninsula his land values have increased ten-fold. Throughout Canada he gets 50 per cent more for his grain and fodder than he did a decade ago, 48 per cent more for his meat, 33 per cent more for his dairy produce, and this at the time when the cost of manufactured goods has, as a whole, remained stationary or decreased. Investigation shows that a fixed amount of farm produce will buy 50 per cent more of general manufactured goods than twenty years ago.

"Is this, then, a time for revolution, for experiment? No, rather let us continue our policy of fiscal stability which has been at the basis of our prosperity, and, if it needs amendment, amend it with care after investigation as to the conditions.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Of course most people will arise at six o'clock to-morrow morning to make their good resolutions!

The express companies are still trying to digest the Railway Commission's finding. Was a tough Christmas dinner for them

It is reported the King will knight the Canadian mayors attending the coronation. Now, if Mayor Morrow has any ambition——

Three cheers for 1910, which has but a few hours to go. It has seen good and ill, joy and suffering, and folly and wisdom. Let's resolve tomorrow to do better in 1911.

A mysterious eastern drug has been discovered which puts people to sleep standing up. It hasn't been stated whether the sleepers take to the telegraph poles or lamp-posts for support.

The railways will fight the dual language bill in Quebec, which would force them to use both French and English on all tickets, time-tables, directions, etc. The railways are not so foolish as to consent to be encumbered with such an objectionable practice. The Dominion parliamentary system is enough for one country!

Missed Their Calling

S. F. Lazier, K. C., retiring president of the Ontario Bar Association thinks there should be an upward tendency revision of lawyers' fees, for the usual reason—. C. of 1. There may be something in what Mr. Lazier says; also there may be something in the suggestion that a good many of Ontario's so called lawyers who cannot make a living at law could be much better off and nearer to where they should be if they were working at a trade or on the farm. — Hamilton Spectator.

WOMEN SUFFER

More Than Men

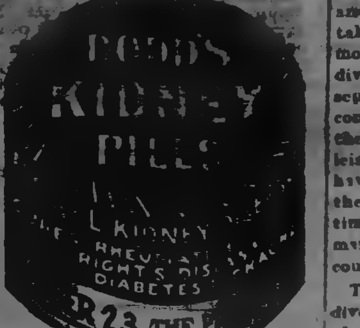
Women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity. They must "keep up" in spite of constantly aching backs or headaches dizzy spells, etc. Mrs. Edward Calwood of 123 S. Harold street, Fort William Ont., says:

"I suffered with dull miserable pains soreness across my back and in my sides for months. They would catch me so badly at times that I could scarcely move around. I would have dizzy spells and altogether felt generally run down. After using a number of remedies without finding relief, I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and found them an excellent remedy. They not only relieved me of the miserable pains and soreness in my back, but cured me of my kidney trouble."

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth's Kidney Pills cure Backache, Dull Shooting Pains, Thick and Cloudy Urine, Gravel or Stone, Rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and Bladder.

All druggists and dealers 50c. box or post paid from the R. T. Booth Co. Fort Erie Ont. If you derive no benefit your money will be refunded. Could we say more? Sold and guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist Peterborough.



THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Unchanged, Chicago Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Dec. 30.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day unchanged from yesterday; corn futures ⅛d to ½d lower.

At Chicago, December wheat closed ¼c lower than yesterday; December corn, ⅛c higher, and December oats unchanged.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg, December wheat closed ⅛c lower than yesterday; December oats ⅛c lower.

	Close Dec. 29.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close
Wheat—
Dec.	91⅝	....	....	....	91¾
May	95⅛	95⅝	96	95⅛	95¼
July	96⅞	96⅝	97⅛	96½	96¾
Oats—
Dec.	32⅝	32⅝	32⅝	32½	32⅝
May	36⅜	36⅜	36½	36⅜	36⅜

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 85 to	$0 88
Wheat, goose, bush	0 80	....
Rye, bushel	0 67	....
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 20	2 30
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Butter, weak; receipts, 3282; creamery specials, 30c; extras 29½c to 29c; third to first, 23 to 27½c; creamery held, third to special, 23c to 29c; state dairy, common to finest, 20c to 26½c; factory held, 22c to 22½.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 708.

Eggs—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 6,502.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Old Country Exchanges Firmer—Hogs Higher at Buffalo.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—London cattle market lower for American cattle, at 13½c to 14½c, dressed weight, sinking the offal. Refrigerator beef easier, at 9½c to 10c.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Dec. 30.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; fairly active and steady.

Veals—Receipts, 400 head; active, 25c higher, $7 to $10.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 2500 head; active, 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $8 to $8.05; mixed, $8 to $8.10; yorkers, $8 to $8.15; pigs, $8.15 to $8.25; roughs, $7 to $7.15; stags, $5.75 to $6.50; dairies, $7.90 to $8.15.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 13,000 head, slow; sheep, steady; lambs, 15c to 25c lower; heavy lambs, $5 to $6.25; handy lambs, $5 to $6.85; yearlings, $4.75 to $5; wethers, $3.75 to $4; ewes, $3.30 to $3.75; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Beeves—Receipts 1890; generally lower; steers, $4.65 to $6.60; bulls, $4 to $5; cows, $2.25 to $4.75; dressed beef, dull, at 8½c to 10½c. Exports tomorrow, 1086 cattle, 661 sheep and 2100 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 538. Veals, steady, at $6.50 to $10.50; culls, $5 to $6; dressed calves, steady; city dressed veals, 11c to 16c; country dressed, 8c to 13c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5482; sheep and lambs, lower; sheep, $2.50 to $4; lambs, $5.50 to $6.60.

Hogs—Receipts, 1118; nominally lower; quotations, $8 to $8.25.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Cattle—Receipts, 1500; market, strong; beeves, $4.70 to $7; Texas steers, $4.25 to $5.40; western steers, $4.25 to $6; stockers and feeders, $3.50 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.60 to $6.30; calves, $7 to $9.

Hogs—Receipts, 17,000; market more active, mostly 15c higher; light, $7.60 to $7.95; mixed, $7.60 to $7.95; heavy, $7.60 to $7.95; roughs, $7.60 to $7.75; good to choice heavy, $7.75 to $7.95; pigs, $7.25 to $8; bulk of sales, $7.75 to $7.90.

Sheep—Receipts, 7000; market strong; natives, $3.00 to $4.35; western, $2.75 to $4.30; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.80; native lambs, $4.75 to $6.60; western, $4.75 to $6.60.

Dog Speaks.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—The claim of a gamekeeper near Hamburg that his dog can speak German and has an understanding of the language sufficient to answer questions intelligently, has been taken so seriously by German scientists that Prof. Pfungst of Berlin University, headed a commission of investigation.

It is stated that they found the animal possessed of a vocabulary of seven words, which were clearly articulated. Of the number four were words of two syllables. It is asserted that the dog understands what is said to him, and replies to the enquiries from strangers within the limits of the language, without aid or suggestion from his owner.

Frozen to Death.

Lorett, Man., Dec. 31.—A man identified as Richard Bradshaw, fell from a C.N.R. express near here Thursday, and, being injured, and, it is suspected, under the influence of liquor, was so badly frozen that he died half an hour after being picked up by a section gang in the morning. He had over $30 in his pockets, and was identified by an employment agent's contract for employment with the Northern Construction Co. at Banning, Ont., Rainy River District, whither he was evidently going.

Arrested German Spy.

Dover, Eng., Dec. 31.—That the English military authorities have arrested a foreign spy, believed to be the leader of a band conducting secret espionages at English fortifications, was revealed yesterday.

The spy was arrested while sketching the fortifications here and is held in custody by the authorities. They refuse to give his name or any details concerning the arrest, but the prisoner is believed to be a German.

Jailbird Recaptured.

Cornwall, Dec. 31.—Albert Carter, who was serving a term in the county jail, and who made his escape on two occasions, the last time in the summer of 1909, was recaptured at Moulinette Thursday and brought to Cornwall to finish the unexpired ten months. A short time ago Chief Smith received an anonymous letter from Toronto, informing him that Carter was in the vicinity of Moulinette.

Will Fight Extradition.

Braddock, Pa., Dec. 31.—W. H. Goodman, 30 years old, of Toronto, will fight extradition proceedings against returning to Canada, to stand trial for forgery, charged against him for forging a check on the Bank of Montreal last summer. Goodman was employed as manager of the Bell Telephone Co.'s office at Newmarket, Ont.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, hands, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 30c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 33 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

ON TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27th, GOLD necklace set with pearls, between Fair's and Hall's stores on George St. Liberal reward for return to Review Office 3d

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF, on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

Wanted

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m. or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 711 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL

If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street, Opposite Opera House

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell

JAY'S STORES

Phone 623.
390 Aylmer St
Peterborough.

EAST CITY

COAL

And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Canadian Pacific Ry.

EMPRESSES

And other Steamships

ST. JOHN, N.B. and HALIFAX, N.S.

Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Feb. 10, Mar. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

HOLIDAY RATES

BETWEEN ALL STATIONS IN CANADA

at Single Fare

Good going December 31st, 1910, and January 1st and 2nd, 1911, valid returning until Tuesday, January 3rd, 1911.

AT FARE AND ONE-THIRD

Good going daily until January 2nd, 1911, inclusive, valid returning until Wednesday, January 4th, 1911.

Full particulars and tickets from —

W. BUNTON, City Agent. F. SANDY, Depot Agent.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

FLORIDA

CALIFORNIA, CUBA

FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO

You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect.

Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT of the Canadian Northern Ry. System is prepared to obtain

FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS

For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—

THOS. HOWELL,
General Immigration Agent
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

COAL

THAT IS COAL

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 PER TON

Hardwood

First-Class. - - - Best in City

Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord

Cut and split as desired

—AT—

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

ORDER NOW

The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co

248 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL

M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London, "Internal Medicine."

Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.

Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 851, mach. 225

314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN

F.R.C.S., Edinb.: M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH

Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 213.

Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.

Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach

Office—548 Water Street

Bell Phones, Office 468—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY

Osteopathic Physician

Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.

Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc

Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough

Money to Loan.

Robt. Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES

Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.

Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON

Barrister, Solicitor, etc.

Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro. Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.

E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor.

Louis M. Hayes, K. C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

(Successors to Stratton & Hall)

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.

R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES

415 Water Street, Peterborough

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.

E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water Peterborough. Telephone No 191.

Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan

at lowest current rates

— on —

FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall

BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

TORONTO SAVINGS & Loan Company

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend for the three (3) months ending 31st December at the rate of Eight per cent (8%) per annum has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this Institution and the same will be payable at the Offices of the Company in this City on and after January 3rd, 1911.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st day of December, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Dec. 2nd, 1910.

AUCTIONEER

James E. Cope

Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Snooty House Saturdays

900 DROPS

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. NEW YORK.

At 6 months old 35 DOSES - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"Are you going to Chicago?" George asked.

"Sure, we've got to put this cannery deal over," the crook sighed luxuriously and began to blow smoke rings. "Pretty nice train, ain't it?"

"Yes," ejaculated Emerson, undecided whether to be pleased or angered at the fellow's presence. "Which is your car?"

"This one—same as yours. I've got the drawing room."

"What are you going to do in Chicago?"

"Oh, I ain't fully decided yet, but I might do a little promoting. Seattle is too full of Alaskan snares."

The younger man shook his head. "You are impossible," said he, "and yet I can't help liking you."

In Chicago, as in Seattle, Fraser accompanied his fellow travelers to their hotel and would have registered himself under some high sounding alias except for a whispered threat from Boyd.

Promptly at 4 o'clock Emerson called a cab and was driven toward the north side. As the vehicle rolled up Lake Shore drive the excitement under which he had been laboring for days increased until he tapped his feet nervously, clinched his gloved fingers and patted the cushions as if to accelerate the horse's footfalls. Would he never arrive?

The vehicle drew up at last before one of the most pretentious residences, a massive pile of stone and brick fronting the lake with what seemed to him a singularly proud and chilling aspect. During the moments that he waited he found his body pulsating to the slow, heavy thumping of his heart; then a familar face greeted him.

"How do you do, Hawkins!" he heard himself saying as a liveried old man ushered him in. "Is Miss Wayland in?"

"Yes, sir; she is expecting you. This way, please."

Boyd followed, thankful for the subdued light which might conceal his agitation. He knew where they were going; she had always awaited him in the library, so it seemed.

Hawkins held the portieres aside, and Boyd heard their velvet swish at his back, yet for the briefest instant he did not see her, so motionless did she stand. Then he cried softly:

"My lady!" and strode forward.

"Boyd! Boyd!" she answered, and came to meet him, yielding herself to his arms. She felt his heart pounding against hers like the heart of a runner who has spent himself at the tape, felt his arms quivering as if from great fatigue. For a long time neither spoke.

CHAPTER VI.

"AND so all your privations and hardships went for nothing," said Mildred Wayland when Boyd had recounted the history of his pilgrimage into the north.

"Yes," he replied; "as a miner I am a very wretched failure."

She shrugged her shoulders in disapproval.

"Don't use that term!" she cried. "There is no word so hateful to me as 'failure'—I suppose because father has never failed in anything. Let us say that your success has been delayed."

"Very well. That suits me better also, but you see I've forgotten how to choose nice words."

They were seated in the library, where for two hours they had remained undisturbed, Emerson talking rapidly, almost incoherently.

"And you did all that for me," she mused. "I wonder if any other man I know would take those risks just for—me."

"Of course. Why, the risk, I mean the physical peril and hardship and discomfort, don't amount to—that." He snapped his fingers. "It was only the unending desolation that hurt; it was the separation from you that punished me—the thought that some luckier fellow might"—

"Nonsense!" Mildred was really indignant. "I told you to fix your own time, and I promised to wait. Even if I had not—cared for you I would have kept my word. That is a Wayland principle. As it is, it was—comparatively easy."

"Then you do love me, my lady?" He leaned eagerly toward her.

"Do you need to ask?" she whispered from the shelter of his arms. "It is the same old fascination of our girl and boy days. Do you remember how completely I lost my head about you?" She laughed softly. "I used to think you wore a football suit better than anybody in the world! Sometimes I suspect that it is merely that same girlish hero worship and can't last. But it has lasted—so far. Three years is a long time for a girl like me to wait, isn't it?"

"I know, I know!" he returned jealously.

"But legions of men are courting you. Oh, I know. Haven't I devoured society columns by the yard? The papers were six months old, to be sure, when I got them, but every mention of you was just like a knife stab to me. I used to torture my lonely soul with pictures of you. You were never out of mind for an hour. My days were given to you, and I used to pray that my dreams might hold nothing but you. You have been my fetish from the first day I met you, and my worship has grown blinder every hour, Mildred. Oh, my lady, how beautiful you are!"

And indeed she was, for her face, ordinarily so imperious, was now softly alight; her eyes, which other men found cold, were kindled with a rare warmth of understanding; her smile was almost wistfully sweet.

He recalled how excited he had been in that faraway time when he had first learned her identity, for the name of Wayland was spoken soundingly in the middle west. In the early stages of their acquaintance he had looked upon her aloofness as an affectation, but a close intimacy had compelled a recognition of it as something wholly natural. He found her as truly patrician as Wayne Wayland, her father, could wish. The old man's domain was greater than that of many princes, and his power more absolute. His only daughter he spoiled as thoroughly as he ruled his part of the financial world, and willful Mildred, once she had taken an interest in the young college man so evidently ready to be numbered among her lovers, did not pause half way, but made her preference patent to all and opened to him a realm of dazzling possibilities.

And when he had graduated how proud of her he had been! How little he had realized the gulf that separated them, and how quick had been his awakening!

It was Wayne Wayland who had shown him his folly. He had talked to the young engineer kindly, if firmly, being too shrewd an old diplomat to fan the flame of a headstrong love with vigorous opposition.

"Mildred is a rich girl," the old financier had told Boyd, "a very rich girl, one of the richest girls in this part of the world, while you, my boy—what have you to offer?"

"Nothing! But you were not always what you are now," Emerson had replied. "Every man has to make a start. When you married you were as poor as I am."

"Granted! But I married a poor girl from my own station in life. Fortunately she had the latent power to develop with me as I grew, so that we kept even and I never outdistanced her. But Mildred is spoiled to begin with. I spoiled her purposely to prevent just this sort of thing. She is bred to luxury, her friends are rich, and she doesn't know any other kind of life."

And so it was that Boyd Emerson had gone to Alaska, to the Klondike, to win a fortune and thus to win the girl he loved. He fixed his own time for returning, and so it was that Mildred Wayland had awaited him.

If today, after three years of deprivation, she seemed to him more beautiful than ever—the interval having served merely to enhance her charm and strengthen the yearning of his heart—she seemed in the same view still farther removed from his sphere.

His story finished, Boyd went on to tell her vaguely of his future plans, and at last he asked her, with something less than an accepted lover's confidence:

"Will you wait another year?"

She laughed lightly. "You dear boy, I am not up for auction. This is not the 'third and last call.' I am not sure I could induce anybody to take me even if I desired."

"I read the rumor of your engagement in a San Francisco paper."

She mentioned a number of names, counting them off on her finger tips. "Then, of course, there are the old standbys, Mr. Macklin, Tommy Turner, the Lawton boys"—

"And Alton Clyde!"

"To be sure; little Alton, like the brook, runs on forever. He still worships you, Boyd, by the way."

"Is there any one in particular?" Boyd demanded.

To be continued.

Newark, N.J., is to have a $50,000 statue of George Washington.

Rev. Father Morriscy

A Real Lung Tonic

There are many preparations that will relieve a cough—few that will cure it. The first class, containing such drugs as Opium and Morphine, simply deaden the irritation and stop the cough, but do little or no permanent good.

"Father Morriscy's No. 10"

does not contain a trace of these dangerous drugs, but is an absolutely safe and scientific preparation of Nature's own remedies—Herbs, Roots and Balsams.

It entirely removes the irritation that caused the cough, by cleaning out the mucus, stopping the inflammation and healing the delicate membrane of throat and lungs.

Moreover, it tones up and strengthens the whole system, particularly the lungs, and protects against future coughs and colds.

Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c.

At your dealer's. 23

Father Morriscy Medicine Co. Ltd. - Chatham, N.B.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

NEW YEAR'S EVE IN NEW YORK CITY

YOU couldn't drag a New York man out of town on New Year's eve, and the only trips he will plan are auto rides in some sequestered locality late on the afternoon of the 1st, so that he can get fresh air and perfect quiet. As for the New York hostesses, when they are arranging for dinners it is with the understanding that the party shall go later to the theater and still later join the throng which is bent on turning night not into day, for no day was ever like New Year's eve in Manhattan now, but into a cross between Mardi Gras, a bullfight and a football game, with dashes of a Coney Island festival and a queen's birthday.

ENJOYING THEMSELVES.

There is one time honored custom of New Year's eve which will not be cut out, that of going to old Trinity, where the chimes will be rung, but there will be a change even in this. Albert Meislahn, the bell ringer, who had officiated for thirty years, is dead, and a Columbia undergraduate is in his place.

At the big hotels and restaurants it is estimated that between 1,000 and 2,000 people will be accommodated by each. Tables have been engaged for weeks, and the demand is so great that all the rooms usually reserved for drawing rooms are to be furnished with supper tables.

In regard to specific arrangements it is the mode at present to have everything at the hotel table as delicately fine as if one were entertaining at one's own home. If a dish is served that can be carved on the table the hostess wishes to supervise it, and any chafing dish article must have the finishing touches put in by her. Often she will make the salad dressing, all with the notion to give the appearance of the private entertaining with the public environment.

"The old time favorites, canvasback and terrapin, are no longer named by those ordering in advance or by the chef who prepares the regular menu for such occasions," said a hotel manager. "These articles of food are difficult to procure, expensive, and, besides, tastes have changed.

"The favorite supper dish now is some kind of shellfish daintily prepared so that one can hardly recognize its flavor. The approved menu is caviare or oysters on the shell, a consomme or clam broth en tasse, an entree of sweetbreads, frogs' legs, lobster a la Newburg, game and salad and ices with delicious cakes."

Chrysanthemums and American Beauties lead in the matter of floral decorations, with the usual holiday background of greens, holly and mistletoe berries and red ribbons. Carnations are also favorites. Many of the reserved tables will have special decorations of flowers and souvenirs sent by the entertainers. One hostess has ordered an elaborate centerpiece of orchids, with orchids for the women and gardenias for the men.

GOING TO OLD TRINITY.

Some of the hotels will not make rules in regard to the kind of liquid refreshment served. If one wishes a cup of tea at 2 a. m. at these places he can get it. But at many of the hotels and restaurants nothing but champagne will be served after a stated hour.

Though the occasion seems to spell license, this is not really the case. The proprieties to a certain point are to be rigidly adhered to. A woman, for example, may drink all the champagne and cocktails she wants, but if she attempts to light a cigarette she will be asked to desist.

Taking care of a big restaurant or hotel crowd, it is learned, is not so difficult as it sounds. When one of a party becomes boisterous the head waiter asks the assistance of his own party in keeping him in order, which is usually given with decision. One of the Broadway restaurants which will display the sign "Champagne Only After 10 o'Clock" also offers the explanation that the reason for this is that a crowd champagne fed is merely hilarious and good natured, but when highballs and mixed drinks are served there is always trouble afoot for the management.

The price for the table d'hote suppers will be about the same in all the first class places. The hotels that do not place an embargo on wine usually go further and serve their patrons a la carte, as much or as little as may be required. The regular sum charged is $5 for the menu prepared without wine. In the grill rooms, wine vaults, extra supper rooms, less desirable in location, some of the hotels will serve a $4 supper and a few offer a very attractive menu for $3.

Besides the hotel and restaurant celebrations most of the clubs will keep open house. The National Arts club will have a special reception for the members, and the members of the Players club, next door on Gramercy park, always foregather, no matter what other attractions there may be, to celebrate founders' night. The loving cup is passed around, a custom inaugurated by Edwin Booth, and after that the doings are wrapped in impenetrable mystery.

The New Year's eve celebration will by no means be limited to the restaurants, hotels and clubs, although they perhaps furnish the most picturesque and interesting elements of the celebration. Broadway will add its decorative features, and hundreds of thousands of people will rush back and forth, if the night be fine, enjoying themselves by watching the fun of other people doing the same thing.

CHAMPAGNE ONLY AFTER TEN O'CLOCK.

QUAINT NEW YEAR CUSTOM.

Feast of Asses of the Middle Ages Still Celebrated.

In certain parts of southern France New Year's eve is still celebrated by the famous feast of asses of the middle ages. Before the congregation is admitted to the church a great glowing brazier is placed in the nave, upon the stone floor, and a broad path from the entrance of the church to the altar is roped off.

The ceremony begins with a procession of men made up to represent various Biblical characters. At its head walk two priests singing an old Provencal hymn. When the procession reaches the center of the church six men dressed as Jews of the time of Christ step forward on one side and six gentiles on the other. Two advocates stand between them.

"The Lord is made man," the gentiles exclaim.

To this the Jews reply, with scornful demand for proofs. The advocates then summon the prophets and legislators of the Old Testament. One by one the great personages of the past—Moses, Aaron, Isaiah, Daniel and many more—slowly advance up the aisle and, pausing for a moment in the glare of the brazier, bear witness to the divinity of Jesus and then pass on into the darkness.

But the principal figure of the ceremony is Balaam's ass, from which the feast takes its name. The ass, under whose voluminous trappings a child is concealed, bears Balaam up the aisle and when beaten by his master rebukes him in a piteous voice through the medium of the concealed child, just as the ass did the real Balaam in the Bible story.

The last personage of the procession is usually Judas, who constitutes the tragic feature of the quaint festival.

New Year's in Europe.

In London New Year's day is observed with little formality, but in the capitals of the continent it is a day for official receptions.

New York legislators are preparing a bill to end cold-storage evils

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of Brentwood

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S ITTLE IVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE. FOR DIZZINESS. FOR BILIOUSNESS. FOR TORPID LIVER. FOR CONSTIPATION FOR SALLOW SKIN. FOR THE COMPLEXION

Price 25 Cents | Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR

To One and All is the Wish of

E. F. MASON

New Dean of Westminster.

London, Dec. 31.—The Right Rev. Herbert Edward Ryle, Bishop of Winchester, has resigned the bishopric, which is worth $32,500 yearly, in consequence of ill health, and has been appointed Dean of Westminster, the income of which is $10,000 yearly.

Shot Her Husband.

Boston, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Lillian M. Green shot her husband, Joseph M. Green, janitor, early yesterday morning. The woman told the first policeman who appeared that she had shot her husband because he left her two months ago for another woman.

Died Suddenly.

Whitby, Dec. 31.—James Bellamy of Whitby, died suddenly while killing pigs at the farm of Allan Cameron. He was 70 years old. Seven weeks ago Thursday his son, aged 21, was found dead in bed.

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. [illegible] Toronto, Ont.

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL STATIONERY.

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co PETERBOROUGH

SANTAL-MIDY

Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles

MIDY

FANCY GOODS AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST PHONE 226

LET US SUGGEST

A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes A Travelling Bag, An Auto or Picnic Hamper

As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities, see our windows. You cannot beat our prices.

J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING

Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, in their stores. Contracts taken. We call for and deliver.

TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575.
Machine Phone 357

EGGS

For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage

In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

THE Season's Greetings TO ALL Our Patrons and Friends

We thank you for your patronage and goodwill during 1910, and hope we will be able to merit a continuance, of the same during the year 1911. We wish you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

E. B. CLEGG & Co.
FURNITURE

The One Best

Holiday Gift

And the one that brings the most grateful recollections of the giver, is to be found in the Nugent Drug Co's assortment of Perfumes.

Our window display is our best ad. It will pay you you to give us a call. Our assortment is composed of the latest odors in dainty boxes, Prices from 25c to $4.00.

SOMETHING FOR MOTHER

One of our Gold Automatic Eyeglass Chains at $2.00 (initials engraved free).

SOMETHING FOR SISTER

A nice "Lemaire" Opera Glass, $5 to $10

Something that every elderly person appreciates at this season is a nice pair of

GOLD SPECTACLES or EYEGLASSES

Lenses can be fitted after Christmas.
Initials in gold on the case Free.
Prices from $2.50 to $6.50.

verything we Sell is Guaranteed

NUGENT DRUG Co.

A. J. JOHNSTON, Chemist. A. A. FOWLER, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on Water St., and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W. G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters
Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.

C. BLEWETT, 322 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1321.
House Phone 506

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Adams'

Great Cash REALIZATION SALE

For 15 Days, Commencing

Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash
You Want the Goods

Store Closed Monday and Tuesday, Open Wednesday Morning at 9 o'Clock.

Harry Adams

George Street . . . . . . Peterborough

Cause and Cure of Headache

The cause of headache as you know, is the stoppage of the circulation resulting in pressure on the delicate nerves of the head. In time nature will start the blood going again, but meanwhile we suffer and are unfit for duty.

Assisted by two ZUTOO Tablets, which by the way are as harmless as the soda they contain, nature will remove the pressure and stop the headache in twenty minutes. Why continue to suffer? Why be unfit?

It is really remarkable how many people now use ZUTOO to cure their headaches. Do you? If not, why not?

Millinery Sale

MISS McGIVERIN

offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings

—At Cost—

The opportunity is one that should be availed of.

The values are surprisingly good.

No. 431 George-St

Phone 1385.

BUILDING PERMITS

Are Eight in Number and Total $9,200—Five Dwellings

The building permits of the month of December are eight in number and total $9,200. Five dwellings, and an ice cream plant are included in the list which is as follows:

T. F. Hoolihan, workshop	$100
J. Hickey, dwelling	1500
John T. McCoy, dwelling	1900
Thos. H. Ruth, stable	100
Andrew Davidson, dwelling	2000
G. A. Gillespie, ice cream plant and ice house	1600
F. M. Laing, dwelling	1000
George Laing, dwelling	1000

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Open Till Noon

All the barber shops will be open until noon on Monday.

School to Re-open

Miss D. J. Hall, 334 Charlotte street private school, will open Monday, Jan. 9th.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

THE CANADIAN LADY

For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

Box of Candies Free

A box of candies for the children given free this week with every $1 purchase. Walter M. Roebuck, Water and Smith streets.

WHERE TO VOTE

A Description of the Five Wards, the Polling Sub-Divisions in Each Ward, and the Polling Places in Each Sub-Division

SOUTH WARD

All of that part of the city south of Sherbrooke street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 1—All that part of the South Ward lying south of Lake street, and east of Park street.
Polling Place—A. Whitered's, 239 Lake street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 2—All that part of the South Ward lying south of Albert street, and the southern limit of lots Nos. 31 and 42, plan 30, and west of Park street.
Polling Place—The old Baptist Church, 11 Park street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 3—All that part of the South Ward lying south of Townsend street, north of Lake street, east of Park street between Lake and Rink streets, and east of Rubidge street between Rink and Townsend streets.
Polling Place—M. H. Halpin's, 39 George street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 4—All that part of the South Ward lying north of Townsend street and east of Rubidge street.
Polling Place—L. Spry's, 210 Stewart street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 5—All that part of the South Ward lying north of Albert street, and the southern limit of lots Nos. 31 and 42, plan 30; and west of Rubidge street.
Polling Place—T. J. Murray's, 111 Rubidge street.

CENTRE WARD

That part of the city between Sherbrooke and McDonnel streets and between Bethune street and the river.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 6—All that part of the Centre Ward lying east of Water street.
Polling Place — F. Mason's, 434 Water street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 7—All that part of the Centre Ward lying south of Simcoe street and west of Water street.
Polling Place—City Council Chamber.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 8—All that part of the Centre Ward lying south of Brock street between Water and Chambers streets, and south of Hunter street between Chambers and Bethune streets, north of Simcoe street and west of Water street.
Polling Place—G. H. Howson's, 38 Water street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 9—All that part of the Centre Ward lying west of Water street between McDonnel and Brock streets, and north of Hunter street between Chambers and Bethune streets.
Polling Place—Alex. Walker's, 464 Aylmer street.

WEST WARD

All that part of the city lying between Sherbrooke and McDonnel streets, west of Bethune street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 10—All that part of the West Ward lying south of King street.
Polling Place—George Matthew's Co's, corner Park and Sherbrooke streets.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 11—All that part of the West Ward lying south of Hunter street, east of Park street, and north of King street.
Polling Place—J. E. Lillico's, 356 Charlotte street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 12—All that part of the West Ward lying west of Park street, south of Hunter street and Homewood avenue, and north of King street.
Polling Place—R. Begley's, 263 Babb's Lane.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 13—All that part of the West Ward lying north of Hunter street and east of Park street.
Polling Place—N. Routley's, 302 Brock street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 14—All that part of the West Ward lying west of Park street and north of Hunter street and Homewood avenue.
Polling Place—J. J. Lynch's, 465 Park street.

NORTH WARD

All that part of the city lying north of McDonnel street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 15—All that part of the North Ward lying south of Smith street and east of George street.
Polling Place—Mrs. Wm. Lee's Shop, Smith street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 16—All that part of the North Ward lying south of Dublin street, west of George street and east of Stewart street.
Polling Place—J. J. Cocks', 153 Dublin street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 17—All that part of the North Ward lying west of Stewart street.
Polling Place—M. Mahoney's, 304 Smith street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 18—All that part of the North Ward lying south of Smith street, east of Stewart street, west of George street and north of Dublin street.
Polling Place—T. H. Hooper's, 601 George street.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 19—All that part of the North Ward lying north of Smith street and east of Stewart street.
Polling Place—J. T. Braund's, 720 George street.

EAST WARD

All that part of the city lying east of the river.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 20—All that part of the East Ward lying west of Mark street and south of Douro street.
Polling Place—The Former Village Hall.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 21—All that part of the East Ward lying east of Mark street and south of Douro street.
Polling Place—R. Hamilton's Shop, 127 Hunter street east.

POLLING SUBDIVISION NO. 22—All that part of the East Ward lying north of Douro street and the division line between blocks U. and V.
Polling Place—George Coon's, 559 Rogers street.

WEEK OF PRAYER WILL BE HELD IN CITY CHURCHES NEXT WEEK

The Ministerial Association have arranged for a series of meetings in the different churches in connection with the "Week of Prayer," as on former occasions. They intend taking up a series of studies on "The Doctrine of the Holy Spirit." The themes to be discussed each night, and the places of meeting are indicated below. Will you please cut this out of the paper and keep it for reference throughout the week:—

Monday—"The Personality and Deity of the Holy Spirit."
1. George street.
2. Knox.

Tuesday—"The Fruit of the Spirit."
1. Murray street.
2. All Saints'.

Wednesday—"The Conviction of the Holy Spirit."
1. Charlotte street.
2. St. Luke's.

Thursday—"The Grieving of the Holy Spirit."
1. St. Andrew's.
2. Mark street.

Friday—"The Filling of the Holy Spirit."
St. Paul's.

GEORGE ST. S. S. SCHOLARS GIVE CHRISTMAS CONTATTA

The annual Christmas cantata "The Story of A Star" held in connection with the George Street Methodist Sunday School, took place in the church last night. A large crowd attended and a most enjoyable time was experienced. A choice programme of unusual merit was given with the numbers as follows:

Overture—Sunday school orchestra.

Chorus — "Welcome, Welcome, Sunday School.

Scripture Reading — Superintendent and school.

Chorus — "Shine Out O Star of Beauty," S. S.

Chorus — "Hail Thou Heavenly Herald,"

Prayer of Christmas Thanksgiving Rev. I. Couch.

Recitation — "One Holy Night," Gladys Pentland.

Solo and chorus — Beautiful Star" Josie Callender and school.

Representation — "Asia."
Turkey — Murray Carlisle.
China — Martland Word.
India — Annie Hamilton.
Japan — Stella Sherwin.

Song and duet, Brothers and sisters in Brown.

Chorus — "God Is Love," S. S.

Recitation — "Africa," Miss Audrey Bennett.

Recitation — "Africa Arise," Howard Armstrong.

Representation — "Europe."
Germany — Palmer Wiley.
Norway and Sweden.
England and Poland — Grace Sunday school.

Peace to the Earth, chorus, Sunday school.

Recitation and Song — "Islands of the Sea," Misses Allison, Hall Kemp and Huycke.

Recitation — "We've Whisked About the Whole Round Earth," Miss Lizzie Smith.

Representation — "m'Aerica," Dorothy Dobbin, May McKim, Alma McGiley, Gladys Pentland, Eva Outram Sabra Huycke.

Chorus — "Christmas Star."

The foregoing programme, though long one, went off with unusual celerity, every number being performed perfectly. The second last number on the programme, "Red, White and Blue Representation of Canada," by Misses Dorothy Dobbin, May McKam, Olive McGile, Gladys Pentland Eva Outram and S. Huycke, was probably the feature of the evening. It was perfectly performed, and drew forth hearty applause from the audience. Another number worthy of special mention was a duet by two little girls representing Norway and Sweden. This number was excellently given, considering the age of the two youthful entertainers. Several other numbers might also be mentioned, were it not for lack of space and to say that the whole program was a complete success from start to finish, is the least that can be said of it. The Sunday school orchestra played for all choruses and added to the brightness of the occasion. A large crowd turned out and all were pleased with the success of the evening.

1910-1911

1910 is all but gone. The years pass quickly. We call a halt to-day in talking goods, qualities and prices. We glance back over the year just gone and forward to the one just opening.

1910 has seen this business expand and grow in a substantial manner; practically every department has shown a marked increase in business.

We believe the service to our customers has been more nearly perfect than in any previous year. The aim to give quick, courteous and efficient service has never been lost sight of a moment.

Our records show that more customers have been served and that each individual sale has been much larger; making a very large increase. The new features decided upon, that stand out prominently are:

ENLARGED SHOE DEPARTMENT
ENLARGED READY-TO-WEAR DEPT.
ENLARGED "BARGAIN ANNEX."

These have become an absolute necessity.

Our direct importations have been contracted for on a scale never before attempted by us. The stocks to choose from will be very much larger than in any previous season.

As is our custom we will by the liberal use of printer's ink, keep our patrons informed of stocks and prices.

You are asked to use this place of business for any purpose you wish; a place to meet your friends or to pass a pleasant hour in walking through--"just to see."

To our patrons--to our prospective patrons--to all, we voice our good wishes for a "JOYOUS NEW YEAR."

Cressman's

FULL STATEMENT IN A FEW DAYS

The Chairman of the Peterboro Water Commission Makes Statement

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—My attention has been directed to the address of Wm. Langford, candidate for the office of Water Commissioner.

I must acknowledge that there has not been much publicity in regard to the expenditures made during the past two years by the Commissioners on the new Waterworks Dam and Pumping Station, and I had hoped that before this it would have been possible to have placed before the citizens a complete and final statement. When I tell you that the final certificate covering expenditure made on the dam was only received from the engineer on the 28th inst., which statement was subject to certain charges to be made by the Commissioners here, to the contractor, on account of work done, and it has been impossible, so far, to get out this information, you willl understand why the statement has not been published.

The fact of Mr. Langford being a candidate for the office, or the fact of his being elected to the office of Water Commissioner, will neither hurry nor retard the giving of information to the public. I expect that a full statement will be available for publication in the course of a few days. Any delay there has been was not caused by negligence, nor a desire for privacy on the part of the Commissioners, but was occasioned only by a desire to protect the interests of the public.

Yours truly,
T. F. MATTHEWS,
Chairman Peterborough Water Commissioners.

POLICE COURT

John Irwin will warm his feet and gain his allowance of pea soup by the Sweat of his brow for the next three months at the Hilltop Shelter for Vagrants.

He and Michael Larone, after a week's sojourn at the hill, again faced the magistrate this morning.

Michael successfully warded off a journey to Central Prison for a six months' stay. He saved the day when he stated that he would go to the woods.

He has till Tuesday to make arrangements, but the chances are somewhat against him. At present he is suffering from rheumatism, and this, with his well known abhorrence for work, is anything but a winning qualification for a job at the shanties.

Holiday Gifts

For this week Ladies' Waists in silks fancy net, cashmere and wash goods 50c. to $1.75. Shirts, in ladies' cloth voile, serge and Panama, different designs, $2.50 to $10.00. Underskirts in cotton, black sateen, and moire 65c. to $1.50. A large assortment of fancy belts and collars aprons and ladies' underwear. Wholesale prices. GEMMELL & Co., 208 Charlotte Street.

DUTTON & CO.
Limburger Cheese.
Roquefort Cheese.
Cream Cheese in bulk.
Dairy Butter, pound 25c.
Challenge Tea, pound 25c.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
J J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers

Tuesday & Wednesday
Next, Jan. 3rd and 4th

Also Matinee, Wed. Jan. 4th at 2.30 and 4.00 p.m. Price 5c

We have the Finest Vaudeville and Best Moving Pictures ever brought to this City

MISS ALICE PLUMMER and MISS SHEA JO, in their Novelty Singing Act

ED. BOLTON, in His Great Head Balancing and Singing Act

First Class Orchestra. Two Shows nightly at 7.30 and 9.00 p.m.

Prices only 5c & 10c

GREETINGS

To the Citizens of Peterborough:

Ladies and Gentlemen.—I wish you one and all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

W. G. MORROW,
Mayor.

"GRAND" SATURDAY, MATINEE & EVENING DEC. 31

The Famous Racing Comedy

"WILDFIRE"

Written by
Geo. N. Broadhurst, Author of "The Man of the Hour"
Geo. V. Hobart, Author of "The Boys & Betty"

A Great Cast. Original Scenic Production. Brimful of Humor.
One of the best Race Track Stories Ever Staged.

Evening — $1.00, 75c, 50c, 35c. Gallery 25
Matinee — 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c. Seats on Sale Thursday

"Grand" New Years Monday, Jan. 2 MATINEE AND EVENING

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFERING!
Augusta J. Evans' Stirring Narrative

"ST. ELMO"

By GRACE HAYWOOD (Dramatist of "ISHMAEL" and "GRAUSTARK")
Greatest Book Play of the Decade. Nothing quite so interesting or unique has been produced in years.

PRICES:—Matinee 25c to 75c, Children 15c. Evening 25, 35, 50, 75c. Few at $1.00. Seats on sale Friday

"GRAND" New Year's Monday, January 2

A specially selected cast in "ST. ELMO" As good a play as it was a book

—: Complete Scenic Equipment :—

2--Performances--2
Matinee—25c to 75c
CHILDREN 15c
Even'g, 25c to 75c
FEW AT $1.00

Newest Styles
—in—
Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

323 George-st. Near McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

New Piano Warerooms
— and —
Real Estate Office

TAYLOR & WOOD
390 WATER STREET

Miss Jean Robson
Teacher of Singing and Junior Piano

Soprano Soloist at Knox Presbyterian Church Peterborough. Pupils prepared for Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations. Concert engagements accepted. Apply Friday or Saturday, No.461 Bolivar Street tf.

WE WISH YOU ALL THE
COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

And embrace this, the first opportunity, of thanking the public for their generous patronage. Our policy of selling only the most reliable goods at the closest possible prices, based on good honest business principles, has received the most unqualified endorsation of the jewelry buyers of this rising city of Peterborough and vicinity this Christmas season. Again wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

F. S. Schneider & Co.

Our window for suggestions in New Year's Gifts.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED.

DOMINION
CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call

328 GEORGE STREET

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
146½ Hunter Street.

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc., catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT
A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

VIAVI
A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.
467 WATER-ST. PHONE No. 590

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 636 170 Charlotte Street

Telegraphy
Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service
Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

STENOGRAPHY
We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING
Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES
Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.
Call, write or phone for particulars.

Peterboro' Business College
(Founded 1885)
McKONE & BURNS - Principal
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President

A FINE OF $100

For Illegal Sale of Liquor Imposed on Proprietor of Chemong Hotel

Bruce Rickey, proprietor of the Chemong Park hotel, was fined $100 and costs, by County Magistrate Edmison this morning.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor without a license on December 4th.

Joseph Stewart, Liquor Inspector for West Peterborough, laid the information following an investigation.

The fine for a first offence must be not less than $100 and not more than $200.

For the second conviction the punishment is a term in jail.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Miss Lavina Hallihan of Toronto is in the city.

Hon. George A. Cox of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. Pearce, Water St.

Mr. George R. Ross, of Kent's drug store, left to-day to visit his parents in Midland.

Mr. B. Tatson, and Mr. Lou Tatson of Bowmanville, are the guests of Mrs. Wm. Thompson, Stewart St. for the New Year.

Mrs. J. Stuart McCann of Kingston and Major and Mrs. A. B. Gillies, of Gillies, are the guests of Mrs. Rollins at St. Andrews' Manse.

Mrs. James Rollings, St. Andrew's manse will receive for the first time on Thursday afternoon and evening and afterwards on the third and fourth Fridays of each month.

RECEPTION AT THE Y.W.C.A.

A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the Young Women's Christian Association to call in on Monday afternoon from 4 to 6 or in the evening. A welcome will be accorded them by the Secretary and Committee.

Remember I Credit
EASY TERMS
Open your Credit before New Years
CLOTHING AND FURS

You want to look your best for the holidays and have ready money to spend for Christmas gift-giving.

PAY AT $1.00 PER WEEK

SPECIAL FOR LADIES
Coats all reduced prices

Suits, reg. $25.00	$14.95
1 left, Fur-lined Coat, reg. $55.00 for	30.00
Skirts, good wearing for the house and nice colors, reg. $3.00 for..........	1.99
Another lot of Skirts, reg. $8.50	4.95
Veil Skirts, reg. $12.50 for	8.49

All Waists, not silk, at reduced prices

MEN'S OVERCOATS AND SUITS
in the best quality and workmanship all at Reduced Prices

HOUSEFURNISHINGS
Square Rugs, Linoleum; Curtains, Tapestry and Lace in the best qualities

CASH OR CREDIT

The Canadian Furnishing Co.
The Best Credit Clothiers in City
363 CHARLOTTE STREET

WHY BONNER-WORTH BY-LAW SHOULD BE SUPPORTED

(In Best Interests of City the By-law Should be Carried)

It has been intimated that the details given to the public to date have not been sufficiently full to enable them to form an intelligent opinion on the merits of The Bonner-Worth Co., Limited, by-law.

It is a pleasure to outline the proposition as fully as space will permit, for fullest knowledge of the Company can but convince anybody of the soundness of the undertaking.

The success of any concern is dependent on the experience, integrity, and financial standing of those at the head of it, and in this case, we have a happy combination of these three features in the persons of Mr. Isaac Bonner, Edgar Worth and their associates.

A word as to the equipment of these gentlemen to conduct a manufacture of this character, may not be amiss. Mr. Isaac Bonner, at present Assistant to the General Manager of Penmans' Limited of Paris, Ont., has been associated with that concern in his present capacity, for a number of years. He has managed one of the numerous mills of Penman's Limited and his particular field of activity has been in the matter of accounting, selling, office management and figuring factory cost etc. He has been made very flattering offers to stay with his present concern, but prefers to get into business for himself. He and his associates are contributing one-third of the $40,000 capital on their own account.

Mr. Edgar Worth, who is at present Superintendent of the Yarn Spinning Factory of Penman's Limited, at Paris, comes of a family who have been associated with the yarn spinning business for generations. His father is the superintendent of one of the largest Yarn mills in Sweden, where Mr. Worth first learned his trade. Subsequently he went to England and worked in the machine shops where Yarn spinning machinery is manufactured. He then went to Philadelphia to take charge of a Yarn Mill in that city, and from this latter place was brought to his present office.

The other gentlemen that are associated with the concern, are men of high financial standing, one being a Department Store owner of Hamilton, and the two others being men of means in London and Woodstock. Fullest inquiry verifying the above facts have been made through confidential sources, which for obvious reasons cannot be disclosed.

In the by-law the number of 50 hands is mentioned as being the number that they will guarantee to employ. As a matter of fact the machinery which has already been ordered cannot be operated with less than 40 people, and the extra hands required for other operations will exceed 10 to 12. It may be of interest to explain how the pay roll will amount to between $20,000 to $25,000. As already stated two-thirds of the employes will be girls, and approximately one third men. In other mills the girls make from 90 cents to $1.25 per day on piece work and the men average $2.50 per day. Therefore 35 girls at an average of $1 per day, $10,500 per year.

15 men at an average of $2.50 per day, $11,250 per year.

Or a total of $21,750, to which amount must be added the office and sales force salaries, which will easily bring it above the $25,000 mentioned.

Such a firm as the above will be a direct benefit to the consumers of yarn and the manufactures thereof such as sweaters, stockings, cloths, etc., inasmuch as practically all the yarns that enter into the articles mentioned above, are now imported into the country, which means that the British manufacturers profit and the British laborers' wages are paid by the consumers in this country, and as the importations of this particular product run into the millions, it can be easily understood that a tremendous amount of money is taken out of the country, that a manufacture of this character would keep here.

The success of this undertaking is practically assured; for, as has already been stated, they have been offered contracts to take the whole of their output, and when they have demonstrated the concern to be a financial success, those now associated with it are prepared to put up all the capital necessary to enlarge it to a tremendous concern.

There has been some criticism on the general principle of bonusing industries, and while this practice is indefensible in theory, the competition that we have to meet compels us to offer assistance of this character. In connection with this firm it might be stated that another town has offered them a building ready for immediate occupation, at practically no cost whatsoever, but they feel that Peterborough is the better manufacturing and labor centre, and have therefore accepted a proposition from us, which is actually not so attractive at the start, but they believe that in the long run they will benefit by locating here.

It would be a good thing if legislation were introduced prohibiting bonusing of any form whatsoever, then Peterborough with its natural advantages would be able to compete with other towns who are now offering inducements far in excess of anything Peterborough would consider.

It is very important that every property owner in the city register his vote in favor of this by-law, for the law requires that three-fifths of the total number of ratepayers shall be in favor of the measure. Every working man who owns a foot of land in the city, and who would like to see the value of this land increased, should do all in his power to have this by-law passed, for it is only by inducing factories to come here, that we can enhance the value of our real estate.

THE POULTRY ASSOCIATION

Last Meeting on Jan. 5th Before Poultry Exhibit—Miss Yeates of Guelph Will Give Demonstration of Killing, Dressing And Carving

The regular meeting of the Poultry Association will be held on Thursday evening next, January 5, in their hall, Simcoe Street. This will be the last meeting before the Poultry Show, and a large turn-out of the members is asked. The Secretary is anxious that all intending city exhibitors at the show will make their entries the night of the regular meeting in order to facilitate matters, and also to allow of the entry tickets being ready at an early date.

Miss Yeates of Guelph, will be in attendance on the first two days of the show, Jan. 10th and 11th, and will give a demonstration of killing dressing and carving poultry. This is a most interesting and practical exhibition and is one of the attractions of the show.

It is expected the list of winners at the Napanee Show will be given to the members at the meeting Thursday evening.

OBITUARY

JOHN GILMAN

At the age of seventy-five, Mr. John Gilman an old and much respected resident of East City, residing at 40 Mark Street, died at 1.30 to-day. Deceased had only been ill about one month. He had been a resident of East City for the past fifty years and was very highly respected by all who knew him.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning, from the residence at nine o'clock to St. Peter's cemetery.

There is left to survive him, his wife, two sons and four daughters, namely Annie and Agnes, at home Richard of Hamilton, Harry at home, Jack and Robert of East city.

Some 200 "hello girls" have been married in New York since last Saturday, Dec. 24.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

IS NEITHER A MAYOR NOR MINOR PROPHET

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—Mr. Langford, my opponent, has published a second election card giving reasons why he should be elected to the high and honorable position of Water Commissioner. Some notice should be taken of his observations. His only complaint is want of publication of the acts of the Commissioners, and is of a piece with the others he makes. Sometime since, the chairman Mr Matthews, publicly stated at a meeting of the council (as the fact was) that all the meetings of the commissioners were and always had been as open to the public and press as were the City Council meetings, and I would add that if Mr. Langford wants light and will call at the city clerk's office he will find the whole history of the dam construction written out at length in the minute book of the commissioners. It is his right, as it is the right of every ratepayer, to see this minute book at all times without cost. Again if Mr. Langford had had his way in 1901, as everybody knows, there would be no need for Water Commissioners at the present moment. He opposed the taking over of the work with all his might, and predicted financial ruin to the town if the purchase was made. Few agreed with him then, and fewer will now. Prophecy is not Mr. Langford's forte. He will never be accepted as a major prophet, and I do not think that he would even rank as a minor prophet. As a matter of fact he is in every respect a failure as a prophet. It is almost universally admitted that the city, through its commissioners, has handled the waterworks system carefully and successfully, and as a great public work—the greatest ever undertaken by the city—is now almost completed and will be of immense advantage to the whole system. The city and the general ratepayers are not taxed with the cost, as the cost is paid wholly by the water users, and the rates have not been raised. The domestic rates during the last nine years have been cut to the extent of at least 35 per cent., hydrant rates have been reduced from $35 to $27.50, and at the same time nearly one-third, accurately nine-thirtieths, of the original cost of the works has already been paid for—not a bad showing for the commissioners. I think that most people in the city would be happy if the lights had been cut to the same extent during the last nine years. When the waterworks were taken over by the city in 1902 one tap in a four-roomed house cost the consumers $5.40 net, a year. To-day the cost is $2.67, which is less than the proper up-keep of a pump. Surely this is an advantage to a man of moderate means. It is not always wise nor prudent to cut the rates too fast, as many municipalities have found to their cost. No one will say that Peterborough has suffered from high water rates, and all agree that the whole system is well and substantially constructed. People who know Mr Langford recognize that he opposes a great many things. For instance, when the Hilliard farm was purchased by the city he opposed it as strenuously as he opposed the taking over of the waterworks system, and gave many reasons why it should not be purchased. His predictions have not been verified, and in this case again he proved himself a very poor prophet, as the purchase of the Hilliard farm was one of the finest investments ever made by the city. It has already almost paid for itself in the gravel and sand taken from it by the city, and it is still worth much more than the cost price. Mr. Langford must remember that when he was a town councillor, and especially when he was chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, he was subjected to more criticism than has ever been directed against the commissioners, so that when he held office he was not considered immaculate by the public more than the rest of us. The commissioners have carried on this public work at a very considerable sacrifice of time, to say nothing of the worry; and for myself personally, I have in the past tried to do my duty, and will in the future endeavor to do it if it is found that I am returned at the polls next Monday. I am quite content to leave to my fellow citizens to say which is better qualified to serve the city during the next three years as a Water Commissioner.

W. H. HILL.

Peterborough, Dec. 31, 1910.

MR. LANGFORD'S LETTER.

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—I notice that Mr. Langford had a letter in the papers last night in which the only fault he has to find with the present water commissioners is that they do not give sufficient publicity to their work. It seems to me that after an admittedly satisfactory service, otherwise, for nine years, when this is the only fault to be found, except the desire for a change, it is a distinct compliment to their work—in fact a very high commendation.

Who would think of changing a servant whose work had been in every way satisfactory, except that he did not make enough noise about it? Would the work have been better done if Mr. Langford had been the commission? Is this the Mr. Langford who so strongly opposed the purchase of the waterworks by the city and predicted such dire consequences if the purchase were made? With such preconceived ideas, is he likely to do better in the management than a man who is, and always has been in sympathy with it?

Is this Mr. Langford the man who so strongly opposed the purchase of the Hilliard farm—one of the best investments ever made by the city?

Answers to these questions would be welcome to the ratepayers.

Thanking you for this space, I am
Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

Peterborough, Dec. 31, 1910.

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—The division of the city into wards for the election of aldermen makes it, in my opinion, incumbent upon the citizens of each ward to exercise the greatest care in the selection of the representatives to the municipal board, and as, undoubtedly, during the ensuing year there will be a number of matters of great importance to come before the municipal council for consideration, it is the duty of every citizen to see that his vote be given for the candidate, in his opinion, most qualified for the office, and that the best choice possible be made. There are a number of new men in the field untried, and whose qualifications for the office of aldermen is more or less undetermined. In my opinion a selection should be made from those who have already served a term or more in the municipal council, providing that their record entitles them to favorable consideration.

Mr. Duffus is a candidate for the West Ward, and I think is entitled to the hearty support of the voters of that ward. He has served upon the council for a period of two years, and during that time he has been a most faithful attendant at its meetings, and I think it may be said that there has hardly been a meeting of the council held at which he has not attended. He has brought to bear upon the civic affairs very considerable business acumen, and has demonstrated himself to be an able, intelligent business man, well able to look after the city's affairs. His record shows him to be a man possessed of the strength of his convictions, who has always stood by conservative, prudent civic legislation, and who has endeavored to legislate for the best moral welfare of the city. Mr. Duffus has had business experience of considerable magnitude and extent. He is one of the largest ratepayers in this ward, and can be relied upon to look after its interests with unremitting attention.

I feel confident that these considerations will prevail with every elector in the West Ward, and that those who are desirous of having the civic affairs administered with prudence and efficiency will give their support and influence in favor of Mr. Duffus.

Yours truly,
RATE PAYER.

Peterborough, Dec. 31, 1910.

CANDIDATES' CARDS.

To the Editor of The Review.

Sir,—The cards of the aldermen candidates are all in the papers and make good reading. There is only one people's candidate, Ald. Buller. The rest is working for someone else.

What sort of a gol-darned community is this, anyway?

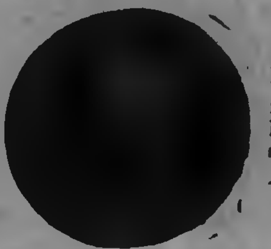
Yours,
ELECTOR.

Peterborough, Dec. 31, 1910.

Death of Mrs. Helen Manning

The Toronto papers this morning announce the death in Toronto of Mrs. Helen Manning, wife of Wellington O. Manning, and formerly Miss Helen Brown of Peterborough. Her many friends will regret greatly to learn the sad news.

THANK YOU



The Optical Institute had a busy December. The week, before Xmas particularly busy. Many persons gave a beautiful pair of Eyeglasses or Spectacles to some near relative thus making many days to come a little brighter and happier. Shall we help you to make somebody's outlook brighter for 1911. An appointment will save you waiting

The Peterboro Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

H. LeBRUN & CO.
Extend to All their Patrons Hearty Greetings and Best Wishes for a
Happy and Prosperous New Year

1911

The Last Bargain Day of 1910
At ROUTLEY'S

WE take this opportunity of thanking one and all for the most successful year's business that we have enjoyed during our 30 years in Peterborough.

A few prices will partly emphasize the secret of our ability to buy at prices that enable us to sell in many cases less than manufacturer's cost:

Crockery and China Section

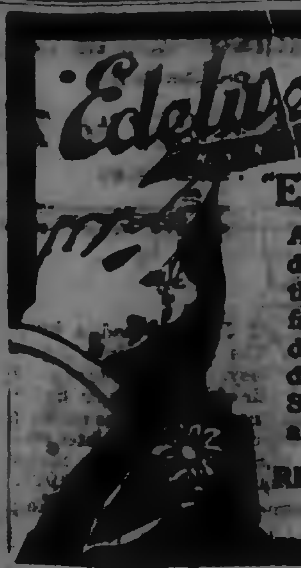
30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each.......	5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each..................	5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each..................	15c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice..................	$7.48
10 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge....	3.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, kermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration..................	3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decoration, choice....	3.85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleck. It will pay you to see them. Only per set	20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times our price, choice..................	24c

Specials

54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of rolled gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at..................	$2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at..................	54c

We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at

TORONTO 262 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 379 George-st.



Edelweiss

A better or a purer drink was never made than

"EDELWEISS" BEER

A pure, delicious, appetising drink for maids and wives—the drink par excellence for family use. "Edelweiss" drank at meals promotes digestion and perfect health. Seasoned, bottled and sealed at the brewery.

REINHARDTS' OF TORONTO

The Best Beer Sold

Local Agent — ALEX. ELLIOTT, Peterborough, Telephone 719

SPORTING NEWS

LINEUPS FOR GAMES

Juniors Go to Cobourg—Intermediates Play Here Against Senior Argonauts of Toronto—Game at 8:30.

The two teams to do battle for Peterborough New Year's night were selected last night. The juniors go to Cobourg, where they open the junior schedule with the seven of that town. The intermediates play at home, with the senior Argonauts of Toronto as visiting opponents. The game is called for 8.30 sharp.

Both lineups look good, and while the youngsters open on foreign ice, they should come home with a win. The defence is of the stonewall order. Trainer Breen and Manager McGachie will accompany the team, which will lineup as follows—

Goal—Patterson.
Point—Reynolds.
Cover—Heffernan.
Rover—Coughlin.
Centre—Hall.
Right—Sorrel.
Left—Matthews.

McMartin and Anderson will also be taken.

W. J. O'Brien will referee the game here, and the team will be—

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Bond.
Cover—Ray.
Rover—P. Campbell.
Centre—Dobson.
Right—Shortt or McMillan.
Left—Kelly.

FROM LAW BOOKS TO RING

Down in Philadelphia there lives a young man of 18 years who gave up the study of law because his eyesight was failing, yet this same young man has been the sensation of the fight clubs of both Philadelphia and New York for the past year, beating every fighter he has met in the ring, and giving promise of becoming a champion in the lightweight class.

The boy's real name is Isaac Rostsky, but to the world of sporting men he is known as Young Sammy Smith. It is but 18 months since he put on the gloves for the first time. After finishing his schooling, he decided to take up the profession of law, and began the study, by burning the midnight oil.

His eyes soon failed him and the physician said he must quit studying or go blind. He put on glasses. It was plainly seen he must abandon his ambition to be a lawyer. The success of other young fellows in the fighting aroused him and he began training, finally getting a preliminary match. He knocked his man out, and has been doing that ever since. In all he has fought 57 battles, and has yet to lose.

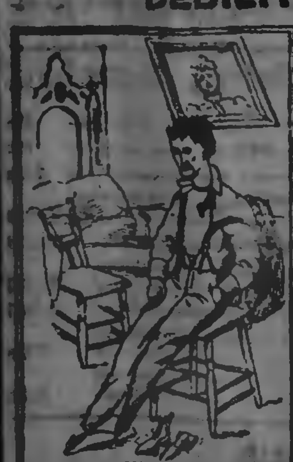
His left hand punch is said to be a wonder, and no one has learned to stop it. Jack Goodman, Joe Hager, K. O. Brown, and Willie Beecher, four of New York's best young battlers, have all fallen victims to the weak-eyed boy from Philly. He wears his glasses everywhere except in the fighting ring. There he seems to see everything without them.

Young Sammy is not a pretty boxer. They say he looks like a lumberjack in the ring. He stumbles about and always gets inside the other fellow's blows. He's so awkward that his opponent is unbalanced.

Sammy is a modest boy and takes his fighting success with never a boast. When told that he should be a champion some day, he just blushes and smiles. He is a lad full of earnestness, and fighting against fate. It looks now as if fate will be beaten.

His first battle was in Philadelphia and when he knocked his man out, the chances for more fights came thick and fast. Sammy never passed up any of them, and took the increase in the size of the purses he won with all modesty.

Seventeen times out of the fifty-seven times that he has fought he has knocked out his opponent. He is now in demand [illegible] the New York and Philadelphia [illegible]. His first battle netted him $20. For his last battle he received $975. This only goes to show that Sammy Smith, the fighter, is as wise as Isaac Rosetsky, the youth student of the Quaker City.



NERVOUS, LIFELESS
DEBILITATED MEN

YOUNG MEN AND MIDDLE-AGED MEN, the victims of early indiscretions and later excesses, who are failures in life—you are the ones we can restore to manhood and revive the spark of energy and vitality. Don't give up in despair because you have treated with other doctors, used electric belts and tried various drug store nostrums.

Our New Method Treatment has snatched hundreds from the brink of despair, has restored happiness to hundreds of homes and has made successful men of those who were "down and out." We prescribe specific remedies for each individual case according to the symptoms and complications—we have no patent medicines. This is one of the secrets of our wonderful success as our treatment cannot fail, for we prescribe remedies adapted to each individual case. Only curable cases accepted. We have done business throughout Canada for over 20 Years.

CURABLE CASES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you intending to marry? Has your blood been diseased? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. What it has done for others it will do for you. Consultation Free. No matter who has treated you, write for an honest opinion Free of Charge. Books Free—"Boyhood, Manhood, Fatherhood." (Illustrated) on Diseases of Men.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT. No names on boxes or envelopes. Everything Confidential. Question List and Cost of Treatment FREE FOR HOME TREATMENT.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY
Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows:
DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.

Write for our private address.

NEW YEAR'S DAY SPORT

Skating at Street Railway rink, band in attendance.

Open shooting competition at Jackson Park, under auspices of Gold Lake Hunt Club.

Exhibition hockey match at Brock street rink. Senior Argonauts of Toronto vs. Peterborough intermediates game called at 8.30.

McMILLAN WAS WORKING TO FORM

The O.H.A. players had a great workout last night, the boys showing up in good form, in fact it was the best practice of the season, and the fans were pleased. A feature of the workout was the performance of "Maggie" McMillan at centre for the juniors. The light haired youth was immense, and beat Derocher for five counters.

SHOOT ON NEW YEAR'S MORNING

The Gold Lake Hunt Club will hold another shoot at Jackson Park Monday morning. The shooting is open to all. Prizes of fowl will be offered for competition.

SPORT TALK

New York, Dec. 30.—Do people who patronize prize fights prefer brutal contests or displays of skill in attack and defence? This question has been raised here by Jack (Twin) Sullivan, the Boston fisticuffs artist. Mister Sullivan says he now of the opinion that scientific boxing without slugging does not please the crowd, and in the future Jack will cut out, as far as possible, the scientific features of the game and employ the rough-and-ready stuff. "The day of the clever boxer is past, and it is the slugger who has the call in this country at the present time," says he.

To quote from Jack once more, here is what he has to say: "When you're at a fight club watching a scrap and a pair of fancy, clever boys get up and show you what they know, and then a couple of mutts come along who can slug and nothing else, who gets the bigger hand from the gathering? It's 10 to 1 the clever artists don't get a handclap, while the wallopers who have no science get all the applause.

"That's all there is to the game now. Almost everybody who goes to a bout nowadays wants to see the fighters knock one another's block off, and if they don't they either get hissed or whistled at. While I sit down and look over my record and think of the many bouts I have had, I'm forced to admit that I've been shy on common sense or I'd have more knockouts to my credit; and though I might be wearing a couple of cauliflower ears, heavy eyebrows and a thick nose, which are characteristic of the slugger, I'd have the knockouts on my list.

"Look at the result of my bout with Jim Stewart. Knockout in the fourth round. I went into that contest intending to whale daylight out of him, and I guess I came near doing it. That's what I'm going to try to do from now on. Of course, I don't want the sporting public to believe I've not been trying in my bouts, for I have.

"But instead of going out for a knockout I simply tried to outpoint the other fellow. I have won several decisions on points which I could have won by the knockout route if I had tried. Just to show you how the knockout helps in the fighting game, let me tell you that I've received a number of offers since I put Stewart down for the count. I'm booked for seven contests, and they're all good ones, too. When I hung the K. O. on big Jim it didn't take long for matchmakers to get busy. The National Sporting Club in New York has offered me a match with Hugo Kelly, who is an Italian. I'll get even with him for imposing on the Irish."

ATHLETICS

To raise the standard of athletics among the colleges of Illinois, and possibly Indiana and Wisconsin, an organization is proposed by which all schedules governing the colleges holding membership will be made out by a committee representing the entire body. It is planned to include baseball, football, basketball, track and other sports. Professionalism will be strictly barred, while each school would see a higher grade of sports. Each school will select both students and faculty representatives when the meeting for organization is called. Only the leading colleges and universities of each state will be allowed membership.

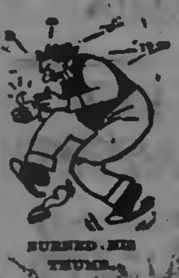
PUCKLAND

Ken Crane and Hugh Burrit worked at rover and centre respectively for Simcoes II. against Broadviews in a junior O.H.A. game last night. Simcoes won 14—5. Crane was one of the prominent men for the winners.

Y.W.C.A. RECEPTION ON NEW YEARS

The secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association will be "At Home" to the city girls and all friends of the Association on Monday afternoon from 4 to 6, and in the evening from eight to 9. Miss McCalla will be prepared to welcome a large number. The Association looks very pretty and attractive with its beautiful decorations of cedar, holly and Christmas bells. Will you not call in on New Year's Day?

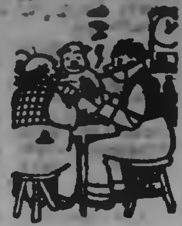
STORY OF THE RESOLUTIONS



BURNED HIS THUMB.

Ten little resolutions all in a line—
Good man burns his thumb, then there are but nine.

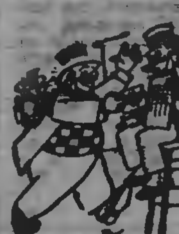
Nine little resolutions wondering at fate—
Ten dollars comes in sight, then there are but eight.



'LONG COMES A POKER GAME.

Eight little resolutions point the way to heaven—
'Long comes a poker game, then there are but seven.

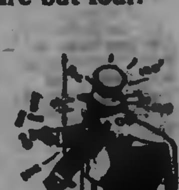
Seven little resolutions in a sorry fix—
Pretty woman comes along, then there are but six.



'LONG COMES A HORSE RACE.

Six little resolutions trying hard to thrive—
'Long comes a horse race, then there are but five.

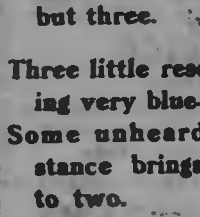
Five little resolutions, only five, no more—
Keyhole can't be found at all, then there are but four.



KEYHOLE CAN'T BE FOUND.

Four little resolutions still must pay a fee—
Wife makes some inquiry, then there are but three.

Three little resolutions looking very blue—
Some unheard of circumstance brings them down to two.



NEVER MIND.

Two little resolutions pondering what's to be done—
Preacher's sermon hurts the man, then there is but one.

One little resolution leaves a month before—
Never mind; next New Year's day you can make some more.

—Chicago Record-Herald.

Army Aviator Killed.

Versailles, France, Dec. 31.—Lieutenant Caumont of the army aviation corps, while testing a new monoplane yesterday, fell from a height of 80 feet. Both arms and both legs were broken. The injured man was taken immediately to the military hospital, where he died.

As soon as he learned of the accident, Gen. Brunn, Minister of War, nominated Lieut. Caumont for the Legion of Honor, but death occurred before the cross could be taken to him.

The Moving Show.

Pittsburg, Dec. 31.—Moving picture shows to while away the time while waiting for trains will be presented free to travelers over the Pennsylvania Railroad soon, as a result of negotiations now being conducted by the railroad and the Exhibitors' League of Moving Picture Men.

O'Keefe's

O'KEEFE'S GOLD LABEL ALE
The O'Keefe Brewery Co. Limited
Toronto, Canada

"Gold Label" is just the kind of Ale that you would expect The O'Keefe Brewery to brew—a rich, creamy, delicious old Ale—that is wonderfully wholesome and nutritious.

No cork screws needed to open the bottles—they are sealed with Crown stoppers.

"The Beer That Is Always O.K." 147

O'K

THE SAD FATE OF A RESOLUTIONIST

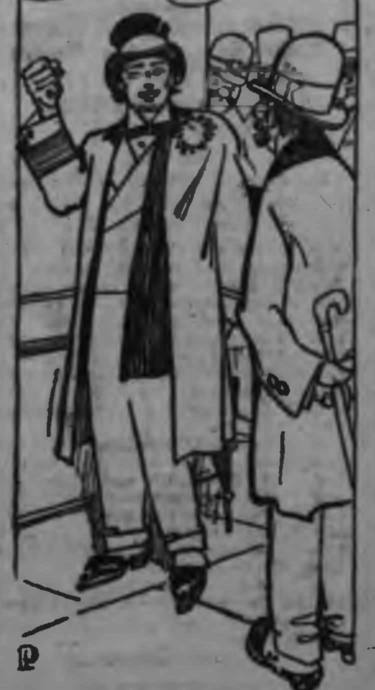
The New Year's resolutionist is thinking hard these days, smoking against time to get rid of his Christmas cigars and get himself as full of nicotine as possible before joining the anti-tobacco league, making memoranda of the errors of his ways during the past year and buying nice, fat, inviting journals, with 365 white pages and a cover of red leather, lettered in gold.

The New Year's resolution habit is one of those things that won't be snubbed out of fashion, as Valentine's day, New Year's calls and other ancient institutions have been. It is an instructive proceeding, this making of promises, signing of pledges and taking the vows. It shows up one's weaknesses and one's strength to all and sundry, but especially to the signer of pledges and maker of promises himself. It proves that two-thirds of the world's resolutions, like pie crust, are made to be broken, and occasionally it wakens up dormant pride and principles in some weak willed individual and sets him strenuously on his legs.

But the success attained by the man who keeps his resolution unbroken through the year is sometimes of doubtful value. It puffs him up with pride, conceit and intolerance. Having accomplished his feat of strength, he has no patience with the weaker vessels who fell by the wayside—to put it Hibernianly.

One such individual resolved one New Year's day in the flower of his youth to take a cold plunge every morning.

He considered cold plunges good for health and good discipline for a lazy and sleep loving body. He lived down south when he began his early morning aquatic performances, but later he came north to live, and he kept right on plunging head first into a cold tub every morning, winter or summer.



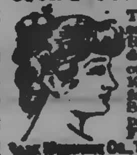
HE WOULD BRAG AND HE WOULD LECTURE.

He kept this up for years, and his vigor and bloom were splendid advertisements for the benefits of the cold plunge habit and incidentally to his strength of will in acquiring and sticking to such a habit.

But he had the weakness of his strength. He would brag, and he would lecture people who did not like cold plunges or else took them only six months of the year. As the years went by he got more and more vigorous and more and more impatient with complaining, late rising, cold catching persons who would not be converted to his ways.

"I rise every morning at 6," he used to tell every one who could be prevailed upon to listen to him. "Then I draw the tub full of cold water—the colder the better. Then I plunge in, and in ten minutes I am ready to dress after a violent rubdown with the roughest crash in the market. And do I ever have a cold? Am I ever ill? I haven't had a pain or an ache in thirty years, and I am never in bed after 6 o'clock a. m."

Perhaps it is cruel to tell, but it was a positive relief to his friends when one morning he was found dead in bed at 9:30. The coroner said he had been dead five hours. So his friends blamed it all on his not having had the cold plunge at 6. Had he lived until then and taken his usual dip, they said, he never would have died at all. —New York Evening Post.



Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

STOCKS and BONDS
WARREN, GZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Traders' Bank Building, Toronto
and
25 Broad Street, New York

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS
Skates Sharpened and Repaired
MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1256

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.
AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $250,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY
MERSON & CO.
Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

NORDHEIMER
"QUALITY TONE"
PIANOS
OF CANADA

Peterboro' Representative:
J. J. DUFFIS
309 George St. Phone 255

You are invited to see these Pianos at the above address.

Liberal allowance made for old instruments taken in exchange and terms adjusted to suit the convenience of purchaser if desired.

Walk Right In

—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
364 George Street.

Brighten Up Your Home

You will naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
762 Water St. Phone 1140

CHRISTMAS TREE AT HIAWATHA

The Largest and Most Successful Entertainment Ever Given There

The annual Christmas tree and concert of Charlotte street Methodist Sunday school was held last evening in the school room. The scholars turned out in large numbers, and the affair was successful from every view. The Christmas tree delighted both young and old and was one of the most popular attractions of the evening.

The programme also, which was given by the children, proved to be very entertaining, and the little tots acquitted themselves well.

The programme was as follows:—

Chorus—Sunday school children.

Duet—Once in Royal David's City—Daisy Adlum and Olive Avery.

Chorus—Two boys and two girls—Daisy Adlum and May Howden, Jack Richards and Jack Christie.

Duet—Margaret and Lenore Wolstenholm.

Recitation—Greta LeBar.

Chorus — God is Love—The Primary Class.

Solo—Snow Bird—Daisy Stocker.

Chorus—Sunday school children.

The brilliantly illuminated Christmas tree, hung with all imaginable kind of presents, was the drawing card of the evening. Every pupil of the school received a gift of some kind. Mr. Ira L. Moore was a very satisfactory Santa Claus. Bags of candy were distributed to the little ones also.

KID GLOVES
T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

ELECTION BULLETINS

The Review will, as usual, on election nights, gather the results of the polling in the various sub-divisions, and bulletin them in front of the office as fast as received. Every effort will be made to give a complete and efficient service. Watch the Review bulletins.

NO PAPER MONDAY

Monday being a statutory holiday, there will be no issue of the Review.

Customs Returns for the Month

The results of the Christmas shipping has caused a large increase in the customs returns for the month.

December, 1910	$45,216.24
December, 1909	31,263.73
Increase for the month	$13,952.51

An Interesting Picture

One of the most interesting and entertaining films of the season was shown at the Grand last night. It was a "champion wrestlers" picture, and showed the giant Graeco-Roman exponents of the game in action, and also in poses which strikingly displayed their huge physiques and magnificent development.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

LOCAL CHURCH CALENDAR

SUNDAY, JAN. 1th, 1911.

ST. PETER'S ROMAN CATHOLIC.

Mass will be sung at 5.30, 6.15, 8, 9 and 10.30. His Lordship will sing Pontifical mass at 10.30 and Pontifical Vespers at 7. There will be a sermon at Pontifical mass and at Vespers.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH (ANGLICAN.)

Rev. Canon Davidson, rector.

Rev. Chas. Carpenter, assistant.

Christmas Day.

Circumcision of Christ.

1st Sunday after Christmas.

8.30 a.m.—Holy Communion.

Matins and sermon 11 a.m.

Processional 599, "Songs of Praise."

Venite 7, Te Deum, Woodward, Benedictus 21.

Office hymn 476, "Hail! to the Lord's Anointed."

Before sermon 87, "For Thy Mercy and Thy Grace," Hymn for New Year's Day.

Anthem, "Glory in the Highest," Sherwin.

Recessional 91, (Tune 220) "From Glory Unto Glory."

Sunday school and Bible Class 3 p.m.

Evensong and sermon 7 p.m.

Processional 423, "Conquering Kings."

Gloria 76, Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, Simper.

Office hymn 86, "The Ancient Law Departs."

Before sermon 89, "The Year Has Gone Before Recall."

Anthem, "Carols Sweetly Carol," Perkins.

Recessional 384, "Forward Be Our Watchword."

The annual Christmas and New Year's Sunday school entertainment is on Tuesday in the school at 7.30. The cantata "Kriss Kringle," will be given by the scholars and refreshments served to all of them at the close. Parents are asked to send cakes to the school and come along to spend a most enjoyable evening with the teachers and scholars. The infant department will have their good time on Tuesday afternoon.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH (ANGLICAN.)

Rev. R. H. Trumpour, M.A., B.D., rector.

1st Sunday after Christmas.

10.30.—Prayer meeting.

11 a.m.—Holy Communion and sermon.

3 p.m.—Sunday school.

3 p.m.—Mr. Sisson's Ladies' Bible Class.

3 p.m.—Rector's Men's Bible Class.

4.10 p.m.—Baptism.

7 p.m.—Evening prayer. The choir will repeat the Christmas carols sung last Sunday and the rector will preach his annual sermon on the events and tendencies of the past year.

There will be watchnight service in All Saints to-night from 11.30 to 12, conducted by the rector.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH (ANGLICAN.)

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, rector.

Circumcision Day.

11 a.m.—Holy Communion and sermon.

3 o'clock—Sunday school and Bible Class.

Weeknight service Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The rector will preach at both services.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. James Rollins, B. A., pastor.

The pastor will preach at both services.

Sunday school and Bible Classes at 3 p.m.

Strangers welcome.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. R. Pogue, pastor.

10.30 a.m.—Congregational prayer meeting.

11 a.m.—Morning worship. Rev. W. J. Wanless, M.D., a noted medical mission Work in India."

3 p.m.—Sabbath school in all departments.

3 p.m.—"Mitte" Adult Bible Class, taught by Rev. R. Pogue.

3 p.m.—Young Men's Bible Class. Teacher Inspector Mowat.

7 p.m.—Evening worship. Subject of sermon by the pastor, "I Make All Things New."

KNOX PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. H. J. Keith, M.A., B.D., pastor.

Meeting of Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip at 10.15 a.m. in the brotherhood room.

Members of the brotherhood are asked to attend the morning service at 11 o'clock. Subject of the morning sermon, "Looking Into the Future."

Sunday school and Bible Class at 3 p.m.

Evening service at 7 p. m. Dr. Wanless, one of India's cleverest surgeons, will give an address.

GEORGE ST. METHODIST.

Rev. Isaac Couch, M. A., B.D.

2.30 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible Classes.

The Sunday school will assemble at 10.30 in the Sunday school room for the Sunday school anniversary and march upstairs, where, at 11 o'clock a sermon will be given to a mass meeting of the Sunday school by Rev. S. T. Bartlett, of Toronto.

7 p.m.—Rev. Mr. Bartlett will preach a special sermon to the congregation. Music by the choir and orchestra.

CHARLOTTE ST. METHODIST.

Rev. G. W. Henderson, pastor.

Decision Day service.

10 a.m.—Prayer hour.

11 a.m.—Public worship conducted by the pastor. Subject, "Consecration."

2.30 p.m.—Sunday school and Men's Bible Class.

7 p.m.—Public worship, conducted by the pastor. Subject, "Weighed and Found Wanting."

Week of prayer services. Epworth League and prayer meetings withdrawn.

MARK ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. O. H. Coon, pastor.

Morning Service.

Doxology.

Invocation.

Hymn 145, "Angels From the Realms

ST. JAMES' CHURCH.

Rev. J. G. Brown, M.A., pastor.

10 a.m.—Class meeting.

Regular services at 11 a.m. and 7 p. m.

2.30 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible Class.

Wednesday 8 o'clock—Prayer meeting.

Friday afternoon 4 o'clock—Junior League.

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor.

11 a.m.—Ordinance of Baptism. Communion service at close of sermon.

PARK ST. BAPTIST.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor.

11 a.m.—Address by J. J. Thompson, physical director of the Y.M.C.A.

3 p.m.—Bible school. Helping-Hand Bible Class for men. Teacher, Rev. W. C. Riddiford.

7 p.m.—Special Evangelistic service conducted by the Helping-Hand Bible Class.

Short addresses by Mr. J. Dawson, Harry Goodwin, Archie Jackson.

Music by Park street orchestra.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST.

378 Aylmer St.

Services as follows:—Sunday at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12.15 p.m.

Wednesday, 8 p.m. Testimony meeting.

Reading room, same address, open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m., free to the public. All welcome at above services.

Subject for Sunday, January 1st, "God."

GOSPEL HALL.

11 a.m.—Commeration of the Lord's Supper.

3 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible Class.

7 p.m.—Special New Year's evangelistic service to which all are heartily invited.

BETHANY TABERNACLE.

Rev. John A. Fee, pastor.

The usual services will be conducted on Sunday.

ASSEMBLY HALL.

George street, four doors north of Market Arcade.

The usual services will be conducted on Sunday.

SALVATION ARMY.

Ensign Merritt, officer in charge. Services on Sunday at 7 and 11 a.m. and 3 and 7 p.m.

The usual services will be conducted on Sunday.

3 p.m.—Sunday school

Excellent Day and Night Services From Peterboro to Montreal Via Grand Trunk Railway System

Day train leaves Peterborough 8.30 a.m., arrives Belleville 11.10 a.m., and Montreal 6 p.m., carrying parlor-library car and dining car, Belleville to Montreal, also Pullman sleeper to Boston.

Night train leaves Peterborough 9.05 p.m., leaves Port Hope Jct. 10.39 pm., arrives Montreal 7.01 a.m., carrying modern Pullman sleepers, Port Hope to Montreal. By travelling this way you can take Pullman at convenient hour and enjoy comfortable night's rest over a first-class double-tracked line.

Full information, tickets, berth reservations, etc., may be obtained from W. Bunton, City Passenger and Ticket Agent, or F. Sandy, Depot Ticket Agent, Peterborough.

TO VOTERS

Voters should remember on Monday that they may vote for two candidates in each ward.

They may vote in each ward in which they own property, and a man owning property in each of the five wards is entitled to vote for two candidates in each of the five.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	8.29 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.06 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal

1.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.

12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,

1.08 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

5.26 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.

6.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto: connects with above train at West Toronto

7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.

4.36 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian North West.

TEACHING OF THE CATHOLIC CATCHECISM OBJECTED TO

Protestant Ratepayers of S. S. No. 8 Otonabee File Protest With Government — Election of Trustee O'Connor is Also Claimed to be Irregular

Considerable feeling has been aroused in S. S. No. 8, Otonabee, over, it is stated, an alleged breach of the public school regulations. It is claimed that Roman Catholic teaching has been carried on the school for some time, and against this the Protestant ratepayers of the section strongly protest.

The subject is naturally a delicate and involved one, and there is a strong division of opinion among the ratepayers of the section concerning it, and also some discussion as to the facts.

The matter has been referred to the Provincial authorities and their report as to the merits and demerits of the case will give the authoritive version of the affair, and a solution of the problem.

The teacher of the school, is Miss Ward, a Roman Catholic, and the school trustees are F. F. Redmond, secretary, John Connor, and L. Hatterly. The two former are Roman Catholics, and the latter a Protestant.

The annual meeting of the school was held on Wednesday, December 28th, and at the meeting, Mr. Connor was elected trustee. There is some irregularity complained of in connection with the election and County School Inspector Lees has been appealed to, to settle the difficulty.

MARKET MUCH SMALLER TO-DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS TRADE

Considerable Falling Off in Attendance—More People Than Produce

It could be easily seen by to-day's market that the Christmas trade, which has crowded the hall for the past few weeks, was over. There were, however, more people than there were things to buy. The most promising of the fowl were sold before Christmas, and this morning only the smaller fowl were seen. More geese were bought to-day and it was no uncommon sight to see several prospective purchasers grouped around a table where there were any geese for sale. Butter has now increased also, with eggs remaining the same as last Saturday.

Only beef and pork were offered on the outer market, and at eleven o'clock one load of hay only was noticed. Chickens were not very tempting looking, although the prices were low enough.

The following were the prices today:

Eggs—40 cents.

Butter—28 and 30 cents a pound.

Geese—$1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 a piece.

Turkeys—$2.50, up to $3.75.

Chickens—30 cents a piece.

Beef—8 and 9 cents.

Pork—12 and 18 cents.

Hay—$13 a ton.

HEARTILY ENDORSES THE BONNER-WORTH BY-LAW

(Citizens Should Support It Says E. G. Patterson)

In an interview with the Review this morning E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Co's. Peterborough plant, strongly endorsed the Bonner-Worth by-law.

"I think it is in the very best interests of the city to secure the industry," said Mr. Patterson. "I am going to stay in town for the express purpose of voting for the by-law. Three or four such industries would be a great boon to Peterborough industrially and commercially. I think the city could reasonably have offered greater inducements to the firm to locate here if that had been necessary. The proposition is a sound one and should receive the warm approval and hearty support of the ratepayers.

PETERBOROUGH'S HOPE.

"Peterborough cannot hope to secure great industries in competition with towns more favorably situated and offering better advantages," continued Mr. Patterson. "A half dozen smaller industries such as the Bonner-Worth would be just as good for the town, and in many respects better than one large industry which would would employ about the same number of hands."

COURT OF REVISION

(NORTH MONAGHAN TOWNSHIP)

Meeting of the Court of Revision of the Township of North Monaghan held here yesterday.

The Court of Revision met in the County committee room on December 28th inst., at 2 p.m.

All the members were present.

The matter before the court was the consideration of the assessment and levy made under the Local Improvement by-law for the payment of the cost of building concrete sidewalks upon Morrow and Sherburne streets, there being no appeals against the assessments.

It was moved by Mr. Morrow and seconded by Mr. Robson,—That the statement of assessment for local improvement on Morrow and Sherburne streets, as fyled, be amended by taking lot 67 north of Morrow street (50 feet) from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company's assessment, and assessing it to Wallace H. Moore, and with this amendment the said statement be, and it is hereby confirmed and adopted.—This was carried.

The court then adjourned.

At the close of the Court of Revision the council of the township resolved into session for the transaction of public affairs, the reeve in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The clerk presented an application from B. Nevin asking for a remission of dog tax, 1909, he having declared that he was wrongfully assessed for such in that year.

It was moved by Messrs Morrow and Robson,—That the sum of $2 be refunded to Mr. B. Nevin, being error in assessment for dog in 1909.—This was carried.

The clerk also applied to have an error in the statute labor assessment of R. Bestard of five days instead of ten days corrected, and an error in the assessment of J. H. Forster of $1 instead of $3 for dog.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Robson that Mr. J. H. Forster be refunded the sum of $2, being error in assessment for dog in 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Forster and Morrow, that the sum of $3.75 be refunded to Mr. R. Bestard, being error in assessment for statute labor in 1911.—Carried.

Accounts were handed in from the Peterborough Review for $11, and Dr. N. T. Greer, M.H.O., fees, $5

On motion these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

A communication was read from O. LePlante, claiming $200 damages from the township, owing to the alleged encroachment of the road upon the property of Jos. LeVasseur.

It was moved by Mr. Forster and Mr. Robson, that this communication be referred to the reeve, clerk and Councillor May, who are hereby authorised to consult the township's solicitor as to what action if any be advisable to take in the matter.—Carried.

Mr. J. T. O'Connell presented an application for the council's consent to the registration of a plan showing the sub-division of his property into lots with streets, etc.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Morrow that the application of Mr. O'Connell be referred until the next meeting of the council, and in the meantime the clerk be instructed to notify Mr. O'Connell to have a plan prepared by a P.L.S. showing the subdivision, etc., thereon, and fyle the same with the clerk for the use of the council.—Carried.

Mr. H. G. Webber attended the meeting and drew the council's attention to the assessment for school purposes of the Brinton Carpet Company and the Sandstone Brick Company. He understood that these companies, while having a fixed assessment for general purposes, should be assessed at their total value for school purposes.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Morrow, that the reeve and clerk are hereby authorized to consult the township solicitor and investigate the assessments of the Brinton Carpet Company and the Sandstone Brick Co. with a purpose of ascertaining to what extent they are liable for school rates.—Carried.

By-law No 631, entitled a local improvement by-law of the township of North Monaghan, regarding sidewalks on Morrow and Sherburne streets, was then introduced, regularly read, and finally passed, signed and sealed.

The council then adjourned until January 9th, to meet in the same place at the same time

At Mark St. Church

Rev. Mr. Coon will preach a New Year's message to his congregation tomorrow morning.

SENTENCE SERMONS

Virtue is the joy of the upward way.

You easily hide the divine by definitions.

Twisted truth usually doubles back on the user.

The still, small voice is not the small mind.

The putty man is apt to be proud of his patience.

Making the world gloomy will not make it cleaner.

Misery is the mental chaos of the self centered mind.

Tears have no real meaning to those who cannot laugh.

A little every day help is worth a lot of Sunday holiness.

Many a sinner is adept at drawing fashion plates for saints.

It often takes tremendous hammering to find out what is in us.

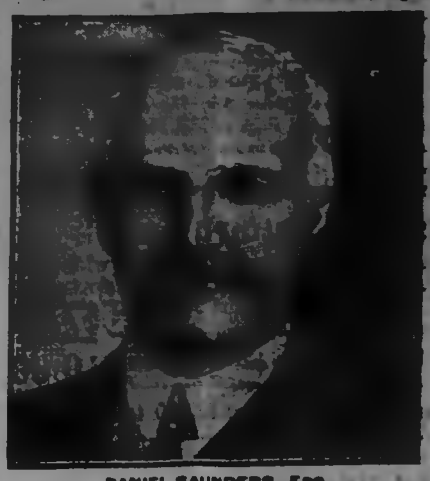
You never know whether a man is good until he gets in the game of life.

There is always a lot of imagination in other people's troubles.

If your orthodoxy does not make you honest, it had better keep you silent.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

"Fruit-a-tives" Promptly Cured Him



DANIEL SAUNDERS, ESQ.

Mr. Daniel Saunders, of Shoal Lake, Manitoba, is one of the best known gentlemen in Canada's great wheat country. He lived for years in the West—made a success of his farming—and has now retired from active business life to enjoy the fruits of his work.

When a man of such financial and social standing voluntarily testifies to the great benefits he has received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" there can be no doubt but that "Fruit-a-tives" deserves the confidence of every reader of this paper.

SHOAL LAKE, MAN., June 11th, 1910.

"For years, I was bothered with persistent Dyspepsia and Indigestion, having severe pains after meal time. I tried everything that I could get but the pain in my stomach became no better.

Last summer, Mr. Ostway, a druggist of my town, recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to me. While taking "Fruit-a-tives", I in no way gave up any foods that I was in the habit of eating, neither did I stop smoking. Yet in spite of all, "Fruit-a-tives" has done wonders for me and I strongly advise all my friends to use it."

DANIEL SAUNDERS.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of pure fruit juices, and will always cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Biliousness, Constipation and any other disease that comes from disordered Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. 50c. a box. 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

BIRTHS

CONNOR.—To Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Connor, Douro, 5th con., on Friday, Dec. 30th, a daughter.

HEFFERNAN—To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heffernan, Douro, 7th con., on Friday, Dec. 23rd, a daugher.

More About Leafers

At the request of some of the members of the Guild of Good Fellowship the subject for to-morrow's session at the Princess Theatre, at 3 o'clock, will be "More About Leafers." The last address on the subject was much appreciated and it is felt that a further discussion will be helpful.

The Medical Society of the County of New York re-opened the case of Dr. Louis Anton Ewald, who had been suspended.

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
Limited
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 278, (Machine)—278.
124 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 302

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

"It's Confidence That Does It"

YOUR TABLE

Will not be complete without something nice and toothsome for

LUNCHEON

SUCH AS

JELLY POWDER, MARMALADE
HORSE SHOE and CLOVER-LEAF
SALMON, FRENCH SARDINES,
HAM, CHICKEN and TONGUE
FINE OLD CHEESE,
MacCONACHIE'S SAUCE
MIXED PICKLES.
A FULL RANGE OF CHRISTIE'S FANCY BISCUITS; ORANGES, LEMONS, COWAN'S CHOCOLATES
LIME JUICE, RASPBERRY,
STRAWBERRY and
CURRANT WINE,
Unequalled in Purity.

PORTER & WHITE
336 George St. Phone 280

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.

Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	85	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL

159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 14, Bell or Machine.

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
LIMITED

ANNOUNCEMENT OF OUR SENSATIONAL PRICE CUTTING SALE IN OUR CLOAK AND SUIT DEPARTMENT

Commencing Wednesday, January 4th

In accordance with the well defined policy of the GOLDEN LION we desire to impress on the citizens of Peterboro' that we will not carry over a single garment in our Suit and Cloak Department of this season's stock to next season and to give proper effect to that end we have made the prices so low that we are sure beyond a doubt of accomplishing the object in view.

Ladies' Tailored Autumn Suits

In the most fashionable styles, made up in serges, wide wale rough cloths, tweeds, broadcloths, Venetians, in blacks, navy, green, grey and colored tweeds; all Autumn suits that were marked at $13.50 to $15.00, for $7.98

All suits that were sold at $15.00 to $20.00, clearing at $10.00

Every suit that was formerly sold at $25.00 to $30.00 to be cleared at $15.00

Ladies' Winter Coats

Coat Rack No. 1. On this rack are grouped all heavy WINTER COATS in black and navy long lengths; some button high, others with revere collar, the usual price being $9.50 to $12.00. Your choice for $5.00

On Rack No. 2 are assembled our finest black beaver cloth coats, stylish, graceful garments. These were formerly sold at $20.00 to $25.00. Take your choice for ... $12.75

On Rack No. 3 are gathered young ladies' classy long coats in two toned grey and brown tweeds and cheviots, the season's swellest garments that were sold at $16.50 to $18.50. Your choice for $11.98

On Rack No. 4 are arranged what we have left in maids' long coats, made up from cheviots, tweeds and kersey cloths in black, navy and green. These were all sold formerly at $10.00 to $12.00. Your choice for $6.50

On Rack No. 5 will be found a very pretty and choice selection of children's long coats, every garment a classy production and just such a one as would please the little miss. Coats that were marked at $5.00, now $3.50

Coats that were marked at $6.50 and $8.50, now.......... $4.50

Little Girls' White Bearskin Coats have shared in the drastic price cutting, as witness—$5.00 garments are now marked at $3.00

$6.00 and $6.50 coats now marked at $3.50

One only Paisley Messaline Silk Dress, old rose shade, size 38. This costume got very slightly faded in our street window, but scarcely noticeable, and on account of this we will take $10.00 off the price. It was $25.00. You can have it now for.................... $15.00

White Bearskin Cloth, 50 inches wide, that sold at $3.00 the yard, to be cleared at half price........ $1.50

Ladies' White Silk Blouses, waist part finely tucked, reg. price $3.50; for this sale $1.50

5 only Ladies' Heavy Navy Blue Taffeta Silk Tailored Shirt Waists that formerly sold at $6.50 each. Sale Price.................... $3.50

Winter Trimmed Hats

NEXT WEDNESDAY will afford an exceptional opportunity for the purchase of charming Winter Millinery and when you see the collection of trimmed and untrimmed Hats on sale you will marvel at the values—but just come that's all we ask

LARGE BLERIOX BLUE FELT with steel Bandian and blue roses, a $10.50 headpiece for.................... $5.00

PATTERN HATS of blue velvet and grey kid roses also PATTERN TEA HAT, velvet faced iridescent top with roses, formerly $15.00. Your Choice for.................... $7.00

9 only very fine English black and colored BEAVER FUR HATS that were sold at $7.50 to $15.00. Your Choice for........ $4.75

A Very Special Bargain in COLORED WINGS that formerly sold at $1.50 to $2.00. Your Choice for.................... 29c

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
LIMITED

DONORS AND DONATIONS TO CHILDREN'S SHELTER

A Friend, bevel cards.
Miss Whitcroft, cakes, vases, lost heir, picture post cards and doilies.
Sidney Goodfellow, games.
Mr. Garbutt, toys and dolls' bed, bag apples.
A Friend, mitts, handkerchiefs and candies.
A Friend, chocolates and walnuts.
Mrs. G. Walter Green, oranges.
Mrs. Jas. Scott, apples, oranges and pudding.
Mr. Roebuck, oranges.
Mrs. Geo. Laing, candies, oranges, etc.
Miss Godfrey, nuts, oranges and raisins.
Dr. Greer, turkey.
Mr. and Mrs. Denison (National Hotel) oranges, apples, nuts and raisins.
Wm. Hartley, children's clothing and dishes.
Mrs. Dr. Wightman, oranges.
Mrs. Hogan, Gilmour street, toys, books, child's dishes, dates and raisins.
Dr. Langfeldt, toys, books, etc.
A Friend, two bags of potatoes.
A Friend, a turkey.
Mrs. Brown, 417 Weller street, clothing, books and toys.
Miss Bertha Curtis (brick yard), oranges, nuts, candies and toys.
Mrs. Rupert McClellan, oranges, etc.
Mrs. Lundy, Santa stocking.
Mrs. Edmison, children's hats, clothing, toys and little aprons.
Mrs. Rubidge, clothing, games and big doll.
Mrs. Wm. Davidson, oranges, etc.
A Friend, toys.
A Friend, children's clothes.
Mrs. F. E. Godfrey, oranges.
Wm. Stock & Son, toys, books, etc.
Miss L. Whitcroft, children's underwear, toys, etc.
Miss Scott, boy's touque, books and toys.
Mrs. J. C. Shook, grapes, nuts and oranges.
Mrs. Kingsbury, toys.
A Friend, toys, dolls and picture book.
Mrs. Stinson, books.
A Friend, dolls and picture book.
Norman Foote, Christmas novelties.
A Friend, picture books.
Mrs. Yeoman, buns.
Mrs. Johnston, books.
A Friend, A. B. C. blocks.
Miss Dickson, oranges.
A Friend, toys.
R. J. G. Sutherland, oranges and candies.
137 Benson street, clothing.
J. S. Knapman, clothing.
Mrs. John Comstock, candies and oranges.
Mrs. Dawson Kennedy, oranges.
Miss Raney, teacher, toys.
Miss Dixon, toys.
Miss Dixon, toys.
Mr. and Mrs. Oressman, dolls, handkerchiefs, pair white blankets, etc.
James Haggis, candies, buns.
A Friend, candies.
A Friend, candies.
A Friend, candies.
Hooper, nuts and candies.
Mrs. Johnston, sleigh and hockey sticks, candies and oranges.
Mrs. Dr. Cowan, children's clothing and caps.
Mission Band Charlotte street Methodist church (per Mrs. Lightfoot), 2 quilts and other sundries.
J. J. Duffus, bread.
Mrs. Oswell Carver, 1 bed.
Mrs. Elcombe, clothing.
R. Fair & Co., work baskets, handkerchiefs, beads and purses.
Mrs. Geo. McClelland, 2 white blankets, 2 quilts, 1 spread.
Ross and Helen Thompson, toys, books, etc.
Miss Brown, toys.
Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Might, nuts and candies.
A Friend, nuts, oranges and candies.
Miss Calcutt, nuts, books and raisins.
Mrs. Grant, toys.

ENTERTAINED STAFF TO DINNER

Prudential Insurance Men Make Merry at Home at Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Allen

The Peterborough Staff of the Prudential Insurance Company was entertained to dinner by the popular superintendent and his wife, Mr. and Mrs John I. Allen, at their residence in Homewood Avenue, to commemorate the most successful insurance year Mr. Allen has had since his appointment as superintendent.

The Port Hope Office was represented by Assistant Superintendent Cornelius, and Agents Woodcock, Perkins and Isaacs; Lindsay by Agent R. E. Sherry; Oshawa by Assistant Superintendent Seymour and Agents D. Morris, W. J. Donovan and R. E. Morris, Peterboro' by Assistant Superintendents J. Leadbetter and R. F. Sedgwick and Agents, C. Green, J. Lonergan, A. R. Graham, J. Malane, H. T. Gambell and C. H. Patterson.

After a substantial repast was disposed of, various games and music were indulged in. A progressive euchre contest was won by Mr. C. H. Patterson, while Mr. R. E. Sherry captured the coveted booby prize.

Songs were given by Assistant Superintendent, J. Leadbetter, and Agents A. R. Graham, H. T. Gambell and J. L. Lonergan, while The Prudential Male Quartette covered itself with glory by its fine rendering of part songs.

A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by a cordial vote of thanks to the host and hostess for their splendid entertainment which was greatly appreciated by the staff.

EXTRA SPECIAL FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Florida pineapples, tangerines, fancy California cauliflowers, California celery, hothouse tomatoes, mushrooms, fancy red apples, sweet potatoes, fancy, blue point shell oysters in kegs of 100 oysters, fresh boiled lobsters. Also fancy Malaga grapes, table raisins and high grade chocolates. All goods the very best we can buy. Leave order early and secure better attention.

W. J. OKE, 376 George St.
Telephone 18.

MASQUERADE DANCE

A Successful Function at Lakehurst--The List of Characters

The social event of holiday week was the fancy dress ball given at the home of Mr W. Irwin. About fifty guests assembled and spent a most enjoyable evening dancing and playing games. The different characters were well dressed and well acted. The party broke up in the early hours, grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Irwin for the very pleasant evening.

The guests were—
Irwin E. King—Count of Monte Cristo
Willie Shearer—Count of Monte Cristo.
A. W. Elliott—Policeman.
A. W. Northey—Negro.
G. Doube—Captain.
Robert Smith—Made-up Man
Wallace Shearer—Clown.
C. S. Wood—Cowboy.
David Wilson—Jockey
Hugh Allen—Hockey Boy.
George Weir—Dragoon
Dug Bennett—Irishman.
John Crapp—Gambler.
Will Northey—Hockey Boy
H. A. Shearer—Hostelery.
J. Cooms—Private.
Fred Esson—Mexican Cowboy.
James McGuire—Farmer.
Wilfred Doube—Cowboy.
Bert Esson—Clown.
Walter Smith—Clown
Wesley Nesbitt—Magenta.
W. J. Nesbitt—Lord Nelson.
A. Wilson—French Count.
Willie Thompson—Soldier Boy.
Robert Calvert—Mover.
Hector Stevenson—Yeoman of the Guard
John McGuire—Dancer.
W. J. Irwin—Pirate.
Ed S. Irwin—Charles I.
Mabel Thompson—Queen of Diamonds
May Smith—Spanish Dancer.
Given Smith—Spanish Dancer
Martha Stevenson—Fairy.
Isabel—Stevenson—Fairy
Mrs. W. Elliott—Shepherdess.
Annie Wilson—Marigold
Miss Surplice—Dolly Varden
Nellie Nesbitt—Princess Mary.
Ethel Clarkson—Tamborine Girl
Florence Esson—Queen of Night.

COAL OIL BARGAIN

China Hall is selling the best Canadian Coal Oil at 12c and best Water White American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots, and 14c and 17c per single gallon, delivered to any part of the city.

3d3w Macfarlane Wilson

The state military authorities at Bay City, Mich., accepted the new armory, which cost $45,000.

WILLIAM LANGFORD
— A CANDIDATE FOR —
Water Commissioner

To the Citizens;—

I have been requested by my friends to place myself in nomination for the very responsible position of Water Commissioner. I have accepted and ask for your support. As to the reasons why the ratepayers who have urged me to accept this nomination, and whilst not wishing to take from Mr. Hill any credit justly due him for his lengthy services as Water Commissioner, it is considered that too much of a good thing might satiate his appetite for future services on behalf of the citizens in this or other positions of a like nature. There is as yet no good reason given why the three gentlemen who have occupied the position of Water Commissioners, should continue indefinitely. He is a good man indeed whose place cannot be filled. New blood is needed in the best of us at times.

The citizens feel strongly that not sufficient publicity is given to the work and expenditure in connection with the new dam. After two years from the letting of the contract, and over six months from the completion of the work, we are told because of threatened litigation, and for fear of it, we should retain the services of Mr. Hill. Is it not that the doings of the Water Commissioners may be kept in that opaque condition, which has existed for so many months, that the return of Mr. Hill, by his co-operators is so devoutly hoped for? Is it not desirable, and even imperative, that the ratepayers be afforded much more definite information than heretofore of the large expenditure of moneys by the Commissioners on this account?

It is with the desire to give that publicity to all and every matter and concern that the ratepayers are entitled to and whose money is taken and expended that I have allowed myself to accept the nomination. The public know of the positions of trust I have occupied on behalf of the ratepayers. I feel that I can from my experience as a contractor and past councillor, fill the position quite as well as my esteemed opponent.

On these and other grounds, which I may refer to again, I respectfully ask for your votes.

WM. LANGFORD.

Watchnight Service

A watchnight service will be held on Saturday night from 10 to 11 o'clock at the Salvation Army barracks.

At All Saint's

There will be a watchnight service at All Saints' to-morrow, Saturday night, beginning at 11.30. Suitable prayers and short address by the rector.

Watchnight Service

The Epworth League of St. James' Church will hold a watchnight service to-night, commencing at 11 o'clock.

For East City

Your Vote and Assistance for

HARRY MORGAN

— for —

Alderman

FIVE YEARS — Make It Six

Your Vote and Influence Are Respectfully Requested for

J. T. O'CONNELL
As Alderman for Ward Five

Have your municipal Business done on practical business methods.

— For —

BOARD OF EDUCATION

I respectfully ask your approval of my candidature, and trust to be re-elected as a member of the Board of Education.

ROBERT FAIR.

For Water Commissioner

Your vote and influence respectfully solicited for

WILLIAM LANGFORD
For Water Commissioner.

To the Electors

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having served during the past nine years as a Water Commissioner with that attention to duties which has, I hope, been of help to my co-commissioners, and of some service to the city, I am desirous of continuing for another term, for what I believe will be considered as a fairly sufficient reason.

The ratepayers are aware that the Commissioners have had during the past two years under construction for the city a new waterworks dam and pumping station, which with the additional pumping power now supplied will, I am sure, prove one of the most effective systems in Ontario. The contracts have not yet all been completed for these works, nor settlements made, nor has all fear of difficulties with contractors passed. My co-commissioners are anxious that I should continue on the Board, for they think that I would be of assistance in these matters from my necessarily intimate knowledge of circumstances surrounding these contracts.

I am inclined to think the ratepayers will approve of my course in presenting myself, in view of what I have said, and therefore with some degree of confidence most respectfully ask for their support.

W. H. HILL

Peterborough, Dec. 29th, 1910.

Ward No. Five

VOTE FOR

J. C. ANDERSON

A life-long resident of the East Ward

Many important questions will arise during 1911, and these questions will receive my most careful consideration if I am favored with your support.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours, etc.,
J. C. ANDERSON.

5th WARD

TO THE ELECTORS
OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having had the honor of being nominated for Alderman for No. Five Ward, and not having time to make a personal canvas, I take this manner of soliciting your vote and influence.

If elected I will give support to every good, clean movement for the benefit of our city.

Wishing you all the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours respectfully,
R. F. SEDGWICK

WARD NO. ONE

VOTE FOR

WILLIAM H. BULLER

The People's Candidate for election as

ALDERMAN

for the South Ward

Your Vote and Influence in favor of re-election
— of —

W. H. BRADBURN

is respectfully solicited as one of the representatives from the

Centre Ward
in the City Council

Centre Ward

To the Electors

Vote to Re-elect

J. R. Metheral

Who believes in practical economy with efficiency, and submitting the question of exemptions to the electors.

FOR ALDERMAN
North Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been nominated a candidate for Alderman in the North Ward for the ensuing year, I respectfully ask your support at the coming election. If honored with your confidence, I will exercise my best energy in advocating and supporting such measures as will assure progress and economy in all civic affairs.

With best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,
David H. Kerneghan

South Ward
Municipal Elections

Your vote and influence is respectfully requested for

THOS. HOOPER

for Alderman for 1911

A new man and promising good, careful service if elected

North Ward
Municipal Elections
For Alderman

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for election to the Council, and engage, if elected, to look after the interests of the Ward and of the City in general, to the best of my ability.

Very Respectfully,
JAS. G. GRAHAM

For North Ward as Alderman

I respectfully ask the ratepayers of the Ward to vote for

Jas. Davidson
For Alderman for 1911

If elected I engage to do my utmost to promote the best interests of the City.

WEST WARD
TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

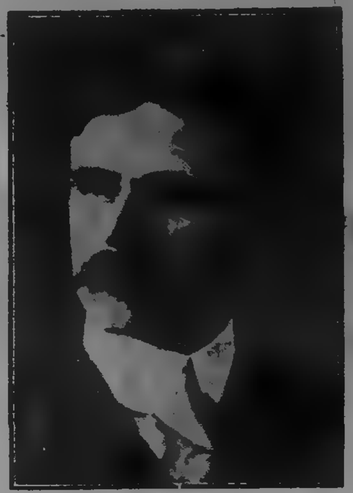
LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

Having been nominated as a candidate for Alderman for the West Ward, I hope to solicit your vote and influence.

If elected I shall do my best to serve the citizens and to use every effort for the city's advancement.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year.

Respectfully yours,
JAS. EDGAR



FOR ALDERMAN
West Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST WARD.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Having been duly nominated as Alderman for a third term, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence. If elected I will continue to do my utmost to further the interest of our progressive city, and to promote the general welfare of all citizens alike.

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, believe me to remain

Yours very truly,
J. J. DUFFUS

No. ONE WARD
TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE CITY OF PETERBORO'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

I am again a candidate for your favor as Alderman for the year 1911.

I have endeavored to serve you faithfully during the last four years, and engage, if elected, to use my influence and energy in advancing in every way the interests of the Ward and City.

Wishing you a prosperous New Year.

Yours hopefully,
GEO. H. DUNCAN

For Alderman

As Representative to the Council from the West Ward

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

This is my first essay as a candidate, and I throw myself on your consideration, trusting to have your approval of my candidature. I trust to be a useful member of the Council should you send me there.

Respectfully and Hopefully,
JAMES B. BROWN

Centre Ward

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CENTRE WARD, City of Peterborough:—

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I respectfully solicit your support as a candidate for the office of Alderman, for the year 1911. With the number of years of experience I have had in the Council, I believe I could continue to give good service to the City, and I will, if you favor me with your confidence, do all in my power to advance the City's interests.

Wishing you the compliments of the season.

Yours very truly,
HARRY PHELAN

JANUARY

1911

PROBABILITIES
Colder to-day and on Wednesday; light local snow.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. LXII., No. 1. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

REVIEW WANT AD
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

SIX ALDERMEN RETURNED, TWO DEFEATED--BY-LAWS CARRY

THE CANDIDATES ELECTED TO LOCAL CIVIC BOARDS FOR 1911

Ald. Duncan, Bradburn, Morgan, Brown and Graham Get Two Year Term--Voters Show Special Interest in Ward Results.

1911 COUNCIL.

G. W. Morrow, Mayor,

SOUTH WARD.
G. H. Duncan,
W. Buller.

CENTRE WARD.
W. H. Bradburn,
J. W. Metheral.

EAST WARD.
H. Morgan,
J. C. Anderson.

WEST WARD.
J. Brown,
J. Edgar.

NORTH WARD.
James Graham,
David H. Kerneghan,

BOARD OF EDUCATION

L. M. Hayes, K.C., Chairman,
D. W. Dumble,
H. Adams,
W. H. Hill,
J. Crane,
J. W. Miller,
Dr. George Burnham,

NEWLY ELECTED MEMBERS.
V. Eastwood,
B. F. Ackerman,
R. Fair,
M. A. Morrison.

WATER COMMISSION

T. F. Matthews,
W. H. Moore,
W. H. Hill.

The Council for 1911 will contain plenty of new blood.

Ald. Hicks, Batten, Turner and Gillespie declined to offer themselves when the campaign commenced and Ald. Phelan and Duffus were defeated in their respective wards, the Centre and West, as the result of yesterday's voting.

A mild surprise was sprung when it was found when the ballots had been counted, that James Brown, of the West Ward, an absolutely new comer in the municipal arena, had polled the highest individual vote of any candidate in the city five hundred ballots being marked with the X opposite his name.

The voting was keen and the interest while never mounting to the fever point, was strong and steady all over the city.

This year, however, the interest was to a great extent focused in the various wards although the ratepayers naturally wanted to know the results in the city in general.

Owing to the voting having been carried on in the different wards, the election of the successful candidates was much more quickly known than under the old method. There was none of the prolonged and nerve tensing expectancy that there was when each man running depended on a grand total of the votes cast for him in all the polling sub-divisions of the city. For this reason the 'phones at the newspaper offices and the city hall weren't buzzing as incessantly as at other municipal elections in recent years, the voters concentrating their attention to a large extent in the wards in which they were restricted the using of their municipal franchises. Of course the ward system was confined only to the aldermanic election, but this is always the one that commands the greatest interest.

In the elections for the Water Commission and Board of Education, the voting was conducted on the general plan.

The Board of Education returns from all the polling places showed Ackerman, Eastwood, Fair and Morrison as the four candidates elected, Robinson being the fifth man in every division.

In the contest for the seat on the Water Commission, which was fought out between Mr. W. H. Hill and Mr. William Langford, Mr. Hill was, so to speak, the sitting member. In some respects an attack was made on the commission, possibly more directed to what it was alleged the Board had not done, rather than to penalise for sins of commission. It was regretful that two men so good, from the municipal point of view, as Mr. Hill and Mr. Langford, should have been the opponents. Mr. Langford believed that certain things should be righted, and said so, and he was fairly well supported. Mr. Hill was confident that he had nothing to apologize for, and his return by the handsome majority of 450 is an endorsation that any man might be proud of. He has been on the Board since it was formed nine years ago, and is thoroughly familiar with operations in connection with the system. He said he had done nothing to be ashamed of and that he cheerfully stood by his fellow commissioners in what had been done. He is receiving congratulations from

BONNER-WORTH AND THE GAS

Both the by-laws were cordially received by the electorate which showed its approval of the measure by giving them majorities at every polling place.

It is evident that the voting was carried on under able management on the part of the returning officers and the polling clerks. Most of the returns came in at a reasonably early hour and with only a couple of exceptions no changes were made in the totals of the votes cast in the various polling places.

Of the two aldermen elected in each ward the one polling the highest vote will serve a two year term, while the other will hold his office on the Council for only one year.

HOW THE VOTE WAS POLLED

SOUTH WARD.

Polling Sub. Div.—	1	2	3	4	5	Total.
Duncan	107	73	73	101	83	437
Buller	77	58	61	64	43	303
Hooper	77	54	61	45	39	276

CENTRE WARD.

Polling Sub. Div.—	6	7	8	9	Total.
Bradburn	67	109	96	69	341
Metheral	63	86	80	87	316
Phelan	33	68	65	29	195

EAST WARD.

Polling Sub. Div.—	20	21	22
Morgan	83	107	192	281
Anderson	64	81	91	235
O'Connell	60	50	74	184
Sedgwick	19	15	32	66

WEST WARD.

Poll. Sub. Div.	10	11	12	13	14	Total.
Brown	135	100	116	79	70	500
Edgar	101	102	122	77	64	466
Duffus	51	72	49	52	59	283

NORTH WARD.

Poll. Sub. Div.	15	16	17	18	19	Total.
Graham	109	105	77	73	94	458
Kerneghan	89	86	56	71	85	387
Davidson	47	27	48	33	51	206

THE NEW COUNCIL.

South Ward—Geo Duncan 2 years; W. Buller 1 year.
Centre Ward—W. H Bradburn 2 years; Jos. Metheral 1 yr
West Ward—Jas Brown 2 years; Jos. Edgar 1 year.
East Ward—H Morgan 2 years; J. C. Anderson 1 year.
North Ward—Jas. Graham 2 years; D. Kerneghan 1 yr.

Polling Sub Div. No.		Water Commissioners		Board of Education					By-laws
									Gas.		Bonner-Worth.
		Langford.	Hill	Ackerman	Eastwood.	Fair	Morrison.	Robinson.	For	Against.	For.	Against.
SOUTH WARD—
Whitreds	1.	82	65	31	43	34	30	43	115	35	85	17
Park St. Church	2.	41	57	29	27	29	17	22	75	25	51	19
Halpin's	3.	57	47	33	36	30	32	27	82	24	35	15
Spry's	4.	56	68	56	43	36	40	35	56	20	76	9
Murray's	5.	49	51	38	36	31	35	28	75	23	41	16
CENTRE WARD—
Mason's	6.	25	52	38	40	[illegible]	37	22	50	17	25	8
Council	7.	66	52	56	67	64	51	28	106	39	33	12
Howson's	8.	20	38	28	34	33	27	8	102	33	22	4
Walker's	9.	38	51	48	57	55	38	17	75	19	35	17
WEST WARD—
Matthews'	10.	67	96	81	80	70	62	36	120	31	72	32
Lillico's	11.	46	91	80	79	76	76	26	110	28	58	12
Begley's	12.	53	102	81	94	75	88	27	120	26	104	22
Routley's	13.	27	78	43	55	47	47	18	76	27	39	17
Lynch's	14.	54	51	38	44	33	44	13	59	27	45	27
NORTH WARD—
Lee's	15.	61	75	80	87	68	65	33	96	39	65	30
Cook's	16.	42	70	50	61	59	46	25	80	10	54	14
Mahoney's	17.	30	70	43	54	44	35	12	66	33	57	36
Hooper's	18.	30	57	51	58	57	50	20	82	17	41	19
Braund's	19.	52	79	65	81	60	63	35	93	34	69	44
EAST WARD—
Village Hall	20.	51	71	31	50	42	27	17	84	39	49	28
Hamilton's	21.	49	82	48	70	59	48	27	60	35	56	30
Coon's	22.	65	83	40	70	45	40	39	108	35	72	24

ON THE ELECTION

We are settled for another year. The ranks will close up and things go on much the same but the public eye will be on the municipal council that it walks carefully. For there will be critics who will admonish and find fault.

The result while in some respects a surprise was not unexpected. During the last month there has been an undercurrent of comment, growing out of recent business before the council. It was implied that certain of the aldermen who did not see eye to eye with others would be left at home. Despite the accepted fact that a member is elected on the ground of his service to the city at large, narrower interests do intervene.

The defeat of ex-Aldermen Duffus and Phelan is to be regretted. Both were useful and fairly experienced members. Mr. Duffus promised to develop into a valued member of the civic board, and his defeat is only another instance of how the ward system hands out to defeat a good man and to bring in those of inexperience. Experience counts in municipal governing. And as it counts in business the apprenticeship has to be served. Each has to win his spurs.

The council, as a whole, is distinctly weaker than last year. The valuable services of Aldermen Bradburn, Buller, Morgan, Meteral, Graham and Duncan have been wisely retained. Aldermen Anderson, Kerneghan, Edgar and Brown are fairly representative men and will bring good judgment to bear on the municipal problems. There are matters coming up to be dealt with, including the C.P.R. matter, sewage disposal and others.

It has been ascribed to one or more of the local societies that the influence of the membership should be considered as a factor in electing any candidate. That such should be the case is wholly wrong, and yesterday's vote says, if it says anything, that the people as a whole feel that they are competent to arrange matters without any direction or interference, designed to ensure the election of any candidate. Aldermen should be representative of the city at large and the city's interests.

Duty on Steel Rails.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—An order-in-council has been passed, now that a mill has been established in Canada, adapted and equipped for rerolling in substantial quantities rails used in railway tracks weighing not less than 56 lbs. per lineal yard, ordering that the customs duty, specified in item 388 of customs tariff, 1907, shall be abolished, and all such rails when imported shall be subject to such duty as otherwise provided in the customs tariff.

Five Children Burned to Death.

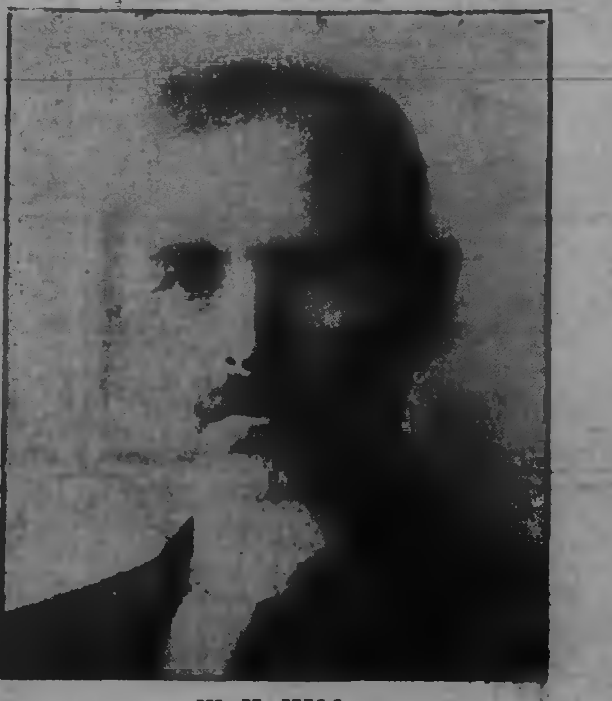
Potteville, Pa., Jan. 3.—The five children of John Markasvage lost their lives at Minersville, near here, early yesterday, in a fire which destroyed three houses in the foreign quarter of the town. The children ranged in age from two months to eight years. The origin of the fire is credited to a New Year's celebration of boarders in one of the houses, an upset oil lamp, it is said, starting the blaze.

Vancouver's Magistrate.

Vancouver, Jan. 3.—A. E. Bull, formerly of Toronto, Vancouver's magistrate for the past year, has resigned that office. The Provincial Government has appointed as his successor H. C. Shaw, K.C., who came to Vancouver from Charlottetown, P.E.I., in 1892.

Reciprocity Negotiations.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The Canadian Government has decided that Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Wm. Paterson shall proceed to Washington on Thursday to resume the reciprocity negotiations on Jan. 7.



W. H. HILL
Who was re-elected to Water Commission by big majority

AYLESWORTH A K.C.M.G.

Six New Knights Are Created In New Year Honors.

London, Jan. 3.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Among the list of New Year's honors conferred by the King, the names of several Canadians find a place. Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., Minister of Justice, is made a K.C.M.G. Included among the new knights bachelors are: Townshend, Chief Justice of Nova Scotia; William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway; Donald Mann, vice-president of the same road; George C. Gibbons, K.C., chairman of the Canadian section of the Waterways Commission, and Thomas Tate, lately chairman of the Railway Commission of Victoria. Lt.-Col. H. N. Smith, deputy sergeant-at-arms of the House of Commons at Ottawa, is made a C.M.G.

SIR ALLAN B. AYLESWORTH.

Lord Balfour of Burleigh, and Lord Robson are both honored with a K.C.M.G., the former for his connection with the royal commission which enquired into trade with Canada and the West Indies, and the latter for his work on the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration.

The London Graphic, commenting on the honors conferred, says: "Public opinion will emphatically endorse this recognition of the patient and valuable work performed by both Robson and Aylesworth in a historical arbitration."

Sir Allan Aylesworth is always reserved when it is a matter of mention of himself. Last night he would not say much, but it was very evident that the token of the regard of the King for his services to the state is much appreciated by the Minister of Justice.

"I am gratified," he remarked. "Any man would be."

Naval Pay Roll Increased.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The following wages have been scheduled in the latest pay roll: Instrument allowance for bandmaster, 25 cents a day extra; band corporal, 15 cents; bandsmen, 10 cents; naval schoolmaster (to the petty officer acting as such), 15 cents a day.

The wages provided for shipwrights, carpenters, mates and chief carpenters' mates have not proved sufficiently high to obtain suitable candidates and the Minister of Marine has made a new schedule as follows: Shipwright $1.25, after three years $1.35, after six years $1.50; carpenters' mate $1.65, after three years $1.75, after six years $1.93; chief carpenters' mate $2, after three years $2.20.

The increases are from 25 to 40 cents a day.

In the Outside Service.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The Secretary of State will at the present session of Parliament introduce a bill placing all employes of the Printing Bureau in the outside service, on the same footing as letter carriers.

Superintendent Boardman, the chief foreman, Draper, Superintendent of Bindery Allen, and Loose Leaf Ledger Expert McCarthy of the Government Printing Bureau left last night for a three weeks' tour of the big American cities, to inspect all the largest printing establishments. The object of Hon. Charles Murphy, who has despatched the officials on the trip, is to secure pointers to put in effect the improvements recommended by the commission, which recently investigated and reported upon conditions at the Bureau. The party goes direct from Ottawa to Washington, where the U. S. Government Printing Bureau will be inspected.

M. AND M. MAKE OFFER

C.N.R. Men Would Undertake to Build H.B. Railway.

Conference Held With Hon. George P. Graham Is Said to Be With Regard to Hudson Bay Line—Mackenzie and Mann Are Gratified as Result of Their Elevation to the Knighthood.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann had a conference with Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways yesterday, and as a result Mr. Graham will submit to Parliament, it is understood, a proposal that the Canadian Northern Railway undertake the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway. It is expected that this will provoke a storm of disapproval from the west, whose farmers desire construction by the Government, ownership by the Government, and operation by the Government.

Sir William Mackenzie was the recipient of a large number of congratulatory messages from all over the country. He dined last evening with Admiral Kingsmill, and telegrams kept coming in while he was at the table.

"Of course I am pleased," he remarked when questioned as to how the knighthood affected him. "Nobody was more surprised than I was. I do not look upon it so much as an honor to myself, as a recognition of the work the railways are doing in Canada."

Sir Donald Mann, the other Canadian Northern Railway magnate, is also in the city. He also expressed surprise at the royal favor, but his remarks betokened extreme pleasure. The telegraph messengers were also kept busy in his case, and, as Sir Donald remarked, it won't be easy to reply to all the kind congratulations in a hurry.

TRAVERS ARRESTED.

He Is Again Put In Jail on a Further Charge.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—W. R. Travers is in jail on a second charge in connection with the Farmers' Bank. This time the indictment is for the alleged theft of $40,000 cash. Mr. Travers was arrested at ten o'clock on Saturday night. It looks as if still other charges are to be laid, and it will therefore, be impossible to get him released until the trials are over. There is a determined move to enforce the law in all its ramifications in its relation to the failure of the bank.

The first charge was for making false returns to the Government regarding the bank's condition. The second charge is for taking the bank's funds.

The transaction in question is said to have taken place on 28th January, 1910, when Mr. Travers advanced to himself $40,000 of the bank's money, assigning as collateral security therefor a grist of mining stock, of nominal value, which is said now to be practically worthless.

Other improper transactions are reported to have been uncovered. Suits have also been instituted to recover money that was paid to depositors on the last day of business. These depositors were, on the terms of the deposit, bound to give notice of the intended withdrawal of the funds. This was not done. The authorities claim it was a wrongful use of the resources of the bank, and that payment should have been refused by the manager or his officers when the demand for payment was made.

The investigation of the bank's affairs is going on apace and every day brings a blacker outlook. A number of the shareholders have petitioned the Government at Ottawa to appoint a commissioner to make an investigation of the whole affairs and workings of the bank and its management.

COMPARATIVELY SMALL VOTE WAS POLLED THIS YEAR

Fell Nearly a Thousand Short of Last Year it is Estimated—Local Option Contest and Mayoralty Campaign Responsible for Big Vote in 1910.

The vote this year wasn't as large by many hundreds of ballots as it was last year.

The reason for this is obvious. Last year there was a large interest in the mayoralty campaign and a local option able voters for both sides were marshalled for the local option contest through the splendid organization of both the "pros" and 'antis."

This year it was different. There weren't so many special attractions to draw the indifferent voter, under ordinary circumstances, to the polls. It is a well-known fact that the vote is always lighter when there is no mayoralty campaign and a local option issue draws the ballots like a magnet does pins.

No official compilation of the total vote for the alderman has been made but it seems reasonably safe to assume, that with possibly a few exceptions, all those who voted for alderman marked a ballot for either Messrs. Hill or Langford, the candidates for the water commission. The total vote in the water commission contest was 2,587, whereas last year the vote in the mayoralty contest totalled 3,545. This makes a difference of 958, which indicates a big falling off in this year's voting.

It is an interesting but not an especially significant fact that the Bonner-Worth by-law didn't get the three-fifths vote of those who were eligible to mark their ballots for or against the by-law. The majority in favor of the measure was a very large one, however, and the council in submitting its request for a bill to the Legislature made application for the necessary legislation to carry the by-law into effect if the expression of opinion by the voters justified it even though the requirements of the three-fifths clause weren't met.

The Review was able to give all the returns last night with the exception of the Board of Education and by-laws results in polling division 9 and the vote on the natural gas by-law in No. 8. These weren't known until the official count was made at the city clerk's office to-day, the ballot boxes having been left at the city buildings without the returning officers making the complete returns.

City Clerk Armstrong employed excellent system in connection with the registration of the returns and greatly facilitated the work of the newspaper men in making quick announcement of the results to their offices where they were in turn bulletined for the benefit of the public.

THE TOTALS

The following are the official totals:—

FOR COUNCIL.

Brown	502
Edgar	469
Duncan	437
Graham	458
Kerneghan	387
Bradburn	341
Metheral	316
Buller	303
Morgan	283
Duffus	276
Hooper	276
Anderson	237
Davidson	207
Phelan	190
O'Connell	184
Sedgwick	66

FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Eastwood	1267
Ackerman	1105
Fair	1088
Morrison	1002
Robinson	560

BONER-WORTH BY-LAW.

For	1079
Against	421
Majority	658

GAS BY-LAW.

For	1890
Against	[illegible]
Majority	1268

THE MAYORS FOR 1911

Elections in Ontario Occasion Some Hot Contests.

Toronto Returns Mayor Geary By the Largest Majority in History of the City—Hamilton Elects Mr. Lees By a Big Plurality and Makes Several Changes in Its Administration—The Successful Ones.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—The results of the Toronto elections yesterday were a triumph for the sound sense of the ratepayers, who showed a discrimination alike in the municipal field and in the contests for the Board of Education that should make for a year of good civic and educational administration.

The return of Mayor Geary for a second term was never in doubt, but a majority of more than twenty-seven thousand votes over both his opponents is a striking proof that the citizens regard the choice of chief magistrate as a serious business.

The controllers for the coming year are: Hocken, Spence, Ward and Church.

In Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 3.—Ex-Ald. George H. Lees was elected Mayor of Hamilton yesterday by a majority of 504 over Controller Allan. The power question was the principal issue. License reduction also played an important part. The council was cut down from 25 members to 21, including the Mayor and Board of Control. Twelve of the new Council are pledged to sign a co-operative contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission. Ten members ran on the temperance ticket. Five bylaws were submitted and all carried. One provides for a reduction of Council to introduce legislation in favor of compensation of those who lose licenses, another is for the purchase of a site for a new hospital, another for a detention home and a fifth was to raise $125,000 for good roads.

Mayors Elected, Cities—H. W. Akerman, Belleville; R. A. Bastall, Brantford; George Thorp, Guelph; Geo. H. Lees, Hamilton; Chris. J. Graham, Kingston; J. H. A. Beattie, London; Oliver F. Dores, Niagara Falls; Mayor Hopewell, Ottawa; W. G. Morrow, Peterboro; Col. Ray, Port Arthur; J. M. McBride, St. Catharines; W. H. Munroe, Sault Ste. Marie; Dr. Fred Guest, St. Thomas; John Brown, Stratford; W. J. Hanna, Windsor; James S. Scarff, Woodstock.

Mayors Elected, Towns—J. H. Mitchell, Alliston; Robert Atkin, Amherstburg; T. Beecroft, Barrie; P. Hutchinson; W. R. Greenwood, Blenheim; W. H. Schmalz, Berlin; Thos. Haller, Bothwell; John B. Mitchell, Bowmanville; Jacob Kyler, Clinton; Mayor Krugg, Chesley; W. J. Doxsee, Campbellford; H. A. Currie, Collingwood; R. T. Wilson, Dundas; D. C. McKenzie, Fort Francis; G. D. Forbes, Hespeler; N. R. Green, Haileybury; Mayor Camaban, Huntsville; Dr. A. McKay, Ingersoll; D. H. Currie, Kenora; W. A. Smith, Kingsville; Nelson Hay, Listowel; R. M. Beall, Lindsay; J. J Cook, Mount Forest; Frank Campbell, Mitchell; A. S. Kimmerley, Napanee; G. A. McGaughey, North Bay; W. S. Frost, Orillia; Geo. Hillmer, Oakville; E. Lemon, Owen Sound; W. E. N. Sinclair, Oshawa; Capt. F. F. Hall, Perth; A. R. Mulholland, Port Hope; M. Burns, Palmerston; John A. Johnson, Parry Sound; Dr. W. A. Henderson, Sarnia; D. J. McCallum, Seaforth; Mayor Breault, Sandwich; Mayor Lyons, Steelton; A. Fisher, Smith's Falls; A. T. Sibler, Simcoe; J. Funnell, Trenton; S. McCallum, Thornbury; J. Thompson, Tillsonburg; A. McCulloch, Thorold; Mayor Downey, Whitby; C. A. Saulvey, Wallaceburg; G. W. Sutherland, Welland; Walter Chater, Walkerville; George Spotten, Wingham; L. Graybill, Waterloo.

Expect to Arrest a Hundred.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 3.—As a result of New Year's Eve riot here, thirteen young men have been arrested and are locked up in the police station. The following charge is entered on the police books after their names: "Riotiously and tumultuously disturbing the public peace and unlawfully and with force stopping street cars, breaking down arc lamps, breaking windows, pulling down signs, breaking car windows, taking fenders off cars, and assaulting the police."

All the prisoners are well connected, one being the son of an alderman. The police say they expect to arrest a hundred, but many of those wanted are said to have left town.

A Costly Game.

Paris, Jan. 3.—Edmond Thery, the French economist, figures that the maintenance of Europe's armed peace footing in the last twenty-five years cost one hundred and forty-five billion francs, approximately twenty-nine billion, which involve an increase in the public debt of the European states of from one hundred and five to one hundred and fifty-one billions of francs, and constantly excluded from productive industry 195,000 officers and 3,800,000 men.

Thirty new senators are to be chosen by the coming sessions of state legislatures.

The First Spiritualist Society of New York, will build a temple costing $500,000.

A Jersey Central Railway fireman shot the Newark, N.J., station master and himself.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, JAN. 3, 1911.

THE ELECTION

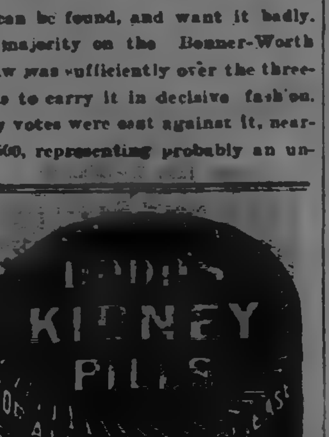
The results of the voting yesterday in this city furnished some surprises to the majority of the citizens, six of the aldermen of 1910, being returned, and four new men. It was not to be expected that everyone of the former aldermen would be again asked to represent the people in council, but the size of the vote which went to the newcomers in the field in some instances indicated a desire for some change, on the part of the electorate.

There were questions considered by the last council, which influenced the public in the voting, there can be no doubt, but the voting on this consideration appeared to be quite general, and not confined to any one quarter, or any one set of people. That the city should lose the services of some members of the 1910 council who were broadly experienced municipal men is to be regretted, for the sake of efficiency in municipal service, but it is to be hoped that the new members will endeavor to make zeal and application fully take the place of tried experience.

The return to the ward system had undoubtedly an influence in the changes in voting. Men who had been easily elected in the at large system found it more difficult to get first or second in their own ward, while the ward system undoubtedly helped the new candidates, as in the case of James Brown in the west ward, who polled the highest vote of the day, though a new man. Some dissatisfaction was expressed by the citizens last night over the ward system, but to use the homely old expression, "there's no use crying over spilt milk."

It is now "up to" the new members of the council to prove themselves good representatives, worthy of the public which elected them. On them lies the responsibility of making the council of 1911, stronger or weaker than that of 1910. There will be many important questions to be considered, a C.P.R. railway proposition, paving, sewage disposal, etc. These questions will merit the closest attention, and widest discussion, and it is to be hoped will be satisfactorily settled.

The voting on the by-laws offers a study. Both were carried by good majorities, but the vote on the gas by-law exceeded all other votes in general weight and approval. The citizens evidently want natural gas, if it can be found, and want it badly. The majority on the Bonner-Worth by-law was sufficiently over the three-fifths to carry it in decisive fashion. Many votes were cast against it, nearly 500, representing probably an undercurrent of opposition to the principle of giving any concessions to, or in assisting in any way, a prospective industry. Peterborough has reason to congratulate itself that the great majority of its people take a common-sense view of the industrial situation, and supported business interests, and indirectly the welfare of all Peterborough in voting for the by-law. It is quite true that giving concessions continuously to one industry and another, grows very tiresome to the average citizen, who is apt to rise in revolt, but at the same time, under conditions as they exist in Ontario, it has to be done. It is much better to risk giving a little than to live in commercial and industrial stagnation. A city that doesn't grow and expand is retrograding, and we should all see to it that Peterborough never gets into that class. It is a matter for congratulation that the by-laws were carried so handsomely, although it will be necessary to have supplementary legislation in the Bonner-Worth case, as many of the votes for it were cast by those not qualified as property holders.



INTERNATIONAL RATES

The establishment of the International Railway Board, composed of members of the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States, and of the Dominion Railway Commission, will certainly be a good measure in facilitating commerce between the two countries. Under present conditions, a consignment sent from New York to Winnipeg must pay the United States rate to the border, and the Canadian rate from the border to destination. Instead of getting a through rate, the consignee paid two local rates, which is very much higher than such a through rate across the boundary. The saving to be made in the regulation of international traffic rates will be considerable.

There is one point to be considered however much this arrangement will benefit the mercantile interests. Will not the establishment of through international rates militate against the growth and development of purely Canadian traffic, and of the growth of Canadian sea-ports? When a shipper can ship goods via New York without paying two local rates, will he not choose that route, rather than Halifax or St. John's? Will not Portland be benefited by a large increase in tonnage, rather than the Canadian ports?

Canada desires to grow commercially, to build up a great through traffic, to have great sea-ports, and a merchant marine second to none. From many standpoints the new arrangement will facilitate business and be a great boon to shippers. But should there not be some method of discriminating against ocean traffic coming via New York, or Boston, or Portland, that should reach Canada by an all-red route?

INSANITY INCREASING

Alienists have been busy telling us that the world is going crazy. But we have been too busy to heed the warning. One in 279 people now is absolutely crazy—a lunatic, and the proportion of semi-lunatics is much larger. It is calculated that in two centuries half the world will be living in asylums and sanitariums.

Growing wild oats is a largely contributing cause. City people—those who race through life at high pressure—are much more liable to mental hysteria than the ordinary country resident, living in calm and rational style.

People work too hard (we agree with this) and live too fast, and there is a monotony of rush about living that is appalling in some of the big centres.

The alienists' advice to those who want to maintain their sanity is to "Cut out the use of alcohol; don't sow any wild oats; live in the country, if not all the time as much of the time as possible, and you will never go crazy."

EDITORIAL NOTES

And here is 1911. Tempus fugit!

We all have a Phelan for Harry in his defeat.

Having yet to win their spurs, the new aldermen will certainly dig in.

To give a new man the top-notch vote of the day as alderman is certainly a most generous invitation to new candidates for next election.

The majority given W. H. Hill as Water Commissioner indicates that the people have no great fault to find with the commission—and after all, it is the people who are the court of last resort, the judges first and final in public matters.

The deputy returning officer for No. 9 sub-division evidently got tired and went to sleep after counting the aldermanic returns, because the remainder of the voting at his place was not obtainable last night.

Henri Bourassa and Hon Rodolphe Lemieux, envoy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, are in Rome over the question of church support in the Quebec fight. It doesn't look pleasant to the average Canadian, who believes in Canada running her own affairs.

The Dominion Cabinet is reported to be strongly divided on the reciprocity issue. Instead of Hon. William Paterson accompanying Mr. Fielding to Washington, Sir Richard Cartwright is slated to go. This change indicates a disposition to make more concessions than originally contemplated—since Sir Richard is an ardent free trader.

Some religious enthusiast has had an immense sign placed on College street, Toronto, bearing the inscription "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life." This enthusiast evidently is acquainted with Toronto.

THE BELTED PLAID.

This Was the Original Dress of the Scottish Highlander.

The original dress of the highlander was the belted plaid. This was a piece of tartan cloth, two yards broad and four long, which was drawn around the waist in nicely adjusted folds and tightly buckled with a belt. The lower part came down to the knees in much the same manner as the modern kilt, while the upper part was drawn up and adjusted to the left shoulder, so that the right arm might be perfectly free. This upper part was the plaid, which was used as a covering for the shoulders and body in wet weather, and when the use of both arms was required it was fastened across the breast with a brooch, often curiously enriched. A brooch was also used to fasten the plaid on the left shoulder. To attire himself in the belted plaid required on the part of the highlander no small amount of dexterity. The usual way was to lay it on the floor and after carefully arranging the folds to lie down upon it and then buckle it on. The lower end was fastened at the right hip. The utility of such a dress in the highlands is obvious, for the plaid rendered the man indifferent to storms and prepared to pass a night in the open air in the most inclement weather, while the loose undergarment enabled him to wade rivers or ascend mountains with equal ease. It was thus peculiarly adapted to the warrior, the hunter and the shepherd.—London Mail.

SHE LOVED SNUFF.

Remarkable Will and Funeral of a Queer Englishwoman.

The will of Mrs. Margaret Thompson, which is preserved as a curiosity at Somerset House, England, is a tribute to the delights and consolations of snuff. The testatrix directed that in her coffin should be buried with her all her handkerchiefs and sufficient of the best Scotch snuff to cover her body. This she preferred to flowers, as "nothing could be more fragrant and so refreshing to me as that precious powder." Further, the six greatest snuff takers in the parish of St. James, Westminster, were to be her bearers. Six old maids, each bearing in her hand a box filled with the best Scotch snuff to take for their refreshment as they walked, were to bear the pall. Before the corpse the minister was to walk, carrying and partaking of a pound of snuff. At every twenty yards a handful of snuff was to be delivered to the bystanders, and at the door of the testatrix's house were to be placed two bushels of the same quality of snuff for gratuitous distribution. In order to insure the carrying out of her wishes the testatrix made the legacies given by the will dependent upon an exact and literal fulfillment of the conditions above named. In closing she bade all concerned to regard snuff as the grand cordial of nature.

Toned It Down.

"King Edward," said an English visitor in New York, "hated snobbishness. To show how ridiculous snobbishness was he used often to tell about an alphabet book of his childhood.

"This book had alliterative sentences arranged under each letter, thus:

"'Callous Caroline caned a cur cruelly.'

"'Henry hated the heat of heavy hats.'

"Under the letter V came the facetious sentence:

"'Villiam Vilkins viped his veskit.'

"But the young prince's snobbish tutors thought this sentence too vulgar and low for their charge and accordingly they substituted for it the more refined and genteel line:

"'Vincent Vining viewed a vacant villa.'"

Genius and Mediocrity.

Corneille did not speak correctly the language of which he was such a master. Descartes was silent in mixed society. Themistocles, when asked to play on a lute, said, "I cannot fiddle, but I can make a little village into a great city." Addison was unable to converse in company. Virgil was heavy colloquially. La Fontaine was coarse and stupid when surrounded by men. The Countess of Pembroke had been often heard to say of Chaucer that his silence was more agreeable to her than his conversation. Socrates, celebrated for his written orations, was so timid that he never ventured to speak in public. Dryden said that he was unfit for company. Hence it has been remarked, "Mediocrity can talk; it is for genius to observe."

THE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—Receipts of stock at the Union Stock Yards were 45 carloads, consisting of 611 cattle, 1407 hogs, 306 sheep and lambs, 18 calves and 19 horses.

Exporters.

E. L. Woodward bought for Swift & Co. 140 cattle for export to Liverpool, as follows: steers 59, averaging 1189 lbs. each, at an average of $5.95, or a range in price of $5.75 to $6.15; 81 heifers, 991 lbs. average weight, and $5.75 average price, or a range of $5.60 to $5.85; 1 bull of choice quality, 1980 lbs., at $5.25.

G. D. Campbell bought for Morris & Co. 40 export cattle, 1290 lbs. each, for Liverpool, at $5.90 average price.

Butchers.

Loads of good to choice butchers sold at $5.60 to $5.90; medium, $5.25 to $5.50; common, $4.80 to $5.15; cows, $3 to $5; bulls, $4 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

Ten milkers and springers sold at $40 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

Prices unchanged at $3 to $9 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Wesley Dunn quoted prices as follows: Ewes, $4.25 to $4.60 per cwt.; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $5.70 to $5.90 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices firmer at $6.35 for selects, fed and watered at the market, and $6.90 to drovers, for hogs, f.o.b., cars, at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 2.—Cattle—Receipts, 2500 head; fairly active; strong to 15c higher; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75; shipping, $5.85 to $6.25; butchers, $4.75 to $6.40; heifers, $4.50 to $6; cows, $2.75 to $5.25; bulls, $4 to $5.25; stockers and feeders, $4.25 to $5.35; stock heifers, $3.75 to $4.15; fresh cows and springers strong, $30 to $65.

Veals—Receipts, 700 head; active; 25c higher; 5c to 11c.

Hogs—Receipts, 13,000 head; active and 5c to 25c higher; heavy, $8.30 to $8.40; mixed, $8.25 to $8.50; yorkers, $8.45 to $8.60; pigs, $8.65 to $8.75; roughs, $7.25 to $7.50; stags, $5.75 to $6.50; dairies, $8.25 to $8.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 12,000 head; active; mixed sheep steady; others 10c to 25c higher; heavy lambs, $5 to $5.55; handy lambs, $6 to $6.65; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.25; wethers, $4 to $4.25; ewes, $3.75 to $4; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

Earl Grey Reviews Boys.

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—The boy scouts of various parts of Ontario and Quebec took part in a field day south of the city yesterday afternoon. About 150 scouts took part representing Peterboro, Montreal, Galt, Arnprior. They were divided into two forces, one which formed a circle a mile in diameter, and the other force tried to pierce it unobserved, to carry despatches in. Secretary Todd of Toronto, was the chief umpire, and the scouts successful in getting through the line were: Scout W. A. Smart of Westmount, (chief despatch); Etauffen, Moffatt, Fryer and Rutherford of Galt; E. S. Almon of Westmount; C. Ketchum, D. Poaps, Ellis Butler and G. Fellows, Ottawa.

After the contest, the boys had dinner in the open, and were later reviewed by Earl Grey, who regretted that he had not known of the field day sooner, as he would have been glad to entertain them at Rideau Hall in the afternoon. He spoke of the chivalry among the boys, as shown in respect for their elders, politeness for women, giving their seats to elders in the street cars, etc. He complimented the winners, and particularly referred to Peterboro, which had done so well in the dramatic competitions.

The annual New Year levee was held at the office of the Governor-General, Parliament Hill, and hundreds of citizens attended, as well as members of the Government, judges military, etc.

The Governor-General also called on the Governor-General's Body Guards at the officers' mess, where the usual receptions were held.

Epistle to Eastern Church.

Rome, Jan. 3.—The Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ, yesterday published a papal epistle to all Oriental churches, which aims at neutralizing the effect which the article recently written by Prince Maximilian of Saxony may have produced, and to explain which the prince a few days ago appeared before the Pope and Cardinal Merry del Val.

The epistle says that, since the separation of the Roman and Oriental churches in the ninth century, the Popes have always endeavored to heal the breach, harmful both to the east and west. It enumerates the six dogmas, which, according to Prince Maximilian's article, should be waived to facilitate the return of the Oriental to the Roman Church, demonstrating that this was impossible, as dogma is truth, and truth cannot be waived.

Town Recaptured.

Chihuahua, Jan. 3.—An official report last night states that the town of Batopilas, recently occupied by the revolutionists, was taken by 500 federals yesterday afternoon without casualties. The insurrection force was small and most of them, it is stated, were taken prisoners.

The report telegraphed a week ago that the insurrectors as a retaliatory measure recently executed ten prisoners, is confirmed by Americans arriving here. Volunteers from Casas Grandes, it is officially reported, have met and defeated the insurgent band under the leadership of a chief named Guerrero.

No Consistory Soon.

Rome, Jan. 3.—The Pope has accepted the resignation of Mgr. Branito di Belmonte Pignatelli as papal nuncio at Vienna. From this the inference is drawn that the holding of a consistory cannot be near, as otherwise the nuncio, who is one of those scheduled to be created a cardinal, would not have resigned. The conferment of the red hat would have meant his withdrawal from Vienna.

Barrie Hotelkeeper Dead.

Barrie, Jan. 3.—Wm. Kennedy, proprietor of one of Barrie's leading hotels, passed away Sunday. He was born at Trafalgar, in Halton County, and came to Barrie in 1861. Deceased was a member of the Masonic and Orange Orders, and is survived by a widow and two sons.

Six Persons Killed.

Ashland, Ky., Jan. 3.—Six persons were killed in a wreck on Mutter's Creek Railway near Van Lear, a few miles above Paintville, Ky., Sunday night.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, hands, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

ON TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27th, GOLD necklace set with pearls, between Fair's and Hall's stores on George St. Liberal reward for return to Review Office. 3d

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF, on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

Wanted

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m. or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 711 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY
Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers
GIVE US A CALL
If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.
AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.
291 George Street, Opposite Opera House

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell
JAY'S STORES
Phone 623. 390 Aylmer St Peterborough.

EAST CITY
COAL
And Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 98
All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.
$7.50 Per Ton for December
Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac
WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

LUMBER
And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships
ST. JOHN, N.B. and HALIFAX, N.S.
Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Feb. 10, Mar. 10
For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to
I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

CANADIAN PACIFIC
FLORIDA
CALIFORNIA, CUBA
FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO
You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect.
Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT
of the
Canadian Northern Ry. System
is prepared to obtain
FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario
If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.
Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
51 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

ORDER NOW
The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton
The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.
Hardwood $6.00 per cord. F[illegible] class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.
R. Hicks & Co
248 MURRAY STREET

Coal Results
We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.
¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?
¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.
$7.50 Per Ton
THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
Limited
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 281, 278, (Machine)—278.
134 Aylmer-St. Tel, Bell 302

COAL
THAT IS COAL
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON
Hardwood
First-Class. . . . Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London.
"Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 851, mach. 225
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S., Edinb.: M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 468—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
ROBT. RUDDY, K.C. J. H. BURNHAM, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
DANIEL O'CONNELL GEORGE N. GORDON

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro
Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 415 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. MONEY TO LOAN.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. MONEY TO LOAN at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. HALL, City Solicitor,
LOUIS M. HAYES, K.C. BASIL D. HALL

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. HALL, M.P. S. T. MEDD W. S. DAVIDSON

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. PECK F. D. KERR R. M. DENNISTOUN

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 373 Water Peterborough. Telephone No 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. BENNET E. L. GOODWILL

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
—on—
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

The TORONTO SAVINGS and LOAN COMPANY
Paid up Capital - - - $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - - - - - 650,000.00
Savings Department
3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.
Interest accrues from date of Deposit to date of withdrawal.
Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of Banking.
Security Afforded Depositors
Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1909 - - $2,120,201.18
Liabilities to the Public - - 1,368,771.88
Surplus - - - - $751,429.30
HEAD OFFICES:
437 George Street, Peterborough
Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Saturdays - 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
W. G. MORROW
Managing Direct

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call
328 GEORGE STREET

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

Miss Wayland's hesitation was so brief as almost to escape his notice. "Nobody who counts. Of course father has his predilections and insists upon engineering my affairs in the same way he would float a railroad enterprise, but you can imagine how romantic the result is."

"Who is the favored party?" the young man asked darkly.

"Really it isn't worth discussing. Do you remember when I offered to give it all up and go with you, Boyd?"

"I have never forgotten for an instant."

"You refused to allow it."

"Certainly! I had seen too much of your life, and my pride figured a bit also. But I am going to have you." He drew her to him tenderly. "You are going to be my wife." He repeated the words softly, reverently, "My wife!"

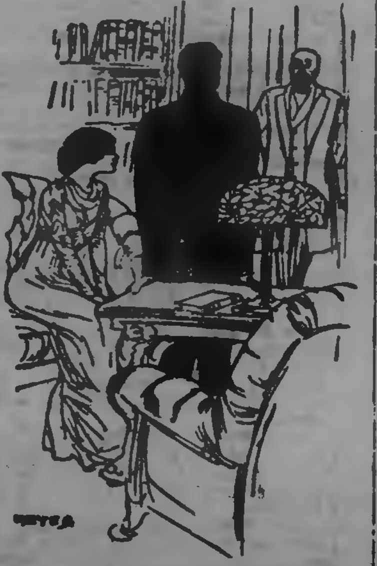
She gazed up at him with a puzzled little frown. "What bothers me is that you understand me and my life so well, while I scarcely understand you or yours at all. That seems to tell me that I am unsuited to you in some way. Why, when you told me that story of your hardships and all that I listened as if it were a play or a book, but really it didn't mean anything to me or stir me as it should. I can't understand my own failure to understand. Do you see what I am trying to convey?"

"Perfectly," he answered, releasing her with a little unadmitted sense of disappointment at his heart. "I suppose it is only ———

"I do hope you succeed this time," she continued. "I am growing deadly tired of things. Not tired of waiting for you, but I am getting to be old; I am, indeed. Why, at times I actually have an inclination to do fancy work—the unfailing symptom. Do you realize that I am twenty-five years old!"

The portieres parted, and Wayne Wayland stood in the opening.

He advanced to shake the young man's hand, his demeanor gracious and hearty. "Welcome home. You have been having quite a vacation, haven't you? Let's see, it's two years, isn't it?"



WAYNE WAYLAND STOOD IN THE OPENING.

"Three years!" Emerson replied.

"Impossible! Dear, dear, how time flies when one is busy!"

"Boyd has been telling me of his adventures," said Mildred. "He is going to dine with us."

"Have you come home to stay?" asked the father.

"No, sir. I shall return in a few weeks."

Mr. Wayland's cordiality seemed to increase in some subtle manner.

"Well, I am sorry you didn't make a fortune, my boy. But, rich or poor, your friends are delighted to see you, and we shall certainly keep you for dinner. I am interested in that northwestern country myself, and I want to ask some questions about it."

It was well on toward midnight when Emerson reached his hotel, and, being too full of his visit with Mildred to sleep, he strolled through the lobby and into the Pompeian room.

"Boyd Emerson! By Jove, I'm glad to see you!" He turned to face an anaemic youth whose colorless, gas bleached face was wrinkled into an expansive grin.

"Hello, Alton!"

They shook hands like old friends, while Alton Clyde continued to express his delight.

"So you've been roughing it out in Nebraska, eh?"

"Alaska."

"So it was. I always get those places mixed. Come over and have a drink. I want to talk to you. Funny thing. I just met a Klondiker myself this evening. Great chap too! I want you to know him; he's immense. His name is Froelich, but he isn't a Dutchman. Come on, you'll like him."

Clyde led his companion toward a table.

Mr. Froelich shoved back his chair and turned, exposing the face of "Fingerless" Fraser, quite expressionless save for the left eyelid, which drooped meaningly.

"'Froelich!'" said Boyd angrily; "good heavens, Fraser, have you picked another? I thought you were going to stick to 'Frobisher.'" Turning to Clyde, he observed: "This man's name is Fraser. One of his peculiarities is a dislike of proper names. He has never found one that suited him."

"I like 'Froelich' pretty well," observed the imperturbable Fraser. "It sounds distanguay and"—

"Don't believe anything he tells you," Boyd broke in, seating himself. "He is the most circumstantial liar in the northwest, and if you don't watch him every minute he will sell you a hydraulic mine or a rubber plantation or a sponge fishery. Underneath his eccentricities, however, he is really a pretty decent fellow, and I am indebted to him for my presence here tonight."

Alton Clyde made his astonishment evident by inquiring incredulously of Fraser, "Then that scheme of yours to establish a gas plant at Nome was all"—

"Certainly!" Emerson laughed. "The incandescent lamp travels about as fast as the prospector. Nome is lighted by electricity and has been for years."

"Is it?" demanded Fraser, with an assumption of the supremest surprise.

"You know as well as I do."

"H'm! I'd forgotten. Just the same, my plan was a good one. Gas is cheaper." He reached for his glass, at which Clyde's eye fell upon his missing fingers, and the young clubman exploded:

"Well, if that's the kind of pill you are, maybe you didn't lose your mitt in the Boer war either."

Emerson answered for the adventurer: "Hardly! He got blood poisoning from a hangnail."

Clyde began to laugh uncontrollably. "Really, that's great! Oh, that's lovely!"

Clyde said he was in poor health and wanted a chance to regain lost appetite and lost money.

"I'll give you a chance to recoup," said Boyd. "I am here to raise some money on a good proposition."

The younger man leaned forward eagerly. "If you say it's good that's all I want to know. I'll take a chance. I'm in for anything from pitch and toss to manslaughter."

"I'll tell you what it is and you can use your own judgment."

"I haven't a particle," Clyde confessed. "If I had I wouldn't need to invest. Go ahead, however; I'm all ears." The other outlined the plan. To Clyde, Boyd Emerson had ever represented the ultimate type of all that was most desirable, and time had not lessened his admiration.

"It looks as if there might be a jolly rumpus, doesn't it?" he questioned.

"It does."

"Then I've got to see it. I'll put in my share if you'll let me go along."

"You go! Why, you wouldn't like that sort of thing," said Emerson, considerably nonplused.

"Oh, wouldn't I? I'd eat it! It's just what I need. I'd revel in that outdoor life." He threw back his narrow shoulders. "I'm a regular scout when it comes to roughing it. Why, I camped in the Thousand Islands all one summer, and I've been deer hunting in the Adirondacks. We didn't get any—they were too far from the hotel. But I know all about mountain life."

"This is totally different," Boyd objected, but Clyde ran on, his enthusiasm growing as he tinted the mental picture to suit himself.

Clyde was lost in an exposition of his fitness as a fisherman when Fraser burst out:

"Hello! There's George."

CHAPTER VII.

EMERSON turned to behold Balt's huge figure all but blocking the distant door.

"Call him in," said Clyde quickly. "I want to meet him. He looks just my sort." And accordingly Emerson motioned to the fisherman. Seeing there was no help for it, Big George composed himself and ventured timidly across the portal.

"Gimme a lemonade, quick; I'm all het up," he ordered. "I can't get no footholt on these fancy floors, they're so dang slick."

"Mr. Clyde offers to put $10,000 into the deal if he can go to Kalvik with us and help run the cannery," explained Emerson.

George looked over the clubman carefully from his curly crown to his slender, high heeled shoes, then smiled broadly.

"It's up to Mr. Emerson. I'm willing if he is." Whereupon, vastly encouraged, Clyde proceeded to expatiate upon his own surpassing qualifications. While he was speaking a party of three men approached and seated themselves at an adjoining table. As they pulled out their chairs Big George chanced to glance in their direction, then put down his lemonade glass carefully.

"What's the matter?" Boyd demanded in a low tone, for the big fellow's face had suddenly gone livid, while his eyes had widened like those of an enraged animal.

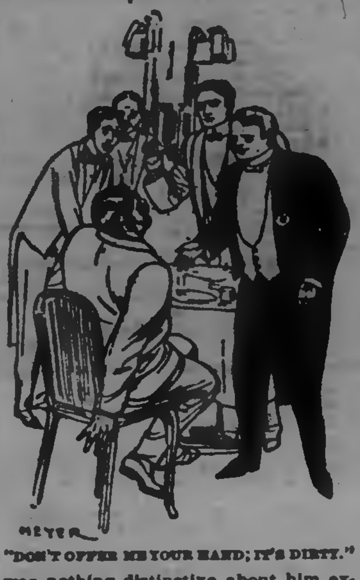
"That's him!" George growled. "That's the dirty hound!"

"Sit still!" commanded Emerson. "Don't make a fool of yourself," he cautioned.

"That's him!" repeated George, his eyes glaring redly. "That's Willis Marsh."

"Where?" Emerson whirled curiously, but there was no need for George to point out his enemy, for one of the strangers stood as if frozen, with his hand upon the back of his chair, an expression of the utmost astonishment upon his face. A smile was dying from his lips.

Boyd beheld a plump, thickset man of thirty-eight in evening dress. There was nothing distinctive about him except, perhaps, his hair, which was of a decided reddish hue. He was light of complexion; his mouth was small and of a rather womanish appearance, due to the full red lips. He was well groomed, well fed; in all ways he was a typical city bred man. Raising his brows in recognition, he nodded pleasantly to Balt, then, as if on second thought, excused himself to his companions and stepped toward the other group.



"DON'T OFFER ME YOUR HAND; IT'S DIRTY."

"How do you do, George? What in the name of goodness are you doing here? I hardly recognized you." Marsh's voice was round and musical, his accent eastern. With an assumption of heartiness, he extended a white gloved hand, which the big, uncouth man who faced him refused to take. The other three had risen. George seemed to be groping for a retort. Finally he blurted out hoarsely:

"Don't offer me your hand. It's dirty! It's got blood on it!"

"Nonsense!" Marsh smiled. "Let's be friends again, George. Bygones are bygones."

"You dirty rat!" breathed the fisherman.

"Very well. If you wish to be obstinate"—Willis Marsh shrugged his shoulders carelessly, although in his voice there was a metallic note—"I have nothing to say. Mr. Balt and I had a business misunderstanding," he said smoothly to Emerson, "which I hoped was forgotten. It didn't amount to much"—

At this Balt uttered a choking snarl and stepped forward, only to meet Boyd, who intercepted him.

"Behave yourself!" he ordered. "Don't make a scene." And before the big fellow could prevent it he had linked arms with him and swung him around. The movement was executed so naturally that none of the patrons of the cafe noticed it except perhaps as a preparation for departure. Marsh bowed civilly and returned to his seat. Alton Clyde clamored for enlightenment as to the reason for this eruption.

"That is the fellow, we will have to fight," Boyd explained. "He is the head of the cannery combination at Kalvik and a bitter enemy of George's."

Clyde spoke earnestly. "Well, that absolutely settles it as far as I am concerned. This is bound to end in a row."

"You mean you don't want to join us?"

"Don't want to! Why, I've just got to, that's all. The $10,000 is yours."

A month had elapsed when Emerson at last expressed to George the discouragement that had lain silently in both men's minds.

"You've played your string out, eh?"

"Absolutely. I've done everything except burglary, but I can't raise that $100,000. Times are hard, and I've bled my friends of every dollar they can spare."

"It's an awful big piece of money," Balt admitted, with a sigh.

"I never fully realized before how very large," Boyd said. "And yet without that amount the Seattle Bank won't back us for the remainder."

"Oh, it's no use to tackle the business on a small scale." Big George pondered. "We'd ought to be on the coast now. We're shy $25,000, eh?"

"Yes."

But the clouds were blown away a few days after when Alton Clyde threw down twenty-five $1,000 bills before Boyd—got from a mysterious source which he refused to name.

Emerson later met the leading suitor (aside from himself) for Mildred Wayland's hand, a personage whose existence he felt as a continued menace. He was visiting Mildred at her home.

Hearing voices outside the library, the young man asked hurriedly: "Give me some time alone with you, my lady. I must leave early."

There was time for no more, for Wayne Wayland entered, followed by another gentleman at the first sight of whom Emerson started, while his mind raced off into a dizzy whirl of incredulity. It could not be! It was too grotesque—too ridiculous! What prank of malicious fate was this? He turned his eyes to the door again to see if by any chance there were a third visitor, but there was not, and he was forced to respond to Mr. Wayland's greeting. The other man had meanwhile stepped directly to Mildred, as if he had eyes for no one else, and was bowing over her hand when her father spoke.

"Mr. Emerson, let me present you to Mr. Marsh. I believe you have never happened to meet here." Marsh turned as if reluctant to release the girl's hand, and not until his own was outstretched did he recognize the other.

The two mumbled the customary salutations.

"You two will get along famously," said Mr. Wayland. "Mr. Marsh is acquainted with your country, Boyd."

"Ah!" Marsh exclaimed quickly. "Are you an Alaskan, Mr. Emerson?"

"Indeed, he is so wedded to the country that he is going back tomorrow," Mildred offered.

Marsh's first look of challenge now changed to one of the liveliest interest, and Boyd imagined the fellow endeavoring to link him, through the affair at the restaurant, with the presence of Big George in Chicago.

"Yes," Boyd answered cautiously, "I am a typical Alaskan—disappointed, but not discouraged."

"What business?"

"Mining!"

"Oh!" indifferently.

"Boyd has something far better than mining now," began Mildred. "He was telling me about it as"—

"You interrupted us," interjected Emerson, panic stricken. "I didn't have time to explain the nature of my enterprise."

The girl was about to put in a disclaimer when he flashed a look at her which she could not help but heed. "I am very stupid about such things," she offered easily. "I would not have understood it, I am sure." To her father she continued, leaving what she felt to be dangerous ground, "I didn't look for you so early."

"We finished sooner than I expected," Mr. Wayland answered, "so I drove Willis to his hotel and waited for him to dress. I was afraid he might disappoint us if I let him out of my sight. My dear, I have effected a wonderful deal today," went on her father. "With the help of Mr. Marsh I closed the last details of a consolidation which has occupied me for many months."

"Another trust, I suppose."

"Certain people might call it that," chuckled the old man. "Willis was the inspiring genius and did most of the work; the credit is his."

"May I inquire the nature of this merger?" Emerson ventured.

"Certainly," replied Wayne Wayland. "There is no longer any secret about it. I have combined the packing industries of the Pacific coast under the name of the North American Packers' association."

Boyd felt himself growing numb.

"What do you mean by 'packing industries?'" asked Mildred.

"Canneries—salmon fisheries! We own 60 per cent of the plants of the entire coast, including Alaska. That's why I've been so keen about that north country, Boyd. You never guessed it, eh?"

"No, sir," Boyd stammered.

"Well, we control the supply, and we will regulate the market. We will allow only what competition we desire. It was a beautiful transaction."

Was he dreaming? Boyd wondered. His mouth was dry, but he managed to inquire:

"What about the independent canneries?"

Marsh laughed. "There is no sentiment in business! There are about 40 per cent too many plants to suit us. I believe I am capable of attending to them."

"Mr. Marsh is the general manager," Wayland explained. "With the market in our own hands and sufficient capital to operate at a loss for a year or two years, if necessary, I don't think the independent plants will cost us much."

Now for the first time Emerson realised the impropriety of his own present position. He was here in the Wayland home under false pretenses; they had bared to him secrets not rightly his with which he might arm himself. When this, too, became known to the financier he would regard him not only as a presumptuous enemy, but as a traitor. Boyd knew the old tyrant too well to doubt his course of action; thenceforth there would be war to the hilt.

The announcement of dinner interrupted his dismayed reflections, and he walked out in company with Mr. Wayland, who linked arms with him as if to afford Willis Marsh every advantage, fleeting though it might prove.

"He is a wonderful fellow," the old gentleman observed sotto voce, indicating Marsh—"one of the keenest business men I ever met."

"Yes?"

To be continued.

Most Canadians Have Catarrh

Our Changeable Climate is Responsible.

Where the atmosphere is damp, with sudden changes in temperature, almost everybody has Catarrh, in some form or other. The ordinary cold in the head inflames and weakens the membranes lining the nose and throat, and starts a discharge. The next cold is more easily caught, and soon the patient is never quite free of it.

As Catarrh develops the discharge increases—drops into the throat, especially at night—and takes on an offensive odor. Besides being exceedingly disagreeable, there is great danger of the disease extending to the lungs, stomach, or bowels.

Though it is very difficult to cure, Father Morriscy devised a combined internal and external treatment that has cured thousands. The Tablets tone up and invigorate the system, and assist Nature in throwing off the disease, while the salve, applied up the nostrils, clears out the discharge and heals the membranes. Combined treatment, 50c at your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 20

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S ITTLE IVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.

Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

La Grippe	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	85	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL

159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 14, Bell or Machine.

A Strenuous Life.

A remarkable career has been that of Captain Pentecost, commander of the Cunard liner Saxonia, who has retired from the company's service. He was born in Sydney, N.S.W., joined the Cunard in 1886, being appointed commander in 1904. While in Burma he was attached to the Irrawaddi flotilla. He holds the Brazilian captain's certificate, also a first master's certificate for the inland waters of Bermuda. Captain Pentecost's escapes from death have been as varied as his nautical career. On three occasions he fell from aloft while at sea, was washed overboard twice during gales, and once, off the Cape of Good Hope, he had a narrow escape from drowning. The damage to his body in these accidents included the breaking of all the lower ribs on his left side and the fracture of one of his arms three times. Notwithstanding these experiences, the captain, who is now in the prime of life, looks robust and fit for many more strenuous years.

Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage
In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE.
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

FANCY GOODS
AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST PHONE 228

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices

J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING

Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, in their stores. Contracts taken. We call for and deliver

TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 357

A Macey Sectional Bookcase
Would Make an Excellent Christmas Gift in Many Homes

The "MACEY" have points in quality that place them ahead of all other makes.

Absolutely NON-BINDING DOOR, Variety and Beauty of designs and moderate prices give them the lead. Call and see them and get prices.

MADE IN CANADA

Agents for Peterborough

437 George Street
CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE
'Phone Number 79

Greetings

We desire to extend to our many patrons the compliments of the season and to present our best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

NUGENT DRUG Co.

A. J. Johnston, Prop. A. A. Fowler, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on Water St., and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters

Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.

C. BLEWETT, 393 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1221.
House Phone 566

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mandel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Millinery Sale

MISS McGIVERIN

offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings

—At Cost—

The opportunity is one that should be availed of.

The values are surprisingly good.

No. 431 George-St
Phone 135.

THEATRICAL

"The Cat and the Fiddle"

The attraction at The Grand, next Saturday, matinee and evening, will be the musical extravaganza success, "The Cat and The Fiddle," which deals with magic, sprites, gnomes, elfs, fairies, and a story of the mythical isle of Eye. It is said to form a combination that pleases the most fastedious and reminds one of "The Babes in the Wood," "Mother Goose," and the present success of the century, "Little Nemo."

"The Cat and the Fiddle has many weird and novel stage characters: The Good Genii and her wonderful gigantic cat, Queen Circe, the false Queen, who with great Gobs rul a over the destinies of the mystic island and the earth beings who are spirited away to Elfland; all are said to contain many new ideas in the line of musical comedy.

The plot leads to and permits of a score or more of pretty ballet evolutions, some 20 musical numbers, and a bevy of pretty girls well selected and trained, while the costuming is of new design, strikingly handsome in many cases and decidedly weird, in others, in conformity with the locale of the scenes.

The presenting company numbbers forty or more people. The cast is headed by Mr. Harry B. Watson, a favorite comedian, and it is said he has scored heavily everywhere he has thus far been seen. He is ably assisted by those clever artists, Rose and Arthur Boylan, whose grotesque and acrobatic dancing del neat ons have made them famous, not only in this country, but in Europe and Australia. Lawrence Gotthard, an animal impersonator of no mean ability, is the "Cat." Geo. E. Hart, Marty Martz, J. O. Campbell, and Geo. E. Wakefield are all among the principals.

Seats on sale, Thursday morning.

ST. ELMO

The stirring narrative of "St. Elmo," by Augusta J. Evans Wilson, was presented twice at the Grand on New Year's, matinee and evening. Both performances were greeted by large houses. The performance of this famous drama calls for considerable ability to display to the best advantage the characters and force of the various participants in the story. The acting, taken as a whole, was fairly well carried out, especially the part of St. Elmo, taken by Norman Hilyard. Hedda Laurent as Edna Earl, was also good. The scenery was fairly true to the surroundings of the story. The audience appeared to be very well pleased with the performances generally.

Madrigal Club Will Resume Practice

The Conservatory Madrigal Club Club will resume practice on Tuesday, Jan. 7th in the Conservatory of Music Hall.

Adams'

Great Cash REALIZATION SALE

For 15 Days, Commencing

Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash

You Want the Goods

Store Opens Wednesday Morning at 9 o'Clock.
Don't let anything keep you away.
Bargains all over the store.

Harry Adams

CHRISTMAS TREE AND CONCERT AT CHARLOTTE SNREET S. S.

The largest crowd that ever gathered at an entertainment in the Methodist church in Hiawatha, was present at the annual Christmas tree fete on Thursday evening. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the village school and Sunday school.

Rev. Mr. Meering, the pastor, presided and the presents were distributed by Mr. Meering and Chief Cowie.

The programme was as follows:

Opening piece by the choir.
Chairman's address.
Recitation—Parker Anderson.
Chorus—Santa Claus—by the school.
Dialogue—The Day After Christmas.
Song—Put Me in My Little Bed.
Dialogue—What is in my Pocket—Kenneth Crowe, Oswald Crowe.
Recitation—What I Should Like To Do"—Stella Howand.
Chorus—Happy Greetings—by the school.
Recitation—"Not Feeling Well—Willie Muskrat.
Choir.
Duet—Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCue.
Recitation—Johnny and Gyp—Tommie Mather.
Song—Little Bertram McCue.
Song—Because I'm Married Now—Mr. Fred Simpson.
Dialogue—An Uncomfortable Predicament.
Song—You're Just the Boy for Me—Lucy Paudash, Gladys Howard.
Recitation—A little girl's song to her dollie—Stella Howard.
Duet—Stop making faces at me—Beryl Hawkins, Maggie Mathers.
Recitation—When my Paw was Alive.
Chorus—Jingle Bells—by the school.
Recitation—Little Madden Howard.
Song—Childhood.
Duet—Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCue.
Recitation—Katie's Arithmetic—Verna Crowe.
Song—Oh What's the Use—Mr. Fred Simpson.
Dialogue—Married by the new justice of the Peace.
Song—Mr. Bert McCue.
Choir.

COLLISION ON THE GRAND TRUNK NEAR CAMPBELLFORD

A collision occurred on the Grand Trunk on Sunday evening about 7.30, four miles west of Campbellford. It appears that three light engines with cabooses attached were following each other. One overtook the preceding engine, crashing into it with considerable force, smashing the draw-bar and breaking part of the van. The pilot of the engine that ran into the other was also broken. No one was injured and neither of the engines were derailed.

PROGRAM FOR WEEK OF PRAYER IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

The first evening's meeting in connection with the Week of Prayer, conducted annually by the Ministerial Association, were held in George St. Methodist church and in Knox Presbyterian church. Despite the holiday season and the elections, both meetings were very well attended, were helpful and inspiring, and if the interest increases as the week passes as in other years, it will be safe to say that the Week of Prayer with which the Christian people of Peterborough began 1911 will be the best yet.

At George St. church Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray St. Baptist church, led the devotional exercises, and the Rev. H. B. Trumpour, of All Saints' anglican, gave the address. The subject of the address was "The Personality of Duty to the Holy Spirit"—an introductory subject addressed to the head rather than the heart, as preparatory for the subjects to follow during the week.

The Holy Spirit was spoken of in symbol and type in the New Testament, as Christ was in the Old. The Holy Spirit is a Person—a Living Being, endowed with intelligence, will power and feeling. He is a divine person coupled by Christ with the Father and the Son in the baptismal fount, and as such worshipped by Christians. Christ Himself was led in all He did by the Holy Spirit.

This Divine Person came to earth to take the place left by Christ, and as Emmanuel, God with us, has been the source of enlightenment and power in the Christ and church since apostolic days.

The Knox church meeting was a splendid and successful one. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, rector of St. Luke's Anglican, and the address given by Rev. G. W. Henderson, of Charlotte St. Methodist. The subject was the same in both churches, and treated much in the same manner. The Holy Spirit had not been given the place of honor in the work of the various Christian bodies or in Christian literature that He should have received. There had been a measure of neglect. That He was a person was inferred from holy writ, where it was recorded He did such things as only a person could do—teach, possess knowledge, bear witness, convince the hearts of men, etc. He was not a mere influence or power. Divine person was the plain teaching of the Saviour Himself.

The meetings to-night are in Murray St. Baptist and All Saints' Anglican churches, and the subject will be "The Fruit of the Spirit."

THE FLOWER GIRLS

With the English Pantomine Trick Spectacle, the Merry Musical Extravaganza, "The Cat and the Fiddle" Grand Opera House, matinee and night, Saturday, January 7. Seats on sale Thursday morning. d1

NORMAL SCHOOL LECTURES

The Education Department has arranged for a course of lectures to be given in the Assembly Hall of the Peterborough Normal School as follows:

Jan. 20th, Dr. Burwash — Books, Their Uses and Abuses.

Jan. 27th, W. G. Craig — Lecture Recital on Macbeth.

Feb. 10th, Miss Warnock — Victorian poets, with interpretations from the works of Tennyson, Browning, Rosetti, and others.

Feb. 24th, Prof. Alexander — Poetic thought and expression.

March 10th, R. S. Neville — British influence on history.

The lectures will begin at 8.00 p.m. and will be open to the public. No special invitations will be issued.

NEW YEAR'S AT THE Y.M.C.A.

It was clearly demonstrated yesterday that once again the building at the corner of Murray and George Streets, has become the social centre for the young men of Peterboro. All day long the place was thronged with an animated crowd of young men, and at no time in the day was there a lack of interesting features to keep them busy.

The boys were kept thoroughly interested by their calendar exhibit on. Some of the finest calendars produced by the merchants of the city were hung on the walls of the Game room and in the afternoon were judged by a Committee of old boys. In the afternoon, Mr. Jack Laing, an old friend of the boys, superintended a Games Tournament which was highly interesting, both to the contestants and spectators.

In the Senior parlours and in the Reading Room, the members were entertained with selections from the Ambrogia. In the afternoon, a very instructive lecture on a trip through Canada was given by Mr. Gilchrist. This lecture was illustrated with beautiful lantern views, kindly loaned the Association by the C. P. R. After the lecture, the ladies' auxiliary served refreshments to about 150 young men and their friends.

All day long there was something doing in the gymnasium. In the morning there were a couple of fast games of basket-ball and after these the young men entered into a swimming contest in the Plunge Bath.

The evening, however, was the climax. The floor of the gymnasium was thronged with young men and boys when the programme commenced and the gallery was filled to its utmost capacity with friends and parents of the boys and young men. The General Secretary, H. M. Gilchrist announced the several numbers as they came, and seemed to be proud of the whole programme, which reflected credit upon the Association and particularly on Mr. Thompson, the energetic and popular physical director. Mr. John Laing officiated at the piano.

THE CANADIAN LADY
For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

268th Bargain Annex Event — Wednesday, January 4th, 1911

Bargain Annex

Registered.

SAMPLE TAILORED BLOUSES 69c

Big Wednesday Annex Leader
Worth up to $2.00 Each

A big case of 200 factory samples of the present season's latest ideas in the popular tailored Wash Blouses; in all white and colored stripes; all being factory samples are mostly slightly soiled, some have a trifling damage, but if freshly laundered and put in regular stock would sell at from $1.25 to $1.50; a great opportunity to pick up two or three of these natty waists at a small fraction of the regular value; a big Annex leader Wednesday........ 69c

(See Window)

LARGE FLANNELETTE BLANKETS 99c

Big Wednesday Annex Leader
Worth To-day $1.25

Bales upon bales—hundreds of pairs of Blankets have passed in one door of this store and out of the other to hundreds of satisfied customers this season. This one has been a general favorite, large size (56x76 inches,) and worth easily $1.25 pair. They come in white only with colored stripe borders. These make good sheets or blankets for any three-quarter or double bed. Our big Annex leader Wednesday, at per pair.............................. 99c

(See Window)

Men's $12 to $15 Odd Suits for Only $4.90

6 only Men's Odd Suits, have been in stock one year and must go; semi-ready tailored and labelled at $12 and $15; blue serges and Scotch tweeds; sizes only 33 to 37; will go quickly in the Annex Wednesday at each.. $4.90

SHORT ENDS OF TOWELLING

SHARP AT TWO O'CLOCK

Lengths, 3, 4, 5 and 6 yards, in Crash Roller Towelling; bought at a tremendously low price; being mill ends and bought in large quantities. This week in the Annex at two o'clock sharp; per end......... 29c

Watch for Announcement of our big Semi-Annual Lonely Sale of Men's Wear.

Cressman's

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY G. ROBINSON.

Mrs. Henry G. Robinson, aged 33, passed away yesterday morning at her home, Lansdowne street, North Monaghan, after an illness of about three months. She is survived by her husband and three children, two boys and a girl. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. May, of Monaghan, and one brother, Bert, of Preston, are also left to mourn her loss.

The deceased was a member of the St. James Methodist church. She was an active worker in the church circles and was president of the Junior League and Ladies' Aid Society.

The funeral will take place from the late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Service will be held at the house at two o'clock, Rev. J. G. officiating.

WILLIAM JOHN OLDFIELD.

The death occurred this morning at eight o'clock, of William John Oldfield, at 697 Water street. The deceased, who was thirty-seven years of age, had been suffering from heart trouble, but had been seriously ill for several days only. He was bookkeeper with Mr. J. T. Braund, having come to the city six months ago. He was born in East Whitby. Surviving are one brohter and five sisters. The brother is Thomas Oldfield, of Whitby, and the sisters, Miss Ida Oldfield, city; Mrs. Blemin, Maple Creek; Mrs. Johnston, Lindsay; Mrs. Evely, Oshawa, and Miss Oldfield, of Powassan.

Service will be held at the house Friday morning at 10.30 o'clock, Rev. Couch officiating, after which the remains will be taken on the noon train to Oshawa for interment in the Union cemetery.

MRS MARTHA ANDERSON.

At the advanced age of 72 years, Martha Anderson, relict of the late John Anderson, passed away last night at eleven o'clock, at 522 Rogers street. The deceased had suffered from paralysis. Her husband predeceased her about two years ago. The late Mrs. Anderson had lived in Peterborough for fifty years, and was a lifelong member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Surviving her are three sons and five daughters, who are Alderman-elect J. C. Anderson, city; Charles, of Toronto, and Bruce, of Maple Creek; Mrs. Decker, Oxbow, Sask.; Mrs. Davidson of Alameda, Sask.; Mrs. W. G. Robertson, city; and Misses Susan and Lucy at home.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 30 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery.

MRS ELIZABETH SIMMONS.

The death occurred on Saturday evening of Mrs. Elizabeth Simmons, at 470 Bolivar street. She leaves a large family to mourn her death, to whom the sympathy of a wide circle of friends is extended.

The funeral took place this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Charles Carpenter officiated at the funeral services.

EVANS INGRAM HAIR

Evans Ingram Hair, who has resided in Otonabee for many years, died on Saturday, Dec. 31, 1910, from heart trouble. The deceased was very highly esteemed, and a useful member of the community. His home was at lot 30 concession 10, from which place the funeral took place this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

Gold Lake Shoot

At a shoot held at Gold Lake yesterday, the following got birds—H. Blade, turkey; C. Smith, turkey and pigeon; Metcalf, turkey; P. Blade, turkey; Davidson two turkeys; Evans turkey; Dobson, turkey; Ringer, turkey.

SOME CHANGES AT THE BELL TELEPHONE

Operating and Commercial Departments Will be Under Separate Management—Will Benefit Increasing Business

Some changes of an important nature, affecting the local Bell Telephone Company's plant, have been contemplated for some time, and will now be put into operation, thereby greatly adding to the convenience and despatch in handling the increasing business. It will be divided into two parts, the commercial and the operating plant, each in charge of one man. Mr. A. A. Smith will be in sole charge of the operating end of the company, while Mr. F. W. Doan will supervise the commercial side. A competent man will be brought here, also to act under Mr. Doan's direction.

Mr. Harry Soanes will continue to be wire chief.

TO HEAR EVIDENCE

On Saturday, January 14 at two o'clock, the hearing of evidence against the manner of holding the last election of school trustees for S. S. No. 8, Otonabee, will be proceeded with.

A deputation of Protestant ratepayers called by County Inspector, Lees, at his office Saturday, and the above date was set apart for the hearing.

The Statute says regarding the teaching of religion in public schools that (sec. 8, sub.-sec. one) "No pupil in a public school shall be required to read or study in or from any religious book or to join in any exercise of devotion or religion objected to by his parent or guardian." And (sub.-sec. two) "Subject to the regulations, pupils shall be allowed to receive such religious instruction as their parents or guardians desire."

SERVING HIS TERM

Larry Kiloran, of Norwood, is now serving his four-month sentence in the county jail. He was brought here by Elias Williams of Havelock, who held the warrant for his arrest.

Kiloran could not be found when he was convicted of illegally disposing of liquor, and sentenced to jail some weeks ago.

Kris Kringle

St. John's Sunday School held their grand New Year festival tonight at 7.30 p.m. A splendid program will be presented concluding with "Sir Roger de Coverly."

Parents are asked to send along a cake and come along with the children for a real happy time.

No charge for scholars, teachers and parents.

Refreshments will be served.

Newest Styles —in— Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week.

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

565 George-st. Near McDonnel st
Machine Phone 133.

AUCTIONEER

James E. Cope

Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers

TO-NIGHT

Also Matinees, Wed. Jan. 4th at 2.30 and 4.00 p.m. Price 5c

We have the Finest Vaudeville and Best Moving Pictures ever brought to this City

MISS ALICE PLUMMER and MISS SHEA JO, in their Novelty Singing Act

ED. BOLTON, in His Great Head Balancing and Singing Act

First Class Orchestra. Two Shows nightly at 7.30 and 9 00 p.m.

Prices only 5c & 10c

GRAND OPERA HOUSE | Friday, Jan'y 6th

Jerome K. Jerome's Remarkable Play

"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK"

Entirely all-English company with IAN ROBERTSON.
This remarkable play ran:
12 Months in London, Eng.
7 Months in New York.
Is now approaching its 2000th performance.
Seat sale opens to-morrow morning. Prices 25c to $1.50

The JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE BEGINS TO-MORROW. SACRIFICE PRICES THROUGHOUT the STORE

A Clean-up in the Cloak Section

$5.95

A collection of Women's Coats in a variaty of styles and cloths, in black, green, navy or grey. Almost every size in the lot; were up to to $10.95. Choice $5.95

$9.95

Another collection of plain or diagonal cloth Coats, all this season's most approved styles, both high and low collars; were up to $15.00. Choice........................ $9.95

$10.95 Panama Dresses $7.95

One-piece Dresses made of fine Panama in navy, cardinal, new green or black, pleated skirt with braided panel front in overskirt effect. Waist in Gibson style style trimmed with silk soutache. Fit 16 and 18 years, also in 34, 36 and 38 sizes. (See window). Choice $7.95

$30.00 to $40.00 Pressed Plush Coats at $19.90

This is the coat that is in many instances replacing a fur coat. It has the appearance and it has the warmth. Is made of pressed silk plush in neat stripe design; has high military collar and is trimmed with silk braid and crochet silk buttons, 54 in. long and lined throughout with good quality farmer's satin. Regular $30 to $40. Choice $19.90

$1.25 Wrappers 98c

Women's well-made Wrappers in good quality wrapperette, in navy, brown or black, with small dots. Best $1.25 lines for...... .... 98c

Silko, Berlin Wools, Etc., 6 for 25c

You may have your choice of our stock of Brilliant Silko, Crochet Cotton, Zephyr and Berlin Wools in all colors; worth regularly up to 8c. (See window). For ten days ....6 for 25c

35c and 40c Apron Lawns 27c

Fine Victoria Lawns, 40 inches wide, trimmed with torchon or embroidery insertion and rows of tucking; reg. 35c and 40c lines. 10 days, a yard .. 27c

Knitted Mufflers at 25c

Neck Mufflers knitted from fine mercerized yarns and fastened with dome; white or sky; each.... 25c

Slipper Soles at 19c

Women's Slipper Soles in sizes 2 to 7. Some have separate wool insole. Your choice for 10 days of 35c lines for 29c, 25c lines for 19c

Fancy Neckwear

in silks, nets, fine val laces and chiffons, in popular styles, mostly light shadings. 50c, 75c and $1 lines in the lot. Your choice, 10 days 29c

Nottingham Lace Squares

30x30 inches, suitable for shams or table covers, scalloped edges; a 5 doz. lot of 40c values, while they last ....? 23c

Applique Shams

Linen Tray Cloths, Guest Towels, Laundry Bags, etc., in qualities up to 75c. Small quantities of each line only. Half price is lost sight of in this clearance and you can have your choice for 10 days at, ea. 29c

Linen Table Setts

(Cloth and dozen napkins) in assorted designs, cloths all 2½ yards long. These are $7.50 to $10 setts but being badly soiled, you may have your choice, for a sett.......................... .... $5.95

Fabric Gloves

in cashmeres or wools, black, whites and tans to choose from. Cashmere have dome fasteners. 50c qualities for 39c. 25c and 30c lines for 19c

Clearance Prices in the Millinery Section Offer Big Inducements to You

We're through with profits in the Millinery Section for this season and you can secure a trimmed Hat at half, or buy trimmings to renew your old Hat at small outlay and you will still have three months' wear.

TRIMMED HATS

in felts silks and velvets, neatly trimmed wings, mounts or ornaments, in popular shadings, worth up to $7. 10 days, your choice $2.95

HAT TRIMMINGS

in wings, fancy mounts sprays, flowers, and ornaments, in blacks and colors, worth up to 75c. 10 days, your choice............. 19c

TURNBULL'S

January Savings for the Home

85c Tapestry and Balmoral Carpets 49c

Tapestry Carpets in lengths sufficient to cover a good sized room, including some of our best grades. There is a big variety of designs to choose from. January clearance... 49c

$5.00 to $10.00 Axminster Carpet Samples for $1.59

43 only, samples of best grades Axminster Carpet, in lengths up to 2 yards long. These qualities retail at from $3.00 to $5.00 per yard. An End $1.59

25c Cushion Tops, Stamped, only 9c

All odd Cushion Tops left from the Christmas sale, stamped in colors on linen ground work, ready for working, in assorted floral patterns. Usual 25c, to clear at............... 9c

Covering Furniture Free

You Pay Only for Materials Used

This is the programme we have mapped out for this sale and should make one of the busiest 10 days for our Carpet, Upholstering and Curtain Departments. Hundreds of customers should take advantage of this generous offer. No charge for work means a big saving.

Making, Lining and Laying Carpets
Laying Linoleums and Mattings
Hanging of Window Shades
Making and Handing Arch Curtains

THIS OFFER GOOD ONLY DURING THIS SALE

New Piano Warerooms
— and —
Real Estate Office

TAYLOR & WOOD
360 WATER STREET

WE WISH YOU ALL THE

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

And embrace this, the first opportunity, of thanking the public for their generous patronage. Our policy of selling only the most reliable goods at the closest possible prices, based on good honest business principles, has received the most unqualified endorsation of the jewelry buyers of this rising city of Peterborough and vicinity this Christmas season. Again wishing you a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

F. S. Schneider & Co.

Our window for suggestions in New Year's Gifts.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED.

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

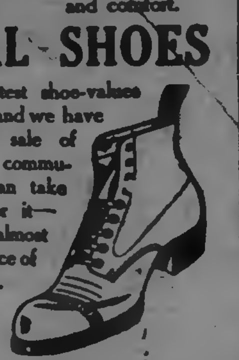
W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 626 170 Charlotte Street

Walk Right In

—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.



J. T. STENSON & SON
364 George Street.

Telegraphy

Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service

Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

STENOGRAPHY

We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING

Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES

Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.

Call, write or phone for particulars

Peterboro' Business College

(Founded 1885)

McKONE & BURNS - Principal
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Special for This Week

With every purchase amounting to $1 (not sugar) we will give free, one dust pan. W. Robuck, Water and Smith streets. dtf

School to Re-open

Miss D. J. Hall, 334 Charlotte street private school, will open Monday, Jan. 9th.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

An Unusual Case

An application for relief has been filed by an Italian, who with his wife and four children, came here about four months ago. He has been sick and now his wife is in the hospital. This is the first case in many years in which an Italian has applied for assistance.

COAL OIL BARGAIN

China Hall is selling the best Canadian Coal Oil at 12c and best Water White American Oil at 15c per gallon in 5 gallon lots, and 14c and 17c per single gallon, delivered to any part of the city.

3d3w Macfarlane Wilson

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc., catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

ABOUT LOAFERS

Rev. C. Carpenter Gives Some More Information of Interest

The usual meeting of men at the Princess Theatre, under the auspices of the League of Good Fellowship was held on Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. C. Carpenter continued his former address on loafers, under the title of "More Loafers." He mentioned that he had already dealt with eight classes of loafers, but he had some more on hand. A loafer was a man who was not making the best of his opportunities. First he would deal with the self-confessed loafer who stands in his own way. There are many men who ought to be making a mark in the world but something prevents.

It may possibly be drink, or it may be the drug habit, but assuredly there is something holding everyone of us back, and making self-confessed loafers of us. Each man knows his own difficulty. The same thing has held him back, it may be for twenty years. It depends upon every man to throw it off, and if he will not use every endeavour to get rid of a detrimental habit, he is nothing short of a fool.

The second is the "Micawber" loafer. Dickens by his caricature of "Micawber," has shown the folly of the man who sits down, waiting for something to turn up. This is what many "Micawbers" are doing to-day instead of going out in search of opportunities. Opportunities are wonderfully cramped in Peterboro just now by shortness of work, but in spite of all this there are opportunities, which we neglect that should be seized. Leave off looking for something to turn up from without, and look for opportunities of getting something from within yourself.

Third on the list is the "Civic" loafer. The citizen who was born tired. He does not care for his city, he does not care for the State, He cannot be bothered, it is not his business. He forfeits his privileges by sheer laziness. Anything in the state of the city, that militates against Christ, and his teachings, should stir our blood, and make us determined to fight it down. The Civic loafer is a traitor to his city, and if the "grafter" gets into power it is the civic loafer's own fault entirely.

Fourth comes the "Old Year" loafer. He says that he is a decent moral man, and things look pretty fair for the future. He thinks he has sufficient to go on with. He fails to grasp the fact, that old things have passed away, and that power is lost by non use. Things neglected, and allowed to slide, cannot be taken up again at will.

Fifth we have the "New Year," loafer. The man who cannot be bothered making resolutions, and says, "let the future bring forth its own fruits." They neglect the old proverb, "Never put off till to-morrow what can be done to-day. They refuse to look forward to the future because it may be unnecessary. The New Year loafer should sit down for five minutes, and think out what requires to be remedied in his life. Lives are ruined in many cases, by these loafers declining to take stock.

Sixth is the "Religious" loafer. He says religion is a very good sort of thing for the old woman, and it is good for the children to go to Sunday School. Then there are those who do go to church, but who know little of the "why's and "wherefores" of their belief. If a man cannot tell why he is a member of his Church, he is a religious loafer. The knowledge is there, if he is energetic enough to acquire it. Every man should find out for himself what to believe, and why he believes it, and if he is not satisfied that it is based upon Jesus Christ and his teaching he should quit or be classed as a loafer.

In conclusion, the Rev. gentleman said that on this first day of the New Year, he wished all prosperity to those present, and gave them a motto for 1911 — "Keep Pegging Away," and in this way only could they escape being loafers, but by adopting and acting up to this, they might take a step upwards and onwards, towards the throne of God. He then sang "Peg Away," and a discussion followed.

ANOTHER REQUEST TO RETURN BOOKS TO THE LIBRARY

After Saturday the reading room at the library building on Water street will be closed to facilitate the removal of the books to the new building. In order to aid the public as much as possible the librarian will be on hand in the mornings to receive books from borrowers.

The removal of these books will commence next week, and it is hoped that within ten days or a fortnight patrons of the library will be enabled to gain access to the shelves in the new library. Due notice will be given through the papers of the exact date of the opening.

Patrons of the library are requested to bear in mind that all books must be returned to the librarian before fresh ones can be given to them from the shelves. As there will doubtless be many ratepayers ready to give guarantee for those who cannot otherwise gain access to the shelves, it is respectfully impressed upon any such that any guarantee given by them will be invalid whilst they are shown to have in their possession books long overdue to the library.

HAVE SECURED NOTED SPEAKER

To Address Canadian Club on Jan. 10th

Another noted speaker will address the Canadian Club on Tuesday evening, January 10th, at the Hotel National. Hon. Clifford Sifton has been secured and his subject will be "The Conservation of Our National Resources. This address should be exceedingly interesting and instructive.

MOST POPULAR PLAY ON EARTH

The late King Edward saw it twice in a week, and sent his entire family. President Taft saw it, and enjoyed it hugely. The Bishop of Montreal pronounced it a splendid influence for good. The bishops of London and New York, and two thousand other clergy have all preached on it. Archdeacon Wilberforce and Sir Edward Russell have written of it pronouncing it one of the sanest and best plays ever. It has been witnessed by over two million people. It ran for twelve months in London, seven months in New York, eight weeks in Philadelphia, and is now packing Boston. It has played Toronto twice in six months. It holds every record of every theatre visited. It is now being played in Canada, America, Africa, England, Australia, New Zealand, France, Germany and Scandanavia. It will make a million dollars for Jerome the author, and half a million for Forbes Robertson. If this isn't success, then what is? "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." Grand Opera House, Friday, January 6th.

NORDHEIMER'S PIANO TUNER

Mr Frank Whitehouse, tuning representative from the Nordheimer Piano Co., Toronto is in town for a few days. Kindly phone or leave order with Mr. Duffus, on George St. Phone 255. 2d

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Harvey Ellis and Hannah Clark of Belmont township committed for trial by Magistrate Edmison on charges of bigamy appeared before His Honor Judge Huycke Saturday morning.

After hearing the evidence His Honor decided on a suspended sentence in each case.

Daniel Patterson was struck by a C. P.R. train and killed at the Soo.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

PROTESTANT HOME AND HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE

To The Editor of The Review.

Dear Sir: I see by your paper of the 30th that the City Council in applying for legislature regarding the Protestant Home and House of Providence, are asking that the Mayor and Chairman of the Finance Committee, be members of the Protestant Home Board, but no mention is made as to the Council appointing these same officers as representatives on the House of Providence Board. Now, if the Protestants are to be taxed for the maintenance of the Protestant Home, and the Roman Catholics are to be taxed for the maintenance of the House of Providence, why then should the Council have two of its members on the Board of one institution unless they are also on the other. If it happens that the Mayor and Chairman of the Finance Committee should some year both be members of the Roman Catholic Church, imagine them being members of the Board of management of the Protestant Home, and voting on some question in opposition to the other members. No Roman Catholic can be taxed to keep up the Protestant Home. Then why should they have the right to sit on the Board and direct its management.

CITIZEN.

ELECTION COMMENT

(To The Editor of The Review.)

The "no popery" cry raised by a few mistaken Protestants has resulted in defeating the three Catholic candidates in the municipal elections and returning the weakest Council we ever had. Had this cry not been raised the three tailenders elected for wards, No. two three and five, would have been elected to stay at home, except, perhaps in number two. The ward system too, (though I voted for it,) is also, in part, responsible for the weak boards. I find now by experience, that while ten are elected to represent us, we are only allowed to vote for two. I voted for the ward system, thinking that each ward ought to be represented, but that difficulty could be got over by letting each ward nominate as many candidates as it likes, but let them be voted for by all the voters in the city. Another thing has tended to weaken the Council. Strong men who were nominated, without permission, withdrew, thus leaving the field to the weak men; for instance Mr. Neill withdrew, as others did. No one should be allowed to nominate another without his permission, then no advantage could be taken of bogus nominations.

VOTER.

DRY INDIANS ATTENTION

A meeting of the eighty-six Indians of the No-Booze-At-Home tribe is to be held on January 5th at the Wigwam of the Chief, for the following purpose: election of officers. Appointing a committee to interview the Government in regard to our yearly allowance and to make arrangements for an excursion out of town.

Signed, Chief.
WA-WA-NE-GO.

Nothing Doing

There was nothing doing at the police court this morning. A local jag. who was to have appeared before His Worship, was not in the best of shape, and his case was further enlarged.

Assembly
No. 607

Manufactured by
—THE—
Mann Lumber Co.
PETERBOROUGH

All designs are perfect works of Art.

We have 150 patterns that you can choose from.

This is one of our numerous designs.

MARRIED

SEABROOK — FRENCH — At the bride's home, 285 Dalhousie Street, on Saturday, December 31st, by the Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, Mr. Arnold French, late of London, Eng., and Miss Elizabeth Esther Seabrook, daughter of Samuel Seabrook, of this city.

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 WATER-ST. PHONE NO. 590

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING

NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE

SEE THEM AT

THE ROY STUDIO

140½ Hunter Street.

Some Special Bargains AT ROUTLEY'S

Crockery and China Section

30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each.......	5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each........................	5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each	15c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice..................................	$7.48
10 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge....	3.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, kermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration..	3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decoration, choice....	3.85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleck. It will pay you to see them. Only per set	20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times our price, choice....................................	24c

Specials

54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of rolled gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at..........................	$2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at..	54c

We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at

TORONTO 282 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 379 George-st.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.
Paid Up Capital and Rest - - $6,595,00.

A JOINT ACCOUNT
may be opened in the
SAVINGS BANK DEPARTMENT
in the names of two persons either of whom can deposit or withdraw money.

Peterborough Branch, George Street
G. C. WAINWRIGHT Manager

SPORTING NEWS

ARGONAUTS TOOK OPENER FROM LOCALS BY 10-4

Visitors Notched Initial Counter and Played Safe Throughout—Poor Ice Had the Home Seven All to the Bad—Scored a Brace in Each Half

It is to be hoped that soft ice isn't dished up on future occasions when the Peterborough intermediates go out to make a land, or the scraps of the silver mug. The score last night with the senior Argonauts, of Toronto, was 4—2 at half time, while at the quitting period, the visitors had stretched the quartette into ten, while the home talent had to be content with another brace. It was a good beating, and should, and will, no doubt, be beneficial. Of course the wretched condition of the ice had a whole lot to do with the class of hockey. It also brought out a very strong point, and that is that the local boys will need hard ice this season, unless matched evenly in weight. They never had a chance to win from the Oarsmen, who were big and strong, particularly on their defence and wings.

What difference hard ice would have made last night is a problem. It's a cinch that the visiting seven would have taken the game just the same.

Comparing the two line-ups, they had more speed and shot better and oftener. Derocher was called upon to do a lot of work, much more so than Smith, and then, while quite a bunch of shots missed his nets they were more accurate than those of his own team mates at the other end.

Neither teams carried out any system to their play, for the simple reason that it was impossible to do so, on account of the ice.

The rubber was left by the way on numerous attempts at combination, and the results must have been very discouraging to the players of both camps, but particularly to the local crew, as their opponents relied for the greater part of the game on individual bursts, and in this they were successful.

However, the fans saw the boys in action, and, while the game went against them, they deserve another chance.

Where the chance comes is in the condition of the ice, and it being the first game. Outside of the goaltender, not one could show up to old mark.

For the Argos, Murphy at point and Kidd at cover were effective throughout the contest. Stewart, at left, too, was on the job most of the time, and Kennedy at rover, showed up well in the second half.

W. J. O'Brien handled the bell and both teams got an even break.

The line-ups were:—

Argonauts.		Peterborough.
Smith	Goal	Derocher
Murphy	Point	Bond
Kidd	Cover.	Ray
Kennedy	Rover	Campbell
Fleming	Centre.	Dobson
O'Flynn	Right	McMillan
Stewart	Left	Kelly

Timekeepers—Walley and Seymour.

THE SCORING.

Peterborough took the north goal and from the face off Argonauts began the assault, O'Flynn counting on a side shot in 2 1-2 minutes. Kidd went off to the timekeeper for getting Kelly. Both teams worked hard with the visitors dangerous. Derocher stopped several hot ones, and Ray was sent to the boards. The locals could get away for a short distance only. Murphy sailed down a loner, but Derocher blocked. After nine minutes' play Kelly took the puck down his wing, and after Bond, who was away from home, missed a chance to score, Dobson pushed the rubber in and the game was tied.

Argonauts 1, Peterborough 1.

Dobson and McMillan got away, but the latter couldn't pass inside the Argo defence. In one minute Stewart notched another for his team after having dodged Bond.

Kennedy counted number three on a three men combination play in 1 1-2 minutes.

Argonauts 3, Peterborough 1.

Kennedy went off for loafing. Kelly took the limelight here by shooting dead on the nets from centre ice. Smith saved. Dobson overskated on a nice chance; Stewart secured and shot, but Derocher blocked after ten minutes' hard playing. Pete Campbell gathered a tally, but Murphy went one better on a lone rush from his own position, with half a minute to play.

Argonauts 4, Peterborough 2.

SECOND HALF.

The breathing spell worked wonders with both teams and the players dug in again, the locals looking for a lever in the score. Murphy went through again, but outskated, and shot wild on recovering. In six minutes he repeated and beat Derocher.

Argonauts 5, Peterborough 2.

With Bond on the fence Kennedy found the netting in one minute, and in 2 1-2 Stewart took another.

Argonauts 7, Peterborough 2.

The visitors had it on the local bunch, who were all in. Dobson somewhat surprised the crowd by his numerous spurts, which, however, were wasted as it was impossible to carry, and play where [illegible] was made. Kennedy took number eight in a mix-up in 2 1-2 minutes. Murphy was benched and O'Flynn took a pain, McMillan going off with him.

In one minute Campbell scored his second goal and repeated in thirty seconds, making the figures stand:

Argonauts 8, Peterborough 4.

The Toronto septette counted two more before the gong was stopped, Fleming tallying on a pass from Kidd, and Stewart connecting with a roller. Final score:

Argonauts 10, Peterborough 4.

ANNUAL SCHEDULE BEGINS TONIGHT

First Draw of Five Rinks—Vice President Won Match, Finishing Four Up—Total Scores 164 and 160

Curlers turned out in force at the rink yesterday, the annual match between the Presidents and Vice-Presidents being on the programme. The honors went to the presidents last season, who finished 28 to the good. Yesterday the result went in favor of the vice-presidents, the totals being 14 and 18. At the close of the afternoon games, the vices were 24 up. The evening games, however, went against Pinchin and Brown, but Hicks finished 8 up, and saved the day.

The skips and scores:

Presidents. Vice-Presidents

Morning Games.

R. M. Waddell, 21; J. H. Connal, 8.
W. H. Morphet, 6; T. Brightman, 18.
T. F. Matthews, 8; Dr. Wightman, 16.
J. W. Fitzgerald, 8; T. Lockhart, 18.
J. E. A. Fitzgerald, 12; R. Neil, 10.

AFTERNOON GAMES.

Rev. Henderson, 8; D. Davidson, 14.
Dr. Greer, 16; J. H. Ferguson, 5.
A. Moore 17; W. M. Lang, 7.
W. G. Ferguson, 6; S. T. Medd, 12.
R. Sturgeon, 14; Dr. Eastwood, 9.
T. B. Yeates, 7; H. Foote, 22.

EVENING GAMES.

G. B. Stevenson, 16; R. Pinchin, 6.
W. G. Read, 7; R. Hicks, 15.
W. H. Taylor, 22; C. N. Brown, 4.

Total...... 160 Total...... 164

ANAUL SCHEDULE.

To-night the annual schedule opens, the draw being given below, both to-night and to-morrow evening. Skips are asked to be on hand with their rinks in order that no games be unnecessarily postponed:

Jan. 3—To-Night.

Waddell vs. Brown.
Connal vs. J. H. Ferguson.
W. G. Ferguson vs. Clarke.
Thompson vs. Davidson.
Lockhart vs. Matthews.

Jan. 4.

Brightman vs. Eastwood.
Foote vs. Merrow.
Stevenson vs. Dr. Greer.
Hicks vs. Wightman.
Rev. G. W. Henderson vs. Medd.

SIC EM.

The "Woodyard Kindling" of the Charlotte street Enclosure rises to remark as follows:

CURL, YE CURLERS, CURL.

The Mayor to-day will be good "to-morrow."

Neill needs a Shepherd and the "Cup" shoo fly.

Jim Connal is good on the "Tea."

Matthews is not always on the "hog."

David Harum is after your "hide."

Harry wins tankard cup by a "Foote."

Jack will give his opponents "Fits."

Rolly comes "Waddel-ing" home with the pup.

It's 'Pete Lang's "duty" and Yeates' "interest" to win the district cup.

"As a "whole-sailer" John A. is a good "skipper."

Cupid "via wireless" is trying to raise Loyle Bowes' ach ——— ———

Ald Hicks has "cold" feet.

Charles Nicholas is feeling "seedy" and his "corn" pinches.

JUNIORS WON 5-3

Were Behind at Half Time at Cobourg But Finished Strong

The juniors got away to a good start last night at Cobourg, when they defeated the seven of that burg by a 5—3 score, after being one behind at half time when the figures stood 3—2 for Cobourg.

The ice was soft, there being water upon it when play was commenced. The local septet were playing some game, particularly in the second half, when they put over a goose-egg on the lake shore aggregation. But Patterson had lots of shots to handle and made good between the posts.

Heffernan was the strong man for the locals. The goals were scored by Hall, Soul, Heffernan, Coughlin.

The line-up was:
Goal—Patterson.
Point—Reynolds.
Cover—Heffernan.
Rover—Coughlin.
Centre—Hall.
Right—Soul.
Left—Matthews.

Lindsay juniors come here Friday Friday night.

THE TURF

A horse deal was consummated recently whereby Ned Wilkes, by Arkland, passed from the ownership of Mr. W. A. Fanning to Geo. Beall, of Sunderland, the turn-over price being $1,000, a cheque for which a Warder man had a peep at this morning. It is not often that such fancy prices enter into a horse deal in this vicinity but in the present instance the trotter in question is a front bencher. Ned Wilks is by Arkland, he by the Great Guy Wilkes, which produced Linwood W., and he produced Sonoma Girl, 2.04 1-4. It will be seen by this that Ned Wilks and Sonoma Girl won the M. & M. stakes at Detroit two years ago, when he got her present mark of 2.04 1-4, and, if breeding counts, Ned Wilks promises to be as great a performer as Sonoma Girl. Mr. Fanning has figured in several big deals in fancy-bred horses, having sold Little Buck, 2.13 1-4, to R. R. Smith, of Toronto, for $800; Eventide to the MacKenzie Stable for $450; Evergood 2.21 1-4 to Mr. Archambault, for $550, and others.—Lindsay Warder.

GUTTERSON WON BOX OF CIGARS

At the Peterborough Bowling Alleys and Shooting Gallery yesterday C. Gutterson won a box of cigars, offered in the shooting competition. C. Pearson and he were tied at 26.

The other scores were:—R. Elliott, 26; N. Perry, 24; M. Drysdale, 22; R. Perry, 22; A. Ringer, 21; C. Smith, 20; W. Smith, 20; G. East, 17.

In the bowling competition for the weekly, G. Saunders captured the turkey and C. Dawson, the goose.

Special prizes will be given this week both for bowling and shooting.

Panama Commerce.

Washington, Jan. 3.—Commerce of the countries of North and South America and the necessity of their preparing for the opening of the Panama Canal will be discussed in their various phases at a Pan-American commercial conference to be held here during the week beginning Feb 13 next, under the auspices of the Pan-American Union.

The purpose of the conference, as announced by John Barrett, director general of the union, is to awaken the commercial organizations, business men and general public of North and South America to an appreciation of the possibilities of Panama commerce, and the necessity of getting ready for the commercial changes which will be brought about by the opening of the Panama Canal.

Additional Sporting News Page 8

THE FAMOUS NATIONAL DRINK—
"Salvador" BEER
not a stimulant but a tonic for all times and seasons—invaluable as an appetizer for delicate women—a nutritious and invigorating drink for every member of the family. "Salvador" tones up and strengthens the whole system. Try it at your meals.
Brewed and properly aged in wood by
REINHARDTS' OF TORONTO
2625
Local Agent—ALEX. ELLIOTT, Peterborough. Telephone 718.

OPTIONISTS ARE HIT

Proportion of Victories For Prohibition Is Small.

Fifty-Five Liquor Licenses Must Go In Ontario as a Result of Yesterday's Polling, But the Aggregate Result Is Disappointing to Temperance Workers — Eighteen Three-Fifths Fights Failed.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—Local option met with a reverse in thirty-seven municipalities reported last night, and lost in twenty-one.

Particularly did the sentiment against the curtailment of "privileges" show itself in the larger places. Guelph, the only city voting on the question, turned down the temperance issue, and of the thirteen towns interested, only two carried the measure.

The three-fifths clause saved five towns from the drought, namely, Barrie, Brampton, Huntsville, Napanee and Smith's Falls.

Alexandra and Bracebridge are to go dry on May 1. Beaverton, Newburgh, Paisley and West Lorne will be dry villages on May 1.

Four townships, according to returns, will lose their licenses. They are: Bostard, E. Camden, E. Flamboro and Wolford.

The three repeal contests in Creemore Village, Beverley Township and Goulburn Township, which have been under local option, failed, and it will necessarily be three years before another contest will be waged.

It is noteworthy from a local standpoint that the municipalities surrounding Toronto which there was a polling combat resulted in the victory for the license-holders.

One of the features of the local option campaign was the fight in Brampton to regain license. The required three-fifths was obtain a year ago, but was quashed on a technicality. The Government did not issue licenses, but a re-vote was taken yesterday, with a vote for the bylaw of 491 and 376 against.

Rev. B. H. Spence said of this result: Brampton carried local option. It became a no license town. By 115 majority the citizens declare a desire to stay no license. Will the Government force licenses back upon Brampton? It is one of these instances which show the utter iniquity of the three-fifths requirement.

A coincidence of the vote was an exact total of 133 both pro and con at Merrickville.

The failure by a handful of votes to add Barrie to the dry list evoked a declaration by Rev. B. H. Spence that it was "a scoundrelly law."

The wet majority in Guelph was a keen disappointment, as a majority was hoped for, even if not a full three-fifths. The vote was a clear defeat of the bylaw, 1,335 against to 1,210 for the bylaw.

All three repeal contests resulted in the municipalities concerned remaining dry.

A lull in the returns was enlivened by a long distance 'phone message from President Joseph, Ingersoll. Secretary Spence said that the president congratulated the workers on their efforts, and assured them that the alliance would immediately "pick up the fight just where they left off."

Carried—Beaverton, 2; Alexandria, 4; West Lorne, 3; Camden E., 7; Flamboro 1., 1; Paisley, 1; Lancaster, 2; Bracebridge, 5; Howick Township, 1; Vankleek Hill, 5; Newburg, 1; Loughborough, 6; Kenyon, 4; Thorold Township, 2; Wardsville, 1; Wolford, 1; Bastard, 2; Gwillemburg N., 2; Huntsville, 4; Burk's Falls, 3; Rodney, 3. Licenses gone, 55.

Sustained by failure to get three-fifths—Creemore, Beverly, Goulburn. Total, 3.

Failed to get three-fifths—Brampton, Erin, Napanee, Grand Valley, Sutton, Puslinch, Scarboro, Floss, Zorra W., Barrie, Guelph Township, Crowland, Albemarle, Newcastle, Smith's Falls, Port Rowan, Kitley, Humberstone. Total, 18.

Defeated on straight majority—Arnprior, Port Colborne, Rochester, Sherborne, Bothwell, Perth, Merrickville, Drayton, Guelph City, Amherstburg, Bertie, Thorold, Welland, Fort Erie, Mara, Stamford, Port Elgin, Willoughby. Total, 18.

C.P.R. Appointments.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—Circulars were issued by the Canadian Pacific yesterday announcing the appointment reported some days ago of J. F. Schwitzer, first assistant engineer of the company's western lines at Winnipeg, to the position of chief engineer of the system. The appointment of F. P. Butelius, general superintendent of the eastern division with headquarters at Montreal, was announced. Mr. Butelius is succeeded by J. G. Taylor, superintendent at Medicine Hat.

A live duck was found in the stomach of a mammoth cod taken at Nantucket, Mass.

VICTIMS OF UPPER AIR.

Moisant and Hoxsey Are Killed on Same Day.

New York, Jan. 3.—John B. Moisant and Arch. Hoxsey, aviators extraordinary, were killed Saturday. Both fell out of the treacherous air currents with their machines—neither from a vast height—and Moisant's remaining minutes of life were so few as to count as naught. Hoxsey was killed instantly.

Moisant met his death at 9.55 a.m., attempting to alight in a field a few miles from New Orleans; Hoxsey, who went into the air early in the afternoon at Los Angeles, at 2.12 p.m., was crushed into a lifeless mass in view of thousands who were watching the aviation tournament.

Thus, the last day of 1910, in bringing the total number of deaths of aviators to 35, capped the list with two of the most illustrious of those airmen who have been writing the history of aviation in the sky of two continents.

Both men met death in almost the same manner. Each machine was headed for the earth, and suddenly seemed to stop, hover in the air, then turn over onto its nose and dive headlong to the earth and to destruction.

Moisant's aeroplane was a Bleriot monoplane. In addition to the heavy engine in front of the main planes, he had fastened a tank holding 35 gallons of gasoline. Aviation experts believe a sudden puff of wind stopped his machine dead in the air and the heavy weight ahead dragged the light framework behind it, flipping the then useless rear elevator toward the zenith. From his position, partly back of the main planes, Moisant was flipped out, clear of the machine, and struck the ground on his head, breaking his neck. He died on a flat car on which he was being rushed to New Orleans.

Hoxsey likewise was returning from a journey into the clouds. He was within 500 feet of the earth, and cheers were going up to meet the conqueror of the higher air, when his machine seemed to stop, shudder, and whirl over and over to the ground. As in the morning's tragedy, the rear elevator, rendered useless when the momentum was gone, flipped around helpless to aid the fated machine. Hoxsey vainly endeavored to right his craft by warping the main planes and by use of the rudder, but before sufficient momentum was gained the frail structure crumpled upon the earth, the heavy engine being torn loose.

Fighting the Sugar Trust.

New York, Jan. 3.—Three corporations and one individual defendant filed appearances yesterday in the U. S. Circuit Court, in reply to the Government's suit to dissolve the so-called Sugar Trust, under the Sherman law. Two-score other defendant individuals and corporations, including the American Sugar Refining Co., have been granted extensions until Feb. 6 next for filing answers.

Those filing yesterday were the Menominee River Sugar Co. of Michigan, capitalized at $825,000; the Union Sugar Co. of California, capitalized at $1,500,000, and the Alameda Sugar Co. of California, capitalized at $750,000. John L. Howard of San Francisco, president of both the Union and Alameda companies, filed his answer as an individual defendant.

Governor Dix Sworn In.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 3.—John Alden Dix, a Democrat, was formally inaugurated governor of New York State at noon yesterday. He succeeds Governor Horace White, who became chief executive last October when Governor C. E. Hughes resigned to become an associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court.

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES
are new and entirely different from ordinary preparations. They accomplish their purpose without disturbing the rest of the system, and are therefore the ideal laxative for the nursing mother, as they do not affect the child.
Compounded, like all NA-DRU-CO preparations, by expert chemists. If unsatisfactory we'll gladly return your money.
25c. a box. If your druggist has not yet stocked them, send 25c. and we will mail them. 24
National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, - - - Montreal.

Overcome by Gas.

Dundas, Jan. 3.—Silas and Mrs. Fuller and Miss Walker, sister of Mrs. Fuller, were overcome by escaping coal gas Sunday. They retired early Saturday night, and on Sunday evening neighbors having noticed that no one came out of the house all day, notified relatives. The door was broken in and Mr. and Mrs. Fuller were brought to by Dr. Bertram after some effort. Miss Walker was still unconscious to-day and will likely die.

Barrie Man Dead.

Barrie, Jan. 3.—Henry Sewrey, formerly mayor of Barrie, and a prominent business man, passed away Saturday evening, aged 76 years. He had been a resident of Barrie for fifty-six years, and filled the offices of chief magistrate from 1881 to 1886 inclusive. For many years he was the proprietor of the Barrie foundry. He is survived by a widow and three sons.

Died at 102.

Winnipeg, Jan. 3.—Mrs. James Settee, widow of the late Rev. James Settee, an Anglican minister, died at Lac du Bonnet, where the Winnipeg City power plant is under construction, on Friday last. Her age is given as 102.

Two women were held up in daylight in Park avenue, near Sixty-ninth street New York.

A New York policeman picked up a $5 bill on the street, and before the day was over 15 persons had claimed it.

The contract for the new state prison in Dutchess County, N.Y., was awarded to the P. J. Carlin Construction Company of New York for $2,196,000.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Winter Tours
MEXICO, COLORADO, CALIFORNIA, AND PACIFIC COAST POINTS.
The Grand Trunk Railway System is the popular route from all points east through Canada via Chicago
FEATURES
Double Track, Fast Service, Finest Roadbed, Modern Equipment. Unexcelled Car Service. All Elements of Safety and Comfort.
TO THE SUNNY SOUTH
No more desirable route than via Grand Trunk and connecting lines.
VERY LOW RATES
Full particulars and tickets from —
W. BUNTON, CITY AGENT. F. SANDY, DEPOT AGENT

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS
Skates Sharpened and Repaired
MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1256

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.
AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $350,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH
10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.
Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.
APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.
FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY
MERSON & CO.
Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

The First Impression
Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in
The Stationery He Uses
If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to
THE REVIEW
for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are:—
Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.
Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—
REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R.F.D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

Brighten Up Your Home

You will naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
763 Water St. Phone 1140

COMMON SENSE VS. CHRISTMAS

A TRUE BILL

The essence of Christmas lies in the spirit of "peace on earth—good will toward men" that it emphasizes.

Suggested perhaps by the action of the wise man who bore gifts to the infant Saviour, the giving of presents has come to be the chief manner of manifesting the Christmas spirit.

All very well as long as back of the manifestation is the well spring of good will that makes the gift a blessing both to him that gives and to him that receives.

But this, we charge, is not the case in our Christmas of to-day in by far the large number of cases.

Is it not true that gifts are given for show?

Is it not true that gifts are given from a sense of duty?

Is it not true that gifts are often a burden to the giver and unwelcome to the recipient, because of a supposed obligation they carry with them?

Is it not true that gifts excite man's cupidity, stir up dissatisfaction, jealousy and ill feeling?

Is it not true that gift-giving ruins the nervous systems of hundreds of helpless employees driven to the verge of desperation by the Christmas rush.

Is it not true that Christmas gift giving has become commercialized and that the real spirit of generosity, sympathy, benevolence has become buried beneath a large number of baser motives.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.20 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.40 p.m
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m 12.30 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

5.36 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.
6.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.38 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

All France Buys Itself Poor in Bestowing Presents

In France New Year's day, or Le Jour d'Etrennes (literally, day of gifts), is the greatest day of the whole year. All France buys itself poor. The men are supposed to give bonbons and flowers to every lady upon whom they call, and Jan. 2 finds women sick from eating sweetmeats and men sick from spending more than they could well afford, but the average Frenchman believes in the old observation that it is "all in a lifetime," or, according to our vernacular, that "Christmas (New Year in France) comes but once a year."

The practice of making presents on New Year's day was originated by the Romans and from them taken up by the Britons.

When gloves were novelties and luxuries that every woman wanted, but not every one could afford, they were the customary gifts, often very handsome ones made of silk and decorated with gold traceries and precious stones. Occasionally a sum of money was given instead of the gloves, the donor designating the gift as "glove money." Queen Elizabeth was especially fond of stockings as a New Year's gift.

Sir Thomas More when lord chancellor once decided a case in favor of a lady, who, to show her gratitude, sent Sir Thomas a pair of gloves containing forty gold coins. Sir Thomas returned the gold with this note: "Mistress—Since it were against good manners to refuse your New Year's gift I am content to take your gloves, but as for the lining—I utterly refuse it."

When pins were first invented and brought into use about the beginning of the sixteenth century they were highly prized as New Year's gifts. They, too, were made of very valuable material—of gold and silver, as well as of the common metals. The money which had been expended in gloves was then made use of for pins, and money given for the purchase of the new style gift was called "pin money." The term has gradually enlarged its meaning, and now the modern girl speaks of her "pin money," but she buys all sorts of things with it and instead of receiving it from friends once a year obtains it from "papa" once a month or once a week.

A Plucky Motorman.

Fort William, Dec. 30.—Seven passengers on car No. 10 on the Montreal street extension car line had a very narrow escape from sudden death yesterday morning about seven. At the G.T.P. crossing over the Kaministiquia Power bridge, they, for some unexplained reason, stopped. Motorman C. Maycock, taking a lantern, tried to stop the oncoming train. Seeing that no attention was being given to his signals, he rushed back to the car and got the seven passengers off just in time before the pilot struck the car, throwing it from the tracks.

The engineer of the train said he could not see the signals, owing to steam, and was unaware that anything was wrong until he saw the headlight of the engine reflected in the car windows, when he applied the brakes and stopped his train in about one hundred yards past the crossing where the car was hit.

WASHINGTONIAN NEW YEAR.

Recipe For Reception a la George and Martha.

To hold a New Year's reception a la George and Martha Washington the drawing room should be arranged to look like that of a century ago. Let holly and mistletoe festoon doors and arches and be massed with pine and hemlock and other evergreens knotted with cherry colored ribbons.

The gowns and headdresses of the ladies invited to attend may be copied from old fashioned prints or reproductions of portraits of historic belles. The old brocades, the powdered hair and complexion patches will transform the appearance of modern beaus and belles in a manner truly wonderful. A few lines penciled on the face will aid in suggesting the appearance of the individual whose personality is to be represented. Every guest should be at liberty to select the character most pleasing to himself or herself. Of course this choice should preclude the characters of Washington and his wife, which belong to the host and the hostess. If they have a son and daughter, Jack and Nelly Custis should be represented by their son and daughter.

The minuet will, of course, be the first dance, and it should be led by the host and hostess in the costumes of Washington and his wife. If other than buffet refreshments are served, the host takes to the dining room the most distinguished lady present—that is, the one whose position in the society of the time represented was most important. The hostess takes the most distinguished gentleman to the dining room. The selection, of course, will be largely influenced by personal feeling.

In the center of the dining room table a handsome decoration representing a chime of bells bearing aloft a silver star and the figures denoting the date of the new year should be placed on a bank of green or of flowers. Ribbon streamers, red, white and blue, should extend to the edge of the supper table, where waxen cherubs, such as are made for decorations on the top of a Christmas tree, perch among the little cluster of flowers intended as souvenirs for guests. A knot of red, white and blue ribbon should tie the flowers intended for the ladies. If individual menus are prepared each may be given a personal significance by being inscribed with a verse relative to the flight of time. Any dictionary of quotations will supply the lines.

The dining room ought to be lighted entirely with wax candles in handsome candelabra.

Cookery Points

Pommes Parisennes.—Pare some firm cooking apples and cook them gently in a thin sirup of sugar and water to which several thin strips of lemon rind have been added. Remove the apples and set them aside to drain and cool. When required for table arrange them in a deep glass dish surrounded by abundance of broken lemon jelly piled between and around the fruit. Cover each apple with a cone of stiffly whipped sweetened cream. Serve very cold.

Apple Cutlets.—Make a stiff apple puree, sweeten to taste and stir in a little softened gelatin. Set aside to cool. Meanwhile cut some slices of sponge cake, trim them neatly and lay them on a flat dish. Moisten each with a little fruit juice, and when the apple puree is partly cool cover each sponge slice with a layer of puree, keeping the whole shapely. When quite cold arrange on lace paper doilies or in an ornamental dish. Ornament with cut angelica and crystallized violets.

Pommes Polaires.—Peel, core and quarter some good cooking apples. Cook them gently till tender and set aside till quite cold. Arrange them in a deep glass dish, cover with Devonshire cream, scatter chopped pistachio nuts over all and serve as cold as possible with water biscuits or sponge fingers.

Apple Salad.—Peel and corn some eating apples of good flavor. Cut the fruit into thin slices. Arrange these in a pretty glass dish, sprinkle among the fruit some finely chopped nuts and shredded pineapple, dust with caster sugar, moisten with a little fruit juice and serve very cold.

Good Things to Know.

Watercress mixed with two or three tablespoonfuls of minced crisply fried bacon and dressed with vinegar, salt and pepper makes a tasty supper salad.

Boiled rice dropped by tablespoonfuls around fried chicken or meat ragout makes a dainty border. But the rice should not be pressed down into a solid mass, as many cooks unthinkingly do it. It is as important to lovers of rice that it be light and fluffy as it is that bread should be of such a quality.

For a cheese rice custard for a substantial dish or an entree, mash a cupful of boiled rice to a paste, add an egg and a cupful of milk, season with a teaspoonful of butter, a tablespoonful or two of grated cheese, a little salt and pepper and turn into a baking dish or custard cups. Bake until the custard sets and the top is brown.

After Dinner Coffee.

Cafe noir is a strong decoction of black coffee which is served in small cups and is often partaken of unsweetened or merely flavored with a teaspoonful of brandy, or it may be sweetened with a spoonful of stiffly whipped cream on the top of each cup.

To produce Turkish coffee the coffee is put into its little metal pot in the proportion of two large tablespoonfuls of coffee, two lumps of sugar and half a pint of boiling water. Allow it to boil and bring it to a boil three times, after which pour it off into hot cups. This coffee should be served without milk or cream.

Bird's Nest Pudding.

Pare and core six large, sound apples, then put them into your well buttered biscuit pan; now mix together five heaping teaspoonfuls of flour, one scant teaspoonful of salt and one cupful of milk into a smooth paste, then add the yolks of three well beaten eggs; add the whites and another cup of milk; pour this over the apples, bake one hour; serve hot with hard sauce or sweetened whipped cream flavored with lemon extract.

Peanut Cookies.

Shell and rub off the inner skin of sufficient roasted peanuts to measure one pint when chopped fine. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and one cupful of sugar; add three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of milk, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, the chopped nuts and sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Roll out, cut in circles and bake in a moderate oven.

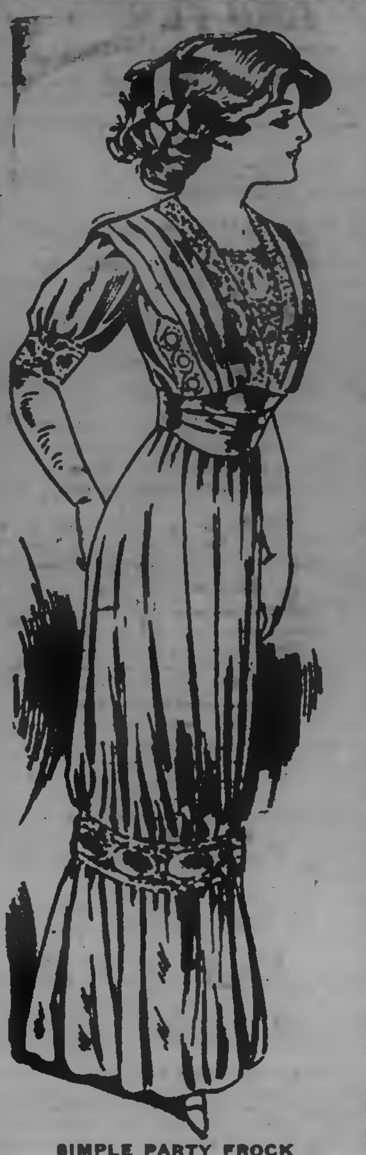
Cream of Celery Soup.

To two stalks of grated celery and one-half cupful of boiled rice add one pint of new milk and simmer all together gently until the celery and rice can be pressed through a sieve. Season to taste after adding one quart of hot milk thickened with a little cornstarch dissolved in cold water. Serve hot with toasted bread sticks.

To Whip Cream.

If the bowl of cream is kept in a pan of ice water during beating there will not be the embarrassment of seeing it come to butter when butter is the last thing that is wanted. The cream should be very cold before the work begins.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.



SIMPLE PARTY FROCK

Extremely simple and appropriate is a gown of this type for a young girl. Any of the soft, inexpensive silks will answer admirably. A pretty combination is a pale yellow silk, with white lace and girdle of light blue silk.

ENGLISH DISHES

Bonita Pudding

Quarter of a pound of castor sugar, two eggs, two lemons, six sheets of gelatine. Beat the sugar and yolks of the eggs together until quite smooth, then add the grated peel of one lemon and the juice of two. Put the gelatine to dissolve in a tablespoonful of hot water, and whilst it is dissolving, beat the whites of egg to a stiff froth. Now add the gelatine to the other ingredients, and lastly add the beaten whites. Whisk it well together until it begins to set, then pour into a glass dish and decorate with whipped cream, cherries, and angelica.

Currant Snow with Custard

Half a pound of loaf sugar, two whites of eggs, two ounces of best currants, three-quarters of an ounce of gelatine, one lemon. Rub the sugar on the lemon, and put it, with the currants, into a stewpan, with a pint of water and the gelatine. Stir until dissolved; then strain in the lemon-juice and let it get cool. Whisk the whites of eggs stiff, add this to the mixture, and continue to beat until it thickens. Then turn at once into a wetted jelly mould, and, when properly set, turn out into a dish. Prepare a custard made with half a pint of milk, two yolks of eggs, one ounce of sugar, and a little lemon-rind and serve with the currant shape when cold.

Tomato and Blackberry Jam

The blackberries should be picked clean, dry, and sound. Allow half a pound of tomatoes to every pound of blackberries, and one pound of coarse brown sugar to every one and a half pounds of fruit. Crush the tomatoes through a sieve coarse enough to allow the seeds to pass into the preserving-pan, add the blackberries and sugar, and simmer for an hour, keeping the mixture well-stirred. Put into pots when cold.

Spanish Steak

One pound of steak, one large Spanish onion, four tomatoes, three ounces of macaroni, one ounce of flour, one ounce of butter, one pint of stock or water, salt and pepper to taste. Put the butter in a saucepan and let it one hour. Dish up with meat in the centre, macaroni and tomatoes round. Pour the gravy over.

Lemon Solid

Half an ounce of gelatine, one pint of milk, half a pound of sugar, the rind of one lemon. Boil all together for a few minutes, strain, and cool a little; add three yolks of eggs (beaten), stirring all the time. When nearly cold, add juice of lemon. Stir frequently and pour into mould when just cool, broken up small, and simmer for and let it boil. Put back the steak, add onion, tomatoes cut in halves macaroni get quite hot; slice the onion and fry slice on to a dish, put a little milk into the baking-dish, and give it a shake over the fire, then pour over fish. Place the oysters round and serve.

Aberdeen Eggs

Three eggs, one dessertspoonful of chopped parsley, three rounds of toast, salt and pepper. Grease three dariole moulds with butter, and sprinkle the inside with parsley salt and pepper. Put an egg into each mould, without breaking the yolk, and place in a saucepan containing enough water to reach halfway up the moulds. Steam very gently for about six minutes; then turn out on the pieces of toast, and serve hot.

Making the world [illegible] will not make it cleaner.

MEMORIES OF GREAT MEN.

Some of the Late Goldwin Smith's Reminiscences of Celebrities.

In his short paper of reminiscences of "My Social Life in London," in the November Atlantic Monthly, the late Prof. Goldwin Smith manages to introduce his impressions of an astonishing number of the notable personages with whom he was more or less intimately associated. It was an epoch of his social life, he says, when, at the dinner table of Sir R. H. Inglis, he first met Macaulay. "Of all English talkers that I ever heard, Macaulay seemed to me the first in brilliancy." The historian's characteristic habit of monopolising the talk was, to Prof. Smith, "all exuberance, and not assumption or ostentation."

One could understand how he was a bore to other talkers. He evidently was to a great talker who sat next to me. He would seize upon a theme and dilate, with copious illustration, from a marvellous memory. Mention of the exclusive respect of the ritualists for churches in the Gothic style led to an enumeration of the fathers of the early church who had ministered in churches which were not Gothic. A question about the rules of equestrian statuary led to a copious dissertation proving that nature was the only rule. I have seen a whole evening party kept listening in a ring to an essay on final causes and the limits of their recognition, with numerous illustrations.

Prof. Smith recalls, too, the brilliant society which gathered at the salon of Lady Ashburton, for whom he had the greatest respect and admiration. Of Carlyle and Tennyson he writes:

Carlyle was always there. He was a great favorite of Lady Ashburton. His talk was like his books, but wilder; in truth, his pessimism was monotonous and sometimes wearisome, though he could not fail to say striking things, still less to use striking words. One summer evening we came out after dinner on the terrace. There was a bright moon, and for a few minutes we all looked at it in silence, each probably having his own thought. At last a voice was heard: "Puir auld creature!" Whether the moon was an object of pity in herself, or because she was doomed to look down on human affairs, I failed to divine. Tennyson was there. I adored the poet, and should have liked to be able to worship the man. His self-consciousness and sensitiveness to criticism were extreme. They asked Tennyson to read some of his own poetry aloud. This he was understood to be fond of doing. But to the general disappointment he refused. At his side was sitting Carlyle, who had been publishing his contempt of poetry. Immolating myself to the public cause, I went over to Carlyle and asked him to come for a walk in the grounds. While we were gone the reading came off.

Melton Prior's Brusqueness.

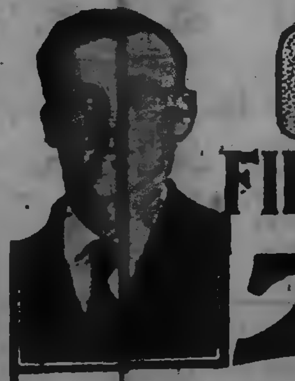
The late Melton Prior, for many years artist and war correspondent of The Illustrated London News, was well-known to many Canadian newspaper men. As was stated in the despatches after his death on Nov. 2, he had reported with pen and pencil twenty-four wars and revolutions, and had worked in almost every part of the habitable globe. In girdling the earth he frequently crossed Canada, east and west, his last journey having been made at the time of the Russo-Japanese war. In addition he had filled two important assignments in this country, which were fortunately missions of peace. The first of these was in 1878, when he came to Canada with the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise to sketch and write about the receptions accorded the first royal personage sent to Rideau Hall. When the present King, then the Duke of Cornwall and York, made his official visit to Canada in 1901 he came on a similar mission. As an artist he did not possess the highly finished style of the modern pictorial expert who seemingly tries to make his work look as photographic as possible. His pictures were sketchy, vivid and racy of the events depicted. His writing was like a series of verbal snap shots. Personally he was what is colloquially known as a "character." Probably there never was a man so absolutely free from the restraints which convention imposes on more timorous souls. He had deliberately cultivated a certain brusqueness of manner which he alternated with a Falstaffian joviality. If a man bored him he would tell him so. The writer has heard him address an ancient and fat-headed person who was pressing unwelcome attentions on him in this wise: "Condemn your soul, sir; you bore me, sir. Go away from me, sir." Yet withal he was the kindest hearted man alive, and felt it keenly if the object of his brusqueness took umbrage and failed to see that no offence was intended.

The New Wizard of the Soo.

William Charles Franz of the Soo—is a new name in Canada; and Franz at the Canadian Soo is a remarkable man. Recently a gathering of notable public men, both Canadian and English, did honor to Mr. Franz in a banquet at the city that was founded by Clergue the wizard; the city that now has 15,000 people, seven thousand of whom are employed in the consolidated works of the Lake Superior Corporation, financed by British capital.

Mr. Franz is the general manager of the works; which in their astonishing variety and range of output are among the marvels of modern Canada. The wizard era of F. H. Clergue who, looking for cheap water power, discovered the great plexus of raw materials that makes the Soo the most remarkable industrial small city in Canada, was followed by a series of lapses and reorganizations; later by a great fire. But the Soo works of 1910 are greater even than were dreamed of in the days of Clergue. Mr. Franz is the most powerful man in the Canadian Soo. When a youth he had a dog, a rooster and a gun; also a pocketful of rusty nails. He is now manager of a corporation whose property is valued at $35,000,000.

John Atkinson, of Snelton, was killed when his shotgun was accidentally discharged.



WHAT A C.P.R. FIREMAN OWES TO ZAM-BUK.

George H. Duffus of Robertson St., Fort William, a C. P. R. fireman, says: "The water gauge of my locomotive burst and scalded the whole left side of my face terribly. I had a box of Zam-Buk in my pocket, which I was using for a sore on my lip, and when I had recovered from the first shock of the accident, I produced the balm and had it applied freely to the scalded parts. I was suffering acute agony, but within a wonderfully short time Zam-Buk gave me ease. I was able to continue my journey and upon reaching home, I obtained more Zam-Buk and continued the treatment. Zam-Buk acted wonderfully well, and in a few days had the wound nicely healing. I don't know anything so fine as Zam-Buk as a healer of burns, scalds, cuts, and similar injuries, which workers are so liable to, and, in my opinion, a box of Zam-Buk should be kept handy in every worker's home."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

FREE BOX
Send this Coupon and a 1c stamp to Zam-Buk Co., and free trial box of Zam-Buk will be mailed you.

Do not stint on your soap. It is the poorest of economy. Bad pimples and ugly eruptions are frequently caused by the use of a soap that is too coarse for the skin texture.

As all skins are not similar, the test of a soap is not its cost or high praises from some of its users, but whether it agrees with you individually. Experiment, then stick to your choice. Frequent changing of soap is bad for a delicate skin.

With the right soap a few precautions are necessary. Do not use too big cakes nor leave it uncovered in a wet soap dish. It absorbs impurities that hurt the skin. The best soaps are harmful if not well rinsed. Note the brown marks left on linen if soap is not washed out and consider that skin is even more delicate.

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street, Open Evenings

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE
UNEXCELLED SERVICE

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to THE LENOX.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at THE LENOX The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R.F.D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

Brighten Up Your Home

You will naturally want your house to look at its best when your friends will be there to see it.

LET US PAPER AND PAINT THAT DRAWING, DINING OR BEDROOM

It will not cost much and you will be better satisfied. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

W. & A. KINGDON
762 Water St. Phone 1140

COMMON SENSE VS. CHRISTMAS

A TRUE BILL

The essence of Christmas lies in the spirit of "peace on earth—good will toward men" that it emphasizes.

Suggested perhaps by the action of the wise men who bore gifts to the infant Saviour, the giving of presents has come to be the chief manner of manifesting the Christmas spirit.

All very well as long as back of the manifestation is the well spring of good will that makes the gift a blessing both to him that gives and to him that receives.

But this, we charge, is not the case in our Christmas of to-day in by far the large number of cases.

Is it not true that gifts are given for show?

Is it not true that gifts are given from a sense of duty?

Is it not true that gifts are often a burden to the giver and unwelcome to the recipient, because of a supposed obligation they carry with them?

Is it not true that gifts excite man's cupidity, stir up dissatisfaction, jealousy and ill feeling?

Is it not true that gift-giving ruins the nervous systems of hundreds of helpless employees driven to the verge of desperation by the Christmas rush.

Is it not true that Christmas gift giving has become commercialized and that the real spirit of generosity, sympathy, benevolence has become buried beneath a large number of baser motives.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 3.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 8.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 5.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.36 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—
11.29 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—
5.26 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.26 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

All France Buys Itself Poor in Bestowing Presents

In France New Year's day, or Le Jour d'Etrennes (literally, day of gifts), is the greatest day of the whole year. All France buys itself poor. The men are supposed to give bonbons and flowers to every lady upon whom they call, and Jan. 2 finds women sick from eating sweetmeats and men sick from spending more than they could well afford, but the average Frenchman believes in the old observation that it is "all in a lifetime," or, according to our vernacular, that "Christmas (New Year in France) comes but once a year."

The practice of making presents on New Year's day was originated by the Romans and from them taken up by the Britons.

When gloves were novelties and luxuries that every woman wanted, but not every one could afford, they were the customary gifts, often very handsome ones made of silk and decorated with gold traceries and precious stones. Occasionally a sum of money was given instead of the gloves, the donor designating the gift as "glove money." Queen Elizabeth was especially fond of stockings as a New Year's gift.

Sir Thomas More when lord chancellor once decided a case in favor of a lady, who, to show her gratitude, sent Sir Thomas a pair of gloves containing forty gold coins. Sir Thomas returned the gold with this note: "Mistress—Since it were against good manners to refuse your New Year's gift I am content to take your gloves, but as for the lining—I utterly refuse it."

When pins were first invented and brought into use about the beginning of the sixteenth century they were highly prized as New Year's gifts. They, too, were made of very valuable material—of gold and silver, as well as of the common metals. The money which had been expended in gloves was then made use of for pins, and money given for the purchase of the new style gift was called "pin money." The term has gradually enlarged its meaning, and now the modern girl speaks of her "pin money," but she buys all sorts of things with it and instead of receiving it from friends once a year obtains it from "papa" once a month or once a week.

A Plucky Motorman.

Fort William, Dec. 30.—Seven passengers on car No. 10 on the Montreal street extension car line had a very narrow escape from sudden death yesterday morning about seven. At the G.T.P. crossing over the Kaministiquia Power bridge, they, for some unexplained reason, stopped. Motorman C. Maycock, taking a lantern, tried to stop the oncoming train. Seeing that no attention was being given to his signals, he rushed back to the car and got the seven passengers off just in time before the pilot struck the car, throwing it from the tracks.

The engineer of the train said he could not see the signals, owing to steam, and was unaware that anything was wrong until he saw the headlight of the engine reflected in the car windows, when he applied the brakes and stopped his train in about one hundred yards past the crossing where the car was hit.

WASHINGTONIAN NEW YEAR.

Recipe For Reception a la George and Martha.

To hold a New Year's reception a la George and Martha Washington the drawing room should be arranged to look like that of a century ago. Let holly and mistletoe festoon doors and arches and be massed with pine and hemlock and other evergreens knotted with cherry colored ribbons.

The gowns and headdresses of the ladies invited to attend may be copied from old fashioned prints or reproductions of portraits of historic belles. The old brocades, the powdered hair and complexion patches will transform the appearance of modern beaus and belles in a manner truly wonderful. A few lines penciled on the face will aid in suggesting the appearance of the individual whose personality is to be represented. Every guest should be at liberty to select the character most pleasing to himself or herself. Of course this choice should preclude the characters of Washington and his wife, which belong to the host and the hostess. If they have a son and daughter, Jack and Nelly Custis should be represented by their son and daughter.

The minuet will, of course, be the first dance, and it should be led by the host and hostess in the costumes of Washington and his wife. If other than buffet refreshments are served, the host takes to the dining room the most distinguished lady present—that is, the one whose position in the society of the time represented was most important. The hostess takes the most distinguished gentleman to the dining room. The selection, of course, will be largely influenced by personal feeling.

In the center of the dining room table a handsome decoration representing a chime of bells bearing aloft a silver star and the figures denoting the date of the new year should be placed on a bank of green or of flowers. Ribbon streamers, red, white and blue, should extend to the edge of the supper table, where waxen cherubs, such as are made for decorations on the top of a Christmas tree, perch among the little cluster of flowers intended as souvenirs for guests. A knot of red, white and blue ribbon should tie the flowers intended for the ladies. If individual menus are prepared each may be given a personal significance by being inscribed with a verse relative to the flight of time. Any dictionary of quotations will supply the lines.

The dining room ought to be lighted entirely with wax candles in handsome candelabra.

Cookery Points

Pommes Parisennes.—Pare some firm cooking apples and cook them gently in a thin sirup of sugar and water to which several thin strips of lemon rind have been added. Remove the apples and set them aside to drain and cool. When required for table arrange them in a deep glass dish surrounded by abundance of broken lemon jelly piled between and around the fruit. Cover each apple with a cone of stiffly whipped sweetened cream. Serve very cold.

Apple Cutlets.—Make a stiff apple puree, sweeten to taste and stir in a little softened gelatin. Set aside to cool. Meanwhile cut some slices of sponge cake, trim them neatly and lay them on a flat dish. Moisten each with a little fruit juice, and when the apple puree is partly cool cover each sponge slice with a layer of puree, keeping the whole shapely. When quite cold arrange on lace paper doilies or in an ornamental dish. Ornament with cut angelica and crystallized violets.

Pommes Polaires.—Peel, core and quarter some good cooking apples. Cook them gently till tender and set aside till quite cold. Arrange them in a deep glass dish, cover with Devonshire cream, scatter chopped pistachio nuts over all and serve as cold as possible with water biscuits or sponge fingers.

Apple Salad.—Peel and core some eating apples of good flavor. Cut the fruit into thin slices. Arrange these in a pretty glass dish, sprinkle among the fruit some finely chopped nuts and shredded pineapple, dust with caster sugar, moisten with a little fruit juice and serve very cold.

Good Things to Know.

Watercress mixed with two or three tablespoonfuls of minced crisply fried bacon and dressed with vinegar, salt and pepper makes a tasty supper salad.

Boiled rice dropped by tablespoonfuls around fried chicken or meat ragout makes a dainty border. But the rice should not be pressed down into a solid mass, as many cooks unthinkingly do it. It is as important to lovers of rice that it be light and fluffy as it is that bread should be of such a quality.

For a cheese rice custard for a substantial dish or an entree, mash a cupful of boiled rice to a paste, add an egg and a cupful of milk, season with a teaspoonful of butter, a tablespoonful or two of grated cheese, a little salt and pepper and turn into a baking dish or custard cups. Bake until the custard sets and the top is brown.

After Dinner Coffee.

Cafe noir is a strong decoction of black coffee which is served in small cups and is often partaken of unsweetened or merely flavored with a teaspoonful of brandy, or it may be sweetened with a spoonful of stiffly whipped cream on the top of each cup.

To produce Turkish coffee the coffee is put into its little metal pot in the proportion of two large tablespoonfuls of coffee, two lumps of sugar and half a pint of boiling water. Allow it to boil and bring it to a boil three times, after which pour it off into hot cups. This coffee should be served without milk or cream.

Bird's Nest Pudding.

Pare and core six large, sound apples, then put them into your well buttered biscuit pan; now mix together five heaping teaspoonfuls of flour, one scant teaspoonful of salt and one cupful of milk into a smooth paste, then add the yolks of three well beaten eggs; add the whites and another cup of milk; pour this over the apples, bake one hour; serve hot with hard sauce or sweetened whipped cream flavored with lemon extract.

Peanut Cookies.

Shell and rub off the inner skin of sufficient roasted peanuts to measure one pint when chopped fine. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and one cupful of sugar; add three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of milk, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, the chopped nuts and sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Roll out, cut in circles and bake in a moderate oven.

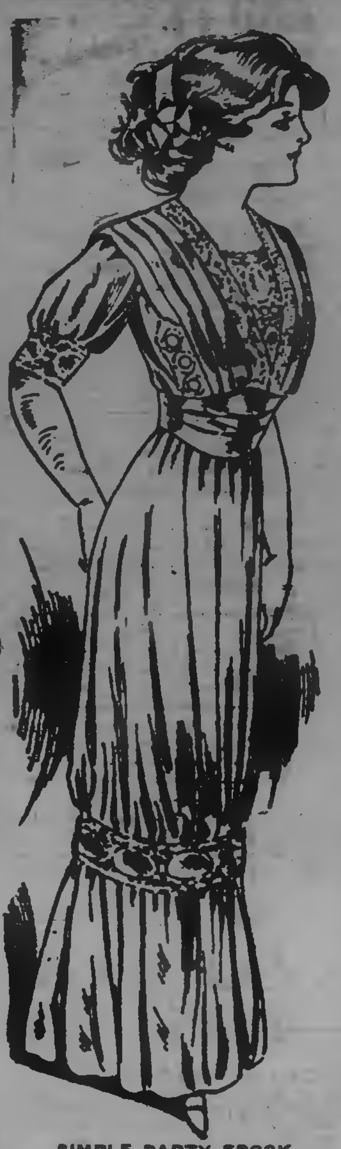
Cream of Celery Soup.

To two stalks of grated celery and one-half cupful of boiled rice add one pint of new milk and simmer all together gently until the celery and rice can be pressed through a sieve. Season to taste after adding one quart of hot milk thickened with a little cornstarch dissolved in cold water. Serve hot with toasted bread sticks.

To Whip Cream.

If the bowl of cream is kept in a pan of ice water during beating there will not be the embarrassment of seeing it come to butter when butter is the last thing that is wanted. The cream should be very cold before the work begins.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.



SIMPLE PARTY FROCK

Extremely simple and appropriate is a gown of this type for a young girl. Any of the soft, inexpensive silks will answer admirably. A pretty combination is a pale yellow silk, with white lace and girdle of light blue silk.

ENGLISH DISHES

Bonita Pudding

Quarter of a pound of castor sugar, two eggs, two lemons, six sheets of gelatine. Beat the sugar and yolks of the eggs together until quite smooth, then add the grated peel of one lemon and the juice of two. Put the gelatine to dissolve in a tablespoonful of hot water, and whilst it is dissolving, beat the whites of egg to a stiff froth. Now add the gelatine to the other ingredients, and lastly add the beaten whites. Whisk it well together until it begins to set, then pour into a glass dish and decorate with whipped cream, cherries, and angelica.

Currant Snow with Custard

Half a pound of loaf sugar, two whites of eggs, two ounces of best currants, three-quarters of an ounce of gelatine, one lemon. Rub the sugar on the lemon, and put it, with the currants, into a stewpan, with a pint of water and the gelatine. Stir until dissolved; then strain in the lemon-juice and let it get cool. Whisk the whites of eggs stiff, add this to the mixture, and continue to beat until it thickens. Then turn at once into a wetted jelly mould, and, when properly set, turn out into a dish. Prepare a custard made with half a pint of milk, two yolks of eggs, one ounce of sugar, and a little lemon-rind and serve with the currant shape when cold.

Tomato and Blackberry Jam

The blackberries should be picked clean, dry, and sound. Allow half a pound of tomatoes to every pound of blackberries, and one pound of coarse brown sugar to every one and a half pounds of fruit. Crush the tomatoes through a sieve coarse enough to allow the seeds to pass into the preserving-pan, add the blackberries and sugar, and simmer for an hour, keeping the mixture well-stirred. Put into pots when cold.

Spanish Steak

One pound of steak, one large Spanish onion, four tomatoes, three ounces of macaroni, one ounce of flour, one ounce of butter, one pint of stock or water, salt and pepper to taste. Put the butter in a saucepan and let it one hour. Dish up with meat in the centre, macaroni and tomatoes round. Pour the gravy over.

Lemon Solid

Half an ounce of gelatine, one pint of milk, half a pound of sugar, the rind of one lemon. Boil all together for a few minutes, strain, and cool a little; add three yolks of eggs (beaten), stirring all the time. When nearly cold, add juice of lemon. Stir frequently and pour into mould when just oni, broken up small, and simmer for and let it boil. Put back the steak, add onion, tomatoes cut in halves macarget quite hot; slice the onion and fry slice on to a dish, put a little milk into the baking-dish, and give it a shake over the fire, then pour over fish. Place the oysters round and serve.

Aberdeen Eggs

Three eggs, one dessertspoonful of chopped parsley, three rounds of toast, salt and pepper. Grease three dariole moulds with butter, and sprinkle the inside with parsley salt and pepper. Put an egg into each mould, without breaking the yolk, and place in a saucepan containing enough water to reach halfway up the moulds. Steam very gently for about six minutes; then turn out on the pieces of toast, and serve hot.

Making the world gloomy will not make it cleaner,

MEMORIES OF GREAT MEN.

Some of the Late Goldwin Smith's Reminiscences of Celebrities.

In his short paper of reminiscences of "My Social Life in London," in the November Atlantic Monthly, the late Prof. Goldwin Smith manages to introduce his impressions of an astonishing number of the notable personages with whom he was more or less intimately associated. It was an epoch of his social life, he says, when, at the dinner table of Sir R. H. Inglis, he first met Macaulay. "Of all English talkers that I ever heard, Macaulay seemed to me the first in brilliancy." The historian's characteristic habit of monopolizing the talk was, to Prof. Smith, "all exuberance, and not assumption or ostentation."

One could understand how he was a bore to other talkers. He evidently was to a great talker who sat next to me. He would seize upon a theme and dilate, with copious illustration, from a marvellous memory. Mention of the exclusive respect of the ritualists for churches in the Gothic style led to an enumeration of the fathers of the early church who had ministered in churches which were not Gothic. A question about the rules of equestrian statuary led to a copious dissertation proving that nature was the only rule. I have seen a whole evening party kept listening in a ring to an essay on final causes and the limits of their recognition, with numerous illustrations.

Prof. Smith recalls, too, the brilliant society which gathered at the salon of Lady Ashburton, for whom he had the greatest respect and admiration. Of Carlyle and Tennyson he writes:

Carlyle was always there. He was a great favorite of Lady Ashburton. His talk was like his books, but wilder; in truth, his pessimism was monotonous and sometimes wearisome, though he could not fail to say striking things, still less to use striking words. One summer evening we came out after dinner on the terrace. There was a bright moon, and for a few minutes we all looked at it in silence, each probably having his own thought. At last a voice was heard: "Puir auld creature!" Whether the moon was an object of pity in herself, or because she was doomed to look down on human affairs, I failed to divine. Tennyson was there. I adored the poet, and should have liked to be able to worship the man. His self-consciousness and sensitiveness to criticism were extreme. They asked Tennyson to read some of his own poetry aloud. This he was understood to be fond of doing. But to the general disappointment he refused. At his side was sitting Carlyle, who had been publishing his contempt of poetry. Immolating myself to the public cause, I went over to Carlyle and asked him to come for a walk in the grounds. While we were gone the reading came off.

Melton Prior's Brusqueness.

The late Melton Prior, for many years artist and war correspondent of The Illustrated London News, was well-known to many Canadian newspaper men. As was stated in the despatches after his death on Nov. 2, he had reported with pen and pencil twenty-four wars and revolutions, and had worked in almost every part of the habitable globe. In girdling the earth he frequently crossed Canada, east and west, his last journey having been made at the time of the Russo-Japanese war. In addition he had filled two important assignments in this country, which were fortunately missions of peace. The first of these was in 1878, when he came to Canada with the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise to sketch and write about the receptions accorded the first royal personage sent to Rideau Hall. When the present King, then the Duke of Cornwall and York, made his official visit to Canada in 1901 he came on a similar mission. As an artist he did not possess the highly finished style of the modern pictorial expert who seemingly tries to make his work look as photographic as possible. His pictures were sketchy, vivid and racy of the events depicted. His writing was like a series of verbal snap shots. Personally he was what is colloquially known as a "character." Probably there never was a man so absolutely free from the restraints which convention imposes on more timorous souls. He had deliberately cultivated a certain brusqueness of manner which he alternated with a Falstaffian joviality. If a man bored him he would tell him so. The writer has heard him address an ancient and fat-headed person who was pressing unwelcome attentions on him in this wise: "Condemn your soul, sir; you bore me, sir. Go away from me, sir." Yet withal he was the kindest hearted man alive, and felt it keenly if the object of his brusqueness took umbrage and failed to see that no offence was intended.

The New Wizard of the Soo.

William Charles Franz of the Soo—is a new name in Canada; and Franz at the Canadian Soo is a remarkable man. Recently a gathering of notable public men, both Canadian and English, did honor to Mr. Franz in a banquet at the city that was founded by Clergue the wizard; the city that now has 15,000 people, seven thousand of whom are employed in the consolidated works of the Lake Superior Corporation, financed by British capital.

Mr. Franz is the general manager of the works; which in their astonishing variety and range of output are among the marvels of modern Canada. The wizard era of F. H. Clergue who, looking for cheap water power, discovered the great plexus of raw materials that makes the Soo the most remarkable industrial small city in Canada, was followed by a series of lapses and reorganizations; later by a great fire. But the Soo works of 1910 are greater even than were dreamed of in the days of Clergue. Mr. Franz is the most powerful man in the Canadian Soo. When a youth he had a dog, a rooster and a gun; also a pocketful of rusty nails. He is now manager of a corporation whose property is valued at $35,000,000.

John Atkinson, of Snelton, was killed when his shotgun was accidentally discharged.

WHAT A C.P.R. FIREMAN OWES TO ZAM-BUK.

George H. Duffus of Robertson St., Fort William, a C. P. R. fireman, says: "The water gauge of my locomotive burst and scalded the whole left side of my face terribly. I had a box of Zam-Buk in my pocket, which I was using for a sore on my lip, and when I had recovered from the first shock of the accident, I produced the balm and had it applied freely to the scalded parts. I was suffering acute agony, but within a wonderfully short time Zam-Buk gave me ease. I was able to continue my journey and upon reaching home, I obtained more Zam-Buk and continued the treatment. Zam-Buk acted wonderfully well, and in a few days had the wound nicely healing. I don't know anything so fine as Zam-Buk as a healer of burns, scalds, cuts, and similar injuries, which workers are so liable to, and, in my opinion, a box of Zam-Buk should be kept handy in every worker's home."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

FREE BOX Send this Coupon and a 1c. stamp to Zam-Buk Co., and free trial box of Zam-Buk will be mailed you.

Do not stint on your soap. It is the poorest of economy. Bad pimples and ugly eruptions are frequently caused by the use of a soap that is too coarse for the skin texture.

As all skins are not similar, the test of a soap is not its cost or high praises from some of its users, but whether it agrees with you individually. Experiment, then stick to your choice. Frequent changing of soap is bad for a delicate skin.

With the right soap a few precautions are necessary. Do not use too big cakes nor leave it uncovered in a wet soap dish. It absorbs impurities that hurt the skin. The best soaps are harmful if not well rinsed. Note the brown marks left on linen if soap is not washed out and consider that skin is even more delicate.

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street, Open Evenings

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE
UNEXCELLED SERVICE

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to THE LENOX.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices

When in Buffalo stop at THE LENOX. The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
LIMITED

ANNOUNCEMENT OF OUR SENSATIONAL PRICE CUTTING SALE IN OUR CLOAK AND SUIT DEPARTMENT

Commencing Wednesday, January 4th

In accordance with the well defined policy of the GOLDEN LION we desire to impress on the citizens of Peterboro' that we will not carry over a single garment in our Suit and Cloak Department of this season's stock to next season and to give proper effect to that end we have made the prices so low that we assure beyond a doubt of accomplishing the object in view.

Ladies' Tailored Autumn Suits

In the most fashionable styles, made up in serges wide wale rough cloths, tweeds, broadcloths, Venetians, in blacks, navy, green, grey and colored tweeds; all Autumn suits that were marked at $13.50 to $15.00, for $7.98

All suits that were sold at $15.00 to $20.00, clearing at $10.00

Every suit that was formerly sold at $25.00 to $30.00 to be cleared at $15.00

Ladies' Winter Coats

Coat Rack No. 1. On this rack are grouped all heavy WINTER COATS in black and navy long lengths; some button high, others with revere collar, the usual price being $9.50 to $12.00. Your choice for $5.00

On Rack No. 2 are assembled our finest black beaver cloth coats, stylish, graceful garments. These were formerly sold at $20.00 to $25.00. Take your choice for ... $12.75

On Rack No. 3 are gathered young ladies' classy long coats in two toned grey and brown tweeds and cheviots, the season's swellest garments that were sold at $16.50 to $18.50. Your choice for $11.98

On Rack No. 4 are arranged what we have left in maids' long coats, made up from cheviots, tweeds and kersey cloths in black, navy and green. These were all sold formerly at $10.00 to $12.00. Your choice for $6.50

On Rack No. 5 will be found a very pretty and choice selection of children's long coats, every garment a classy production and just such a one as would please the little miss. Coats that were marked at $5.00, now $3.50

Coats that were marked at $6.50 and $8.50, now.......... $4.50

Little Girls' White Bearskin Coats have shared in the drastic price cutting, as witness—$5.00 garments are now marked at $3.00

$6.00 and $6.50 coats now marked at $3.50

One only Paisley Messaline Silk Dress, old rose shade, size 38. This costume got very slightly faded in our street window, but scarcely noticeable, and on account of this we will take $10.00 off the price. It was $25.00. You can have it now for........................ $15.00

White Bearskin Cloth, 50 inches wide, that sold at $3.00 the yard, to be cleared at half price......... $1.50

Ladies' White Silk Blouses, waist part finely tucked. reg. price $3.50; for this sale $1.50

5 only Ladies' Heavy Navy Blue Taffeta Silk Tailored Shirt Waists that formerly sold at $6.50 each. Sale Price.. $3.50

Winter Trimmed Hats

NEXT WEDNESDAY will afford an exceptional opportunity for the purchase of charming Winter Millinery and when you see the collection of trimmed and untrimmed Hats on sale you will marvel at the values—but just come that's all we ask

LARGE BLERIOX BLUE FELT with steel bandias and blue roses, a $10.50 headpiece for........................ $5.00

PATTERN HATS of blue velvet and grey kid roses also PATTERN TEA HAT, velvet faced iridescent top with roses, formerly $15.00. Your Choice for........................ $7.00

9 only very fine English black and colored BEAVER FUR HATS that were sold at $7.50 to $15.00. Your Choice for........ $4.75

A Very Special Bargain in COLORED WINGS that formerly sold at $1.50 to $2.00. Your Choice for........................ 29c

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
LIMITED

A REGRETTABLE EXODUS

A few years ago there was a great outcry against the exodus of Canadian young men to the United States. It was claimed that we maintained schools of a very high standard—a very much higher standard than the average school in the United States—with the idea of educating our children to be good citizens of Canada. No sooner did they complete their school or college courses, however, than they found that they could make more money by moving to the United States. The very superiority of our educational institutions over those across the border, made it easy for our young men to obtain situations there. Young Canadians were better equipped to fill responsible positions than their own youths. It is well known that in many United States cities, Canadians were given the preference. Some years ago it was estimated that there were between 80,000 and 100,000 native-born Canadians in the single city of Chicago, and that there were nearly as many Canadians in the United States as there were in all Canada.

The twentieth century opened with six Governors of States, a large number of United States Senators and a large number of members of Congress as well as the presidents of the two greatest railroad systems in that country, all native-born Canadians. It was appreciated that all this was very unfair to Canada. Why should we educate young men for the purpose of making them valuable citizens of another country? The upshot of the agitation was that the cry of "Canada First" became very popular There were appeals to buy only Canadian goods wherever possible, and to "boost" our own country on every possible opportunity—to be patriotic—to be loyal—in fact, to boil it down into one word—to be sensible.

Have you noticed what has happened in recent years as a result of all this? The exodus has ceased. There are now more Americans coming to Canada than there are Canadians going to the United States. Large manufacturers of implements, clothing, cameras, wire fencing, drugs and a hundred and one other things found it necessary to establish factories in Canada in order to hold the Canadian trade.

And now we want to ask the residents of Peterborough if patriotism cannot be taken one step further? Is not loyalty to Canada only a stepping stone to loyalty to your own city? Why should we educate our children to make them good citizens of Toronto or Montreal? Can we do anything to keep them at home? And the answer is the same—Be loyal to your town. Do everything possible to advance the interests of Peterborough Do not send your money to build up huge corporations in Toronto or Montreal. Spend every cent you have to spend right at home. Cut out mail order buying. Be true to your neighbors.

If we all did this, do you not think it would have as good an effect on Peterborough as the "Canada First" cry did on the country in general? Would we not be able to attract new capital and new industries and find employment for our sons and daughters at home?

Is it not worth a trial?

NEW GUNS, RULES, AND PRIZES AT YEOTES' SHOOTING GALLERY

Winners of Professional and Amateur Shooting Contests Up to January 1st—Also Names and Scores of Winners on Saturday Evening

New rules from 1st of Jan:—Every Saturday night different prizes given away. From Jan. 1st to March 31st, each week the scores will be kept for three months and there will be two medals given to the 1st and 2nd man, averaging the highest mark for professionals, and 1st and 2nd man of the amateurs.

PROFESSIONAL SHOOTING.

Names of winners of prizes at the Yeotes shooting gallery since the commencement of the shooting.

Cecil G. Smith, 7 prizes, 4 off-hand, 3 rest.
N. Perry, 5 prizes, 2 off-hand, 3 rest.
H. Lohmes, 3 prizes, rest.
N. Simmons, 1 prize, rest.
James Simons, 1 prize, rest.
Wm. Edmondson, 1 prize, rest.
F. D. Cole, 1 prize, rest.
J. Mitchell 2 prizes, rest
J. W. Pearson, 2 prizes, rest.
Chas. Duggan, 2 prize, rest.
J. Pearson, 2 prizes, rest,
W. Sharpe, 1 prize, rest.
H. Smith, 3 prizes, one off-hand, 2 rest.

Amateur rest, shooting, winners of all prizes up to Jan. 1st;

Fred Revoy, 1 prize.
W. Merritt, 1 prize
D. Dinnie, 1 prize.
Wm. Gill, 1 prize.
Guiseppe Nicoluci, 1 prize.
J. Rose, 1 prize.
J. Clancy, 1 prize.
G. R. Powell, 1 prize
E. Callaghan, 1 prize.
N. Reynolds, 1 prize.
A. Bouskill, 1 prize.
V. Spilsbury, 1 prize.
P. Gettas, 1 prize.
Wm. Bickell, 1 prize.

New guns and new prizes and new rules. Everything up to date.

Professional shooting score for last week:

Cecil Smith	58
Norman Perry	58
H. Sohms	58

Shooting tie off.

H. Sohmes	58
N. Perry	58
C. J. Smith	55
J. Young	55
Geo. Metcalfe	57
J. Mitchell	57
J. Houseley	54
F. Andrews	55
A. McGee	55
N. Simmons	55
J. Simmons	54
B. Dusty	56
E. Downey	56
H. Smith	56

IS LOOKING FOR MATCH FOR CHUMMY BANKS AND WOULD LIKE TO HOLD BOUT HERE

Corney Burns, of Toronto, and formerly of Peterborough, is now manager of "Chummy" Banks, the negro heavyweight pug, who has the scalps of several noted Canadian amateurs dangling at his belt. Banks, who strips at 190, is one of the prettiest and most effective fighters in the Canadian ring. He is the ex-amateur heavyweight champion of Canada, and a short time ago boxed a four round draw with Bob Day, who has the distinction of giving Jack Johnson one of the busiest arguments and one of the busiest surprises he ever met with.

Manager Burns is willing to match Banks against any heavyweight in the Dominion, and is negotiating for a match with a couple of well known fighters. He would like to stage the fight here is arrangements can be made.

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH EXPRESS THEIR THANKS

The sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital wish to thank their friends for their liberality during the past year. As the following list indicates, the hospital has not been forgotten during the Christmas season—

Dr. McNulty—$25 towards new operating table.
Dr. McPherson—$5.
A Friend—$20.
Mrs. Alex. Grant—$11.
Dr. Buchanan—$10.
Rev. Dr. O'Brien—$10.
Rev. P. J. McGuire—Turkey.
Rev. Father McColl—Turkey.
Dr. McPherson—Flowers and candy
Mr. Jas. Lynch—Candy.
Dr. McNulty—Candy.
Mr M. J. Carroll—Turkey.
J Grady, baker—Turkey.
Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Connell—Turkey
Mrs. O. LaPlante—Beautiful fern.
Dr. Cameron—Candy.
Mrs. W. Moher—Turkey.
Mrs. M. J. Leahy—Turkey.
Mrs. N. C. Mills—Lily.
A. Longo—Crate of fruit.
Miss Lundy—Flowers.
Miss Malls—Flowers.
Mrs. G. Hay—Flowers.
License Inspector—Bottle of Old Irish whiskey (confiscated).
Mrs. Jas. Lynch—Flowers.
Mrs. S. B. McEwen—Beautiful fern.
Examiner—One year's subscription.
Review—One year's subscription

VISITORS FOR THE HOLIDAY

Mr. George Holt spent the holiday in Toronto.

Mr. Harry Myles was in Lakefield on the holiday.

Mr. Nelson Gilgore spent the holiday in Lakefield.

Mr. Ernest Hamilton, of Toronto, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Sherlock Thompson spent the holiday with friends at Camilla Jct.

Miss Pearl Bell was in Lakefield on New Year's Day.

Mr. Gordon Lang was in Lakefield yesterday the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Yelland of Toronto spent the holiday with friends here.

Mr. Harry Armstrong of Peterboro was in Lakefield for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Greene of Toronto, spent New Year's at Fairview.

Miss Irene Booth, Water Street, was the guest of friends in Lakefield on New Year's Day.

Mr. Bert Everett of the Bell Telephone Co., spent the holiday at his home in Lakefield.

Mr. Frank Delafosse of the N. W. M. Police was in Lakefield for the holiday visiting his home.

Mr. W Henderson, superintendent of the Water Works is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Ryland, Oshawa.

Meldrum, Fairview, and will receive with her on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Mr. Stanley Norris of the Bell Telephone Company, has returned from a weeks visit to his home in Napanee

Miss Lizzie McElman and Mr. Corney Burns of Toronto are the guests of Miss McElman's sister,

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turner jr., spent the holiday in Lakefield, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Vinsent.

Mrs. Rollins will receive at St. Andrews Manse on Thursday afternoon, only, and not on Thursday evening as previously announced.

Mr. H. H. Widdison, of the Bank of Toronto, Wallaceburg, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jobbitt for New Year's.

racks. Mr. Portsmouth is a very popular member of the regiment, and they extend to him best wishes for a successful course.

Mr. Harry Portsmouth, a member of D. Company, 45th Regiment, Lindsay, left yesterday for Toronto, where he will take a six months' course in the School of Infantry at Stanley Bar-

Mr. F. M. Delafosse spent the holiday in Lakefield.

Mr. Clarence Baptie was in Lakefield for the holiday.

Mrs. Ernest A. Greene of Toronto, is the guest of her mother, Mrs.

Mr. Leo Quinn of Oshawa, spent the holiday at his home in Lakefield.

Miss Perry and Miss Madeleine Wilson, are visiting friends at Oak Orchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Graham of Peterboro were in Lakefield for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tanney, of Galt, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jobbitt for New Year's.

Mr. Frank Austin of Belleville, was visiting his home on Walton street during the holidays.

Mr Allan Campbell of Toronto University was in the city on Sunday and returned on the 4.30.

Mrs. H. A. Tanney, of Galt, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jobbitt, for the holiday.

Miss Sibyl Kennedy, of Galt Training Hospital for Nurses was the guest of her parents on Sunday.

Mr. Bruce Walton of the Imperial Accident and Insurance Company of Toronto was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Percy Might, principal of Clare street Public school, Toronto, returned to the city to-day.

Miss Helen McKillop of Lethbridge is the guest of Miss Ola Tagenagh, London Street.

Miss Etta Melville, of Winnipeg, is spending a few days in town the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clegg and Mrs. A. H. Melleville.

Turned on the Power.

Dundas, Jan. 3.—Hydro-electric power was turned on for the first time in Dundas last evening, temporary connection having been made with the main interswitching station, which is situated just outside the town limits. The first place to be lighted is the Collins' Curling Rink, one of the proprietors of which is Charles Collins, the well-known baseball player and curler, who is chairman of the civic lighting committee.

The new transformers are being installed to-day, and Dundas users will have light and power here in a few days. The main station being at Dundas, there will be no cost of transmission.

The bylaw to raise money for the installation of a municipal power and lighting plant carried yesterday by a large majority.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Enjoyable Event at Janetville Yesterday — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thornton, Well Known Here, Remembered by Their Friends

Fifty years of married happiness was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thornton, of Janetville, yesterday, when a large number of guests, relatives and friends gathered at their home to commemorate the rare occasion. About forty guests sat down to dinner, after which Rev. Mr. Snowden made a very suitable address. This was followed by a recitation by Mrs. Snowden, entitled, "Seventeen and Seventy." Musical selections were also contributed by Mrs. F. Handy, Mrs. Snowden and Mrs. Morgan.

After this Mr. Thornton was presented by the children with a handsome Morris chair, and Mrs. Thornton with a large Morris rocker. The presentations were accompanied by an address read by Miss Euphemia Fair, of Peterborough, their granddaughter. The ringbearer was Master Harry Thornton, their grandson. Many other beautiful gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Thornton, and the enjoyable occasion will be one that will be long remembered by them.

Was a Triumph

J. J. Turner & Sons received the following telegram to-day from Toronto:—

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 2.
Lena Ashwell opened Canadian and American season Royal Alexandra Theatre to-day was royally received, and forced to make curtain speeches. Engagement will be social as well as dramatic triumph.

Green McCurtain, big chief of the Choctaw nation, died in his home in Kinta, Oklahoma.

CARD OF THANKS

My best thanks are tendered to my many friends who rallied to my support and ensured my re-election as one of the aldermen from the South Ward. I will earnestly try to do my best.

Respectfully yours,
GEORGE DUNCAN

CARD

I desire to thank, the ratepayers of the North Ward—particularly the ladies, for the handsome support given me in the late election.

I appreciate it very much as an expression of confidence,

Respectfully
JAS. GRAHAM

North Ward

My hearty thanks are tendered my friends who worked for me, and to the electors who supported me in the contest of Monday.

Respectfully
D. KERNEGHAN

WEST WARD CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank the electors of the Ward—especially the ladies—for much kind assistance, both in voting for me and in assisting others to reach the polls, with the result that I received the largest number of votes cast for any candidate in the city.

With renewed thanks,
JAMES B. BROWN

CARD OF THANKS

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

Kindly accept my sincere thanks for the very generous support accorded to me yesterday. I can assure you that it is appreciated, and you may depend that I will use my best endeavor to further the interest of the whole city

Yours respectfully,
JOS. R. METHERAL

WARD NO. 1

Mr. Buller's THANKS to all for re-election

WM. BULLER

THANK YOU

The Optical Institute had a busy December. The week, before Xmas particularly busy. Many persons gave a beautiful pair of Eyeglasses or Spectacles to some near relative thus making many days to come a little brighter and happier. Shall we help you to make somebody's outlook brighter for 1911. An appointment will save you waiting

The Peterboro Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

Make Your
NEW YEAR HAPPY
By getting your New Outfit from us

You will surely be delighted and look well in one of our most up-to-date and stylish garments, which you can afford to have now without paying all the cash down.

Easy terms of payment—$1.00, $2.00 or $3.00 per week, and you may have :—

FOR LADIES—Handsome Suits, Skirts, Coats, Underskirts, Blouses, and Furs of all sorts.

FOR GENTLEMEN—Heavy weight Winter Suits, also blue and black Serges, Fur-lined Coats, Trousers

Fine assortment of Home Furnishings, Floor Oilcloths, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, and a very large assortment of all-wool Blankets.

Open an Account with Us this New Year and You will be Happy all Year

THE KNICKERBOCKER CO.
CREDIT CLOTHIERS
422 George Street
Phone 711

My Thanks

Are extended the ratepayers of West Ward for the hearty support that ensured my election.

Respectfully
JAS. EDGAR

CARD OF THANKS

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—

I desire to thank the thousand and odd ratepayers who voted for me for Water Commissioner.

The substantial vote I received should show that the people were not satisfied with things as they are, and I am sure, had full information been forthcoming, that public disapproval would have been so pronounced that it would have shown itself in my return as a protest against what we know exists.

My efforts have certainly not been in vain, if the Commissioners have been shown that they are the servants of the people, and not a close corporation.

Thanking you one and all, and with the compliments of the season,

Respectfully,
WILLIAM LANGFORD

To the Electors of the West Ward and Citizens of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

Although defeated I most heartily desire to thank all those who supported my candidature, either by votes, influence or assistance.

I also desire to express my best wishes to His Worship Mayor Morrow and the new Council-elect, and trust that 1911 may be a banner year in the way of advancement for the city of Peterborough.

Yours faithfully,
JOS. J. DUFFUS

Card of Thanks

W. H. BRADBURN

returns his hearty thanks to the ratepayers of the Centre Ward who supported him and ensured his election.

Compliments of the season to all.

The Mineral City Flour Mill property in Mt. Clemens, Mich., was sold at receiver's sale for $20,000.

LeBrun & Co's
January Clean-up Sale of Men's and Boys'
CLOTHING & FURNISHINGS

Commences Tuesday, January 3rd, and ends Saturday Night, January 29th—A Sale Replete With Genuine Money Saving Opportunities.

Men's Suits and Winter Weight Overcoats

Our entire stock of "Style Craft" clothes and other well known makes of high-grade dependable clothing is now offered at price reductions. Seldom does there come a time when you can buy strictly high grade goods at prices as low as here quoted :—

All our Men's Tweed Suits, regular $6.00. Clearing price...... $4 50
All our Men's Tweed Suits worth $10, clearing price.............. $8 00
All our Men's Worsted Suits worth $18 00, clearing price $15 00
$7.50 Overcoats.............. $5 50
$10.50 Overcoats $7.98
$12 00 Overcoats $8.90
$15.00 Overcoats $11 90
$20.00 Overcoats $15 90

Unusual Discounts Off Regular Prices

Remember, when you buy clothing here you select from the very finest of Ready-for-service clothes. Every garment absolutely guaranteed both by the makers and us.

Our Entire Line of Men's High-grade Trousers

now offered at much less than our regular prices.

Men's $1.25 Pants now.......... 98c
Men's $1.50 Pants now......... $1 19
Men's $1.75 Pants now......... $1.39
Men's $2.00 Pants now......... $1 59

All Winter Underwear at Clean up Prices

H. LeBRUN & CO.
396 George Street and 143-5 Hunter Street

PROBABILITIES
Cold, light snow falls tonight and on Thursday.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. LXII., No. 2.
PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1911
TEN CENTS PER WEEK

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

DISTURBANCES IN LONDON POLICE HELD AT BAY

Anarchists in London Check Big Force For Six Hours.

Huge Force of Policemen, and Soldiers Besiege House in Houndsditch, Where Robbers Are Entrenched and Kill Two Desperadoes—Great Crowds Watch Fight—Winston Churchill Leads Assault.

London, Jan. 4.—All London has been stirred by a terrible battle waged yesterday between anarchists on the one side and hundreds of police, infantry from the Tower, and artillerymen on the other. It is the opinion of some that two desperadoes alone for many hours held the police and military at bay. Thousands, flocking from all parts of London, witnessed the thrilling spectacle—a steady rain of bullets, flashes of fire, smoke pouring from the windows, the issuing flames and finally men on the roof, shouting defiance and falling into the seething mass below.

A police sergeant, searching for the burglars, who only a few nights ago killed four policemen, was reconnoitering around this Sidney street den in the early hours of the morning. Suddenly a shot was fired, and the sergeant fell, with a bullet through his lung. A call for police was sounded, and the entire neighborhood cordoned. People were driven from their houses, and a pitched battle began between those fortressed in the house and hundreds of police. The Scots Guards from the Tower were hastily despatched to the scene, and later a battery of artillery with gatling guns came at double-quick. Three pieces were placed in position, but they did not open fire.

A steady stream of bullets played between the contending forces, and the guardsmen took up sheltered positions, firing volley after volley into the house. Piles of straw were cast in all directions and lighted in the hope that the desperadoes would be smoked out. At last sparks were observed shooting from the windows, accompanied by clouds of smoke, and here and there a jet of flames. A detachment of firemen stretched their hose, and threw water on the adjoining structures. Soon they directed streams against the stronghold of the desperadoes, which was now burning fiercely. Driven from the lower floors, the anarchists made their way to the roof, where, it seemed to the watching thousands several forms could be seen amidst the driving smoke. Then the roof collapsed, and with it the men.

A search of the besieged house after the ruins had cooled a little revealed in a cupboard a large number of what appeared to be metal dynamite bombs in an unfinished state.

According to The Daily Telegraph the police are in possession of information concerning a widespread anarchist plot, which is regarded as one of the greatest gravity.

During the battle thousands of shots were fired. In the midst of the struggle Home Secretary Winston Churchill appeared. He led the besiegers right up toward the house, and went to the very door, while scores of shots were aimed at him. It was in vain that the police tried to persuade Churchill to get out of harm's way. He told them to attend to the crowd.

Up to two o'clock this morning only two bodies had been found in the ruins of the house where the London police and detachments of troops were held at bay by anarchists. One of them is believed to be that of "Fritz" Vaars, wanted in connection with the murder of three London policemen on Dec. 16. "Peter the Painter," another of the men wanted, was thought to have been in the house, but the second body has not been identified.

ANOTHER MINE DISASTER EIGHTY MINERS PERISHED

Fire Occurs in Number Three at Florence, N.S.

Under Deputies Ferguson and Purchass and Six Workmen Descend Into Colliery to Start the Machinery at Four o'Clock in the Morning When Flames Start and All Are Burned to Death.

North Sydney, N.S., Jan. 4.—Not since the memorable explosion of 1878, which occurred in the Winning pit, has such a calamity disturbed the community as yesterday morning, when it was announced that Sydney No. 3 was on fire. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when the under deputies, Ferguson and Purchass, went into the mine, accompanied by six workmen making preparations for the starting of the mine, the explosion occurred.

The village of Florence was turned into a frenzy. People rushed to the colliery and Supt. T. J. Brown was immediately summoned. The superintendent soon got in touch with the mining department and John Johnstone, accompanied by Robt. Robson and other officers, soon had the drager apparatus upon the scene, and in a few minutes all the available workmen on the plant were combatting the fire.

For eight hours Managar Johnstone, assisted by Inspector Nicholson and John W. Johnstone, worked down upon No. 11 lift, and finally succeeded in finding the charred bodies of the six shift men, who were clumped together, and so burned that it was impossible to recognize one from the other.

The rescuing party worked hard to reach the No. 14 lift, in the hope of recovering the bodies of Deputies Ferguson and Purchass, but owing to the deadly gases were compelled to retreat to a place of safety. Inspector Nicholson said he never saw such a tangled mass of ruins in a colliery, and by the appearance of the inspector when he emerged from the colliery, it looked as if he had been in the fight himself.

The names of the dead are: Amos Teraunt, aged 22, single; Jos. Heralul, aged 25, single; Jas. Tramsen, aged 30, single; Fred Tremen, aged 36, married, with six children; Alex. Aexter, aged 20, single; James Rosten, aged 25, single; Deputy Ferguson, Deputy Purchass.

HOLD-UP MAN WAS ARRESTED

Vancouver, Jan. 4.—One of Vancouver's busy hold-up men went out of business last night on a west-end street, when he tackled Frank R. Cornwall with a gun, and closed his little adventure in the lock-up. Mr. Cornwall ducked, grabbed the would-be robber around the waist, and both went to the pavement together, while the revolver exploded, sending a bullet singing under Cornwall's arm. The latter then reached for the weapon, and after a struggle, secured possession of it.

With the hold-up man covered, he asked a passerby to call the police. The footpad, on his arrival at the station, gave his name as Richard Grey from Ottawa.

Tait To Be Vice-President.

Montreal, Jan. 4.—It is stated here that Sir Thomas Tait will be made vice-president of the C.P.R., with headquarters at Toronto, this being the beginning of a new departure, promised some time since by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, that an executive officer of the company might be located in the Queen City, clothed with power to decide matters of importance to the railway and to the city of Toronto, without referring them to Montreal, as is the case at the present time.

The authorities here deny this, but well-posted people say that Sir Thomas Tait will locate in Toronto, as desired.

Stopped Employment of Children.

Brantford, Jan. 4.—The police here on Monday stopped the employment of a number of children, ranging in age from 4 to 10 years, who were appearing at the Grand Opera House in the performance of the "Lilliputians." The manager of the play withdrew the children from the act and secured permission from the mayor for those between 10 and 16 years to continue. The claim was also put forth that the youngsters were picked up in Montreal, where they had no homes, and that their activity was for their own betterment.

Caught While He Slept.

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—Bill Walton, alias "the Squirrel," who dynamited the safe in the postoffice at Auvan, Sask., and was trailed by a posse of fifty men, was arrested in a farm house at Nokomis. Magistrate Latta found him asleep and handcuffed him. There had been $31,000 in the postoffice the night before in transit for the Northern Crown Bank. Walton is wanted for jail-breaking at New Westminster, B.C. He stole the dynamite.

Linked to Mainland.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Jan. 4.—The P.E.I. Telephone Co.'s complete telephone system between this province and the mainland was officially opened yesterday. Preparations for this event have been going on for some time, beginning with the experiments of some months ago, and now telephonic communication may be carried on here with Halifax, Windsor, Truro, Amherst, New Glasgow, Sydney and intermediate points.

Delirious, Drank Carbolic.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—While in a fit of delirium, induced by sickness, Mrs. J. Ackerman, 779 Manning avenue, drank about two ounces of carbolic acid from a bottle in the sickroom on Monday afternoon. She died a few minutes later. She secured the bottle while the nurse was absent from the room for a few moments. Dr. Page was called, but could do nothing. An inquest is unlikely.

An Exciting Experience.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 4.—The sole occupant of a sleigh, 5-year-old Ian Wilson, son of a prominent physician, had an exciting experience in a runaway yesterday. The lad stuck fast to the sleigh, while the horse ran the full length of the city, about three miles. Frank Roberts scrambled into the flying cutter and leaped into a snowbank with the child in his arms. Both were uninjured.

Accidentally Shot.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 4.—While three boys, aged about fifteen, were practicing with a rifle, it was accidentally discharged, and Murray Keefe received a bullet in his body. He may recover.

GENERAL STATEMENT OF 1910

And Estimate for 1911 of the Board of Education—$62,500 for Public Schools and Collegiate Institute

Mr. D. W. Drmble, chairman of the Finance Committee submitted a general statement of receipts and expenditures for 1910 and estimates for 1911, to the Board of Education last night. The estimates for 1911 call for an outlay of $62,500, or $2,000 in excess of last year. The increase is in the teaching department.

The statement which was adopted, is as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Collegiate Institute rate	$20,000.00
Public school rate	40,500.00
Government grant, Collegiate Institute	1,376.30
Government grant, Public schools	2,042.00
Government grant, kindergartens	113.37
Government grant, sect. Domestic Science and Manual Training	922.40
Government grant, for use of rooms in Public schools for Normal students	2,250.00
Fees, Collegiate Institute	2,248.25
Fees, entrance examinations	148.00
Fees, text books and supplies	2,478.33
Nicholls scholarship interest	90.00
Interest on bank balances	138.60
Sundries	112.15
Balance	292.18
	$72,711.67

EXPENDITURE.

Balance due bank 31st December, 1909	$2,335.70
Salaries, teachers and officers, Collegiate Institute	19,007.90
Salaries, teachers and officers, Public school	40,720.82
Printing and stationery	785.13
Text books and supplies	2,583.40
Fuel account	3,234.27
Expense account	2,660.55
Repairs and furniture	833.76
Insurance	460.05
Nicholls scholarship prizes	90.00
	$72,711.67

PUBLIC SCHOOLS RECEIPTS.

By balance	$17.66
Municipal assessment	40,500.00
Government grant	3,077.77
Government grant re Normal school	2,250.00
Fees, text books	2,478.33
Interest on bank balances	138.60
Sundries	112.15
	$48,574.51

EXPENDITURE.

Salaries, teachers and officers	$40,720.82
Printing and stationery	157.07
Text books and supplies	2,583.40
Fuel account	2,384.31
Expense account	884.52
Repairs and furniture	673.29
Insurance	460.05
Bank balance	711.06
	$48,574.51

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE RECEIPTS.

Municipal assessment	$20,000.00
Government grant	1,376.30
Fees from pupils	2,248.25
Fees, entrance examinations	148.00
Interest Nicholls scholarship debentures	90.00
Balance	1,003.23
	$24,865.87

EXPENDITURE.

Balance due bank 31st December, 1909	$2,353.36
Salaries, teachers and officers	19,007.90
Printing and stationery	628.06
Fuel account	849.96
Expense account	1,776.03
Repairs and furniture account	160.47
Nicholls scholarship prizes	90.00
	$24,865.87

Estimates of revenue and expenditure of the Peterborough Public schools for year ending Dec. 31st, 1911:

P. S. ESTIMATES FOR 1911, EXPENDITURE.

Salaries of teachers	$34,960.00
Salaries of officers	2,540.00
Salaries of janitors	3,100.00
Fuel account	2,000.00
Printing and stationery	250.00
Repairs and furniture	1,600.00
Insurance	125.00
Incidental expenses	325.00
	$44,900.00

REVENUE.

Balance brought forward	$700.00
Government grants	2,000.00
Amount required from City Treasurer	42,200.00
	$44,900.00

ESTIMATES FOR COLLEGIATE EXPENDITURE.

Balance due bank 31st December, 1910	$1,003.23
Salaries, teachers and officers	19,500.00
Janitor's salary	903.96
Fuel account	600.00
General expenses including maps, chemicals, etc.	500.00
Repairs and furniture	250.00
Rent to Y.M.C.A. for use of gymnasium	400.00
Insurance	240.00
Incidental expenses	402.81
	$23,800.00

REVENUE.

Fees from pupils	$2,200.00
Government grant	1,300.00
Amount required from City Treasurer	20,300.00
	$23,800.00

RECAPITULATION.

For Public schools	$42,200.00
For Collegiate Institute	20,300.00
	$62,500.00

BALANCE SHEET.

Particulars.	Dr.
To Collegiate Institute account	$1,003.23
To Central school property account	51,111.52
To South Central property account	21,280.46
To Park street school property account	4,246.07
To Queen Alexandra school property account	34,924.81
To East Ward school, property account	8,000.00
To King Edward school property account	35,921.21
To Collegiate Institute property account	82,125.99
	$238,922.29
	Cr.
By Public school account	$711.06
By Bank of Toronto	292.18
By real estate	237,919.06
	$238,922.29

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Scarlet fever is very bad in certain portions of Manitoba.

Rev. Canon Hincks died at Bracebridge in his 79th year.

Charlie Phair, jr., a Toronto jockey in Trinidad, was killed in a race yesterday.

Horace Shipman, a Hamilton street railway conductor, dropped dead at the skating rink.

The steamer Kwarra, 3,304 tons, bound for St. John, N.B., went ashore Friday in Pentland Firth.

There is an epidemic of measles in Galt. Four hundred cases were reported to the health authorities.

The 18-months-old son of Louis McDonald of Kingston overturned a dish of boiling water and was terribly injured.

Lord Strathcona has cabled his congratulations to the Commons sergeant-at-arms, Lt.-Col. H. R. Smith, on his obtaining a C.M.G.

Fort William customs collections for the year, which closed Jan. 1, amounted to $630,692, an increase of $47,814 over the previous year.

A fire in the north part of the Queen's Hotel, Bracebridge, caused about $12,000 damage. The property was insured for about $15,000.

The wages advance of railway employes agreed upon at Chicago excludes C.P.R. railwaymen, who hope to negotiate independantly in Canada.

Apropos of the visit of Sir William Mackenzie to the Government Monday, Hon. G. P. Graham stated that nothing would be settled on the policy of the Hudson Bay Railway till the Minister of Finance returns from Washington.

Panama Canal Suit.

Washington, Jan. 4.—By unanimous decision the Supreme Court of the United States yesterday decided that the Federal Government could not maintain the so-called "Panama Canal libel suit" against The Press Publishing Co., publishers of The New York World, in the Federal courts of New York. In so holding, the court affirmed the decision of the Circuit Court of the United States for the southern district of New York, which had quashed the famous indictment.

In effect, the decision was that the Federal Court had no jurisdiction over the alleged offence, because the case might have been brought in a state court.

In effect, the allegel libel was the publication of articles stating that C. P. Taft, D. Robinson and W. N. Cromwell, with J. P. Morgan and others, obtained control of the Panama Canal route for about $43,000,000, and, by the co-operation of Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, and brother-in-law of Mr. Robinson, and President W. H. Taft, then Secretary of War, were enabled to effect the sale of the Panama Canal route to the United States at a profit of $36,000,000.

NEARLY OVERCOME BY COAL GAS

Narrow Escape From Asphyxiation of the Members of an Ashburnham Household.

Almost asphyxiated by gas, and still suffering from the effects of it, is the experience of Mrs. James Dickson, her mother and daughter, Ada. They reside at 321 Rogers St. East City, and on Sunday evening, they waited up late, expecting the arrival of Mrs. Dickson's son, Warren Hunter and his wife, from Toronto.

Mrs. Dickson was in the back parlor, her mother was upstairs, while Ada was out in the kitchen.

Mrs. Dickson when seen to-day said that they began to feel rather drowsy on Sunday night, and dozed off to sleep. They were not aware that the rooms were filled with gas. Mrs. Dickson herself did not lose consciousness as she heard her son ring the door, which was locked. She was unable however to rise, to let him in. Her son hurried around to the side entrance and entered. He immediately noticed the fumes of gas hurriedly shut off the furnace, and summoned help.

Dr. Scott was called and applied restoratives. Mrs. Dickson and her daughter were soon revived, but her mother's condition was much more serious, and she is still very much overcome, not having spoken a word since. In addition to this, she is not very strong and some alarm is felt over her condition.

The cause is attributed to the furnace, the flues of which had become clogged, as was discovered when they were examined later.

ANOTHER BLAZE AT NORTH BAY

North Bay, Jan. 4.—Fire broke out in J. J. Sullivan's boot and shoe store in the Cormoe Block, doing considerable damage, principally by smoke and water, to the large stock valued at $15,000. The fire department did good work and quickly extinguished the blaze. Sullivan's stock was insured for $6,000, and his loss is heavy. The building was owned by Begg Bros., and the damage to it will not exceed $1,000, covered by insurance.

Fewer Vessels at New York.

New York, Jan. 4.—During the year 1910, the total number of vessels arriving at the port of New York was 10,114, of which 6,459 were steamers, and 3,655 sailing vessels. This shows a decrease of 466 vessels, compared with the year 1909. The decrease in steamers was 344, and sailing vessels 302. British ships led all others, with 1,964 arrivals, the United States being second with 716.

Port Arthur Y.M.C.A.

Port Arthur, Jan. 4.—Port Arthur's new Y.M.C.A. building, which was dedicated on Sunday, with Dr. W. H. Sollmon of Yale as the principal speaker, assisted by several clergymen and laymen, opened to active business yesterday morning. The building, erected at a cost of $50,000, is the most complete of its kind between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Valuable Paintings Burned.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 4.—It was learned yesterday afternoon that two valuable paintings were burned in the fire which early yesterday caused a loss of $1,000,000 in the business district here. They were "The Wagonsmith" and "Venu de Milo," valued at $80,000.

SHOOTS NEIGHBOR.

Quebec Man Wounds Pursuer of His Daughter.

Quebec, Jan. 4.—News reached here yesterday of a sensational occurrence at St. Michel de Bellechasse, and one which threw the usually peaceful village into a state of great excitement. About 8 o'clock on Monday evening the little daughter of Wilfrid Corriveau ran into her father's house, crying that she had been pursued by a masked man. The father immediately seized a revolver and started off after the man, at whom he fire three shots, one of them lodging in his breast. The injured man proved to be a neighbor named Morrison, who has been subject to fits of sudden mental aberration. A doctor was at once summoned, when it was found that the condition of the injured man was a critical one.

A Shooting Affray.

Sherbrooke, Jan. 4.—A shooting affray is reported from near Thetford Mines. It appears that several people had gathered at the home of one Moise Carrier, including two brothers, named Boutin. During the day, one of the Boutins went upstairs and brought down a rifle. Carrier tried to get it away from him, and in the melee the rifle was discharged, and the bullet entered the shoulder of one of the Boutins, who was lying on the sofa. He is not expected to recover.

Rib Punctured Lung.

Brockville, Jan. 4.—A. E. Sawyer, who has charge of the ashpit at the Grand Trunk yards, was severely injured yesterday afternoon by being crushed between the engine and the fence opposite the pit. Upon being removed to the hospital it was found that his shoulder blade was broken, also several ribs, one of which punctured the lung, causing a hemorrhage. He also suffered other internal injuries. It is feared the man cannot live.

FOUR MORE VICTORIES FOR LOCAL OPTIONISTS

Nine B[illegible] Added to the List of T[illegible]se That Must Go.

Further [illegible]cal Option Returns Show That [illegible]ee-Fifths Clause Saved 16 Licens[illegible] In Five Towns and 17 Retain[illegible] by an Outright Adverse Vote—[illegible]n Municipalities Are Not Heard [illegible]om.

Toronto[illegible] Jan. 4.—With only ten municipa[illegible]es yet to hear from, the returns o[illegible]e voting on Monday show 26 local o[illegible]on victories, 22 places giving a ma[illegible]ty in favor of the bylaw, but not [illegible] required 60 per cent. of the total [illegible]mber of votes polled, and 23 defeat[illegible]

The fat[illegible]f nine more bars is thus sealed, wh[illegible] sixteen are saved by the three-fifth[illegible]lause, and seventeen are retained b[illegible] the adverse vote.

The fo[illegible]wing additional reports have been[illegible] received at the office of the Domi[illegible]n Alliance of the voting on local option bylaws on Monday:

Local Option Gains—Maxville, maj. 85; Elizabethtown, maj. 222; Hinchinbrook, 71 maj.; Roxborough, maj. 234.

Failed through Three-Fifths—Arnprior, maj. 51; Huntsville, maj. 46; Thessalon, maj. 6; Chapman, maj. 7; Georgina, 3.

Defeats—Gananoque, maj. 168; Port Elgin, maj. 26; Sheffield, may. 117; Toronto Gore, maj. 50.

The following are the salient figures in the prohibition crusade in Ontario:

Municipalities in Ontario	816
Already "dry"	410
Contests this year	86
Local option sustained on repeal contests	3
New local option victories so far reported	26
(Two towns, nine villages, fifteen townships.)
Held up by three-fifths clause	22
(Seven towns, four villages, eleven townships.)
Local option defeats	23
(One city, six towns, six villages, ten townships.)
Places to hear from	10

BIG POWER MERGER

A power [illegible]erger which has for its object the [illegible]ooling of power interests that would[illegible] obtained by the Hydro Electric m[illegible]ment, has been formed. The follow[illegible] companies are involved—

WOULD ELECT FOR SIX YEARS

Washington, Jan. 4.—Extension of the Presidential and Congressional terms of office is favored by Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, who probably will be Speaker of the next House. "I am for amending the constitution," said Mr. Clark yesterday, "so as to elect the President for one term of six years, and make him forever ineligible for re-election. Every time that there is a President extraordinarily popular, a lot of fools boom him for a third term.

"If the present term is made for six years, I am in favor of making the term of Congress three years instead of two. Then the states, falling into that rule, would have an election every three years."

Mr. Clark also is in favor of electing both the President and the representatives in Congress on the last Monday in August, and of inaugurating the President and the members of Congress on the first Monday in October.

Jamaica Mails Direct.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 4.—In view of Jamaica's opposition to the transportation of the mails to England by way of Canada, the British Postmaster-General has arranged with the Elders and Fyffes Co., a British organization, controlled by the United Fruit Co., to convey the mails direct, on the termination of the Elder-Dempster service next month. The new arrangement will be on the poundage system.

The Jamaican Government has decided to amend the pure food law, and prohibit the importation of flour in bags, for sanitary reasons. Hereafter, flour must be transported to Jamaica in barrels.

Robbers Fled.

Vancouver, Jan. 4.—Two masked thugs, who have been operating in Vancouver, pulled off another robbery at Mount Pleasant. The Star restaurant was held up, but during the operation, passers-by alarmed the robbers, who fled without getting any money. Twenty policemen were rushed out on a special car, but no arrest was made.

For Uttering Forged Checks.

Nice, France, Jan. 4.—Jacques Spoerri, who, according to the police, has been known also as Morris, Baron Saxe and Baron Cossman, was arrested here yesterday at the request of the Paris police, charged with having uttered forged checks in the sum of $22,000, drawn upon the Hudson Trust Co. of New York.

Burned to Death.

Liverpool, N.S., Jan. 3.—Under a heap of ruins, the body of Oliver Eminot of Liverpool was unearthed by firemen of that place at 10.30 a.m. yesterday, with the skull burned to a bone, the body scarcely touched and legs severely injured. The fire started in his bedroom, and its origin is unknown.

British Steamer Lost.

London, Jan. 4.—Wreckage reported picked up in the Bay of Biscay leaves no doubt of the fate of the British steamer Axim, which left London on Dec. 9 for West African ports with a crew of 30 British and German sailors and four passengers.

Mackenzie King's Tour.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—Hon. Mackenzie King left last night for London, Ont., where he will address meetings today and to-morrow. He speaks at Wallaceburg on Friday and Toronto on Saturday.

ELECTION PROTESTED

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—A petition was yesterday formally filed against the re-election of Mayor Sanford Evans on the usual charge of impersonation and corrupt practices.

In connection with the attitude on segregation, it is interesting to note the attitude of the police commission, of which the mayor is ex-officio chairman, and Magistrate Daly is a member. The other member is Ald. Douglas, who replaces Ald. Willoughby, who marked his displeasure with the attitude of the majority of the police commission by resigning last November. It is stated on good authority that this action is not directed against the mayor, but to force an investigation into the charges of impersonation and other corrupt practices, which during the municipal election are stated to have been on a scale hitherto unparalleled in Canada.

Fines Aggregating $8,100.

Washington, Jan. 4.—Fines aggregating $8,100 were imposed upon six New Yorkers yesterday in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, after pleas of guilty had been entered by them to the charge of conspiracy to violate the law against conducting bucket shops in the District of Columbia. Jail sentences of two years each were imposed upon three of the men, Richard E. Preusser, Leo Mayer and George Turner, but sentence was suspended on condition that they do not again engage in bucket-shop business. The fines were paid promptly. E. S. Boggs of Robinson and Humphrey Owen were the other three men fined.

A Monument to Hoxsey.

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 4.—The funeral of Arch. Hoxsey, the aviator who was killed last Saturday on Domingues field, was held here yesterday. In deference to the wishes of his mother, the attendance at the funeral was restricted to Hoxsey's personal friends among the aviators and his former associates in his home city.

Officials of the aviation meet just closed joined yesterday in a plan to erect a monument to the memory of Hoxsey on the spot where he met death. The field will be used as a permanent aviation park.

It was announced yesterday that Hoxsey's share of the prizes totaled $6,200.

Douks For B.C.

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—Peter Veregin, head of the Doukhobors, who arrived in this city yesterday morning, says that two thousand more Doukhobors will be removed from Saskatchewan to British Columbia this year. Fifty thousand fruit trees on their 10,000 acre tract in British Columbia came into bearing this year. With removal of these 2,000 there will be 4,000 in each province.

The plan is to have interchange of products. Saskatchewan members will ship oats and wheat to British Columbia and the coast province Doukhobors will ship fruit to Saskatchewan.

Wanted In Baltimore.

Lindsay, Jan. 4.—Abraham Berfield of Baltimore, Md., was arrested at Woodville for theft of $1,000 worth of jewelry and money. He was brought to Lindsay until to-day, when he will be taken back to his home town of Baltimore, for trial. A detective sergeant from Baltimore is with him now. The charge against him is burglary.

Given the Legion of Honor.

Paris, Jan. 4.—M. P. Faguet the general manager of the French Steamship Line in America, has been decorated with the Legion of Honor.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 4, 1911.

HUDSON BAY QUESTION

The Toronto Globe, in an editorial dealing with the Review's proposal as to the solution of the question of the operation of the Hudson Bay, says—

"The weak point about the proposal is that it does not give anyone a substantial interest in diverting traffic settle! Could they [illegible] so manipulate ocean freight rates as to practically nullify the benefit of the short railway haul? Of what avail would it be if wheat were carried to the Hudson Bay at five or six cents a bushel, as compared with eleven or twelve cents to Montreal if the cost were equalized by much higher ocean rates from the Nelson River to Liverpool than from Montreal? It looks as if some one must be made responsible for the through rate from the Saskatchewan grain field to the warehouse in Liverpool or Glasgow if the Hudson Bay Railway is to have a fair start."

[redacted]

The Globe admits that there is nothing very objectionable from either the farmers' or the railways' standpoint in the proposal, as far as the land operation is concerned. It obviously does away with the bad features of government operation, in this case, and yet does not allow the railways to use the "people's road" as a private line, and as an adjunct to an existing system.

As regards the ocean traffic question, it is obvious also, that when the railway can be used only two or three months annually, ocean traffic to the bay terminus is limited to the same period, or less, and as in the case of rolling stock, steamers must be brought from other routes for the rush season only.

The Globe's point of what is "everyone's business is nobody's business" in reference to diverting traffic to the Bay route, is well taken. But, as a rule, steamers will be on hand whenever sufficient traffic offers, and it would be so in this case. In order to regulate ocean rates and secure a reasonable charge, it might be necessary for the government to subsidize a line, on condition of regulating such charges. The subsidy need not necessarily be large, and the government could, in fixing its railway tonnage charges, tax the wheat sufficiently to meet this expenditure.

In securing an equitable through rate, a saving of two or three cents a bushel, is important, and with a short, direct railway haul, there will probably by a big margin between the cost of wheat at the terminal elevators and the cost at Liverpool by other routes—making it possible to give a generous ocean rate from the bay terminus to Liverpool, and still effect a large saving. If such a saving can be made, the shipper will route his grain by the new line, and the railways cannot divert it.

The whole measure is a piece of philanthropy by the people of Canada to benefit the western farmer, but as Sir Wilfrid Laurier has seen fit to promise the construction of the railway, the question of its operation and utilization naturally is a live subject. The Review is of the opinion that carefully worked out—if such a route is at all feasible—its solution for the operation of such a line is the wisest and most conservative course open. It provides for government control of rates all the way—though not actual government operation, which is usually a failure.

—o—

In this connection comes an interesting dispatch from Ottawa to the effect that Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann had a long conference with Hon. Geo. P. Graham, and as a result a bill will be introduced into parliament giving the C.N.R. the right to construct and operate the Hudson's Bay Railway. This will raise a storm in the west, without a doubt, and it indicates that either the government has too close an affiliation with the railway corporations, or it shies at the principle of government ownership and operation.

LOCAL OPTION

The progress of the local option campaign, as shown in the New Year's day voting shows that the dry district is slowly spreading. In twenty-one municipalities, the people decided that they would abolish the bar, and as a result 55 licenses will go by the board. In nineteen municipalities the vote was just a little shy of the necessary three fifths while eighteen decided against dryness. The temperance people blame the three-fifths clause for not being able to make the sweep widespread. The temperance people may agitate a long time before they will secure the abolition of this, perance at last. Times must certainly be hard there!

[redacted]

The Kings New Year's honors include a knighthood for "Bill and Dan" of C. N. Railway fame. This will not, surely, make them benighted.

The Toronto Globe publishes each New Year's a financial survey containing information and statistics of great value in reference to the year's progress in every line of industry. This financial survey contains that which ought to inspire every Canadian with a broader and bigger ideal for Canadian nationalism, to inspire a determination to share in and help along the prosperity that abounds in the Dominion.

After the Holiday Excitement

There are many restful places to recuperate at—nearby is the St. Catharines, Preston and Mount Clemens mineral resorts. The "Highland Inn" at Algonquin Park, you can enjoy the pure air and winter sports, and rest to your heart's content.

A trip to Temagami, Cobalt, Gowganda or new gold fields or Porcupine will suit the prospector.

The Sunny South, Florida, California or Mexico will appeal to those who wish to get away from the cold winter.

Full information, tickets and illustrated literature from Grand Trunk agents, or address J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

LOST THEIR WAY ON RICE LAKE

Special to The Review.

Keene, Jan. 2.—A sleigh load of young people from this village had rather a cold experience on Rice Lake last Thursday night. They were on their way to a neighbor's and the night being stormy they lost their way, and it took them a considerable time before they rectified their mistake.

Owing to the thaw on Monday skating was not indulged in at the rink, but the possibilities are that Jack Frost will soon make good ice again.

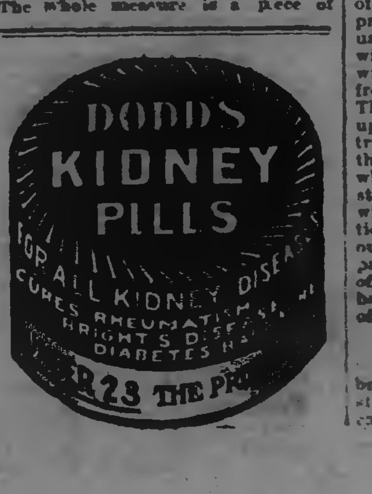
The holiday season is now about transpired, and visitors are returning to their homes and duties again.

Our public school will be opened on Wednesday afternoon. No doubt the children will feel delighted!

Australian Military Training.

The compulsory training of lads in the Commonwealth between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years will probably commence on or about January 1st next. The only persons who will be exempt from the new system will be those who live at long distance from convenient centres of population. The Commonwealth is to be divided up into districts for the purpose of the training. In each of these districts there will be a militia area officer, who will be assisted by two permanent staff sergeants. The staff sergeants will be in charge of the drill instruction, and the militia officer will carry out the administrative work. It is proposed to appoint the militia area officer next month, and they will then be required to attend a special school of instruction.

In Port Huron, John Phipps, a bridge tender, dropped dead as he stood on a street corner waiting for a car to take him home.



GRANULATED EYELIDS Cured

The worst cases, no matter of how long standing, are absolutely cured by

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil

A soothing antiseptic discovered by an Old Railroad Surgeon. All druggists refund money if it fails to cure. 25c, 50c & $1.

Paris Medicine Co. Hodges, Texas.
Dear Sir: I must say that DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING OIL is one of the greatest remedies known to me. I had granulated eyelids so badly it caused blindness for about six weeks. I got a bottle of DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING OIL and up to the time of this writing have used about half of it and my eyes are almost entirely well. I wish every body could know the value of DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING OIL.
Yours truly,
(Signed) CLEMENT BASHAMS

Made by

E W Grove

Maker of

Laxative Bromo Quinine

CLYDESDALE

HONORED TEACHER

Clydesdale Jan. 2nd. — A Christmas tree and concert was held on Thursday evening, December 29th at Clydesdale Presbyterian Church, and proved a great success. Although the weather was very inclement, a large crowd was present.

The programme consisted of the following:

Opening Chorus — The choir.
Chairman's address.
Song — Glory to God, by the choir.
Recitation — Mr. A. Trotter.
Duet — Mrs. Swain and Miss Brown.
Recitation — Miss Martha Campbell.
Solo — Miss Ettie Fletcher.
Recitation — Barbara Donald.
Refreshments.
Speech — Mr. Gilroy.
Gospel Bells by the choir.
Recitation — Mary Campbell.
Duet — Misses Martha and Mary Campbell.
"Let Him In" — Clydesdale quartette.
Recitation — Miss Marion McPherson.
Duet — Mr. and Mrs. A. Blackburn.
Christmas Song — Misses Martha and Mary Campbell.

A presentation of a beautiful Morris Chair was made to Mr. D. S. Campbell, the superintendent of the Sunday School. The following address was read by Miss Marion McPherson.

Mr. D. S. Campbell,

Dear teacher and superintendent,

We, your friends and class, in connection with Clydesdale Church, are here to-night to tender to you the kind regards we esteem you worthy of as a brother man.

Looking back as we do to-night over the great number of years, that you have been a member of this church and teacher and superintendent of the same, our church has undergone many changes, and no doubt you have often been discouraged in the lack of interest taken by the members of your class. But your presence in the house of God, and in the one seat for the vast number of years, has not been without its influence upon us, and not only as class-leader did you show your interest in the church, but in all the departments of church work, financially and otherwise, and also your presence at the board meetings and business foresight has been a source of inspiration to those of us who have to bear the burdens incidental to the success of a church.

And now in conclusion, we desire to tender to you this chair, hoping that you will not look upon, or accept it for its intrinsic value, but as a very slight token of our good-will and appreciation for the services you have rendered, and we trust that the future of your life may be pleasant and profitable, socially and spiritually, and that we may be all kept faithful while here below, is the earnest prayer of your many friends in Clydesdale.

Signed on behalf of the congregation.

Mr. Albert Blackburn presented the chair and Mr. Campbell who was very pleased, and also surprised, thanked the donors very much for their gift which he shall always appreciate as it is so closely connected with the work of the church.

PERSONAL

Mrs. J. Swain and Master Eddie have been guests of Mrs. Blackburn this week.

Misses Etta and Minnie Fletcher are spending the holidays with their parents.

Mr. Marmion Clements and Miss Annie Trotter were visiting the latter's parents a few days.

Miss Ella Brown, Apsley, has been the guest of Miss M. McPherson.

Miss R. M. Bullied, is spending a week at Mr. F. J. Bullied's.

Mr. Robert Knox is visiting in the vicinity.

Messrs. A. Blackburn and J. Lafoe, and Misses Marion McPherson, Ettie and Minnie Fletcher attended the Christmas tree in Apsley, on Dec. 30.

Presenting Cullinan Jewels.

Sir Richard Solomon, High Commissioner of the Union of South Africa, had the honor the other week, on behalf of the Government and people of the Union of South Africa, of presenting to Her Majesty the Queen, in commemoration of the Union of the South African colonies, six diamonds mounted as ornaments and cut out of the well-known Cullinan stone, which was discovered early in 1905 in the Premier Diamond mine, near Pretoria. The two largest of these diamonds, which are considered by experts to be of matchless quality, one weighing 92 and the other 62 carats, have been mounted as a pendant. Three, averaging about 10 carats each, have been mounted as a small pendant, and the sixth diamond as a ring.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, Jan. 3.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day 1¼d higher than on Friday last; corn futures ¾d to 1¼d higher.

At Chicago, May wheat futures closed 1¼c higher than on Saturday, May corn ⅝c higher, and May oats ⅜c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg, May wheat closed 1⅝c higher than on Saturday, May oats ⅛c higher.

	Close Dec. 31.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	95½	96¼	97⅛	96¼	97⅛
July	96⅝	98⅜	98½	98¼	98½
Oats—
May	36⅝	36⅝	37¼	36⅝	37⅜
July	....	....	....	....	37⅜

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 85	to	$0 88
Wheat, goose, bush	0 80		....
Rye, bushel	0 68		0 70
Barley, bushel	0 60		0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48		....
Peas, bushel	0 78		0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37		....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 28	0 30
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Butter—Easy; receipts, 7191; creamery, specials, 30c; extras, 28½c to 29c; third to first, 23c to 27½c; creamery, held, third to special, 23c to 29c; state dairy, common to finest, 20c to 28c; process, common to special, 20c to 24½c; imitation creamery, first, 22c to 23c; factory, held, 22c to 22½c; do., current make, 20½c to 22c.

Cheese—Steady, receipts, 588; state, whole milk, Sept. quality, special, 16⅛c to 17¼c; do., fancy, 15½c; do., choice, 14¾c to 15¼c; do., Oct., quality, fine, 14c to 14½c; do., current make, common to fair, 11c to 13c; skims, 2c to 12½c.

Eggs—Firm; receipts, 8335; state, Pennsylvania and nearby, hennery, white, fancy, 46c to 48c; do., gathered, white, 37c to 45c; do., hennery, brown, fancy, 40c to 41c; do., gathered, brown, 38c to 40c; western gathered, white, 33c to 40c; fresh gathered, extra first, 36c to 37c; do., first, 34c to 35c; do., second, 30c to 33c; refrigerator first, in local storage, 24c to 24½c, do., seconds, 22½c to 23½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Prices Generally Steady on United States Exchanges.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—London cattle market lower for American cattle, at 12¼c to 14¼c, dressed weight, sinking the offal. Refrigerator beef easier, at 9⅜c to 10c.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 3.—John Rogers & Co., Liverpool, cable to-day that the Birkenhead market held very firm; the demand was good, and Saturday's quotations were well maintained, States steers making from 12½c to 13c, and Canadians from 12½c to 13c per lb.

GLASGOW, Jan. 3.—Edward Watson & Ritchie report 300 States cattle offered; steady demand; experienced prime steers, 13½c; secondary, 12c to 13½c; bulls met a sharp enquiry; prime top, 11½c to 12c; secondary, 11¼c.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 3.—Receipts of live stock as reported by the railways were 33 carloads, consisting of 458 cattle, 273 hogs, 190 sheep and lambs, 62 calves, and 2 horses.

Butchers.

The best butchers' steers and heifers sold at $5.60 to $5.90, and a few picked cattle brought $6; medium, $5.25 to $5.50; common, $4.80 to $5.15; cows, $3 to $5 per cwt.; bulls, $4 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

Prices unchanged at $40 to $70 each.

Veal Calves.

Prices remained steady at $3 to $8 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.25 to $4.50; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $5.50 to $5.90 per cwt.

Hogs.

Selects fed and watered at the market, $7.25, and $6.90 to drovers, for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 3.—Cattle—Receipts, 200 head; fairly active and fairly steady.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active; 50c lower; $6.75 to $10.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000 head; active and steady; heavy, $8.35 to $8.40; mixed, $8.35 to $8.50; yorkers, $8.60 to $8.60; pigs, $8.60 to $8.75; roughs, $7.25 to $7.50; stags, $5.75 to $6.50; dairies, $8.25 to $8.60.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 3000 head; slow and steady; lambs, heavy, $5 to $5.50; handy, $5 to $6.65; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.25; wethers, $4 to $4.25; ewes, $3.75 to $4; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Beeves—Receipts, 1220; no trade in live cattle; feeling steady; dressed beef slow, at 8½c to 10½c.

Calves—Receipts, 150; market steady; veals, $7 to $10.75; culls, $5 to $6; westerns, $4 to $6; dressed calves slow; city dressed veals, 11c to 16c; country dressed, 8c to 12½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2850; firm feeling; sheep, $2.50 to $4; lambs, $5.75 to $6.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 4700; strong; heavy to light pigs included, $8.25 to $8.75.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Close—Cattle—Receipts 4400, market strong; beeves $4.70 to $7, Texas steers $4.25 to $5.40; western steers $4.25 to $6; stockers and feeders $3.50 to $5.90; cows and heifers $2.00 to $6.30; calves $7 to $9.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000; strong to 5c higher than earlier; light, $7.85 to $8.20; mixed, $7.85 to $8.20; heavy, $7.85 to $8.25; rough, $8; good to heavy, $8 to $8.25; pigs, $7.50 to $8.15; bulk of sales, $8 to $8.15.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 14,000; strong; native, $2.60 to $4.40; western, $2.75 to $4.35; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.80; lambs, native, $4.75 to $6.45, western, $4.75 to $6.45.

Gallagher Declared Sane.

New York, Jan. 4.—James J. Gallagher, the disgruntled employe of the city, who shot Mayor Gaynor last August, was declared sane last night by a jury in the Supreme Court in Jersey City. He will go to trial today in the same court, on an indictment charging him with shooting with intent to kill William Edwards, commissioner of street cleaning, of New York, who was slightly wounded by one of the bullets directed at Mayor Gaynor.

Entire Block Burned.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 4.—Fire originating in the Hollenberg Musical Co.'s building destroyed an entire block of business houses yesterday morning, loss on the buildings and stocks of goods amounting to $1,000,000.

Seven Storey Building Burned.

Newark, N.J., Jan. 4.—The Knickerbocker storage warehouse, seven storeys high, at 102 Arlington street, was practically destroyed by fire, with its contents. Loss about $100,000.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, maids, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

ON TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27th, GOLD necklace set with pearls; between Fair's and Hall's stores on George St. Liberal reward for return to Review Office. 3d

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF, on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

Wanted

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m. or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel. dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

For Sale or To Rent

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 711 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL

If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street. Opposite Opera House

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell

JAY'S STORES
Phone 623
290 Aylmer St
Peterborough.

EAST CITY

COAL And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 93

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Canadian Pacific Ry. EMPRESSES And other Steamships

ST. JOHN, N.B. and HALIFAX, N.S.

Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Feb. 10, Mar. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

CANADIAN PACIFIC

FLORIDA

CALIFORNIA, CUBA

FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO

You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect.

Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Winter Tours

MEXICO, COLORADO, CALIFORNIA, AND PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

The Grand Trunk Railway System is the popular route from all points east through Canada via Chicago

FEATURES

Double Track, Fast Service. Finest Roadbed. Modern Equipment. Unexcelled Car Service. All Elements of Safety and Comfort.

TO THE SUNNY SOUTH

No more desirable route than via Grand Trunk and connecting lines.

VERY LOW RATES.

Full particulars and tickets from—
W. BUNTON, CITY AGENT. F. SANDY, DEPOT AGENT

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT of the Canadian Northern Ry. System is prepared to obtain

FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—

THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 270, (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 302

ORDER NOW

The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co

248 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S. Eng., L.R.C.P. London. "Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 351, mach 325
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S. Edinb.; M.R.C.S. Eng., L.R.C.P. Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 163 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 462—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 840

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 373 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
Robt. Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post-Office.
Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro. Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 438 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC. Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor.
Louis M. Hayes, K.C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce
R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 376 Water Peterborough. Telephone No 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
— on —
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

The TORONTO SAVINGS and LOAN COMPANY

Paid up Capital - - $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - - - - 800,000.00

Savings Department

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of Deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of Banking.

Security Afforded Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1909 - - $3,129,201.16
Liabilities to the Public - - 1,368,771.86
Surplus - - - - $751,429.30

HEAD OFFICES:
437 George Street., Peterborough
Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Saturdays - 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

W. G. MORROW
Managing Director

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call

328 GEORGE STREET

The Famous Rayo
The Lamp with Diffused Light should always be used where several people sit, because it does not strain the eyes of those sitting far from it.
The Rayo Lamp is constructed to give the maximum diffused white light. Every detail that increases its light-giving value has been included.
The Rayo is a low-priced lamp. You may pay $5, $10 or even $20 for other lamps and get a more expensive container—but you cannot get a better light than the Rayo gives.
This season's Rayo has a new and strengthened burner. A strong, durable shade-holder keeps the shade on firm and true. Easy to keep polished, as it is made of solid brass, finished in nickel.
Once a Rayo User, Always One.
Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the
The Queen City Oil Company
Limited.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"Indeed he is. He is a money maker, too; his associates swear by him. If I were you, my boy, I would study him; he is a good man to imitate."

At the dinner table the talk at first was general and of a character appropriate for the hour, but Miss Wayland, oddly enough, displayed such an unusual thirst for information regarding the North American Packers' association that her father was moved to remark upon it.

"What in the world has come over you, Mildred?" he said. "You never cared to hear about my doings before."

"Please don't discourage me," she urged. "I am really in earnest. I should like to know all about this new trust of yours. Perhaps my little universe is growing a bit tiresome to me."

"So far it has been all hard work," Wayne Wayland at length announced, "but in the future I propose to derive some pleasure from this affair. I am tired out. For a long time I have been planning a trip somewhere, and now I think I shall make a tour of inspection in the spring and visit the various holdings of the North American Packers' association. In that way I can combine recreation and business."

"How far will you go?" questioned Boyd.

"Clear up to Mr. Marsh's station."

"Kalvik?"

"Yes; that is the plan," Marsh chimed in. "You see, I am selfish in urging it, Miss Wayland. I expect you to join the party."

"I am sure you would like it, Mildred," the magnate added.

Boyd could scarcely believe his ears. Would they come to Kalvik? Would they all assemble there in that unmapped nook? And, supposing they should, had he the courage to continue his mad enterprise? It was all so unreal! He was torn between the desire to have Mildred agree and fear of the influence Marsh might gain during such a trip. But Miss Wayland evidently had an eye to her own comfort, for she replied:

"No, indeed! The one thing I abhor above land travel is a sea voyage; I am a wretched sailor."

"But this trip on a yacht would be worth while," urged her father. "Why, it will be a regular voyage of discovery. I am as excited over it as a country boy on circus day."

Marsh seconded him with all his powers of persuasion, but the girl, greatly to Emerson's surprise, merely reaffirmed her determination.

"Are there any women in Alaska?" questioned the girl.

"In the mining camps, yes; but we fishermen live lonely lives."

"But the coy, shrinking Indian maidens? I have read about them."

"They are terrible affairs," Marsh declared.

"Not always!" Boyd gave voice to his general annoyance. "I have seen some very attractive squaws, particularly breeds."

"Where?" demanded the other.

"Well, at Kalvik, for instance—your home. You must know Chakawana, the girl they call 'the snowbird'?"

"No."

"Come, come! She knows you well."

"Ah, a mystery! He is concealing something!" cried Miss Wayland.

CHAPTER VIII.

MARSH directed a sharp glance at Boyd before answering. "I presume you refer to Constantine's sister. I was speaking generally. Of course there are exceptions. As a matter of fact I wasn't exactly right when I said we had no white women whatever at Kalvik. Mr. Emerson doubtless has met Cherry Malotte?"

"I have," acknowledged Boyd. "She was very kind to us."

"Oh, delightful!" exclaimed Mildred. "First a beautiful Indian girl, now a mysterious white woman! Why, Kalvik is decidedly interesting."

"There is nothing mysterious about the white woman," said Marsh. "She is quite typical—just a plain mining camp hanger-on who drifted down our way."

"Not at all," Boyd disclaimed angrily. "Miss Malotte is a fine woman," then at Marsh's short laugh, "And her conduct bears favorable comparison with that of the other white people at Kalvik."

"PARTNERS! WHAT DO YOU MEAN?"

Marsh allowed his eyes to waver at this, but to Mildred he apologized. "She is not the sort one cares to discuss."

"How do you know?" demanded Cherry's champion. "Do you know anything against her character?"

"I know she is a disturbing element in Kalvik and has caused us a great deal of trouble."

It was Boyd's turn to laugh. "But surely that has nothing to do with her character."

"My dear fellow"—Marsh shrugged his shoulders apologetically—"if I had dreamed she was a friend of yours I never would have spoken."

The dinner was finished, and Mr. Wayland had asked for his favorite cigars, so Mildred rose, and Boyd accompanied her, leaving the others to smoke. But, strangely enough, Marsh remained in such a state of preoccupation, even after their departure, that Mr. Wayland's attempts at conversation elicited only the vaguest and shortest of answers.

In the music room Mildred turned upon Boyd. "Why didn't you tell me about this woman before?"

"I didn't think of her."

"And yet she is young, beautiful, refined, lives a romantic sort of existence and entertained you"— She tossed her head, seated herself at the piano and struck a few idle notes, inquiring casually, "Kalvik is the name of the place you are going, isn't it?"

"It is."

"I suppose you will see a great deal of this—Cherry Malotte?"

"Undoubtedly, inasmuch as we are partners."

"Partners!" Mildred ceased playing and swung about. "What do you mean?"

"She is interested in this enterprise. The cannery site is hers."

"I see!" After a moment, "Does this new affair of father's have any particular effect on your plans?"

"Yes and no," he answered, feeling again the weight of this last complication, forgotten for the moment.

"What do you wish me to do?"

"Nothing, only for the present please don't mention my scheme either to him or to Mr. Marsh. I am a bit uncertain as to my course. You see, it means so much to me that I can't bear to give it up, and yet it may lead to great—unpleasantness."

She nodded comprehendingly.

On that very night, in a little snow smothered cabin crouching close against the Kalvik bluffs, another girl was seated at a piano. Her slim, white fingers had strayed upon the notes of a song which Boyd Emerson had sung. In her dream filled eyes was the picture of a rough garbed, silent man at her shoulder, and in her ears was the sound of his voice. Clear to the last melting note she played the air, and then a pitiful sob shook her. She bowed her golden head and hid her face in her arms, for a memory was upon her, a forgotten kiss was hot upon her lips, and she was very lonely.

At the hotel Emerson found Clyde and Fraser in Balt's room awaiting him. They were noisy and excited at the success of the enterprise and at the prospect of immediate action.

Boyd told them little of the news that had startled him earlier in the evening beyond the bare fact that Marsh had floated a packers' trust and that secrecy for the present was now doubly necessary to the success of their undertaking. The full significance of the merger, therefore, did not strike his associates, even when on the train the next day they read the announcement of its formation in the newspapers. Balt alone took notice of it and fell into a furious rage at his enemy's success.

No sooner were they fairly under way for the west than Emerson began the definite shaping of his plans. He and George carefully went over the many details of their coming work and sent many messages, with the result that outfitters in a dozen lines were awaiting them when they arrived in Seattle. Without loss of time Boyd installed himself and his friends at a hotel, secured a competent and close mouthed stenographer, and then sought out the banker with whom he had made a tentative agreement before going to Chicago. Mr. Hilliard greeted him cordially.

"I see you have carried out your part of the program," said he, "but before we definitely commit ourselves we should like to know what effect this new trust is going to have on the canning business."

"You mean the N. A. P. A.?"

"Precisely. Our Chicago correspondent can't tell us any more than we have learned from the press—namely, that a combination has been formed. We are naturally somewhat cautious about financing a competitive plant until we know what policy the trust will pursue."

Here was exactly the complication Boyd had feared; therefore it was with some trepidation that he argued:

"The trust is in business for the money, and its very formation ought to be conclusive evidence of your good judgment. However, you have backed so many plants such as mine that you know as well as I do the big profits to be taken."

"That isn't the point. Ordinarily we would not waver an instant, but the Wayland-Marsh outfit is apt to upset conditions. If we only knew"—

"I know," boldly declared Boyd. "Mr. Wayland outlined his policy to me before the public knew anything about the trust."

"Indeed? Are you acquainted with Wayne Wayland?" asked Mr. Hilliard, with a new light of curiosity in his eyes.

"I know him well."

"Ah, I congratulate you. Perhaps this is—er—Wayland money behind you?"

"That I am not at liberty to discuss," the younger man replied evasively. "I have taken steps to sell my season's output in advance. The commission men will be in town shortly, and I shall contract for the entire catch at a stipulated price. Is that satisfactory?"

"Entirely so," declared Mr. Hilliard heartily. "Go ahead and order your machinery and supplies. By the way, what do you know about the mineral possibilities of the region back of Kalvik?"

"Not much; the country is new. There is a—woman at Kalvik who has some men out prospecting."

"Cherry Malotte?"

"Do you know her?" asked Boyd with astonishment.

"Very well indeed." Then, noting Boyd's evident curiosity, he went on. "You see, I have made a number of mining investments in the north. My operations have turned out so well that I keep several men just to follow new strikes."

"Has Miss Malotte made a strike?"

"Not exactly, but she has uncovered some promising copper prospects."

"H'm! That is news to me."

Three weeks passed quickly in strenuous effort, and then one morning the partners awoke to the realization that there was little more for them to do.

Through it all Clyde had lent them enthusiastic if feeble assistance, and now that the strain was off he gave fitting expression to his delight by getting drunk. Being temperamental to a degree, he craved company, and, knowing full well the opposition he would encounter from his friends, he annexed a bibulous following of loafers whose time hung heavy and who were at all times eager to applaud a loose tongue so long as it was accompanied by a loose purse. Toward midnight "Fingerless" Fraser, cruising in a nocturnal search for adventure and profit, found him in a semimaudlin state, descanting vaporously to his train, and upon catching mention of the Kalvik fisheries snatched him homeward and put him to bed, after which he locked him into his room, threw the key over the transom and stood guard outside until assured that he slept.

At an early hour the adventurer was peremptorily roused to find Emerson hammering at his door in a fine fury.

"What is this?" demanded Boyd through white lips, thrusting a morning paper before Fraser's sleepy eyes.

"It's a newspaper," yawned the other—"a regular newspaper."

"Where did this story come from?" With menacing finger Boyd indicated a front column, headed:

NEW ENEMY OF THE SALMON TRUST!

FIRST GUN FIRED IN BATTLE FOR FISHERIES!

N. A. P. A. Promised Bitter Fight For Supremacy of Alaskan Waters!

"I don't know."

"You don't know?"

"No; I never read anything but the 'past performances' and the funny page. What does it say?"

"It is the whole story of our enterprise, but ridiculously garbled and exaggerated. It says I have headed a new canning company to buck the trust. It tells about George's feud with Marsh and says we have both been secretly preparing to down him. Good Lord! It's liable to queer us with the bank and upset the deal."

"I didn't give it out."

"It is all done in your particularly picturesque style," declared Emerson angrily. "Alton swears he knows nothing about it, so you must have done it. It is too nearly correct to have come from a stranger."

"Well?" inquired Fraser quietly.

"The harm is done, but I want to know who is to blame." When the other made no answer except to stare at him curiously he flamed up, "Why don't you confess?"

For the first time during their acquaintance "Fingerless" Fraser seemed at a loss for words, but whether for shame or some other motive his companion was unable to tell. His nature was so warped that his emotions expressed themselves in ways not always easy to follow, and now he merely remarked, with apparent sullenness:

"I'm certainly a hot favorite with you." He clambered stiffly back into bed and turned his defiant face to the wall, nor would he meet his accuser's eyes or open his lips, even when Boyd flung out of the room, convinced that he was the culprit.

"WHAT IS THIS?" DEMANDED BOYD.

A telephone message summoned him to the bank at 11 o'clock the following morning.

"That means trouble," he told George.

"Maybe not," the big fisherman replied. "If Hilliard took any stock in the story it seems like he'd have jumped you the next day."

"Our machinery is ordered. You realize what it will mean if he backs water now?"

"Sure! We'll have to go to some other bank."

"Humph! I'll wring Fraser's neck," muttered Emerson. "We have troubles enough without any new ones."

It was with no little anxiety that he asked for the banker at the appointed hour and was shown into an anteroom with the announcement:

"Mr. Hilliard is busy. He wishes you to wait."

Inside the glass partition Boyd heard a woman's voice and Hilliard's laughter. He took some comfort in the thought that the banker was in good humor at least; but, being too nervous to sit still, he stood at the window, gazing with vacant eyes at the busy street crowds. Facing him across the way was a bulletin in front of a newspaper office, and after a time he noted idly among its various items of information the announcement that the mail steamer Queen had arrived at midnight from Skagway. He wondered why Cherry had not written. Surely she must be anxious to know his progress. He should have advised her of his whereabouts.

The door to Hilliard's office opened, and he heard the rustle of a woman's dress, then his own name spoken, "Come in, Mr. Emerson."

His attention centered on the approaching interview, he did not glance toward the departing visitor until she stopped suddenly at the outer door and came straight toward him with outstretched hands.

"Boyd!"

He checked himself and turned to face Cherry Malotte.

"Why, Cherry," he ejaculated, "what in the world"— He took her two hands in his, and she laughed up into his face. "In the name of heaven, where did you come from?"

"I arrived last night on the Queen," she said. "Oh, I'm glad to see you!"

"But what brings you to the States? I thought you were in Kal"—

"Sh-h!" She laid a finger on her lips, with a glance over her shoulder to the inner office. "I'll tell you about it later."

"Mr. Hilliard will see you now, sir," the attendant announced to Emerson.

"I must talk to you right away!" Boyd exclaimed hurriedly. "I won't be long. Can you wait?"

"Certainly; I'll wait right here, only hurry, hurry!"

The pleasure of seeing her was so genuine that he squeezed her hands heartily and entered Hilliard's sanctum with a smile on his lips.

Soon he returned. The smile was gone from his face. Hilliard had now refused to make the loan of $100,000 required for the enterprise. He told Cherry. "We must have the money or we are ruined," said the girl.

"Yes," answered Boyd wearily. He made an engagement to meet Cherry later and went to visit three other bankers, but they all turned his proposition down.

CHAPTER IX.

CHERRY the next day demonstrated her power over all sorts and conditions of men by reducing the blase young clubman to a state of grinning admiration. "Fingerless" Fraser alone had been missing from the coterie. He had discovered them from a distance, to be sure, and came over to exchange greetings with Cherry, but the disastrous result of the fellow's garrulity was still so fresh in Boyd's mind that he could not invite him to join them, and Fraser, with singular modesty, had quickly withdrawn, to wander lonesomely for awhile till sheer ennui drove him to bed. His dejection awakened little sympathy in Boyd, who felt happier for the removal of his irritating presence.

In the morning Boyd was brought sharply back to a realization of his difficult position by a letter from Mildred Wayland.

"Father and I had another scene over you," wrote Mildred. "It was the first quarrel we ever had, and I'm half sick as a result. I simply can't bear that sort of thing, and we have agreed to drop the subject. What roused him to such a sudden fury I'm sure I don't know."

Boyd knew, however, and the knowledge did not add to his comfort.

It seemed, indeed, as if the trust's enmity had marked him in the eyes of the whole financial world. He was again denied assistance at the banks, and this time in a manner to show him the futility of further effort.

In his perplexity he turned naturally to Cherry, who listened to his tale of repeated failure with furrowed brows, pondering the matter as seriously as if the responsibility had been her own.

"The battle has begun sooner than I expected," she said at length. "I never dreamed they could fix the banks so quickly."

"Somehow I can't believe this is the work of the trust people. I don't see how they could acomplish so much in so short a time. Why, it came like a thunderclap."

"I hope I am wrong," she answered, "but something unexpected must have happened to change Mr. Hilliard's attitude. What could it be except pressure from higher sources?"

To be continued.

An anti-tuberculosis hospital to accommodate four counties of Ohio, is being planned.

A Richibucto School Teacher
Once a Dyspeptic—Now Well, Thanks to Father Morriscy's No. 11.
Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 17th 1909.
Father Morriscy Med. Co., Ltd.,
I have been teaching school for upwards of thirty years, during the last twenty-five of which I have suffered seriously with stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia.
I have tried many remedies, and while I would get temporary relief from some of them, yet the old trouble would return, and with it the sufferings only known to the chronic dyspeptic.
Last year I had made up my mind to abandon my profession, feeling that in my condition I could neither do justice to myself or to the many pupils under my charge. A friend suggested to me that I try Father Morriscy's No. 11 Stomach Tablets; I did so, and have continued to use them with the result that my stomach trouble is cured—my indigestion and dyspepsia gone and I feel as well as I ever did.
I have, thanks to the Tablets, been able to continue in my profession, and feel that I am once more enjoying my work and am able to give justice to the fifty-four pupils under my care.
Yours Gratefully,
(Signed) MARY CHRYSTAL.
Are you one of the many thousands who, like Miss Chrystal, are prevented from doing their best work, or really enjoying life, by stomach trouble?
If you are you cannot do better than she did—take Father Morriscy's No. 11 Tablets.
Each No. 11 Tablet, when dissolved in the stomach, will digest 1½ pounds of food—a good, hearty meal—so that no matter how weak your stomach may be No. 11 Tablets will enable you to get the nourishment out of your food and build up your strength, while the stomach, thus relieved, recovers its vigor.
50c. a box at your dealer's or from the Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N. B. 94
Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
CURE
Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing
SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured
HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head
ACHE
Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.
Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.
Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU
During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.
Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	85	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada
Represented by
W. H. HILL
159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 14, Bell or Machine.

He Planted a Barn.

Perhaps the most remarkable barn in the world is owned by Harold Mackubbic, a farmer at Lloydminister, Saskatchewan, in Canada's northwest. When building the structure several years ago he was short of money and timber was scarce. He used green willow for the corner posts and sides, setting them into the ground in a vertical position.

The following season he found that the posts had roots and were growing rapidly. That fall the floor of the barn, which before had been on the ground, was three feet above the ground level. A year ago the barn was on stilts nine feet high, and the owner put another story underneath, making the original one-story barn a two-story structure.

The lower floor is now two feet from the ground, the willows are growing rapidly, and the farmer looks forward to the time when he can put in a third story, when, so he says, he will convert the structure from a barn into a dwelling and live in it.

Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities
Cold Storage
In Full Operation
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

FANCY GOODS
AT BARGAIN PRICES
All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.
MRS. M. J. BYRNE
494 GEORGE ST PHONE 228

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices
J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING
Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, in other stores.
Contracts taken. We call for and deliver
TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 357

A Macey Sectional Bookcase
Would Make an Excellent Christmas Gift in Many Homes
The "MACEY" have points in quality that place them ahead of all other makes.
Absolutely NON-BINDING DOOR, Variety and Beauty of designs and moderate prices give them the lead. Call and see them and get prices.
MADE IN CANADA
Agents for Peterborough
437 George Street CLEGG'S FURNITURE STORE 'Phone Number 79

Greetings

We desire to extend to our many patrons the compliments of the season and to present our best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

NUGRNT DRUG Co.

A. J. Johnston, Prop. A. A. Fowler, Phm.B. Eyesight Specialist

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on WateSt , and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters

Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to ren
MONEY TO LOAN.

C. BLEWETT, 332 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1321.
House Phone 506

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Menold

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY C. ROBINSON.

Mrs. Henry C. Robinson, aged 33, passed away Monday morning at her home, Lansdowne street, North Monaghan, after an illness of about three months. She is survived by her husband and three children, two boys and a girl. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs G. H. May, of Monaghan, and one brother, Bert, of Preston, are also left to mourn her loss.

The deceased was a member of the St. James Methodist church. She was an active worker in the church circles and was president of the Junior League and Ladies' Aid Society.

The funeral will take place from the late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Service will be held at the house at two o'clock, Rev. J. G. Brown officiating.

MRS. GEORGE ROBINSON

A very highly respected resident of Otonabee in the person of Mrs. Geo Robinson, died at noon to-day at her home, Lot 24, Con. 1. She was about sixty-seven years of age, and had only been ill since Sunday, having contracted a severe cold.

There is left to mourn her loss, her husband, Mr George Robinson, two sons and two daughters, namely Charles of New York, William of Peterboro, Ada at home and Mrs. Geo Gillespie of Peterboro: also three sisters and two brothers, who are Mrs James Donnel, Mrs. Clemens and Mrs Kate Andrew of the city, Mr Dawson Kennedy and Mr. John Andrew of the city.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon to Little Lake cemetery.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WERE OPENED

Good Attendance of Pupils—New Principal Commences Duties

The Public schools opened this morning for the new year with a good attendance of pupils.

Principal Park took charge of the Ashburnham school. This is the only change on the city teaching staff. Miss Elliott is appointed supply teacher.

BOUGHT COLLIER ELECTRIC CO.

Toronto interests have purchased the Collier Electric Co. plant and will remove it to Uxbridge.

Mr. H. B. Collier informed the Review that in the future he would confine his attention to the Budd-Collier Co., Ltd., Toronto.

THE CANADIAN LADY

For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C. Elliot, 390 George Street.

THE ELECTIONS AT LAKEFIELD

Park by-Law Was Carried—J. F. Lillicrap New Member of School Board

A big issue in the municipal elections this year was the by-law for the purchase of Hague's Point for park purposes. The property is finely situated just opposite the wharf and the by-law to purchase it was carried by a majority of thirty-five after a stiff fight. The land will be purchased from the Hague estate of Peterborough.

The reeve and council for the village were returned by acclamation. J. F. Lillicrap was elected to the school board and Dr. Gibson will have to retire.

Adams' Great Cash REALIZATION SALE

For 15 Days, Commencing

Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash

You Want the Goods

Store Opens Wednesday Morning at 9 o'Clock.
Don't let anything keep you away.
Bargains all over the store.

Harry Adams

SEMI-ANNUAL LONELY SALE of Men's

SUITS, OVERCOATS, FURNISHINGS, SHOES

You Say, "Why Are They Lonely"?

We answer, "any person who has been left alone is lonely—any article left alone after the season's selling is lonely; therefore, the articles here advertised are lonely, and as such we wish to fine new homes for them"—this is the lonely sale ; the first one of the new year 1911. ¶ Every six months we collect all our broken lines together and price them so low, that the ridiculousness of the reduction appeals to the men (young and old) to such a degree that our lonely sale is made a semi-annual banner event among the male population of Peterborough and vicinity. Every man, who values the $1 at 100 %, watches these sales with expectancy and is never disappointed. The Lonely Sale this season will be doubly popular owing to the fact that we are sacrificing Men's Shoes as well as the usual Clothing and Furnishing stocks.

Winter Suits and Winter Overcoats—all the latest of the present season's styles and cloths, but the lonelies after a brisk season of selling, will be sacrificed far more than you could reasonably expect when you consider the real worth of the Semi-ready garment in comparison with the ordinary ready mades. Every lonely garment must find a new home. we have no further use for them. You can save money and get more real satisfaction by purchasing now. Note the following reductions :

ALL $25.00 OVERCOATS $16.80

Any $25 coat in the wardrobes for $16.80. This includes heavy ulsters made of Irish frieze, and cheviots in double breasted style with the long lapel and coat collar, also the natty Prussian style, and a few of the best blacks and greys with velvet collar and fly fronts, in ¾ lengths Every one worth $22 50 and $25. Lonely Sale Price $16.80

ALL $20.00 OVERCOATS $13.80

We still have several elegant overcoats in stock; mostly fashionable ulsters, all of this Fall's style in a good assortment, hardly two alike, being the lonelies from the season's selling There are however nearly all sizes from 35 to 42; some of these have the silk velvet collars on plain grey and fancy patterned cloths. Your choice of our entire stock of $20 coats for $13 80

CHOICE OF $18.00 OVERCOATS $11.80

Good black melton cloth, well made in single breasted fly front style with silk velvet collar; some very stylish ulsters in handsome 1910 11 patterns. coats which have sold well during the early part of the winter, to the best dressers, at $18, coats which appeal to the young man, the middle aged and the old man—coats for all at our Lonely Sale Price $11.80

$20 FANCY SUITS FOR $13.90

That's because they're lonely; they're lonely because they were the best sellers. 33 suits, A1 styles and cloths, made of all wool imported tweeds and worsteds, in medium and dark shades; nearly all sizes, but only one suit of each kind. There are different types, but not all types in every line. All labelled $20, and worth it Lonely Sale Price........ $13.90

$1.00 to $1.50 NEGLIGEE SHIRTS 79c

About 100 odd Shirts from our regular stock of negligees, all good Shirts, but only 2 or 3 of a pattern, all sizes, but not all sizes of each line; made of imported Zephyrs, Madras, Percales and French Cambric; W G R, Van-Allen, Crescent and Forsyth makes, regular $1.00 to $1.50 values, Lonely Sale Price. . 79c
(3 for $2.25)

DOLLAR WOOL UNDERWEAR 69c

5 dozen odd wool Shirts and Drawers, including Scotch knit, and elastic ribbed, in Penman's and other good makes mostly all sizes, but not all sizes in every line. Final clearance of every odd garment in stock at $1. Lonely Sale Price........ 69c

LONELY $15.00 OVERCOATS $9.90

$9.90 seems a small price to pay for an overcoat when the season is hardly half over and the weather man promises a deal of cold weather yet. These are our $15 lines in both ulster and King Edward styles; all the season's best $15 goods but—like the other lines have become broken and must be sacrificed. Now's your chance—Lonely Sale Price $9.90

BLUE AND BLACK SUIT REDUCTIONS

Seldom do you find any store reducing their best lines of blues and blacks; that's the rule, here's the exception—We have a number of lines which we are about to discontinue in the coming season; good staple styles and cloths and extra good value at the price. The following reduction does not apply to all our regular blue and black stock—just the lines specified.

$15 SUITS $10.90. $18 SUITS $12.90
$20 SUITS $14.90. $25 SUITS $17.90

Both single and double breasted styles, and sizes ranging from 34 to 44.

$22.50 AND $25 FANCY SUITS $16.90

Lonely—Lonely—Lonely. They're all lonely and must be cleared out during this sale, These suits represent the best selling lines of the season, otherwise they wouldn't be lonely; all having the semi-ready label. Values are $22 50 to $25.00. Lonely Sale Price $16.90

$15 FANCY SUITS $9.90

Just as well tailored as the best $25 suit in the trade—of course the cloth value is the regular $15 Semi-ready kind in a splendid assortment and all bear the "hall mark" of good tailoring; all Fall and Winter 1910-11 styles, up-to-date cut and extra quality trimmings throughout. Lonely Sale Price $9.90

$18 FANCY TWEED SUITS $11.90

27 suits made of good all wool fancy tweeds in nobby patterns, all this Fall's and Winter's styles; also a few good imported and domestic worsteds well made garments and guaranteed perfect in every particular; all suits labelled with the Semi ready label and price [$18] which is a guarantee of perfection and value All sizes 34 to 44. Lonely Sale Price $11.90

20c LINEN COLLARS 5c EACH

30 dozen or more of odd lines of Linen Collars—lines we are discontinuing, good styles, good quality—some badly soiled; while they last. Lonely Sale Price. .... 5c each
6 FOR 25c

DOLLAR MOCHA GLOVES 79c

3 dozen pair. Men's Mocha Gloves good quality with heavy wool lining, all sizes, in regular dollar gloves. Lonely Sale Price.. 79c

$1.25 AND $1.50 STIFF SHIRTS 69c

10 dozen stiff bosom Shirts, in both light and dark effects, attached or detachable cuffs. sizes 14 to 17 ; all standard makes, W. G. and R.. Van Allen and Tooke's, regular up to $1.50. Lonely Sale Price.... 69c

A SNAP IN LONELY TROUSERS

$4.00 Odd and Lonely Trousers for $2.98—Odd because they are bought to sell as odd garments, lonely because they are the remnants of sold out lines. $2 98, because we wish to clear them out quickly, Good quality worsteds in good patterns and correct cut. Worth $4. Lonely Sale Price.... $2.98

$3 and $3 50 Trousers $1.99—20 pair of good all wool tweeds (and a few worsteds,) well made and trimmed. 5 pockets, mostly dark shades. Regular $3 and $3 50. Lonely Sale Price........ $1.99

Also $5 Trousers $3.90 ; $6 Trousers $4.85.

Lonely Shoes to be Sold at Lonely Prices

A stock of Shoes, like every other line of goods, gets broken and odd pairs are left to ultimately become a nuisance and will in time get out of style. We will not have this. As a line becomes broken and a few odd pairs of shoes are left on hand we reduce the price so low that they are picked up quickly with the result that our stock is always fresh and well assorted. The Lonely Sale will do this, Note these price reductions :

MEN'S $5.50 AND $6 SHOES $2.98

Seventy-nine pair of Men's patent calf and velour and box calf shoes in both straight lace and blucher cut styles; goodyear welt, several different lasts to choose from; sizes 5 to 10, but not a complete range in each line. There are also a few pair of heavy black and waterproof tan shoes, with vulcanized soles, leather lined throughout, all regular $5.00 to $6.00 values. Lonely Sale Price $2.98

FELT SHOES AND GAITERS 99c

Cold weather driving is made comfortable when you wear the felt shoe. 30 pairs only of Men's felt shoes and gaiters with leather soles and some with leather vamps; regular $1.75. $2.00 and $2.50 values. Must be cleared out entirely during the Lonely Sale at only 99c

BEST DOLLAR RUBBERS 79c

100 pairs only of the best quality "Maltese Cross" brand of Rubbers, in all men's sizes, to fit different lasts, always sold at $1.00 and $1.10 throughout Canada. For Lonely Sale only, at per pair 79c

Through the Arch to the Toggery Shop

Crossman's

$3.50 AND $4.00 SHOES $1.98

Lot No. 3 including our Men's $3.50 and $4.00 shoes—every pair goodyear welted and made of good quality leather; vici kid, velour calf and patent, and nearly all sizes in the lot a good selection to choose from—all splendidly fitting lasts and stylish. Your choice during the Lonely Sale while they last at only $1.98

LOT No 2—$4.50 and $5 SHOES $2.48

130 pairs of Men's shoes [all our stock of Canadian made footwear], which sold formerly at $4.50 and $5.00, including patent leathers, velour calf, box calf, and vici kid bals, both in narrow and wide toes in different lasts; all sizes 5 to 10½, every pair goodyear welted and perfect in every particular. Lonely Sale Price $2.48

Telegraphy

Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service

Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

STENOGRAPHY

We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING

Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES

Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.

Call, write or phone for particulars.

Peterboro Business College

(Founded 1883)

McKONE & BURNS - Principa
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 WATER-ST. PHONE No. 590

New Piano Warerooms
— and —
Real Estate Office

TAYLOR & WOOD
390 WATER STREET

Newest Styles —in— Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

823 George-st. New McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery with a the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 628 170 Charlote Street

Walk Right In -

—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL - SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
264 George Street,

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers

TO-NIGHT

Also Matinees, Wed. Jan. 4th at 2.30 and 4.00 p.m. Price 5c

We have the Finest Vaudeville and Best Moving Pictures ever brought to this City

MISS ALICE PLUMMER and MISS SHEA JO, in their Novelty Singing Act

ED. BOLTON, in His Great Head Balancing and Singing Act

First Class Orchestra. Two Shows nightly at 7.30 and 9.00 p.m.

Prices only 5c & 10c

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
SATURDAY, JANUARY 7
Matinee and Evening

Chas. A. Sellon's English Pantomime Trick Spectacle, The Merry Musical Extravaganza

THE 'CAT AND THE FIDDLE

19 Song Hits — 20 Gorgeous Scenes

40 People with HARRY B WATSON and the Boylans
Different from other Musical Comedies

Prices— MATINEE, 25c, 50c, and 75c; Children when accompanied by an adult 25c any seat
EVENING—50c, 75c, $1.00, and $1.50; Gallery 25c
SEATS ON SALE THURSDAY

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Special for This Week

With every purchase amounting to $1 (not sugar) we will give free, one dust pan. W. Robuck, Water and Smith streets. dtf

Dancing Class

New term beginning Friday, Jan. 6th. Children 4.30. Adults 8 p. m. Conservatory Music Hall, under direction of Miss Ivy Coventry.

Sergeants' Annual

The annual meeting of the Garrison Sergeants' Mess will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in the Armouries. Members are asked to attend in uniform.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited. George St.

St. John's S. S. Teachers

St. John's Sunday school teachers meet to-night, after the service at 8.30, in the guild room. A good attendance is hoped for

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

Names Were Omitted

The following names were inadvertently omitted from the list of contributors to St. Joseph's Hospital, published in yesterday's issue:—

Mr. M. J. Carroll, $5.

Mr. P. McMartin, Otonabee, $5.

Mr. Wm. Collins, grocer, box of choice table raisins.

Mrs. J. K. Moore, handsome fern.

Mr. Geo. Plunkett, turkey and side of pork.

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets, etc, catered for.

A NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

Millinery Sale

MISS McGIVERIN

offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings

—At Cost—

The opportunity is one that should be availed of.

The values are surprisingly good.

No. 431 George-St
Phone 1385.

WEDDING BELLS

BOWERS—McLAREN.

A pretty church wedding occurred in St. James' Methodist church on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Miss Ada Bowers and Arthur McLaren were united in marriage by Rev. J. G. Brown, pastor of the church. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of the immediate friends and relatives of the young couple.

The bride was assisted by Mrs. E. Read, while the groom was supported by his brother, William McLaren. Mrs. Rehill, organist of St. James' played the wedding march.

The bride was given away by her uncle. After the ceremony a dainty wedding luncheon was servved.

Mr and Mrs. McLaren will reside on Chamberlain street.

PAYNE—PATTERSON.

A charming wedding of much local interest was solemnized in Kingston on Tuesday when Miss Elizabeth C. Payne, of that city, was united in marriage to Mr. Franklin Bruce Patterson, of Peterborough. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. John Payne, of Kingston, and for the past few years has been a popular teacher on the Lakefield Public school staff.

The bride was attired in a handsome travelling suit of broad-cloth and was unattended. Rev. J Mackie, of St. Andrew's church, Kingston, performed the ceremony, at the residence which was most attractively decorated with smilax and carnations. Only a few intimate friends were present.

At the conclusion of the occasion Mr. and Mrs Patterson left on the twelve o'clock C.P.R. train for Toronto and other western places of interest. They on their return, will reside at 495 King street, Peterborough.

At the school of which she was teacher, the bride was presented with an exquisite cut glass bowl by her pupils as an evidence of their high estem for her. The young couple were also the recipients of many other beautiful gifts.

ARGUE—LOWE

Winnipeg Free Press — A pretty Christmas wedding was enacted in Zion Methodist Church, at Roland December 21, when Rev. G. F. McCullagh united in marriage Miss Caroline E. Lowe, to Christopher Argue, of Winnipeg. The church was appropriately decorated with flowers, white bells, ribbon and silk draping. The bride, who looked handsome in an ivory duchess satin semi-princess gown with pointed over skirt trimmed with baby Irish lace and yoke, and sleeves of beaded net and carrying a bouquet of cream roses and ferns, was given away by her father and was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Effie Lowe, dressed in pale blue silk voile trimmed with same shade satin and silver braid and large blue velvet hat and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was assisted by E. Moffat, of Winnipeg. C. W. Climie and Stanley Jones were the ushers. After the ceremony, the guests repaired to the bride's home where a dainty wedding luncheon was served. The tables were prettily decorated with carnations, ferns, ribbon and holly. The groom's gift to his bride was a handsome set of mink furs, to her assistant a solid gold brooch, to the organist, a pearl and amethyst brooch, to the groomsman solid gold pearl set tie pin. The young couple left, via St. Paul, Chicago and Detroit, to spend their honeymoon in Toronto, Lindsay Peterborough and other eastern cities. The bride travelled in a pretty suit of ashes of roses broadcloth lined with cream silk serge and trimmed with silk and braid to match and wearing a large velvet hat of the same shade.

ROBB—DOWNIE.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Janet Downie, 575 Aylmer street, yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, Helen Robena Downie was united in marriage to James MacLachlan Robb, of Regina, Sask.

Only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present. Rev. R. Pogue, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Robb left on the 5.35 G.T.R. train and will reside at Regina.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I noticed in your issue of last night, a letter from "some one, somebody, some person or something" with reference to the proposed legislation re Protestant Home, and remarked that in the event of the mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee of Peterborough being Roman Catholics, etc., etc. Holy old Moses! Man, you're crazy! The idea! A Roman Catholic, mayor of Peterborough, the Mecca of intolerant Protestants so far as Roman Catholics are concerned. Say, old fellow, do not bother your head any more about the matter, for when Peterborough will have a Roman Catholic mayor, there will be no use for a Protesatnt Home in the vicinity, for Protestants here, have not fairness enough in them to elect even one Roman Catholic alderman, and the Roman Catholics have not spunk enough to support one.

Yours, etc.,
KING WILLIAM.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, JANUARY 6TH

Special Engagement of

IAN ROBERTSON
IN
"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK"
BY JEROME K. JEROME
FULL ENGLISH COMPANY.

Prices 50c, $1.50. Seats Now on Sale

SUPPLEMENT MEETINGS

The supplementary meetings the West Peterborough Farm Institute will be held as follow

Stewart's Union Hall, Otom Thursday, January 5th, at 1.30 7.30 p.m.

lane of Smith, Orange 1.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Council hamber, Peter y, at 1.30.

ghan Town Hall, S at 7.30.

"THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE

"Hey Diddle diddle, The Cat and the Fiddle,"
The cow jumped over the moon,
The little dog laughed to see such sport,
And the dish ran away with the spoon."

The above is a nursery rhyme that perhaps every man and woman and child knows, and when it is learned that it has been taken as a theme on which to found the plot of a musical extravaganza entitled, "The Cat and the Fiddle," it at once becomes interesting. This mammoth production comes to the Grand, next Saturday, Jan. 7, matinee and evening. It is shown in three acts and 19 gorgeous scenes. What could be better for extravaganza than this old wonder story enhanced with sweet music, beautiful scenic environment, entrancing maidens, grotesque characters etc. It is claimed that the full possibilities of such a theme have been reached here.

"The Cat and the Fiddle" is new here, but its success last season being well remembered as one of the most notable events of the theatrical year.

The most marvellous stage settings, illusions and transformations are still wonderfully given, and 15 song hits mostly new, are cleverly sung.

That exceptionally funny girl act, "The Undressed Kids," is still a feature, also, "The Dancing Beauties" "The Dashing Widows," "The School Maids "The Water Witches" and "Mother Goose's Doll Babies", a new dancing number. Harry B. Watson is the principal fun maker and is ably assisted by a host of others including, Geo. E. Hart, J. O. Campbell, Geo. E. Wakefield, Lawrence Gothard, the clever animal impersonator who portrays the gigantic "Cat" the Boylans, Rose and Arthur, Marty Martz and many others.

Seats go on sale to-morrow (Thursday) evening.

Grand Opera House

To-night (Wednesday) is the last night to see Miss Plummer and Miss Shay in their wonderful singing and novelty act. Also Ed. Bolton, the Equilibrist. These are two very clever acts, and no one should miss seeing them; and the moving pictures are the largest and best in the city. Don't forget to go to the Grand Opera House to-night at 7.30 or 9.00 o'clock. Prices only 5c and 10c.

To-morrow (Thursday) night, a complete change of vaudeville and pictures. Murry Bros., the great Banjoist who played before the King and Queen of England; Kitty Stevens, the novelty character singer. These acts are just from London, England. Be sure and see them at the Grand Opera House.

FLOOR BACK

Much has been written and more said, about this unique production, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" (which comes to the Grand Opera House on Friday, January 6), which fully justifies its description, as "an extraordinary play." It is not tragedy; it is comedy; it is nearly an allegory; it is almost a parable. It has its moments, its thrills, but these are not of the swashbuckling, ultra-melodramatic order. Here, we have no deadly duels, no hair-breadth escapes, but simply the metamorphosis of a few distinctly disagreeable specimens of our species, into a happy and contented coterie of friends through the influence of a gentle, lovable being who comes from nowhere, and passes thither when the noble work is done. It is beautifully simple, but, of a truth, simply beautiful. The scene throughout is a room in a Bloomsbury boarding house, but the gloomy setting only throws into greater relief the brilliance of the playplay, and, after all, my masters, "the play's the thing!" The prologue introduces us to the proprietress and boarders in this "eminently respectable establishment." From her landladyship to the garrulous slavey, we recognize true types of decent people, all, in reality, but so encrusted with the littleness, narrowness, and sordidness of their environment, that the once-apparent qualities are entirely submerged, and their impressions are even as described in the dramatic personae of the prologue; a cheat, a snob, a bully, etc. Here they come, full of petty strifes, jealousies and scandals. The landlady seeks new means of cheating her "guests"—the city shark and his Satellite plot to entrap the unwary and share the shekels—the painted lady and the female snob revise their latest lies, the bully and the shrew declare an unholy truce and endeavor to force their daughter into the arms of the rich, but repulsive satyr. She, loved by the coward, is herself both coward and cowed, and will sell herself; while the slut-slavery—hazey and disreputable—pursues her dreary drudgeries, and apostrophizes the rest as "a rotten lot, every one of 'em."

Into this sordid company comes the sweet-faced, silver-haired stranger; his eyes deep wells of restfulness, his voice as the murmur of waters that soothe. About him is a fascination, an atmosphere of charm and spell, and yielding to its subtle and benign power these world-tarnished ones anew discover what so long has lain latent—the better self. The change is marvellous, but only because so real, so natural. So the stranger, his mission accomplished, passes from their ken. Silently he steps out into the fog, his face illumined with no earthly radiance, and softly the transfigured maid, "Stasia," closes the door behind him. Truly the Gospel according to Jerome, is beautiful.

TINGUISHED SPEAKER FOR C. C. DINNER

e Hon. Clifford Sifton, chair of the Commission of Conserva will deliver an address to the bers of the Canadian Club on Tuesday evening, the 10th inst., at the National Hotel.

Dinner tickets are now on sale at the Hotel, and members are urged to secure them early.

LOST

A SMALL GOLD PIN, SET WITH PEARLS. Finder please leave at this office. 62-3t

Some Special Bargains AT ROUTLEY'S

Crockery and China Section

30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each	5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each	5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each	15c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice	$7.48
10 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge	3.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, kermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration	3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decoration, choice	3.85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleek. It will pay you to see them. Only per set	20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times our price, choice	24c

Specials

54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of rolled gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at	$2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at	54c

We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at

TORONTO 262 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 379 George-st.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE | Friday, Jan'y 6th

Jerome K. Jerome's Remarkable Play

"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK"

Entirely all-English company with IAN ROBERTSON.
This remarkable play ran:
12 Months in London, Eng.
7 Months in New York.
Is now approaching its 2000th performance.

Seat sale opens to-morrow morning. Prices 25c to $1.50

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $550,000.00 — PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and specia letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY

MERSON & CO.

Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange

16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

VIOLATIONS OF THE LAW IN EASTERN ONTARIO SCHOOLS

Department of Education Has Received Complaint in Otonabee Case—What Was Done in Other Cases

In reference to the school situation in S. S. No. 8, Otonabee, the Review has been notified by the Department of Education that a complaint has been filed, and an investigation ordered.

In this connection the official report of the investigation into irregularities in schools in Eastern Ontario is herewith published, as the complaints seem to resemble in some particulars those in the Otonabee case.

The official report is—

INSPECTORS' REPORT.

The public school inspectors in the counties of Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell have just finished the investigation ordered by the government into those schools in Eastern Ontario, wherein violations of the school law took place. This report covers all violations of law complained of. The inspectors were instructed to visit all the schools to enquire into the complaints made, to forbid all illegal practices, and to stop any unpaid portions of the Legislative grants where the school continues to be conducted in defiance of the Act and regulations. The inspectors have carried out their instructions, and the following brief summary of their reports shows what has been done—

No. 16, Roxborough, Stormont—During 1910 this school was conducted according to law, except that reading of Scripture was omitted; the trustees and teacher promise to observe the law in all respects; grant recommended to be paid.

No. 10, Finch, Stormont—Found that Roman Catholic prayers and catechism were used in school hours; both French and English taught; all pupils French; trustees have been notified of illegalities and teacher told to teach more English; grant withheld pending satisfactory assurances.

MUST CEASE CATECHISM

No 10, Lancaster, Glengarry—School attended by both Protestants and Roman Catholics; catechism has been taught a quarter of an hour each day during school hours; teacher instructed to cease doing so; inspector thinks law is observed

No. 9, Caledonia, Prescott—During school hours Roman Catholic prayers and catechism; grant withheld pending receipt of trustees' certificate to observe the law.

Nos. 13 and 14, Caledonia and South Plantagenet—Roman Catholic religious exercises contrary to law; English well taught; grant withheld.

No. 14, E. Hawkesbury—Defective teaching of English and use of Roman Catholic prayers in past years, but now there is well qualified teacher and law is observed.

L'Original—Complaints of insufficient English taught and religious exercises contrary to law; inspector finds English fairly well taught; Roman Catholic prayers used and school closed on holy days three or four times a year; trustees have undertaken to stop this and to observe the law.

Unions 13 and 14, Plantagenet and Cambridge—This school now conducted according to law; charge that two trustees ignore the third is true.

TOO MUCH FRENCH.

No 1, Cambridge—Complaints here of too much instruction in French; catechism in school hours and closing of school on church holy days; inspector reports that, considering the conditions, English teaching is fair; grant withheld until law is obeyed.

Nos. 12 and 11, Cambridge and Russell—Complaint here of catechism in school hours and Roman Catholic teachers always employed; this case is in the courts; inspector finds school now conforming to the law; grant withheld.

No 1, Cumberland—Roman Catholic prayers during school hours; with a poor teacher the French instruction causes loss of time to English-speaking pupils; at present good teacher with satisfactory instruction in both languages; grant withheld pending assurances that inspector's instruction is being followed.

No. 16, Cambridge (given as No. 4 Cambridge)—Complaints of catechism in school hours; of children being allowed to go home at 2.30 p.m., and of poor English instruction; present teacher is doing fairly well, the English is still weak; no Protestant pupils attend the school; children of Form I. are allowed to go home at recess.

MUST GIVE ASSURANCES

No. 10, Clarence—Teacher has promised to stop teaching catechism at recess, no complaint made to the inspector since June, but grant is withheld as in other cases, until satisfactory assurances are received from trustees.

COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON

To DAVID WILLIAM DUMBLE, ESQ., Police Magistrate, and may justice be ever tempered with mercy.

To WILLIAM GEORGE MORROW, ESQ., Mayor of Peterborough, and may his second term do him credit and the city renown.

To EDWARD CORNELIUS STANISLAUS HUYCKE, ESQ., Judge of the County Court, County of Peterborough, and may the scales of justice ever register pounds of convictions to tons of acquittal.

To HAMILTON MUNRO, ESQ., Manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., Ltd., and may his light so shine before men that they may see his good work, etc.

To WILLIAM COLLINS, ESQ., Lockmaster and useful citizen, and may his gates never stick nor his lines slacken.

To ARTHUR STEVENSON, ESQ., Lieut.-Col., Commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, and may he be first in war, anywhere in peace and ever in the regard of the regiment.

To JOSEPH HARRIS McCLELEAN, Esq., Superintendent of the Trent Canal, and may he never get out of his depth.

To EDWARD MORROW ELLIOTT, ESQ., Clerk and Treasurer, the County of Peterborough, and may they count on his able services for the next hundred years.

To ROLAND M. WADDELL, ESQ., President of the Peterborough Curling Club, and may he skip the winning tankard rink.

To SIMON B. ARMSTRONG, ESQ., the City Clerk of Peterborough, and may he long be a worthy example of accuracy, fidelity and good common sense.

To EDWARD HARRY DOUGLAS HALL, ESQ., Councillor-at-Law, and City Solicitor, and may his good advice keep the city free from vexatious dispute.

To THOMAS A. S. HAY, ESQ., City Engineer, and may his pavements be to grade and his roads to the public liking.

To JAMES KENDREY, ESQ., Manufacturer, and may his woollens be, as they have been, the standard for the Dominion.

To GEORGE A. GILLESPIE, ESQ., President the Peterborough Board of Trade, and may he bring factories galore and new industries not a few.

To HENRY [illegible] KENNER, ESQ., Principal the Collegiate Institute, and may his teaching be a torch to lighten the paths of the citizens of the future.

To DUNCAN WALKER, ESQ., Principal the Normal School, and may he teach teachers tautological terminology to the teacher's taste.

To FRED. M. DELAFOSSE, Librarian the Peterborough Library, and may his patience exceed the thickness of his volumes, for he'll surely need it.

To THOMAS EVANS BRADBURN, ESQ., Member the House of Assembly, and may his majority never decrease.

To JAMES ROBERT STRATTON, ESQ., Member the House of Commons, and may he capture the blue ribbon of the stables always early and ever often.

To WILLIAM HENRY HILL, ESQ., Member the Peterborough Water Commission, and may he consider his handsome majority as a measure of public confidence.

To Henry LeBRUN, ESQ., Merchant and Citizen, and that he may speedily recover health is the hope and wish of us all.

To the NEWLY ELECTED CITY COUNCIL, and may it discuss thoughtfully, act wisely and spend judiciously during 1911.

Robert Duncan, of Evansville, Ind., sued for a divorce because his wife insists on bathing her pet poodle in the family dishpan.

There is Only One

"Bromo Quinine"

That is

Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E W Grove

WEEK OF PRAYER SERVICES

Bright and Well Attended Meetings at All Saints' and Murray St.—To-night at St. Luke's and Charlotte Street.

Week of Prayer services were held last night in Murray St. Baptist and All Saints' Anglican churches. They were both well attended and most helpful to those present.

At All Saints' the devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Langford, of St. Luke's, and the address given by the Rev. Mr. Coon. The subject was "The Fruit of the Spirit," and was based on the 5th chapter of the epistle to the Galatians. The fruit of the Spirit is sanctification; our sanctification is Christ. The agent who joins the individual to the Christ, as the branches are joined to and receive their life from the vine, is the Holy Spirit. St. Paul gives us nine constituents of that sanctification. The first three are the relation of the Christian Godwards, and are love, the basic principle of all things holy; joy and peace, resultant virtues of that love. The others manifest themselves in our life among men, and are longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance or self-control.

At Murray St. the Rev. R. Pogue conducted the devotional part of the meeting, while the Rev. G. W. Henderson gave the address. His remarks were based on Zech. IV. 6, "Not by might, not by power, but by My spirit," and were most inspiring. This text went back to the days of the rebuilding of the temple after the captivity. At that time there were three classes of people, the enemies of the Book, those who were friendly but fearful, those who had faith. All needed the same lesson—that the temple could be built, not by might or power, but by the spirit of God. These three classes of people had their counterpart to-day. That which the church requires to-day to convince startle the world is no complex machinery, but the spirit of God. The most modest church which has the power and presence of the Spirit will become a mighty influence in the community yet, while the work of building the temple was done by the Holy Spirit it was done by human instrumentality, and the Holy Spirit does choose men to do the work of the church of God.

The meetings to-night are in St. Luke's Presbyterian and Charlotte St. Methodist. They begin at 8 o'clock. Come! The subject is "The Conviction of the Holy Spirit."

KINDLY REFERENCE TO RETIRING MEMBER OF BOARD

Resolution Appreciative of the Services Given by Mr. D. W. Dumble Passed at Last Meeting of 1910 Board of Education—Reports Dealt With

There were present at the final meeting of the Board of Education for 1910, held last night, Messrs. L. M. Hayes, K.C.; D. W. Dumble, W. H. Hill, John Crane, B. F. Ackerman, Col. Miller, T. H. Adams, Robert Fair, Dr. Morrison and Dr. Burnham.

Reports and communications were disposed of, the latter being two from the Canadian Casualty and Boiler Insurance Co., in which was reported that the boilers at the Collegiate Institute and King Edward school were in satisfactory condition, having been tested on December 5th.

The interesting feature of the meeting was the passing of a resolution, expressive of the Board's appreciation of the services of Mr. D. W. Dumble, the retiring member.

Mr. W. H. Hill, in moving the resolution, referred to Mr. Dumble as one of the oldest and most esteemed members of the Board. He had ever been faithful to his duty. The Board had never had a member who had done more work or given better services. Mr. Dumble had scarcely ever missed a meeting. He was retiring full of honors, having given his best in the cause of education. "I am sure we will regret he is retiring," concluded Mr. Hill, "and we wish him long years of health and prosperity."

Dr. Morrison, in seconding the resolution, held that without reflection on any member of the Board, he could say that no man had given so much of his time and service to the Board as had Mr. Dumble. Dr. Morrison referred to the invaluable services given by him to the building committee.

Chairman Hayes, in tendering the testimonial, expressed his appreciation of Mr. Dumble's services to the Board and its chairman.

Mr. Dumble, in reply, said it was natural for him to take part in such work. He had come to Peterborough in 1863, and his children had been taught in the local schools. He was proud of having been associated with the Board and took pleasure in assisting to get the best results. He was proud of the institutions where all children, side by side, were being taught. The boys and girls had the best of associations in the school and and he had never heard of any complaint.

Peterborough was to be congratulated on her schools, in which there was equal advantage for every pupil. His associations with the Board had been of the highest. Courtesy and kindliness had been extended to him and all had worked to get the best results. While he was reluctant to retire, it was with the feelings of high respect and good-will for the members that he left the Board.

Mr. L. M. Hayes, K.C., who has completed his two years as chairman of the Board, tendered his resignation, and referred to the courtesy and kindness which had been extended to him by the Board, collectively and individually.

MONIES RECEIVED.

City Treasurer, municipal grant	$6,100.00
Civil Service Commission, for use of room in old Collegiate	10.00
Text book fees	248.73
Government grant re Normal School	1,12.500
	$ 7,783.73

COLLEGIATE ATTENDANCE.

	On roll.	Ave.
Form IV	26	24
Form 3A	27	24
Form 3B	34	32
Form 3C	25	23
Form 2A	30	28
Form 2B	39	37
Form 1A	38	35
Form 1B	36	34
Form 1C	38	34
Com I	31	27
Com II	21	18
Totals	350	316

H. R. H. KENNER, Principal.

P.S. ATTENDANCE.

	On roll.	Ave.
Central	409	391
South Central	379	360
Queen Alexandra	278	262
King Edward	312	292
East City	213	194
West Ward	174	156
Totals	1765	1655
Kindergartens	172	151
Grand total	1937	1806

Time of fire drills from 35 to 60 seconds.

A. MOWAT, I.P.S.

ACCOUNTS PRESENTED.

Higgins Hardware Co.	$ 7.62
Peterborough Examiner Co.	16.50
Hendry Co.	5.40
R. J. Soden	4.80
Peterborough Lumber Co.	2.50
Wm. Gibbs	1.25
R. Hicks & Co.	105.13
A. F. Hoover	4.00

—Finance Committee.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

Peterborough Hardware Co.	8.47
Macfarlane Wilson Co.	1.25
Adam Hall	3.20
Peterborough Lumber Co.	2.75
Peterborough Examiner	3.25
A. F. Hoover	2.00
Peterborough Typewriter Co.	1.25

Your committee also recommend that the treasurer be paid the sum of $15.00 for petty cash.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE, Chairman.

That the payment of the following accounts be confirmed:

Peterborough Typewriter Co., account for tables	$ 12.00
Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium, rent of gymnasium for November	100.00
Dominion Express Co., express on goods to Collegiate Institute	1.25
H. Edmondson, carting ashes	2.00
J. H. Vance, account for weather strips	63.20
F. J. Drake, carting ashes	2.50

SPORTING NEWS

SHOTS FROM PUCKLAND

Kingston has withdrawn the senior team from the O.H.A. Richardson the backbone of the seven leaves shortly for England

A report says Cobourg intermediates will be shy Crossen and Turpin for this season. Crossen is to go out west, while Turpin has quit the game.

Toronto Star—The Peterborough Junior O.H.A. team are no longer known as the Peterborough Colts. They are now the Peterborough Grillers. The lightest man on the team weighs 154 pounds and Billy Breen has them in grand shape. Referee Harvey Sproule says that the Grillers were steaming 43 knots an hour on end in the slush at Cobourg. The team was selected from 17 candidates.

The intermediates will practice tonight and every player should be out, ready to put in one solid hour.

The Bootless Burg is gathering its junior material from the town league and will send a strong representation here to meet Billy Breen's youngsters

The juniors were at it hard last night, and will make a big attempt to put one over on the Lindsay seven in the game billed for Friday night. The team will, barring accidents or sickness, be the same as played in Cobourg on Monday night.

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

The Intermediate Gym. Class are holding a sleighing party to Lakefield this evening leaving the building at 6.45 p.m.

The Snowshoe Club will hold a tramp to-morrow, Thursday, Jan. 5 leaving building at 8 p.m., to which you are invited.

The following games are down for competition in the intermediate Basketball League, Thursday evening, Rowdies vs. Saw Bones, Maple Leafs Pirates.

TOWN LEAGUERS PLAY HOCKEY

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 2nd.—The first game in the town hockey schedule took place at Rose's rink on Wednesday evening, when the town and C.P.R. teams clashed in a very interesting brand of the winter game, the railroad men taking the honors with a 7—6 score. Being the first game of the season no spectacular features were shown in the early stages, but after the first quarter some very good combination work was done at times by both teams, but it was easily seen that neither team had practiced together very much. Mr. Leonard Bennet handled the bell. The line-up was as follows:—

Town Team—Goal, Ray Williams; cover, H. Gracey; point, W. Miller; rover, Wm. Rose; centre, S. Young; right, J. Bohan; left, T. Warner.

C.P.R. Team—Goal, D. Tomlinson; cover, F. Easton; point, H. Cameron; rover, A. Ferguson; centre, C. Herrington; right, J. McGill; left, A. Curry.

The next game takes place on Wednesday next, when the school team meets the town. The balance of the schedule is as follows:—

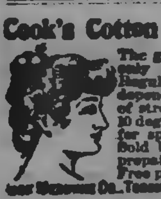
School vs. Town—Jan. 4th.
C.P.R. vs. School—Jan. 11th.
Town vs. C.P.R.—Jan. 18th.
Town vs. School—Jan. 25th.
Town vs. C.P.R.—Feb. 1st.
C.P.R. vs. Town—Feb. 8th.
School vs. Town—Feb. 15th.
C.P.R. vs. School—Feb. 22nd.

All games will start at 7.30. The school will practice on Friday night, the town on Monday and the C.P.R. on Thursday night.

Fourteen Families Homeless.

Pittsburg, Jan. 4.—Fire caused by a gas explosion yesterday destroyed nine business houses and two large tenements, besides damaging several other buildings at Woodlawn, a new steel town on the Ohio River just below this city. The fire burned itself out, the firemen having insufficient hose to fight it. Fourteen families were made homeless. The loss is estimated at $60,000.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.



The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

CURLING

Curling

Five rinks of curlers started in the annual schedule, at the curling rink last night.

The scores:

J. D. Craig	A. H. Burland
W. S. Dodds	D. Rees
J. A. Cameron	W. A. Gallagher
W. G. Ferguson	G. S. Clarke
Skip—17	Skip—12
A. Archibald	S. J. Stubbs
E. C. Macleod	J. D. Collins
R. M. Merritt	G. Hill
R. M. Waddell	C. N. Brown
Skip—10	Skip— 8
J. Trew	J. Grant
F. Brownscombe	J. Hogan
J. A. Aylmer	D. Eason
J. H. Connal	J. H. Ferguson
Skip—19	Skip— 4
J. Cunningham	J. E. A. Fitzgerald
L. Dobbin	Dr. Amys
W. H. Denham	T. Brightman
T. F. Matthews	T. Lockhart
Skip—13	Skip—11
H. Meredith	C. F. Barnett
R. Dunne	G. Hatton
A. L. F. Hall	Dr. McCulloch
D. Davidson	W. J. Thompson
Skip— 7	Skip—12

DRAW FOR TO-NIGHT.

Brightman vs. Eastwood.
Foote vs. Morrow.
Stevenson vs. Greer.
Hicks vs. Wightman.
Henderson vs. Medd.

THE MAT

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 3.—Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, tonight declared he resigned the honor in favor of Yousef Mahmout and said he would back Mahmout, against Hackenschmidt for $20,000, part of which was posted to-night.

The announcement was made by Farmer Burns from the ring in which Hackenschmidt and Jess Westergaard were preparing to wrestle. Burns stated that $1000 had already been deposited by Gotch and that the remainder would be posted at any time the challenge was accepted.

Mahmout and his manager appeared in the ring and the Bulgarian offered to wrestle Hackenschmidt on the spot for nothing or for any amount.

Hackenschmidt worked an hour in an attempt to throw Westergaard twice, but failed to secure one fall, the Dane being awarded the match.

No man is so rich he can afford to lose friends nor so poor he needs to buy them.

Take your accidents of life by the handle and they become pioneer's axes for new ways.

It's finer being a very small piece of sunshine than a very large bank of fog.

The folly of casting pearls before pork lies in that we ought to begin with pumpkins.

When the system gets "all run down" build it up with

O'Keefe's Special Extra Mild ALE

Write for Our List of Investment Bonds
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC UTILITY INDUSTRIAL
TO YIELD FROM 4% to 6%
WARREN, GZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Traders' Bank Bldg. TORONTO. 25 Broad St. NEW YORK.

COAL
THAT IS COAL
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON
Hardwood
First-Class. Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

SANTAL-MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles
MIDY

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS
Skates Sharpened and Repaired
MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1264

The First Impression

Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in

The Stationery He Uses

If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to

THE REVIEW

for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are:—

Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.

Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—

REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

Bright Brains Count

Headaches, Biliousness, Bad Stomach, Weak Kidneys, dull the brain.

Brighten up with

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

25c and 60c a bottle.

LAKEHURST ITEMS

Lakehurst, Jan. 2. — The masquerade party held at the home of Mr. E. Irwin on Tuesday evening, was quite a brilliant affair. Almost all the young people of the vicinity attended, and the large variety of costumes, formed an attractive as well as amusing spectacle.

The Christmas tree and concert held last Monday evening was quite successful, the programme was good, and the tree laden with a generous supply of gifts, which made happy the hearts of all the children present.

At the nomination which was held in the Town Hall, on Monday afternoon, the present Reeve and Councillors were re-elected by acclamation. One of the most interesting proceedings of the afternoon was the singing of a song by Mr. Mimot, which was composed by himself and dealt with the virtues of our Board of Council.

The annual school meeting was held in the school on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. W. Elliott was elected trustee in place of Mr. McGuire, who intends going west in the spring.

The Starlight Mission Band met at the home of Miss Annie Smith on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mina Smith of Peterborough spent Christmas at her home here.

Miss Mae Smith of Little Britton is spending the holidays with her parents.

Miss Ethel Clarkson of Peterboro spent Christmas under the parental roof.

Miss Ethel Coons, who spent Christmas with her parents here, left a short time ago, for Keene, and afterwards, we understand, for Montreal.

Misses Elizabeth and Jean Smith of Peterboro spent Christmas at their home here.

Misses Elizabeth and Susie Weir, are spending the holidays with their parents.

Miss J. Surplice, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. R. Shaw.

Messrs. F. and B. Esson, spent Christmas at Lakehurst.

Mr. Orok spent Christmas at his home in Barrie, and Mr. Caldwell supplied his place in the Presbyterian Church here last Saturday.

Mr. Bert Atkinson of Nogey's Creek spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. A. L. Shearer. He had some trouble in getting there, as he was forced to break a new road, which proved rather rough travelling, the snow was so deep, and the road so rough, that he was finally compelled to abandon his cutter, and lead his horse the remainder of the way. We are sorry to learn that on the return trip, he had the misfortune to break his cutter.

Mr. and Mrs Jas Renwick, of Kent, are visiting Harvey friends just now.

Mr. Geo. Esson of Cavan is renewing old acquaintances in this vicinity this week.

Mr. W. J. Weir, who has been spending his holidays at home, left on Friday for Netherhill, Sask., where he intends to teach school.

DON'T SCRATCH YOUR HEAD!

CAUSE — A little dandruff germ gnawing down into the roots of your hair is the cause of this dreadful itching.

EFFECT — The effect unless stopped is bald spots, falling hair — dandruff is a disease you should stop at once.

CURE — Parisian Sage is guaranteed to be death to and a certain destroyer of the dandruff microbe. They cannot live where Parisian Sage is.

HOW OBTAINED — Druggist, Wm. Madill, supplies Parisian Sage at 50c a large bottle and guarantees it.

MONEY BACK IF IT FAILS

We know what it can do and make this statement in good faith, but you must make sure it's Parisian Sage you are using. See that the Girl with the Auburn Hair is on the package. Sent postpaid from the Giroux Manufacturing Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

Beginning Jan 1, every piece of granite shipped out of Barrie, Vt., is to bear a copyrighted Barrie trademark.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.00 a.m. 9.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.26 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 2.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.25 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

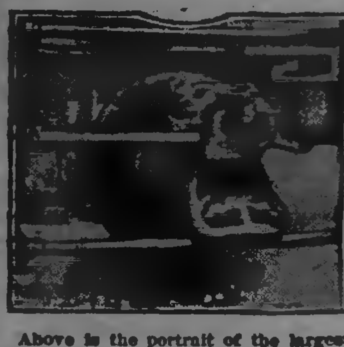
11.38 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

5.36 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Ovensville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.36 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

For the Children

A Hippo Very Patiently and Quietly Waiting For His Dinner.



Above is the portrait of the largest hippopotamus in the New York zoo. He is hungry and waiting for the attendant to bring his dinner along. You can see by his open smile that he is able to take a pretty large mouthful. In captivity the hippopotamus is fed grass and hay, bread, carrots and various other vegetables. When the keeper feeds bread the hippo simply opens his mouth and lets the man pitch the loaves into his cavernous maw.

In their native habitat, Africa, hippos are sometimes found as much as fourteen feet long and nearly five feet high, but they usually are much smaller. They delight in water, living in lakes and rivers and feeding on water plants and the herbage growing near the water. They are good swimmers and divers and can remain under water eight or ten minutes.

A Roland For an Oliver.

"A Roland for an Oliver" is an expression that dates from the time of Charlemagne. Roland was his nephew and, like the great Charles, was eight feet high. Oliver, a celebrated knight of the same period, was quite a match for him, and they agreed to test their respective strength and skill in a combat on an island in the Rhine. The contest lasted five days without the slightest advantage to either. If Roland got in a well directed blow his opponent gave him quite as good a one in return, or if Oliver performed a feat of extraordinary skill Roland was sure to match it with a movement quite as adroit. It was a remarkable and altogether unsettled combat, and it gave rise to the saying "a Roland for an Oliver" when a person who has attacked another receives a blow or a retort fully equal to what he has given. Whatever it may be that is received, a return in kind is often called "a Roland for an Oliver."

Elephants Good Workers.

Elephants are used in every department of sawmills in Burma. In the work of piling logs they show great intelligence. One elephant will drag a log out of the water to the saw bench and place it with his tusks on the table, while his mate waits at the other end, ready, as soon as the buzzing circular saw has converted the round tree into a four sided log, to lift it off the bench, place it on the ground and drag it out to the storage yard, where he puts it carefully into position, placing one log exactly on top of the other. Elephants can pile logs as high as their foreheads. When the squared logs are wanted for shipment the elephant picks out the required number and drags them down to the waterside. If it is necessary he enters the river and holds the logs in position while they are being bound together by the raftsmen.

Portrait—A Game.

In the game called portrait one person leaves the room while the others choose the name of some one they all know. The person on re-entering the room has to guess the name selected by asking questions, which must be answered only by "Yes" or "No." For instance, "Is it a man?" "No." "Is it a woman?" "Yes." "Is she married?" "No." "Is she tall?" "Has she fair hair?" "Are her eyes blue?" "Is she in this room?" and so on till the portrait is recognized.

Sometimes the company choose the one who went outside to be the portrait, which naturally makes the guessing rather more difficult.

What Feet Are These?

There's a foot that's played all over our land.
There's a foot that is often seen in the sand.
There's a foot that crosses many a stream
And a foot we sometimes strike in a dream.
There's a foot that marches in rain or shine
And a foot that has measured many a line.
There's a foot which makes for our feet a rest
And a foot which is heard from east to west.

Answers.—Football, footprint, footbridge, footboard, foot soldier, footrule, footstool, footstep.

Conundrums.

What is a soldier's definition of a "kiss?" A report at headquarters.

Why is a crow like a lawyer? He likes to have his caws (cause) heard.

Which is the hardest of all soaps? Cast steel (castile).

Why does a duck go under water? For divers reasons.

What killed Julius Caesar? Roman punches.

When will there be only twenty-five letters in the alphabet? When U and I are one.

The wife or daughter of a citizen of Arkansas will christen the 26,000-ton battleship 'Arkansas' at Camden, N. J., on January 14, 1911.

A GASTRONOMIC JOY.

Old English Recipe For the Famous Soupe a la Crecy.

In the "Illustrated London Cookery Book," by Frederick Bishop, late cuisiner to St. James' palace, Earl Grey, the Marquis of Stafford, Baron Rothschild, Earl Norbury, Captain Duncombe and many of the first families of Great Britain (1852), we find this recipe for soupe a la Crecy:

"Cut half a pound of lean ham in dice, three onions, four turnips, twelve carrots (the outer side red only), a head of celery, a fagot of sweet herbs, two blades of mace, six cloves, a bay leaf and half a pound of salt butter. Fry all down in a stewpan until they get a little brown; then add some second stock and stew until all the roots are quite tender; then rub it through a tammy sieve or tammy cloth with two long spoons. If very thick add more stock. Season with cayenne and black pepper and salt and a good bit of sugar. Send up on a napkin some nice fried bread cut in small dice and not greasy."

This is far less elaborate than it sounds and is, indeed, in the main the recognized recipe for the royal soup. The spice is, if anything, a trifle overdone, and the carrots want to be well chosen, as the slightest stringiness destroys the homogeneity of the compound. The bread dice are important and should be fried in the very best butter or superlatively good olive oil.—Pall Mall Gazette.

CORDITE.

Made of Two Powerful Explosives Kneaded Into Paste.

Cordite is the outcome of the strange paradox that if you mix together two powerful explosives the result is a smokeless slow burning powder. Nitroglycerin and gun cotton mixed together with a little petroleum jelly make cordite. It is curious to see the two deadly explosives being kneaded together into a paste by women with the same unconcern as dough is kneaded for bread. Indeed, machines similar to those used in bakeries take up the work and knead the buff colored cordite paste for seven hours. Then it is forced through molds and issues in long cords—hence the name cordite—the thickness of which is varied according to the weapon in which it is to be used.

For big guns cordite is half an inch thick and cut into lengths of thirty-seven inches. Rather more than a thousand of these cordite sticks packed in two bundles make up the cartridge for a twelve inch gun. For the rifle cordite is pressed into a very thin string, like the finest macaroni, and sixty of these strands one inch and a half long make the neat little bundle which lies inside the cartridge case. For some European armies cordite is made in flat thin strips like whalebone. Kept away from fire, cordite can be handled with impunity.—London Graphic.

Mountains of Moab.

Most travelers who visit the Holy Land content themselves with a visit to that restricted part west of Jordan. The mountainous regions of Moab as seen by them from Jerusalem are lost in a purple haze that constantly hangs over them, and the great stretches beyond are covered in mystery. This is true partly because of the fewer historical incidents connected with the eastern regions, but mainly on account of the great abyss of the Jordan valley that has always acted as a barrier. Few who descend into the valley 1,300 feet below sea level undertake to climb the hills beyond, which rise to a height of 3,000 feet. Though its glory is far outshone by that of western Palestine, still, both in the old and the new dispensations, it has a history of its own and from an economic standpoint will always enter very largely into the life of Palestine.—Christian Herald.

Victor Hugo's Double.

Victor Hugo had a real double in flesh and blood, who exploited his physical resemblance to the man of genius. He cut his beard like Hugo's, copied the master's dress in its smallest details and so for eighteen years divided with the master the admiration of the public. His especial delight was to pose in a poetical attitude in front of a Punch and Judy show. He did this at a particular spot every Thursday afternoon for years, thoroughly enjoying the murmurs of curiosity and applause proceeding from the gaping crowd which he deceived. We do not hear that he reaped any other reward but his pleasure.

Didn't Like the Suit.

"Sir," said the young man as he entered the library for the purpose of interviewing the father of the only girl, "I am in love with your daughter. Have you any objection to my suit?"

The old man looked the y. m. over from head to foot.

"I sure have," he replied. "Why, I wouldn't wear a misfit suit like that to a dog fight. Why don't you try some other tailor?"—Chicago News.

It Generally Is.

Greatly to the pride and pleasure of his father, Lord Rosebery's second son, the Hon. Neil Primrose, was elected to Parliament for a division in Cambridgeshire.

During the contest, however, reference was constantly made to Lord Rosebery's opposition to the budget, which his son supported.

On one occasion the candidate was asked whether this action on the part of his father did not amount to "hitting below the belt."

"Exactly," said Mr. Primrose, "But when one's father does hit one, it is generally below the belt."

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

WHAT IS A LADY?

What is a lady? Oh, not a pert miss
Greeting her friends with a smirk and a kiss,
Calling them "angel" and 'darling' and 'dear."
Always affected, and never sincere!
Dressed to perfection, rouged, perfumed and curled,
Known not beyond her own frivolous world;
Courted by many, but honored by few
Pitied and shunned by the honest and true!

Learning false arts at "Frivolity's School,"
The toast of the rake, and the fop, and the fool;
Flaunting her beauty at concerts and balls,
Skating-rinks, operas, afternoon calls!
Singing 'slang songs" in unmusical tones,
Or whispering foul scandals with "Dear Mrs. Jones,"
Whose lips sweetly murmur, "I thought it was so!"
Whose heart cries, "The idler! I wish she would go!"

Tattling, backbiting, all the long day,
Shedding no blossoms of truth on her way;
A poor silly butterfly, foolish and vain,
Shrinking in terror from sorrow or pain.
Where is the sweetness, the womanly grace,
That giveth a charm to the homeliest face?
Not in this "Leader of Fashion," and so
She is no lady, dear girls, you must know!

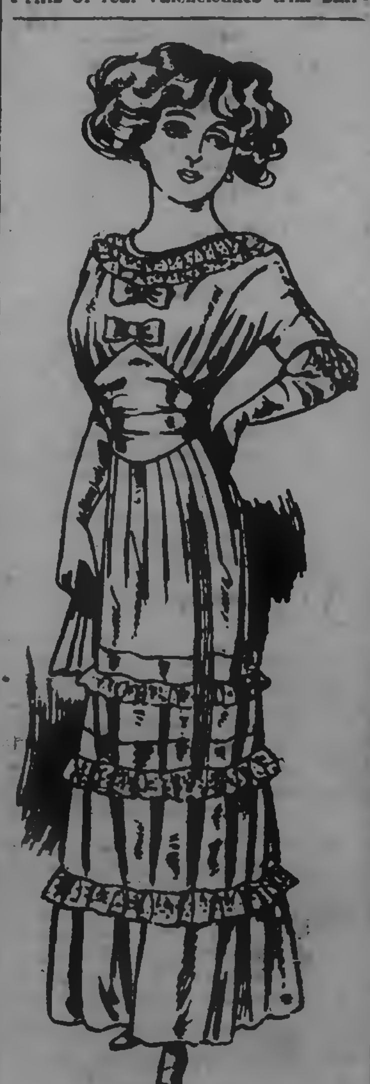
What is a lady? An angel of light,
Toiling for others from morning till night!
Modest, retiring, wise, thoughtful and kind,
Gracious, benevolent, pure, and refined!
Bearing her gifts to the cottager's door,
Honored and loved in the homes of the poor.
Too sacred her smiles for the fool or the rake,
Though wise men and true men would die for her sake.

Dignified, sensible, patient, and brave,
Simple and natural, tender and grave!
Greeting the weary with soft, loving words,
The friend of the children, the flowers, and the birds.
There is love in her glance, there is balm in her smile;
Her lips breathe no scandal, her heart knows no guile;
By the side of the cradle she trills her sweet song,
Busy, industrious, all the day long.

What is a lady? A blessing to life,
All worthy the title of "mother" or "wife";
Trained in the school of religion and truth,
A comfort to age, and a guardian to youth.
Black, brown, or golden-haired, she must be fair,
Empress or peasant, her life is a prayer,
Be she in satins, or home-spun arrayed,
This is the lady that Nature hath made.

PRETTY DANCING FROCK

For the holiday dances, the college girl needs pretty, simple evening frocks and we suggest to-day a charming model in pink messaline. Frills of real Valenciennes trim skirt at intervals below bias bands of the silk, put on as indicated. A double frill of lace finishes the neck of the otherwise plain bodice, made kimono style, and the high-shaped girdle is of the material.



Police of Troy, N.Y., captured Geo. Dall, a noted cracksman.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The Winnipeg street railway strike has been settled.

Samuel Purser, Division Court Clerk at Port Hope, is dead.

A monument to Gen. Wolfe was unveiled by Lord Roberts at Westerham.

The seven-year-old daughter of William Reddick of Carlow Township lost her life through her clothing catching fire.

The spherical balloon Hildebrandt, which ascended at Schmargendorf, Germany, last Thursday with four passengers, is missing.

The demand of the American railroads for higher freight rates will be vigorously contested by commercial organizations interested.

John Terry, acquitted of the charge of stealing Alex. Marks' diamonds at Cobalt, has entered a suit against Marks for malicious arrest.

Accurate information says there are about 500 Bonilla soldiers, well armed, waiting to invade Honduras and upset the Davilla Government.

Foreman Volkenstine was blown to pieces and another man named Gracey very seriously hurt by the explosion of a blast at a mine near Bancroft.

Government House Reception.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—The New Year's reception at Government House was one of the most successful in recent years. His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Gibson received, assisted by Sir James Whitney and Hon. J. J. Foy. A large number of officers of the district staff were present, also the chief justice and judges of the high court, representatives of the clergy and many prominent citizens.

Operating by 'Phone.

Winnipeg, Dec. 30.—During the coming year it is the intention of the C.P.R. to instal another 2,000 miles of telephone, to replace telegraphs in the operation of trains. The mileage already installed is 2,264. All the single track in the Superior division is being so operated, the officials claiming that the telephone operates on the side of greater safety as well as of higher efficiency.

Sent Back to States.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 3.—Provincial Officer McNamara arrested Helena Cuonzo, 17, and Joseph Moralabite, aged 24, in Welland on Sunday, for the Sloan, N.Y., authorities. The pair were sent back to the States, the man to answer to a charge of abduction, while his pretty sweetheart will be charged with violating the penal code.

Venus Inhabited, Says Scientist.

Montgomery, Mo., Jan. 3.—In a letter to relatives T. T. J. See, astronomer in charge of the U. S. Naval Observatory at Mare Island, California, says the planet Venus probably is inhabited. He says: "Just as the earth never rotated very rapidly, and has not been appreciably retarded by the effects of tidal frictions, so also Venus has escaped a corresponding retardation of axial rotation, and still rotates in 23 hours, 21 minutes, as has been held by observers since the day of Cassini, 1667.

"The planet Venus, therefore, is habitable and probably is inhabited by some kind of intelligent being."

Denounced Divorce.

London, Jan. 3.—Rev. Dr. Thomas Manning of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, in a sermon Sunday night denounced any legislation to secure greater freedom of divorce in Canada. "It is better for us to have the wild Indians breaking into our homes than to permit this evil to spread throughout the country, devastating our homes," said Dr. Manning. "I consider any legislation which makes it possible to secure a divorce in this country as nothing less than a national calamity."

Coach Roof Blown Off.

Topeka, Kans., Jan. 3.—The blizzard sweeping over Kansas gave passengers on Rock Island Railroad train No. 24, due here early yesterday morning, an unusual experience. While running at full speed the top of a passenger coach was blown off, giving the passengers a chill, but no one was injured. The damaged coach was abandoned, and the train reached Topeka two hours late.

A Remarkable Monument.

There are some unusual features about the marble arch to the memory of Pennsylvania's soldiers, dedicated recently on the battlefield at Gettysburg. The name of every Pennsylvanian who fought at Gettysburg is inscribed on tablets of bronze which are placed on the granite facade about the foot of the memorial. Thirty thousand names appear on these tablets, while carved in the granite of the monument proper are those of thirty-four commanding officers from Pennsylvania.

Red Cross Seals.

Twenty-five million Red Cross Christmas seals have been printed and are being distributed by the American Red Cross, and arrangements have been made to print 100,000,000 if necessary. While the sticker is perforated like those used last year, it is intended for use only as a seal on the back of letters. The Red Cross hopes to realize a million dollars from the sale of these stamps, which will be used in fighting tuberculosis.

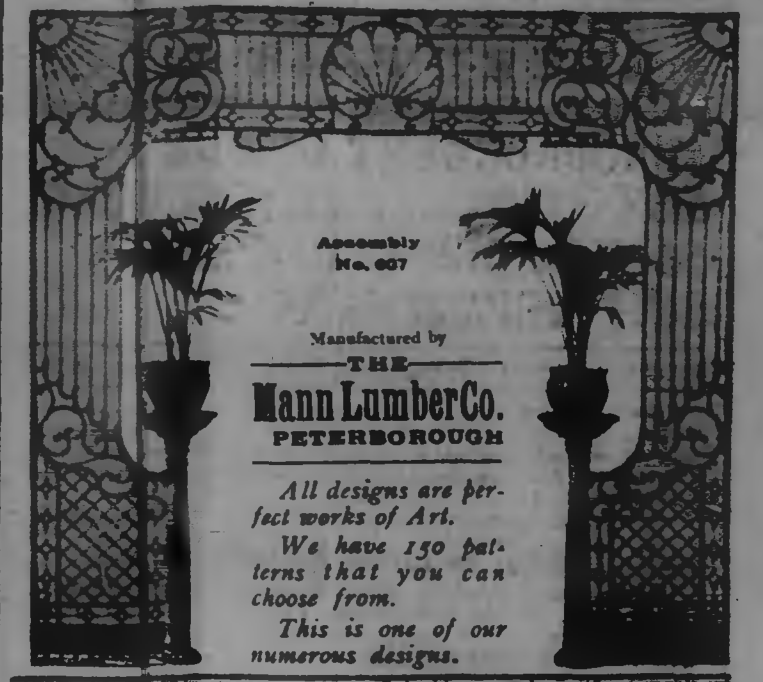
Weather Forecast.

"I do not think," says Edmund Yates in his book, "Recollections and Experiences," "I never met a man more hopelessly deaf than Charles Kemble at seventy. Some of us were sitting one afternoon at the Garrick Club when a tremendous thunderstorm broke over the house.

"It raged with extraordinary fury, one clap exploding with terrific noise immediately above us like a volley of artillery.

"We looked round at each other almost in horror, when Charles Kemble, who was calmly reading, lifted his eyes from the book and said in his trumpet tone, 'I think we are going to have some thunder; I feel it in my knees'."

Learning to be a good neighbor is splendid schooling for the land of the saints.



Assembly No. 607

Manufactured by
—THE—
Mann Lumber Co.
PETERBOROUGH

All designs are perfect works of Art.

We have 150 patterns that you can choose from.

This is one of our numerous designs.

Fatal Delay.

Sir William Crookes, the eminent scientist, who has been appointed a member of the Order of Merit, was one of the earliest amateur photographers. He experimented with the camera as far back as 1855, and was always saying to his wife, "Sit." She used to reply, "It sounds like a hen." Sir William is rather fond of telling the following story as illustrating the "instantaneous" knowledge needed in the profession of medicine. The professor of a certain medical college cited a hypothetical case on one occasion, and asked a student how much of a certain medicine should be administered to the sufferer. "A tablespoonful," answered the young man. In about a minute, however, he raised his hand and said, "Professor, I would like to change my answer to that question." The doctor took out his watch. "My young friend," he remarked, "your patient has been dead 40 seconds."

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

AUCTIONEER

James E. Cope

Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 283 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE
UNEXCELLED SERVICE.

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to THE LENOX.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at THE LENOX
The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
LIMITED

ANNOUNCEMENT OF OUR SENSATIONAL PRICE CUTTING SALE IN OUR CLOAK AND SUIT DEPARTMENT

Commenced Wednesday, January 4th

In accordance with the well defined policy of the GOLDEN LION we desire to impress on the citizens of Peterboro' that we will not carry over a single garment in our Suit and Cloak Department of this season's stock to next season and to give proper effect to that end we have made the prices so low that we assure beyond a doubt of accomplishing the object in view.

Ladies' Tailored Autumn Suits

In the most fashionable styles, made up in serges wide wale rough cloths, tweeds, broadcloths, Venetians, in blacks, navy, green, grey and colored tweeds; all Autumn suits that were marked at $13.50 to $15.00, for $7.98

All suits that were sold at $15.00 to $20.00, clearing at $10.00

Every suit that was formerly sold at $25.00 to $30.00 to be cleared at $15.00

Ladies' Winter Coats

Coat Rack No. 1. On this rack are grouped all heavy WINTER COATS in black and navy long lengths; some button high, others with revere collar, the usual price being $9.50 to $12.00. Your choice for $5.00

On Rack No. 2 are assembled our finest black beaver cloth coats, stylish, graceful garments. These were formerly sold at $20.00 to $25.00. Take your choice for ... $12.75

On Rack No. 3 are gathered young ladies' classy long coats in two toned grey and brown tweeds and cheviots, the season's swellest garments that were sold at $16.50 to $18.50. Your choice for $11.98

On Rack No. 4 are arranged what we have left in maids' long coats, made up from cheviots, tweeds and kersey cloths in black, navy and green. These were all sold formerly at $10.00 to $12.00. Your choice for $6.50

On Rack No. 5 will be found a very pretty and choice selection of children's long coats, every garment a classy production and just such a one as would please the little miss. Coats that were marked at $5.00, now $3.50

Coats that were marked at $6.50 and $8.50, now........ $4.50

Little Girls' White Bearskin Coats have shared in the drastic price cutting, as witness—$5.00 garments are now marked at $3.00

$6.00 and $6.50 coats now marked at $3.50

One only Paisley Messaline Silk Dress, old rose shade, size 38. This costume got very slightly faded in our street window, but scarcely noticeable, and on account of this we will take $10.00 off the price. It was $25.00. You can have it now for........ $15.00

White Bearskin Cloth, 50 inches wide, that sold at $3.00 the yard, to be cleared at half price........ $1.50

Ladies' White Silk Blouses, waist part finely tucked. reg. price $3.50; for this sale $1.50

5 only Ladies' Heavy Navy Blue Taffeta Silk Tailored Shirt Waists that formerly sold at $6.50 each. Sale Price........ $3.50

Winter Trimmed Hats

NEXT WEDNESDAY will afford an exceptional opportunity for the purchase of charming Winter Millinery and when you see the collection of trimmed and untrimmed Hats on sale you will marvel at the values—but just come that's all we ask

LARGE BLERIOX BLUE FELT with steel bandiau and blue roses, a $10.50 headpiece for........ $5.00

PATTERN HATS of blue velvet and grey kid roses also PATTERN TEA HAT, velvet faced iridescent top with roses, formerly $15.00. Your Choice for........ $7.00

9 only very fine English black and colored BEAVER FUR HATS that were sold at $7.50 to $15.00. Your Choice for........ $4.75

A Very Special Bargain in COLORED WINGS that formerly sold at $1.50 to $2.00. Your Choice for........ 29c

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
LIMITED

KRIS KRINGLE AT ST. JOHN'S

St. John's Sunday school annual gathering held yesterday, was a most enjoyable festival. The infant department, under the direction of Miss English met at three o'clock, and the seventy or eighty little ones had a very happy time until six o'clock. At seven o'clock the older scholars with teachers and parents began to arrive, and at 7.45, under the direction of Mr. R. J. Devey, the Sunday school superintendent, the Christmas cantata "Kriss Kringle" was splendidly given. The stage was tastefully arranged to represent a winter scene, real trees being used and the performers appeared in sweaters and toques. No curtain was used and the numbers succeeded each other with scarcely a chance to applaud, which was amply made up at the conclusion, when all the children lined up and gave a realistic performance of the old "Sir Roger de Coverly," melting off the stage almost magically, in perfect order, at a word from the conductor.

Then the audience rose and cheered again and again.

Mr. Cole gave a splendid exhibition of ventriloquism to the great delight of all present, and Miss Billington sang "Daddy" very nicely.

The Rev. Chas. Carpenter voiced the regret of all at the absence of the Rev. Canon Davidson, through sickness, and welcomed all those present, reminding them of the great importance of the Sunday school in our church life. Three times three cheers were heartily given for Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Devey for their arduous work in getting up such a splendid entertainment, and then the scholars were regaled with cake, ice cream and tea.

The electrical effects on the stage were kindly loaned by MacPherson & Co., and installed by one of the senior scholars, Cyril Devey, and added much to the beauty of the scene.

The singing and grouping of the various numbers was really good and the special numbers of "Kriss Kringle," taken by A. Horsfield, and "If Santa Claus was Pa" by the Misses Long, added much to the enjoyment of all.

Members of the congregation sent in a bountiful supply of goodies for the children, and turned out well to the entertainment.

The teaching staff desire to thank all who so kindly helped to make the day so enjoyable.

Funeral Notice

The date of the funeral of the late William John Oldfield has been changed from Friday to Thursday. Service will be held at the late residence tomorrow morning at 10.30, and the remains sent to Oshawa via Port Hope on the noon train. Interment will take place at Oshawa Friday.

15 PER CENT OF TOTAL PROPERTY--EXEMPTED

Table Which Shows That Peterborough is an Average City in Matter of Exemption From Taxation--Interesting Municipal Study

When the question of exemption from taxation is so much discussed, the following statistical article from the Financial Post, will be of great interest—

Last week we treated the subject of assessment for taxation and some of the weaknesses of not following the statute—that property shall be assessed for 100 per cent. of value were pointed out. In the various cities of Ontario the gross assessment was given, and it was shown that the tendency was to undervalue properties.

Under valuation also reduces the legal borrowing power of a city which is based on a percentage of the total assessment. That city is best off, other things being equal, which has the largest margin of unappropriated borrowing power or line of credit. Not only is the power to borrow restricted by the assessment, but by it is the ability to repay determined. It follows, therefore, that the credit of a municipality in the bond market is materially influenced, because, unquestionably, the real security for a city's debt, of any nature, for interest as well as principal, rests in the assessment for taxation. The greater the assessment, not exceeding actual value, the better will be the demand for debentures, other conditions being favorable.

But gross assessment does not mean assessment for taxation, at least not in Canada, and particularly in the east. One of the greatest problems of government is the equalization of taxation, and here, while striving to that end, a barrier is set up and sanctioned by law, in the form of exemptions. There is no feasible, tangible reason for the invention of this device. It is a violation of the principles of equity. It savors of privilege for the few, at the expense of the many.

The aggregate exemption for the cities of Ontario reaches a consequential sum, as the following table demonstrates—

Showing exemptions from taxation of cities of Ontario, arranged consecutively from greatest per capita downwards—

	Exemptions from taxation	Exemptions per capita
Port Arthur	$3,464,980	$269 39
Ottawa	19,726,965	236 65
Kingston	3,438,825	179 11
Guelph	1,592,500	107 60
Chatham	1,081,206	104 80
Toronto	32,065,026	98 57
Peterborough	1,588,724	93 98
Stratford	1,345,425	91 03
Brantford	1,853,620	89 51
Belleville	863,735	84 27
London	4,114,180	83 10
Woodstock	739,750	80 08
St. Thomas	1,141,900	76 78
Hamilton	4,942,545	70 38
Fort William	1,141,800	63 51
St. Catharines	780,745	63 44
Niagara Falls	247,000	52 15
Windsor	892 800	42 92
	$81,005,466	average $111.47

Over 15 per cent of the gross assessment escapes taxation, and, on a population basis, 16 people out of every 100 contribute nothing to the support of government. This does not mean that the taxes are not paid on exempted property. It does mean that 85 per cent. of the property not only pays its own just tax charge, but in addition is burdened with the portion which should, in all equity and justice, be borne by the remaining 15 per cent.

Even if the practice of granting relief from taxation could be logically justified, the method pursued is erroneous. It falsifies the municipal revenue account. Instead of a reduction of income, it should operate as an increase of expenditure. By the present system, a city dismisses the matter by striking it from the roll as cash "not" received, but the other and correct method would show the collection of the money, and its remission through the disbursement account charged to proper departments. Some will argue that an unnecessary increase in the labors of accounting would be caused by this plan; an increase, true, but not unnecessary. All financial transactions should be recorded, and the citizens of a municipality are entitled to know to what extent the public treasury is depleted by gift, and to whom and for what purpose the discrimination is made.

Port Arthur is the worst offender. Exemptions there equal 30 per cent of the gross assessment, and the suspicion is aroused that a large portion of the amount is due to the custom of exempting certain industries from taxation. Ottawa exempts 28 per cent. of the gross amount, due, undoubtedly, to its position as the capital of the nation, and the predilection of the government to levy, but not to pay taxes. Kingston allows 28.5 per cent. of the gross assessment to escape taxation, here the chief excuse being, presumably, educational and other institutions. Guelph exempts 20 per cent. of the assessment, a portion of which is due to the city's failure, in some cases, to tax its own property in the shape of public utilities, with which it is well endowed. No property, whether municipally owned or not, when conducted for revenue, should be granted immunity from taxation. If all legitimate charges are not entered, undue inflation of net earnings results, serving to exhibit things as they are "not."

The ratio of exemptions to gross assessment in the remaining cities is as follows—Chatham 17.5 per cent.; Toronto 12 per cent.; Peterborough 15.6 per cent.; Stratford 16.9 per cent.; Brantford 13.8 per cent.; Belleville 16.6 per cent.; London 14 per cent.; Woodstock 15 per cent.; St. Thomas 14.3 per cent.; Hamilton 11 per cent.; Fort William 7.8 per cent.; St. Catharines 10.8 per cent.; Niagara Falls 8.9 per cent.; Windsor 7.2 per cent. Note the difference between Port Arthur and Fort William. Contiguous in territory, almost one city except in government, deriving their chief support from much the same industrial activities, they are yet wholly dissimilar on this important point. Exemptions, of whatever nature, are, in the judgment of the writer, harmful, and their total abolition would be a distinct gain for the cause of equality in government.

Deducting exemptions from gross assessment brings the discussion to assessment for taxation, and here the position of the cities is again adjusted.

Showing assessment for taxation of cities of Ontario arranged consecutively, from lowest per capita upward.—

	Assessment for taxation	Assessment for taxation per capita
Guelph	$6 307,680	$426 51
Belleville	4,316 078	431.09
Kingston	8,585,875	447.34
Stratford	6,635,950	449.01
Woodstock	4,183,683	452.63
St. Thomas	6,833,672	459.49
Chatham	5,099,020	494 23
Peterborough	8,591,118	508.14
London	25,324,483	511 53
St. Catharines	6,422,143	521.53
Niagara Falls	4,348,277	530 28
Windsor	8,879,539	550 08
Brantford	11,562,140	558 26
Hamilton	39,962,985	5 9 38
Ottawa	50,508,205	605 90
Port Arthur	8,052,688	626 09
Toronto	234,308,546	720 28
Fort William	13,369,477	742.62
	$453,311,559	average $623 77

The average is $623 77, Guelph being lowest with $426 51 per capita. All of the cities, with the exception of Port Arthur, $1,626 09, Toronto $720.28, and Fort William $742.62, are below the average for the whole. To further illustrate the general lowness of the taxation assessment, divide the total area into lots measuring 25 x 150 feet. The average value, including buildings and all improvements, and deducting exemptions, would be $485 74.

NORDHEIMER'S PIANO TUNER

Mr. Frank Whitehouse, tuning representative from the Nordheimer Piano Co., Toronto is in town for a few days Kindly phone or leave order with Mr. Duffus, on George St. Phone 255. 2d

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. Robert Duncan of Rochester returned home this morning.

Mr. J. H. Larmouth of Belleville, was at the National yesterday.

Mr. J. Lowes of Winnipeg, registered at the National on Tuesday.

Mr. M. A. McEachern, of Campbellford is staying at the National.

Mrs. Madill, of Calgary, is visiting Mrs. R. M. Ruddy for a few days.

Mr. T. F. McKay, of London, is registered at the Munro House.

Dr. A. F. Leach, of Togo, and Mr. G. A. Leach, of Dauphin, are in the city.

Mr. John F. Harley, agent for the Lena Ashwell Company, is registered at the National.

Mr. Ernie Pierce of Fenelon Falls spent a few days in the city the guest of friends this week.

Mr. Robert Patterson of Rochester, cousin of Mr. Bruce Patterson, is in the city for a few days.

Miss Emma Bullen spent yesterday in Toronto, the guest of friends in that city.

Mr. Cill Delaire has returned to Midland, after visiting his brother, Mr. P. V. Delaire, Park street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Stewart of Fenelon Falls, are in the city on their wedding trip and are staying at 166 Park Street.

Mrs. W. H. Meredith, 576 Water Street, will receive for the first time since moving into her new home on Saturday of this week, from four to six, and afterwards on third and fourth Fridays of the month.

Mr. Allan Campbell, of the Imperial Oil Company, Winnipeg, is spending the holidays in Peterborough, the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Campbell. — Winnipeg Free Press.

Mrs. Capel Tilt and her little daughter, Luzetta, leave on Sunday to spend the remainder of the winter in the south. Mrs. Tilt will also be accompanied by her niece, Miss Ida Mulholland of Peterboro' who will spend some time in the south. — Winnipeg Free Press.

We never know the value of our friends until the only thing they can give us is their own selves.

IS THIS YOUR CREED?

I believe in Peterborough, where I live; her people, whom I know, and their interests; her natural beauty, which I see, and her industrial advantages.

o o o o o o

I believe in spending my money in Peterborough, where I make it, through my fellow citizens, for MADE-IN-PETERBOROUGH goods.

o o o o o o

I believe that one good word for Peterborough is two for my own business.

o o o o o o

I believe in keeping my business promises, and ALL my promises, and in "setting the pace" in my line of business endeavor.

o o o o o o

I believe that Peterborough can be made a more beautiful city, a cleaner and a greener city, with better and sweeter homes for the people, with more of God's out-of-doors, more sunlight, more of the life abundant, and I CAN HELP to hasten that day.

o o o o o o

I believe in the STRENGTH and POWER OF THE CITY'S MANHOOD, and in the GLORY OF HER WOMANHOOD, and in the FUTURE of her BOYS and GIRLS, and in the opportunities of our citizenship.

o o o o o o

I believe in the young men, and ALL men of the city, their faith and energy and initiative, the inspiration of their citizenship, as the foundation stones of civic betterment and civic growth

o o o o o o

I believe that EVERY citizen is in duty bound to some service in the interest of his home city, and I believe in hearing the "call to SERVICE" if within my power.

o o o o o o

I believe in speaking well of all PUBLIC-SPIRITED MEN, and in being one myself.

o o o o o o

I believe in commending, and not condemning; in boosting and not knocking; in helping, not hindering; in uplifting, not pulling down.

o o o o o o

I have faith in my home city; I am optimistic, not pessimistic; enthusiastic, not indifferent, and I believe in advertising my faith

o o o o o o

I believe in letting the world know WHAT a GOOD PLACE Peterborough is, to live in, to grow up in, to make money in, and to talk about and work for.

o o o o o o

I believe in the destiny of my city, as A CITY OF OPPORTUNITIES, its advantages as a business centre, and its contribution to the welfare of the nation and its message as a city of the Empire.

o o o o o o

I believe I can do something EVERY DAY to help Peterborough forward to be Bigger, Better, Busier and more Beautiful, and I believe I can influence a hundred others to help in the same way.

HAVELOCK HAPPENINGS

Havelock, Jan. 2.—Miss Hilda West, of Trent Bridge, happened with a nasty accident at the hockey match on Wednesday evening. While watching the game, she was struck on the forehead by the puck and a nasty wound inflicted, which required severla stitches to close up.

AUXILIARY.

The Havelock auxiliary was called to Asphodel siding on Tuesday morning last to place a new truck on a car. While coming eastward at a slow rate a wheel on one of the cars, becoming overheated by the brake sticking, burst, throwing the main part of the wheel into an adjoining field, some fifty feet away. Only for the slow rate at which the train was moving, there might have been a bad spill.

CHANGE IN PHOTO STUDIO.

The Havelock photo studio has been purchased by Mr. H. R. Neibel, of Norwood, from Mr. Stewart, of Marmora; Mr. Neibel will visit Havelock on Tuesday of each week.

DEATH CALLS.

The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon to the Norwood cemetery, of Mrs Eliza Philips, who passed away on Sunday morning at the age of 73 years. She leaves a family of four to mourn her loss, George, Richard and Mrs. S. S. Joyce, of town, and Mrs. Sothern, of Toronto. Havelock citizens extend their deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

XMAS EXAMINATIONS.

The result of the continuation school Xmas examinations were as follows;

Form III.—P. Falkner, 80; M. Frost, 67; P. Browne, 66; P. Buchanan, 65; C. Bohan, F. Rutherford, A. Scott.

Form II.—K. Falkner, 79; M. Wannamaker, 70; C. Barlow, 70; W. Holdcroft, 65; G. Barlow, L. Bennet, M. Vandervoot.

Form I.—V. Skene, 79; G. Primrose, 6; P. Innis, 73; M. Waller, 73; G Black, 72; E Morrison, 72; W. Smith, 68; A. Mathison, 65; B. Bryans, 65; E. Foley, 60; M. Knox.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

The officers for 1911 of St. Andrew's Chapter, R. A. M., No. 139, Havelock, are;

Ex-Comp.—W. H. Harper, P.Z.
Ex-Comp. — Rev. G. A. MacLennan, Q.P.Z.
Ex-Comp.—R. W. Squires, P.H.
Comp.—F. J. Squires, P.J.
Comp.—Ward Patterson, Prin. Soj.
Comp.—A. Primrose—Scribe.
Comp.—R. Flynn, Scribe E.
Ex-Comp.—H. Pacey, Treas.
Ex-Comp.—M. White, Janitor.
Auditors—John A. Sexsmith and Ward Patterson.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Wm. Cole, of West Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. K. McKay, of Brockville, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Young, of Ottawa, is visiting his cousin, Mr. Eric West, at Trent Bridge.

Mrs. Geo Ritchie has returned from visiting at Sharbot Lake.

Mr. Stanley Holcombe was in Norwood on Sunday last.

Miss Gladys Richards has returned from visiting at her home in Baltimore.

Mr. D. Hogg spent Christmas in Alnwick.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Squires spent Sunday and Monday in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McKee, of Peterborough, were in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams, of West Toronto, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard.

Miss Ethel Hogg has returned from visiting in Hastings.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster spent Xmas with friends in Toronto.

Mr C Ward Butcher is spending the holidays with friends in Jarvis.

Mrs. H. T. Andrews is on a visit to her home in Stayner.

Miss Eva O'Brien, of Toronto, spent Xmas at her home here.

Mr. Robt. Ketchum, of Fenelon Falls, is visiting at his home here.

Miss M. Major, of Wiarton, spent Xmas with her sister, Mrs. Lloyd.

Mr. D Rigley, of Vancouver, B.C., is visiting at his home.

Miss Alice and Mr. Leo Armstrong, of Hastings, were the guests of Miss Armstrong on Tuesday.

Mr. L. Bullied, of Toronto, is visiting his brother, Mr. W. Bullied.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Belleghem and children have returned from visiting in toronto.

Miss Kate O'Brien, of Toronto, visited her sister, Mrs. McNichol on Monday.

Mrs. Wolsely and son, Mr. Jos. Wolsely, of Winnipeg, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Stipps, of Schreiber, are visiting friends in town.

Mr. Bert Neibel, of Norwood, was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Jas Fowler, was in Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peoples, of Park River, North Dakota, are visiting the former's brother, Mr. J. B. Peoples, of Preneveau.

Appreciation of good accomplished helps more than much advice on the good yet to be done.

THANK YOU

The Optical Institute had a busy December. The week, before Xmas particularly busy. Many persons gave a beautiful pair of Eyeglasses or Spectacles to some near relative thus making many days to come a little brighter and happier. Shall we help you to make somebody's outlook brighter for 1911.

An appointment will save you waiting

The Peterboro Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paper Hangers, Gilders, Glass Embossers and General House and Church Decorators

All work guaranteed and executed with despatch. Our charges are moderate and we only use the best materials.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Address 762 Water St. Phone 1140.

FOR SALE

Iron Pipes for water and steam, Posts, Belting Pulleys, Shafting, Chains, Iron and Wood Pulleys, Steal Beams, Rails, Wire Fencing new and slightly used. Very cheap. Send for Catalogue, and state what you need.

The Imperial Waste & Metal Co.
7 Queen Street - MONTREAL

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
140½ Hunter Street.

LeBrun & Co's

January Clean-up Sale of Men's and Boys'

CLOTHING & FURNISHINGS

Commences Tuesday, January 3rd, and ends Saturday Night, January 29th—A Sale Replete With Genuine Money Saving Opportunities.

Men's Suits and Winter Weight Overcoats

Our entire stock of "Style-Craft" clothes and other well known makes of high-grade dependable clothing is now offered at price reductions. Seldom does there come a time when you can buy strictly high grade goods at prices as low as here quoted:—

All our Men's Tweed Suits, regular $6.00. Clearing price...... $4.50
All our Men's Tweed Suits worth $10, clearing price.............. $8.00
All our Men's Worsted Suits worth $18.00, clearing price...... $15.00
$7.50 Overcoats................ $5.50
$10.50 Overcoats $7.98
$12.00 Overcoats $8.90
$15.00 Overcoats $11.90
$20.00 Overcoats $15.90

Unusual Discounts Off Regular Prices

Remember, when you buy clothing here you select from the very finest of Ready-for-service clothes. Every garment absolutely guaranteed both by the makers and us.

Our Entire Line of Men's High-grade Trousers

now offered at much less than our regular prices.

Men's $1.25 Pants now......... 98c
Men's $1.50 Pants now......... $1.19
Men's $1.75 Pants now......... $1.39
Men's $2.00 Pants now......... $1.59

All Winter Underwear at Clean up Prices

H. LeBRUN & CO.
396 George Street and 143-5 Hunter Street

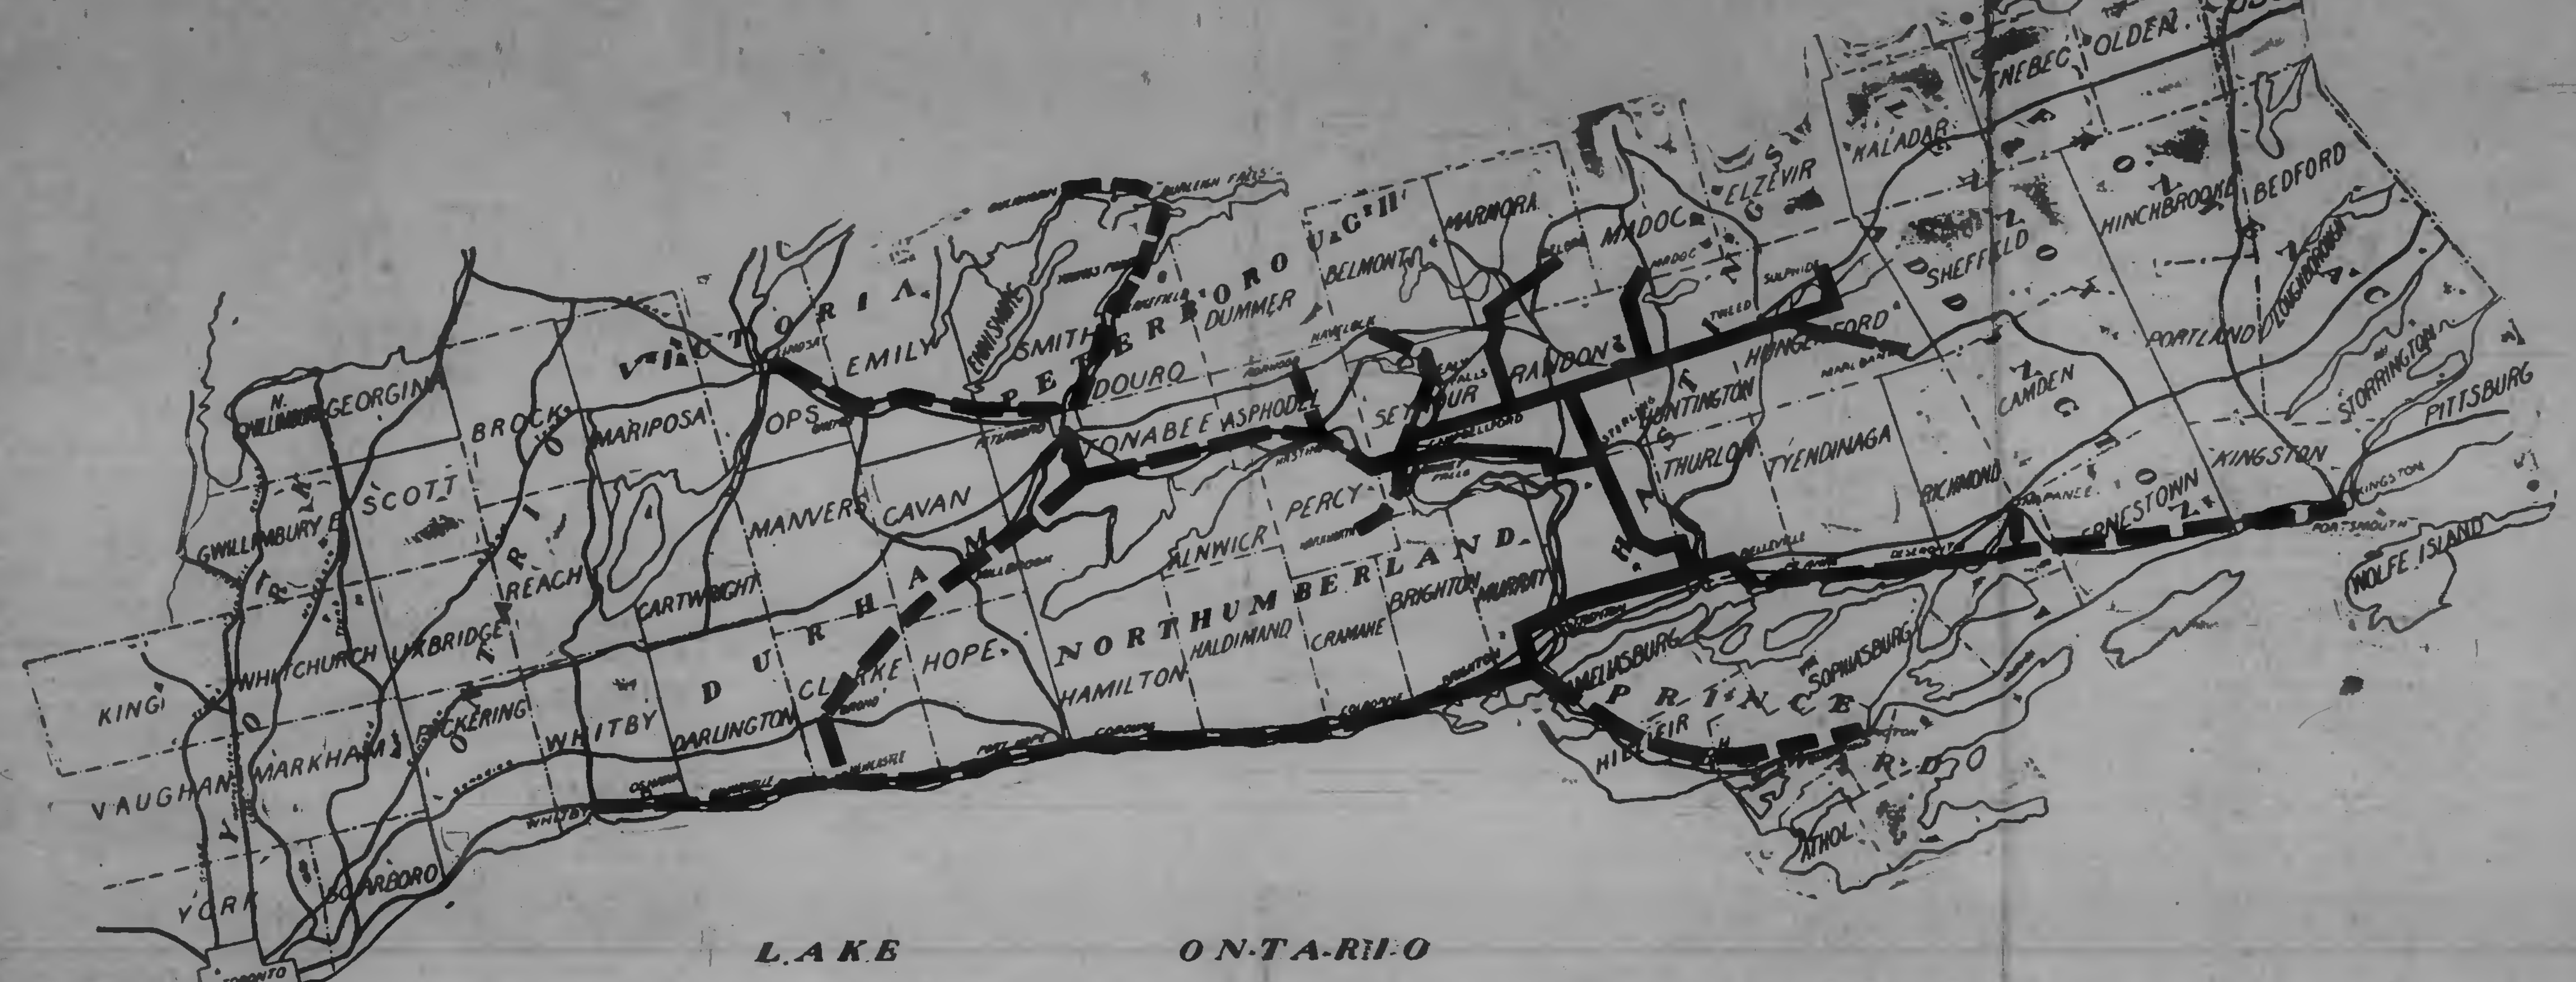
PROBABILITIES
Fair and very cold to-day and on Friday with snow.

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXII., No. 3. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

THIS MAP SHOWS AREA TO BE SERVED BY NEW POWER MERGER



WOODSTOCK ENQUIRY ELICITS CHARGES OF STRANGE CONDUCT

B. B. McCarthy is Accused of Having Shared a Rake-off on Hardware With His Father—Charles Sutherlard Charged With Refusing to Sign a Bridge Contract Until He Was "Sweetened."

Woodstock, Jan. 5.—Other figures besides M. T. Buchanan were yesterday drawn into the drag net of the Oxford County "graft" enquiry. B. B. McCarthy, late chairman of the purchasing committee of the county council, was charged with having jointly shared a $55.00 rake-off with his father on a $381.06 sale of picks, wheelbarrows, shovels, etc., by Howden & Co. of London to the county.

Charles Sutherland, chairman of the good roads committee, was charged with having refused to sign a contract with the Hamilton Bridge Co. until he was "sweetened" to the extent of $50.

E. L. Sutherland, ex-treasurer of the Township of West Zorra, was confronted with a statement that he had slipped two gold sovereigns into the deputy reeve's pockets at a time when his resignation was about to be requested.

Buchanan's alleged attempt to personally acquire the Ingersoll-Port Burwell toll road while he was in the county council and knew that the county must buy it, was further gone into, and a new charge was made that the "county boss" made a flying trip to Port Huron to get in ahead of the purchasing committee, with a proposal to the Port Huron Thresher & Engine Co. that he could secure them an order for wagons if they would guarantee him a commission.

An enormous array of missing links have confronted the crown investigators since the enquiry began, and several of the rumors cannot be thoroughly cleared on that account.

Seven very material witnesses have died since the dubious affairs were enacted; four or five have moved to distant American cities, and to-day Counsel E. F. B. Johnston ran up against a ledger with the very leaves torn out that were to throw light upon the Ingersoll-Port Burwell road deal. The missing leaves contained Buchanan's printing account with The Ingersoll Tribune.

Charles White, manager of the Imperial Bank, Ingersoll, was asked if he had heard of a circular sent to shareholders of the road by one M. Thomas, telling them that if they would deliver their shares at the bank they would be paid something like 80 cents on the dollar.

Witness had heard of it, but had never seen one. Popular rumor had it that M. Thomas was none other than Mitchell Thomas Buchanan. He had no man doing business with the bank by the name of M. Thomas, and had asked Buchanan concerning the reports. "Buchanan told me I had no right to make any such insinuations."

E. B. Baille, who was then proprietor of The Ingersoll Tribune, was asked if he could remember having printed any circulars for Buchanan in 1904, and when Counsel Johnston examined The Tribune Ledger he discovered that pages 280 to 289 had been torn out, and these had chronicled the account wanted, according to the index.

"Why are those pages missing?"

"I can't say."

"Who had control of it besides yourself?"

"Nobody."

"Then you are responsible for the missing leaves?"

"I don't know. I left that book in the office for my successor in 1905."

"It is strange," sighed Mr. Johnston. "We come here with various questions to ask men who had a great deal to do with these transactions and find the leaves missing, books dead as well as men."

Resuming, Mr. Baille said he had no knowledge as to whether that circular was printed in his office or not.

E. L. Smith, who now owns The Tribune, produced the missing ledger sheets. He said that Baillie had torn them out and left them with him, taking away the book. They showed that Buchanan had 500 circulars printed on Feb. 25 and 250 on Aug. 30. He could not remember if either batch was signed M. Thomas.

The Blenheim bridge deal was taken up. James Vance of the Hamilton Bridge Co. swore that Charles Sutherland, chairman of the good roads committee, had refused to sign a contract with him. Later witness had paid Sutherland five $10 bank notes, for which no receipt was given, and the contract was signed.

"It did not take long to get the signature once you coughed up the money?"

"No."

"And I suppose there was no question in your mind as to what the money was paid for; it was not a contribution to any charitable institution outside the Sutherland family?"

"No."

It was with great reluctance and much arguing that N. C. McCarthy, general merchant of Thamesford, was induced to tell that the county's purchasing committee, of which his son and business partner was chairman, had bought $391.96 worth of shades, gasoline, barrows, hammers, augers, bits and pick handles through him, on which he and his son got $55.00 "clear velvet," from Howden & Co. of London, who supplied the goods. Mr. Johnston got at it by enquiring as to a credit note for that amount, which the London firm had forwarded to him after the county had paid them for the goods.

"They didn't tell me what it was for," he insisted.

Judge Snider: "For goodness sake, witness, out with it. You know what it was for."

"I suppose it was for that," faltered witness.

"And your son, who was chairman

Continued on page 2.

A BIG HOLDING COMPANY CONTROLS ELECTRIC POWER

Practically All the Plants and Power Sites in the Midland District Are Merged in the Combination.

The Toronto World prints an article referring to the recent merger of electric power companies in this district, and says;

While the hydro-electric cheap power movement is adding to its strength and magnitude in the southwestern part of the province, that is, in the vast stretch of populous country lying contiguous to and beyond the Niagara peninsula, a merger has taken place in what might be called the "midlands" district, including the territory between Toronto and the west, Kingston on the east and Lake Ontario on the south.

This merger, an announcement of which appeared in a recent issue of the Canadian Electrical News, has taken the form of a holding company, known as the Electrical Power Company, Limited. It holds a Dominion charter and has bought, or is buying up, control of all the power companies in the Trent Valley district.

Apparently no effort is made to disguise the fact that the Electric Power Co., Limited, is designed to thwart the growth of the hydro-electric movement beyond Toronto. An open comparison is made in the columns of the publication above referred to with the hydro-electric power commission, which claims it is even more extended than the people's scheme, inasmuch as "not only the generation and distribution are both controlled by the same company, but also the operation of practically all the electric plants of any considerable size within an area measuring some 100 miles long by 50 miles wide."

Now, the promoters of the Electric Power Co., Limited, have not proceeded to this end without inspiration from higher sources. Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, has never been considered one of the assets of the cheap power movement. He is said to be strongly in favor of alienating the immense power resources at Long Sault on the St. Lawrence in favor of an American syndicate. Before the Electric Power Co., Limited, could get its charter, it was told to go ahead and secure control of the existing incorporations. There were several propositions, some were in operation, others had merely been promoted, no work had been done on the properties, and the water power rights were held. Individuals went to work quietly and bought up these charters.

The present development from five points amounts to 10,000 h.p., and two other power houses, having a combined capacity of 75,000 h.p., are now under construction. The maximum development is said to be 100,000 h.p.

The beneficial effect of the hydro-electric power commission in the regulation of rates will be denied to the large section lying within the area served by this merger, and, instead, regulation is promised by the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada. The arguments that are used at Ottawa with reference to this obvious attempt to "block" hydro-electric progress are that it will work better for the people than Hon. Adam Beck's scheme of public ownership.

The fact, so far as the hydro-electric power commission is concerned, is that a large number of applications for power are now on file from towns in the district outlined, and soon the plausible excuse will be heard from those who have other interests to serve. "The hydro-electric cannot supply you with power; you had better come to us."

The Electrical News, of Toronto, publishes the following with reference to the merger—

A system which almost rivals in magnitude that of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission in southwestern Ontario, and which is even more extended than the latter inasmuch as not only the generation and distribution are both controlled by the same company but also the operation of practically all the electric plants of any considerable size within an area measuring some 100 miles long by 50 miles wide, has recently been organized under the name of the Electric Power Company, Limited.

The area served by this company lies between Toronto on the west, Kingston on the east, Lake Ontario on the south, extending as far north practically as there is need of electric service. The new organization is in the form of a holding company controlling at the present moment the following companies, which until recently have for the most part operated separately—

The Seymour Power and Electric Company, Limited.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company, Limited.

The Peterborough Radial Railway Company, Limited.

The Auburn Power Co, of Peterborough, Limited.

The Trenton Electric and Water

The Sydney Electric Power Company, Limited.

The Nipissing Power Company, Ltd.

Oshawa Electric Power Co. Ltd.

The City Gas Co. of Oshawa, Ltd.

Cobourg Utilities Corporation, Ltd.

Northumberland-Durham Power Co., Limited.

Central Ontario Power Co. Ltd.

The Electric Power Company derives its energy chiefly at the present time from the plant of the Seymour Power and Electric Company, at Campbellford, but also operates a number of powers along the route of the Trent Valley canal from Burleigh Falls to Trenton. These water powers on the Trent and Otonabee rivers lie in three groups, located as follows—

(1) Between Buckhorn Lake and Peterborough, a distance of 20 miles.

(2) Between Healy Falls and Bradley Bay, a distance of 10 miles.

(3) Between Frankford and the Bay of Quinte, a distance of 6 miles.

The Electric Power Company having large holdings of water rights in each of these three groups, will develop the various powers as warranted by the power market. Location of various water powers in the district, together with present and proposed power houses, substations and transmission lines, is shown on accompanying map.

Hydro-electric power is actually being delivered from five points to the extent of about 10,000 h.p., and this is being distributed over about 130 miles of 44,000 volt transmission lines to seven different substations. Two other power houses having a combined capacity of 75,000 h.p., are now under construction, and in the course of six months the length of transmission lines and the number of substations will be more than doubled by the completion of works now under construction. The ultimate development will reach in the neighborhood of 100,000 h.p. The district to be served will reach from Oshawa to Kingston and will cover an area of approximately 5,000 square miles. The present population of this area is approximately 250,000, and contains such cities and towns as Peterborough, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Trenton, Campbellford, Napanee, Deseronto, Madoc and Picton. Between the general distribution of light and power in the various towns and cities in this district the Electric Power Company have secured many private customers who take large amounts of power. Among these are the Canada Cement Company, who will drive their entire mills near Belleville by electric power and after January 1st, 1911, from that date taking power from the Electric Power Company, and the Northumberland Pulp Company, who have recently completed a mill at Campbellford, where about 2,000 h.p. will be utilized.

Generally speaking, the rates vary from $15 to $25 per h.p. for 24 hour power, according to nature of business carried on by the various power users and their distance from the power plants.

Substations are now being constructed at Oshawa, Port Hope, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Brighton, Colborne, and other points in order to furnish the entire light and power service in these various towns and supersede the old steam and water driven plants now in operation at these places. Substations for similar purposes are already in operation at Belleville, Trenton, Stirling and Madoc.

The president of the Electric Power Company is Mr. J. G. G. Kerry; secretary, Mr. A. B. Colville. The head office of the company is in Toronto; the general manager's and superintendent's offices in Belleville. Smith, Kerry & Chace, Toronto, are the designing, constructing and operating engineers.

The active officers of the Electric Power Company are J. G. G. Kerry, Toronto, president; A. B. Colville, Campbellford, secretary; J. W. Larmonth, general manager.

Attended Dance at Millbrook

A very enjoyable dance was held at Millbrook last evening. Quite a number of local young people went down, several of whom stayed over and did not return until to-day.

THIRTEEN STEAMSHIP LINES CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

Charge is Made That They Organized a Board Called the Atlantic Conference Where They Pledged Themselves to Keep up the Rate For Steerage Passages, and Kill Out Lines Outside the Ring.

New York, Jan. 5.—The Federal Government brought suit here yesterday under the terms of the Sherman anti-trust law, in the United States Circuit Court of the Southern District of New York, against thirteen of the principal transatlantic carriers, estimated to control 90 per cent. of the steerage traffic, worth to them $35,000,000 a year. Twelve officers of the defendant companies, all resident in America, are also named as co-defendants.

These thirteen companies, the Government charges, entered into an illegal contract on Feb. 5, 1908, at London, England, by which they constituted themselves the Atlantic Conference, with power to apportion all traffic pro rata, impose heavy fines on members of the conference for violation of any of the articles of agreement and wage cut-throat competition against all lines outside the conference.

Suit was brought by Henry A. Wise, United States district attorney, acting under instruction from Attorney-General Wickersham, and in its petition the Government prays the court to "enjoin the defendants from further agreeing, combining, conspiring to injure or destroy the business of any person or corporation engaged in the business of carrying steerage passengers between points in the United States and Europe. Further, that each, every and all of the defendants' steamship lines be forbidden either to enter or clear any of their vessels at or from the port of New York, or any other port of entry in the United States, or any of its possessions, so long as they shall continue to operate under the aforesaid alleged unlawful combination or conspiracy."

The defendant companies, their capitalization and the ports between which they chiefly ply, are as follows:

Allan Line Steamship Co., Ltd., plying between Liverpool, Boston and Philadelphia and Glasgow and Montreal, capital $3,220,000.

International Navigation Co., a holding company, capital $120,000,000.

The Anchor Line (Henderson Bros.) Ltd., plying between New York and Glasgow, capital $2,875,000.

C.P.R. Co., plying between Montreal and Liverpool, capital $200,000,000.

Cunard Steamship Co., Ltd., plying between New York and Boston and Liverpool, capital $10,000,000.

British and North Atlantic Steam Navigation Co., Ltd.

Hamburg-American Line, plying between Hamburg, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, capital $31,250,000.

Holland-American Line, plying between New York and Rotterdam, capital unavailable.

North German Lloyd, plying between New York and Bremen, capital unavailable.

Red Star Line, plying between New York and Liverpool.

Russian East Asiatic Steamship Co., Ltd., plying between New York and Libau, capital unavailable.

Shorten Hotel Hours.

Toronto, Dec. 5.—Ald. McCarthy is thinking of introducing into council a motion to shorten the hours for the sale of liquor. There was some talk of a resolution of the kind last year, but nothing came of it.

The alderman frankly admits that he is in a mood to attempt reprisals on the liquor interests, because he believes it was their activity which made the fight for head of the poll in the sixth ward so close.

It is doubtful whether there is a sufficient majority of decided cold water advocates in council to carry such a resolution. The strong blue-ribboners are Controllers Spence and Hocken, Ald. Hilton, Yeomans, Weston, Graham, May, McCarthy, McBrien and Baird.

Policeman Was Shot.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—With the resumption of picketing the fifth killing in the garment workers' strike took place here Tuesday.

Fred. Reinhardt, 35 years old, a special policeman, hired to guard strike-breakers, employed by Hart, Schaffner & Mark, was shot at Douglas boulevard and South avenue. He died in the patrol wagon while on the way to hospital.

Railing Gave Way.

Guelph, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Thomas Benson was the victim of a fatal accident Tuesday at the residence of James Blakely at Everton. The unfortunate woman was coming down some steps, grasping the railing at the side to assist her, when suddenly the railing gave way, causing her to fall very heavily. She fractured her skull, which resulted in her death a few hours later.

Regulation of Aviators.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 5.—Two unusual features of Governor Baldwin's initial message to the Legislature are recommendations for legislation providing for the registration and supervision of flying machines and dirigible balloons and the extension of the elections privileges to women.

Oil Stove Exploded.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 5.—Fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove damaged Philip Lococo's fruit warehouse last night. No one was in the building when the explosion occurred.

Italian Railroads Blocked.

Rome, Jan. 5.—A very heavy snowfall has interrupted railway communication with the north.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, JAN. 5, 1911.

A FINANCIAL DAD

In 1910, Great Britain, took 81 per cent. of new Canadian bonds, the United States, 11-2 per cent. and Canada 17 1-2 per cent. Inasmuch as municipal and industrial bonds form the backbone of a great deal of our financing, it is very important indeed that John Bull, as our banker, should receive great consideration.

The United States is of comparatively little use to us in assisting Canadian financing. It invests capital—has invested $300,000,000 of it to-date—in Canadian enterprises, but these are in nearly every case run and controlled by the Americans, who reap the profits themselves. John Bull is content very large with a fair interest on his capital, with good security, and in assisting the financing of purely Canadian enterprise, he acts like a good old "dad" to Canada. Treat him well.

A RAILWAY CURB

The Toronto World says of the Hudson's Bay railroad that "it will act as a curb on the companies, since any attempt to prevent its proper utilization could easily be met by its extension right into the grain-growing territory."

To which we reply "O Fudge!" Has the editor of the "World, or the writer of this paragraph, ever spent long days and nights travelling around Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta? Does he fancy that the grain-growing territory can be served by a government extension of 200, or 300 or 500 miles?

The grain-growing territory of the prairie is a thousand miles wide, and extends four or five hundred miles north of the boundary. The World is rabid enough to have the government build the Hudson's Bay line, a few hundred miles long—and then, if it doesn't do the work, build a thousand or two thousand miles or more to make it of some use.

The World's proposition is about as sensible in this case as usual. It took the C.P.R. years, and is taking the C.N.R. years, to tap the larger grain areas. There are still crying needs in the west for railway development. To coerce the present systems by a government competing system all over the west, would mean the spending of hundreds of millions of dollars to accomplish that which the Dominion Railway Commission could accomplish without spending a hundred million cents.

The Hudson's Bay line will be a short connecting link between ocean tide and the western railways. As such, it can be made to serve the purpose of a check on the railways—serving the true interests of the people.

SHOULD WE LISTEN?

Farmer Smith, of the Weekly Sun says:—

If we turn a deaf ear to the offer President Taft is now making to Ottawa, the President has only to turn to the South or Far East to find people who will hear and hear gladly. The first opportunity has come to Canada, but if we ignore what is offered—if we decline to reciprocate, to dicker—that opportunity will be lost, and a trade which might be ours, which should be ours, the gaining of which would add enormously to our agricultural prosperity, will be lost.

Isn't that a rather ridiculous argument? If we do not listen to the siren song of President Taft in asking us for reciprocity in material that the United States has to have, he will turn to Mexico, the Philippines, or China and Japan—which haven't got this much wanted material!

Farmer Smith argues that "if we ignore what is offered"—if we dont get down on bended knees and thank the mighty Bill Taft for his generosity—we will lose the privilege of handing over our raw material to the United States, in return for the delight of importing United States manufactures and putting our own out of business.

As for losing the opportunity this is one which will knock every business day of the year at our doors. Canada and the United States are so placed geographically that one cannot ignore the other, and when we want to give valuable concessions to the United States—the reciprocity Uncle Sam wants—the opportunity will be Johnny on-the-spot.

If Canada can get free entrance for natural products—not including resources such as timber—but for grains, farm and dairy produce, so much the better. But the United States is not asking for those. It wants those things we cannot afford to give away — our timber, pulpwood, our minerals, our fish, etc. Having devastated its own natural resources, the United States wants ours. And there are some like the editor of the Weekly Sun who would hand over the sources of our future commercial greatness in exchange for a trifling advantage of prices in ordinary farm produce.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Ottawa has now a Great White Way. This is the only thoroughfare to the government offices, so the faithful needn't worry.

When the aviator risk sudden falling from great heights, is it not possible to carry a parachute apparatus, folded like an umbrella, to at least break the terrific descent, and save their lives?

The Vancouver police court is so congested that there is a public clamor for an assistant magistrate. Either they are a bad lot out in Vancouver, or they have a wonderfully efficient police force.

The great usefulness of the wireless telegraph for marine purposes has again been demonstrated. The steamer Monmouth on its way to Canada at the close of the year, was ordered by crisp Marconigram to change its destination, and put on high speed so as to dock before 1911. The owners of the cargo made a saving of $31,000 in customs duties by this sudden change of orders.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier grandiloquently declared a few short months ago, slapping his chest, that there would be "no more pilgrimages to Washington."

CABINET PERSONALS.

Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Wm. Paterson will leave on Saturday for Washington.

Sir Alan Aylesworth and Hon. L. P. Brodeur will leave on Saturday for Washington.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham will leave on Saturday for Washington.

Charles M. Hays, President of the Grand Trunk railway, says that increased cost of labor and material in 1910 will make it necessary for the railway to advance freight rates, or suffer largely decreased earnings. Otherwise, contemplated improvements will have to be postponed. Mr. Hays is probably right as far as his own railway is concerned, but conditions such as these, do not apply to the transcontinental twins, the C.P. and C.N.R. Both of these corporations find the western field the most profitable, and draw good revenues from it. The C.P.R., with its great land endowment, operating a magnificent system in the west, certainly has no need to ask for heavier rates—in fact, the time is coming when through western rates shall have to stand a reduction.

Other Editors Timely Comment

Sir Wilfrid's Failings

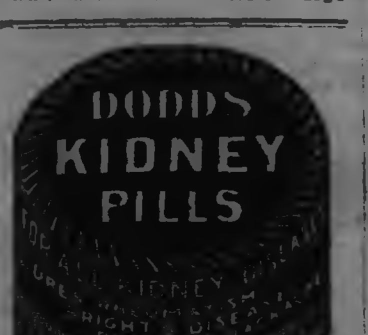
Farmer's Sun

Sir Wilfred is quite honest when he says he is "not a Government ownership man." But he doesn't know why he is not. He is a good simple-minded man who is often quite unconscious of the source of the inspiration of his economic "thinking." It must be evident to the farmers that they have nothing to hope for from him.

A Public Road

Toronto World

Western grain growers ought assuredly to press their demand that the Hudson Bay Railway shall be not only constructed but operated by the Dominion or by a public commission. What they want is cheaper and quicker freight transportation to European ports, but that is precisely what it is not in the interest of any of the railway companies to give. To hand the Hudson Bay road over to company operation would defeat the very object which it is to secure. So long as it is a public road it will act as a curb on the companies, since any attempt to prevent its proper utilization could easily be met by its extension right into the grain-growing territory. Presumably the Dominion Government is satisfied of the feasibility of the Hudson Bay route, and that being so, no more fatuous policy could be imagined than to deprive it of its public character. Talk of effective control over private operation after the experiences of the past is mere imbecility.



OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va. — "I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — MRS. EMMA WHEATON, Vienna, W. Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

BETHANY

Bethany, Jan. 4th — The hockey match to have been played Monday was postponed owing to the inclemency of the weather. It will take place as soon as the ice is in good condition again.

There following members of the Council were returned by acclamation in Bethany last Monday, Dec. 26: Reeve, H. Hickson; Deputy Reeve, J. R. Armstrong; Councillors, S. W. Tisson and Wm. McMaster.

Mrs. Johnson and Miss Matchett were the guests of R. Matchett, Cavan, over Sunday.

ACHES, PAINS AND RHEUMATISM?

Zam-Buk Will Give You Ease

Have you a bad attack of "general aching?" You know the feeling. Limbs ache, muscles seem to have become tired out, your back aches, now and again a twinge of rheumatism strikes you here and there. Your chest feels tight, there is a pain between your shoulders, and altogether you need toning up.

Cold is responsible for this condition and a vigorous application of Zam-Buk will put you right. Take a hot bath, if possible, and then rub your chest and the aching limbs with Zam-Buk.

Mrs. B. Gorie, 56 Berkeley street, Toronto, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies, new and old, and found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On applying this to my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I also rubbed it on my limbs where I felt the rheumatic pains. In three days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk, I was free from the cold in throat and chest, and also the rheumatism in my limbs."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post-free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

Railways Fined.

Philadelphia, Jan. 5.—Judge Holland, in the U. S. District Court yesterday, inflicted fines of $40,000 each on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., and the Bethlehem Steel Co., charged with unlawful rebating. The defendants announce that they will appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

Aeroplanes Burned.

Breslau, Germany, Jan. 5.—Fire last evening destroyed three aeroplanes and five hangers at the Wilhelmsruh Aerodrome. An explosion occurred in the benzine tanks. Incendiarism is suspected.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, Jan. 4.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day, ⅝d lower than yesterday; corn futures unchanged to ¼d higher.

At Chicago, May wheat closed ⅜c lower than yesterday, May corn ⅛c lower, and May oats ⅛c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg, May wheat closed ⅛c lower, May oats ⅛c lower.

	Close Jan. 3.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	97¼	96⅞	97⅛	96⅝	96⅝
July	98⅛	98	98⅛	97⅝	97⅞
Oats—
May	37¼	37¼	37¼	37	37
July	38⅜	38⅜	38⅜	38⅛	38⅛

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bush	$0 85 to	$0 86
Wheat, goose, bush	0 78	0 80
Rye, bushel	0 68	0 70
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids ...	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Butter—Easy; receipts, 8878; factory, held, 23c, do., current make, 20c to 21½c.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged, receipts, 1385.

Eggs—Easy; receipts, 12,712; state, Pennsylvania and nearby, hennery, white, fancy, 45c to 46c; do., gathered, white, 35c to 44c, do., hennery, brown, fancy, 40c; do., gathered, brown, 35c to 39c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Hogs Active and 25 Cents Higher at Buffalo—Cattle Steady.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—London cattle market lower for American cattle, at 13¼c to 14½c, dressed weight, sinking the offal. Refrigerator beef easier, at 9¾c to 10c.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were large, considering that it was a Wednesday's market. The railways reported 78 carloads, consisting of 1974 cattle, 1406 hogs, 675 sheep and lambs, 71 calves and 3 horses.

Butchers.

Prices for butchers' heifers and steers ranged from $5 to $5.90; cows, $3.50 to $5.10; bulls, $4 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

Milkers and springers sold at from $40 to $70 each.

Veal Calves.

Prices for veal calves were unchanged, at $3 to $8 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Wesley Dunn reported prices as follows: Sheep, ewes, $4.25 to $4.60; rams, $3 to $3.50, and lambs, $6.50 to $8 per cwt.

Hogs.

Prices for hogs were firmer; selects, fed and watered at the market, sold at $7.35 to $7.45, and $7 to $7.10 to drovers for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the offerings this morning were 800 cattle, 175 sheep and lambs, 1100 hogs, and 100 calves. This being the first market held this year, and also the first since this day week, butchers naturally were well cleaned out of beef, consequently the demand for cattle far good, and, as the supply was not large, a firm feeling prevailed in the market and prices show little change. Choice steers sold at 5¾c to 6c, good at 5¼c to 5½c, and fair 5c, while choice cows brought 5c, good 4½c to 4¾c, fair 4c to 4¼c, common 3½c to 3¾c, inferor 3c to 3¼c per lb., and bulls sold at from 3c to 4c, as to quality.

Supplies of sheep and lambs were small, and prices ruled firm. The demand was only fair, as buyers in most cases laid ample supplies away in cold storage earlier in the season for their winter trade. Sheep sold at 4¼c to 4½c, and lambs at 6¼c to 6½c per lb. The tone of the market for hogs was strong at the recent advance in prices, owing to the continued good demand from packers, and the small supplies coming forward. A brisk trade was done at sales of selected lots at $7.50 to $7.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. There were only a few calves offered, which brought from $3 to $10 each, as to quality.

At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Dec. 31 were 2050 cattle, 1275 sheep and lambs, 1600 hogs and 100 calves. The offerings on the market this morning were 250 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 700 hogs and 25 calves. The demand for cattle, sheep and lambs was good, and the prices realized were much the same as those quoted above, while sales of selected lots of hogs were made freely at $7.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 4.—Cattle—Receipts, none, steady.

Veals—Receipts, 75 head; active; 50c higher, $7 to $11.

Hogs—Receipts, 2300 head; active; 25c higher; heavy, $8.55 to $8.60; mixed, $8.60 to $8.70; yorkers, $8.70 to $8.85; pigs, $8.90 to $9, roughs, $7.50 to $7.75, stags, $6 to $6.75, dairies, $8.50 to $8.85.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4200 head, active; handy lambs 15c higher; others steady; heavy lambs, $5 to $5.50; handy, $5 to $6.50, yearlings, $4.75 to $5.25, wethers, $4 to $4.25; ewes, $3.75 to $4; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Beeves—Receipts, 1800, market firm, steers, $5.15 to $6.80; bulls, $4 to $5.25, cows, $2.40 to $5; dressed beef steady, at 8½c to 10½c. London cattle market lower, at 12½c to 14c, dressed weight, sinking the offal; refrigerator beef easier, at 9¼c to 9¾c per lb. Exports, 16 cattle and 30 sheep.

Calves—Receipts, 970; veals steady to strong; barnyard calves steady; westerns nominal; veals, $7 to $10.75; culls, $4.50 to $6; barnyard calves, $4 to $4.50; Indiana calves, $6.25; dressed calves steady; city dressed veals, 11c to 16c; country dressed calves, 9c to 12½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 6867; sheep steady; lambs firm to 10c higher; all sold. Sheep, $2.50 to $4.90; culls, $2 to $2.25; lambs, $6.15 to $6.85; culls, $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 6480; market firm, at $8.25 to $8.75.

Sixty-Fifth May Go.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—It is stated that His Majesty King George has expressed to Lord Strathcona his hope that a French-Canadian regiment will attend the coronation. The 65th Regiment of Montreal will probably go, the honorary colonel, Rudolphe Forget, M.P., having last year promised to treat the corps to a trip to England and France.

Raised $6,000 for Queen's.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—The sum of $6,000 has been raised by subscription, in addition to the $40,000 given by Prof. Nicol, for the equipment of the metallurgy building at Queen's University. Work will be commenced this year.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants maids, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

A SMALL GOLD PIN, SET WITH PEARLS Finder please leave at this office. d2-3

LOST

ON TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 27th, GOLD necklace set with pearls, between Fair's and Hall's stores on George St. Liberal reward for return to Review Office. 3d

LOST

ON SUNDAY EVENING, A MARMOT MUFF, on Reid St., north of McDonnel. Finder will please leave at Review office. Reward. 3d

Wanted

WANTED

DINING-ROOM GIRL, GRAND HOTEL. Experienced. Apply at Hotel.

WANTED

AN EXPERT MACHINIST, APPLY TO Lundy Tool & Shovel Co. 1d

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TWO CUTTERS FOR SALE, AND PAIR OF Bobsleighs with brand new boxes. Also several two wheeled scufflers. Apply to F. ARKLES at Storey's Livery. 2d1w

PRIVATE SALE

PRIVATE SALE AT 711 WATER STREET—Sideboard, Dining Table, Hall Rack, White Enamel Bed, Toilet Sets and Chairs. 4d

OFFICES TO RENT

NEAR POST OFFICE. HEATED AND WITH good vault. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. tf

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL

If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street, Opposite Opera House

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell.

JAY'S STORES
Phone 603. 390 Aylmer St Peterborough.

EAST CITY
COAL
And Wood Yard.
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN
ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

Canadian Pacific Ry. EMPRESSES And other Steamships

ST. JOHN, N.B. and HALIFAX, N.S.

Empress of Britain ...... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian ...... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland ...... Feb. 10, Mar. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

CANADIAN PACIFIC FLORIDA

CALIFORNIA, CUBA

FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO

You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect.

Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM Winter Tours

MEXICO, COLORADO, CALIFORNIA, AND PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

The Grand Trunk Railway System is the popular route from all points east through Canada via Chicago

FEATURES

Double Track, Fast Service, Finest Roadbed, Modern Equipment, Unexcelled Car Service, All Elements of Safety and Comfort.

TO THE SUNNY SOUTH

No more desirable route than via Grand Trunk and connecting lines.

VERY LOW RATES

Full particulars and tickets from—
W. BUNTON, City Agent. F. SANDY, Depot Agent

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT of the Canadian Northern Ry. System

is prepared to obtain

FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
General Immigration Agent
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
54 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO Limited

162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 270. (Machine)—270.
134 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 362

ORDER NOW

The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co
245 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S. Eng., L.R.C.P. London.
"Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours, 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 261, mach. 225
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S. Edinb.; M.R.C.S. Eng., L.R.C.P. Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 510; 163 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 468—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
Robt. Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office,
Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro. Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 426 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor.
Louis M. Hayes, K.C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. Hall, M.P., S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water Street, Peterborough. Telephone No 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
—on—
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY
ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

The TORONTO SAVINGS and LOAN COMPANY

Paid up Capital . . . $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund 600,000.00

Savings Department

3½%

Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of Deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of Banking.

Security Afforded Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1909 . . $3,120,201.18
Liabilities to the Public . . 1,368,771.88
Surplus $1,751,429.30

HEAD OFFICES:
437 George Street, Peterborough

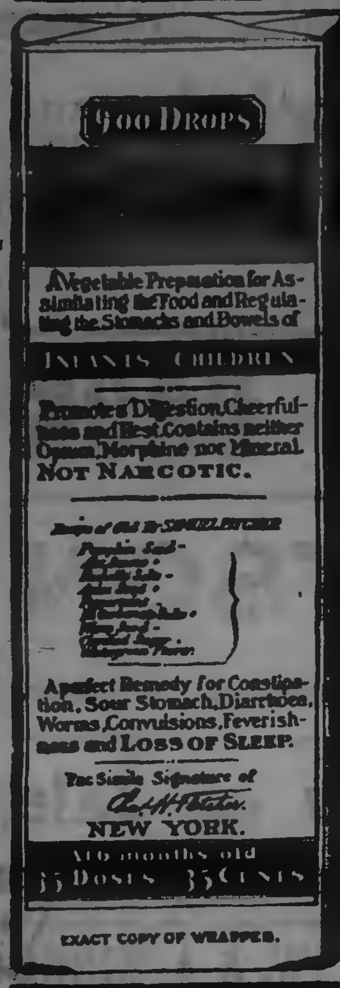
Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Saturdays - 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

W. G. MORROW
Managing Direct

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call

328 GEORGE STREET



900 DROPS
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of
INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"Has he dropped any hint before you?"

"Not a hint. He wouldn't let go of anything. Why, he is too close fisted to drop his 'r's.'"

"Will you take dinner with me this evening so that we can talk over any further developments?"

"I am to dine with Mr. Hilliard," said the girl.

"Oh!" Boyd's tone of disappointment seemed disproportionate to the occasion. He endeavored to disguise his feeling by saying lightly: "You are breaking into exclusive circles. He lives in quite a palace, I am told."

"I—I'm not dining at his home." Cherry hesitated, and Boyd flashed a sharp glance at her. A faint color flushed her cheeks as she explained. "He could not see me at the office today, so he arranged for me to take dinner with him."

"I see." Boyd detected a note hitherto strange in his own voice. "I am going to try the Tacoma banks tomorrow. Would you like to run over with me in the morning? The sound trip is beautiful."

"I would love to," she exclaimed. "I may have something to report if I can make Mr. Hilliard talk."

"Out of curiosity, I should like to know what influenced him. I'll call for you in time for the 9 o'clock boat," he added as he arose to go. "Meanwhile if you get a hint from Hilliard it may be useful."

Cherry had finished her breakfast next morning when he called and was awaiting him, clad in a brown velvet suit which set off her trim figure with all the effectiveness of skillful tailoring. She was as perfect to the eye as the morning itself.

"Well, did Hilliard expose the hidden mysteries of the banking system?" he questioned as they walked down toward the water front.

"He did. It is no mystery at all now."

"Then it was that newspaper story that frightened him."

"Indirectly perhaps. He didn't mention it."

"What did he say?"

"Nothing."

"Nothing! Then how"—

"He informed me that you are engaged to marry Miss Wayland."

"Yes. But what did he say about the loan?"

"Only what I have told you. The rest is easy. Had you been less secretive I would have known instantly whom to blame for this trouble. Wayne Wayland and Willis Marsh are working double, and inasmuch as you are persona non grata"—

"Who told you I am persona non grata?"

"You told me yourself without intending to. Please give me credit for some shrewdness. If you had been a welcome suitor you would have had no difficulty in raising twice $200,000 in Chicago. Then, too, I remember the story you told me at Kalvik, your mental attitude—many things, in fact. Oh, it was very simple."

"Well, what of it? What has all that got to do with my present difficulty?"

"Listen! You want to marry the daughter of the greatest trust builder in the country, and he doesn't want you for a son-in-law. You undertake an enterprise which seriously threatens his financial interests, and if successful in that you could defy his opposition in the other matter. Now, all goes well until he learns of your plans, then he strikes with his own weapons. A word here and there, a hint to the banks, and your fine castle comes tumbling down about your ears. I thought you had more perception."

"We haven't figured Marsh in at all," he said tentatively.

"He figures nevertheless, as I intend to show you today. To begin with, please notice that unobtrusive man in the gray suit. Not now! Don't look around for a minute. You will see him on the opposite side of the street."

Boyd turned, to observe a rat faced fellow across the way, evidently bound for the Tacoma boat.

"Is he following us?"

"I see him everywhere I go."

Boyd's face clouded angrily, at which Cherry exclaimed, "Now, for heaven's sake, don't mimic Big George or we'll never learn anything."

"I won't stand for a spy," he growled.

Finally the girl said, "You really do care a great deal for Miss Wayland, don't you?"

His only answer was a deep breath and a slow turning of the head, but once she had seen the look in his eyes she needed no other. She could only say: "I hope she is worthy of all she is causing you to suffer, Boyd. So few of us are."

To be continued.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.
Genuine
Carter's Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good
See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.
Very small and as easy to take as sugar.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION.
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION
Purely Vegetable.
CURE SICK HEADACHE.

INQUEST AT DRESDEN

Coroner's Jury Sharply Criticizes Inspection of Hose.

Witnesses at Inquest Into the Death of ex-Mayor Hicks Testify That Fire Protection Well Did Not Contain a Drop of Water and Mud Drawn Into the Hose Prevented Quick Work.

Dresden, Ont., Jan. 5.—The coroner's jury enquiring into the death of ex-Mayor D. V. Hicks, killed at the fire here on Sunday, Dec. 26, concluded its work at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bringing in a verdict that the death of the deceased was caused by an explosion of heat and gases accumulating in the attic of R. Aiken's store. The cause of the fire is unknown to the jury. The verdict adds that a proper inspection of the condition of the fire hose, engine and wells would have prevented the loss of property. Dr. Wiley presided and Crown Attorney Smith conducted the investigation. The Fuel and Light Co. was represented by O. L. Lewis, Chatham, while G. E. Weir appeared for the town of Dresden and several private individuals. Messrs. Edwards, Toronto, and Grant of Listowel, were present for the underwriters.

Twenty-seven witnesses were heard, and the principal evidence being from members of the fire department. They testified that the well supposed to furnish water for the fire protection of the business section of Dresden contained not a single drop of water on the night of the fire. These wells were supplied by an intake pipe from the Sydenham River.

When the fire department reached the scene of the fire it was found that the well expressly sunk for the protection of the business section did not contain one drop of water when the fire engine was started, the result that only a quantity of mud was drawn into the hose.

The fire department then rushed to the river, and placed the hose in the water. The fire by this time had gained great headway, and when the engine was again started it was discovered that very little water could be drawn because the hose was plugged with mud that had been sucked in from the well.

Chief Hoyles stated that it was a part of his duty to inspect the wells. The last inspection he made of the business section well was in June last.

Clerical Hostility Resented.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—The Liberal papers of this province are day after day complaining of the hostility of the clergy. The other day La Presse complained that an Oblate father had denounced that paper as unfit to be placed in the hands of the people, while La Patrie lodged a complaint with the archbishop to the effect that a Jesuit father had used hostile language against that newspaper. Yesterday Le Canada says that the parish priest of St. Narcisse from the pulpit asked his people to read Le Devoir, as it was an independent paper, while in another column Le Canada says: "In an educational establishment of this city the reading of Le Canada is strictly forbidden, under threat of severe punishment, yet at the same time no less than forty copies of Le Devoir are received. This information comes to us," says Le Canada, "from people of good faith."

Contrary to Immutable Tradition.

Paris, Jan. 5.—The five academies which make up the Institute of France met in joint session yesterday to discuss the question of the eligibility of women for membership which has been raised as the result of the strongly-supported candidacy of Mme. Curie for the Academy of Science.

A long and animated debate arose, and a resolution was adopted by a vote of 88 to 58, that the election of women was contrary to immutable tradition, which it would be wisest to respect. At the same time the assembly recognized that its decision was not binding on the different academies as separate units.

Gallagher Sentenced.

Jersey City, Jan. 5.—James J. Gallagher, who attempted to kill Mayor Gaynor as he was about to sail for Europe last August, was found guilty for atrocious assault with intent to kill Street Cleaning Commissioner William Edwards of New York, who was shot while attempting to aid Mr. Gaynor. Justice Swayne sentenced Gallagher to twelve years in states prison at Trenton, "and further until the cost of prosecution is paid."

Fell Overboard.

New York, Jan. 5.—On her arrival at City Island yesterday, on her way from Restigouche, Que., with lumber, the schooner Rothesay reported that on Dec. 21, during a heavy northeast snowstorm, 75 miles off Cape Cod, Arthur Johnson, aged 22, of Jordan River, N.S., fell overboard and was drowned.

Had Twenty-Five Children.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 5.—Mrs. Hattie Jenkins, a colored woman, born in 1798, is dead in this city. She was married three times, was the mother of twenty-five children and outlived her husbands, and, with one exception, all of her children. The sole survivor is a son, residing in this city.

College Burned.

Durham, N.C., Jan. 5.—Trinity College was visited by fire yesterday which destroyed the Washington Duke dormitory. There was no loss of life, but the personal belongings of more than one hundred students were burned, together with many valuable records. Loss $100,000; insurance $40,000.

Found Dead.

Kingston, Jan. 5.—Miss Hannah Fraser, living alone at Ernesttown, has been found dead in her home of heart disease.

Grief over the death of Count Tolstoi caused a Williamsburg, N.Y., man to become violently insane.

WOODSTOCK ENQUIRY

Continued from Page 1.

of the committee, got half," put in Mr. Johnston.

"Yes."

Then it was elicited from him that he supposed it was a "rake-off" on the order. It was never entered in the books. He considered it an outside deal. The check came to himself personally.

F. A. Howden, head of the London firm, was called, and a note was produced from him, saying that he was too ill to attend, which Mr. Johnston refused to accept as sufficient reason for his absence, and Judge Snider instructed Mr. Howden's emissary that a more satisfactory reason must be forthcoming by to-day or a fine would be imposed and a bench warrant issued.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Senator Elkins of West Virginia died last night after a lingering illness.

The People's Theatre and the Public Library at Pembroke were burned. Most of the books were lost.

A victim of aphasia in a hospital in this city is believed to be Stanley C. Walbridge of Porcupine City, Ont.

John Ridewood of Smith's Falls fell in attempting to jump a picket fence and was seriously injured by the pickets piercing his thigh.

A rescue party sent out yesterday brought in five lumbermen who were overcome by the storm ten miles south of Kenora yesterday.

Fire, starting in the furnace-room of the Columbia Hotel, London, Ont., last night, gutted the first floor, causing damage of about $20,000.

British opinion is deeply stirred by the fight with the anarchists, and the Home Secretary has promised to inquire into the working of the aliens' act.

The meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association at Perth passed a unanimous resolution in favor of free trade in dairy products with the United States.

Arrangements for the construction of the electric radial line between Ottawa and Brockville will have been completed, and the work will be begun next spring.

The Australian Ministry is making every effort to effect a quick settlement of the Vancouver mail question, an Australian offer to provide a service is being considered.

Canadian Immigration Agent N. B. Colcock, who has been suffering from pleuro-pneumonia in London, is improved, according to a cablegram received at Niagara Falls yesterday.

The contract for timber for a big wharf to be erected at Kingston by the Wilbur Iron Co., has been awarded by the Exploration Syndicate of Ontario, owners of the mine. Work will be started as soon as the ice takes its departure.

Ignited Passenger's Hair.

New York, Jan. 5.—A flash of blue green fire which followed the short circuiting of a motor in a Brooklyn car ignited first the hair and then the clothes of Mrs. F. L. Piederman, who was sitting next the front door. The fifty passengers were nearly paralyzed with terror, as the only light in the darkened car came from the uncanny flashes of electric fire darting here and there. At the height of the excitement a policeman fought his way through the aisle, and yanking off his great coat, wrapped it around Mrs. Piederman, smothering the flames.

Magistrate Love Dead.

London, Ont., Jan. 5.—Police Magistrate Francis Love died at 7.15 o'clock last evening of pernicious anaemia, after an illness extending over several months.

Mr. Love was born in Scotland sixty years ago, and came to Canada with his parents when two years of age. He went to school in London. He studied law in Guelph, returning to London later. He was appointed police magistrate eleven years ago. Mr. Love was formerly very active in athletic sports, and was very popular as a magistrate.

To Oppose Eight Hour Day.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—The council of the Montreal Board of Trade yesterday decided to strongly oppose the legislation introduced into Parliament by A. Verville, M.P., providing an eight hour day on all public works. The council takes the ground that the provisions of the act shut out the majority of the manufacturers from competing for Government contracts, and, by decreasing the working hours of available men, intensify the lack of work where such already exists.

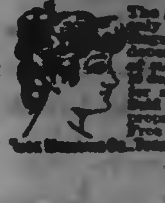
Await Reply From Ecuador.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The agreement of Peru to submit its boundary dispute with Ecuador to The Hague tribunal was received at the State Department yesterday in a telegram from American Minister Coombs at Lima. The United States, Argentina and Brazil, the mediators in the controversy, are now awaiting a reply from Ecuador, which so far has given no hint as to whether or not The Hague arbitration proposition will be accepted.

Recognize Open Shop.

Winnipeg, Jan. 5.—The Garment Workers' Union have given permission to twenty-five members locked out by the Manitoba Clothing Co. for refusing to make uniforms for strike-breaking street railway employes, to return to work as individuals in the company's "open" shop. They will still retain membership in the union.

In Port Huron, John Phipps, a bridge tender, dropped dead as he stood on a street corner waiting for a car to take him home.



Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3 for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

REINHARDT'S Edelweiss NON-INTOXICATING TORONTO
"EDELWEISS" BEER
That's the name of the perfect non-intoxicating beer. "Edelweiss" is just as pure and more beneficial than clear spring water—super-charged with all the health-giving qualities of selected Bohemian Hops and pure malt, because brewed scientifically. Seasoned, bottled and sealed at the brewery—by
REINHARDTS' OF TORONTO
THE BEST BEER SOLD
Local Agent—ALEX. ELLIOTT, Peterborough. Telephone 719

SPORTING NEWS

FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON IN BANKERS' HOCKEY LEAGUE

Montreal vs. Dominion-Ottawa—The Official Board of Referees—Schedule of Games for the Season.

This afternoon the bankers forgot their books and balances and took to the ice in their first league game of the season. The match was held at Brock street rink, between five and six o'clock, the Montreal seven stacking up against the Dominion-Ottawa combination. George Clark, of the Bank of Commerce office refereed.

A full report of the game will appear in to-morrow's issue.

The following is the list of the official referees, the president to name the one to officiate at each game—Montreal, H. Sawers; Commerce, G. Clarke; Royal, H. W. Harper; Nova Scotia, F. C. McLeod; Ottawa, J. D. Ross; Dominion, F. Milne; Toronto, A. Fitzgerald.

The schedule for the season is:—

January 5—
Montreal vs Dominion-Ottawa.
January 7—
Royal-Commerce vs Toronto-N.S.
January 12—
Dominion-Ottawa vs Royal-Com.
January 14—
Montreal vs Toronto-Nova Scotia
January 19—
Royal-Commerce vs Montreal.
January 21—
Dominion-Ottawa vs Toronto-N.S.
January 26—
Royal-Commerce vs Dom.-Ottawa.
January 28—
Montreal vs Toronto-Nova Scotia.
February 2—
Royal-Commerce vs Montreal.
February 4—
Dominion-Ottawa vs Toronto-N.S.
February 9—
Royal-Commerce vs Toronto-N.S.
February 11—
Montreal vs Dominion-Ottawa.

PUCKLAND

Up in Lindsay a player in the town hockey league was reported by the referee to the president for using insulting language.

Referees never did have a happy existence in Scugogville and now the younger generation have got the habit.

Says the Lindsay Post:—The juniors were out in the largest numbers of this season last evening. The management was much encouraged by the speed displayed and are sanguine about the coming game.

Tom Phillips, of hockey fame, was married yesterday at Hamilton to Miss Ella Gertrude Kilgour, of that city. Puckland.

The office team of the C. G. R. and the Lock Works septet, open the Mercantile League, Saturday night at the Brock Street Rink.

Port Hope professionals play at Belleville to-night.

Ingersoll juniors tied St. Thomas in knots last night, winning 21—4. Coverpoint Kelly, a brother of the local intermediate left wing, starred.

Peterborough ought to pull away with a win at Cobourg Monday night. Belleville had an easy time winning at home last night by 10—4. Cobourg's lineup was—Goal, Paton; point, Hand; cover, Nicholson; rover, Lavis; centre Payne; right wing, Crowther; left wing, Doheny.

Oshawa intermediates were beaten in Whitby last night by 8—1. Quinn, Quigley and Coley were on the Oshawa lineup.

Belleville professionals have secured Fred Doherty for the season. Doherty will work at cover.

RUNNING

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 4.—With hundreds cheering his wonderful spurt at midnight around 12 laps, which remained to complete his task, Eugene Estoppey ran a thousand miles in as many consecutive hours, establishing a new endurance world's record. He started at 10 o'clock in the morning, November 20th. Ten days later the runner showed unmistakable signs of fatigue and was urged to quit. But by perseverance Estoppey plugged along to his second wind.

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

The intermediate "Gym" class held a most successful sleigh drive and skating party to Lakefield last night, where everone had a most enjoyable time. On returning home coffee and refreshments were served and everyone voted it the best ever.

Business Men's Gymnasium class to-day at 4.30 p.m.

Snowshoe tramp to-night, leaving the Y. M. C. A. at 8 p.m. Whether you are a member or not you are invited.

Intermediate Basket Ball League will open again to-night when The Rowdies and Saw Bones clash in the opening contest and Pirates meet the Maple Leafs.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

CURLING

Interesting games were pulled off at the rink last night, some of the players showing particularly good form for this period of the season.

Despite the one-sided score in the Eastwood vs Brightman game, high-class curling was contributed by both rinks.

The Medd vs Henderson rinks played in the afternoon.

THE SCORES.

Dr. Buchanan	H. McCanan
H. C. Barnett	Rev. Webb
W. H. Collier	Rev. R. Pogue
S. T. Medd—	Rev. Henderson
Skip...... 19	Skip...... 3
— Stanley	H. McCanan
H. Morgan	A. Webb
W. Menzie	G. Hill
Dr. Wightman	G. Giroux
Skip...... 8	Skip...... 15
F. M. White	G. Green
S. Rush	W. P. Adamson
G. C. Wainwright	H. Evans
Dr. Eastwood	T. Brightman
Skip...... 4	Skip...... 21
K. Lech	A. Gibson
T. J. Stubbs	W. Stocker
R. Harstone	H. Meredith
G. B. Stevenson	Dr. Greer
Skip...... 6	Skip...... 10
F. H. Hooper	J. H. Meredith
W. H. Collier	W. R. Turner
W. J. Baptie	W. D. Campbell
W. G. Morrow	H. Foote
Skip...... 9	Skip...... 10

TO-NIGHT'S DRAW

Giroux vs Moore.
W. M. Lang vs Morphet.
Fitzgerald vs Pinchin.
Yeates vs Taylor.
Neill vs Read.

FRIDAY NIGHT

McDermid vs Sturgeon.
Lockhart vs Davidson.
Stevenson vs Matthews.
Brown vs Connal.
J. H. Ferguson vs W. G. Ferguson

Children's Aid Society
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.
CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1380 76 George St

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.00 a.m. 3.00 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.00 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.36 a.m. 12.36 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal.
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

5.36 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc.
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto.
7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.30 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

LUMBER
And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

COAL
THAT IS COAL
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON
Hardwood
First-Class. . . . Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS
Skates Sharpened and Repaired
MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1254

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities
Cold Storage
In Full Operation
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

The ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.
AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $850,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH
10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.
Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.
APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.
For Further Particulars Apply
MERSON & CO.
Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

Grand Opera House, To-morrow Night Jan. 6th.

Jerome K. Jerome's Remarkable Play

THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK

An Entirely All-English Company with - - - - IAN ROBERTSON

This remarkable play ran—12 months in London, England ; 7 months in New York ; is now nearing its 2000th performance.

Prices---25c to $1.50. - - Seats Now on Sale

There's A Difference !

No counterfeiter has ever produced a perfect dollar.

No imitator has ever equaled the Nugent Drug Co's Pine Tar Cordial in quality.

In buying Pine Tar Cordial, for coughs and colds, insist on having "NUGENT'S. All others are cheap imitations.

We have been manufacturing this preparation for nearly 30 years. It is one of the best cures for coughs and colds and all bronchial troubles, in the market.

Our sale of Pine Tar Cordial for 1910 was over 3000 bottles.

Price 25c bottle

Manufactured only by the

NUGENT DRUG Co.

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on WaterSt , and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W. G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters
Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 387

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.
C. BLEWETT, 382 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1321.
House Phone 535

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mencik

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Adams'
Great Cash
REALIZATION SALE
For 15 Days, Commencing
Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash
You Want the Goods

This Great Cash Realization Sale is going with a rush. Hundreds of Ladies who know Bargains say they never saw such values.

Don't let anything keep you away.
Bargains all over the store.

Harry Adams

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Queen Alexandra Circle, No. 136, A. O. F. met last night in S.O.E. hall. After the business had been concluded the Chief Companion called on Bro. Record to take the chair, when the following officers were duly installed for the present term—

C.C.—Mrs. Moss.
P.C.C.—Miss Rose.
S.C.C.—Mrs. Adlam.
Secretary—Miss E. Martin.
Treasurer—Miss Record.
Right Guide—Mrs. McLean.
Left Guide—Miss McLean.
Inside Guard—Mrs. Ballentyne.
Outside Guard—Mrs. Tremain.
Chaplain—Mrs. Dobbs.
Pianist—Miss Dobbs.
Medical Officer—Dr. Morgan.
Trustees—Mrs. Spitt, Mrs. Record and Mrs. Walsh.
Auditors—Bros. Record, Adlam and McWilliams.
Correspondent to Ancient Forester—Bro. Adlam.

The circle is in a flourishing condition and with a little hustling among the members prospects are bright for a banner year.

THE CANADIAN LADY
For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

PROMOTED TO PETERBOROUGH

(Port Hope Guide.)

Mr. G. O. Cameron, manager of the Bell Telephone Company, has received notice from headquarters of his transfer to Peterborough. Mr. Cameron's many friends, while sorry to hear of his removal, will congratulate him upon his promotion and wish him every success in the northern city.

Beginning Jan 1, every piece of granite shipped out of Barrie, Vt., is to bear a copyrighted Barrie trademark.

POLICE COURT

Liquor Dealer Fined $30.00 For Selling to Minor—Two $5.00 Fines in Cases of Poll Tax Delinquents.

A fine of $30 with costs of $3.40, was imposed on a George street liquor dealer this morning at police court. He was charged with selling to a minor and pleaded not guilty.

Saturday night last a young man was arrested for drunkenness. This morning he gave his age as eighteen and swore that he purchased a flask of whiskey and a bottle of beer in the store of the defendant, who served hmi.

A companion testified to the other having left him on George street to go into the store to purchase a bottle of beer. On returning he had the beer and a half-filled flask. The liquor was disposed of on Brook street. This witness gave his age as sixteen.

The defendant couldn't remember of the young man having been in his store on Saturday night. He was very particular with boys and always asked their age.

"I see nothing in this case to extenuate or excuse," said his Worship. "It is a sad thing to see young boys starting out on this course. My experience is that they laud in the gutter and anybody who helps them by furnishing liquor take a great responsibility."

The chief had an information charging an offence on the part of the young man in getting the liquor, but the clause in the act did not, in the Magistrate's opinion cover the case before the court.

FINED $2.00.

On the charge of having been found drunk in a public place, he was fined $2.00.

POLL TAX $6.00.

Two residents of this fair city, were each fined $5.00 for neglecting to pay poll tax.

The excuse of one was that he did not get a bill following the first notice.

Tax Collector Green explained that he had written the defendant at his home.

The other, an Englishman, stated that he had been in the city several weeks only previous to being served with the notice.

"A great many Englishmen think they are not liable for poll tax till they are here six months," offered the collector of "plunks."

His Worship held that there had been neglect, and marked it down as $5.00.

"I don't think a Canadian coming to my country would be charged," said the member of bachelordom, "and I don't think its justice," he added, as the five spot changed hands.

GARRISON SERGEANTS' MESS ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Garrison Sergeants mess at the Armouries last night was well attended. The financial statement showed that finances of the mess were in a very satisfactory condition.

The following officers were elected

Hon. President — Lt. Col. Stevenson, 57th.

1st. Hon. Vice President — Major T. W. H. Young, 24th battery.

2nd. Hon. Vice President — Major Johnston, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons.

President — Color Sergt. H. Dodds 57th Regiment.

Secty.-Treas.—Sergt. W. L. Metheral, 57th Regiment.

Committee — Color Sergt. Smith. 57th Regt ; Sergt. Halpin, 57th Regt. Quartermaster Sergt. Edwards, 57th Regt. ; Sergt. Iurin, 24th battery.

Refreshments were served at the close of the business of the evening.

STRUCK WITH A CLUB AND ROBBED OF SUM OF MONEY

Mr. Arthur Lasure Victim of a Dastardly Assault on Tuesday Evening

Struck on the head with a club and robbed of a sum of money in the neighborhood of twenty dollars was the experience of Mr. Arthur Lasure, who resides at 364 Romaine street. The assault was committed on Tuesday evening about seven o'clock, as the young man was proceeding homeward.

It appears that he was overtaken by some person and stepped aside to allow the person to pass him on the sidewalk. Instead of this he was struck violently on the head from behind and lost consciousness. When found he was in rather bad shape and later discovered that he had lost the sum of twenty dollars. His assailant is not known.

BOARD'S THANKS FOR GIFTS

The Board of Management of the Peterborough Protestant Home gratefully acknowledge the following donations:

Mrs. Walsh, materials for plum puddings.
L. O. L. No. 30, cakes.
Mr. H. Bradshaw, box of raisins.
Knox Church, bread, pies and pickles.
Mrs. Graham, clothing
Orangemen, sandwiches.
R. H. Hunter, nuts and candies.
Miss West, candies.
Mrs. Dawson Kennedy, chicken.
Mrs. A. G. Dickson, curtains.
Mr. and Mrs. Cressman, Christmas gifts.
Mrs. J. Hart, pies, clothing and reading matter.
Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, goose.
Two friends, Christmas dinner.
W. H. Hamilton, goose, nuts and oranges.
J. E. A. Fitzgerald, turkey and holly
District L.O.L., barrel of apples, and figs.
Mrs. Crosby, plant and clothing.
The Misses Morrow, candies and nuts for the children.
Mrs. M. A. Morrison, oranges, candies and nuts for the children.
Wm. Stock and son, 1 cwt. flour and cake.
John Mervin, goose.
Miss Halliday, Christmas gifts.
A friend, cabbage and turnips.
Mrs. Jas. Mann, dried apples.
Mrs. Thos. Barrie, dates, figs and nuts.
Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown, apples and oranges.
H P. Kennedy, turkey.
Mrs. J. H. Eastwood, candy.
Miss Maude Rush, candies for the children.
Mrs. Scott, apples, Christmas pudding.
Alexander and Miller, 1 doz. electric lights.
Dr. Greer, roast of beef.
E. F. Mason, oranges, grapes, candies, figs.
Miss Robinson, Christmas gifts.
Mrs. R. W. Davidson, cake.
Mrs. H. R. Hall, cake.
King's Daughters, Christmas gifts.
Miss Dickson, toys for children.
Mrs. E. Beavis, fruit and milk.
Mr. J. Hetherington, cream, milk and evergreens.
Mr. Connal, bag of apples.
A friend, clothing, boots and tubbers.
Mrs. Bruce Ferguson $3.00.
A friend, $2.00.
Mrs. Hazlitt, $7.00.
A friend, $2.00.
Salvation Army League of Mercy, Christmas gifts.

Special thanks are due to the Rev. Chas Carpenter for his kindness in acting as Santa Claus at the annual Christmas tree, also to Mr. R. J. Devey and the choir boys of St. John's church, who added so much to the success of the entertainment.

APPLY FOR WARRANT

For Formation and Government of Boy Scouts Movement in City

A meeting of vast importance to the Scout Movement in Peterboro was held last evening in the parlour of the Y. M. C. A.

The meeting had been called by Scoutmaster Neil to consider the advisability of a fusion of the forces of the City. The following gentlemen were present, His Hon. Judge Huycke, Dr. Middleton, Messrs. E. L. Goodwill, J. H. McClelan, H. M. Gilchrist and Scoutmasters Neil, Hughes and Hodges.

His Hon. Judge Huycke was in the chair and appointed Mr. H. M. Gilchrist to the Secretary of the meeting.

Considerable time was spent in discussion of the several points which had to be considered, difficulties pointed out and advantages to dwell upon. Finally, upon motion of Mr. E. L. Goodwill, seconded by Mr. J. H. McClelan the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolved — That in view of the fact that there are now certain organizations interested in the development of the Boys' Scout Movement in the City of Peterborough, and that it is highly desirable that the movement be in accord with the principals laid down by Lt. General Sir Robt. Baden Powell, K. C. B. in his book, "Regulations for the Government of Scouting for Boys"; and that there be a fusion of all the fores in the one emblem, the name thereof to be the Peterborough Boy Scouts; the following to be a committee to apply for a warrant for the formation and government of the Boys' Scout movement in Peterborough. J. H. McClel'an. His Hon. Judge Huycke. Dr. Middleton. Mr. Kenner. Mr. Goodwill D. O'Connel. F. D. Kerr, Col. Stevenson, C. E. Mason, L. M. Hayes, T. F. Matthews and the several Scoutmasters as they are appointed.

EXPLOSION AT PORT HOPE Y.M.C.A.

Top of Furnace Blown Off—Walls Damaged and Windows Wrecked

Port Hope, Ont., Jan. 4. — During the noon hour to-day a heavy explosion occurred at the Y. M. C. A. A large fire had been kindled in the furnace, and it being closed off too rapidly, the gas caused the trouble. The top of the furnace was completely blown off, and every window in the front of the building was smashed. Large portions of plaster were torn out and the building in general was considerably damaged.

HAVE SECURED NOTED SPEAKER

Another noted speaker will address the Canadian Club on Tuesday evening, January 10th, at the Hotel National. Hon. Clifford Sifton has been secured and his subject will be "The Conservation of Our National Resources. This address should be exceedingly interesting and instructive.

DEATH OF REV. CANON HINCKS

The death occurred at Bracebridge yesterday of one of the most widely known and highly esteemed rectors of the Anglican Church in Ontario, in the person of Rev. Canon Hincks, for many years rector of All Saints' Church, Windsor. The deceased clergyman, who was a native of Ireland, and a nephew of Sir Francis Hincks, was in his 79th year. He came to Canada at an early age, and was ordained by the first Bishop of Huron at London. He was afterwards rector of Galt, where he married the fifth daughter of Rev. Francis Evans, first rector of Woodhouse. While in Windsor his kindly disposition endeared him to all classes of the community, and many laughable incidents arising from his absent-mindedness only served to render him more popular. He retired from active work there several years ago, and had since been residing at Ingersoll. having gone to Bracebridge to visit his son, Rev. Francis Hincks, rector of Bracebridge, over the holidays. In addition to this son, the widow and four daughters survive, they being Mrs. Ernest Spencer, wife of the rector of Cobalt ; Mrs. Bernard Dench, of Lakefield ; and two unmarried daughters at home. The funeral will be held at Ingersoll to-morrow.

PERSONAL

Percy E. Day, of Milwaukee, is at the Oriental.

J. O. Cameron, Port Hope, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Argue, Winnipeg, are guests at the Oriental.

AUCTIONEER
James E. Cope
Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

FOR SALE

Iron Pipes for water and steam, Posts, Belting Pulleys, Shafting, Chains, Iron and Wood Pulleys, Steal Beams, Rails, Wire Fencing new and slightly used. Very cheap. Send for Catalogue, and state what you need.

The Imperial Waste & Metal Co.
7 Queen Street - MONTREAL

W. & A. KINGDON
Painters, Paper Hangers, Gilders, Glass Embossers and General House and Church Decorators

All work guaranteed and executed with despatch. Our charges are moderate and we only use the best materials.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Address 762 Water St. Phone 1140.

Home Rule
FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

FANCY GOODS
AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock--it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST PHONE 220

FRENCH DRY CLEANING AND PRESSING

Old and new customers will find that they will have the same first class work and promptness as formerly, at their stores.

Contracts taken. We call for and deliver

TWO STORES:—
173 Simcoe St. - - Phone 669
Charlotte St. - - Phone 575
Machine Phone 937

Crescent Brand Raisins
Crescent Brand Currents

One of the few Brands of perfectly Clean Fruits.

Cheapest Because Best

E. F. MASON, Grocer
429 George St. Telephone 78

Remember the English Pantomine Trick Spectacle, "THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE," at The Grand Next Saturday---Matinee and Evening. Something Different---20 Gorgeus Scenes, 5 Real Comedians. Everyone Laughs at Its Downright, Regular Triple-plated Nonsense. Seats Now on Sale.

Millinery Sale
MISS McGIVERIN
offers the entire stock of new and fashionable trimmed and untrimmed Hats and Trimmings
—At Cost—
The opportunity is one that should be availed of.
The values are surprisingly good.
No. 431 George-St
Phone 1385.

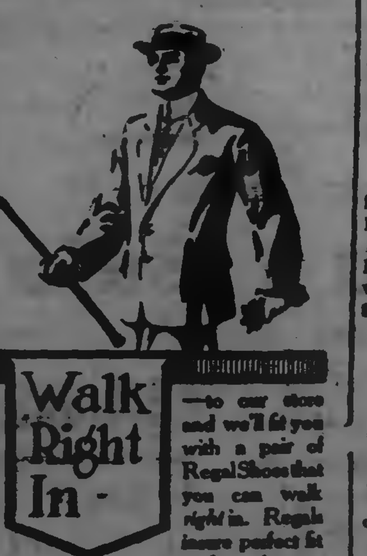
VIAVI
A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.
467 WATER-ST. PHONE No. 596

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
148½ Hunter Street.

LET US SUGGEST
A Toboggan, A Pair of Snowshoes
A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper
As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed, in even the large cities. [illegible]
J. J. Turner & Sons
George Street.

New Piano Warerooms
— and —
Real Estate Office
TAYLOR & WOOD
380 WATER STREET

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!
We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.
W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 621 170 Charlotte Street



—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.
REGAL SHOES
are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
264 George Street.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers
TO-NIGHT
THURSDAY
We have the Finest Vaudeville and Best Moving Pictures ever brought to the City
MERRY BROS., The Celebrated Banjo Players from London, England.
KITTY STEVENS, The Novelty Character Singer.
First Class Orchestra. Two Shows nightly at 7.30 and 9.00 p.m.
Prices only 5c & 10c

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
SATURDAY, JANUARY 7
Matinee and Evening
Chas. A. Sellon's English Pantomime Trick Spectacle, The Merry Musical Extravaganza
THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE
19 Song Hits
20 Gorgeous Scenes

40 People with HARRY B. WATSON and the Boylans
Different from other Musical Comedies
Prices— MATINEE, 35c, 50c, and 75c; Children when accompanied by an adult 25c any seat
EVENING—50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50; Gallery 25c
SEATS ON SALE THURSDAY

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Band Practice

The 57th band will practice to-night at 8 o'clock sharp.

St. John's Choir

St. John's choir will meet to-night at eight o'clock in the guild room. Boys assemble at 7.30.

Special for This Week

With every purchase amounting to $1 (not sugar) we will give free, one dust pan. W. Rebuck, Water and Smith streets. dtf

St. Paul's Choir

Will meet for rehearsal this week on Friday evening after the service to which the choir is requested to attend.

Dancing Class

New term beginning Friday, Jan. 6th. Children 4.30. Adults 8 p. m. Conservatory Music Hall, under direction of Miss Ivy Coventry.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

Court Stanley A. O. F.

Court Stanley, A.O.F., No. 7680, will be honored by a visit from District Chief Ranger Milne, of Trenton, on Tuesday evening, when officers for the year will be installed.

NORDHEIMER'S PIANO TUNER

Mr. Frank Whitehouse, tuning representative from the Nordheimer Piano Co.,Toronto is in town for a few days Kindly phone or leave order with Mr. Duffus, on George St. Phone 255. 2d

A Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. H. C. Robinson wish to express their sincere thanks to the friends of the deceased for their deep sympathy and for their many beautiful floral offerings. They also wish to offer their gratitude to the Ladies' Aid the Junior League and Bible Class of St James Church, for their kindly remembrances.

We never know the value of our friends until the only thing they can give us is their own selves.

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD
ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S
New Year Parties, Banquets etc., catered for.
NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT
A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from
Coleman Bros.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD

J. J. Lynch Re-elected Chairman

The inaugural meeting of the Separate School Board, was held last evening, there being present Rev. Dr. O'Brien James Murty, John J. Lynch, J. Primeau , John R. Burns, James Clancy, B. Carveth, Joseph Goselin, Thos. J. Lane.

The members elected at the recent election, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, James Murty, John J. Lynch, Thos. J. Lane, filled the necessary declarations. The secretary took the chair, and asked for the election of a chairman of the Board, for the current year. On motion of Mr. Goselin, seconded by Mr. Murty, Mr. John J. Lynch was reelected. John Corkery was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer.

The Rev. Father McColl was re-appointed school superintendent; Dr. McNulty was re-appointed a member of the Public Library,for the term of two years.

Messrs. John J. Lynch and D. Holland were re-appointed auditors. The standing Committees were appointed being as follows: Finance, Messrs. Murty, Primeau and Burns; Property, Rev. Dr. O'Brien and Messrs. Clancy and Carveth; School Management, Messrs. Goselin, Lane and Kyle, the first named to be the chairman thereof.

The minutes of the last meeting of the Board were read and confirmed. Accounts were received from

Miss Mowry	$3.00
B. Carveth	6.00
Garden Printing	2.75

Received and referred to the Finance Committee.

The secretary presented the statement of the finances for the year 1910, which was received and referred to the auditors.

RECEIPTS
City Treasurer	$ 9654.81
Provincial Treasurer	666.00
Refund	5.00
Suburban Municipalities	194.23
School fees	890.56
Overdraft at Bank	1006.10
	$ 12,316.70
PAYMENTS
Bank overdraft from 1909.	$ 222.07
Salaries	7822.71
Repairs	244.54
Water Service	81.80
School Supplies	1539.06
Fuel	565.45
Furniture	287.75
Interest on Current Ac.	1167.85
Insurance	82.00
Miscellaneous	165.06
	$ 12,316.70

The Board then adjourned.

BOY SCOUTS AT OTTAWA

Much Valuable Information Gained by Peterborough Movement—Twelve Boys Went From This City—Y.M.C.A. and Churches Were Represented.

The delegates sent from Peterborough to Ottawa to attend the Boys' Work Conference held there, Dec. 30, to Jan. 2, have returned and give most encouraging reports of the progress of the work, that can and is being done for boys the province over. The Peterborough Scouts under the leadership of Mr. Hodges and C. Richardson, made a most favorable impression. The boys held their own in everything they entered into and demonstrated what can be done when boys get together with one purpose in mind, that of making good in whatever they undertake to do.

The boys were naturally keenly interested in the scouting programme but put just as much energy into the religious and other sessions , taking notes freely and determined to do a good turn when the opportunity presented itself by helping their brother Scouts who were not quite so fortunate. This will mean much to the local Scout movement and no doubt the welfare of many a boy will be looked after by this splendid movement, which is interested in every boy physically, spiritually and mentally.

The boys from Peterborough numbered twelve ,but when they got together at Ottawa and let loose their call that had been especially prepared, the noise might indicate many more. This left no doubt in the minds of those present, as to where this contingent hailed from.

Peterborough was represented by the following Peterborough Scouts ;—T. Hodges, C. Richardson, L. Clark, T. Moran, A. Darling, W. Hamilton. St. Mark's church.—H. Coon, C. Fussee, G. More. St Paul's church.—H. Hughes, H. Taylor. Boys' Department, Y.M.C. A.—Mr Tait, E. Hamilton.

The boys will never forget the good time they had at Ottawa, the association doing everything possible to give them a good time and the people with whom the boys were billeted, treated them right royally.

WEEK OF PRAYER SERVICES

The third of the series of meetings in connection with the week of prayer took place last-night in St. Luke's Anglican and Charlotte Street Methodist Churches. Both meetings were most inspiring and profitable in themselves, to say nothing of the splendid spectacle of the spirit of Christian unity, when Anglicans, Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians meet together to pray, and to listen to addresses without discrimination as to the religious denomination of the preacher. At both churches the subject was the same, "The Conviction of the Holy Spirit" and the text the same, John XVI. 8-10.

At St. Paul's the Rev. H. R. Trumpour conducted the devotional exercises and the Rev. R. Fogue gave the address. 1 The Holy Spirit is to convict the world of sin. No preacher who could stand before a sinful world with a message concerning sin, must be indeed spirit-filled. Men would not be convicted of sin by the preaching of the Law of Sinai or even by conscience. It is the spirit's work. And the sin was not that found in the felon, it was found in congregations of Christian people,—the sin of unbelief in Christ. 2 The Holy Spirit is to convince the world of Righteousness. In the absence of Christ, the Spirit will bring this Righteousness to the lives of believers. 3 The Holy Spirit is to convince the world of Judgment—not future judgment, but now. In so far as the Spirit applies the righteousness of Christ to men, they are relieved of a future judgment of evil. In Christ men are accepted as righteous by the Father. Christ has already passed judgment on sin. He has condemned it in his wrath. Satan is a beaten foe. No Christian has any fears of the outcome of the issues of sin in the future.

At Charlotte Street the meeting was led by Rev. Mr. Couch of George Street, and the address by Rev. Mr. Keith. Sin was a fact, a real existence. The sin of not accepting Christ was the one of which the Spirit would convict men. The Christian Church must first be convicted and then the world in general. Likewise the Righteousness of Christ was brought into the life of men by the Spirit. Christ's ascension was necessary that men should realize all that the Life of Christ really was, and realising it see what sin was, and then the Holy Spirit receive His Righteousness. Then too, the Holy Spirit is to convince the world of judgment, not future judgment, but freedom from sin and evil, now, as a result of the union of the believer with Christ by the Holy Spirit, who made Christ's power inevitable to men. The Holy Spirit's conviction of judgment was a message of optimism But in all this Christians must first be convinced, and as the Christ character was developed by the Holy Spirit in believers, the world would be brought to Christ.

To-night the subject is "The Giving of the Holy Spirit," and the churches in which the meetings are held, are St. Andrews and Mark Street.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF GIFTS

The sisters of the House of Providence wish to express their gratitude to their generous benefactors during the Christmas season.

The following donations were received—

A Friend—$20.
A Friend—$15.
St. Peter's T.A.S.—$10
Mr. P. J. Young, Young's Point—$5.
Mr. J. Dwyer—$3.
Rev. P. J. McGuire—Turkey.
Rev. W. J. McColl—Turkey.
Rev. Dr. O'Brien—Candy.
Mr. L. Hayes—Turkey.
Mr. W. Collins—Box of table rasins.
Mrs. W. O'Brien—Apples and preserved fruit.
Mr. J. C. Sullivan—Candy and fruit.
Mr. N. Lush & Sons—Two dozen bread tickets.
Mrs. J. Sullivan—Turkey.
Mr. J. O'Connor—Tobacco.
Mr. J. J. Lynch—Candy and tobacco
Mr. J. Lynch (druggist)—Candy.
Mr. J. Duffus—Potatoes.
Mr. L. Poivin—Cake and candy.
Mr. R. Fair—Candy.
Mr. M. J. Carroll—Turkey.
Mr. J. Brady (baker)—Turkey.
Mr. R. H. Hunter—Candy.
Mr. J. L. LaPlante—Quarter of beef
Mr. W. J. Oke—Three chickens and barrel of apples.
Mr. R. Carey—Bag of flour.
Mr. and Mrs. LeBrun—Two geese.
Miss May Kelley—Box of tobacco.
Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham—Goose.

IS ON STAFF OF THE GROCER

One of the Review's brightest and most efficient correspondents, W. J. Bryans, of Havelock, has taken a position on the staff of "The Canadian Grocer." Mr. Bryans has a well developed news instinct, writes a good newspaper style, and is careful and accurate.

The Review, while regretting to lose his services, congratulates him on his appointment

DOES BILL BOARD ADVERTISING PAY

Ian Robertson in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," is trying out the situation.

Have you noticed that there has been no showing on the boards for "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." This is due to the fact that the management of Ian Robertson is putting the bill boards to a test against the newspapers. The tremendous cost in connection with importing paper into Canada from the United States, (for lithographed show paper is not printed in Canada) the posting of same, etc., to say nothing of the waste that is very often caused owing to the change of date, making it necessary to discard the old ones and replace with the newer dates, has led Mr Robertson's managers to try out the newspapers against the bill boards. They are not, however, using the newspapers exclusively in every city, but in every other city, that is, in one they are using the papers and in the next they are using the bill boards. Peterborough happens to be the newspaper city. At the end of the Canadian tour they propose to figure up the results and on this will depend largely whether the many Shubert attractions which are coming to Canada will be heralded on the bill boards or through the newspapers.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. Hugh Law is at the Munro House.

Rev. H. J. Keith was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. John Duncan of Toronto is at the Munro House.

Mr. W. S. Downe, of Detroit, is registered at the National.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton, of Belleville, are at the National.

Mr. Lightfoot visited his home here on New Year's Day.

Mr. R. B. Smith of Columbus is registered at the Munro House.

Master Willie Ogilvie of Lakefield was in the city on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Davidson, of Regina, are guests at the National.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Patterson have returned from their wedding trip and will reside at 495 King street.

Miss Lillie Shannon of Campbellford spent the holidays in the city, the guest of Mrs. Davidson, Park Street

Mr. Harold Burns, manager of R. Fair & Company, spent the holiday at his home in Owen Sound.

Mr and Mrs .Thos. Medd, of Toronto visited friends on Park Street this week.

Mr. Arthur Rosborough returned to Toronto University on Tuesday to resume his studies.

Mr. R. Pepper, of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, Guelph, was in the city on New Year's Day.

Mr. H. C. Seabrook, of Calgary, Alberta, was in the city over the holiday renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. George dAam, of Toronto, was the guest of friends in the city this week.

Mrs. S Redpath, of Millbrook, was the guest of her son, Mr. F. Redpath. 144 Murray street, over the holiday.

Mr.George Ogilvie of Lakefield, was the guest of Mr. James Davidson, Park Street on the holiday.

The Misses Elsa, Etta and Mary Ogilvie of Lakefield, spent New Years in the city.

Mrs. Wallace Harte, who has been visiting friends at 144 Murray street, for the past week, has returned to her home in Clydesdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crerar have returned from their wedding trip. and left on the 11.28 C. P. R.,to-day, for their future home at Sulphide, Ont.

Mrs. W. H. Meldrum, "Fairview," will receive on Friday and Saturday afternoons. Her daughter, Mrs. F. A. Greene, of Toronto, will receive with her.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie is in Perth attending the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention as representative of the Peterborough branch of the association.

At 10 o'clock on Monday morning a quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, Charles street, Belleville, when their daughter, Miss Lillie B., was united in marriage to Mr. James Scott Gilbert, Sherbrooke, Que. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Bishop.

Mr. A. R. Mulholland, of the Bank of Toronto, Port Hope, has been transferred to the local branch of the bank. Mr. Wm. Cahill has been moved to the head office of the Bank of Toronto in Toronto. Mr. Mulholland is a grandson of Robert Mulholland, formerly of this city.

Mrs. W. A. Allen, of Edmonton, is visiting Mrs. Wm. Allen, Toronto Road......Mr. J. J. Turner, of Peterborough, was in town yesterday calling on his many old friends......Mr. Arthur Mulholland left this morning for Peterborough to take the position of teller in the Bank of Toronto in that city......Misses Olga and Lena Haskill, of Peterborough, are visiting Miss Edna McMullen, Charles street.—Port Hope Guide.

Mrs. Abbie Bingham, colored, whose death occurred in New York, had reached the age of 112 years.

Assembly No. 607
Manufactured by
—THE—
Mann Lumber Co.
PETERBOROUGH
All designs are perfect works of Art.
We have 150 patterns that you can choose from.
This is one of our numerous designs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

MR. HAYES GENEROSITY.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Mr. L. M. Hayes, K. C., who has been such an efficient chairman of the School Board for the past two years declines renomination on the ground, as he very properly says, that these honors should go round. Mr. Goodwill did the same thing after two years' service, and in the presidency of the Queen's College Association. It is well to bring these acts of self-sacrifice and public spirit to the general notice as the tendency in Peterborough in the past has been too much towards considering indefinite re-nomination as desirable which is certainly is not a good circulation is good for all bodies.

CITIZEN.

EXEMPTIONS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Some of our correspondents are both sarcastic and pathetic. They charge bigotry in the last elections and in the same letter they charge their co-religionists with not sticking to their candidates. Now which is it boys? There is no good of throwing mud until ye settle in your minds which way it should be thrown. But what about EXEMPTIONS! Isn't that the real cause of it all? Isn't that why some of them didn't support their candidate? I don't think it is, I know it is. The truth is boys, the people who thought to steer through the council at the last sad threatening hour of the year ran the whole thing on the rocks. The exemptionists of all, shades got beaten or withdrew neatly. The fact is, it is no sign of a Christian, at any rate of a gentleman, to be wanting other people to pay his taxes. Down with exemptions present, past and future.

THE RATE STUFF.

KID GLOVES
T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best values are shown — all shades

NEW RINK DOES BIG BUSINESS

The Sacred Heart rink, under the management of W. Brady, is doing a flourishing business. The ice space is large and dressing rooms afford excellent accommodation.

FOUND

ON SATURDAY NIGHT — A FEMALE FOX Terrier Dog with a chain collar on her neck. Owner call at 513 Donegal Street, at once, at 7 o'clock at night and secure pr. party. 1d

Newest Styles
—in—
Hair Dressing
Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,
All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.
Miss E. Smith
583 George-st. Near McDonnel
Machine Phone 123.

Some Special Bargains
AT ROUTLEY'S
Crockery and China Section
30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each........ 5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each........ 5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each........ 15c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice........ $7 46
10 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge........ 3.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, hermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration........ 3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decorations, [illegible]........ 3 85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleck. It will pay you [illegible]. Only per set........ 20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times [illegible] price, choice........ 24c
Specials
54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of [illegible] gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at........ $2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at........ 54c
We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at
TORONTO 262 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 379 George-st.

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY Limited.

An Unprecedented Opportunity to Purchase

Ladies' and Childrens' Winter Overstockings

of Superior Quality on Friday and Satuday

at the Golden Lion

50 Dozen Ladies' and Children's extra heavy Worsted Ribbed Overstockings with cut heels that would be pronounced a bargain at 50c a pair. Your choice on

Friday and Saturday for 25c

We didn't like to do it, but the lot must be cleared out. You save 25c on every pair.

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited.

TRIP THROUGH WESTERN CANADA

The following letter describing his impressions of the Canadian West, has been received from Mr. Gordon A. Miller, son of Col. Miller, who recently left Peterborough for Victoria, B.C.—

I left Toronto sharp on time Friday night at 10.10. There was a wreck on the C.P.R. just outside of Toronto, so we were delayed about four hours, and reached Sudbury, our first main stopping place, about ten the following morning. From Sudbury to Winnipeg it was very cold, and there was lots of snow. The latter place we reached Sunday afternoon about 2.30, two and a half hours late.

From Winnipeg on to Calgary, one gazes with mingled awe and admiration on gigantic prairies, upon whose seemingly illimitable surfaces we glide along, as if the train were a swift steamer furrowing a shoreless sea. Some of these prairies are as truly solitudes of nature as the ocean and the desert, in portions of them settlements, farms and even trees are no more frequently encountered than ships at sea. Once in a while we would see something in the distance which would finally turn out to be a house.

We reached Calgary on time, about 6.30 Monday evening, and from there on the weather became warmer.

It was quite dark now, so that our start into the mountains did not promise to be as pleasant as it might have been. I retired about 9.30, in order that I might be up early and get the benefit of the scenery the following day. Just before going to sleep I raised the blind in my berth and saw a picture in life-like size and of Nature's own making which perhaps I may never see again. Above, the sky, without the least sign of a cloud, blue in the extreme, and bedecked with millions of stars, each seeming, as it were, to try and outshine the other. Below, an uprisen earth, one which I would only term the Lands of the Hills, like successive terraces leading to some resplendant dwelling of the gods; all sizes and shapes, trying, although in vain and yet in many cases it seemed with success, to reach the heavens. This picture I watched for hours, until the golden moon seemed to sink towards the frosty spires and the pale, weary stars to look like waning bivouac fires and gradually faded from view, and my thoughts were soon in the land of nod, and of home, and thus I dreamed until awakened by our porter to arise and view by the light of the sun that which had looked so beautiful by night.

No artist could paint, no one describe, no mind keen enough to imagine the sights that only Nature could, and had, placed before us; only the eye, and yet sometimes you wonder if it is really there, can impress upon you one of the most beautiful sights that one could wish to see.

One minute you are passing through a tunnel, another high among the hills, another [illegible] in a valley, and then again running along by some river or lake, embanked up by high hills on the other so high that it is impossible to see the top.

This last afforded, I think, one of the finest sights of the trip, as we were running alongside of Shuswaps Lake we were given a wonderful view of the hills in the distance. This beautiful lake, a flawless glacier-jewel, like a liquid sapphire set in a diadem of silver peaks. Grand mountains, rising precipitously from its blue rim to the realm of ice, while reflected forests, glaciers, cliffs and snow fields sleep in its pellucid depths and seem almost within our reach.

Nothing could have been better arranged for the benefit of seeing the country than this was. The clear, silent lakes and high mountains and hills, seemingly arranged to make the picture unsurpassed for beauty, gradually fading in the distance, until the tops could only be imagined as they intermingled with the clouds, the snow on one matching perfectly with the whiteness of the other. While here and there a large cloud, seemingly tired of its journey, was resting between mountains, and adding still more to the picture, smaller clouds could be seen, as it were clinging to the hills without a move and just here is our greatest light given into action, as the sun, seeming to have waited until the picture is ready, steals out from behind a cloud, not wanting to be denied of its grandeur and effect, throws out its light and thus presents to us something, which after gazing on for sometime, we close our eyes in wonderment and gladness that anything so grand could be placed in reality before the naked eye. Thus pictures such as this are seen all the way along until at last the sun's only enemy, the moon, once more reigns supreme until the darkness shuts out from view a sight of sights such as we will ever remember.

It is nearly six o'clock as we pass out of the mountains. The weather is much warmer and as we near Vancouver, the rain replaces the cold, reaching Vancouver at 11 p.m. The trip from Vancouver to Victoria was very fine, the boat "The Princess Charlotte" is a fine steamer, holding about 1,800 people.

New York 'longshoremen ended their plan to strike on January 1st, waiting promise of increased pay.

Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

LEFT FOR CHINA

Sister of Miss McCalla Gone to China to Enter Mission Work There

The many friends of Miss McCalla of the Y.W.C.A. will be interested in the following despatch. Mrs. Ratcliffe who is a member of the party mentioned, is a sister of Miss McCalla, and friends in the city will wish her every success in her far off field of labor:—

A party of Presbyterian missionaries are leaving for the foreign field on January 5th. Rev. A. H. Barker sails with his wife for Corea their home is in the province of Quebec. There will be besides Mr. and Mrs Barker, Miss Margaret I. McIntosh, who is returning to Honan from her third furlough, Miss Marie Sloane, of London, who is going to take charge of a school for missionaries children, and Mrs. W. C. Ratcliffe, sister of Mrs. W. Harvey Grant, who is a nurse, and will also engage in educational work, and Miss Lily Adair, of Three Rivers, who is going to Formosa, where Miss Clazie arrived several months ago.

WILL INSPECT THE REGIMENT STORES

Col Young Will Arrive Here on Jan. 11 for That Purpose

Lieut.-Col. Young writes from headquarters for military district No. 4 at Kingston that he will arrive in Peterborough on the afternoon of January 11th and will inspect the arms clothing, etc., of the 57th regiment on January 12th and 13th.

It is most important that all arms and accoutrements be left at the armories for inspection.

THE FUNERAL WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of the late Mrs. H. O. Robinson was held yesterday afternoon from the late residence Lansdowne street, North Monaghan, to the Little Lake cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended their being over eighty vehicles in the cortege. The pall bearers were;—F. Pedley, J. Goodwin, J. Kitney, H. Davidson, H. Saunders and A. Prest.

There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Service was said at the house by Rev. J. G. Brown, pastor of St. James' church, of which the deceased was a faithful member.

HANDSOME GIFT FOR EVANGELIST

Manitoba Free Press.

On Christmas morning W. J. Gage and Revs. S. Cleaver and H. T. Crossley, surprised the Rev. J. E. Hunter at his home at 512 Palmerston avenue, Toronto, when, on behalf of some two hundred of his friends in different parts of the country, as a tangible expression of sympathy and appreciation presented this widely-known evangelist with a letter containing a cheque for $2,500, and with what is equivalent to a second $2,500, namely, a life long annuity of $150. This amount will be considerably increased, as additional contributions from friends are still being received by the treasurer, Rev. Dr. Cleaver.

The first person to suggest the raising of this tribute to Mr. Hunter were W. J. Gage and Thos. Handford, and those gentlemen, in association with Revs. Wm. Kettlewell, S. Cleaver, and Evangelist Crossley set a number of Mr. Hunter's friends know of their thought, and the cheerful and generous response resulted in this well deserved and timely testimonial to him who for twenty-six years has labored so strenuously as an evangelist and has been so unusually generous in his gifts to religious and benevolent objects.

LAKEFIELD BOY WON SCHOLARSHIP

At Harvard Divinity School—Three Canadians Honored

Boston, Jan. 5.—Of twenty students at Harvard divinity school who have just been given awards of fellowship and scholarship for 1910-1911, three are graduates of Toronto University and residents of Canada.

The Canadians thus honored, leading Americans representing many parts of the United States, are W. T. Brown, of Lakefield, Ont., a graduate of Toronto University 1907, who received a scholarship award; Wm. E. M. Aitken of Courtwright, Ont., graduate of Toronto, 1908, and George Buckingham of Stayner, Ont., also a graduate in Toronto's '08. Both the latter received the Edward Hopkins' students of divinity awards.

LAKEFIELD LOCALS

Special to The Review.

Lakefield Jan 4.—Miss Agnes Miller has returned home after spending a few days in Norwood visiting friends.

Mr W. B. Harvey, principal of the public school, has returned to his duties after spending his vacation in Toronto

Mr Elmo Evans, of Toronto, is visiting Mr Fred Brown.

Mr Bruce Edwards, of Lanigan, Sask is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Edwards.

Mr J. Riddle left on Thursday to visit his parents in Northamptonshire, England, and will be away about two months.

Miss Ally Sherin has returned to her school in Toronto, after two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr and Mrs. S. Sherin.

Mr and Mrs. Howard Mason, of Toronto, are spending their honeymoon in the village, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kidd.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM HUSTLING HAVELOCK

Havelock, Jan. 4th.—Mrs Vincent Foley has returned to Peterborough, after having spent the holidays with his parents here.

Mr and Mrs. Mat Riley have returned home after visiting friends in Kingston.

Mr. Arthur Riley, of Kingston, is the guest of Mr. Claude Riley.

Miss Mable Lang, of Norwood, is the guest of Miss Pearl Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fowler and children are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Stanley Holcombe has returned to Toronto after spending the holidays with his parents.

Mr. Wm. Falkner has returned to Proton, where he will continue teaching school.

Mr. Wm. Bryans left for Toronto, where he has obtained an excellent position on the Canadian Grocer.

Mrs. Finlay and daughter, Ida, is the guest of her son, Mr. Bill Finlay

Mr. Morrison, of Norwood, was in town on Monday.

Mr. Charlie McNicholl, of town, spent the holiday in Peterborough.

Mrs. Jack, of town, is very ill with pneumonia, but hope she will soon be on the mend.

A Christmas tree was held in the basement of St. John's church on Friday night last, where they had a tree decorated up with lovely presents for all the scholars of the Sunday school. There also was refreshments served and certificates were given to those who attended Sunday school regular throughout the year, the successful ones being Beatrice Williams, Phyllis Williams, Leta Donnelly, Edna Jackson, Bessie Curtis, Madge Curtis, Ethel Hogg, George Black, Ernest Dart, Vera Holdsworth.

Miss Dolan, of Carleton, has returned after having spent the holidays with her parents.

Mr. Butcher has returned home after spending the holidays with friends in Jarvis.

A rather sudden accident took place on Sunday night, when Mr. Nicholls' sheds fell in. Cutters having been in the sheds at the time were badly broken and smashed up.

Miss Alice Johnson, of West Toronto, is the guest of her parents here.

Mrs. Albert Darling and children, of Napanee, are the guests of Mrs. Chas. Armstrong

Miss Tucker, of Belleville, is the guest of Miss Ada Holcombe

Miss Stella Armstrong, of town, is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Post, of Campbellford, is the guest of Mrs. Dobson

Miss Bessie Rose, of town, is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Page is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Dunlop is visiting friends in Deseronto.

Miss Lotie Childs, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. J. V. A.Coon.

Mrs. Hunter, of town, was in Peterborough last week.

Mr. Clarence Holdcroft has returned to Lindsay, where he will attend the High school.

Mr John Brown, who was suddenly taken ill, has been removed to the hospital.

Mrs Gerow, from the Northwest, is the guest of Mrs. John Seeney.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Deacon have returned home after visiting friends in Montreal.

Mrs. Sawyers, of town, is seriously ill.

Mr. Jim Beatty, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is recovering rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Brown has returned home from Sharbot Lake.

Mr. Earnest Hall, of Norwood, was in town last week.

ICE HARVESTING AT NORWOOD

Retirement of Two Useful Members of the School Board—Only One Old Councillor Re-elected—Discussion of Municipal Affairs.

Norwood, Jan. 3. — The Norwood High and Public Schools re-opened this morning after the Christmas holidays.

The last meeting of the old Board of Education will be held next Monday evening in the High School.

Messrs. J. L. Squire and C. W. Waters, both valuable members of the Board, have withdrawn and their places will be taken by others. The new members will be Messrs W. H. Cuthbertson and Thos. Burkell. Mr. Waters place will be filled by appointment of the village Council.

Mr. Thos. Banal, who has been in Toronto for the past few months is at his home in Norwood.

Mr. L. H. Kirkpatrick, of Banff, Alta, is visiting his mother and sister here.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, we are glad to hear is doing well in the Prairie Province.

Mr. Isaac Puffer and force of about twenty men have commenced harvesting the ice in the mill pond. The contract covers the filling of the large ice house in Havelock, besides some smaller orders from Toronto and Norwood. The work will occupy about three weeks, during which time many train loads of ice will be removed. The ice harvest is a matter of considerable importance to Norwood, as a lot of money is paid out in wages for two or three weeks during a time in the year that laboring men are not usually very busy.

MUNICIPAL TALK.

The village council for 1911 has been elected on the economy ticket by a strong vote. Only one of the old council has been returned, and with a reduced vote. It is difficult to assign a sufficient reason for the change in sentiment. The council of 1910 were men of sterling qualities and good business abilities, and no doubt acted to the best of their ability in administering the affairs of the village, but yet we find the men who tried to carry out the wishes of the electors turned down by the same mighty hand

It is, however, a significant fact that while the village rate is about 25 mills, yet less than $150 was spent in improvements on the streets and walks during the year. The village constable gets a salary of $550 a year and the band is granted $300. These two items are threatened with an adverse vote from the new council. Still, there are in Norwood, as in all other places, two opposite parties to please, and those things clamored for when granted do not always fill up the cup of satisfaction. So the Norwood council for 1911, like all other councils, in all other municipalities, are up against a hard proposition, but it is up to them to act without fear or favor, and to do only what in their best judgment is for the interests and best welfare of the village

PERSONALS.

Miss M Johnston spent Sunday and Monday in Havelock

Mr. B. W. Leveratte is in Brockville on a business trip

Mr. Arthur Duffield was in Havelock on Friday.

Mr. Gordon Given and Miss Ida Moore were married last Wednesday evening. The happy event took place at the home of the bride's parents, Spring street, Rev. M. Cree, B.A., officiating.

Mr. Roy B. Richardson, who is attending Queen's, is the guest of his parents here.

Mr. Richard Elphick, of Toronto, was home last week

Miss G. Bist, of Parkhill, is visiting her parents here.

Miss R. Small is visiting friends in Fergus.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers are visiting their son in Detroit.

Miss M. Yourex visited friends in Belleville last week.

Mr. B. Sanders has returned to Toronto after spending a few weeks with Norwood friends.

Miss Marion Chisholm, of Toronto, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. A. Howson, Queen street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller and daughter, Marjorie, of South River, are visiting Norwood friends.

Mr. Leo McNichol, of Toronto, is the guest of her parents here.

Miss Dunbar, of Toronto, was the guest of Mrs. E. C. Squires for a few days last week.

Mr. H. F. Chandler, of Toronto, was the guest of his parents here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thope and son, Harold, of Grimsby, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Foster on Tuesday.

Miss Murield Searight is the guest of friends in Toronto.

Rev. W. Cairns Conning, of South River, visited at Mr. M. Nicol's last week.

"Dan" Lees, of Peterborough, visited his cousin, Leslie Waters, on Monday.

Rev. W. B. Tucker visited his parents in Toronto last week.

Mr Fred Wright visited Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keefer and Harland, are visiting Mrs Keefer's parents in Forest.

Mrs. (Rev.) W. H. Tucker and son, Albert returned to-day after visiting Mrs Tucker's parents in Belleville.

Miss M. Laing spent Tuesday in Havelock.

Mr. D. McTavish is the guest of his parents in Cornwall

Mr. S. Holcombe, of Havelock, was in Norwood on Monday.

THIEF WHO MADE BOLD HAUL STILL AT LIBERTY

The arrest of the thief who stole from the residence of Geo. Powell, last week has not been effected as yet, but it is expected that the majority of the stolen articles will be returned to the owners.

It appears that after escaping from the police at Trenton, by running across the ice, he slept one night in an old barn near Roblins' mills and later paid a visit to his parents who reside in Prince Edward county and had his supper there. The police got on to his tracks, but their slippery customer again outwitted them.

The grip and overcoat was left behind in his escape from the train at Trenton. He did not take the train to Indian River, as first supposed. He sold the rifle to a farmer at that place, where he stayed for a short time. While changing his clothes he managed to steal the overcoat of his guest.

It is felt that the young fellow is a dangerous man to tackle. He has ammunition and firearms. Previous to coming to this vicinity he was a member of the Northwest Police. His parents are highly respected residents of Prince Edward County.

Mrs. McClung's Tour

Mrs Nellie L. McClung leaves for her home in Manitou this morning. Asked as to her trip in Eastern Canada she said it had been most enjoyable, but nevertheless she was very glad to get back to the west. In the month she was away she filled engagements to read from her two books at Whitby, Hamilton, Peterborough, Kingston and Waterloo, five in the city of Toronto, and one at Port Arthur. When questioned, she admitted that she had been asked for return engagements in every case, and might go east at the end of September next.

Among the souvenirs of her trip is the menu card of a luncheon tendered her by The William Briggs Company, which is decorated on the cover with a full length figure of "Danny" and each item of the repast has an appropriate quotation from that book.

Another luncheon was one at which she was a joint guest of honor with Mrs Snowden the famous suffragette leader, whom she describes as one of the brightest, sweetest and wittiest women imaginable. She was entertained by the Canadian Women's Press Club, of Toronto, and at Fort William, on her return trip she was tendered receptions by the Women's Press Club and the Canadian Women's Club. To put it briefly in her own words "I am a very grateful woman for all the kindness extended to me in the east, where, except for my books, I was an utter stranger." — Winnipeg Free Press.

You easily hide the d.v.n: by definitions.

Twisted truth usually doubles back on the user.

The still, small voice is not the small mind.

The putty man is apt to be proud of his patience.

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Deposits Nov. 30, 1904 . . . $15,126,229.
Deposits Nov. 30, 1909 . . . 28,776,193.

A Savings Account

will help you save. $1.00 or upward opens an Account, on which interest will be paid.

Peterborough Branch, George Street
G. C. WAINWRIGHT, Manager

THANK YOU

The Optical Institute had a busy December. The week, before Xmas particularly busy. Many persons gave a beautiful pair of Eyeglasses or Spectacles to some near relative thus making many days to come a little brighter and happier. Shall we help you to make somebody's outlook brighter for 1911.

An appointment will save you waiting

The Peterboro Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

Clearing Sale

MEN'S OVERCOATS

Here is a chance for those whose intentions are to buy another coat yet. There is three months of winter and lots of cold weather expected yet. It would be now advisable to take this chance of our Clearing Stock Sale, and get your overcoat at a Greatly Reduced Price.

You do not need all the cash. Easy Payments of $1 or $2 per week is only required, and you can have the goods, Our stock is most up-to-date and good values.

Men's Coats from $16 to $22 - $14.95
" " " $12 to $16 - $10.95

SUITS—SAME REDUCTIONS

Special low price on our Furs; clearing all up; come and see and the price will surely appeal to you

THE KNICKERBOCKER CO.

CREDIT CLOTHIERS

422 George Street Phone 711

SAVE $ $ NOW

H. LeBrun's & Co's

Clean-up Sale

offers

Tremendous Price Reductions

On High Grade

CLOTHING

For Men and Boys

In justice to your pocket-book you cannot afford to miss this great money saving event. An inspection of the unusual values offered will convince you that now is the time to buy clothes.

SALE ENDS SATURDAY, JANUARY 28th.

Save 20 to 25 Per cent. on Men's Winter Overcoats

Men's Und'wear Now Selling at ¼ to ⅓ Less than Regular Prices

H. LeBrun & Co.

PROBABILITIES
Snow to-day; then fair; continued decidedly cold.

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXI., No. 1. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

TWO BROTHERS BURNED; ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Superior and Assistant of Boys' School Die at Granby.

In Heroic Endeavor to Get Their Charges Out of St. Joseph's College While Latter Is in Flames Brothers Louciere and Daniels Are Cut Off and Perish in the Conflagration—Property Loss Is $75,000.

Granby, Que., Jan. 6.—Two deaths are recorded as a result of the fire which destroyed St. Joseph's College here Wednesday night. Brothers Louciere, assistant superior, and Daniels, the superior, are the victims.

The fire broke out 11.30. The teachers awakened the students and got them from the building. It was while doing this that Brother Louciere lost his life, as he was not seen after directing the last of the students downstairs. His body is still in the ruins.

There are in all 600 students at the college, but, fortunately, only 33 students and 29 brothers were in the building, a large number not having returned from the holidays. All were saved unhurt.

The building was a fine structure, erected about twelve years ago at a cost of $75,000. A new wing, in course construction, was almost completed. There was an insurance of $30,000.

Plumbers were at work in the basement Wednesday night until 10 o'clock, but say they left everything all right. The fire started in the basement and it was the smoke ascending to the top floor of the college, where the dormitories and private sleeping rooms were located, that gave the inmates of the building the first intimation that the place was on fire.

The boys, who were all strangers in the town and who were remaining at the college during the Christmas and New Year's vacation, were quickly aroused. Some of them were overcome or frightened by the smoke, and the brothers had to carry and drag many of them down three flights of stairs to the street. At the time of the outbreak twenty brothers were asleep on the third floor of the college. They had no time to dress, the blaze spread so rapidly, and they had to run out into the street in their night clothes and with bare feet, with the thermometer about 25 below zero. The brothers and pupils lost all their clothing and belongings, and suffered terribly from the bitter cold before they could reach various houses and hotels in the vicinity.

Brother Daniels, who remained behind to ascertain if all the boys were out of the building, had his escape by the stairway cut off by the flames.

There was no way for him to escape being burned to death but to jump. He struck the ground in a heap, and when picked up was unconscious. He was carried to the home of a physician, and early yesterday it was said he would not recover, as his spine had been fractured.

The firemen of the town made a quick response after the alarm had been turned in, but the blaze had made considerable headway before it was discovered, and when they arrived with their apparatus the building was a mass of flames from the basement to the top storey.

The fire-fighters had to work hard to prevent the flames from spreading to the church and other buildings in the vicinity. Fortunately for them, the college was set back from the street and stood apart from other buildings.

Inside of two hours from the outbreak of the fire, nothing remained of the building but a heap of smoking bricks and timbers.

Stole Bank Book.

Kingston, Jan. 6.—A 15-year-old boy walked into the Merchants' Bank and, producing a bank book, asked the clerk to make out a check for $60 in his favor. He signed the check and the money was about to be given him, when one of the clerks, who was watching and who knew the owner of the bank book, intervened. The lad was then questioned, but took to his heels. He was arrested by Constable Arniel, who found that he had stolen the bank book from a Queen's student named Pierce, who boards with the lad's mother. He signed Pierce's name. He will be arraigned in the juvenile court on a charge of forgery.

Escaped In Night Clothes.

Lake Megantic, Que., Jan. 6.—Begin, the largest business block in this village, was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday. The damage is estimated at $30,000. As there is no fire brigade in the place, the building had to burn out, and two families who resided in the buildings had to make their escape in their night clothes, with the temperature ten below zero, they suffered severely.

The Lash For Wife-Beater.

Belleville, Jan. 6.—Edward Garrison, a middle-aged man, residing in Elzivir Township, and who is the father of nine children, was yesterday morning sentenced by Judge Deroche to six months in the Central Prison and to receive ten lashes for an aggravated assault upon his wife and a young son. Garrison used his wife in a shameful manner, biting and beating her.

A Youthful Murderer.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Lester Carlson, 13 years old, yesterday confessed that he shot and killed John Wisniewski, 8 years old, hid the body in the cellar of his home, and for six weeks professed complete ignorance of the whereabouts of his former playmate. He told the police yesterday that he shot Wisniewski while the two were playing "Indian."

JOHN CRANE
Elected Chairman of Peterborough Board of Education

MONTREAL HAS COLONY OF ANARCHISTS

Montreal, Jan. 6—Montreal is a very peaceful community, but this does not prevent a full-fledged bunch of the "International," which is the head centre of the Anarchists throughout the world, from being located in the central part of the city, not very far from St. Lawrence-Main street. The membership is over 200, and is composed mostly of Russians, who have not yet been in Canada long enough to understand the effect of the British constitutional safety valve, and who have been drawn into the organization by active agents of the sect in this city.

It is understood that Chief Inspector Carpenter knows all about the place of reunion, and when the proper time comes, will be able to round them up at short order, although no public acts of this undesirable gentry at present justifies arrests.

It is said that about the time of the Eucharistic Congress in September last the Montreal organization affiliated with the "International," was visited by a foreigner of sinister aspect, and he remained in the city for some days, being in close touch with the local Anarchists. He, however, was soon spotted by the detectives, who were here at the time, and the foreigner, no doubt a noted Anarchist, thought that discretion was the better patr of valor, and stood not upon the order of his going.

Indian In Terrible Condition.

Port Arthur, Jan. 6.—Left alone by her husband with five small children and nothing to eat but rabbits, which she had caught as best she could, a squaw was found Dec. 27 wandering around in a starving condition, while the temperature hovered between 20 and 30 degrees below zero, by Contractor Mercier near his camp at Owl Creek, between Jack Fish and Long Lake.

Mercier took her and family to Jack Fish, where another family of Indians took care of them.

Monday night last the husband of the woman arrived at Mercier's camp with both feet and both hands badly frozen, and nearly exhausted from starvation. He said he had had nothing to eat for seven days. His supply of matches had given out, and his clothing was quite insufficient to protect him from the cold. He was suffering intense pain, too, from a deep cut on his leg from an axe which he was carrying. He is not expected to recover. The snow is over three feet deep in that section.

An Empire Builder.

London, Jan. 6.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—A striking tribute to Joseph Chamberlain as an Empire builder was paid by Lord Strathcona at Birmingham on Wednesday.

He said Birmingham people must feel very proud to have among them one who has done more to consolidate the dominions across seas than any other man in Great Britain or the Empire at large.

Representing Canada in England he knew nothing of party politics, but he was glad to pay a tribute to such a statesman, and joined in the ardent wish that Chamberlain might be spared not only to the people of Birmingham but to the Empire for many years.

The mayor of Gravesend offers Lord Strathcona civic hospitality if the ship bearing the Canadian coronation contingent of 700 men anchors off the town, which is the entrance to the Port of London. Lord Strathcona promises to forward the offer to Ottawa.

Special Train For Lynchers.

Vicksburg, Miss., Jan. 6.—Because a railroad company furnishes a special train to a party of men, and it is used to convey a mob bent on lynching the railroad company cannot be held liable for damages.

In effect this decision was rendered by Judge Niles in the U. S. District Court in a suit brought by Mrs. Annie Rogers, whose husband was lynched at Tallulah, Louisiana, several years ago. She sought the recovery of $50,000 from the Vicksburg, Shrevport and Pacific Railway.

A Motto For Every Day of the Month
From
"The Passing of the Third Floor Back"
Out of
The Mouth of The Stranger

1.—"I am a wanderer."
2.—Women are so wilful and you kind woman are the worst of all.
3.—Whoever you are, life shall be a little brighter, dull tired faces shall be made to smile.
4.—It shall be a pleasant looking back to think that I perhaps was of help to you in the beginning.
5.—You are young enough to have forgotten the thoughts of youth; old enough to have learnt pity.
6.—A sense of humor is a delightful trait, at all times.
7.—Ah, it is a fine thing to live—you shall give her life.
8.—In the world's book, so full of the vulgar stories of dead love, it is pleasant to come across one with the old-fashioned ending.
9.—Nothing, it seems to me, is more beautiful than the love that has weathered the storms of life.
10.—The love of the young for the old—it is the beginning of life. But the love of the old for the old, that is the beginning of things longer.
11.—The meeting-place of friends is the heart.
12.—We must talk of old days—and grow young.
13.—Duty so soon tires—love goes all the way.
14.—It is the helpless and the fallen that hold in their hands the patents of nobility.
15.—Ugliness is but skin deep. The business of art is to reveal the beauty underlying all things.
16.—It is a great privilege to be deemed worthy to suffer.
17.—It is the thoughts of youth that one day make the world young.
18.—There are generous fellows who love to share their good fortune with their friends.
19.—So many of the noblest men I have known; men I have loved, have been Jews. It is a great race, a race rich in honorable names.
20.—What does my lover offer me? Poverty—struggle. Hopes—fears Pain—joy. Love—life.
21.—There are those whose better self lies slain—slain by their own hand to trouble them no more. But yours, child, you have let it grow too strong. It will ever be your master. You must obey, flee from it, it will ever follow you. You cannot escape it. Insult it, and it will chastise you with burning thoughts, with stinging self-reproach, with repentance that comes too late. It is your Master—you must obey.
22.—I know your voice. I hear it in the wind, I hear it in the silence of the night.
23.—And this is what we will tell to the young men; that the fear that keeps men little is the fear of being great.
24.—I know your voice, what is it, but woman's child—claiming from her tenderness?
25.—Ah! you have learnt it, that all the best of fun in life is giving.
26.—All men and women are fair. And some are fairer than others. And they shall be the kinder, having the more to make them kinder.
27.—No man may accept a gift with honor—save from a friend.
28.—Love! she is a woman. And all men can she love—save one. With all men she may dwell—save one; with all men save the coward. It is not poverty, it is the fear of poverty, that drives out love.
29.—There will come days when the memory of a promise made to a friend will help.
30.—You shall give me as a gift this promise, that through all things to the end, you love one another.
31.—Leave-takings are but wasted sadness. Good-bye! I also am a servant, I have my work.

GREY'S TRIP POSTPONED?

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—According to information received last night it is by no means certain that Earl Grey will make the journey to the mouth of the Mackenzie River and back to Vancouver by way of Behring Straits, this year. The news of the intended trip came first from Toronto, and was given in such positive terms that no doubts were expressed.

There are several matters to be considered, some of which may prevent his excellency making the journey. One of these is the coming to Canada in the early autumn of the Duke of Connaught. It had been intended that the Canadian war vessel would meet the Governor-General at the mouth of the Mackenzie, but there is the ever-present danger of these latitudes that ice may delay her return. A more important consideration, however, is the fact that these coasts have never been properly surveyed or charted, and, accordingly the danger to a vessel drawing so much water as the Rainbow, would be very great. It is stated that the Government would not assume any such risk.

Earl Grey will go to the coronation of King George, and will return in June, and it is possible that, if the Governor-General is then bent upon the trip, he may be accommodated on the Hudson Bay Co.'s steamer, which goes to the outlet of the Mackenzie River each year, and he might return by the same vessel. While the story of the trip would not sound so romantic as if made by canoe and warship, the same object, a trip to the Arctic Ocean, would be accomplished, and he would be certain of getting back on schedule time.

Charged With Murder.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—The grand jury in The Los Angeles Times' explosion case returned 22 indictments late yesterday. All of the indictments charge murder in connection with that crime. It is not likely that the names of the indicted will be made public until after the arrests are made. It is believed that a large number of San Franciscoans have been indicted.

Conductors Reinstated.

Brockville, Jan. 6.—A number of G.T.R. conductors, some of whom have been laid off since the settlement of the strike, were called to Belleville yesterday to report for duty. Outside of those convicted in the Police Court for misconduct during the strike, not more than half a dozen conductors and trainmen at this divisional point are still out of employment.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Morning Post of London, England, discussed Canadian and West Indies relations.

A French youth named Bengede has been arrested at Regina on a charge of murdering a woman in France.

Canon Jeffrey is leaving Winnipeg for England to induce young men to enter the mission work of the English Church.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier addressed the Quebec Women's Canadian Club on the subject of the fur traders of early Canada.

Robert Elford was sentenced to six months in jail at Montreal for non-support, and the Recorder ordered that his earnings as a prisoner be given to his family.

Matt. Pyntaria, section foreman at Windego, on the C.N.R., 120 miles from Port Arthur, was killed when the handcar on which he was riding was struck by a freight train.

Searchers in the mine of the Nova Scotia Co., who worked hard all day for the bodies of Purchase and Ferguson, were rewarded last night by finding the remains of Purchase.

An aviator's cap and glasses, probably those worn by Cecil Grace, supposed to have been lost in the North Sea, have been picked up at sea off Mariakerke, on the Belgian coast.

Schooner Silver Heels, St. Martins, N.B., for Vineyard Haven, struck on Shovelful Shoal, near Chatham, Me., yesterday afternoon. The Monomoy Point life-savers have gone to the schooner.

The entire New York detective force, and a famous private agency are trailing a clever and daring gang of western jewelry thieves who have stolen $100,000 worth of jewelry and gems in that city within the past fortnight.

An Alien Gang.

London, Jan. 6.—According to the latest report, the burglar killed in the Houndsditch affray and the two men killed in the Stepney battle were members of a gang of at least 29 aliens of the same type and character, some of them being women.

Owing to the bewildering number of aliases they have adopted the police are finding an almost insuperable difficulty in tracing them. "Peter the Painter" is still at large, it having been established that the second victime of the Stepney siege was a Russian terrorist, who fled to England eleven months ago under the name of Jacob Fogel. He was 22 years of age, and a native of Kolvno, Lithuania.

BORDEN AT TORONTO; CONSERVATIVE LEADER DELIVERS ABLE ADDRESS

R. L. BORDEN
Who Addressed Toronto Canadian Club Yesterday on "Some Canadian Problems"

FARMERS ACCUSED OF CRUELTY

Chatham, Jan. 6.—With his feet so badly frozen that it is likely that both may have to be amputated, his back covered with blue and red welts, a Barnardo boy of tender years, who had been put in the cart of a farmer of Tilbury East, was brought to this city yesterday by Inspector Kinder. Another Barnardo boy, who also worked for another farmer in Tilbury, and who showed signs of recent abuse, was brought in with him. Informations for cruelty to children will be laid against both farmers. From present appearances this seems to be one of the most revolting cases of cruelty to juveniles on record locally.

One little boy, 13 years of age, has his feet so badly frozen that it is feared he will lose them. Inspector Kinder of the Barnardo Home is hurrying him to Toronto in order to prevent, if possible, the setting in of blood-poisoning. The boy's feet are so badly frozen that he is in continual pain, and there is a large hole frozen in one of his heels.

When Inspector Kinder visited the place in Tilbury East on Wednesday, where the boy was staying, he found him out in the cold doing a man's work on a crosscut saw, with the farmer with whom he was staying at the other end of the saw. He was working with his frozen feet encased in No. 10 shoes, and every step he took made the boot rub the raw flesh of his foot. Inspector Kinder, Dr. V. R. Bray and Officer Boxter inspected the boy's condition yesterday, when he was brought to the city, and it was found that his back was covered with welts made by a heavy horse tug. The other boy is not so badly beaten, although he is said to have been considerably abused.

A Strike Victim.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Another name was added to the death list of the garment workers' strike on Wednesday, when Sarah Gibbs, a 19-year-old striker, died at a hospital as a result of cold and exposure during her service as a strike picket and as a news girl for the benefit of the strikers.

Graft Report.

Woodstock, Jan. 6.—Before Judge Snider left Woodstock yesterday he stated to D. O. Cameron, barrister, who worked up the case for the company in the initial stages of the graft investigation, that he would likely have his report practically completed by the time the last witness is examined in Hamilton on Jan. 16. This means that the report of the commission will be in the Attorney-General's hands in about ten days. If the findings do not result in action by the county crown attorney, it is likely that civil actions will be commenced against those alleged to have received graft.

Port Arthur Y.M.C.A. Campaign.

Port Arthur, Jan. 6.—A three-day celebration in connection with the dedication and opening of the Y.M.C.A. building concluded Wednesday evening with a big banquet to subscribers and friends. President Hamilton of Fort William announced he would shortly open a campaign for $100,000 for a new building in that city.

Niagara Falls Alderman Dead.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 6.—O. D. Glasgow died at his home here yesterday. He had been ill for a year. He was 52 years old and had been a member of the Town Council for many years. He is survived by one daughter, Myra.

Nearly Reached Half Million Mark.

Brantford, Jan. 6.—The custom collections in this city nearly reached the half million mark for the year 1910. The total is $465,863, the highest on record.

Navigation Closed.

Kingston, Jan. 6.—Navigation closed yesterday, ice blocking the route to Wolfe Island and Garden Island. Ice-boats are in use.

Best Conservation Leader Says Is Development.

He Urges That Resources of the Country Should Not Be Locked Up—Duties of Citizenship Demand That Young Men Ally Themselves With One or Other Party — Prominent Liberals Hear His Address.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—R. L. Borden has an aching arm this morning. He shook hands warmly, yea vigorously, with three thousand people last night in the banquet room of the King Edward Hotel.

Easily that number of local party enthusiasts passed through the main door of the banquet room with the sole object of being introduced to the Conservative leader.

Prominent Conservative workers considered the function more successful and less tiresome than a banquet. It showed more animation all through, imposed no restrait on anyone, and gave everyone a chance to shake hands with the "R.L." and to receive his hearty "Happy New Year," or "God Bless You, Brother."

Mr. Borden devoted the greater part of his address at the Canadian Club yesterday to the question of conservation of the national resources. He called attention to the awakening in this respect in the United States, and the results of the conference held there. He had himself been utterly astounded at the lack of information regarding Canadian forestry, and had to rely on a United States writer. He hoped and believed the Canadian Conservation Commission would do splendid work. The improvidence of methods attending the exploitation of minerals in the United States was a subject for comment. Every ton of anthracite coal mined involved a loss of a ton and a half, and a loss of a ton of bituminous for each ton of that quality. He was glad that in Nova Scotia nothing like this occurred.

Canadians did not want their resources locked up. They wanted them developed. Canada should go back 800 years to the methods of William the Conquerer. He quoted Burke to the effect that the nation was a partnership between the living, those who had lived and those who were to be born. In that spirit the conservation of Canada's resources should be carried on.

The doctrine of civic responsibility was the last topic. The Yale foundation lectures on this subject offered an example for some of our Canadian millionaires to follow. There could be no worthier work, said Mr. Borden. Men owed a duty to God, to their families and to themselves, but they owed a duty also to their country.

"If politics are dirty, whose fault is it?" Yours. Whose duty is it to cleanse them? Your own," was a statement that called forth applause. Mr. Borden thought there should be instruction in the schools on the duties of citizenship. The normal political actions of the nations, so long as it was manifested in the party system, demanded that every young man ally himself with one party or another.

Sir James Whitney moved a vote of thanks. He hesitated to break the spell of such a splendid deliverance. He had the enthusiasm of conviction about the value of Canadian clubs and the address they had heard.

Sir George Ross cordially endorsed Sir James' approval of the club. Were it not that Canadians had been so successful in the past in disposing of large problems he would almost despair of success in dealing with those of such magnitude as Mr. Borden had mentioned.

Besides the guest there were seated with the chairman: President McKay, Sir George Ross, Sir James Whitney, Senator Kerr, Senator Jaffray, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Hon. R. A. Pyne, Hon. J. O. Reaume, E. B. Osler, M.P., Claude Macdonnel, M.P., W.K. McNaught, M.P.P., Mayor Geary, W. J. Douglass. The attendance was a record.

Burned the Mortgage.

Brockville, Jan. 6.—The Methodist congregation of Newboro held a joyful celebration in honor of burning the mortgage on the church property, which is now free of debt. When the recording steward applied the match, the gathering arose and lustily sang the doxology. Rev. Dr. Sparling of Brockville, and chairman of the district, took a prominent part in the proceedings.

Boys' School Burned.

East Northfield, Md., Jan. 6.—Fire destroyed Crossley Hall, one of the oldest dormitories of the Mount Herman school for boys. The building was of brick, four storeys in height, and accommodated 160 boys. Most of the students had not returned from the Christmas holidays. The loss is estimated at about $100,000, with insurance of $75,000.

Will Drape Statues.

Harrisburg, Penn., Jan. 6.—The classic statues which George G. Barnard execrated in marble for the main entrance of the state capital are to be draped. Objections to the figures had been made.

Fell Into the Cellar.

Brantford, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Thomas Heney, a well-known resident of Waterford, yesterday morning stepped into an open hatchway, and falling into the cellar, sustained fatal injuries.

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, JAN. 6, 1911.

MR. FOSS' STATEMENT

In view of the fact that Hon. Mr. Fielding, and Hon. Mr. Paterson are visiting Washington this week to re-open reciprocity negotiations, it is interesting to note what Eugene Foss, the Democratic governor-elect of Massachusetts, has to say regarding the effect of the present tariff relations between the two countries.

Mr. Foss says that the present state of the tariff relations between the two countries has sent $300,000,000 of American capital to Canada to build up branch industries which compete with United States factories in foreign markets. He says that it has stifled the growth of Massachusetts and New England industry and has kept Americans out of business which belongs to them by every right. He points out that it has kept the great Canadian railroads from American ports and contends that it has ruined New England coasting and shipping interests and made New England wharf property of little value.

That is argument enough, surely to convince any reasonable thinking person why the United States hopes for concessions from Canada. The United States do n't want its money spent in building up factories in Canada—it prefers supplying the market from its home output. It doesn't want Canadian seaports, Canadian railways, Canadian industries, built up and prospering as rivals to its own system. It is quite natural, but surely Canada has no need to play into such a game. It would be Canadian national suicide—reciprocity such as the United States wants.

NO BABIES AFTER 2020

"There ain't going to be no babies after year 2020."

So, in effect, declares Walter F. Wilcox, professor of political economy and statistics at Cornell University. To have a peep at one of the tiny darlings, or tiny brats—which ever you prefer, according to your viewpoint—people will have to import them from despised France after the fashion in which we now import Parisian gowns.

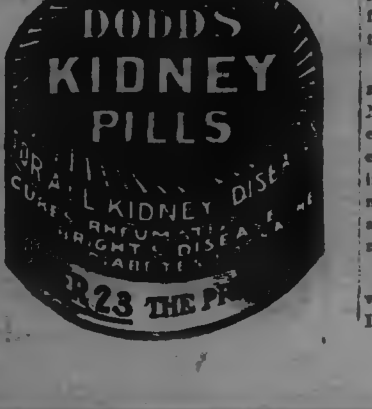
You and I might personally think that as long as human instincts exist as they do now, as long as a mother's love for children continues, as long as the human passion of love leads to the union of soul to soul, there will be no need of importing babies from France.

Pshaw! importing babies indeed! Just as if someone else's could take the place of our own! The great news will be hailed with cheers and loud applause by the dwellers in flats, those who travel in railway coaches where babies are temporarily located, by half a hundred other soured and half-baked, disappointed and crabbed varieties of people.

But anyone who has beholden the proud father, the doting mother, the incessant attentions bestowed on little King or Queen No. 1, will know that Prof. Wilcox is just talking through his hat. Basing his prediction on the increase in the number of unmarried women, in relation to the decrease of the American birth rate this learned pedagogue assumes that figures do not lie!

Seriously, though, the increasing tendency to defer marriage until maturity is almost past the tendency to raise only small families—the evident effort which the provider of bread has to make to raise a large one—makes this a serious problem. It might be better for us all if the number of births were smaller, and the quality of children higher, since the birth of children unfit to take an active part in this life's struggle is but a handicap and burden to those who are.

It has been found that the quality of children in small families, is considerably higher than in large. To reduce single blessedness to a minimum, and yet retain the comparatively small family, would in the course of time produce a generation of great physical and mental energy—a quality quite superior in every respect.



BOURASSA'S AUTONOMY

In an article in the current number the Canadian magazine, John Boyd quotes Henri Bourassa in the following words, as outlining the aim and trend of his nationalism—

"Let us before all, and above all, be Canadians; let us English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians unite our forces, let us develop our resources, let us build up a great country in which the rights of all shall be respected; let us carefully guard our autonomy, and we shall be rendering the best service, not only to Canada but to the whole Empire. That is the aim of the Nationalist movement. We want to put the issue perfectly straight, the largest measure of autonomy compatible with the maintenance of British connection."

"Then you do not appeal simply to the Province of Quebec, but to the whole Dominion?"

"To the whole Dominion, naturally," quickly responded Mr. Bourassa. "The campaign has been begun in the Province of Quebec, because it is here that the forces we oppose have been concentrated. We are appealing to Quebec to break the yoke and to regard principles rather than attachment to any man. But our campaign will not stop there, and it will be carried into the sister provinces and the issue Imperialism, or Autonomy will be clearly defined and fought out."

It will be noticed that Mr Bourassa lays particular stress on the great and glorious task of defending Canadian autonomy. We would, for one, like to know in what way, shape or manner has Canadian autonomy been invaded? What step has been taken by the imperial authorities that lessens our beloved autonomy, or interferes in any way with our freedom of action?

Canada was not asked to make a contribution of men or ships to the imperial navy, nor to send men to South Africa. Loyal public opinion in this country forced Sir Wilfrid Laurier to action in the latter case, when he would have refused to demonstrate that Canada was a part of the Empire in fact, as in name. The creation of a Canadian naval flotilla was not asked for by the imperial authorities. It was an expedient adopted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to pacify the demand of loyal Canadians that Canada should share in the burdens of Empire naval defence, when participating in its benefits, and yet avoid giving offence to Quebec in its opposition to anything that tightens the bands of imperial unity. That this weak-kneed compromise is satisfactory to neither the French disloyalists or to British-Canadian loyalists, is a matter to settle with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It was no invasion of Canadian autonomy. Canada has in everything as much actual freedom as it can desire, without assuming the status of an independent state. It is probably only complete severance from Britain that will satisfy Mr Bourassa's ideas of autonomy.

LAGGING BEHIND

A dispatch from London says that surprise is expressed in naval circles at the slow progress of the Canadian naval scheme. Practically all the Australian and New Zealand ships will be completed and in commission before Canada has anything beyond two old cruisers bought from the British Admiralty. An explanation made that the delay is due to the necessity of admiralty revision of the original plans of the Bristol type of ship brings out the statement that no such delay occurred in the placing of contracts for similar cruisers in the British service.

The fact of the matter really is, one is led to suppose, the Laurier Cabinet is lacking the courage to hustle its naval programme, since the Quebec movement has assumed such strong proportions. Canada is again placed in the peculiar, and to the British portion of its population, wholly unsatisfactory position of again being the last of the big British colonies to fulfil its duties as a component part of the empire.

In importance in the empire Canada ranks much ahead of Australia and New Zealand, and South Africa. In empire potentiality Canada is in a class alone. Why should Canada lag in the wake of the other over sea dominions, in questions demonstrating active loyalty, such as the navy business?

The answer is easy. The Quebec vote. Bourassaism has frightened Laurier; it is a spectre clothed in Laurier's Quebec-vote-getting garments of a few years ago. It points a long warning finger, and Laurier shrinks. Having announced his naval programme—declared he would carry it through—without referendum, without reference to the people, why doesn't he proceed with energy at least equal to that of Australia and New Zealand?

EDITORIAL NOTES

Winnipeg has been enduring 50 below zero. Even this temperature won't cool off the newspaper scraps between "Maud" and "Buttons."

Children in Toronto are found to have such bad teeth that they cannot masticate their food. That doesn't prevent them from chewing gum!

A court of claims has been instituted to decide questions of precedence for the coronation. It will be an authority on red tape and blue blood.

President Taft has accepted an invitation to attend an irrigation convention in Chicago next December. His presence will add considerable weight to the gathering.

May Yohe, the notorious actress, threatens to write her memoirs. She says her book would cause earthquakes. Well, it might cause some shoe quakes, if May told the truth.

Canada's railroad mileage has increased in 40 years from 2524 miles to 24,104 miles, or 854 per cent. The wonderful growth of our railway systems has made Canada what it is today, and Sir John Macdonald laid the foundation of it all.

Disturbing Rumors

Toronto News

These recurring rumors of appeals to Rome by Canadian politicians are disturbing. There is no movement in Canada against the Roman Catholic Church. No one conspires to restrict any of the rights or privileges which it enjoys under the constitution. For the Pope, as the head of a great religious organization, Canadians have nothing but respect. But they do not believe that any church should busy itself with the affairs of the State, and they distrust the clerical claims both of Nationalism and Liberalism. What legitimate ground can there be for any appeal to Rome by Mr. Bourassa? What has the Government done that it needs to seek support or to defend itself at Rome? What sound reason was there for Mr Monk to desert the Conservative party and accentuate all these undesirable considerations in Canadian politics? The News believes that all this apparent jockeying and bargaining with intriguing politicians is just as distasteful to the mass of Roman Catholics as it is to Protestants. Questions of trade, of national development, of social and industrial reform, of imperial and international relations constitute the legitimate considerations in Canadian politics, and we should resent any attempt of any Church to intrude into the government of the country. Canadians have not lost the robust qualities of the stocks from which they sprang, and one of these days there will be an uprising against the whole meddling brood of clerical politicians that will sweep them out of the way for a generation.

KNEW PASTOR BY LAUNDRY NUMBER

Bowmanville Statesman

A young Chinaman, Soo Yen, son of Soo Tung, who has conducted a laundry here for some years, died on Monday after tubercular disease after some weeks illness. The paternal devotion to the sick boy has been remarkable, for he required careful and constant attention and for some six weeks the father has been day and night nurse. Altho only 17 years of age Soo Yen leaves a young wife in China. Rev. H. Munroe, B. A., at whose church, the Chinamen here are attendants, visited him during his illness and conducted the funeral services Tuesday noon in the presence of a few business men and one lady. He spoke very hopefully of the future of the young man as he had coincidence of his knowledge of the future life and expressed the hope of meeting his pastor in heaven. A peculiar incident happened one day when Pastor Munroe was visiting Soo Yen who was then very ill and seemed to be in a semi-conscious condition. Mr. Munroe asked Soo if he knew him? Soo raised his head a little, opened his eyes wide and answered "Yes, M. H." This is his pastor's laundry number. His father took his remains to Toronto for burial.

OSHKIGMONG

Oshkigmong, Jan. 6.—The watchnight service was conducted by Kezhigabetung, quite a number of the villagers attending.

The hockey match between the Chemong and Buckhorn teams did not come off as arranged, the latter not making their appearance, however, the seniors and juniors had a hot time of it, both morning and afternoon, the game resulting in both cases in favor of the seniors, but the former were defeated in target shooting.

The Ladies' Aid Society furnished the supper for the boys on Monday night after which the programme was rendered by the sports of the club, Mr. L. D. Taylor, acting as chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Prosser are away visiting their friend up west.

Mr. J. G. Ramsden, inspector of Indian Agencies, was here last week.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—servants, maids, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME	10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME	25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES	38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES	50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES	75 Cents

LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)

LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

SEVERAL DAYS AGO—COON SKIN STOLE lined with grey satin. Reward for return to the Review Office. 1d

FOUND

ON SATURDAY NIGHT—A FEMALE FOX Terrier Dog with a chain collar on her neck. Owner call at 513 Donegal Street, at once, at 7 o'clock at night and secure pr. party. 1d

Wanted

WANTED

FURNISHED ROOM—MUST BE CLOSE ON near hotels and depots. Box M. 3d

WANTED

YOUNG MAN WITH SOME KNOWLEDGE of sign writing and brush work. Apply, J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d

WANTED

DINING ROOM GIRL, GRAND HOTEL. EXperienced. Apply at Hotel.

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel dif

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dif

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

For Sale or To Rent

FOR SALE

TWO CUTTERS FOR SALE, AND PAIR OF Bob sleighs with brand new boxes. Also several two wheeled scufflers. Apply to F. AKKLES at Storey's Livery. 2d1w

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents

Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL

If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street. Opposite Opera House

WE SELL Anything you want

WE BUY Anything you have to sell

JAY'S STORES

Phone 623

290 Aylmer St
Peterborough

COAL

THAT IS COAL

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 PER TON

Hardwood

First-Class - - - Best in City

Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord

Cut and split as desired

—AT—

J. E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111.

Canadian Pacific Ry.

EMPRESSES

And other Steamships

ST. JOHN, N.B.
and HALIFAX, N.S.

Empress of Britain	Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian	Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland	Feb. 10, Mar. 10

For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to

I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

CANADIAN PACIFIC

FLORIDA

CALIFORNIA, CUBA

FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO

You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect.

Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Winter Tours

MEXICO, COLORADO, CALIFORNIA, AND PACIFIC COAST POINTS.

The Grand Trunk Railway System is the popular route from all points east through Canada via Chicago

FEATURES

Double Track, Fast Service, Finest Roadbed, Modern Equipment, Unexcelled Car Service, All Elements of Safety and Comfort.

TO THE SUNNY SOUTH

No more desirable route than via Grand Trunk and connecting lines.

VERY LOW RATES

Full particulars and tickets from—

W. BUNTON, CITY AGENT. F. SANDY, DEPOT AGENT

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT

of the

Canadian Northern Ry. System

is prepared to obtain

FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS

For Any Point in Ontario

If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.

Write to—

THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
51 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

Coal Results

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

$7.50 Per Ton

THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO

LIMITED

162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 270. (Machine)—270.

134 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 302

ORDER NOW

The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

The Standard Anthracite at standard price Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. Hicks & Co

248 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL

M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London. "Internal Medicine."

Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.

Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 861, mach. 225

314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN

F.R.C.S., Edinb.; M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 183 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH

Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219. Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin. Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach

Office—548 Water Street

Bell Phones, Office 463—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY

Osteopathic Physician

Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.

Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc

Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough

Money to Loan.

Robt. Ruddy, K. C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES

Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.

Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON

Barrister, Solicitor, etc.

Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro. Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 436 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.

E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor,

Louis M. Hayes, K. C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

(Successors to Stratton & Hall)

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.

R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES

415 Water Street, Peterborough

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.

E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water Peterborough. Telephone No 191.

Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.

J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan

at lowest current rates

—on—

FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

Successors to Stratton & Hall

BARRISTERS. Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

The TORONTO SAVINGS and LOAN COMPANY

Paid up Capital	$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund	600,000.00

Savings Department

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards. Interest accrues from date of Deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of Banking.

Security Afforded Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1909	$2,120,201.18
Liabilities to the Public	1,368,771.88
Surplus	$751,429.30

HEAD OFFICES:
437 George Street., Peterborough

Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Saturdays - 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

W. G. MORROW
Managing Direct

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call!

328 GEORGE STREET

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

Once a Rayo User, Always One.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

The Queen City Oil Company
Limited.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT. 1909. BY HARPER & BROTHERS

She did not speak again, but in her heart was a great heaviness. They reached the dock and lost sight of the spy, only to have him reappear soon after the boat cleared, and, while neither spoke of it, they felt his presence during the whole trip.

At Tacoma Boyd left her to go about his business, but joined her later at lunch, with the joyful announcement:

"I've had better luck this time. They said there would be no difficulty whatever in handling the matter, and they are to let me know definitely tomorrow."

"Did Hawkshaw hound you to the bank?" she inquired.

"I rather think so."

"Then tomorrow will tell the tale."

"You mean the bank will turn me down?"

"Yes, if I've sized up the situation correctly. I dare say these banks are as cautious as those in Seattle, and a few words over the telephone would do the trick."

"I'm inclined to give that shadow a little personal attention," the young man mused, but when she questioned him he only smiled and assured her of his caution.

Again on the return trip they discovered the fellow among the passengers. Cherry noticed as they reached the dock that while Emerson maintained a flow of conversation his eyes were constantly upon the fellow's back and that he kept a position close to his shoulder, regardless of jostling from the others. She could not tell what this foreboded, nor did she gain a hint of Boyd's purpose until the gangplank was in place and they were out upon it. A narrow space separated the boat from the dock. As they crossed this Boyd slipped and half fell on the slanting planks. He lunged violently against the man in gray, who was next him. It occurred with the suddenness of pure accident, and the next she saw was the stranger plunging downward along the piling, clutching wildly at the vessel's side, while Boyd clung to the guard rope as if about to lose his balance.

The man's cry as he struck the water alarmed the crowd and caused a momentary stampede, in which Cherry and Boyd were thrust shoreward, but the confusion quickly subsided as an officer flung a heaving line to the gasping creature beneath. A moment later the hatless spy was dragged to the dock, indignant and sputtering.

"I'm very sorry, sir." Boyd apologized profusely. "It was all my fault. The plank was steep, and I was forced off my feet. Whenever I'm followed too closely I lose my head. It's a weakness I have."

The man was still too unmanned by his cold immersion to do more than chatter angrily. In the hubbub Emerson led his companion out into the street, where she beheld him shaking with suppressed laughter.

"Boyd," she cried in a shocked voice, "then it was. You—you might have killed him! Suppose his head had struck a timber!"

"Yes, that would have been too bad," he declared. Then, at the sight of her face, his chuckle changed to a wolfish snarl. "He'll know enough to keep away from me hereafter."

"I'M VERY SORRY, SIR."

"Don't! Don't! I never saw you look so. Why, it might have been murder!"

"Well?" He stared at her curiously.

"I—I didn't think it of you." She shuddered weakly, but he only shrugged his shoulders and said, with a finality that cut off further discussion:

"He's a spy. I won't be spied upon."

When Boyd entered his room at the hotel, whither he had gone after leaving Cherry at Hilliard's bank, Big George greeted him excitedly.

"Here's the dickens to pay. We can't get that barkentine."

"The Margaret? Why not? The charter was all arranged."

"The agent telephoned that we could not have her."

"What reasons did he offer?"

"None. We can't have her, that's all."

"She's the only available ship on the sound. Our stuff will be here in a fortnight."

"Some of it will."

"What do you"—

"Boilers held up."

"Boilers?"

"Yes. Read that." Balt tossed him a telegram.

"'Shipment delayed,'" read Boyd. "Well, this is growing interesting. Thank heaven, other people handle machinery." He reached for a blank and hurriedly wrote a message canceling his order. "I guess Cherry was right. Marsh is fighting to delay us." He began a recital of the morning's occurrence, but before he had finished he was called to the telephone.

"More bad news," he exclaimed as he re-entered the room. "The Jackson-Nebur company say they can't make delivery of their order. I wonder what next."

"We don't need anything more to cripple us," George declared blankly. "Any one of these blows is a knockout."

It was perhaps an hour later that Cherry entered unannounced.

"I just ran in for a minute to tell you something new. When I came up from the bank the elevator boy at the hotel made a mistake and carried me past my floor. Without noticing the difference, I went down the hall, and whom should I run right in to, coming out of a room, but our detective! As he opened the door I heard him say, 'Very well, sir, I'll report tomorrow.'"

"To whom was he reporting?"

"I don't know. A few minutes later I called you up to tell you about it, but while I was waiting for my number the operator evidently got the wires crossed or left a switch open, for I heard this much of a conversation:

"'Our contract covers 50,000 cases at $5. We thought that was at least 20 cents under the market.'

"I was about to ring off when I remembered that you had sold your output of 50,000 cases to Bloc & Co. for $5 a case, so I listened on a chance and heard another voice reply"—

"Whose voice?"

"I don't know. It said, 'We'll undersell that by $1.'

"'Good Lord!' said the first speaker. 'That means a loss of'— And then I was cut off. I thought I'd better come over in person instead of trusting to the wire."

"And you didn't recognize either speaker?"

"No. But I discovered at the office that rooms 610 and 612—the suit I saw that detective coming out of—are occupied by a Mr. Jones of New York, who arrived three days ago. I'll bet anything you please that you'll hear from Bloc & Co. within twenty-four hours and that the occupant of those rooms at the Hotel Butler is Willis Marsh."

Big George began to mutter profanely. "It looks like they had us, and all because Fraser's tongue is hung in the middle."

"All the same, we'll fight it out," said Emerson grimly. "If I can raise that money in Tacoma"— Again the telephone bell buzzed noisily.

"Bloc & Co.," predicted Cherry, but for once she was wrong.

"A call from Tacoma," said Boyd, the receiver to his ear; "it must be the Second National. They were not to let me know till tomorrow." Through the open door of the adjoining room his words came distinctly, while the others listened in tense silence.

"Hello! Yes! This is Boyd Emerson." Then followed a pause, during which the thin, rasping voice of the distant speaker murmured unintelligibly.

"Why not? Can't you give me a reason? I thought you said— Very well. Goodby."

Emerson hung up the receiver carefully and with the same deliberation turned to face his companions. He nodded and spread his hands outward in an unmistakable gesture.

"What, already?" queried the girl.

"They must have been reached by phone."

"That detective may have called Marsh up from there."

"That means it won't do any good to try further in Tacoma. The other banks have undoubtedly been fixed, or they soon will be. If I can slip away undiscovered I'll try Vancouver next, but I haven't much hope."

"It looks bad, doesn't it?" said Cherry.

"As we stand at present," Boyd acknowledged, "we are the owners of a hundred thousand dollars' worth of useless machinery and unsalable supplies."

"And all," mused the girl, "because of a loose tongue and a little type."

CHAPTER X.

CLYDE next day suggested that Cherry could prevail on Hilliard to advance the money.

"Cherry?" asked Boyd. "How can she help?"

"She can do anything she wants with him."

"What do you mean?"

"I may be a heavy autumn frost as a financier," the younger man remarked, "but when it comes to women I'm as wise as a wharf rat. I've been watching her work, and it's great. People have begun to talk about it. Every night it's a dinner and a theater party. Every day orchids and other extortionate bouquets, with jewel boxes tied on with blue ribbons. His motor is at her disposal at all times, and she treats his chauffeur with open contempt. If that doesn't signify"—

"Nonsense!" exclaimed the other with disgust. "She is too nice a girl for that. You have misconstrued Hilliard's politeness."

Finding his worldly wisdom at issue, Clyde defended himself stoutly. "I tell you, he has gone off his blooming balance. I know the symptoms. Leave it to old Dr. Clyde."

"You say other people have noticed it?"

"I do. Everybody in town except you and the newsdealer at the corner—he's blind."

Emerson rose from his chair and began to pace about slowly. "If Hilliard has turned that girl's head with his attentions I'll"—

Clyde threw back his head and laughed in open derision. "Don't worry about her—he is the one to be pitied. She's taking him on a seeing Seattle trip of the most approved and expensive character."

"She isn't that kind," Emerson hotly denied.

"Now, don't be a boy until your beard trips you up. That girl is about to break into Hilliard's vault, and while she's in there, with the gas lighted and a suit case to lug off the banknotes, why not tell her to toss in a few bundles for us?"

"If I can't get along without taking money from a woman I'll throw up the whole deal."

The curious look which Boyd had noted once before came into Clyde's eyes, and this time, to judge by the young fellow's manner, he might have translated it into words but for the entrance at that moment of Cherry herself, accompanied by "Fingerless" Fraser.

"What luck in Vancouver?" she inquired.

"None whatever. The banks won't listen to me, and I can't interest any private parties."

"See here," volunteered Fraser, "why don't you let me sell some of your stock? I'm there with the big talk."

To be continued.

Try a Review Want Ad It Pays.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Jan. 5.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ⅛d lower than yesterday; corn futures unchanged to ⅛d higher.

At Chicago May wheat closed 1⅛c higher than yesterday. May corn ⅜c higher and May oats ⅜c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

Winnipeg May wheat closed 1c higher; May oats ⅛c higher.

	Close Jan. 4.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	96⅝	[illegible]	97⅛	[illegible]	97⅛
July	97⅝	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oats—
May	37	37	37⅛	37	37⅛
July	38⅝	....	....	....	38⅝

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bush	$0 85	to	$0 86
Wheat, goose, bush........	0 78		0 80
Rye, bushel	0 68		0 70
Barley, bushel	0 60		0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48		....
Peas, bushel	0 78		0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37		.....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12¼
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Butter—Easy; receipts 7738. State dairy, common to finest, 19c to 30c; process, common to special, 19c to 26½c; factory, held, 22c; do., current make, 20c to 21c.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged; receipts 951.

Eggs—Steady; receipts 10,330. State, Penna. and nearby hennery white fancy, 45c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Trading Slow at Generally Steady Prices—Hogs Lower.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—London cattle market lower for American cattle, at 13¼c to 14¼c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef easier, at 9¾c to 10c.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—The railways reported 71 carloads of live stock at the City Market, consisting of 650 cattle, 2336 hogs, 268 sheep and lambs, and 56 calves.

Butchers.

Prime picked cattle, of which there were few, sold at $6 to $6.25, but we only heard of 2 choice heifers that sold for that money, bought by Alex. Levack; loads of good, $5.60 to $5.90; medium, $5.25 to $5.50; common, $4.90 to $5.15; cows, $2.50 to $5.25, bulls, $4 to $5.

Stockers and Feeders.

Few, if any, on sale, with no particular enquiry. All steers with a little flesh on them, that would be suitable for feeding purposes, are being bought for to kill.

Milkers and Springers.

Good to choice milkers and forward springers are in demand and sell readily. There was a fair supply on the market. Prices ranged from $40 to $75 each, but we heard of a couple of extra quality Holstein cows that reached the century mark, or, in other words, sold for $100 each.

Veal Calves.

Prices firm at $3.50 to $8.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Wesley Dunn reports prices as follows: Sheep, ewes, $4.25 to $4.60; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $5.40 to $6 per cwt.

Hogs.

Over 2000 hogs from all sources sold as follows: Selects, fed and watered, $7.40, and $7.10 to $7.15 to drovers for hogs f.o.b., cars, at country points. Two or three car lots were sold at $7.55 to $7.60 off cars, that is, unfed and unwatered.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 5.—Cattle—Receipts 50 head; slow and unchanged.

Veals—Receipts 150 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts 2300 head; slow, 15c to 25c lower, heavy, $8.40 to $8.50; mixed, $8.50 to $8.55; yorkers, $8.50 to $8.75; pigs, $8.65 to $8.75; roughs, $7.25 to $7.50; stags, $6 to $6.50, dairies, $8.25 to $8.60.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 3000 head; active, handy lambs, yearlings and wethers, 15c to 25c higher; heavy lambs, $5 to $5.50; handy, $6 to $7; yearlings, $5 to $5.50, wethers, $4.15 to $4.40; ewes, $3.75 to $4, sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Cattle—Receipts 1210. No trading, feeling nominally firm. Dressed beef steady at 8½c to 10½c.

Calves — Receipts 208; veals, $7 to $10.75; western calves, $5.00. Dressed calves higher; city dressed veals, 12c to 16½c per pound, country dressed calves, 9c to 13½c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 2525; sheep firm, lambs higher, sheep, $3 to $4; lambs, $6 to $7, culls, $5; yearlings, $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts 3000; market higher; state and Penna. hogs are quoted at $8.40 to $8.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Cattle—Receipts 12,000; market weak; beeves, $4.65 to $7; Texas steers, $4.25 to $5.50; western steers, $4.50 to $6, stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.60 to $5.30; calves, $7 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts 32,000; market slow; weak at decline; light, $7.80 to $8.10; mixed, $7.80 to $8.15; heavy, $7.80 to $8.15; rough, $7.80 to $7.90; good to choice heavy, $7.90 to $8.15; pigs, $7.50 to $8.25; bulk of sales, $8 to $8.10.

Sheep—Receipts 20,000; market mostly 10c lower; native, $2.60 to $4.50; western, $2.75 to $4.50; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.60; native lambs, $4.75 to $6.00; western, $5 to $6.00.

Schooner Burned.

Kingston, Jan. 6.—The schooner Mary Ann Lyndon, one of the oldest coal carriers on the lakes, owned and sailed by Capt. Matthews Patterson, was almost gutted by fire at the Jong pier, Portsmouth, where she was tied up for the season. The origin of the fire is a mystery. She is partly insured.

Bitten by Mad Dog.

New York, Jan. 6.—Just as school was coming out in New Bergen, N.J., a dog, supposed to have been suffering from rabies, appeared in the yard, where it bit six little girls and two teachers. Earlier in the day it had attacked several others. A policeman finally captured the animal and shot it.

Refuses to Obey Orders.

New York, Jan. 6.—President Shonts of the Interborough has refused flatly to obey the orders of the Public Service Commission, directing his company to operate sufficient cars and trains during non-rush hours to provide passengers with seats.

Ex-M.P.P. Dead.

Brockville, Jan. 6.—The death occurred at his home in Delta yesterday morning of Walter Beatty, ex-M.P.P. for Leeds. He was a civil engineer, and was 76 years of age.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Some Special Bargains AT ROUTLEY'S

Crockery and China Section

30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each.......	5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each...................	5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each	5c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice	$7.48
12 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge....	8.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, kermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration............	3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decoration, choice....	3.85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleck. It will pay you to see them. Only per set	20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times our price, choice..	24c

Specials

54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of rolled gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at	$2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at..	54c

We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at

TORONTO 262 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 379 George-st.

HAVE SECURED NOTED SPEAKER

Another noted speaker will address the Canadian Club on Tuesday evening, January 10th, at the Hotel National. Hon. Clifford Sifton has been secured and his subject will be "The Conservation of Our National Resources. This address should be exceedingly interesting and instructive.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	9.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.35 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 2.06 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9 10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8 30 a.m. 1.00 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m. 12.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—

11.28 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—

5.25 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.38 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

SANTAL MIDY
Standard remedy for Gleet, Gonorrhoea and Runnings IN 48 HOURS. Cures Kidney and Bladder Troubles.
MIDY

EGGS
For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage
In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

FANCY GOODS
AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST PHONE 236

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.

Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe........................	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy...	177
Typhoid Fever............	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica...	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning..........	97	Abscesses.......	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration......	85	Renal Calculus...........	70
Kidney Trouble...........	61	Boils..........................	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL

159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 14, Bell or Machine.

There's A Difference !

No counterfeiter has ever produced a perfect dollar.

No imitator has ever equaled the Nugent Drug Co's Pine Tar Cordial in quality.

In buying Pine Tar Cordial, for coughs and colds, insist on having "NUGENT'S. All others are cheap Imitations.

We have been manufacturing this preparation for nearly 30 years. It is one of the best cures for coughs and colds and all bronchial troubles, in the market.

Our sale of Pine Tar Cordial for 1910 was over 3000 bottles.

Price 25c bottle

Manufactured only by the

NUGENT DRUG Co.

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on WateSt., and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters

Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to ren
MONEY TO LOAN.
C. BLEWETT, 332 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1221.
House Phone 566

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles —in— Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

533 George-st. Near McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks are tendered our many customers for making for us the most prosperous year we have ever had.

Hoping for continuation of favors for the future, we are,

Respectfully
GEO. RECORD
FRENCH DRY PRESSER AND CLEANER
173 Simcoe St. - - 204 Charlotte St.

WILL LEAVE FOR CHICAGO BRANCH

E. Carr, of the office staff of the Quaker Oats Co. will leave for the Chicago office of the firm on the 13th. He will spend two months in that city familiarising himself with the office system and afterwards will be given a responsible position with one of the company's branch offices.

THE CANADIAN LADY

For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

HORSE TOPPLED OVER ON ROAD

A horse driven by Brock Wright, last night was overcome with paralysis at the Hunter street bridge and collapsed in a heap on the road. Good Samaritans passing by helped the animal on to a farmer's sleigh and it was taken to the stables.

Are Getting Better

Georgie Clarke and Stanley Oliver, the two little charges of the Children's Aid Society, who were taken to Nicholls Hospital suffering with pneumonia, are improving rapidly and will be back at the Shelter in a few days.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited 'phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd.

Garrison Sergeants Mess

Sergt. W. L. Mitchell, not W. L. Metheral, as announced in last night's issue, is secretary-treasurer of the Garrison Sergeants' Mess.

The auditors are—Sergt. D. Eyncourt Stone, 57th Regiment; Staff-Sergt. R. A. W. Hay, 24th Battery, C.F.A.

Frank Revell, an aldermanic candidate in Hamilton, says enemies circulated a report that he was a Socialist.

Adams' Great Cash REALIZATION SALE

For 15 Days, Commencing

Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash

You Want the Goods

This Great Cash Realization Sale is going with a rush. Hundreds of Ladies who know Bargains say they never saw such values,

Don't let anything keep you away.
Bargains all over the store.

Harry Adams

MISS BLODGETT AT Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association offers a treat to the people of Peterborough in the coming of Miss May A. Blodgett, of Detroit, one of the ablest Bible teachers in America.

Miss Blodgett will be at the Y. M. C. A. for two weeks, from January, 14th to 28th, and will give a series of ten addresses, character studies, commencing Sunday, the 15th, at 44.15 in the Murray Street Baptist Church. The second address will be given Monday evening, 16th inst, at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. Gymnasium Hall.

There will be eight afternoon meetings, from Tuesday to Friday inclusive, each week, from 3.30 to 4.30, in the Y. W. C. A. The second Sunday and Monday meetings will be announced later.

In every American city where classes have been formed, Miss Blodgett has been greeted by large gatherings, and we believe that Miss Blodgett will also be received here by large audiences.

BOOKS ARE BEING REMOVED

From Old Public Library Building to the New Rooms—Will be All in Place by Monday Night

The work of moving the books from the old public library building on Water street to the new building has been going on during the past week. It is expected that the books will be all arranged in the new building by Monday evening. Considerable work is attached to the moving operations, and Mr. F. M. Delafosse and his staff have been hard at it for the past week. The books have all been packed in large boxes, and transferred to the new library building, where they are immediately unpacked and numerically placed on the shelves. The shelving at the new rooms is all in, and the remainder of the furniture is expected shortly.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

The annual installation and banquet of Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 50, will take place on Monday, Jan 9th. The banquet will be held at Coleman's grill at the conclusion of the installation at the S.O.E. Hall. D. Cinnamon, of Lindsay, Head Adviser, and Dr. Harrison, of Toronto, Head Council Commander, will be here for the occasion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

(To The Editor of The Review.)

Sir, — I wish through the medium of your paper, most cordially to thank all those who by their votes supported my nomination for Water Commissioner, and replaced me in the position I have had the honour to occupy during the past nine years.

The result shows a mark of confidence in myself, which I certainly appreciate very highly; but what is of much more importance it implies confidence in the Board of Water Commissioners. The propriety of their conduct in relation to the construction of a new concrete dam and pumping station and the installation of a pumping plant was attacked, or rather what was less just, insinuation was made to the discredit of all the members of the Board. This the electors properly resented.

Probably very few understand the continuous anxiety and strain the construction of this public work, the greatest and most expensive ever undertaken by the City, has been upon the Commissioners, nor the amount of time given by each member to it, particularly by the Chairman, during the past eighteen months. The commissioners have always thought it was wiser and in the best interests of the City that their worries and difficulties with contractors should be their's only, than that the whole people should know from week to week what the Commissioners had to contend with. The end of their labors is now almost reached, and when the result is observed, they feel, and justly they believe, that the city has now a pumping plant that for reliability for all time and for effectiveness is not surpassed in Canada.

Everyone who takes an interest in the progress of the city, whether skilled or unskilled, is invited to visit the works. Criticism will then be in order, and the Commissioners are not afraid of the judgment placed upon their efforts.

When the Commissioners pressed the necessity for construction of these works upon the people, an assurance was made that no tax to pay the cost would be required on general assessment, nor would there be any increase in the water rates, and the Commissioners see no reason now to change their attitude in this respect.

For the gentleman who opposed me so strongly and so vigorously, I entertain the highest respect, and my one regret is that my election necessarily involved his defeat.

Respectfully,
W. H. HILL.
Peterborough, Jan. 6th, 1911.

Sherwood Camp Installation

The members of Sherwood Forest Camp, No. 50, are requested to attend the regular meeting on Monday January 9th at the S.O.E. Hall. Annual installation of officers. Refreshments after meeting.

First Showing of Whitewear---Saturday Second Floor

Stock-taking

WATCH FOR THE GREEN PRICE CARDS

Saturday Snaps

Watson's Unshrinkable Underwear 44c

Nearly 200 garments of Watson's extra quality unshrinkable Underwear, the most popular line in Canada to-day. White and grey Vests and Drawers, in all sizes—a very special 50c quality. The three days sale ends Saturday with this underwear at per garment 44c

—Main Floor Left—

40c Honeycomb Toques 25c

A big selection of extra quality double knit honeycomb Toques, in plain and combination shades; deep roll, for boys or girls, extra special value at 40c, one day only Saturday Snap.............................. 25c

—Main Floor Left—

Outside Size Flannelette Blankets $1.59

15 pairs of an extremely large size Flannelette Blanket (measures full 2 yards wide and nearly 2½ yards long), very best quality, in white or grey, with colored stripe border, worth to-day $2, on sale as a Saturday Snap at.......... $1.59

—Main Floor Right—

Buy Rubbers Saturday 57c

Lion and Dominion Brand Rubbers (six cases) for Saturday's selling; best quality, perfect fitting Rubbers, with heavy corrugated soles and heels; all sizes from 2½ to 7. Saturday Snap per pair......... 57c

—Shoe Section—Second Floor—

Second Floor Bargains for Saturday

$50 Fur-Lined Coats Saturday $35

3 only elegant fur-lined Coats, with rich fur collars, beautifully lined with rich, warm fur, sold regularly at $50, Saturday must see the complete clearance of these at only $35

$5 and $6 Children's Coats $3.69

16 only Children's Coats, sizes 4 to 12 years, in all colors; some with hoods and belts, others straight box cut; all but three are this season's garments; prices were $5 and $6, some higher, Sat. Snap $3.69

$13 AND $15 COATS $8.95

We want to completely clear this rack of Coats Saturday. We have grouped all odd coats from $13 to $15 lines, in both black and colors, for Saturday's selling—some of the season's nattiest styles from the best makers. You can choose from these Saturday at only... $8.95

SEE WINDOW.

TABLE OF FUR BOAS AND MUFFS LESS THAN COST

Dark and light furs in boas and muffs, best shapes, to be cleared up at once at prices Less Than Cost

SAMPLE BLOUSES 67c

50 factory Sample Blouses in tailored and lingerie effects, some slightly soiled, worth up to $2. Saturday Snap 67c

—Second Floor—

MILLINERY TO CLEAR

The season is practically over with the exception of special orders, which are always in evidence, so we will clear out all made up hats, felt shapes, birds and wings at About Half Price

Two Cold Weather "Early Risers" Specials for Two Hours Only--Saturday Morning 8:15 to 10:15.--Not After.

Early Riser No. 1.

ENGLISH WHITE FLANNELETTE 8½c

Over 500 yards of a heavy white English Flannelette, soft, combed finish, 28 inches wide. This line will be on sale for the first two hours Saturday morning, from 8:15 to 10:15, and not after. No phone or mail orders filled and a positive limit of not more than 15 yards to a customer, at less than mill price..................... 8½c

See Window

Early Riser No. 2.

$1,50 MAISH COMFORTS 99c

42 only large double bed size Maish (Banner) Cotton Down Comforts—covered with art silkoline in dainty light and pretty medium and dark shades, the filling is the well known American Maish cotton down—fluffy warm Cotton, light and airy. Regular $1.50 value Comfort, for two hours Sat. morning, 8:15 to 10.15, at only 99c

See Window

A Word About the Lonely Sale

The big semi annual sale of Men's Clothing and Furnishings has commenced in real earnest. Saturday will be one of the biggest days, as the enthusiasm is always more keen at the beginning than at the end as well as the stock being better assorted than later. This sale is one of two similar events which we hold every year to clear out all broken lines, odd Suits, odd Coats, and this year for the first, odd pairs of Shoes. Don't fail to come expecting to save considerable on every purchase you make. Note this item:

Cressman's

MEN'S $3.50 and $4 BOOTS $1.98

Patent leather, vici kid and velour calf boots in splendid styles and best lasts, but lonely pairs, to be cleared Saturday at per pair $1.98

INCREASED INTEREST IN PRAYER SERVICES

The services in connection with the Week of Prayer were held last night in St. Andrew's and Mark Street churches. The attendance and interest in the meetings continue to increase and it is hoped to-morrow's meeting in St. Paul's will be a fitting climax, and that the witness of the Holy Spirit may be indeed marked.

At St. Andrew's Mr. Fee conducted the devotional exercises and Rev. J. R. Webb preached. The subject was "Grieving the Holy Spirit," based on St. Paul's epistle to the Ephesians, chapter 4, verse 30, "Grieve not the Holy Spirit." In previous meetings we had learned that the Holy Spirit was a divine person, by whom the fruits of Christian character and work were brought about. But this divine person could be grieved by us, and the grief was unspeakably greater than that felt by the wounded human spirit. A terrible responsibility rested upon Christians in view of Christ's witness of the spirit, and the unpardonable sin of speaking against Him. In four ways we grieved the Holy Spirit—1. By ignoring His presence, which has been in the world since Pentecost, and still is in the church. 2. By despising His instrument, the scriptures, which are the excalibur of the church. 3. By dishonoring His temple, the bodies in which we live. 4. By rejecting His overtures. The last invitation of Holy Writ is "The spirit of the bride say come."

At Mark St. the service was in charge of Rev. H. J. Keith, while the sermon on the same text and subject was delivered by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's. On the negative side, by bad temper, bad language, lack of faith, intemperance, religious carelessness and indifference we grieved the Holy Spirit. Turning to the positive and constructive elements in religion, the preacher made a plea for Christian unity, not corporate uniformity, but unity of spirit, such as was being manifested in the union services of the week. Likewise to avoid grieving Him, we should be forebearing and forgiving, develop kindliness and charitableness of feeling and conduct, and all the fruits of the spirit. Above all, the Christian needed absolute faith in the Saviour. We are justified, not by sacraments, church or ministry, but by personal faith in Christ.

To-night the closing and crowning meeting will be at St. Paul's. The subject is "The Filling of the Holy Spirit." It is trusted the last meeting will indeed experience an outpouring of the spirit's power.

An offering will be taken up to defray expenses incurred by the Ministerial Association in connection with the Week of Prayer.

A LITTLE DRINK WON'T HURT YOU

If You Use the Individual Cup Provided by the C.P.R.

Half a dozen samples of the Aseptic Drinking Cup, which is being introduced on all lines of the C.P.R., were received to-day by W. McIlroy, the local uptown agent of the company. The cup is made of specially treated waterproof paper and is folded in an envelope of wax parchment. After the cup is used it is thrown away and thus the danger of contracting disease from germs is removed.

Small Prices in the Ready-to-wear Section To-morrow

$10.95 Panama Dresses $7.95

One piece Dresses made of fine Panama in navy, cardinal, new green or black, pleated skirt with braided panel front in overskirt effect. Waist in Gibson style trimmed with silk soutache. Fit 15 to 18 years, also in 34, 36 and 38 sizes Choice $7.95

$30 to $40 Pressed Plush Coats at $19.90

This is the coat that is in many instances replacing a fur coat. It has the appearance and it has the warmth. Is made of pressed silk plush in neat stripe design; has high military collar and is trimmed with silk braid and crochet silk buttons, 54 inches long and lined throughout with good quality farmer's satin. Regular $30 to $40. Choice $19.90

Women's$ 20.00 Coats $11.95

This lot includes all the best cloth Coats in our stock, including the new grey Wales with new sailor or military collars. Also the new navy, green or tan diagonals; worth up to $20.00 Choice $11.95

$1.25 Wrappers for 98c

Women's well made Wrappers in good quality wrapperette, in navy, brown or black, with small dots. Best $1.25 lines for 98c

Children's Cloth Coats $2.98

Girl's heavy cloth Coats in navy, green or cardinal, with high turnover collart, fit 4 to 14 yrs, were up to $6, for each $2.98

Saturday Leader from the Hosiery Section

CHILDREN'S 35c HOSE FOR 25c PAIR

50 dozen Children's Hose, to fit ages 2 to 12, made of fine cashmere yarns in 2/1 and 4/1 ribs, or of heavy worsted yarns in 4/1 ribs. This makes a serviceable school hose or overstocking. 35c values. See window. Tomorrow 25c

Clearance Prices in Knitted Goods

Children's Overalls

Mostly black, with attached feet. A clean-up of 50c and 60c lines; a pair 29c

Toques

Toques in white with green band and brown with white band. Large size, 25c lines. Tomorrow .... 2 for 25c

Sashes

Sashes for tobogganing and skating costumes in navy or red, 72 inches long. 35c to 50c values, each 19c

Sweaters

Sweaters for boys or girls in browns, greys, navys and cardinals trimmed with band of contrasting color around neck, down front and on pockets. Each 89c

Sacrifice Prices for Sake of Clearance

Apron Lawns

Apron Lawns in the finest weaves, nicely trimmed with tucks and embroidery insertions and finished with wide hems, reg. 40c, a yard 27c

Neckwear

The balance of our 50c, 75c & $1 lines of women's neckwear all thrown in at one price. Choice each 29c

Women's Gloves

A clean up of wools and cashmeres in blacks, browns and reds, worth up to 35c. Tomorrow, a pair 19c

Underwear

Underwear in heavy wool weights, in whites or greys in women's sizes. Vests button front and drawers in both styles; 60c lines, tomorrow 49c

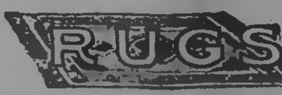
Saturday Leader from the Linen Section

23c FOR 40c NOTTINGHAM SQUARES

10 dozen Nottingham Lace Squares suitable for table covers or shams. 30 inches square with scalloped edges. 40c values. See window. Tomorrow 23c

TURNBULL'S

THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT



To-morrow's Leaders in the Home Furnishings

Carpet Samples

Carpet Samples in Tapestry and Balmoral, 1½ yards long and 22½ and 27 inches wide in a large assortment. Qualities range as high as 85c per yard Tomorrow .... Fringes to match See Window 48c each

Tapestry Curtains

23 pairs only, in brocaded reversible patterns in fancy weave in colors of crimson, blue, rose and green, 40 to 50 inches wide. A pair $2.95

Art Muslins

Art Muslins and Casement Muslins, 30 inches wide. Patterns on both sides and fast colors. Regular 10c and 12½c lines. Tomorrow, a yard 5c

Brass Poles

Brass Poles with white ends and brackets or white enamelled poles with white ends and brackets; ¾ inch diameter and 4 feet length. Tomorrow .... 3 for 25c

Bedroom Rugs

Made of fine quality Japanese matting finished with neat borders and fancy stencilled centres, patterns in floral and conventional effects, color combinations of blue, crimson, green and brown; size 6 feet by 9 feet. Tomorrow $1.29

Turnbull's Special Bed Spring

Made of best woven steel wire with four cable supports under webbing and eight woven copper bands; to fit any size bed. Tomorrow $1.95

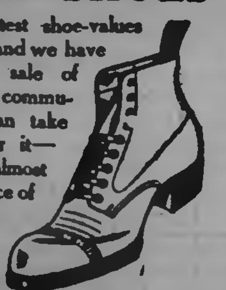
Women's $15.00 Coats $9.95

A collection of plain or diagonal cloth Coats, all this season's most approved styles, both high and low collars, were up to $15.00. Choice $9.95

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 WATER-ST. PHONE No. 590



Walk Right In —to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON

264 George Street.

Framed Views and Calendars

— FOR —

HOLIDAY GIVING

NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE

SEE THEM AT

THE ROY STUDIO

140½ Hunter Street.

LET US SUGGEST

A Toboggan. A Pair of Snowshoes

A Travelling Rug, An Auto or Picnic Hamper

As a most appropriate Christmas Gift. We have a variety that cannot be surpassed in even the large cities. See our windows. You cannot beat our prices

J. J. Turner & Sons

George Street.

New Piano Warerooms

— and —

Real Estate Office

TAYLOR & WOOD

200 WATER STREET

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Special for This Week

With every purchase amounting to $1 (not sugar) we will give free, one dust pan. W. Robuck, Water and Smith streets. dtf

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opens, this Fall, one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

Dancing Class

New term beginning Friday, Jan. 6th. Children 4.30. Adults 8 p. m. Conservatory Music Hall, under direction of Miss Ivy Coventry.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.00 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited. George St.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited 'phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd

The G. T. P. will build the finest hotel in America at Ottawa.

THE ODDFELLOWS HELD INSTALLATION

Otonabee Lodge No. 13 and Peterborough Lodge No. 111 Installed Officers — J. V. A. Coon D. D. G. M. Was Presiding Officer at the Ceremony—The List of Officers

The joint installation of officers of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, and Peterborough Lodge No. 111, was held last evening in the lodge rooms. The members turned out splendidly and the time from about eight o'clock till 10.30 was taken up with the installation ceremonies for the new year.

After this was over all present partook of a bounteous spread provided by Thos. Hooper and Co. Short congratulatory speeches were made by a couple of the members and a real good time enjoyed.

The officers were installed by J. V. A. Coon, D.D.G.M. of Havelock, 248, assisted by Bro. P. G. Geo. McDonald, Bro. Wm. Hill, Bro. Wm. Freeburn, Bro. Wm. Sevigny, Bro. H. B. Watts and Bro. T. H. Sills. The following are the members who will hold office in the Otonabee Lodge for the coming year:

J.P.G.—Bro. C. Gould.
Noble Grand—John Louderville.
V.G.—W. T. Robinson, P.G.
Fin.-Sec.—J. T. C. Lang.
Treas.—R. J. Matchett.
Warden—C. F. Reed.
Con.—R. J. Craig.
O.G.—D. Anderson.
I.G.—C. C. Mowry.
R.S.N.G.—J. E. Emmerson.
L.S.N.G.—Geo F. Cairns.
R.S.V.G.—Peter Christie.
L.S.V.G.—M. P. Allen
R.S.S.—S. W. Rush
L.S.S.—H. Barrett.
Chap.—D. H. Downie.
Members Com.—Bros. G. F. Cairns, P.G.; F. Wise, P.G.; T. H. Sells, P.G.; D. H. Downie, P.G.; C. Gould, P.G.

The following are the officers of Peterborough Lodge No. 111, installed last evening;

N. G.—W. McLaren.
V. G.—J. Goodfellow.
Chaplain—G. McDonald, P.G.
Warden—F. Haskill.
R.S.N.G.—W. Freeburn, P.G.
L.S.N.G.—B. Morrow, P.G.
L.S.S.—J. Vallary.
R.S.S.—R. Jones.
L.S.V.A.—R. Jamieson.
R.S.V.G.—B. Targett.
I.G.—W. Hooper.
O.G.—W. Tougas.
Fin. Com.—Bro. Hill, D. Morrow, W. Savanagh.
Visiting Com.—J Goodfellow, F. Merritt, D Morrow, H. Campbell.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Miss Gladys Maynard, of Campbellford is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick

Mr. Fred. Sedgwick, superintendent of the Prudential Insurance Co., is in Havelock to-day on business.

Miss Edith Williams, Boswell Avenue, returned yesterday after a week's visit with friends in Detroit.

Mr. P. G. Lynch, division superintendent of the Grand Trunk, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Reesor and Miss Esson, of Toronto, were the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Sedgwick, "Maple Villa," Mark street, East City.

Miss Anna M Dodd, of Newark, N. J., is spending the winter with her brother, Mr. W. S. Dodd, 679 George street

Mrs. R. E. Harrison, of Lamont, Alta., is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harding, 315 Bethune street.

Mr C. F. Colwell, chief clerk of Routine and Records, House of Commons, Ottawa, and Mrs. Colwell, are in the city the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Fleming, 539 Gilmour street.

Mrs. John E. Patte, formerly Miss Ellen Ray, will receive for the first time since her marriage, at her mother's residence, 699 Water street, on Tuesday afternoon, January 10th

Mr. Bruce Scott, operator at the C. P.R. station, resumed duty last evening, after a three weeks' vacation. Mr. Walsh, who was relieving during Mr. Scott's absence, has been transferred to Don Station, Toronto.

Diphtheria is epidemic at Salmon Arm, B. C.

The Quebec Legislature will open January 10.

The payroll of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., for November was $207,000.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

TO-MORROW

Matinee and Evening

Chas. A. Sellon's English Pantomime Trick Spectacle, The Merry Musical Extravaganza

THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE

19 Song Hits

20 Gorgeous Scenes

40 People with HARRY B. WATSON and the Boylans

Different from other Musical Comedies

Prices— MATINEE, 25c, 50c, and 75c; Children when accompanied by an adult 25c any seat

EVENING—50c, 75c, $1.00, and $1.50; Gallery 25c

SEATS NOW ON SALE.

The English Beauty Choristers with the English Pantomime Trick Spectacle, the Merry Musical Extravaganza, "The Cat and the Fiddle." "Grand" Opera House Matinee and Night, Saturday, January 7th. Seat Now on Sale.

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $660,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY

MERSON & CO.

Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

SPORTING NEWS

SMALL CROWD SAW FIRST GAME IN BANK LEAGUE

Montreals Won From Dominion—Ottawa Seven Score 4 1

Easily the most notable and long-to-be-remembered happening in this promising young year of 1911 was the opening game in the Bank Hockey League at Brock street rink yesterday afternoon in the sixty minutes between five and six o'clock.

The aggregation from the Montreal Bank took the large side of the 4—1 score, and in the years to come may proudly point to their numerous battle marks received in the terrible struggle.

There were several hockey players on the ice, too, also a number of trick acrobats, wood workers, etc., and delightful demonstrations were given throughout the progress of the program. Particularly interesting and touching was the work of one, Milne by name, who was very aggressive for the losers, the Dominion-Ottawa collection. What he don't know about the uses to which wood can be put isn't worth bothering about. He is a very slashing youth, and should fill any position, save that on a hockey team, very acceptably.

Ross, not Art Ross, but another victim of misdirected zeal, was also on the losing seven and handed them out as freely as he received, which was very freely indeed. Some of the warriors wore armor, while others, with boastful bravado, spurned the use of such adornments, and so suffered accordingly.

P.C. Meharry watched the proceedings, but no action was taken by him.

"Bud" Kelly was hanging around and promises to pull over some new tricks Monday night at Cobourg.

The attendance was small.

Here they are—

Montreal. Dominion-Ottawa —Goal—
Sawers Sheffield
—Point—
Radcliffe Quinlan
—Cover Point—
Perks Milne
—Centre—
Fitzgerald Ross
—Right Wing—
Bourque Corkery
—Left Wing—
Elliott Thompson

JUNIORS TO-NIGHT

Grillers Meet Lindsay in Opening O.H.A. Fixture —Good Ice

With a splendid sheet of ice at Brock street rink, local fans should be treated to a fast game of hockey to-night when the Grillers meet Lindsay Midgets for the opening O.H.A. contest.

The performance of Billy Breen's youngsters at Cobourg on Monday should be a sufficient guarantee that the home talent can deliver the goods.

Lindsay has a promising bunch of juniors, and one hour of interesting hockey will no doubt be on the program.

The contest starts at eight o'clock, and the locals will lineup as follows—

Patterson
Reynolds
Hefferman
Coughlin
Sexel Hall Matthews

PUCKLAND

In conversation with the manager of the Peterborough Grillers as to how the name originated, he stated that on hard ice they were faster than any other team in the O.H.A., and when he witnessed them playing at Cobourg on the soft ice, and saw them grill through the slush he was satisfied they could swim further, dive deeper, and come up dryer than all others. Therefore, they were christened Grillers.

Fifteen players have been registered with the O.H.A. by the Lindsay club.

Cleveland Plain-Dealer:—Speaking about Cornell's offence, the point and cover point seldom played in a direct line with the goaltender and within a few paces of that gentleman. Again, when the puck caromed over and behind Case's screen panel, Capt. Magner poached a position in front of the network and awaited a pass from a confederate which he might lengthen into a double pass and use the same to make a score.

All Saints' and the Tool Room Seven of the C.G.E. practiced together at the rink last night.

Woodstock has a junior team, not one player of which ever played O.H.A. before.

There will be no excursion to Cobourg Monday night.

The Lindsay club is running an excursion here to-night. The train leaves at seven o'clock.

Port Hope prob. beat Belleville on their own ice last night 7—3. Doherty made his first appearance with Belleville.

Hugh Burritt was inclined to be naughty in the Simcoe A-T.C.C. junior game, which was won by the former 11—6. The referee ruled Ken. Crane off in mistake.

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

The Y.M.C.A. Snowshoe Club met last night and had a most enjoyable tramp, the tramping being fairly good and on returning a light lunch was enjoyed. The next tramp is down for Tuesday night leaving the building at 8 o'clock. A hearty welcome is extended to all who are interested in this healthful exercise.

The captains of the intermediate basketball league met last night and re-arranged the schedule which is as follows;

Jan. 12—Maple Leafs vs. Pirates. Saw Bones vs. Rowdies.

Jan. 17.—Burglars vs. Rowdies. Maple Leafs vs. Saw Bones.

Jan. 26.—Shamrocks vs. Pirates. Maple Leafs vs. Rowdies.

Feb 2.—Burglars vs. Shamrocks.

The teams who fail to put in an pearance will lost above games by default.

Junior gymnasium class and basketball Saturday morning at 9.30. Captains of the junior are requested to get their teams out for the basketball games so that the games may be played off promptly.

Junior "Gym" class will journey out to the toboggan slide Saturday afternoon for a bug time. Be sure and get in line.

CURLING

Rinks and scores at the scheduled games at the curling rink last night were;

F. Cressman	J. Metheral
J. W. Kelly	H. Martin
Ray Best	W. T. Hall
T. B. Yeates	W. H. Taylor
Skip—9	Skip—11

A. Webb	R. P. Gellop
W. P. Adamson	W. J. Oke
R. W. Merritt	G. L. Bowes
R. Neil	W. G. Head
Skip—20	Skip—3

D. H. Moore	H. McCannan
W. C. Austin	H. Taylor
G. Maitland	H. Rose
J. Montgomery	R. Pinchin
Skip—7	Skip—14

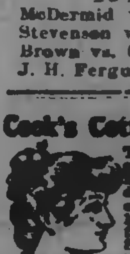
H. C. Hill	W. S. Trew
W. D. Minicolo	F. Hughes
D. Eason	J. Wolstenholm
G. H. Giroux	A. Moore
Skip—3	Skip—13

LOCAL RINK WON.

A rink from Keene came up last evening, played a local rink, were beaten and returned home on the nine o'clock train. These Keene players are some sports.

TO-NIGHT'S DRAW.

McDermid vs. Sturgeon.
Stevenson vs. Matthews.
Brown vs. Connal.
J. H. Ferguson vs. W. G. Ferguson.



Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co. Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

PETERBOROUGH'S TAX RATE AWAY BELOW THE AVERAGE

Municipal Taxes per Head Second to Lowest in Ontario, and General Rate is Much Below the Average—School Rate is Higher in Proportion Than Municipal

The following interesting article on Municipal Taxation is published in the Financial Post:—

For general municipal purposes, which means all purposes exclusive of schools, the 18 cities under review levied taxes in 1909 amounting to $7,607,264. Based on 1910 population and assessment, this sum represent an average per capita of $10.47, and a tax rate of 1.67 per cent., or 16.7 mills, equivalent to $16.70 per $1,000 of assessed value for taxation. Assuming, for the moment that the prevailing custom of exempting certain classes of property from taxation did not exist the average rate would be 1.42 per cent. or 14.2 mills, equivalent to $14.20 per $1,000 of gross assessed value instead of $16.20. The difference $2.50 per $1,000, represents the extra burden that tax-paying property must bear in addition to its own, in order that governmental property,—municipal, provincial, and national,—may escape, and institutions—religious, philanthropic and educational—go free.

The average rate per capita, as stated, is not exorbitant compared with figures elsewhere, and is more less favorable in comparison with some of the newer sections of Canada. The actual per capita for each city, however, as shown by the following table, reveals most striking variations in the distribution of the average.

Table showing the municipal taxes of the cities of Ontario for 1909, arranged in consecutive order from lowest tax per capita upward:

	Municipal taxes.	Tax per head of popu.
Guelph	$40,156	$2.71
Peterborough	106,102	6.23
Woodstock	63,059	6.82
Kingston	150,241	7.82
St. Thomas	115,749	7.85
Hamilton	622,036	8.85
Stratford	131,766	8.91
Belleville	90,363	9.02
London	470,744	9.51
Brantford	208,525	10.06
Niagara Falls	84,681	10.32
Ottawa	881,896	10.62
St. Catharines	131,047	10.64
Windsor	174,398	10.80
Toronto	3,837,187	11.18
Port Arthur	146,404	11.39
Fort William	20,5875	11.43
Chatham	144,065	13.96
	$7,607,085	$10.47

Guelph, at the head of the list with $2.71 per capita, or a rate of .635 of 1 per cent., is but 25.8 per cent. of the average, 19.4 per cent. of the highest, and 43.5 per cent. of the next lowest city. Such a rate would be nothing short of remarkable, if normal. It is well known, however, that exceptional conditions obtain in Guelph, but the public will scarcely be prepared to believe, without more detailed information and confirmation, that that city, however well managed, and whatever advantages it may possess over other cities, has succeeded in establishing a regular rate of taxation which, so far as the writer is informed, is unrivalled in Canada or elsewhere. The Post has made an exhaustive enquiry into the various circumstances surrounding Guelph's administration and enterprises, and will publish its conclusions in an early issue.

PER CAPITA TAX.

One half of the cities have a per capita rate exceeding $10, and seven of these are in excess of the average, ranging from $10.62 to $13.96. No harm can, and much good may be accomplished by these comparisons, and in the case of Chatham, the figure is so notably out of alignment that perhaps the citizens might do well to seek out the reason why.

SCHOOL TAXES.

For school purposes, the aggregate tax levied in 1909 amounted to $2,927,921, averaging $4.03 per head of population, or an approximate rate of .615 of 1 per cent., equal to 6.45 mills. The table following will show in what manner the average is distributed amongst the cities—

Table showing the school taxes of cities of Ontario for 1909, arranged in consecutive order from lowest tax per capita upward—

	School taxes.	Tax per head of popu.
Kingston	$43,187	$2.25
St. Catharines	34,131	2.77
Stratford	41,492	2.81
Belleville	30,315	3.03
Woodstock	28,037	3.03
St Thomas	49,384	3.35
Brantford	69,948	3.35
Hamilton	238,985	3.40
Guelph	51,402	3.46
Chatham	40,012	3.87
Fort William	71,978	3.99
Toronto	1,333,569	4.10
Niagara Falls	34,873	4.25
Windsor	69,144	4.28
London	213,362	4.31
Peterborough	76,805	5.54
Ottawa	434,349	5.21
Port Arthur	67,558	5.25
	$10,535,185	$14.50

Combining the two taxes, municipal and school, it is found that the average rate per capita is $14.50, and 2.325 per cent. on the assessment for taxation. This equals an average total rate of 23 1-4 mills or $23.25 per $1,000 valuation. The position of the several cities is shown in the table which follows—

Table showing the total taxes (municipal and school) of the cities of Ontario for 1909, arranged in consecutive order from lowest tax per capita upward—

	Municipal and School taxes.	Total per capita.
Guelph	$91,558	$6.17
Woodstock	91,096	9.85
Kingston	193,428	10.07
Peterborough	182,907	10.77
St. Thomas	165,133	11.17
Stratford	173,258	11.72
Belleville	120,678	12.05
Hamilton	861,021	12.25
Brantford	277,873	13.41
St. Catharines	165,148	13.41
London	684,106	13.82
Niagara Falls	119,554	14.57
Windsor	243,542	15.08
Toronto	5,170,746	15.28
Fort William	277,853	15.42
Ottawa	1,319,245	15.83
Port Arthur	213,962	16.63
Chatham	184,077	17.83
	$10,535,185	$14.50

Guelph, with the lowest assessment per capita of all the cities, still holds first place, by a heavy margin, and Chatham retains the same place as in the first table, though the excess figure over the next highest rate per capita, is considerably reduced. Of the four largest cities, Ottawa shows the heaviest total tax, being 55 cents per head higher than Toronto with $15.28. Hamilton and London are both below the average, with $12.25 and $13.82 respectively. The Lake Superior cities are both high, though Port Arthur, with $16.63 is $1.21 per capita higher than Fort William.

LOW TAX NOT ALWAYS GOOD SIGN.

It should not be assumed, however, that a low tax per capita proves, of itself, that a city is well administered. It may, to an extent, be proof that it is behind the times. Public improvements cost money and no credit is due to any municipality which secures a low rate of taxation by avoiding such expenditures as are necessary for the health, comfort and convenience of its citizens.

TAX SHOULD BE ALLOCATED

Most satisfactory analytical results would be possible if the municipal tax was sub-divided, instead of being shown as in a lump sum. The capital tax, or the amount required for the payment of interest on bonds and the maintenance of sinking funds, should be distinct from the general administrative tax. The levy for public improvements other than on capital account should also be separately shown, thus enabling a fairly accurate measure to be taken of the spirit of progressiveness, and of the tendency of the administration towards extravagance or economy.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork Sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd

HUNTING

The January number of Rod and Gun has the following:

The Green Island Hunt Club, Peterborough, Ontario, had a party last season including the following members; Messrs. R. Neill, E. F. Mason, Felix Brownscomb, W. J. Coleman, E. Gregory, Lindsay; Charles Tanner, Lakefield, Rev. Irwin, Newcastle, and J. Shannon, Toronto. The hunting camp was on Lake Mimesangaimesing, forty miles north of Wallbridge on the Canadian Northern. While each man obtained his deer, Mr. Brownscomb was particularly fortunate in securing a fine buck weighing 254 pounds. The animal was shot in the water, the second proving fatal.

RUGBY

The Toronto News calls Ben Simpson for the office of vice-president of the Interprovincial Rugby Union, which meets at Ottawa to-morrow. The News adds—Simpson's acceptancy of an office means that he has finally disconnected himself with the playing end of the game.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Join the Y.W.C.A. A one dollar membership ticket gives you the privilege of joining the following classes; Literature, home nursing, public school work, cookery, gymnasium and drawing. Phone or call at the Y. W. C.A for definite information regarding the class hours.

The junior gymnasium class opens to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. New members welcomed.

Body Found in Brook.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 6.—Word was received here last night that the body of Charles Collins of Erin street, this city, was found in a brook near Hampton, about 20 miles from here, last night. Collins, who was about 25 years of age, left his home here early yesterday morning and his brothers were much startled when they heard of his tragic end. The Hampton authorities think it is a case of suicide.

The Gas Gave Out.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 6.—In many homes here cold meals were served yesterday because of a partial failure of the natural gas pressure. With the weather below zero and many houses equipped only with gas heating arrangements, there is much suffering.

CHAS. B. PARCELS MISSING: LEFT HIS HOME WITH $150

Mr. Chas B. Parcels, who resides about eight miles north of Havelock, left his home on Dec. 7th, to visit his sister, Mrs. John Swain, of Lindsay, and no trace of him has been ascertained since.

When he left home he took about $150 with him and expected to be away about three weeks. Not returning home when expected, Mrs. Parcels became alarmed and instituted inquiries about him and discovered that with the exception of his registering at the Munro House, Peterborough, on the evening of the 7th ult., all trace of him has been lost.

Mr. Parcels is about 50 years of age, is about six feet in height and weighs about 155 pounds. He is dark complexioned, very bald, and wore a long grey beard when he left home. He was dressed in a black suit with brown corduroy vest, wore a coonskin overcoat with a high crowned black cap. His wife and family fear that he has met with foul play and of course are extremely anxious to obtain some tidings of him. There is no reason why he should disappear, as his home life was perfectly happy, and he is the owner of a first class farm.

His mysterious disappearance has caused great alarm to his family and friends and detective agencies will be appealed to this week in an endeavor to throw some light on the case.—Havelock Standard.

A PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATION

The merchants of a certain town in the United States decided that it would be a good idea to give the people of their community a practical demonstration of how the mail order business will finally affect local conditions. They were perfectly sure that they were giving better value for the money of the residents of town than could be obtained from the Chicago catalogue houses, particularly when the cost of freight and postage was included in the cost; but the number of express parcels constantly arriving proved that the mail order houses were getting considerable business from people who would not take the trouble to thoroughly investigate the matter.

They took steps to learn the names of the patrons of the catalogue houses and planned accordingly. Mrs. Blank, who had purchased a sewing machine from one of the mail order firms, had a daughter about to be married. As her husband was a little short of ready cash, she went to one of the local stores to purchase linen and other goods for her daughter's trousseau, expecting to obtain the usual credit. The dealer politely declined to part with the goods except for spot cash, stating that E. & Co., from whom she had purchased her machine, would undoubtedly be glad to extend the desired credit. She tried another store and was met with the same polite suggestion.

Mrs. Dash, the farmer's wife, drove in with butter and eggs. The grocer admitted that the butter was fine and the eggs fresh, but stated that he did not require any; that probably M. & Co., of Chicago, would be delighted to send her another box full of groceries in exchange for her produce. The other grocers had exactly the same story to tell.

When Farmer Dash brought in a load of oats he was offered five cents less than the market price. He protested, but was informed that B. & Co., of Chicago, from whom he bought his harness and blankets, might be willing to take his oats, and did not take home some clothing, wire fencing and nails that he required.

It was not very long before people found how much depended upon the business men of the town, and how every individual suffered when anything was done to injure local enterprise. It is unnecessary to state that the express parcels arriving at that station have appreciably diminished.

If the mail order houses really gave better value than the local merchants, a man might claim he was entitled to buy in the cheapest and sell in the dearest market, but experience has demonstrated over and over again that such is not the case. If you buy in small quantities and expect credit from our local merchants, do you expect to get the same prices that you would by buying in large quantities, cash in advance from some city firm?

Give our Peterborough merchants a chance to figure on your requirements on the same basis and see if you cannot do as well here. In one case you will find that you buy from a picture and pay in advance, and then wait a week for your prize package. In the other case, you buy from the people you know; you see the goods before you accept them and before you pay one cent. In one case you hurt Peterborough, and in the other you help Peterborough, its schools, its churches, and its institutions. Give the matter a little thought.

POLICE COURT

A case of family joys and disappointments was heard at the police court yesterday.

His Worship decided on an enlargement for a week.

A man arrested here on the advice of the Hamilton police, was taken to that place to-day by an officer. He is charged with non-support.

—a relish for luncheon
—an appetizer for dinner
—good with meals
—good between meals
—good for everybody

O'Keefe's Pilsener Lager 114

"The Light Beer in the Light Bottle"

Home Rule

FOR THE WORKING MAN

We have for quick sale—TWENTY LOTS in the south end, within 15 minutes walk of the factories; size 30x190. Price $100 each. Terms—$10 down, balance $5 monthly. No taxes or interest until paid for. Free deed, good title.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.

136 Hunter Street. Open Evenings

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

SKATES

STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS

Skates Sharpened and Repaired

MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1266

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE.
Agent and Asst Sec.
Phone 1320 76 George St

"THE SWEETEST OF ALL THE CHARITIES."

Will You Help It In Its Hour of Need....?

THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN

COLLEGE STREET, TORONTO

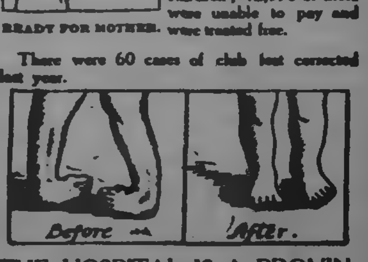
READY FOR MOTHER.

Appeals to Fathers and Mothers of Ontario on behalf of suffering children.

This Institution did more work in 1910 than ever before. Total In-Patients 1,224. Of these, 783 were from the city and 441 from the country.

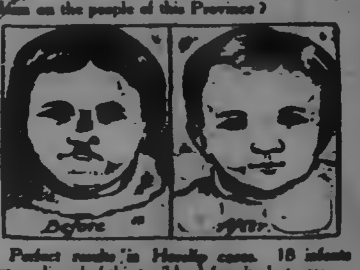
Since its organization, the Hospital has treated in its cots and beds 16,837 children; 12,370 of these were unable to pay and were treated free.

There were 60 cases of club feet corrected last year.



THE HOSPITAL IS A PROVINCIAL CHARITY.

The sick child from the most remote corner of Ontario has the same claim as the child living within sight of the great House of Mercy in College Street, Toronto. Our cause is the children's cause. Could there be one that has a stronger claim on the people of this Province?



Perfect results in Harelip cases. 18 infants were relieved of this terrible deformity last year.

If the Hospital is to continue its great work, it must appeal to your pocketbook as well as to your heart. Let your Dollars be messages of mercy to the suffering little children of Ontario.

Please send your contribution to J. Ross Robertson, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer, The Hospital for Sick Children, College St., Toronto.

FOR SALE

Iron Pipes for water and steam, Posts, Belting Pulleys, Shafting, Chains, Iron and Wood Pulleys, Steel Beams, Rails, Wire Fencing new and slightly used. Very cheap. Send for Catalogue, and state what you need.

The Imperial Waste & Metal Co.
7 Queen Street - MONTREAL

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paper Hangers, Gilders, Glass Embossers and General House and Church Decorators

All work guaranteed and executed with despatch. Our charges are moderate and we only use the best materials.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Address 762 Water St. Phone 1140.

QUEEN MOTHER THANKS GALICIAN

Winnipeg, Jan. 4.—A proud little girl is Christina Medvig, a Galician pupil of the Jarema school, north-east of Saltcoats, for while yet young in years her efforts have received recognition from no less a person than the Queen Mother Alexandra. The work for which she received recognition from that illustrious personage is a drawing of the Queen Mother laboriously done with pencil and colored with crayons. The likeness is good, but the picture is unique, inasmuch as the little artist instead of investing her royal subject with the robes of state, has clothed her in the national costume of Galicia.

The circumstances which led to the royal patronage being conferred upon the little girl are these:—Augus H. Ball, inspector of schools, while visiting the Jarema school, an institution attended only by Ruthenian pupils and taught by F. Leslie Nailey, came across the painting in the exercise book of the little girl. He was struck with the unique nature of the drawing and took the scribbler away with him. He later sent the book to the Hon. Sidney Greville, together with a letter descriptive of the work being done toward the educating fo the Ruthenians, and received the following letter in reply:—

"Buckingham Palace,
31st Oct., 1910.

"Dear Sir,—I have had the honor of submitting your letter and the drawings of the little Galician girl to Queen Alexandra. I am desired by Her Majesty to thank you for sending it and to say how pleased she is with the kind thought of the little girl in sketching her portrait. Would you kindly express to her Queen Alexandra's thanks, and also her wish that she should continue to work in the way that she has already begun.

"I am, sir, faithfully yours,
"(Signed) SIDNEY GREVILLE."

Mr. A. H. Ball, who is mentioned in the above despatch, is married to Miss Emily Dixon, a former Peterborough young lady.

STOPS PAIN OF BURNS AND CUTS

Really Wonderful How Zam-Buk Gives Ease

This is the verdict of all who have tried Zam-Buk. The woman in the home knows best its value. A burn from the stove, from a flat iron, or a hot pan, is instantly soothed by Zam-Buk. When the little ones fall and cut or scratch themselves, Zam-Buk stops the pain and, incidentally, their crying. The best proof of this is the fact that children who have once had Zam-Buk applied come for it again.

For more serious burns, too, it is unequalled. Mr. John Johnston of 7344 South Marks Street, Fort William, a moulder in Copp's Foundry, says: "Some time ago I burned the top of my foot severely by dropping some molten iron from a ladle I was carrying. A large hole was burned through my shoe and into the top of my foot. I was taken home and Zam-Buk was applied to the burn directly. It was surprising what relief this balm afforded. The burn was so deep and so serious that it required careful attention, but Zam-Buk prevented other complications arising and as it was daily applied, soothed the pains and allayed the inflammation. In the course of two weeks the hole burned in my foot had been well healed."

Mr. W. B. Gibson, of Belleville, wrties: "We have tried Zam-Buk often on cuts and sores, and I think there is nothing that can equal it."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

St. Luke's Christmas Tree

The annual Christmas tree and concert will be held to-night at St. Luke's church at 8 o'clock. There will be a silver collection.

Irving H. Taylor, aged 30, of Windsor, manager of Stearns & Co., druggists, and a prominent Mason, is dead.

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

MEETING OF LIBRARY BOARD

The Public Library Board met last night with the president, E. H. D. Hall, in the chair.

The following communications were read:

Geo. Peters offered his services to the board for two or three hours a day, if needed.

The manager of the Bank of Toronto notified the chairman that the balance in the bank to the credit of the board on the 31st of December last was $337.40.

Mrs. Morris, on behalf of the Women's Art Association, asked for the use of a room on the evening of Jan. 24th, and also for the use of rooms for a week each year to hold an art exhibit.

The use of the room was granted and the question of granting the use of rooms for the annual exhibit will be taken up at the next meeting of the board.

The following accounts were presented:

F. M. Dela Fosse	$ 3.10
Davis-Thompson Co.	5.00
R. Hicks and Co.	16.06
R. Hicks and Co.	13.04
Toronto World	6.00
Bennett and Goodwill	37.50
Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company	.80
John Matheson	4.68
Ontario Coal Co.	1.60
Water Commission	5.00
R. J. Seden	1.50
Times Printing Co.	6.10
Grumiaux News and Pub Co.	44.60
Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co.	.80

These accounts will be paid for the amounts presented.

The next meeting of the board will be held on January 19th.

SUPPLEMENTARY MEETINGS OF FARMERS INSTITUTE

First One Held Yesterday at Stewart's Hall Otonabee—Valuable Addresses Were Given by Able and Interesting Speakers.

The first of the supplementary meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute which commenced in Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, yesterday afternoon, was a very profitable one. On account of the blustery, cold condition of the weather the meeting was not largely attended, but a great deal of valuable information was imparted to those who were present. Mr. J. H. Garbutt, President of the Society, was in the chair and voiced the regret of all, at the absence of Mr. Stewart, past president, on account of illness. After a few other remarks, he introduced the first speaker, Mr. J. W. Clarke, of Cainsville, Ont., who gave an interesting talk on seed selection as follows:

"I am sorry to see that the weather has turned out so unfavorably to stop the people from coming, but as it often is 'the smaller the audience the more profitable the meetings.' Now, I am to speak to you on seed selections. What I want to speak chiefly on is the selection of the seed itself. I can speak from experience. Some farmers have not given it a thought that they should sow the very best seed they have. They feed some of the best seed and when sowing comes they take just what they have left. There is some fields that bear better seed than others and if the seed from these fields was taken and put in bins by itself, it would be better. The average farmer does not have time to make much selections, but it would not take long to do it. Take a kernel of wheat, place it in the soil, it germinates and grows, but what does it live on, until it grows? Why on the body surrounding the kernel so that is the point I want to impress upon you, the importance of having a large kernel. A small kernel cannot produce as large and healthy a plant as a large seed will produce.

A seed cannot take nourishment from the soil until the small roots sprout and the soil has much to do with it. A large rough soil is not good as the small thin hair roots cannot take nourishment from it. That is where the liquid manure should be used. How can a farmer select his seed without taking too much time? He must use mechanical selection. Put screens in your fanning mill and run your seed through several times and it will amply repay you for your time."

Supplementary Meetings. Take 2

CHESS

"Then there is Chess in seed. Some men say that chess come from poor wheat. But I think that chess has a seed of its own. I proved this when I was a boy. I got a screen for the fanning mill that would take out Chess, and after using it for a while we had wheat entirely free from Chess. Take mangles, turnips and other seeds, they have been improved but we want to improve all our seeds. Take a mangle or turnip for instance. There are men who grow these for the seed and for the money the make from the sale of the seed and they exercise no care in the cleaning of the seed."

POTATOES

There has been a great improvement in the quality of potatoes. Not only an improvement in the quality, but a greater yield. Take a potato with a smoothed skin, shallow eyes and not many eyes — that is a good potato. Now we can overcome the thick rough skinned potato. We can get potatoes with full eyes, this can be done by selecting. There is no excuse for people growing a great amount of little potatoes. It can be done by selecting. A great many farmers plant small potatoes. Don't plant a great big potato, but plant a medium sized potato and cut them. If you get a potato that is hard and cts woody, it is not much good, as there is no starch in them. Grow potatoes on clover sod plowed down.

TOMATOES

"There has been a great improvement in the selection of the tomatoes also. Some tomatoes get ripe on one side and not on the other. Select a smooth early tomato from your seed and you will find what we improvement will be made in your production. Take the best seed and the product will be of the best. There is a difference in the individual tomatoes."

SMUT IN WHEAT AND OATS

Smut in wheat can be overcome by treating the seed as before stated. Clean it and select it, and the smut will dissapear. Pile up oats and sprinkle them with formalin in water and the next day, sow them and it will be a great help to destroy the smut. Now I thank you for the interest you have taken, and I hope you will profit by it."

The next speaker was Mr. Smith, on "The Feeding of Horses" 'I think we had better put it, the 'Feed and Feeding of Horses,'" said the speaker. "There is the danger of feeding too much and not enough. Successful horse feeding cannot be learned from speeches like this, nor from books, but must be born in a horseman to a certain extent. One point is the feeding of horses on time. This comes in with Sunday as other days, and they should be fed regularly and at the same time every day. If you feed late in the morning on Sunday, cut out the noon meal. If the horse is not working do not feed so heavily. Let us take the horse as a colt. Take it when it is born. One of the hardest things is to raise a colt as it should be. A colt's bowels are not moving as they should, a gentle purgative of castor oil is good. Feed the mare a bran mash is she has not a good flow of milk. A foal you are trying to push along for exhibition purposes, should have a feed corner in your field. Don't let the mare in to it or she will probably rob the foal of what it should get.

When weaning a foal it is better to feed a little grain before weaning, because the foal does not know what the grain is for at first. Give it exercise. Let it outraise it a little hardier than the most of us do. Do not let it get wet, nor leave it out when it is too cold, but use judgment. Don't overfeed a colt. Many think that a colt is a finished product at two years, but it is not a horse until it is three years of age. Do not feed milk, as it is a 'wind sucker' producer. Cleanliness is also an essential. Clean all old feed and dirt out of the manger before feeding. About an hour after feeding go and clean out all feed left, and if there is much left do not feed so much again."

FEED SALT.

"You should feed more salt. It is a stock food second to none on the market to-day. Do not have salt where the horse can get at it all the time, but give a handful every night. Rock salt will produce 'cribbers,' so that it should not be used. Salt will take the place of salts and it should be mixed with the food. Do not make a quick change in the food of a horse. Bran is alright, of course you can do without it, but it is good. Dampen the bran. The horse should be watered regularly, but do not give it water when it is overheated. Do not feed much hay at noon, but feed lots of hay at night. Do not cram the manger, but use judgment. Turnips are good feed for horses that are not working. Feed the turnips with cut hay and turnips mixed, also with a little bran."

"Blindness is sometimes due to keeping the horses in dark stables. Sometimes poorly ventilated stables and distemper will affect the sight. Cobwebs and dirt should also be swept out of the stables, as they hold the disease if the horse has ever had any. A small handful of salt every day is a good medium."

Mr Ellis of "Farm and Dairy," then said a few words about horses. The following are a few of his more important remarks. "Feet are another thing to be looked after in a horse. Heavy shoes on light horses are a detriment and I would advise looking properly into the case of the feet."

This brought the afternoon session to a close. It was decided that owing to the blocked conditions of the roads, and the bad weather, the evening meeting should be concelled, so this was accordingly done, and the representation which went from this city, consisting of Messrs. Collins, Garbutt, R. H. Leary, Smith and Clark, also representatives from the press and "Farm and Dairy," set out for the city, arriving here about six o'clock. The roads are in a terrible condition. The snow is drifted as high as the fences and the wayfarers have to make roads through the fields in several places.

EAST CITY

COAL

And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

STILL IN MINE.

Workmen at Sydney Have Not Found Bodies of Deputies.

Sydney Mines, N.S., Jan. 5.—There is mourning and sorrow here over the loss of eight brave men in the explosion in No. 3 mine of the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. The rescuing party is working its way into No. 13 landing, where it is supposed the deputies, Ferguson and Purchass, started on their morning examination. Big falls of stone have interrupted the progress of the search party, in fact No. 14 landing is completely closed, and the work of removing the debris is puzzling the officials. Accompanied by Superintendent Brown, Thomas Cantley, vice-president of the company, visited the scene of the disaster. "This is one of our unlucky moments," he said, "but we are not discouraged by this calamity. Our workmen have stood together manfully and fought the battle against great odds. To those friends bereaved of husband or brother I will say that the company will meet their demands cheerfully."

In a drizzling rain scores of men and women are standing around the pit head waiting every moment to hear the news of the recovery of the bodies of Ferguson and Purchass. Mrs. Ferguson, with her six children, met the writer, and in a flood of tears expressed her anguish and hope for the delivery of her husband. A small boy clung to her clothing and asked "When will papa be home?"

All day scores of men were trying to remove the walls of stone. Manager Hill, who is in charge of No. 3 colliery, cannot account for the explosion.

W. R. Travers at Liberty.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Wm. R. Travers, vice-president and general manager of the Farmers' Bank is once more at liberty. He was admitted to bail by Magistrate Peter Ellis at the jail at 8 o'clock last night, upon a further bond of $20,000, furnished by A. M. Orpen, who already stood as bondsman upon the earlier charge of making false returns to the Government. This places Mr. Orpen under bonds totaling $40,000 for Mr. Travers' appearance in the Police Court to-morrow morning, and effectually puts a stop to the rumor that Mr. Orpen was about to surrender Mr. Travers upon the original bond when the second charge, that of theft of $40,000, was laid.

The bail was that set by Crown Attorney Corley at Travers' arraignment upon the second charge, and was arranged by H. H. Dewart, K.C., counsel for Mr. Travers, who has spent four days in the cells of the Yonge street police station and the jail. It is understood that this will allow Mr. Travers his liberty until the case is opened up in court, until which time no further informations will be laid.

Will Deal Directly With Knox.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Wm. Paterson, who leave for Washington to-day to continue reciprocity negotiations, state that on this occasion they will deal directly with Secretary Knox, and, if occasion arises, President Taft will also join the conference. It was remarked when the conference was held in Ottawa some months ago that the United States did not send delegates of the same rank as the Canadian commissioners.

Two other Canadian Ministers, Sir Allan Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, and Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will also leave for Washington to-day to discuss the question of the fisheries on boundary waters, some phases of which were left to be mutually arranged by the two countries. With the Ministers will go their wives and daughters, who, with secretaries and chief officers of departments, will constitute a regular Canadian descent upon Washington.

Few Escaped.

Mexico City, Jan. 5.—Fire and panic which occurred while a New Year religious celebration was in progress in a church on a Hacienda, near San Luis Polosi, cost the lives of 17 and serious injury to more than 80, chiefly women and children. A candle fell from its socket and ignited a quantity of dry moss with which the building was decorated. Of those who escaped death by burning or suffocation many were killed or injured by being trampled in the frantic rush to escape through the narrow entrance. Few escaped.

Cardinal Must Pay Damages.

Paris, Jan. 5.—The Court of Appeals yesterday confirmed the decision of the civil tribunal at Rheims, which condemned Cardinal Ludovic Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims, to pay $100 damages to the Public School Teachers' Association.

The cardinal was convicted on Feb. 25, 1910, of attempting to injure the public schools by signing an episcopal letter forbidding the use in the schools of certain text books to which the church objected.

Canada Will Not Delay.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, stated yesterday that the Government will not delay in implementing its part of the treaty with the United States for the establishment of a commission to deal with and control international traffic matters. The treaty does not require to be ratified by the Canadian Parliament.

Examine Candidates For Marriage.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 6.—Among the many bills introduced in the Lower House of the Oklahoma Legislature Wednesday, was one providing for physical examination and medical certification of persons about to be married.

Clergyman Captained Winners.

Brockville, Jan. 6—A match between the members of the St. Lawrence Rifle Association at 200 yards, was won by the side captained by Rev. A. B. Johnston, with a margin of 56 points. The losing side were the hosts at an oyster supper.

Stanley C. Wallbridge, of Porcupine Ont., is believed to be an appendicitis victim in New York.

Crescent Brand Raisins
Crescent Brand Currents

One of the few Brands of perfectly Clean Fruits.

Cheapest Because Best

E. F. MASON, Grocer
429 George St. Telephone 78

GOOD-NIGHT

Walt. Mason.

A little work, a little sweating, a few brief, flying years; a little joy, a little fretting, some smiles and then some tears; a little resting in the shadow, a struggle to the height, a futile search for El Dorado, and then we say Good Night.

Some moiling in the strife and clamor, some years of doubt and debt, some words we spoke in foolish anger that we would fain forget, some cheery words we said unthinking; the banquet with its feast and drinking—then we say Good Night.

Some questioning of creeds and theories, and judgment of the dead, while God who never sleeps or wearies, in watching overhead, some little laughing and some sighing, some sorrow, some delight, a little music for the dying, and then we say Good Night.

Canadian Magazine

The Canadian Magazine for January contains a number of articles that well repay reading. "Ottawa the Unusual" is a new point of view of the Capital. It is written by Augustus Bridge, and the illustrations are from photographs reproduced in colors. "Home Rule or Rome Rule," by Patrick F. Cronin is an interesting summing up of a condition in Ireland that has caused an infinite amount of discussion. The third of George Fisher Chipman's articles on the organization of Western farmers appears in this number, and there is a splendid article on Belfast, the commercial capital of Ireland, by Alf. S. Moore. A hitherto unpublished poem by Goldwin Smith is a feature of the issue. Other contributions are "The Romance of Tobacco," by William Harrison, "An Ancient Indian Fort," by Edmund Morris, "The Nationalist Movement," by John Boyd, an article that every Canadian should read, "The Canadian Speech," by Miriam Williams Brown; "L. P. Brodeur" The Man Behind the Navy," by Fred. G. H. Williams, short stories by Christian Lys, G. H. Reade, W. Lacey Amy, and Agnes Faulkner Nelson with poems by Milda Ridley, Theodore Roberts Alan Sullivan Donald A. Fraser, L. M. Montgomery, and Inglis Morse.

AUCTIONEER

James E. Cope

Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING
INVITATIONS
MENUS
PROGRAMMES
ANNOUNCEMENTS
CALLING CARDS
And PERSONAL
STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co
PETERBOROUGH

THE GENUINE ALWAYS SUPERIOR TO THE IMITATION

The experienced buyer never permits the shrewd merchant to convince him that an imitation is superior to the genuine advertised article. In refusing a substitute he protects himself and the manufacturers who have expended enormous sums in giving the public information regarding their products.

Advertised articles have stood the test of public approval on their merits and materials embracing their make-up. The mere fact that they are imitated is competent testimony of their worth.

You are safe in rejecting the article offered as "just as good."

A Want Ad in The Daily Review

will find the right worker for that job. For the work-seekers who are versed and practised in "nowadays ways" of doing things are sure to turn FIRST to the offers of employment found in THE DAILY REVIEW, "which is why" an em employer is enabled to choose the BEST man or woman for the work to be done

"HOTEL LENOX" BUFFALO N. Y.

FIREPROOF THROUGHOUT

MODERN HIGHEST GRADE
UNEXCELLED SERVICE

Patrons may take Taxicabs or carriages from Depots or Steamboat Landings direct to hotel, charging same to THE LENOX.

EUROPEAN PLAN
$1.50 per day and up

Attractive Restaurant Prices.

When in Buffalo stop at THE LENOX. The accommodations and service are sure to please.

C. A. MINER, Mgr

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY, Limited

An Unprecedented Opportunity to Purchase

Ladies' and Childrens' Winter Overstockings

of Superior Quality on Friday and Saturday

at the Golden Lion

50 Dozen Ladies' and Children's extra heavy Worsted Ribbed Overstockings with cut heels that would be pronounced a bargain at 50c a pair. Your choice on

Friday and Saturday for 25c

We didn't like to do it, but the lot must be cleared out. You save 25c on every pair.

Robt. Fair & Co. Limited.

LOCAL EXHIBITS WERE WINNERS

Napanee Poultry Show Was Onanaza for Peterborough Poultry Ass'n.—Silver Medal for Four Best Birds

The members of the Peterboro Poultry Association who attended the meeting last-night heard some news which was decidedly interesting Mr. George Paxman wrote from Napanee, that the poultry show held in that place, commencing Tuesday, had made a clean sweep, capturing prizes galore. Seventy birds were taken from this city by Mr. Paxman.

Polands, Minorcas, Baird and White Rocks, Hamburgs, Wyandottes, Banties and Orpingtons were shown.

The local man took the $10 medal for the four best birds in the show These were four orpingtons, the judge valuing the rooster at $75 and awarding the medal, in a keen competition on the outstanding merits of this bird. Almost every bird exhibited won a prize and the majority were firsts.

After encountering several trying experiences, Mr. Paxman and other poultry men, who joinedhim at Belleville, arrived at Napanee, only to find the hall to be used for the show, in the hands of the election heroes, with the coops outside in the cold. The hall was cleared about ten o'clock, and by 1.30 Tuesday morning, all the birds were in their places.

Important business in connection with the show to be held at the market Hall, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, was transacted last-night. Everything points to a successful show. The number of entries will be larger than ever before, and what promises to be a big feature, will be the demonstration in killing, dressing, and carving of poultry, by Miss Yates, of Guelph.

BOARD OF EDUCATION ELECTS NEW CHAIRMAN

Mr. John Crane is the Choice—His Address to the Members—Standing Committees and Chairmen for 1911—Two Re-elections

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education, held last night, was attended by all the members for 1911. There were present Messrs. W. H. Hill, John Crane, Robert Fair, T. H. Adams, B. F. Ackerman, Vincent Eastwood, L. M. Hayes, K.C.; Col. Miller, Dr. Morrison and Dr. Burnham.

The business transacted was the election fo a chairman and the appointment of standing committees and a chairman of each.

These were as follows:—

John Crane, Chairman.

Finance—Messrs. Ackerman, chairman; Eastwood, Adams and Dr. Morrison.

Supervision—Messrs. Dr. Morrison, chairman; Hayes, Dr. Burnham and Hill.

Property—Messrs. Robert Fair, chairman, re-elected; Miller, Ackerman and Adams.

Appointments—The whole Board with Mr. W. H. Hill chairman, (re-elected.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen,—I thank you and appreciate most highly the honor you have conferred upon me by electing me to the position of chairman of this Board. I trust that I may preside over your deliberations with the same acceptance as has been the good fortune of my illustrious predecessors, and that the same kindly spirit may exist as has always been present at this Board.

I am of the opinion that my tenure of office will be one of pleasure when I see around the table men who have for years made school matters their special concern, and who are thoroughly in touch with what is required in educational matters.

I am glad to say that the Board should be congratulated upon the present teaching staff. You have asked much of the ratepayers in your efforts to build up a thoroughly effective staff, and they have yet to object to any reasonable request having for its purpose th ebetterment of educational advantages.

The Collegiate Institute and public school staffs are composed of well qualified ladies and gentlemen, a body of whom any constituency might well be proud. I am advised that the opening of the schools after the holidays, every teacher was in place, which speaks well for their fidelity to their positions.

I only hope that the Board will see to it that the staff is never allowed to become impaired in quality, for it is much more difficult to bring it back to its full efficiency once it is allowed to retrograde. At the present time with the Northwest making such demands upon our teachers, to keep our schools well equipped will entail n osmall amount to good judgment on the part of the Board.

I have had the honor of the position of chairman of the Supervision Committee for the past two years, and in this capacity have had an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the inner workings of the schools.

I would respectfully draw your attention to a few matters which might engage the attention of the Board to good purpose, and which must of this knowledge be in possession of members of the Board it will do no harm to recapitulate them here.

There are no modern conveniences at the East or West Ward schools. Most of your children have these privileges at home, and it appears to me that it is a hardship to deprive them of these comforts in the school where they spend the large portion of their young lives. Both of these schools are overcrowded and are unsuitable in every way to the purpose to which they are put. Ventilation and sanitation are diminished factors in education, this not appearing in the curriculum.

The Central school has no system of ventilation other than doors and windows.

The heating system at the old Collegiate is past all hope of repair. It is expensive in coal consumption, and the dust arising from it is a menace to the health of the children.

The platform erection around the Central school is past all repair, and is a fruitful source for accidents if not absolutely torn down and replaced with something substantial.

The accommodation of the King Edward, South Central, East City and West Ward schools is taxed beyond the ability to do really effective work The completion of the top floor of the King Edward school should be considered, as this would provide for that district for some time to come. The extending of boundaries, necessitating the children walking long distances, cannot be carried on with impunity The South Central school is fully taxed and no room is available there.

The attendance at the King Edward increased 40 and the East City 30 last term. This will serve to show the need of more accommodation to prevent the introduction of the half-day system, which is the only alternative.

A comprehensive scheme should be entered upon to obviate these difficulties, and I am safe in assuming that only the feeling that too many demands had already been made upon the people has postponed these matters being taken up by the Board ere this.

The question of medical supervision in some form should be taken up. I believe that the Board is a unit in the belief that there are a great number of children who are being denied the full advantages of education on account of physical defects, of which neither themselves or parents are cognizant of.

Whether the pupils of the South school should not have the advantage of the Household Science and Manual Training departments might well be considered

In the Institute the question of provision for a gymnasium must be considered by next September, if the school is to pass inspection the government having advised that if this is not done the Institute will be reduced in standing with its consequent reduction in grant

I trust that you will not consider it improper of me to bring these matters before you at this time, but I claim your indulgence, believing, as I do, that we are most anxious to extend the efficiency of our schools

JOHN CRANE, Chairman

Mr Vincent Eastwood, the new member of the 1911 Board, was welcomed by the chairman, and he expressed his pleasure at being honored by the ratepayers. His association with the Board in past years had been pleasant, and he hoped to be of service to the Board again during his term with them.

WAS PRESENTED WITH A RING

Mr. G. O. Cameron, of the Bell Telephone Co. at Port Hope, and who has been transferred to Peterborough, was presented with a signet ring by the members of the Young Men's Club of St. Mark's church.

SPECIAL FRESH PORK SAUSAGE

Try our special all pork sausage, on sale at our retail stores Saturday—only 20c per pound. Quantity limited phone your order early. The Geo. Matthews Company, Ltd

OBITUARY

MRS MARY KING.

The death occurred this morning at 1.30 o'clock of Mrs. Mary King, at the home of her daughter, Mrs Mc Grath, 191 Reid street. The late Mrs. King was born in County of Galway, Ireland, seventy-five years ago, and on coming to this country settled in Boston Mass. Five years ago she came to this city to reside.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at three o'clock from her late residence, proceeding to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

Boy Scouts

Every member of the Peewitt Boy Scouts is requested to be at the Armories Saturday night at 7.30 o'clock, when the subject of uniting the several scout organizations will be discussed by prominent men interested in the movement.

A Full English Company of 25-PLAYERS-25 Support

IAN ROBERTSON

(Forbes-Robertson's Brother)

in the World Famous Drama

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back"

Grand Opera House To-night

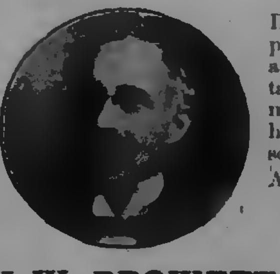
GOOD SEATS LEFT YET

Prices: 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50

Gallery 25c

Carload of Special Scenery

THANK YOU



The Optical Institute had a busy December. The week, before Xmas particularly busy. Many persons gave a beautiful pair of Eyeglasses or Spectacles to some near relative thus making many days to come a little brighter and happier. Shall we help you to make somebody's outlook brighter for 1911.

An appointment will save you waiting

The Peterboro Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

Clearing Sale

MEN'S OVERCOATS

Here is a chance for those whose intentions are to buy another coat yet. There is three months of winter and lots of cold weather expected yet. It would be now advisable to take this chance of our Clearing Stock Sale, and get your overcoat at a Greatly Reduced Price.

You do not need all the cash. Easy Payments of $1 or $2 per week is only required, and you can have the goods, Our stock is most up-to-date and good values.

Men's Coats from $16 to $22 - $14.95
" " " $12 to $16 - $10.95

SUITS—SAME REDUCTIONS

Special low price on our Furs; clearing all up; come and see and the price will surely appeal to you

THE KNICKERBOCKER CO.

CREDIT CLOTHIERS

422 George Street Phone 711

KILLING OFF THE FREE NOTICE FIEND

Every advertising man on newspapers ought at least to say: "Hurrah for the American Newspaper Publisher's association." That distinguished body has issued a circular gently repressing the free notice fiend and the wily press agent. It reads like a request, but it may mean a good deal more than an iron-clad refusal to print the free stuff.

The signatures of over two hundred and fifty newspapers are attached to the notice, which reads as follows:

"The large number of requests for free publication has become such an abuse that you are hereby notified that the following members of this association ask that you discontinue making any further requests for the publication of reading notices or other free publicity in the columns of their publications."

I certainly hate the press agents. Their slimy disbelief in anything that is straight, clean and honorable tends to fasten my dislike. They are always degrading newspapermen by assuring their patrons that they can be "worked" or bought for a lunch, a drink or cigar, and they are unfair competitors with straight, open advertising.

It is hoped that in addition to "declining their requests" these same newspapers will come into the open and tell what they know of the press agent. The stories of how they operate for corporations, distributors, and professional men ("of high character in the community") will make mighty interesting reading. And it will kill the snake.

Robert Finlay, a Canadian Northern Ontario brakeman, was crushed between cars at Party Sound and died of his injuries.

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM

Phone 626 170 Charlotte Street

REAL SCOTCH SHORT BREAD

ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets etc, catered for.

NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

SAVE $ $ NOW

H. LeBrun's & Co's

Clean-up Sale

offers

Tremendous Price Reductions

Save 20 to 25 Per cent. on Men's Winter Overcoats

On High Grade

CLOTHING

For Men and Boys

In justice to your pocket-book you cannot afford to miss this great money saving event. An inspection of the unusual values offered will convince you that now is the time to buy clothes.

SALE ENDS SATURDAY, JANUARY 28th.

Men's Und'wear Now Selling at ¼ to ⅓ Less than Regular Prices

H. LeBrun & Co.

PROBABILITIES
Mostly fair to-day and on Sunday with snow flurries.

THE DAILY REVIEW

VOL. LXI., No. 5.
PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1911
TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

ONTARIO'S LEGISLATURE WILL MEET ON JAN. 24TH

Official Announcement Is to Be Made To-Day.

[illegible] Does Not Expect an Unusually Heavy Session, But Feel That There Will Be Plenty of Routine and a Large Quota of New Measures—Col. Matheson Reports Good Financial State.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—To-day's "Ontario Gazette will contain the proclamation of His Hon. Lieut.-Governor Gibson, summoning the members to attend the session of the twelfth Parliament of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario on Tuesday, Jan. 24, inst., at 3 o'clock of the afternoon of the aforesaid date.

The announcement of this early date will not come as a surprise, as it is but one week earlier than the date referred to a few days ago as that looked for by the officials at the Parliament Buildings. The date, however, is in the nature of a bombshell to the members of the legal profession, who were relying upon a prediction given as semi-official in a Toronto newspaper, which named March 19 as the probable date for the opening.

Sir James Whitney stated last night that although the session was called at the earliest date that the progress with the completion of the west wing rendered convenient, it was not because of any expectation that the business of the session would be excessively heavy or its duration be prolonged. The indications were for an ordinary, useful session.

Delicate and difficult will be one issue to be dealt with by the Legislative Chamber, that of dual languages in the schools.

According to a statement from a well-informed source, the Provincial Treasurer has a measure well advanced for submission to the House for a graded higher license system with respect to the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Hon. Col. Matheson will again have a most satisfactory financial statement to make for the financial year, which closed Oct. 31. The returns will show that the current revenue and expenditures have been well balanced, and that the estimates presented last spring were prepared with an excellent appreciation of the year's outlook.

The Legislature will be asked to authorise an issue of bonds to the amount of about $300,000,000 for the purchase of certain license holders' extensive timber holdings in Algonquin Park.

Private legislation may not assume its full proportions, owing to the comparatively short notice of the session, which opens one day earlier than a year ago. The legal departments of the various railways holding Ontario franchises have, however, already a number of them, posted notices of applications for extensions of their lines.

Amendments to the Public and Separate School Acts are looked for as probable in relation to the French schools in Eastern Ontario, as well as the dual language problem in Essex County. The Sturgeon Falls situation is also likely to be dealt with.

Cut In Toronto Licenses.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—There is some talk around the city hall that the temperance aldermen may institute a measure to reduce the number of shop licenses in Toronto this year from 50 to 24, and to curtail the hours of selling liquor in both hotels and shops.

It is also noteworthy that the local hotel proprietors are anticipating some new move on the part of the license department that may affect their profits in some way. This uneasiness is aroused by the fact that the commissioners are demanding to know the average daily receipts over all bars; the highest day's receipts and the lowest day's receipts during the past year.

Mayoralty Protest.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7—Mayor Evans yesterday retained H. Whitlaw, who until recently was city prosecutor, to represent him in the petition brought by the unsuccessful candidate, E. D. Martin, to contest the mayoralty election. The city prosecutor is an appointee of the Provincial Government.

First Fire Chief Dead.

London, Jan. 7.—Captain Thomas Wastie, first chief of the London fire brigade as a paid organization, died yesterday at San Jose, Calif.

Captain Wastie was in command of the ill-fated steamer Victoria the season before it went down on the River Thames with 200 persons.

A Dancing Doctor.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Sir James Grant, dean of the doctors of Ottawa, gave an example of energy at the age of 80 by dancing a highland fling Thursday night before his fellow members of the Medico-Chirurgical Society at the annual dinner at the golf club.

Nearly Bled to Death.

Calgary, Jan. 7.—President J. L. Sayre of the Sayre Automobile Co. nearly bled to death by a cut from broken glass, when his automobile collided with a street car at the subway. His condition is precarious. He will lose a leg.

Must Have Safeguards.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Fire Chief Graham will notify the Government that it cannot continue storing alcohol and methylated spirits under the same conditions as were revealed by the fire in the inland revenue warehouse on Queen street.

The Tariff Dicker At Washington

HON W. S. FIELDING.
Who is in Charge of the Tariff Negotiations at Washington.

WOULD AMEND THEATY

Washington, Jan. 7.—It became known yesterday that the President has been sounding certain Senators, members of the committee on foreign relations, to ascertain the chances for an amendment of the existing arbitration treaty with Great Britain, calculated to broaden the scope of that convention. It is aimed to remove the present prohibition in article one, against the submission to arbitration of questions of vital interest to the two parties or involving their honor.

If these soundings reveal a change of mind on the part of the Senate since 1908, when strong ground was taken by a large majority against any such unlimited arbitartion, then the British Government will be approached to ascertain if it is willing to begin negotiations looking to the amendment of the existing treaty.

Escaped Death In Explosion.

Minneapolis, Jan 7.—Minneapolis was plunged into darkness and the commercial life of the city almost paralyzed yesterday morning by an explosion of the "13,000 wire" leading into the power plant of the Minneapolis General Electric Co. Eleven men employed in the building made their way to safety through the valley of the mill race, after the explosion. The plant was wrecked and a tangled mass of wire and machinery was thrown in every direction by the force of the explosion. Fire followed and completely demolished the building.

Two men were injured, and the damage to the property is estimated at $500,000.

Ask For Investigation.

Perth, Jan. 7.—At yesterday morning's session of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association it was decided to request the Dominion Dairy Commissioners to appoint a commission of experts to investigate and consider different methods of paying for milk delivery to cheese factories and creameries, to consult the authorities and experts of other countries, and, if possible, to recommend some methods that will be acceptable to dairy authorities and generally adapted to the dairymen of the Dominion.

Investigating Teddy.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Representative Rainey of Illinois offered a resolution in the House Thursday asking for the appointment of a committee of five to investigate the railroad expenses of Theodore Roosevelt for travel while he was President, with authority to examine the books of the Pennsylvania Railway, the Southern Railway and the Northern Pacific Railway, to determine what expenses were paid by the former President and what proportion furnished by the railroads.

Western Telegraph Rates.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—In connection with the complaint of the Board of Trade against excessive telegraph rates into and out of the city, the Railway Commission has notified the Board of Trade that they have recommended to the Minister of Justice the appointment of public counsel to represent the applicants, and that the appointment of counsel and date of hearing will be fixed in the near future.

Palatial Varsity Club.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Proud varsity students will before long be able to show their friends one of the finest college club buildings on the continent. President Falconer made the first official announcement yesterday regarding the students's club building, a munificent gift of the Massey estate, and of which the plans are already made. The building will cost from $300,000 to $500,000, and will have a gymnasium with modern equipment, smoke rooms, billiard rooms, lounging rooms, a library and dance halls.

Work will be started as soon as the weather permits in the spring, and along with the work of excavation will go the old gymnasium, which is fast becoming antiquated.

INVESTING IN CANADA

British Financier Says Field is Considered First Class—Have Confidence in Municipalities.

Montreal, Jan. 7.—K. N. MacFee of the London financial firm of K. N. MacFee & Co., doing a very large business in Canadian municipal bonds, is here and relates that there is a steady enquiry for new Canadian municipal securities. There has been no default in Canada, he says, for 50 years, except Brandon 15 years ago, and that city afterwards paid in full, so the British investing public have every confidence in the municipalities of the Dominion, especially when they are doing as at present, viz.: keeping their borrowing limit down to from eight to ten per cent. of the assessed value of the property of the municipality.

Mr. MacFee, who has been in the West, says that during the coming six months, western municipalities will be in the market for at least from thirty to fifty millions, and they will be able to justify their faith in their town's ability to carry the tax. The credit of Halifax and St. John, as well as the Ontario towns, is, he says, first class, while Montreal and Quebec can be placed in the number one class, but the English investor knows less of the Quebec municipalities, and their bonds are consequently more difficult of handling. In conclusion, Mr. MacFee drew attention to the fact that in the British Trustee Act certain securities are specified as legal for trust investments, and while this includes the securities of the Dominion of Canada and the Australian states the Canadian provinces are not in the favored catagory, and while the credit of all the Canadian provinces is the best, their securities would sell better if they were included in this list.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

A Canadian crew was saved from a wrecked ship on the Atlantic.

A rigid censorship is still maintained in Brazil, from which come disquieting rumors.

A million-dollar chewing gum company, with head office in Toronto, has been incorporated.

Hon. Messr.s Fielding and Paterson arrived in Washington to continue the trade negotiations.

Sir John Aird, builder of the famous Assuan dam across the Nile, is dead. He was born in 1833, and was a member of the contracting firm of John Aird & Sons. He was created a peer in 1901.

His Excellency Earl Grey, with a party consisting of Mr. Arthur Sladen, A.D.C., military secretary, and Lady Sybil Grey, left yesterday afternoon for New York. The trip is said to be one of pleasure only.

The offices of the Inter-Trust Security Co., promoters of mining ventures, of Boston, were raided by Federal officers yesterday afternoon, in connection with the prosecution of an alleged fraudulent use of the mails.

The secretary of the Canadian Conservation Commission has issued an official denial that the Government has been asked for $25,000,000 for the conservation of forests. Hon. Clifford Sifton has no such idea as part of his plans.

Bessie Gershon, who, as an occupant of the house, was arrested before the battle between the London police and the outlaws took place, has proven her innocence of any connection with the anarchists, and was released from custody.

Had a Royal Time.

London, Jan. 7.—Postmaster-General Lemieux is greatly pleased with his visit to South Africa. Everyone was attentive and considerate en route. They had a royal time. He was a public guest everywhere the steamer called.

A New Year's Raise.

Brantford, Jan. 7.—Brantford public school teachers were given a New Year's raise by the trustees Thursday night, a new schedule being adopted. The maximum salaries for second and first-class teachers, respectively, will be $650 and $700; the initial salary to assistant teachers without experience will be $400, with an increase of $25 yearly until the maximum of $550 is reached; outside teachers are allowed $25 for each year's previous experience up to four years on their initial salary.

American Falls Almost Dry.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 7.—The American falls are almost dry, as the result of a jam in the rapids about Goat Island. The falls ran completely dry in February, 1909. The conditions of that time promise to be repeated if the present weather conditions continue.

Appointed Liquidators.

Fredericton, N.B., Jan. 7.—Judge Barry, in chambers yesterday, appointed W. B. Snowball of Chatham and A. H. Hanington permanent liquidators to wind up Miramichi Pulp & Paper Co. The liabilities are about $650,000.

Kicked In Jaw by Horse.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—Ross Gordon of Cushendall was kicked in the jaw by a horse. He was rendered unconscious for several hours, but will recover.

TRAVERS REMANDED

Manager of Farmers' Bank Appears in Court and Adjournment of a Week is Taken.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Considerable surprise was expressed yesterday morning when W. R. Travers was again remanded in police court for yet another week's delay. Crown Attorney Corley had announced at his last arraignment that the crown would be ready to open its case yesterday and witnesses had been summoned from the Finance Department at Ottawa to swear to the returns made to the Government by the former general manager of the Farmers' Bank, but these were not called, and Mr. Corley once more declared that he was not ready to go on, and asked for a week's remand. This was reluctantly granted by Magistrate Denison.

At each previous appearance of Mr. Travers, H. H. Dewart, K.C., his counsel, has bitterly protested against the delay, but yesterday he smilingly concurred. Bail was renewed in sureties of $20,000 in each case, both of which were supplied by A. M. Orpen.

The public demand for a deep and searching probing into all the affairs of the bank is growing daily more forceful and more insistent. Yesterday a number of farmers, shareholders of the bank, journeyed to the city from Halton County, where the stock is heavily held, to hear the opening of the case. These were bitterly disappointed when the "nothing doing" sign was put up for another week.

The question most discussed by those interested, and which seems to be uppermost in the mind of the man-on-the-street is as to the possible implication of others than Mr. Travers in the failure of the bank and the likelihood of their prosecution. These have been looking to the trial of Mr. Travers for the uncovering of facts implicating such possible additional parties, and yesterday a fear was spread among them that should the former manager plead guilty to the charges preferred against him, no investigation would follow, and that he would merely be sentenced and the matter allowed to drop without the real facts of the bank's mismanagement being brought to light.

All Because of a Lie.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7—Because he believed that his wife had told him a lie, Henry Beckman fatally shot her at their home, 2,636 South Watts street, yesterday, and then killed himself.

A Delightful Memorial.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 7.—Bishop Worrell received an acknowledgement yesterday from the Bishop of London of a handsomely bound edition of the proceedings of the Anglican Congress held in Halifax last summer. Bishop Ingram says:

"The delightful memorial of my visit to you all in Canada has just arrived. I must write at once to thank you for it. It was a very, very happy time to me, and it is delightful to think that I was any help to you. The book will always lie upon my table to remind me of the many kind friends on the other side of the Atlantic."

Discriminating Rates.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—The Board of Trade have been notified by the Railway Commission that the C.P.R., C.N.R. and G.T.R. have been notified of the application of the Vancouver Board of Trade for an order directing the C.P.R., amongst other things, to cease from charging discriminating rates on Alberta grain to the Pacific coast, as compared with grain rates to Port Arthur and Fort William, and that the companies will be required to speak as to the reasonableness of the rates on grain and grain products between Lake Superior and the mountains.

Protectorate For Honduras.

New York, Jan. 7.—A Washington special to The American says: American protectorate over Honduras, through an assumption of the national loan of that republic by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan, it is said, will be effected within twenty-four hours.

Gen. Peredeux, Minister of Finance for Honduras, left New York Thursday night for Washington to complete the deal.

Fireman Under Fallen Wall.

New York, Jan. 7.—The falling wall of a fire-swept factory building on Wooster street buried a fireman on the ground floor in its debris yesterday. Chief Crocker and a squad of firemen, who narrowly escaped the crash, extricated the pinioned man, who was but slightly injured.

Opium Congress.

London, Jan. 7.—The international congress for the suppression of the opium traffic will assemble at The Hague May 30. It is stated that the United States will support the British proposal to include morphine and cocaine with opium.

Found Dead In Bed.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—Mrs. Harvey Smith, widow, of Tamworth, was found dead in bed of heart failure, aged 65.

Completing the Line.

Vancouver, Jan. 7.—By the end of the coming season the location surveys of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway will be complete from Port Mann to the Yellowhead Pass, and subject to possible slight revisions here and there, will be ready for the contractors anywhere in British Columbia.

INTERESTING EVIDENCE AT THE COLBORNE INQUEST

Witnesses Heard Voice Say, "Shut Up; Keep Quiet."

Investigation Into Death of Miss Brimacombe Shows That Matthews Under the Influence of Liquor, Invited the Girl at Supper Time to Sit by Him—Several Noises Attracted Attention.

Colborne, Jan. 7.—It is "as you were" in the position of both the crown and defence after an all day's sitting at yesterday's session of the preliminary hearing into the charge of murder against Henry I. Matthews, jr., charged with the murder of Johanna Brimacombe on Dec. 17. John Mills, J.P., and Robert Snetsinger, J.P., are the presiding magistrates, E. Gus Porter, K.C., is conducting the case for the defence, and W. F. Kerr, K.C., crown attorney, is looking after the prosecution.

The evidence taken in the morning was largely corroborative of that taken at the inquest.

Helen Briscoe, dining-room maid at the Bristol Hotel, sprung a sensation in the afternoon when she said that when Matthews came in for dinner she saw that he had been drinking. Later, when he invited Miss Brimacombe to come and sit beside him, placing a chair handy for the purpose, she ordered him aside, but Miss Brimacombe was inclined to accept the invitation.

Joseph McMurray said the noise he heard at the head of the stairs was loud, like a woman's voice. It sounded like a scream. He avoided Mr. Kerr's question as to whose voice it was.

"Was it not the dummy?" counsel askd.

"It was the dummy, I thought," was the answer.

The witness confirmed the previous evidence of Matthews being seen downstairs with his vest open and his watch dangling from a guard. He couldn't explain why he hadn't mentioned to Matthews the noise that had attracted his attention.

"Are you sure now, Mr. McMurray, that it was the dummy that made the noise?" asked Mr. Porter.

"No."

"You would not undertake to venture any opinion that might be relied upon?"

"No."

Nelson Murphy corroborated McMurray's evidence as to the noise, and of his ascending the stairs with Smith. While he likened the noise to that of the "dummy," he persisted in the thought that it came from Teasdale and his wife, engaged in a wrangle. Murphy firmly resisted Mr. Kerr's pressure that he might have heard a man's voice in the room, and repeatedly dodged the question as to whether it was the voice of a man or a woman.

"Did it sound to you like the voice of either Mr. Teasdale or Mrs. Teasdale?"

"No."

"Why didn't you go further?"

"I didn't want to get into trouble."

He could not tell whether the sound indicated pain or pleasure, but thought it meant distress. Contrary to his evidence at the inquest, Murphy said he did not know there was a "dummy" in the house.

Murphy told Mr. Porter that Matthews, when he came downstairs, did not look like a man who had come through a severe struggle. He did not look like a man who had just had a forcible encounter with a woman. In accordance with the testimony of Bert Rogers, the witness said that it was after eight when Matthews came down stairs, and that, under the circumstances, he might not have had supper.

John Smith, who went upstairs with Murphy to investigate the noise, said his attention was attracted by a squealing noise. He thought someone was being hurt. The sounds were coming from the door of room 14. It kept up all the while he was in the house.

"Did you hear any other sounds?" asked the crown attorney.

"Yes, sir, I heard somebody speaking."

"Could you tell the words?"

"It sounded like somebody saying, 'Shut up, shut up; keep quiet."

He would swear it was a man's voice. He did not pursue the question further for fear of intruding. Under cross-examination, the testimony of Smith was unshaken.

Charles A. Post, barber, for the defence, cleared up the question of the scratch on Matthews' face. It had been made on the Wednesday prior to the 17th, and had been broken again at the rink on the following Monday.

The hearing will close Saturday morning, when Teasdale's evidence will be taken. Matthews is still in Cobourg jail. In striking contract with his showing before his arrest, his face is wane and careworn. He is nervous, and at times during the hearing he perspired excessively.

Offer Power at $25.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—J. C. Kerry, consulting engineer of the Seymour Electric Co., is here endeavoring to get the Council to close a contract for power. The company's offer is to supply power at $25 per horse-power.

A Narrow Escape.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—Mr. Justice Metcalf, and other occupants of 317 River avenue had a narrow escape from asphyxiation yesterday morning from coal gas escaping from the furnace, while the occupants were asleep.

His Policy Is Not Approved Of

HON. G. P. GRAHAM,
Minister of Railways and Canals.
His Attitude with Regard to the Eastern Ontario Electrical Merger has met Considerable Criticism.

SAYS NEW YORK IS IN DANGER

New York, Jan. 7.—The Merritt joint legislative commission of enquiry adjourned sine die yesterday still with no word from the missing city chamberlain, Charles H. Hyde, who is a Nova Scotian. An evening paper offered a reward of $10 for the first person to give information of his whereabouts, providing he does not publicly appear at his office before Jan. 15.

Harold Herrick, president of the Niagara Fire Insurance Co., a witness, told the committee that New York may yet see such a fire as devastated San Francisco.

"A holacaust in New York," he said, "is quite within the bounds of possibility. We have an excellent fire department, and an efficient chief, and thus far they have jumped on every fire and put it out; but no fire department ever existing subdued a conflagration once it got under way. It only ceased when it reached a natural obstacle.

"If New York has a fire like San Francisco, God help us. There would not be a solvent insurance company left in the world. No one could compute the billions of loss."

Hurried, cheap construction by speculators, and poorly installed heating plants, said Mr. Herrick, were responsible for one-third of all fires, and a greater share of their spread.

"But in the city of Hamburg," he continued, "where they won't tolerate poor construction, there has not been a fire that spread outside the house in which is started since 1842."

Tie-Up In Lumber Yards.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—A tie-up of the Booth lumber business for two days resulted from a delay on the part of the C.P.R. in allowing the G.T.R. to use a quarter of a mile of track at the Chaudiere terminal. The Railway Commission ordered the G.T.R. off a viaduct, and to get in on the level, the C.P.R. line was necessary.

Last night a temporary agreement was got. Immediately work was started, and continued till the last of the waiting cars had been sent on its way. Specially augmented crews worked all night to do this, the railway sparing no effort to relieve the congestion. One hundred and seventy-five flat lumber cars had lain idle and 40 of Booth's teams stood in the stable while the dispute lasted.

Will Protest Moderator Action.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—Notice has been received by the clerk of the Kingston Presbytery that the action of the moderator in calling a meeting of the presbytery for Jan. 19 to discuss church union will be protested, and, if needful, an appeal will be sent to the synod and the assembly. It is contended that the moderator acted illegally in putting aside the decision of the presbytery and substituting one of his own.

Register Chown of Queen's is receiving the ballots of the graduates who are voting on the question of church union. All ballots are to be in by March 1.

Carried Under the Ice.

Bathurst, N.B., Jan. 7.—A young man named Levasseur, from Amqui, Que., was drowned here at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In crossing the bridge over Nepisiquet River to Intercolonial station, his hat blew into the water, and in attempting to get it, he broke through the ice and the strong current carried him under. His companion shouted for help, but it arrived too late to save him. Levasseur was 22 years old, and unmarried.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

PLUMBING
HOT WATER, STEAM
and HOT AIR HEATING
GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING
and EAVETROUGHING

This part of our business will be continued at 407 George-st. until 1st of Feb., and after that date will be carried on in our new premises at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets.

ESTIMATES GIVEN ON ALL CONTRACT WORK.

Adam Hall

The Daily Review
SATURDAY, JAN. 7, 1911.

PETERBOROUGH'S TAXES

Peterborough has no reason to be ashamed of her municipal financing, as compared with that of other Ontario cities. Peterborough citizens enjoy a tax rate which is second to lowest in the province for municipal taxes, and fourth in the matter of municipal and school rates combined.

Commissioner Duggan will do well to take note of Peterborough's very favorable tax rate, in comparison with other Ontario cities.

In the Review yesterday an article was reproduced from the Financial Post, comparing the municipal and school rates of eighteen Ontario cities, in a manner calculated to drive home the real state of affairs very keenly. The writer of the article, H. C. Carson F.S.S., bases his comparison on the populations of the various cities, showing how much each citizen is called on to pay toward the cost of city government. His figures are based on the taxes of 1909, and may be taken as fairly accurate.

Most interesting is the fact that of the $182,000 collected by Peterborough, $106,000 was for municipal purposes and $76,000 for school purposes. This year's Board of Education estimates call for $66,000, so it may be safely assumed that Mr. Carson's figures in this case represented more than the usual school levy, because in its school tax Peterborough seems to pay, according to this table, as highly as any place in the province.

In taxes for municipal purposes, Peterborough averages $6.23 per capita, Brantford $10.06, Chatham $13.96. Only one city is lower than Peterborough, the little city of Guelph, which is in a class by itself. Guelph owns some well-paying public utilities, which seem to make a big difference, though in other rates it may not show so favorably.

Peterborough's school rate showing indicates either that there are more children here to be educated, in proportion to population, necessitating more and bigger schools, or that the Board of Education is more extravagant than is usually the case. Peterborough's place as the centre of a large district may affect this somewhat. The Ontario average is $4.03 per head. Peterborough people pay $4.54 per capita, and only Ottawa and Port Arthur are higher.

In the total rate the Ontario average is 23 1-4 mills, whereas Peterborough has a rate of 22 mills on an average assessment. Taken per capita, Guelph citizens pay $6.17 in direct taxes. Woodstock citizens pay $9.85; Kingston $10.07, and Peterborough $10.77. Brantford has $13.41 per capita taxes, and Chatham the magnificent figure of $17.83, or nearly three times what the Guelph citizen pays. Peterborough, being fourth in a list of eighteen cities, occupies a very favorable position indeed.

It might be noted that exemption, on the Ontario average, means an added tax rate of 2 1-2 mills to each ratepayer. He pays for municipal purposes 16 1-2 mills, whereas, if there were no exemptions of government, municipal or charitable institutions, the average ratepayer would pay but 14 mills. The ordinary citizen has to make up what the exempted properties do not contribute toward the general fund, which is a lesson that exemptions affect every citizen's pocket directly.

These figures prove that Peterborough is municipally taxed very moderately, which should be a source of satisfaction to the residents to know.

THE ELECTRICAL MERGER

The electrical power situation in eastern Ontario, embracing the district from Peterborough to Kingston, and especially in the Trent Valley canal territory, offers some features of unusual interest, in this day of public competition in the power field. The fight which the Hydro-electric Commission has had in establishing itself as a factor in the power business has been long and strenuous, and now that it is operating in some cities which became partners in it, and is about to operate in others, some line may be secured on the effect it has been able to make on power prices.

There is no doubt that municipal or public competition in power serves as a most convenient check on private corporation aggression. It is the one great safeguard the public has. The control of rates by a commission such as the Dominion railway board may be effective or it may not, inasmuch as in most great companies over-capitalization is rampant, meaning the requirement of earnings that are not necessitated by actual investment. This has been proven most emphatically in the express companies case, where returns in an inflated capitalization were astonishingly high.

With reference to the power situation in Eastern Ontario, following the formation of the Electric Power Co., Limited, it must be said that the formation of this "merger" will hasten the arrival of a large supply of power by some years at least. As long as there is a surplus production, eastern Ontario manufacturers and users may be assured of as low a rate as can be given, consistent with good business principles. It is problematical at present as to what might happen if the demand were to exceed the supply of power.

Being within comparatively close range of water powers sufficient to supply its needs, for many years to come, Peterborough is much more favorably placed than many of the cities which are under contract to the Hydro-electric power commission. In the case of Guelph, for instance, according to a dispatch to the Toronto Globe, the rates quoted by the Guelph civic committee will figure out about $35 a year per h.p., for small users, a ten minute peak load being the measurement and $22 per h.p. to large users. Meter rates are charged, which would, it is said, add $10 a year to this charge.

The charges in Hamilton by the Cataract Power Co., are of interest, in view of this. The Cataract-Hydro fight has been bitter; the public service commission has been badly worsted in the matter of prices to Hamilton, although the people have endorsed the hydro commission, on the ground—not that the Cataract rates are not low enough—but to have competition as a check on the private corporation. Hamilton's power rates are: Three horsepower, $19.47 per year per horsepower; six horsepower, $15.90 per year per horsepower; 10 horsepower, $14.40 per year per horsepower; 50 horsepower, $10, $11, $12 or $13 per year per horsepower.

It will be seen that power rates in Hamilton—and in fact this includes the Niagara district—are much lower than less favorably situated cities can hope to secure. No one will deny that the question of power rates affects the growth and industrial importance of every city. With the great bulk of the waterpowers of this section of the province in the hands of an electrical merger—and the possibility of municipal co-operation in competition through the hydro-commission shut out,—it is sincerely to be hoped that the charter provision for regulation of rates will be effectual in case of need. Peterborough is now, and other Trent canal district municipalities, are or will be, in much more favorable position in regard to power prices than most Western Ontario municipalities can be with hydro-electric power. May that condition be permanent.

TARIFF MATTERS

Reports from Washington indicate that the tariff commissioners will face a very difficult task in trying to locate a common ground of agreement in regard to classes of merchandise on which shall be extended concessions.

It is taken as a matter of course that the Canadian Ministers will not sacrifice any Canadian interests—to do so, even at the behest of the western farmers,—would kill the Laurier administration more surely than a dose of hyoscin. The effort which the Canadian representatives must make, and the only one which Canadian opinion as a whole, will countenance, is an effort to secure concessions from the United States that will benefit Canadian trade and offer a larger field,—without giving concessions that will interfere with British preference, with the growth and prosperity of Canadian business institutions, and with maintaining the stability of Canada's recognized sound commercial system.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Peterborough has enjoyed some fine prayerie weather this week.

Being a Crane, the new presiding officer of the Board of Education ought to be a bird of a chairman.

The Canadian tariff commissioners will be prepared for hard Knox when they try to make a dicker with the U. S. Secretary of State.

The Conservation commission will ask Parliament for $25,000,000. A mere bagatelle! Why we were going to spend $30,000,000 on the National Transcontinental, and felt so rich we decided to put $200,000,000 to it. Ask for your millions, boys, the Laurier Government is generous with the people's money.

The western city of Prince Albert has declared for a government by commission. It has appointed the mayor, city engineer and city treasurer commissioners, on salaries they would receive ordinarily as city employes. The economical, efficient method of handling civic problems is rapidly superseding the old system of electing amateurs to experiment with a city's money.

DANGERS OF BLOOD-POISONING.

The best and simplest way of insuring against blood-poisoning is to apply Zam-Buk to a cut, burn, cold-sore or any open wound or diseased part as soon as sustained.

Of all the myriad forms of germs which set up blood-poisoning not one has yet been found that can live in Zam-Buk. A thin layer of Zam-Buk over a wound or sore acts in two ways. It prevents all harm coming into the wound or sore from the top-side. On the underside it stimulates the cells to renewed activity, provides just the healing, tissue-building material needed by causing the blood to deposit this more rapidly, and thus brings about rapid healing. Apply it to that cold-sore, those chipped hands, that frost bite or that eczema. Sold at 50c. box, all stores, or druggists, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Friday Evening, Jan. 6.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ½d higher than yesterday; corn futures ¼d to ½d higher.

At Chicago, May wheat closed ⅛c higher than yesterday, May corn ⅛c higher, and May oats unchanged.

Winnipeg Options.

At Winnipeg, May wheat closed ⅛c higher than yesterday, May oats ⅛c higher.

	Jan. 5.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	97⅝	97⅞	98⅜	97¼	98¼
July	98⅜	98⅜	99⅜	98⅜	99⅜
Oats—
May	37¼	37¼	37⅜	37	37⅜
July	38⅜	....	....	....	38⅛

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bush	$0 85 @	$0 86
Wheat, goose, bush	0 78	0 80
Rye, bushel	0 68	0 70
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 66
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 37	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Butter—Weak; receipts, 3527; creamery, specials, 29½c; extras, 28c; third to first, 22c to 27c; held, second to specials, 23½c to 28½c; state dairy, common to finest, 19c to 27½c; process, seconds to special, 19c to 26c.

Cheese—Steady, unchanged, receipts, 1685.

Eggs—Firm; receipts, 6115, western gathered, white, 35c to 40c; fresh gathered, dirties, No. 1, 25c; do., No. 2, 22c to 24c, refrigerator, first, in local storage, 24c to 25c; do., seconds, 22c to 23½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Prices Steady on All Exchanges—Trading More Active.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—London cattle market lower for American cattle, 13¾c to 14½c, dressed weight, refrigerator beef easier, at 9½c to 10c.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 6.—Cattle—Receipts, 100; active; 15c to 25c higher.

Veals—Receipts, 500 head, active; 50c higher, $7 to $11.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 7200 head; fairly active and steady; heavy and mixed, $8.40 to $8.50; yorkers, $8.50 to $8.75; pigs, $8.65 to $8.75; roughs, $7.27 to $7.50; stags, $6 to $6.50; dairies, $8.25 to $8.65.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,000 head; sheep active and steady; lambs slow; heavy lambs, $5 to $5.75; handy, $5 to $6.75; yearlings, $5 to $5.50; wethers, $4.15 to $4.40; ewes, $3.75 to $4, sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Beeves—Receipts, 200; market firm, steers, $5 to $6.65; bulls, $4.25 to $5.25; cows, $2.40 to $5; dressed beef steady, at 8½c to 10½c. Exports to-morrow, 1382 cattle, 250 sheep and 2706 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 180; market steady; veals $7 to $11; culls, $5 to $6.50; barnyard and western calves nominal; dressed calves firm, city dressed veals, 12c to 16½c; country dressed, 9c to 15½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 5320; sheep steady; lambs firm; sheep, $2.50 to $4; lambs, $6 to $7.12½; yearlings, $5 to $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 2000; feeling easier; quotations, $8.50 to $8.80 for heavy to light.

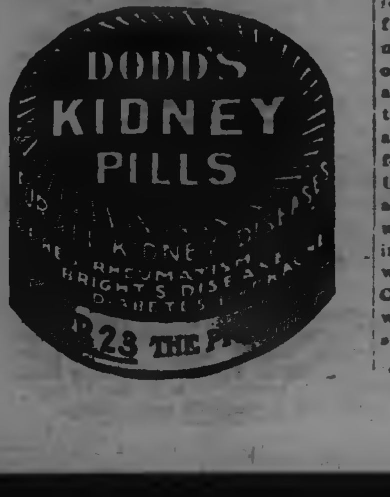
Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Cattle—Receipts, 3000; steady; beeves, $4.65 to $7; Texas steers, $4.25 to $5.40; western steers, $4.30 to $6; stockers and feeders, $4.75 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.40 to $5.80; calves, $7 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 27,000, slow at decline; light, $7.75 to $8.05; mixed, $7.75 to $8.10; heavy, $7.75 to $8.10; rough, $7.75 to $7.85; good to choice, heavy, $7.85 to $8.10; pigs, $7.80 to $8.05; bulk of sales, $7.85 to $8.05.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2000; market steady; native, $2.00 to $5.45; western, $2.75 to $4.50; yearlings, $4.75 to $5.80; native lambs, $4.75 to $6.55; western, $5 to $6.55.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.



Some Cynic Said
"A man's heart lies in his stomach".
Abbey's Effer-vescent Salt
keeps the stomach sweet and clean.
25c and 60c.
At dealers. 64

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, hands, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a pickaxe to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word
Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

Lost or Found

LOST

SEVERAL DAYS AGO — COON SKIN STOLE lined with grey satin. Reward for return to the Review Office. 1d

Wanted

WANTED

FURNISHED ROOM — MUST BE CLOSE ON near hotels and depots. Box M. 3d

WANTED

YOUNG MAN WITH SOME KNOWLEDGE of sign writing and brush work. Apply, J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d

WANTED

DINING-ROOM GIRL, GRAND HOTEL. Experienced. Apply at Hotel.

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m. or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

SNOWDEN & MURPHY
Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers
GIVE US A CALL
If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery
AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.
291 George Street, Opposite Opera House

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell
JAY'S STORES
Phone 623.
390 Aylmer St
Peterborough

LUMBER
And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.
ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

COAL
THAT IS COAL
Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at
$7.50 PER TON
Hardwood
First-Class - - - Best in City
Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord
Cut and split as desired
—AT—
J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships
ST. JOHN, N.B.
and HALIFAX, N.S.
Empress of Britain .... Jan. 13, Feb. 24
Hesperian .... Jan. 27
Empress of Ireland .... Feb. 10, Mar. 10
For rates and further information apply to any railway or steamship agent, or to
I. E. SUCKLING,
General Agent for Ontario,
S. E. Cor. King & Yonge Sts., Toronto

CANADIAN PACIFIC
FLORIDA
CALIFORNIA, CUBA
FORTY HOURS FROM TORONTO
You can leave Toronto 4.00 p.m., and arrive Jacksonville 8.30 second morning—only one change of cars and no change of depots or transfers. Reduced rates in effect
Ask nearest C. P. R. Agent to arrange for Through Tickets and Sleeping Car accommodation.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
Winter Tours
MEXICO, COLORADO, CALIFORNIA AND PACIFIC COAST POINTS.
The Grand Trunk Railway System is the popular route from all points east through Canada via Chicago
FEATURES
Double Track, Fast Service. Finest Roadbed, Modern Equipment, Unexcelled Car Service, All Elements of Safety and Comfort.
TO THE SUNNY SOUTH
No more desirable route than via Grand Trunk and connecting lines.
VERY LOW RATES
Full particulars and tickets from—
W. BUNTON, CITY AGENT. F. SANDY, DEPOT AGENT

THE IMMIGRATION DEPARTMENT
of the
Canadian Northern Ry. System
is prepared to obtain
FARM LABORERS and DOMESTIC SERVANTS
For Any Point in Ontario
If you want help, domestic or farm hands, have friends to bring out from the Homeland this year, next year, or at any time, the service of the Department is at your disposal without any cost to you.
Write to—
THOS. HOWELL,
GENERAL IMMIGRATION AGENT
CANADIAN NORTHERN RAILWAY
51 KING STREET EAST,
TORONTO, ONT.

Coal Results
We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.
¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?
¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.
$7.50 Per Ton
THE PETERBORO FUEL & CARTAGE CO
LIMITED
162 Charlotte-St. Telephones—(Bell 261, 279, (Machine)—279.
124 Aylmer-St. Tel. Bell 302

ORDER NOW
The STANDARD ANTHRACITE D. L. & W
SCRANTON COAL
$7.50 Per Ton
The Standard Anthracite at standard price. Builders' Supplies. British Columbia Shingles.
Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.
R. Hicks & Co
248 MURRAY STREET

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL
M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London.
"Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 251, mach. 226
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.C.S., Edinb.; M.R.C.S., Eng.; L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH
Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—234 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 213.
Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND
Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Diseases of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—543 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 462—House 1301

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY
Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 649

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
Robt. Ruddy, K. C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro
Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest
E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor,
Louis M. Hayes, K. C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce
R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 375 Water Peterborough Telephone No 191.
Money at Current Rates Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan
at lowest current rates
—on—
FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

The TORONTO SAVINGS and LOAN COMPANY
Paid up Capital - - $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - - - - 800,000.00
Savings Department
3½%
Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.
Interest accrues from date of Deposit to date of withdrawal.
Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of Banking.
Security Afforded Depositors
Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1909 - - $2,120,201.18
Liabilities to the Public - - 1,368,771.88
Surplus - - - - $751,429.30
HEAD OFFICES:
437 George Street., Peterborough
Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Saturdays - 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
W. G. MORROW
Managing Direct

DOMINION
CHINESE CAFE
Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call
328 GEORGE STREET

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

Emerson turned on him suddenly. "You have demonstrated that. If you had kept your mouth shut we'd have been at sea by now."

The fellow's face paled slightly as he replied, "I told you once that I didn't tip your mitt."

"Don't keep that up!" cried Boyd, his much tried temper ready to give way. "I can put up with anything but a lie."

Noting the signs of a rising storm, Clyde scrambled out of his chair, saying, "Well, I think I'll be going." He picked up his hat and stick and hurriedly left the room, followed in every movement by the angry eyes of Fraser, who seemed on the point of an explosion.

"You are tired and overwrought," said Cherry quietly to Boyd. "The success of this enterprise, with any happiness it may bring you, isn't worth a human life, nor is it worth what you are suffering."

"Perhaps not, from your point of view," he said roughly, then struck his palm with his closed fist. "What an idiot I was to begin all this—to think I could win with no weapons and no aid except a half mad fisherman, an addle brained imbecile, a confidence man"—

"And a woman," supplemented Cherry. "I'm the one to blame."

"No; I blame no one but myself. Whatever you're responsible for there's only one person you've harmed—yourself."

"What do you mean?" asked Cherry.

Her surprise left him unimpressed.

"Let's be frank," he said. "It is best to have such things out. I traded my friendship for money, and I am ruined. You are staking your honor against Hilliard's banknotes." Her silence only made him the more fiercely determined to force an explanation. "Oh, I'm in no mood to speak gently," he said; then added, with a sting of contempt in his tone, "I didn't think you would pay quite that price for your copper mine."

Cherry Malotte paled to her lips. "Kindly be more explicit; I don't know what you are talking about."

"Then, for your own good, you'd better understand. According to accepted standards, there is one thing no woman should trade upon. You have set yourself to trap Hilliard, and from what I hear you are succeeding. He is a married man. He is notorious, and yet you have deliberately yielded yourself to him for a price."

Suddenly he found the girl standing over him with burning eyes and quivering body.

"What right have you to say such things to me?" she cried. "A moment ago you acknowledged yourself a murderer—at least in thought. You said you would sacrifice anything or everything to gain your ends. Do you think I'm like that too? Are my methods to be called shameful because your own are criminal? And suppose they were? Do you think that you and your love for that unfeeling woman, who sent you out to toil and suffer and sweat your soul dry in the solitude of that horrible country, are the only issues in the world?"

"We won't speak of her," he broke in sharply.

"Oh, yes, we will. You say I have set a price on myself. Well, she can set a price on herself, but you can't see it. Her price was your honor, that has crumbled; your conscience, that has rotted. You have paid it, and you would pay double if she exacted it. But one thing you shall not do; you shall not judge of my bargains nor decide what I have paid to any man."

Never before had Boyd seen a woman so transformed by the passion of anger. She was the picture of defiant fury. The mask had slipped, and he caught a glimpse of the naked, passionate soul, upheaved to its depths.

"I beg your pardon," he said. "You are your own mistress, and you have the right to make any bargain you choose."

He saw that her eyes were misty with tears. "I want you to know," she said, "that I understand your position perfectly. If you don't succeed you not only lose the girl, but ruin yourself, for you can never repay the men who trusted you. That is a very big thing to a man, I know, yet there must be a way out—there always is. Perhaps it will present itself when you least expect it." She gave him a tired little smile before lowering her veil.

He rose and laid his hand on her arm. "Forgive my brutal bluntness. I'm not clever at such things, but I would have said as much to my sister if I had one."

It was an honest attempt to comfort her, but it failed. "Goodby," she said; "you mustn't give up."

All the way back to her hotel her mind dwelt bitterly upon his parting words. "His sister! His sister!" she kept repeating. "God! Can't he see?"

Dusk was falling when the girl, with set, defiant face, went to the telephone to call up Hilliard at the Rainier club.

"I have thought over your proposition, and I have changed my mind," she said. "Yes, you may send the car for me at 7." Then, in reply to some request, she laughed back through white lips, "Very well, if you wish it, the blue dress—yes, the blue decollete dress." She hung up the receiver, then stood with hands clinched while a shiver ran through her slender body. She stepped to a closet and flung open the door to stare at the array of gowns.

"So this is the end of my good resolutions," she laughed and snatched a garment recklessly from its hook. "Now for all the miserable tricks of the trade!"

• • • • • • •

George Balt, Clyde and Fraser formed a glum trio as they sat in a nook of the hotel cafe, sipping moodily at their glasses, when on the following afternoon Emerson joined them. But they sensed some untoward happening even before he spoke, for his face wore a look of dazed incredulity, and his manner was so extraordinary that they questioned in chorus:

"What's the matter? Are you sick?"

"No," said he, "but I—I must have lost my mind."

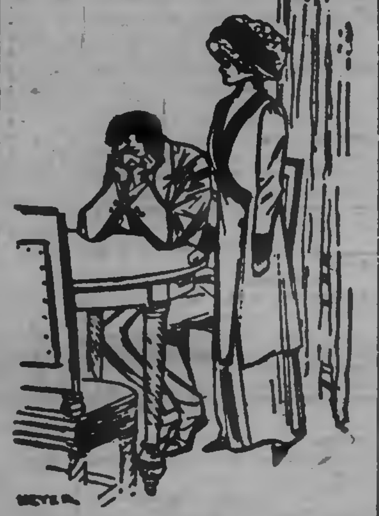
"What is it?"

"The trick is turned."

"The trick?"

"I have raised the money."

With a shout that startled the other occupants of the room Balt and Clyde jumped to their feet and began to caper about in frenzy. Even "Fingerless" Fraser's expressionless face cracked in a wide grin of the blankest amazement.



"WHAT RIGHT HAVE YOU TO SAY SUCH THINGS TO ME?"

"About noon I was called on the phone by Hilliard. He asked me to come down to the bank at once, and I went. He said he had reconsidered and wanted to put up the money. It's up. He'll back us. I've got it in writing. It's all cinched—$100,000, and more if we need it."

"You must have made a great talk," declared Clyde.

"I said nothing. He offered it himself as a personal loan. It has nothing to do with the bank. I'm going to tell Cherry now."

Alton Clyde tittered. "I told you she could pull it off," he said.

"This was Hilliard's own notion," Boyd returned coldly. "He merely reconsidered his decision, and"—

"Turn over! You're on your back."

"It was only yesterday afternoon that I talked with Cherry. I dare say she hasn't seen him since."

"Well, I happen to know that she has. As I came home last night I saw them together. They came out of that French cafe across the street and got into Hilliard's car. She was dressed up like a pony."

"What's that got to do with it?" demanded "Fingerless" Fraser.

"She pulled the old fellow's leg, that's all," explained Alton.

"If I thought she had done that," said Emerson slowly, "I wouldn't touch a penny of the money."

"I don't care where the money came from or how it got there," rumbled Balt. "It's here; that's enough."

But Boyd clung to his point with a stubbornness which he himself found it difficult to explain. The arguments of the others only annoyed him. The walk to Cherry's hotel afforded him time for reflection, which, while it deepened his doubt, somewhat lessened his impatience, and when he was shown into her presence he did not begin in the impetuous manner he had designed.

"What makes you think I had anything to do with it?" she asked after he had spoken.

"You were with Hilliard last night."

She nodded slightly. "We closed our negotiations for the copper mine last night."

"How did you come out?"

"He takes it over and does the development work," she answered.

"That means that you are independent; that you can leave the north country and do all the things you want to do?" This time her smile was puzzling. "You don't seem very glad."

"No! Realization discounts anticipation about 90 per cent. But don't let's talk about me. I—I'm unstrung today."

"I'm sorry you aren't going back to Kalvik," he said, with genuine regret.

"But I am," she declared quickly. "I'm going back with you and George if you will let me. I want to see the finish of our enterprise."

"See here, Cherry; I hope you didn't influence Hilliard in this affair."

"Why probe the matter?"

To be continued.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Try a Review Want Ad. It Pays.

More bread and better bread
WESTERN CANADA FLOUR MILLS COMPANY
Purity
MANITOBA HARD WHEAT
Has merit all its own
For bread biscuits cakes or pies
The one flour for all baking
PURITY FLOUR
31

Victim of Conspiracy?

New York, Jan. 6.—Louis de Beauval, a French attorney serving sentence in the Auburn state prison, believes himself to be the victim of an official conspiracy, and so strongly has he pleaded his case in a letter to Justice McCall of the Supreme Court, that he will be given a chance to tell his story in court.

In his appeal, De Beauval describes with many adjectives how he was "skimming along the St. Lawrence River in his motor boat," when two men appeared in another launch, and, after decoying him to one of the Thousand Islands in "Nature's Bower," robbed him of $1,000 in Canadian money. The men turned out to be constables, he writes, and after subjecting him to many indignities, arrested him for the theft of the launch, a charge on which he was convicted through an alleged conspiracy on the part of "the sheriff, magistrate, a fire commissioner, a district attorney and a county judge."

Less Infantile Paralysis.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, report for December says:

"The returns of infantile paralysis gives a greatly decreased number of cases and deaths compared with October last, when 46 cases and 8 deaths were reported, and in November, 21 cases and 5 deaths."

There were no deaths last month from smallpox.

Deaths from contagious diseases in December, 1909, totalled 251, and the cases 1,196.

There were 108 cases of tuberculosis and 73 deaths in December, 1909.

DISTRESSING HEADACHES

Headaches are largely the result of disordered kidneys.

Mrs Hall, 84 Flora street, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "I suffered for years with headaches of a most distressing nature. They would come to me suddenly, and would last for days at a time. These were usually accompanied by spells of dizziness that would leave me unable to attend to any house duties. My back was weak and caused me much suffering through the night. I had doctored for years, but all to no avail. Nothing benefited me and my condition was gradually becoming worse. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills. One box gave me a complete and lasting cure. I have not had a headache or dizzy spell since, and I feel like a new person."

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, 50 cents box, under a guarantee to refund your money if they fail to relieve any disease having its origin in the kidneys or bladder. Postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist.

Wanted to Get Home.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 6.—Gilbert Hanson of Chicago rode here on the bumpers of a freight train, in a blinding snow storm from Detroit, because he wanted to return home to the States.

American immigration officials refused him admission. He was sent to jail for 30 days to give the Canadian immigration officials time to investigate. If it is found he is an American he will be deported.

Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhœa, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. The Wood Medicine Co. (formerly Windsor) Toronto, Ont.

Lee Ryan, a prisoner in the Woodstock, N. B. jail, set fire to his bed and received burns which will prove fatal.

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec
Phone 1320 76 George St

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.10 p.m.	8.30 a.m 5.35 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 2.06 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m 1.40 p.m
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.26 a.m 12.24 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—
11.24 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—
5.36 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.38 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

EGGS

For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage

In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y
Both 'Phones 264

FANCY GOODS

AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST PHONE 226

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.

Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	8	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL

159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont
Phone 14, Bell or Machine.

There's A Difference!

No counterfeiter has ever produced a perfect dollar.

No imitator has ever equaled the Nugent Drug Co's Pine Tar Cordial in quality.

In buying Pine Tar Cordial, for coughs and colds, insist on having "NUGENT'S. All others are cheap Imitations.

We have been manufacturing this preparation for nearly 30 years. It is one of the best cures for coughs and colds and all bronchial troubles, in the market.

Our sale of Pine Tar Cordial for 1910 was over 3000 bottles.

Price 25c bottle

Manufactured only by the

NUGENT DRUG Co.

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on Water St, and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters
Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street - Both Phones 337

Place Your Orders
WITH US NOW FOR YOUR
AWNINGS :··: TENTS :··: FLAGS
or for anything you may require in our line for present or spring delivery.
Respectfully yours,

J. J. Turner & Sons
Cor. George, King and Water-sts.
Both Phones. Peterborough

A Gift That Only
You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles
—in—
Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

533 George-st. Near McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

ENGLAND'S FOREMOST EMOTIONAL ACTRESS

Miss Lena Ashwell Coming in "Judith Zorame"

Miss Lena Ashwell in "Judith Zaraine" is the Grand Opera House announcement for Wednesday, Jan. 11th. Miss Ashwell is recognised as England's foremost emotional actress. In London her's is a name with which to conjure. She has played with George Alexander and Arthur Dacre. She has supported the late Sir Henry Irving and the present Sir Charles Wyndham and Sir Beerbohm Tree. She has created parts innumerable. She originated "Leah Kleschna," Mrs. Dane in 'Mrs. Dane's Defence" and that wonderful creation, "The Shulamite." She is a favorite of royalty and welcomed in the most exclusive social circles. She has visited America, but once before. Then business matters at home—she is the actress-manager of the Savoy Theatre, London—recalled her and brought to a sudden termination the most auspiciously commenced tour ever entered upon by a foreign star in the United States.

So much for the actress. Her father was Captain Pocock, R. N., and she was born in Brockville, Ont. She attended the Bishop Strachan School for Girls, College avenue and Yonge st., Toronto, in 1888-'9. She went to Switzerland, thence to London, and there Ellen Terry advised her to go upon the dramatic stage. The rest is theatrical history.

"Judith Zaraine" was written by C. M. S. McLellan. He asol wrote "Leah Kleschna," which Miss Ashwell produced in London. The play is one of strenuous life. It is vivid in treatment and virile in action. Yet is sympathetic and has as sweet a love story as was ever told by dramatist. Its scenes are laid in the mining regions of Pennsylvania, and the pivotal plot is the unending struggle between capital and labor and the misunderstood intentions of both. Miss Ashwell's role may be best understood by a comparison with the life work of that East side, New York girl, who wedded millionaire W. E. D. Stokes a few years ago. It affords her ufll opportunity for the exercises and display of those great emotional gifts with which nature has endowed her, and which she has so splendidly cultivated.

Liebler & Company, her managers, the most understanding of all American producing managers, have given her a magnificent supporting company. She is assisted in the part opposite her own by Mr. Charles Waldron, the leading man of the same firm's "Fourth Estate" company for the past two years. His talent and intellectuality are undeniable. Moreover, he is handsome, magnetic and commandingly impressive. The supporting cast is of equal strength. So from every possible angle Peterborough would seem to have in Miss Ashwell's engagement an occasion that gives promise of being far out-of-the-ordinary interesting.

WASN'T APPROACHED AND ASKED TO MAKE SETTLEMENT

Says Mr. F. D. Kerr re the Innis Case—Reeve Knox of Havelock Gives a Detailed Explanation of His Attitude in the Matter.

Peterborough, Dec. 27, 10.

The following is from the Havelock Standard:

Dear Sir. — It has been brought to my attention that Reeve Knox is said to have stated at the Nomination Meeting at Havelock, on Monday, December 26th, that an offer was made of $500 to me in settlement of the action of Innis vs. Havelock.

I do not know who gave this alleged information to Mr. Knox but I have no hesitation in saying that such a statement is absolutely and totally incorrect and without any truth in it. It is further represented to me that it was stated that I said that I would, on behalf of my clients, take nothing less than $500. I desire also to emphatically deny the truth of that statement. As a matter of fact, both myself and the plaintiffs stated both before the commencement of the suit up to the trial itself that a settlement was to be desired, and that a reasonable settlement would always be accepted.

I fully realize that in municipal contests much that is untrue is stated, and I can only conclude that Reeve Knox has been misinformed, because otherwise his alleged statements would be absolutely untrue.

I trust that you will publish this letter for the purpose of correcting a wrong impression, and for the further purpose of bringing the truth before the Electors namely that the very great expense brought upon the ratepayers was caused simply and solely by reason of the Village representatives making no real effort to settle the action with myself or with the Plaintiffs.

Yours truly,
F. D. KERR.

Dear Sir, In reply to the above letter re statements purporting to have been made by myself at Nomination, I must say that Mr. Kerr is either a prevaricator of the truth or else he has been misinformed. I wish to most emphatically deny the statements as set forth in Mr. Kerr's letter. This being a fact, it will require very little strain on the imagination of our citizens to conclude that the rest of Mr. Kerr's statements should of necessity be relegated to oblivion, where the worm dieth not and the fire is not quenched, and whereby from the very nature of things, all such asinine rot belongs.

My remarks to the electors on Nomination night were as follows in substance: "Rather an unfortunate incident has occurred, the expense of which will increase our current expenditures for the year. I refer to Mrs. Innis' alleged misfortune, which will cost the municipality up to the present, between $700 and $800 which in my opinion and that of my colleagues, could not be avoided. As a matter of fact in order to arrive at an amicable settlement, on two occasions I approached Mrs. Innis on the subject and used my most persuasive arguments in setting forth the reasonable and decided advantage that all interested would obtain by having the case settled out of court. Her reply was to the effect that their case was in F. D. Kerr's hands and if a settlement was arrived at it would be as he advised.

I was given to understand subsequently to understand that Mr. Innis did consult with his solicitor re settlement. Mr. Hays, the town solicitor, informed me that Mr. Kerr approached him in his office re settlement out of court. Mr. Hays stated that he told Mr. Kerr that he was not authorized by the Council to submit the offer that he then made but in his opinion the Council would pay over to Mrs. Innis $300 or $400 provided however, that the case was settled out of court. Mr. Kerr then stated that Mr. Innis' expenses prior to that date had far exceeded $1000. Mr. Hays replied that if what Mr. Kerr had set forth was the basis on which the plaintiffs wished to arrive at a settlement; their interview might as well be terminated, as he did not think it a reasonable, fair or just proposition to submit to the Council, as in his opinion they would not give it a moment's consideration. We as a Council never made an offer, as the difference on which to base a settlement was so great, and having nothing before us other than as I have stated, we considered it fruitless on our part to submit any amount whatever. Further I wish it thoroughly understood that we would willingly have paid Mrs. Innis $200 or $300 in order to avoid litigation.

The Council of Havelock have no apology to make to our citizens with reference to the course pursued in this case. Knowing full well that no amount of hot air evaporation will add or detract from the merits or demerits of the case, our citizens have been quite familiar with each and every move, and their action proves conclusively that they are prepared to accept the ultimate findings of the courts.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, for the valuable space in your paper for the recording of these few remarks, I remain,

Sincerely Yours,
JOS. KNOX
Reeve of Havelock.

MARKET COMPARATIVELY SMALL THIS MORNING

Not a great deal can be said about to-day's market. Very few people were present, neither was produce abundant.

The outside market offered plenty of beef, lamb and pork. Inside, butter and eggs were the main selling produce. Eggs continue to be high; butter is reasonable. A few turkeys were offered, also chickens. From now on till spring and summer it was stated by a couple of farmers, there will be comparatively small markets.

The following were to-day's prices—

Eggs—40c a doz.
Butter—25c to 27c pound.
Chickens—50c to 75c each.
Turkeys—$3.00 to $3.50.
Lamb—12c and 13c pound.
Beef—12c and 13c pound.
Pork—8c to 9c pound.

There was no hay or wood offered this morning.

MISS YEATES TO SHOW HOW TO KILL, DRESS OR CARVE

At the Winter Poultry Show in Market Hall Next Week—Heavy List of Entries Coming in.

Operations will be commenced this evening, at the market hall, in connection with the holding of the annual winter show, of the Peterborough Poultry Association, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. There is no doubt but that the show will be a banner one, and while some eight hundred entries were received last year, that number will be increased considerably on this occasion. The association has accommodation for over fifteen hundred birds. The success of local exhibits at the Napanee show this week, will mean a keener competition and entries from a larger area than ever before.

Miss Yeates, of the Guelph Agricultural College, will be present Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening, to give demonstrations in killing and dressing for the market. She will also give demonstrations in carving of poultry and fowl, and will show the proper method of packing in baskets for the market.

The show will open Tuesday morning and the price of admission to all will be fifteen cents.

THE CANADIAN LADY
For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C. Elliot, 392 George Street.

RECTOR IS RECOVERING

Will be Able to Take Part in Services To-morrow--To Give a Paper at Toronto on Monday

After two weeks' illness Canon Davidson expects to be able to take part in the usual Sabbath services to-morrow. His parishioners and friends will be pleased to know that he is so far recovered.

An invitation has been extended to him also to deliver a paper in Toronto on Monday before the Anglican churches of the city, on the subject, "The Church's Duty to the Community."

Belmont Minstrel Photos

Excellent pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Holly Shephard and the Belmont Minstrels are on display in Mendel's studio window.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. G. F. Horsley, of Edmonton, is in the city for a few days.

Mr. Vernon Dawson spent a few days in the city this week.

Mr. James Lewis is confined to his home through a severe cold.

Mr. Herb Feint, of Winnipeg, is visiting friends in the city.

Miss Ada Mimms, who was in town for New Year's, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. Bruce Clegg and Mr. Stewart Anderson have returned to their studies at S.P.S., Toronto.

Mr. Max Yelland returned yesterday to Toronto, after spending the vacation at his home here.

Mr. C. E. McKillican, of the Department of Agriculture was in the city yesterday in connection with the Farmers' Institute meetings.

Mr. Ross Dobbin, of the School of Science, Toronto, returned to Toronto yesterday, after spending the vacation at his home here.

Rev. James Rollins is suffering from bronchitis with a severe cold and will not be able to take the services to-morrow, at St. Andrews.

Miss Martha Borland, of Buffalo, is home to spend the winter with her mother.

Mrs. Frederick W. Trebilcock, 315 Pearl Ave. will receive for the first time on Wednesday afternoon Jan. 11 and afterwards on the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Miss Helen Lytle, of Prescott, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Logan, Murray street, and has entered as a student at the Peterborough Business College.

Miss Edna Dawson of Maple Creek, Sask. who was the guest of Miss Lillian Fisher, Water street, over the holidays, returned to her studies at Albert College, Belleville, yesterday.

Mr Jack Dixon of Maple Creek, Sask., who was the guest of his cousin, Mr Roy Dixon for New Year's, returned to Toronto yesterday, to resume his course at Dental College.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chisholm have taken up their residence at 559 Water street. Mrs. Chisholm will receive on the second and third Thursdays of each month.

Mr. Fred Edwards, of North Battleford, Sask., is in the city for a few weeks, the guest of Mrs. Booth, Water street, and of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwards, Warsaw.

The intermediates will practice this evening between six and seven o'clock and an important meeting of the executive will be held at the Examiner office at 7.30 o'clock. At this meeting the team to play at Cobourg Monday night will be picked.

Margaret Metcalfe, 12 years old, of Vernon, B. C., found a detonator and played with it. She lost a hand when it exploded.

Crescent Brand Raisins
Crescent Brand Currents

One of the few Brands of perfectly Clean Fruits.

Cheapest Because Best

E. F. MASON, Grocer
429 George St. Telephone 78

GRAND
OPERA HOUSE
Wednesday, Jan. 11
First appearance in this city of England's foremost emotional actress

Miss Lena Ashwell
Assisted by
CHARLES WALDRON

presenting C. M. S. McLellan's Powerful Play
"Judith Zaraine"
(Liebler & Co., Managers.)

Prices 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50. Gallery 25c. Seats on sale Monday morning

OFFICERS OF THE LADIES' AID

Charlotte Street Ladies' Have Had a Prosperous Year—Three Re-Elections

The Ladies' Aid Society of Charlotte Street Methodist Church, at their annual meeting on Tuesday, elected officers for the year. Mrs. Stocker, Mrs. Galbraith and Mrs. Lyle, were re-elected.

The list of officers is:

President — Mrs. W. Stocker.
Vice-President — Mrs. Collier.
Secretary — Mrs. Galbraith.
Assist. Sec. — Mrs. Lightfoot.
Treasurer — Mrs. Lyle.

That the past year was a very prosperous and successful one was evidenced by the report of the Treasurer.

WEEK OF PRAYER SERVICES CLOSED

The last meeting of the week of prayer services was held last night at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, with a large attendance. The meetings which have been held in the Protestant Churches of the city during the week have been very helpful.

Last night Rev. I. Couch of George Street Church gave a most powerful and practical address, taking for his subject, "The Filling of the Holy Spirit."

John Alyea, of Rossmore, slipped on the roadway and broke his leg in two places.

MISS LENA ASHWELL
England's foremost emotional actress, who comes to The Grand next Wednesday, Jan. 11, direct from "The Royal Alexandra theatre," Toronto, in C.M.S. McLellan's powerful play, Judith Zaraine." The seat sale opens Monday morning.

Adams'
Great Cash
REALIZATION SALE
For 15 Days, Commencing
Wednesday, Jan. 4th, 1911

Smashed prices in every department during this Cash Realization Sale.

We Want the Cash
You Want the Goods

This Great Cash Realization Sale is going with a rush. Hundreds of Ladies who know Bargains say they never saw such values.

Don't let anything keep you away.
Bargains all over the store.

Harry Adams

VIAVI

A natural, non-surgical system of treatment.

467 WATER-ST. N

Walk Right In

—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
364 George Street.

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paper Hangers, Gilders Glass Embossers and General House and Church Decorators

All work guaranteed and executed with despatch. Our charges are moderate and we only use the best materials.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Address 762 Water St. Phone 1140.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks are tendered our many customers for making for us the most prosperous year we have ever had.

Hoping for continuation of favors for the future, we are,

Respectfully

GEO. RECORD
FRENCH DRY PRESSER AND CLEANER
173 Simcoe St. - 204 Charlotte St.

J. T. O'Connell & Co
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

Garden property for sale, exchange or to rent.

5 acre park lot situated on river and close to G.T.Ry. tracks, nice orchard, good 1½ storey brick house, frame stables, hen house and hog pen, may be purchased at the low price of $900, as the owner is leaving the city.

8 acres land, nice and level, good garden property, nice view of the Otonabee river, 5 roomed frame cottage, frame stable, hog pen, hen house, good well, may be purchased at a reasonable price or the owner will rent by the month.

Good 2 storey brick house, 24x30, brick kitchen attached, house contains 10 rooms, bath and plumbing, furnace, electric light, lot 76x100, together with the joint use of a lane 12 feet wide. This property is situated within 5 minutes walk of J. T. O'Connell & Co's. The house requires a little paint and papering and is then worth $7,500. Can be purchased before Jan 10th for $1,800.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
186 Hunter-st. Phone 276

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 626 170 Charlotte Street

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING

NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE

SEE THEM AT

THE ROY STUDIO
146½ Hunter Street.

New Piano Warerooms
— and —
Real Estate Office

TAYLOR & WOOD
390 WATER STREET

Women's Pains

"I received your sample of Zutoo Tablets, and took them for severe pain (monthly) and headache. At the end of 30 minutes I was entirely free from pain and experienced no more throughout the period. I suffer a great deal at these times and feel grateful that I now have a remedy which affords quick relief. Every woman in the land should know about Zutoo Tablets and what they will do."

MRS. ALLEN WRIGHT, Fulford, Q.

Zutoo

Telegraphy

Almost all Railway Officials were once operators.

Civil Service

Our Civil Service Dept., is handled by able instructors.

STENOGRAPHY

We guarantee to place Stenographers within ten days of graduation.

BOOKKEEPING

Teachers of broad scholarship and wide experience.

NIGHT CLASSES

Learn while you earn. Many of the world's leading men gained their education by attending night classes. You may enter any day or evening.

Call, write or phone for particular

Peterboro' Business College
(Founded 1885)
McKONE & BURNS - Principal
GEO. SPOTTON - - - President

THE SEASON'S GREATEST PLAY

Lena Ashwell in "Judith Zaraine" At the Royal Alexandra in Toronto All Last Week

Lena Ashwell, the distinguished English actress, the London Mrs. Dane Darling of the Gods, and Leah Kleschna, who once toured America in a play called "The Shulamite," makes her (first) appearance in this city at the Grand Opera House next Wednesday, Jan 11th, in "Judith Zaraine," a new play by C. M. S. McLellan, the author of "Leah Kleschna."

"Judith Zaraine" is frankly a melodramatic attack on one of the great economic problems of the day. Though serving as the vehicle of an English actress, it is an American play. Its locale is a Pennsylvania steel mill, on the eye of expected conflict between the mill-workers and the federal troops sent into the town to supress disturbances born of labor-troubles. They part played by Miss Ashwell is that of a remarkable Russian woman, leadership of the warring workmen. She had been secretary to John Isaacs, an independent mill owner, who was driven to the wall and to suicide by the trust. His mills were taken over by the combine, who brought in their own force of workers, throwing Isaacs' men out of work. Judith Zaraine, by force of her personality, interests the country, through the press, in the injustices done, and public opinion ranges itself on the side of the men who are stifling passions in the face of government rifles, awaiting the opportunity to turn the seething little mill-town into an earthly hell.

The dominating force in the directorate of the trust is David Murray. Murray, aroused by the hostile attitude of the press, visits the town incognito as a reporter for a newspaper he controls, determined to learn the true state of affairs and to set his company right with the public. Naturally, when this most unusual reporter meets the remarkable woman who is the genius of the strife being waged, —then comes the tug of war.

The swift, sure movement that characterised McLellan's work in "Leah Kleschna" is said to pervade his latest play. From these briefly related premises, McLellan has conceived a story such as Sardou would have revelled in, sweeping from one tense situation to another even more dramatic. Whatever message "Judith Zaraine" may have been intended to carry with it, is skillfully subordinated to the action of the play. From what surmises it is possible to make in advance, Miss Ashwell's present vehicle should give her an opportunity to make a lasting impression upon all who see the celebrated actress during her present tour. Miss Ashwell is visiting America under the direction of Liebler & Company, who have provided her with the usual fine cast to be found in attractions under their managerial banner. Charles Waldron who scored so substantially as the hero of "The Fourth Estate," is assisting Miss Ashwell, and the other people in the company are all well known.

Iowa Divine Will Preach

Rev. Herbert Taylor, of Bonaparte Iowa, who is visiting in Peterboro will preach in the Presbyterian Church in Springville to-morrow at 11 a.m. and in St. James' Church, Peterboro, at 7 p.m.

CHRISTMAS TREE AND CONCERT AT ST. LUKE'S SUNDAY SCHOOL

There was a large attendance at the annual Christmas tree and entertainment of St. Luke's Sunday school last evening, and a most enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. David Spence, the Sunday school superintendent, was in the chair, and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt opened the event with devotional exercises. After welcoming the parents and friends, he called upon Mr. Spence to take charge of the proceedings. The following programme was rendered:

Christmas carol, by the whole school.
Recitation—Gilbert Doe.
Piano Solo—Wilhelmine Gaskins.
Song—Jennie Smith.
Song—Fred Legon.
Recitation—Carrie Scott.
Recitation—Miss Kate Leary.
Duet—A. Phillips and Elmer Phillips.
Christmas carol, by the school.
Recitation—Gordon Maniece.
Song—Florence Adams.
Recitation—Frank Burgess.
Vocal duet—Georgie and Prudence Long.
Recitation—Fred Doupe.
Dutch song—Gertie and Renzie Gorrie.
Recitation—Margaret Turner.
Piano Solo—Miss Katie Leary.

At this stage the chairman suggested that as a Dutch song had been given, Dr. Langfeldt should contribute a German song, which he did.

The giving of prizes for faithful attendance and study in the Sunday school. In presenting these prizes Rev. Dr. Langfeldt gave a short resume of the Sunday school work during the year, and emphasized the faithful work of the superintendent, Mr. David Spence, whose efficiency and ability in conducting the Sunday school, he said, could not be excelled. The rector also impressed upon the parents the absolute necessity of giving every encouragement to the teaching of the children in religion.

The rector then distributed prizes to those who showed punctuality and efficiency in study during the year.

The Christmas tree, laden with presents, was then plundered, and every child in the Sunday school received a gift.

A pleasant evening was brought to a close with the singing of the anthem and the pronouncing of the benediction.

THEATRICAL

The Passing of the Third Floor Back

The real significance of the visit of the new lodger in "The Passing of the Third Flood Pack," is apparent or should be apparent to everyone who sees the play. The occupant of the third floor back has qualities that are so rarely like those of the Christ in their perfection and beauty that it may be taken that it was the intention of the author, Jerome K. Jerome, to offer the drama as an example of the effect a visit of the Master would have in a lodging house where all was disorder: where petty jealousies and selfishness and thoughtlessness had wrought their destruction of the domestic peace and felicity. By inspiring a love for all that was good and beautiful in all those he came in contact with the kindly, tender guest reversed the order of things in the troubled household and when he left all was happiness and harmony among the boarders. The play is thoughtfully and skilfully written and is rich in ethical value.

The part of the new lodger which Forbes Robertson played in New York and London with such distinguished success was taken in a masterful way at the presentation at the Grand last night by his brother Ian Robertson. Mr. Robertson's support was superb. The company were actors of the English school and their acting was restrained and artistic.

The audience was deeply impressed and curtain calls were numerous the curtain having to be rung up several times at the conclusion of each act.

Y.W.C.A. NOTES

A special meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Board will be held on Monday morning at 10.30.

The Y.W.C.A. cooking class will meet at 7.30 on Monday evening in the Central school, for work under the direction of Miss Stenhoff.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Pleased Big Audience

"The Cat and the Fiddle" delighted a crowded house at the Grand this afternoon.

Dr. Luttrell at St. Thomas

Dr. Sam Luttrell is conducting a series of special services at St Thomas at the Baptist church of which the Rev O. C. Elliott, a former pastor of Park St. church, is in charge.

Special for This Week

With every purchase amounting to $1 (not sugar) we will give free, one dust pan. W. Robuck, Water and Smith streets. dtf

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opened last Fall one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough All the best makes are shown — all shades

Dancing Class

New term beginning Friday, Jan. 6th. Children 4.30. Adults 8 p. m. Conservatory Music Hall, under direction of Miss Ivy Coventry.

Pianos to Rent.

Pianos and organs rented from $1.50 per month up. Six months' rent allowed in case of purchase. The J. M. Greene Music Co., Limited, George St.

Second Vice-President

At the meeting of the Eastern Dairymen's Association at Perth, yesterday, Mr. George A. Gillespie, of Peterborough, was elected second vice president.

A Distinguished Preacher

The Rev, Principal Gandier, D. D., of Knox College Toronto, will spend Sunday in Peterborough. He will preach in the morning in St. Paul's Church, and in the evening in Knox Church. Principal Gandier was for years pastor of St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto, and is regarded as one of the foremost preachers of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

At St. Paul's Church in the evening, the pastor will preach a special sermon to young men on "Gradation in Sin."

FREE METHODISTS TO HOLD REVIVAL

Services Commence To-morrow at the New Church, Aylmer Street

Revival services will start to-morrow (Sunday) and continue for an indefinite time in the Free Methodist church, Aylmer street

This will be the first revival held in the new church, and the society is looking toward a very successful soul-saving time.

The modern methods employed in making converts are not resorted to by the Free Methodists but the old fashioned "penitent altar" is used, where men and women are invited to come and seek God until they receive the witness of the Spirit, that they are born again.

The services to-morrow will be at the usual hours, 11 o'clock in the morning and 7 in the evening, and at 7.45 during the week.

The services during the first week will be in charge of the evangelists the Misses Babcock and Clark

All lovers of old-time religion are invited to these meetings for the ingathering of souls.

OBITUARY

THOMAS THEOBALD

The death occurred this morning of Thomas Theobald, at the residence of his son-in-law, 193 Romaine street, after a few days' illness. The deceased was 85 years of age and was born in Kent, England.

The funeral will take place Monday morning at nine o'clock, from the late residence to the Church of the Sacred Heart, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery

CONTRIBUTIONS STILL CONTINUE

To Come in for Chimes Fund—No Mistake Made in Placing Order for Chimes With Taylor and Company

A number of new contributions have been received during the last few weeks showing continued interest in the enterprise.

Court Stanley, A.O.F., voted $5, and the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union, No 17, have also sent in $5.

Out-of-town contributions have been received from Messrs. Lawrence Cluxton Montreal; Walter Cluxton, New York; Herbert Cluxton, Boston, and Joseph Bell, Vancouver One of the last acts of the late Miss Dryson was to give a cheque for her handsome subscription of $100.

The casting of the bells was intended to be begun soon after January 1st, and delivery is expected here in the early summer.

Subscriptions to the fund have been paid in with a promptness most creditable to subscribers Comparatively few remain unpaid.

The rector of Woodstock in a recent letter, says "You made no mistake in placing your order with Taylor & Co. Our bells keep beautifully in tune, and have a soft, full rounded note that sounds like a harmonious chord."

LAYMEN'S MEETING

The Laymen's Evangelical Association will hold its regular monthly prayer meeting on Monday night, at the home of Mr. G. W. Mulligan, 804 George Street. It will be a public meeting.

Mr. [illegible] will give the address All are invited.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

J. Turner & Sons ——— Owners and Managers

Monday and Tuesday,
Jan. 9th and 10th
At 7:30 and 9 p.m.

Matinees Monday, Jan. 9th, at 2.30 and 4 p.m. Price 5c.

HURLEY & HURLEY
The World's Novelty Gymnasts.

MISS ANNIE DEE
Singing Comedian.

These are two very fine acts.
Also complete change of Moving Pictures.

PERUNA A WONDERFUL BOON IN MY OLD AGE.

MRS. MAHALA REID.

Heartily Approves of Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin for Kidney and Bowel Trouble

MRS. MAHALA REID, Corbyville, Ont., Canada, writes:

"Your celebrated remedies have been a wonderful boon to me in my old age.

"I have not been in so good health for several years as now. I was troubled with constipation, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

"A little over two years ago, I completely lost my health, becoming almost helpless, when a dear friend sent me your remedies, Peruna and Manalin. I began to take them, following the directions on the bottle. I very soon began to feel benefited by their use and continued to take them.

"I am now completely recovered from the above ailments, in fact, better than I have been for years past. I cannot praise the remedies too highly and will always recommend them to others."

Constipation is almost sure to set up other derangements.

Retained accumulations within the bowels are partly reabsorbed into the system, producing sometimes rheumatism, sometimes kidney trouble.

The blood being surcharged with acids, which ordinarily find their escape through the bowels when they are regular, rheumatism is the result.

Acid blood forms crystals, which accumulate about the ligaments, cartilages and sometimes the bones in the joints.

Such morbid accumulations of blood throw extra work upon the kidneys. The kidneys being unable to perform the unusual labor of excreting these poisons, often give way and kidney trouble is the result.

Permanent relief cannot be reasonably expected except by correcting the constipation.

Regular bowels are a great safeguard to health. Peruna and Manalin are unexcelled the world over for chronic diseases affecting the bowels and kidneys.

Mrs. W. W. Lamaster, 3127 McAtee, Ave., Louisville, Ky., writes:

"I suffered for twenty-six years with bladder and kidney trouble, and being advised to give Peruna a trial, I did so. Eight bottles of Peruna and three bottles of Manalin entirely cured me."

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR A FREE PERUNA ALMANAC FOR 1911

WEDDING BELLS

MILLAGE — STEWART

Married at the Mark Street parsonage on Wednesday, at 2.00 p.m., by Rev. C. H. Coon, Mr Sandy Millage, Verulam, to Miss Sarah Stewart, daughter of Mr. James Stewart, of Verulam, attended by Mr. George Nelson, and Miss Eva Stewart, sister of the bride.

Mr. Millage will reside on his farm in Emily Township.

GUILD OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP

Christian Politics is the Subject For To-morrow Afternoon at the Princess

At the regular Sunday meeting of the Guild of Goodfellowship, in the Princess to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, the subject of the address will be, "Christian Politics." A cordial invitation is extended to all young men and the older ones too.

Charged with insanity, John R. Wilson of Kemptville, is in jail at Brockville. He made a violent attack on his father.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
TO-NIGHT

Chas. A. Sellon's English Pantomime Trick Spectacle, The Merry Musical Extravaganza

THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE

19 Song Hits

20 Gorgeous Scenes

40 People with HARRY B. WATSON and the Boylans

Different from other Musical Comedies

Prices—MATINEE, 25c, 50c, and 15c; Children when accompanied by an adult 25c any seat
EVENING—50c, 75c, $1.00, and $1.50; Gallery 25c
SEATS NOW ON SALE.

Some Special Bargains AT ROUTLEY'S

Crockery and China Section

30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each	5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each	5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each	5c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice	$7 48
10 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge	3.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, kermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration	3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decoration, choice	3 85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleck. It will pay you to see them. Only per set	20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times our price, choice	24c

Specials

54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of rolled gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at	$2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at	54c

We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at

TORONTO 262 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 370 George-st.

O'Keefe's

Special Extra Mild

ALE

Clear as crystal—golden amber in color. Rich, creamy and sparkling. With a flavor of irresistable deliciousness. A bottle of O'KEEFE'S ALE is a drink of delight.

Special Extra Mild

STOUT

Extra Mild, remember. A rich old brew—free of dregs and sediment—that you may enjoy as often as you like without fear of upsetting the stomach or of making you bilious.

"The Beer That Is Always O.K."

Hotels, Cafés and Dealers have O'Keefe's Ale, Porter and Lager.

202

GRILLERS TURN DOWN LINDSAY MIDGETS WITH A 17-3 SCORE

Visitors Offered Weak Opposition to the Weight, Speed and Team Work of Locals, in Which the Line Was Always Conspicuous—Half Time Score 7-3.

'Twas the opener for the juniors, fans and fanettes slim and stout, passed the wicket, shied a shilling, took their seats to bowl and shout. All was joy, and "Heather" Thirnbeck smiled—the ice was smooth as glass,—and the kids were fit and ready with the shot and four-man pass. Cobourg's braves had hit the blankets, now another foe appeared in the seven from the village that the hand of Fate had seared. Cruel it seemed that this young septette should so soon be laid at rest, with the plain and simple wording on the slab "'Twas Lindsay's best." "Rubdown" Breen and "Boss" McGeachie, "Lady" Lal had things to say, these all shot the guff as smoothly as D. B., the factory jay. Fresh from Scugog's town league battles, coached by Rip Van Winkle Bill, fed on tricks by Goosie Taylor, they their score bag hoped to fill. But these dreamlets, like all others, those of recent date in mind, faded quickly as the Grillers started on the hour grind. Curfew Ringer Sproule got busy, with a rush the teams broke away, Lindsay found the sheet too shiny, but they gamely tried to stay. "Baby" Norton, rolled oats booster—just two hundred was his weight—dodged and ducked, and used his headpiece, also took them in the crate. First one score and then another, three for Midgets sandwiched in, brought the count up at the finish, something like a cricket win. Tickled railbirds, sorry Midgets, left the rink, some still in doubt, but the Lindsay scribes can figure how their pets went down and out.

It is somewhat refreshing, when a team of athletes live up to advance notices, as did Willy Breen's Grillers, in their game with Lindsay Midgets last night. The score was 17—3, with the figures 7—3 for half time. Much has been said about the material of this new promising septette, and it is safe to say that of the eight hundred people on hand to watch the contest, only those from the northern burg were inclined to be disappointed. They had to admit, however, that it was a treat to see such an exhibition as that put up by the victors, individually and as a team. Lindsay's line-up looked likely as the players appeared on the ice, but only then. The game was in progress but a few minutes, when it could be easily seen that the men were raw, and not in any way dangerous. Such is the situation in Scugog town. They have had their fling, and with the passing of the ONLY Midgets, must dig down for new material. The team last night was a product of the town league playing their first game against husky opponents, and an aggregation of seasoned players, every man working smoothly himself and fitting in perfectly with the team play.

The Grillers had a great chance to show just how great they are, and the result was satisfactory. Had they not won that game in Cobourg, the fans might feel inclined to attribute last night's win to the weakness of the opposing team. But it is a case of seven players who can deliver the goods, and the doings of the officials behind, during the next few days, will be awaited with decided concern by the majority of those who turned out to encourage the youngsters last night.

Every player deserves particular mention for his conspicuously good work. While Jack Patterson wasn't overworked, he had a bunch of bouncers and rollers to take care of, and these are the ones which try a goal guardian. The three shots passing him were, from right in and labelled counters. Reynolds and Heffernan, his defence, were a pair of winners, and the pretty rush and score of the latter, in the first half was something worth going to see. He was in the fight all the time, and shows some improvement over last season. The new man Reynolds has speed to let loose whenever the occasion called for such.

He struck terror into the hearts of more than one Midget as he ploughed through the enemy, and in losing he lost no time in beating it for home again. Jack Coughlin never before showed up like he did last night. He likes hard ice, and his individual efforts, together with his speedy skating, were an outstanding feature of the exhibition. In middle ice Art. Hall was there all the time with stickhandling and skating, some of his shots being from the face off and dead on the nets. He rarely missed a pass from the wing men, and the frequency with which Sorel and Matthews slid them over kept him busy at all stages. Sorel was passing and shooting all the time. In the latter department he was particularly strong, his shots being accurate and speedy. To Harold Matthews went the honor of counting the first goal of an O.H.A. game for this season. Like the opposite board man, he played a feeding and shooting game, and was always on hand on the call from his team mates.

THE TEAMS.

LINDSAY

Newton

Norton

Henley

Callaghan

Mercer Knowlson McConnell

O

Sorel Hall Matthews

Coughlin

Heffernan

Reynolds

Patterson

PETERBOROUGH

HOW THEY COUNTED

Referee Sproule started the teams away shortly after eight o'clock with Patterson taking the south goal. The Grillers immediately forced the play, with Lindsay taking a close second. The Midgets, however, were shaky on their skates and were inclined to be timid. Coughlin got away with a rush and Henley followed suit. Reynolds lost a chance when he kicked. Hall shot wide on a pass from Sorel, and it was up to Matthews to send up the white flag for the first time after a nice pass from Coughlin.

Sorel tried a shot in vain, and Henley, after a short sprint, attempted a long heave. Hall took the next following a face-off in Lindsay territory.

McConnell trangressed and answered the finger sign. The play alternated, and Reynolds followed the direction indicated by the referee. Callaghan and Norton combined, but the former skated over the puck in front of Patterson. Heffernan got too busy and was chased. Norton, who looked to be the strong man for the visitors, broke away at his goal and steamed the rink area, beating Patterson on a real nifty shot.

Matthews started the play that scored the next for the Grillers, passing to Sorel, who counted. Knowlson and Norton tore away together for Lindsay's second tally, the latter finding the nets. Matthews went off for an infraction. The referee was doing good work. He made both teams play hockey and of the brand that doesn't call for pink tea settings. He had splendid control of the boys. It was up to Heffernan to put the Grillers one better. Taking the puck at centre, he dodged Henley and Norton in the neatest manner imaginable and it was easy to do the rest, with all respects to Newton, who was working like a veteran. "Corkey," after a corkscrew, passed to Sorel, who shot wide. Mercer was hurt, and with Coughlin went off. Matthews got going again, handed the rubber to Hall, and the flag went up again. The north wall groaned as Norton's two hundred connected with Sorel, and the husky point zoomed down to the penalty man. Reynolds got away from the crowd, and with no defence to bother him, bore right in on Newton, but the kid stopped in clever style.

Mercer and Coughlin came on again and Hall took care of another pass from Matty, and the figures were, Grillers 6, Midgets 2.

Sproule's eagle eye detected Henley and he took a rest. Knowlson added another for his team, and what proved to be the last counter after Norton's long rush and pass. Sorel and Heff combined for the next, Sorel taking the shot. Henley was hurt, and left the ice with Matthews.

SECOND HALF.

Coughlin was caught loafing shortly after the face off, and was banished. tallied after Newton had blocked a wicked one from Sorel. Norton felt the arbitrator's wrath, and a few seconds later Sorel joined the watch-handlers for lodging. Coughlin pulled off a pretty board rush and scored, placing the count at Grillers 9, Midgets 3.

Billy Breen's smile added to the illumination, and with the extra light Matthews notched number ten, ably assisted by Coughlin, who secured from Sorel. Hall took the next in front of Newton from Coughlin. Sorel took a minute for trying a Laura Jean Libbey on Norton, and McConnell, too, fell by the way. The Midgets, by this time, were thoroughly convinced that they were up against it and were fading. Coughlin took a nap on the ice, and play was called till he recovered. Norton brought forth hilarity when he lost his equilibrium and shook the building. Two seconds later he joined the prisoner's box for acting unwisely. To make it an even dozen, Hall accepted a donation from Matthews, and the clear line signal went up. Heffernan went one better and Hall secured another, after which he took a spell inside the boards for loafing. Sorel gathered number fifteen on a pass from Heffernan, and to keep up the good work Matthews slid one over to centre, and Arthur J. slammed it in. McConnell acted rudely towards Reynolds and was handed a much needed rest. Heff was the next victim. Sorel shot the last goal of the game after a trip with Matthews.

THE SCORING

First Half.

1—Grillers (Matthews) 4min 5 sec.
2—Grillers (Hall) 2 min 30 sec.
3—Midgets (Norton) 7 min 40 sec.
4—Grillers (Sorel) 1 min 10 sec.
5—Midgets (Norton) 40 sec.
6—Grillers (Heffernan) 2 min.
7—Grillers (Hall) 2 min.
8—Grillers (Hall) 5 min.
9—Midgets (Knowlson) 3 min.
10—Grillers (Sorel) 11 min 30 sec.

Second Half.

11—Grillers (Hall) 2 min 50 sec.
12—Grillers (Coughlin) 5 min.
13—Grillers (Matthews) 40 sec.
14—Grillers (Hall) 1 min
15—Grillers (Hall) 7 min 40 sec.
16—Grillers (Heffernan) 1 1-2 min
17—Grillers (Hall) 3 min
18—Grillers (Sorel) 2 min
19—Grillers (Hall) 2 min 30 sec.
20—Grillers (Sorel) 2 min

PENALTIES

Grillers—Reynolds, Heffernan 2, Matthews, Sorel 2.

Midgets—McConnell 3, Norton 3.

Timekeepers—Derocher, Peterborough; Simpson, Lindsay.

Referee—Harvey Sproule, Toronto.

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS
Skates Sharpened and Repaired
MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1254

ALWAYS IN TROUBLE

Jack Johnson gets in trouble just as frequently as a baby gets into molasses.

Poor John. His latest quarrel is with his mother. The old negro mammy, who was such an interesting figure in connection with her son's championship fight with Jeffries, has taken strong exception to the champion's wife living under the same roof as she. Undue familiarity between Jack's wife, who is white, and his chaffeur is given as the reason for the aversion of old Mrs. Johnson to the young Mrs. Johnson. Johnson himself is strongly opposed to his wife being turned away from the family domicile, however, and will leave with her "never to cross the threshold again."

The suit over the diamond ring between Johnson and Little, his ex manager, is still going on. It has been before the courts for two months and before it is settled the proceedings will cost either Little or Johnson a good deal more than the ring is worth.

JACK JOHNSON.

In spite of the suit Little will become Johnson's manager again, it is stated. This is not authoritatively announced, however, and it would not be surprising if the two should come to terms again after all the mud slinging that has been going on between them.

One thing is certain. Johnson will run on the rocks if he goes along much longer without a manager for he's the poorest man on earth to handle his own business.

PUCKLAND

Woodstock Juniors of first year O. H. A. experience, put London away last night 9-4.

Trenton pros. were defeated at Picton by a 9-4 score.

Leon Koyl was down with the Midgets last night. Dickie Butler was another familiar face.

Newton who worked, between the nets of the visitors is a cousin of Basil Newton, of the old Midgets and Intermediates.

The Peterborough Hockey Club in opening both wickets would please the fans a whole lot.

Fifteen players of the D.D.D. hockey team were out at practice after the junior fixture last night. The team plays the Machine Shop seven of the C.G.E. Monday night in a Mercantile League game. George R. Ross is captain of the three D's.

CURLING

Rinks and scores last night were—

A. Gibson	J. Brydie
J. D. Collins	F. Brownscombe
A. Mowat	J. A. Aylmer
O. N. Brown	J. H. Connal
Skip...... 13	Skip...... 5
H. H. Elliott	A. Archibald
W. H. Collier	W. S. Dodds
W. H. Dunsford	C. Seymour
J. W. McDermid	R. Sturgeon
Skip...... 12	Skip...... 13
J. D. Craig	F. H. Dobbin
J. A. Cameron	J. Hogan
Dr. Cameron	D. B. Denison
W. G. Ferguson	J. H. Ferguson
Skip...... 12	Skip...... 10
R. N. Travers	H. Lech
L. Dobbin	S. J. Stubbs
W. H. Denham	R. Harston
T. S. Matthews	G. B. Stevenson
Skip...... 10	Skip...... 11
J. H. Metheral	Dr. Amys
R. Denne	H. Martin
F. Hall	J. Brightman
D. Davidson	T. Lockhart
Skip...... 16	Skip...... 6

Historic Church Burned.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—Fire, believed to have been caused by a defective chimney, yesterday destroyed the Methodist Church at Odessa, built in 1869, of which Rev. J. H. Bell is pastor. A bucket brigade was formed of villagers, but was of little use. It will require over $20,000 to replace the building. The church site was given by Capt. Booth, a pioneer U. E. Loyalist. It was partially insured.

Will Build Nurses' Home.

Brantford, Jan. 7.—At the annual meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary here yesterday, $11,230 was reported in the treasury to be applied to the building of a nurses' home in connection with the John H. Stratford Hospital. It is expected that the home will be built this year.

MEN-WE CAN CURE YOU
FINEST MEDICAL INSTITUTE IN AMERICA
OWNED AND OCCUPIED BY DRS. K. & K.

YOUNG OR MIDDLE-AGED MEN who need the services of expert specialists why waste your money in treating with doctors you know nothing of, why waste your money with worthless electric belts or drug store nostrums, when you can get guaranteed, reliable, successful treatment from these Master Specialists. Drs. K. & K. have treated patients throughout Canada for over 20 years and are responsible financially. They accept only curable cases and should your case prove incurable it need not cost you a cent. If you are unable to call at our office for a personal examination we will send a Question List for you to fill up from which we can diagnose your case and tell you whether you are curable or not. Then we will prescribe specific remedies for your individual case which you can take at home. We have no cure-all remedy that we send to everybody alike as most specialists do, but we prescribe the remedies required for each individual case to complete a cure. That's one of the secrets of our wonderful success when others fail. Send for our Free Booklet on Diseases of Men (Illustrated.)

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY
We Guarantee to Cure
Nervous Debility, Blood Diseases, Varicose Veins, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases
CONSULTATION FREE
If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY
Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows:
DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.
Write for our private address.

HOW HANS HOLMER WON THE SCOTTISH MARATHON

New York, January 6.—A special from Edinburgh to the World says: Pluck, perseverance and the determination to stake everything on his ability were rewarded. Hans Holmer to-day when the little Canadian American distance runner defeated the pick of the runners of Europe in a Marathon here at Powderhall Course. In lowering the colors of all the European stars, Holmer shattered all world's twenty-five mile records. His time for the full distance was 2h. 32 m. 21 4-5s.

From the thirteenth to the twenty-fifth mile all old marks fell before the speed and stamina of the American. He set such a fast pace when in the lead, and while following a pacemaker, forced him so hard that records fell by the wayside. Cheer after cheer greeted the runner on his sensational victory.

The sympathy of many in the vast throng which turned out to see the battle between the distance kings was with Holmer. It was known that the American had staked everything on his success in the big run. He came across the ocean with just enough money to pay his passage and furnish him with the bare necessities for training for the event. Had he lost he would have been practically penniless and forced to work his way home on a cattle ship.

STAKED ALL ON RACE.

Before leaving for Scotland Holmer weighed his chances of success. He failed to see the possibility of defeat, and so laid his plans accordingly. With the little money he had won during his cinder path career in America, he resolved to take the risk of being stranded in a foreign country. He sailed for Scotland on December 17, with five pairs of Sparrow Robinson's running shoes as his principal baggage.

Holmer ran a beautiful race not only for his passage money, for that's what success meant, but for the honor of beating the pick of the foreign runners. He forced the pacemakers to run fast in the early stages of the race, trailing close to their heels. Then in the nineteenth mile he lengthened his stride and went to the front. From then on he had things his own way.

At the end of the first thirteen miles Bouchard was leading by about three hundred yards from Holmer; Clark, of Liverpool, third, and Gardiner, fourth. Holmer took the lead a few miles on, and Gardiner was second with Bouchard third. White, of Dublin, was fourth here, but two miles later he took a second place, with Gardiner following close behind.

The enormous crowd witnessed Len Hurst's long distance records being broken right from thirteenth to twenty-fifth miles with great enthusiasm, and at the finish the American received a great ovation and was heartily congratulated by all who could get near him.

The first thirteen miles were done in 1 hour 10 minutes 20 seconds, which was 36 seconds less than the former record. This was increased to four minutes thirteen seconds at the end of twenty miles, while at the end of twenty-five miles the American, who finished in grand style, had ten minutes twenty-seven seconds to spare.

Holmer, who won by three laps gets $375 as his share of the purse. The betting at ten miles was three to one against Holmer, but subsequently it was shortened to 7 to 4. While the money gained by the winner is not a big stake, the reputation he earned by winning the classic event will make him a popular drawing card throughout the United Kingdom, and his services will be in demand by athletic promoters everywhere.

ENNISMORE ELECTIONS

Ennismore, Jan. 2.—The official report of the municipal elections of the Township of Ennismore is as follows: Reeve, Samuel Killen 99; Wm. Young, 93; majority for Killen, 6. The Councillors elected are: William H. Crough, John Geary, Stephen H. O'Conor and Cornelius O'Rielly.

The three last named councillors are new men, and will take their seat in the Council for the first time on January 9.

The contest between the Reeves was a hard one, owing to the popularity of both men.

Moose Jaw curlers have opened what they claim to be the largest curling rink in the world.

Guelph has been given a reduction of 10 cents in the price of gas, making it 90 cents per thousand.

Robert Meighen says a fine theatre will be erected in Montreal, and a Ritz-Carlton hotel is also likely.

Arthur Johnson, aged 22, of Jordan River, N. S., fell from a lumber schooner of Cape Cod and was drowned.

FOR SALE

Iron Pipes for water and steam, Posts, Belting Pulleys, Shafting, Chains, Iron and Wood Pulleys, Steal Beams, Rails, Wire Fencing new and slightly used. Very cheap. Send for Catalogue, and state what you need.

The Imperial Waste & Metal Co.
7 Queen Street - MONTREAL

Write for Our List of Investment Bonds
MUNICIPAL PUBLIC UTILITY INDUSTRIAL
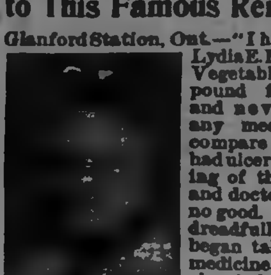
TO YIELD FROM 4% to 6%
WARREN, GZOWSKI & CO.
Members Toronto Stock Exchange
Traders' Bank Bldg. TORONTO. 25 Broad St. NEW YORK.

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.
AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $850,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH
10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.
Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.
APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.
FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY
MERSON & CO.
Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
18 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.



MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Maine.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

LOCAL CHURCH CALENDAR

SUNDAY, JAN. 8th, 1911

ST. PETER'S ROMAN CATHOLIC.

Mass will be sung at 5.30, 6.15, 8, 9 and 10.30. His Lordship will sing Pontifical mass at 10.30 and Pontifical Vespers at 7. There will be a sermon at Pontifical mass and at Vespers.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH (ANGLICAN.)

Rev. Canon Davidson, rector.

Rev. Chas. Carpenter, assistant.

First Sunday after the Epiphany.

Holy Communion at 8.30 and 11 a.m.

Processional 94, "As With Gladness Men of Old," Kyrie; Gloria Tibi, Sursum Corda, Sanchis to Henry Smart's setting in F.

Hymn before sermon 527, "Joy to the World."

Offertory, "Nowell," Traditional Carol.

Hymn 96, "Lo! the Pilgrim Magi."

Gloria in Excelsis, Woodward.

Recessional 96 (tune 95) "O Thou Who by a Star."

Sunday school and Bible Classes 3 p. m.

Evensong and sermon 7 p.m.

Processional 94, "As With Gladness."

Gloria, Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis," Simper.

Office hymn 92, "Earth Has Many a Noble City."

Before sermon 476, "Hail to the Lord's Anointed."

Anthem, "Nazareth," Gounod.

Recessional 100, "The People That in Darkness Sat."

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH (ANGLICAN.)

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, rector.

First Sunday after Epiphany.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Morning prayer and sermon.

3 o'clock—Sunday school and Bible Class.

7 p.m.—Evensong service.

Weeknight service Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

The rector will preach at both services.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH (ANGLICAN.)

Rev. R. H. Trumpour, M.A., B.D., rector.

1st Sunday after Epiphany.

8.30 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Morning prayer and sermon.

3 p.m.—Sunday school.

3 p.m.—Mr. Sisson's Ladies' Bible Class.

3 p.m.—Rector's Men's Bible Class.

4.10 p.m.—Baptism.

7 p.m.—Evening prayer and sermon.

The rector will preach at both services.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. James Rollins, B. A., pastor.

Morning service Rev. R. Pogue. Evening service, Rev. H. J. Keith.

Sunday school and Bible Classes at 3 p.m.

Strangers welcome.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. R. Pogue, pastor.

10.30 a.m.—Congregational prayer meeting.

11 a.m.—Morning service. Principal Gandier of Knox College, Toronto, will preach.

3 p.m.—Sabbath school in all departments.

3 p.m.—"Mitto" Adult Bible Class taught by Rev. R. Pogue.

3 p.m.—Young Men's Bible Class. Teacher Inspector Mowat.

7 p.m.—Evening service. Mr. Pogue will preach a special sermon to young men on "Gradation in Sin."

KNOX PRESBYTERIAN.

Rev. H. J. Keith, M.A., B.D., pastor.

Meeting of Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip at 10.15 a.m. in the brotherhood room. Address by the chaplain of the Brotherhood.

11 a.m.—Public worship. Subject, "Taking Care of the Fragments."

3 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service, sermon by Rev. Principal Gardier, of Knox College, Toronto.

Monday, 8 p.m.—Young People's Guild will hold a social evening and officers for the year will be elected.

GEORGE ST. METHODIST.

Rev. Isaac Couch, M. A., B.D.

10 a.m.—Class meetings.

11 a.m.—Sermon by the pastor, "The Peace of God."

7 p.m.—The pastor. Subject, "The Incomplete Life."

2.30 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible Classes.

Monday evening at 8 p.m.—Rally of the Epworth League.

CHARLOTTE ST. METHODIST.

Rev. G. W. Henderson, pastor.

10 a.m.—The class meeting.

11 a.m. and 7 p.m.—Public worship conducted by the pastor.

2.30 p.m.—Sunday school and Men's Bible Class.

Monday 8 p.m.—The Epworth League meeting followed by the Mission Study Class.

Wednesday 8 p.m.—Prayer, praise, Bible study. 9 p.m.—The Teachers' Training Class.

MARK ST. METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. C. H. Coon, pastor.

10 a.m.—Class meeting.

11 a.m.—Public service. Subject, "A Rich Cluster of Fruit."

2.45 p.m.—Sunday school.

7 p.m.—"The Man Who Saved a City." The first of a series of Sunday evening talks the pastor will give on "Unnamed Bible Characters."

Monday night—Epworth League.

Wednesday—Cathechumen Class 7 p.m. General prayer service 8 p.m.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH.

Rev. J. G. Brown, M.A., pastor.

10 a.m.—Class meeting.

11 a.m.—Public worship. Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of Hamilton, will sing the duet, "Sun of My Soul."

2.30 p.m.—Sunday school and Bible Class.

7 p.m.—Public worship. Rev. H. Taylor, of Aurora, will preach.

Wednesday 8 p.m.—Prayer service and teachers' study class.

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor.

11 a.m.—Public worship.

7 p.m.—Public worship.

PARK ST. BAPTIST.

Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor.

11 a.m.—"The Protestant's Pope."

3 p.m.—Bible school. Helping-Hand Bible Class for men. Teacher, Rev. W. C. Riddiford.

7 p.m.—"Eternal Preferences."

Monday—B.Y.P.U.

Tuesday—Men's Social Club.

Wednesday—Prayer meeting.

Harold Foster, choir leader.

GOSPEL HALL.

To-morrow night at 7 o'clock Mr. Mulligan will give an address on "Love, Rest, Home." He will also also sing, "Beloved Now." This will be an interesting meeting for all. Come.

Sunday school at three. Send along your children just as they are.

Commemoration of the Lord's Supper at eleven o'clock.

ASSEMBLY HALL.

George street, four doors north of Market Arcade.

W. P. Douglas will preach the Gospel of God's grace to-morrow night at 7 o'clock, in the Assembly Hall, George street, four doors north of the market hall. All welcome. Come.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST.

378 Aylmer St.

Services as follows;—Sunday at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m.; Sunday school, 12.15 p.m.

Wednesday, 8 p.m. Testimony meeting.

Reading room, same address, open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m. free to the public. All welcome at above services.

Subject for Sunday, Jan. 8th, "Sacrament."

BETHANY TABERNACLE.

Rev. John A. Fee, pastor.

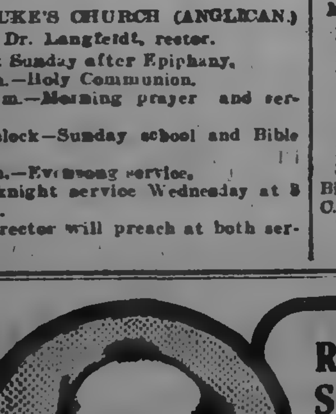
The usual services will be conducted on Sunday.

SALVATION ARMY.

Ensign Merritt, officer in charge. Services on Sunday at 7 and 11 a.m. and 3 and 7 p.m.

The usual services will be conducted on Sunday.

3 p.m.—Sunday school



Rev. Father Morriscy

Rheumatism for Several Years—Now as well as Ever

647 Main St., St. John, N. B.,
Nov. 27. 1908.

Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd.

I am writing to tell you I have been a victim to Rheumatism for several years, and have been treated by seven doctors without finding any permanent relief until I got Father Morriscy's medicine. It has cured me so I am able to do my work and find I am as well as ever in my life.

Yours truly,
JOHN CRAWFORD.

Rheumatism cannot exist when the kidneys are in perfect working order for then they take out of the blood all the Uric Acid, which alone causes the Rheumatism.

Father Morriscy's "No. 7" Tablets

act directly on the kidneys, toning them up and helping them to clear the blood of the Uric Acid. If the Rheumatism is of long standing it may take some time to clear out all the poison, but almost from the first "No. 7" Tablets relieve the pain, and if used faithfully they rarely fail to cure.

Even if other remedies have done you no good, do not give up till you have tried Father Morriscy's "No. 7" Tablets.

50c. at your dealer's. 27

Father Morriscy Medicine Co. Ltd. - Chatham, N.B.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

APSLEY TEA A BIG SUCCESS

Special to the Review.

Apsley, Jan. 4.—The annual tea and Christmas tree entertainment of the Anglican church was held on the evening of December 30th in the parish hall, and a very enjoyable time was spent. The following is the programme:—

Chairman's Address—Rev. C. Lord
Christmas Carol—Choir
Dialogue—The Trials of a School Mistress.
Recitation—Gladys Jones.
Solo—Mrs. Levoir.
Instrumental, violin—W. Staples.
Anthem—Choir.
Dialogue—The Old Maid's Tea Party
Recitation—Lionel White.
Solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere"—Miss G. Downing.
Recitation—Mr. Grieves
Solo—Mrs. Levoir.
Dialogue.
Recitation—Miss E. Bell.
Instrumental Solo—W. Staples
Reading—Rev. C. Lord.
Recitation—Mildred Kilborn.
Anthem—Choir.
Recitation—Pearl Windsor.
Reading—Miss G. Downing.
Dialogue.
Song—"Lovely May," by five girls.
Anthem—Choir.

The Christmas tree was most beautifully decorated and was heavily loaded with presents, largely for the Sunday school children. The programme was a complete success, one of the predominating features being "The Old Maid's Tea Party."

The following were visitors in and around the village during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. N. McIlmoyle, Selwyn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hales, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldry, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram and family, Campbellford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stone, South Burleigh.

The following spent the holiday elsewhere:—Miss Zella Hales, Miss M. Bullied, Mr. J. McCall.

The following is the statement of Apsley cheese factory for the season of 1910:

Total weight of milk—652,049 lbs.
Standards—217—1049 lbs.
Total pounds of cheese—59,939.
Average lbs. of milk per lb. cheese—10.87.
Average price per lb—10.93.
Price per standard to patrons—$23.57.

TOTAL RECEIPTS FOR SEASON.

James Leggat & Co...	$6302.89
Premium...	60.86
Interest...	9.07
Cheese sold to patrons...	101.18
Local sales...	91.07
Total...	$6565.07
Paid N. James for manufacturing...	$1258.71
Salaries, freight and expenses	183.23
Paid to patrons...	5123.13
Total...	$6565.07

Patrons' auditor, Mrs. W. Staples.

Salesman's auditor, Mrs. Robert Hales.

INDIAN RIVER

Indian River, Jan 3rd — Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Quinlan returned home on Monday, after spending New Year's with friends in Cobourg.

Mr. Tom Whibbs, G. T. R. brakeman, who was home for the holidays, returned to Lindsay on Monday.

Mr. Will Breckenridge, visited Peterborough friends on Thursday.

Mr Jim Fitzgerald, of Toronto, spent the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fitzgerald.

Mr John Devlin shipped a car-load of hogs on Thursday, and Mr. Robert Tedford, of Warsaw, shipped a car of cattle from Indian River, on Monday.

Master Charlie Whibbs was engaged in W. H. Kidd's store, during the Christmas holidays.

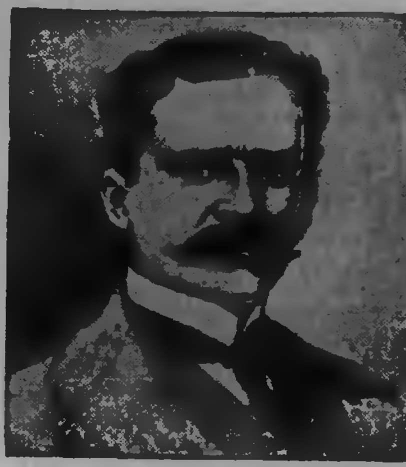
Mrs. Tom Breckenridge and Miss Marguerite Breckenridge were in Peterborough, on Friday.

Mr. N. R. McLeod, of McMaster University, Toronto, visited in the village on Saturday.

Miss Maud Kidd returned home on Tuesday, after spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

I AM SATISFIED THAT "FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED ME OF SCIATIC RHEUMATISM

AND "FRUIT-A-TIVES" WILL CURE ANYONE WHO TAKES THEM AS DIRECTED



JOHN B. McDONALD

McMILLAN'S CORNER, ONT., SEPT. 30th, 1910.

Your remedy, "Fruit-a-tives" is a perfect panacea for Rheumatism.

For years, I suffered distressing pain from Sciatica, or Sciatic Rheumatism, being laid up several times a year for days at a time, and not being able to work at anything. I went to different doctors who told me there was no use doing anything, it would pass away. They gave me mustard plasters and other remedies that did no good. Plasters took no effect on me—except to blister me and make raw sores on the place applied to. I took many advertised remedies without benefit, but, fortunately, about two years ago, I got "Fruit-a-tives", and they cured me.

Since then I take them occasionally and keep free from pain. I am satisfied "Fruit-a-tives" cured me of Rheumatism, and they will cure anyone who takes them as directed. I can conscientiously recommend them to any Rheumatic sufferer, and hope they will try them. Mr. J. S. Munroe of Monckland Station is where I purchase them, and he recommends them, also.

If this letter would be of value to you, I hereby authorise you to publish it, as well as my accompanying photograph.

(Signed) JOHN B. McDONALD.

Almost everybody in Stormont County, Ontario, knows "John McDonald". For twenty three years, he has been "the village blacksmith" for a good part of the population. He is an expert at his chosen vocation and people came from miles to avail themselves of his services.

Being such a well known man, Mr. McDonald is naturally careful in making any statement for publication, knowing that his friends, neighbors and patrons will believe what John B. McDonald says.

Yet Mr. McDonald is very grateful to "Fruit-a-tives"—not only for saving him so much suffering, but also keeping him in good health so that he can work daily at his business. Mr. McDonald believes in "Fruit-a-tives" because these famous fruit tablets cured him when all else failed. Quite naturally, he is willing to sign his name to a clear statement of the facts.

Mr. McDonald is quite right in saying "Fruit-a-tives" is a panacea for Rheumatism. It is more—it is the greatest cure for Rheumatism in the world. We would go a step farther and say "Fruit-a-tives" is the only cure for Rheumatism in the world. "Fruit-a-tives" goes to the seat of the trouble—the blood—and keeps the blood free from uric acid by completely regulating the bowels, Kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that is made of fruit. "Fruit-a-tives" contains the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, combined with valuable heart and nerve tonics—the whole forming a curative combination which has no equal in the annals of medicine. Being made of fruit, the action of "Fruit-a-tives" is mild while the taste is extremely pleasant. If you feel your old enemy Rheumatism coming back, drive it out of your system by taking "Fruit-a-tives" the wonderful medicine made of fruit. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

LAKEHURST ITEMS

Lakehurst, Jan. 2. — The masquerade party held at the home of Mr. E. Irwin on Tuesday evening, was quite a brilliant affair. Almost all the young people of the vicinity attended, and the large variety of costumes, formed an attractive as well as amusing spectacle.

The Christmas tree and concert held last Monday evening was quite successful, the programme was good, and the tree laden with a generous supply of gifts, which made happy the hearts of all the children present.

At the nomination which was held in the Town Hall, on Monday afternoon, the present Reeve and Councillors were re-elected by acclamation. One of the most interesting proceedings of the afternoon was the singing of a song by Mr. Mimot, which was composed by himself and dealt with the virtues of our Board of Council.

The annual school meeting was held in the school on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. W. Elliott was elected trustee in place of Mr. McGuire, who intends going west in the spring.

The Starlight Mission Band met at the home of Miss Annie Smith on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mina Smith of Peterborough spent Christmas at her home here.

Miss Mae Smith of Little Britton is spending the holidays with her parents.

Miss Ethel Clarkson of Peterboro spent Christmas under the parental roof.

Miss Ethel Coons, who spent Christmas with her parents here, left a short time ago, for Keene, and afterwards, we understand, for Montreal.

Misses Elizabeth and Jean Smith of Peterboro spent Christmas at their home here.

Misses Elizabeth and Susie Weir, are spending the holidays with their parents.

Miss J. Surplice, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. R. Shaw.

Messrs. F. and B. Eason, spent Christmas at Lakehurst.

Mr. Orok spent Christmas at his home in Barrie, and Mr. Caldwell supplied his place in the Presbyterian Church here last Saturday.

Mr. Pert Atkinson of Nogey's Creek spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. A. L. Shearer. He had some trouble in getting there, as he was forced to break a new road, which proved rather rough travelling, the snow was so deep, and the road so rough, that he was finally compelled to abandon his cutter, and lead his horse the remainder of the way. We are sorry to learn that on the return trip, he had the misfortune to break his cutter.

Mr. and Mrs Jas Renwick, of Kent, are visiting Harvey friends just now.

Mr. Geo. Esson of Cavan is renewing old acquaintances in this vicinity this week.

Mr. W. J. Weir, who has been spending his holidays at home, left on Friday for Netherhill, Sask., where he intends to teach school.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effectual Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $3; No. 3, for special cases, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (formerly Windsor)

PRESENTED WITH SIGNET RING

At a meeting of the Young Men's Club of St. Mark's church held in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Queen street, last evening Mr. G. O. Cameron, Manager of the Bell Telephone Co., was presented with a beautiful ring. Mr. Cameron has been a very active member of this club and as he is soon to be transferred to Peterborough, the members took this opportunity of expressing their appreciation of his work. Brief addresses were made by Rev. Canon Montgomery, C.A. Hagerman and A. H. C. Long, expressing regret at Mr. Cameron's removal and also extending congratulations upon his well deserved promotion.

Mr. Cameron briefly returned thanks and assured the members that while he appreciated the promotion, he left Port Hope with much reluctance. A very pleasant evening was spent in music and games and refreshments were served at the close.—Port Hope Guide.

CAVAN NEWS

Special to The Review.

Cavan, Jan 4.—A highly respected and much esteemed resident of Cavan passed away on Tuesday, December 27, in the person of Elgin Sutton relict of the late John Sutton, of 11th concession. The deceased was apparently in the best of health twelve hours previous to her death, but early on Tuesday morning she was the victim of heart failure. The interment took place at Gardiner's cemetery, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. The deceased was 78 years of age.

The proceeds from the cantata at the Methodist church amounted to the handsome sum of $35, which, after deducting necessary expenses, etc, leaves a net gain of about $10 which will be turned over to the Sunday school for future use.

The recent condemnation of that little building, commonly known as the Beechwood school, by the Provincial Government Inspector, as being in an unfit condition for the reception of school children, is causing much comment and unrest among our 11th line neighbors, who for the most part strenuously object to altering or defacing the handsome edifice any more than has already been done.

Mr. Robert Morton recently sold his high-bred driving mare out of the country, Mr. Harry Tinney being the buyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chance White and little son were the guests of Mr. White's sister, Mrs A. B. Kennedy, on Sunday.

Mr. L. McHaylen is enjoying a visit in Peterborough, seeing old friends, and does not intend coming back here until spring.

Covent service was held in the Methodist church on New Year's night, when about one hundred and fifty persons pledged themselves for Jesus Christ. In connection with the above the Rev. G. N. Clarry announced that that it was only a matter of about $35 that stood between an indebted church and one free from all incumbrance. Mention was made of the liberality of the members of the congregation, and no doubt the congregation will be privileged to witness the burning of the mortgage of the church in the near future.

"STOP STOP STOP" SAYS SONG CENSOR

Several Songs Placed Under Ban in Chicago—The Blacklisted Numbers

The following songs have been ordered put on the shelf at Chicago theatres, by Theatre Censor O'Donnell, owing to the wave of supervising care over the morals of the Windy City:—

"'Tis Hard to Be a Lady in a Case Like That," "Without a Wedding Ring," "It Wouldn't Be the Proper Thing at Once," "I Dont Believe I'll Ever Be a Lady," "Don't Teach Me to Swim Alone," "Grizzly Bear," "Casey Jones," "Her Name Was Mary Wood, But Mary Wouldn't," "Fido Simple Says Bow, Wow, Wow," "Loving Heart," "I Love My Wife, But Oh, You Kid!" "Won't You Let Me Be Your Turtle Dove?" "When I Get That Loving Feeling," "I'd Like Someone to Love Me," "If My Wife Could Only See Me Now," "Tittle, Tattle, Tattle Tale," "This Is No Place for a Minister's Son," "Oh, You Devil Rag," "Gee, Ain't I Glad I'm Single!" "Do Your Duty, Doctor," "Two Arms," "Stop, Stop, Stop."

An injunction has been asked for by the publishers of "Wouldn't You Like to Take a Girl to Raise," restraining the authorities from interfering with the singing of the song.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS
PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any Case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 Days or money refunded. 50c.

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.
C. BLEWETT, 331 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1321.
House Phone 566

AUCTIONEER

James E. Cope

Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

EAST CITY

COAL

And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

— AT —

Robert Fair & Co.

LIMITED

THE GREAT SALE BEGINS TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 10TH. WAIT FOR IT.

The prices marked on every article offered represents the best values we have ever presented. The stocks and assortments were never more attractive.

The Great January Sale in Housefurnishings, Curtains and Curtain Nets

BRUSSELS AND SWISS SASH CURTAIN NETS, 27 to 30 inches wide, that were 75c yard. Sale price 25c

SWISS NOTTINGHAM AND FISH CURTAIN NETS, 27 inches wide, that were 50c the yard. Sale price 15c

40c CURTAIN NETS, sale price 10c

BATTENBERG AND BRUSSELS LACE TRIMMED DOOR PANELS that were $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 each 15c

FISH NET CURTAINS, in white and ivory, 3 yards long, that were $3.00 the pair. Sale price $1.98

SCOTCH SCRIM CURTAINS with deep lace edging and insertions in Arab shade, 3 yards long, that were $3.75 the pair; sale price $2.98

PINK SILK TAPESTRY CURTAINS, 3 pairs only, that were $10.00 the pair; sale price $5.75

CRIMSON SILK TAPESTRY CURTAINS that were $12.00 the pair. Sale price $7.50

Mercerized CRIMSON TAPESTRY CURTAINS that were $5.50 the pair; sale price $3.50

ROYAL AAMINSTER CARPETS with borders to match in 4 handsome designs and colorings. The $1.75 quality; January Sale Price, made, laid and lined $1.25

BEDROOM BRUSSELS CARPET in delf blue color; the $1.10 quality; sale price, made, laid and lined 83c

Best 5 Fram BRUSSELS CARPET in body only, very desirable color design; the $1.50 quality; sale price made, laid and lined $1.10

ENGLISH TAPESTRY CARPET in crimson ground and attractive design; the 60c quality; sale price 42c

SCOTCH LINOLEUMS, 4 yards wide, in floral and tile patterns; the 60c quality; sale price .... 48c sq. yd.

1 End extra heavy quality Scotch Linoleum, size 10x12 feet; the $1.00 per sq. yd. quality; sale price for the end $9.00

SCOTCH INLAID LINOLEUM, tile design, terra cotta and brown color; the $1.25 quality; sale price per square yard 85c

SCOTCH BATHROOM LINOLEUM, 2 yards wide; the 65c quality; sale price per square yard 39c

BATH ROOM DESIGN in English oilcloth, 2 yards wide; the 35c quality; sale price per square yard 25c

January Sale of High Grade Corsets

How would you like to purchase Corsets that formerly sold at $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50 the pair, for $1.00

You will have the chance during our Great January Sale

Ladies' heavy ribbed UNDERVESTS and DRAWERS in natural and white; the 35c quality; sale price 25c

CHILDREN'S RIBBED VESTS and DRAWERS, the 25c quality; sale price 19c

Our Greatest January Sale of Housekeeping Linens

Here are prices which appeal to hotels, boarding houses and restaurants as forcibly as they do to private homes

CRASH TOWELLING with colored border, 18 inches wide; the 8c quality. Sale price 5c

HEAVY HUCK TOWELS, half bleached, hemmed at ends, 18x38 inches; regular price 35c the pair Sale price .... 12½c each

HEMMED HUCK TOWELS, half bleached, 16x33 inches, usual price 20c the pair. Sale price, two towels for 15c

50 Dozen SAMPLE TOWELS, an importing houses sample collection, consisting of the finest bleached and half bleached huck towels, hemmed, fringed and hemstitched, in large, medium and small sizes; bath towels of every description and bath mats; also embroidered linen square runners and scarfs; all to be disposed of at our Greatest January Sale at a reduction in price of 25 and 30 per cent less than regular prices.

DAMASK LINEN TABLE CLOTHS

(Manufacturer's seconds) 2x2 yards, $2.25 quality for $1.85
2x2½ yards, $2.75 quality, for 2.00
2x2½ yards, $3.10 quality, for 2.50
2 x 3 yards, $3.25 quality, for 2.75
2 x 3 yards, $4.00 quality, for 3.00

200 Dozen Linen Damask TABLE NAPKINS in ⅝ & ¾ sizes
For 10c each Napkins that sold at $1.50 per dozen
For 12½c each, Napkins that sold at $2.00 per dozen
For 15c each. Napkins that sold at $2.25 per dozen
For 20c each, Napkins that sold at $3.00 per dozen
For 25c each, Napkins that sold at $3.75 per dozen

COTTON BED SHEETS, hemmed and ready for use, 68x90 inches, the 75c quality. Sale price 59c

A large WHOLESALE HOUSE sent us one range of samples of their finest quality of all-wool Blankets which were slightly soiled in handling, which we can sell at our Greatest January Sale at the following reduction. Blankets, size 68x88 inches, the $7.50 quality, Sale price $4.98

1000 Yards of superfine MADAPOLAM BLEACHED COTTON, very soft finish and specially adapted for making up under garments; the 12½c quality, Sale price 10c

500 Yards WHITE VICTORIA LAWN, 40 inches wide; the 10c quality, Sale price 8c

10 only cotton filled BED COMFORTERS; the $2.50 quality, Sale price $1.85

Our Greatest Sale of Undermuslins swings into line on Tuesday, January 10th. Don't fail to see the dainty creations in Muslin Underwear, for this year finds us with the greatest variety of Beautiful Styles, the Largest Stocks and the Best Values ever offered in Peterboro. The same Price Cutting applies to our new Spring stock of Whitewear as to other merchandise enumerated and set apart for this month's selling. Watch this space for further particulars regarding the opening Whitewear Sale.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., Limited Sign of the Golden Lion

HELPFUL ADDRESSES GIVEN AT THE FARMERS MEETINGS

Valuable Pointers Given by Speakers on Chicken Breeding and Farm Work of Every Sort—Scientific Advice.

The second day of the supplementary meetings of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough, held in the Orange Hall at the 4th Line of Smith, was marked by very interesting addresses, delivered by men who were thoroughly equipped with a knowledge of their subject. The intensely cold weather was partly responsible for the rather slim attendance.

MR. J. W. CLARKE'S ADDRESS.

The first address was delivered by Mr. J. W. Clarke, a prominent farmer and apple grower of Cainsville. He is a member of several Fruit Growers' Associations. His topic was "Apple Orchard Growing and how to make it Pay." The subject was treated in a very comprehensive manner.

"There is no part of a farm that will pay better than right apple growing," said Mr. Clarke. Speaking from his own experience, the speaker stated that it requires a great deal of attention, especially in regard to pruning, etc. Never cut off large limbs, as it does a great deal of harm. A novice will often get up in a tree for the first time and cut off much necessary growth. The proper way is to commence to prune at the outside. A movable ladder should be used in pruning, and it can be thus done more easily and quickly. No man can prune properly when up in the tree. Then cut the outside branches and let the sun in and you will not then be troubled with worms. If you, however, open up your tree too much, the apple tree will suffer from sun scald. Apples should be cultivated more in the centre than on the outside, as there is then less liability of the outer limbs being broken off. Of course all orchards should be cultivated. You have got to apply the cultivator to your orchards if you want to get the best results.

When you come to look at the apple it is found that it is largely made up of water, and hence there must be plenty of cultivation and moisture used. Color is another important point. For cover-crops must also be carefully looked to. Harry vet is a very satisfactory substance and can be used to excellent advantage. Rye and buckwheat are also good cover crops. Plenty of hard-yard manure is perhaps superior to any cover crop. Fruit requires a lot of potash, and there is no other form in which it can be secured so cheaply as in good hardwood ashes.

Spraying is another important factor which must not be overlooked. The best results cannot be secured otherwise. Apple buyers now refuse to purchase apples from growers who do not spray. It pays and pays well to spray. It, however, does not cost an awful lot to spray. The hand sprayers are all that is required, although the tank sprayers are much more serviceable. The hand sprayer, however, does not get out of order as frequently as does the one run by power. Lime sulphur is preferable to the Bordeaux mixture as a sprayer. It is much easier obtained and used. Concentrated lime-sulphur is for sale on the markets, and it is not very expensive.

The speaker advised all large apple growers to have a tank made. It would cost about $16. By having a tank it saves a lot of labor. It will hold about six barrels.

Cheap hose for the tank sprayer should not be used. It often causes great annoyance by bursting just at unforeseen moments. Never spray against the wind, always with it. With the wind the breeze carries the spray right through the trees. Put plenty of spray on. The majority of people do not put enough on to get the poison right down into the calyx of the flower. The poison must soak thoroughly in and poison the worm ere it gets into the apple. By having the branches thinned out you avoid having the apples clustering together too much. Give the branches and all a good soaking.

The branches should also be scraped in the spring with a hoe, pealing off all the loose bark. This is best done on a wet day, and by doing this the moths have no hiding place.

As to the thinning of the fruit, it pays very much, although not practiced generally in this section. It greatly increases his results both in price and supply. By picking off all the small apples of bad growth it allows the larger apples to mature.

Always pick apples when they are ready; never allow them, if possible, to blow down. It pays a man to thin, by the results of apples so treated. The cost of having help to do it will be more than repaid.

Regarding nozzles for spraying, there are several shapes. One with an angle that shoots down into the calyx is more desirable than others It is also a great deal easier to hold The person who is spraying must also protect himself by being properly equipped to withstand the spray. At the conclusion of his interesting address, an open discussion of some length was indulged in. Some of the merits of various systems of spraying, the varieties of apples and plans for successful apple raising were discussed, in which questions were asked and explained. One interesting matter was that of grafting and binding of trees. This subject was of great interest to those present. A farmer should never experiment with new varieties of apples. He can never tell what he is getting. The nursery men are sending them out and boosting them, but it is the safest plan to stick to the varieties of which you know something about.

THE FEEDING OF HORSES.

The second address of the afternoon was given by R. Smith, jr., of the well-known firm of Smith and Richardson, of Columbus. His subject was similar to the previous day on "The Feeding of Horses," and received the same interested hearing.

WINTER DAIRYING.

The third and last address of the afternoon was given by C. G. McKillican. His subject, "Winter Dairying" was discussed in a very masterly manner.

We have in this neighborhood practically no land from which a crop can not be taken off. A few of the reasons why winter dairying should be preferred to summer dairying is because we have not the work to do in the winter that we have in the summer. This means more time for winter dairying. When the summer work slackens off the farmer usually discharges his help. It would be much better from a financial and labor standpoint to engage the hired help for the entire year. The speaker's idea was to have an equal amount of milk both winter and summer.

Another advantage is that you will get a greater quantity of milk if cow has her calf in the fall. It make a big difference in the amount of milk she will produce by having her calf in the fall. During the winter feed the cow clover.

In the third place milk is produced when the price is at its best. During the winter milk is at its heighest price. Butter also sells at a higher price in the winter than even cheese, hence the more milk you have, when the price is at its highest. Another point is that transportation is more convenient and more sanitary in the winter, thus keeping it purer. In the winter milk will keep sweeter if it is kept clean. In preparing cattle for shows the cattle are away ahead if they come in the fall.

Regarding the cost of feeding in the winter, the speaker held it was cheaper in the winter. You cannot feed cows at a profit on nitrogenous foods. Here is where the cheapness of winter food comes in. Alfalfa and clover should be fed to make any profit. While the other foods supply to the animal at a very low cost, the expensive food, instead of leaving your soil depleted, they leave it richer than when you put it on.

Considering everything by growing these crops is in favor of the winter. Pasture is the most expensive feed you can use.

By having the cows come in the fall it gives them a more uniform life. When she goes out in the spring she will then give a more regular yield instead of flying away up to 50 or 60 pounds, and then dropping back again.

Mr. McKillican closed his address about five o'clock.

CHAIRMEN WILL BE SELECTED

The first meeting of the new City Council will be held on Monday morning at 11 o'clock, when the chairmen of the different committees will be selected.

Must Have License.

Ottawa, Jan. 7—To prevent the over-exploitation of the salmon fisheries of British Columbia, and their consequent depletion by the canneries and curing establishments, an order-in-council has been passed, declaring that no boat will be allowed to engage in salmon fishing except under license from the Minister of Marine, while the number of boats which will be allowed each cannery and curing establishment has been named. The canneries in all will be allowed 1,990 boats.

Mutineers Meet Sudden Death.

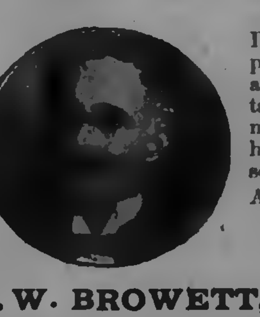
Rio Janeiro, Jan. 7.—According to yesterday's Jornal do Commercio, Jose Candido, leader of the recent revolt in the navy, and forty-four other mutineers have met sudden deaths. Candido succumbed to gangrene while a prisoner; twenty-six of his associates died from sunstroke while engaged in repairing the fortress on Cobras Island; and eighteen others were suffocated in their cells in the prison on Villegainon Island.

Toronto's Bill of Health.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—There were 408 more cases of typhoid in Toronto in 1910 than in 1909. Dr. G. G. Nasmith, city bacteriologist, attributes it to the fact that more care was observed in reporting cases last year.

The figures for diphtheria in 1910 were 1,155 as against 1,293 in 1909; and in scarlet fever 1,494 cases were reported in 1910 in comparison to 1,564 in the previous year.

THANK YOU



The Optical Institute had a busy December. The week, before Xmas particularly busy. Many persons gave a beautiful pair of Eyeglasses or Spectacles to some near relative thus making many days to come a little brighter and happier. Shall we help you to make somebody's outlook brighter for 1911. An appointment will save you waiting

The Peterboro Optical Institute

IN THE MARKET BUILDING

J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

(To The Editor of The Review.)

Sir. — It is pleasing to see that the attempt of a few to twist the action of the electorate on Jan. 2, into a religious attack on the minority is being met with the prompt explanation and denial it deserves. The question at issue undoubtedly was exemptions" and it will be the question at issue for some time until the scandalous attempts of portions of this community to load the burden of taxation on other people are set at rest. Do not think for one moment that I believe that any one portion of the community should have "rights" in this particular that others have not or are not to have. That would be bigotry and injustice. But it is impossible to argue that an institution under private management is worthy of public privileges as our Schools, etc. are. All those who voted for exemptions at the last meeting of the Council for 1910 suffered the people's displeasure, so how can it justly be put down to any but the true cause? Let us play fairly and not try to grab favours and escape burdens unless the people are given a chance so say so, and do say so. It is however a matter of surprise to say the least, that the whole question of exemptions was not submitted to the people on Jan. 2. There is something that does require explanatoin. In conclusion let me say that the great bulk of the people are aganist exempting institutions of entertainment and it is no sign of a strong independent manhood to ask for them. All honour to Park Street Baptist Church, which pays its taxes and seeks no special privileges.

Yours truly,

FAIRPLAY.

ACTOR IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Cobalt, Ont., Jan. 2. — John Terry to-day started suit against Alex. Marks, actor, for $1,000 damages for malicious arrest. Terry and Wm. Ormandy were charged by Marks with stealing diamonds valued at $2,000, but the charges were withdrawn after the men had spent two days in jail. The diamonds have not been recovered. After having been seen with Terry, Marks returned to his hotel apparently drugged and with a wound in his head, but neither he nor Terry could remember what had happened. Marks is a member of the well-known theatrical Marks family.

Benefit Entertainment

Mr. W. A. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, has kindly arranged to donate the proceeds of Tuesday afternoon's performances to Mr. Mark Spencely, who recently lost a leg.

WILL RUSH THE NEW GRAIN LINE

Montreal, Jan. 7.—Arrangements are now under way for rushing the construction of the new short wheat line which the Canadian Pacific has under way from Georgian Bay to Montreal. The Company has for some time past been engaged in building up big terminal facilities at Victoria Harbor including huge elevators and wharves for the large lake liners. A short line has been constructed from Victoria Harbor to Coldwater connecting with the Sudbury branch and from Coldwater a short cut has been surveyed through to Peterborough connecting with the main line from Toronto to Montreal.

Mr George S. Deeks, of Toronto, who has the contract for building the line from Coldwater to Bethany just outside of Peterborough, a distance of about eighty miles, was at the Windsor to-day, and he stated that he was now busy letting subcontracts with a view to men being put on the whole route as early as possible in the spring, and the construction of the line rushed so as to be completed and ready for wheat traffic by next fall. Already, he said, about 17 miles of the line had been completed.

When this lines comes into operation it will immensely increase the Company's facilities for the expeditious handling of grain between Georgian Bay and Montreal, while as compared with the present C.P.R. route via Toronto, it will cut off about 100 miles of haulage.

Denial Is Made

In reference to the statements published abroad by the liquor interests re Local Option in Norwood, and which were re-printed in last week's issue of The Register (having been copied from an advertisement which appeared in The Barrie Examiner,) Mr. Hugh Drain authorises us to say that the statement issued over the signature of one "Hugh Dreim" is not his, as he neither wrote, or authorised the publication of any such statement. As there is no person in this locality by the name of "Hugh Dreim," we are glad to have from Mr. Drain's own lips such an unequivocal denial of the matter. It's up to the liquor interests now to produce the mysterious "Mr. Dreim" or swallow their own words.

Fred. Draker, an 8 year-old Welland boy, ran away from home and was found in Hamilton with one of his feet frozen.

REAL SCOTCH SHORTBREAD

ORDER NOW FROM COLEMAN'S

New Year Parties, Banquets etc., catered for.

NICE NEW YEAR'S GIFT

A handsome box or basket of Delicious Candies from

Coleman Bros.

SAVE $ $ NOW

H. LeBrun's & Co's

Clean-up Sale

offers

Tremendous Price Reductions

Save 20 to 25 Per cent. on Men's Winter Overcoats

On High Grade CLOTHING For Men and Boys

In justice to your pocket-book you cannot afford to miss this great money saving event. An inspection of the unusual values offered will convince you that now is the time to buy clothes.

SALE ENDS SATURDAY, JANUARY 28th.

Men's Und'wear Now Selling at ¼ to ⅓ Less than Regular Prices

H. LeBrun & Co.

PROBABILITIES
Decidedly cold, with some light snow falls or flurries.

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXII., No. 6 — PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1911 — TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

EVIDENCE OF GEORGE M. TEASDALE TAKEN AT COBOURG

[illegible] Now Servings Term in [illegible] Selling Liquor Without a License, Testifies to a Conversation [illegible] Prisoner, In Which Latter [illegible] Wanted to Get McDonald to Keep His Mouth Shut.

Cobourg, Jan. 9.—Henry I. Matthews, jr., was on Saturday committed for trial on a charge of murdering Miss Brimacombe, a deaf mute, at a hotel at Colborne. The final hearing was held in the Cobourg jail for the purpose of taking the evidence of George M. Teasdale, in whose hotel the murder was committed. Teasdale is serving a term for selling liquor without a license. Teasdale bore testimony as to the good character of Miss Brimacombe. He said he had gone to bed early on the evening of Dec. 17. He was roused about eight o'clock by hearing somebody in the dining-room. He heard the clock strike eight, and said to his wife that they were having a pretty late supper. He didn't hear any noises except that. The next morning he heard the waiter go up to the third floor and knock on her door. He then got up. The room in which Miss Brimacombe was murdered is directly opposite that in which Teasdale and his wife slept. He went over to the door and opened it.

This was O'Rook's room, and he was away. He saw Miss Brimacombe lying on the bed, and thought she was asleep. He didn't know who she was, and walked over and took her by the arm. He found her cold and stiff. He thought it might be his wife and went back to his room. His wife rose up in bed, and he asked her if she had put anyone in that room. Then he went down stairs and told Don Haynes.

The evidence which the crown had come to get referred to a conversation between Matthews and Teasdale on Monday afternoon.

"Did you have a conversation?" asked Mr. Kerr. "Yes."

"What was said by Matthews?"—"Well, he asked me why I hadn't told him about the papers being served on him. He was wanted as a witness in my liquor case, and I was going to plead guilty. He said if I had told him, he could have been away."

"Anything else?"—"Yes, he said it wouldn't look well to have two papers served together."

"Why did he say that?"—"I'm sure I don't know," was the reply.

"Now, Mr. Teasdale," said the crown attorney, "was there anything said about this other affair?"—"Yes, he wanted me to get the old man, Toroso McDonald, to keep his mouth shut."

"Why did he say that?"—"I asked him why and he said because the old man had seen him in the kitchen when Joey was there." For the first time aMtthews smiled, then his face grew grave again.

The evidence given at the inquest by Matthews was read. In it, he had said that he had heard no sounds, such as some of the other witnesses had described. He denied having put his arm around Miss Brimacombe in the kitchen, saying that he hardly even knew her by sight. He said he had not seen her upstairs. This having been read, Mr. Kerr asked for a committal on the evidence, saying that he had no alternative. He pointed out that the doctors had stated that death had been the result of stangulation.

"There is no doubt that Matthews and the women were in the kitchen together, and they both disappeared. Smith went upstairs, and heard the moaning, and a man's voice saying, 'Shut up.' Matthews was not seen again until the sound had ceased, and he came downstairs with his vest open.

"Walking home with Edward, he exclaimed what fools we married men are."

The crown attorney also referred to Teasdale's evidence with reference to the conversation with Matthews, and the talk of "getting the old man to keep his mouth shut."

"Is there sufficient evidence before you to place this man in jeopardy of a trial?" asked Mr. Porter, in speaking for the defence.

"It would be utterly impossible to convict a man on the evidence before you." He asked that Matthews be discharged for lack of evidence. He spoke of the serious nature of the charge, and the fact that, if committed, Matthews would have to lie in jail until April, whether he be guilty or innocent. If he were innocent, it would be a great injustice; if guilty, the crown could at any time prosecute.

"On all points he is corroborated by the other witnesses. There is nothing else, but some slight suspicion, on which to make a committal," declared counsel. "You can't even say that the woman was murdered, for the doctors say that she might have choked to death. Now, in the face of that, can you commit him?"

The two magistrates deliberated for some twenty minutes, and ordered a committal. The trial will be in Cobourg on April 10.

Woman Arrested.

Hamilton, Jan. 9.—Annie Mirfin was arrested on Saturday afternoon on the charge of shooting Mrs. Maud Lampman (Maud Mulbolland) with intent. The shooting took place last week at the prisoner's home, where both parties live. The plaintiff was not seriously wounded, although she had a arrow escape.

Appointed Administrator.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—A special edition f The Canada Gazette appoints Sir Charles Fitzpatrick administrator of he Government in the absence of Earl Grey.

In Sympathy With Ireland's Demand

PREMIER ASQUITH.

Who promises to start the Home Rule fight early in the coming session of the British Parl ament.

WHERE DID THE FURNITURE GO?

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Le Pays wants to know what become of furniture costing $30,000, which the Hon. Mr. Tarte purchased for the Canadian pavilion at the last Paris Exposition?

Where did the curtains go that were admired by everybody who visited the exhibition, and which cost 26,000 francs?

What has become, the same paper asks, of the carpets and the furniture de luxe which Mr. Tarte installed in the reception rooms?

"Who," asks Mr. Langlos, M. P., "inherited the curtains, the carpets and the magnificent furniture? It appears that some of these articles are installed in the residence of a very honest man in Montreal, consequently the question in our mind is, did those who divided the spoils of the Canadian building at the last Paris exposition, pay or indemnify the Government at Ottawa for which was taken? In fact, did they pay the duty on these articles de luxe? Light should be thrown upon this affair as an investigation would no doubt bring some very interesting revelations to the surface."

Threaten Federenko's Family.

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—M. J. Finkelstein, who conducted the defence of Savio Federenko, has received a letter from a friend of the latter in Russia, who says that the police have raided Federenko's home, seized all his papers and personal belongings and threatened his family that every member will be thrown into jail unless the Federenko agitation is immediately stopped.

Never Knew Their Danger.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—While 100 persons packed the Odeon Theatre yesterday afternoon the house next door caught fire. The fire department overcame it after $4,000 damage was done, and kept it from the theatre. The Odeon management decided it was best to let the performance proceed, and none of the audience knew of their danger till they were released.

Port Arthur Customs.

Port Arthur, Jan. 9.—Customs collected at Port Arthur for the year 1910 amounted to $465,113.57, according to an announcement made by Collector Holder. This is an increase of $52,524.20 over the total for the previous year.

ONTARIO IS AWAY AHEAD IN LUMBERING OPERATIONS

Total Yield From Forests In 1909 Is $30,050,364, and British Columbia Is Next With $11,374,989, Quebec and Saskatchewan Show a Decrease While Ontario's Is a Big Increase—Spruce Leads In Value and Cut.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—In a report on the forest products of Canada for 1909, issued by the forestry branch of the Department of the Interior, compiled from statistics supplied by operating sawmills, trade papers, prominent lumbermen, provincial, county and township officials, Ontario leads all the provinces in the value of lumber cut by the magnificent total of $30,050.344. British Columbia is second with $11,374,989; Quebec comes third with $9,48,9386, and the following provinces in the order named: New Brunswick, $5,336,974; Nova Scotia, $3,273,177; Saskatchewan, $1,448,079; Manitoba, $1,025,268; Alberta, $798,380; Prince Edward Island, $22,940. In the case of Quebec and Saskatchewan a decrease is shown over the figures for 1908, while Ontario shows an increase both in quantity and value of 17.3 per cent.

The number of mills operating in Canada, with the exception of a few small plants in Quebec, is 2,065; the quantity of timber cut, 3,814,942,000 feet board measure, and the total value $62,819,477. This is an increase for the Dominion of 13.9 per cent. over 1909. The return from the Department reads: "The 1909 reports are, without doubt, close to the truth and the most accurate yet received in Canada. There are still a number of small mills not reporting, particularly in the Province of Quebec, but their combined annual cut is only a very small percentage of the total."

For whatever the comparison is worth, it is noted that the total cut in Canada for 1909 is a little less than one-ninth the lumber cut of United States for 1908, and a little less than the lumber cut in the State of Washington for 1907. The per capita lumber production in Canada for 1909 was 468 board feet, or 27 per cent. greater than the per capita lumber cut production of United States for 1908.

In respect of Ontario the report says: "It holds this position (top) by virtue of its great annual cut of white pine, and by reason of its diversified forests, which give it a small annual cut of almost every wood produced in Canada. Ontario has been Canada's greatest lumber producer for a great many years; it produced over one-third the lumber cut in Canada in 1909, and the increase over 1908 cut was 17.3 per cent., or a greater increase per capita than that for the whole of Canada.

Spruce leads all other woods in quantity and value of cut. For 1909 the cut was 1,124,949,000 feet board measure, representing a value of $16,365,720; white pine, 1,046,447,000, value $22,563,417; Douglas fir, 469,658,000, value $6,850,579.

DEMANDED BILINGUAL TICKET

Quebec, Jan. 9.—The first conflict respecting the Lavergne law, passed at last session, occurred on Saturday last, and as a result actions of damages will be instituted by Mr. Trudel, notary of St. Roche, against the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway, and against Conductor Richards. Mr. Trudel resides at Charlesburg, but comes to town every day, and on Saturday morning he asked the railway agent at Charlesburg for a ticket printed in both languages. As there were no such tickets to be secured, Mr. Trudel refused to purchase any other, and got on board the train. When Conductor Richards came along, Trudel informed him that he had no ticket, and the conductor offered to sell him one, but as it was not printed in French, refused to accept it. As a result he was ordered off the train at Limoilou station, and had to walk into the city, and gave his counsel instruction to issue actions against the company and the conductor.

Went Through Ice.

Halifax, Jan. 9.—Two brothers, Ainslie and Miles Mariatt, aged 12 and 10 years respectively, were crossing Chocolate Lake, on the outskirts of Halifax, yesterday afternoon, on their way from Sunday school to their home. It was a short cut. The lake was clear of ice at the beginning of last week and had frozen over again in the last cold spell, but it was weak, and the two chaps went through. The older clung to the edge of the ice and was pulled out, but Miles went out of sight almost at once and was drowned.

Cartoonist Suicides.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Alonzo Ryan, aged 36, hanged himself at his home in this city early on Saturday morning. An inquest was held later in the day and the coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. The evidence was to the effect that deceased had lately been suffering from acute depression, brought about, it is understood by business worries. The deceased, who was the son of the late Carroll Ryan, was well known as a newspaper cartoonist, but he had recently been interested in the moving picture business.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

It is reported that General Booth will visit Canada.

An official statement regarding the trade negotiations was issued.

Sidney Haycroft was caught in a thrashing machine in Aldboro' Township and killed.

During the visit of King Alfonso to Melilla a pistol enclosed in a box was exploded and caused some alarm.

Elaborate plans are being considered for the erection of a new Oddfellow's Hall in Port Arthur, which will cost about $50,000.

The schooner Emma H. was damaged in a great storm off the coast of Nova Scotia, and Captain Gullin was washed overboard and drowned.

Randolph Labelle, a clerk of Winnipeg, was hurt in a gas stove explosion in his home, one day last week, and on Saturday died in the hospital.

The students of the Ontario Agricultural College and the Macdonald Institute at Guelph have petitioned the Minister of Agriculture to remove the ban on dancing.

Sixty-eight mass meetings of the miners belonging to the Ruhr coal fields in Prussia adopted resolutions demanding higher wages, in sympathy with the Belgian strikers.

A man, supposed to be John Fishley of Saskatchewan, was drowned in Port Hope harbor. His cries for help were heard, but nothing could be done for him, as there were no life-saving appliances about.

The London Morning Post fears that if America got Canada tied in some kind of commercial treaty, she might later declare that the proposal for a mutual preference within the Empire was virtually an infringement.

The Lord Selkirk Association of Winnipeg has decided to mark the centenary of that pioneer coloniser next year, regardless of the plans of the Continental Association promoting the world's fair. It is intended to erect a suitable memorial to Lord Selkirk.

Had His Bone Crushed.

Smith's Falls, Jan. 9.—Alexander Johnston, 76 years of age, was walking along the C.P.R. track when he saw No. 3 express train coming. He stepped to another track when onlookers warned him of the Ottawa express coming. He just cleared the track, but the buffer struck him. He escaped with a crushed hip bone.

Dynamite Exploded.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Felix Dusans, an Italian, residing in Ottawa, entered a shack on the Canadian Northern Railway at Shannonville on Saturday, when five sticks of dynamite exploded from an unknown cause. The small structure was blown to pieces, and the young man killed.

INTERNATIONAL ACTION WILL BE TAKEN AGAINST AGITATORS

London, Jan. 9.—International action to stamp out anarchy will be, it is predicted here, a development of the near future. To the average Londoner, intensely excited over last Tuesday's sensational fight in Sidney street, the suggestion is welcome.

He is convinced that something more is needed than ordinary police measures and the conventional criminal codes of modern states.

Expression is given to the spreading sentiment by a forceful, but dispassionate writer who asks if all sensible men will not agree with him in thinking that altogether too little attention is paid by the great powers of Europe, America and Asia to the need and feasibility of concerted steps to stamp out enemies of order.

If the powers cannot arrange for concerted action, he argues, they might bright about simultaneous individual action to effect the "whole miserable brood of London's Peter the Painters" and Tokio Kotokus and Barcelona bomb hurlers, and Rome Mafia men, and New York and Chicago's Black Hand pests.

In Paris, where the prevailing view is that the duty of leadership in a campaign for international action against anarchy rests with France and the United States, because of their republican character, the point is made that "The mere existence of The Hague tribunal paves the way for indefinate multiplication of mutual defence measures."

Scarce In Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—The Anarchists appear to be at work, for, according to one Therien of this city, there is a conspiracy afloat to blow up the City Hall and the archbishop's palace. It appears that Mayor Guerin received a letter the other day signed T. Therien, written in French, saying that there was a conspiracy on foot, participated in by two men whose names were given in the letter, and which would result during the month of January in both the City Hall and the archbishop's palace being blown into the air.

His worship at once handed the document over to Chief Detective Carpenter, and it was learned soon after that his grace Mgr. Bruchesi had received a letter, also written by Therien, informing him of the alleged plot and of the coming destruction of the episcopal palace, as well as the City Hall. Both letters are now in the hands of the chief detective, who is endeavoring to find out what there is in it.

The mayor stated that he had received many letters during the progress of the Eucharistic congress, some of the missives declaring that his worship would be done away with during the passage of the great procession in September last.

TARIFF ENVOYS IN SECRET CONCLAVE AT WASHINGTON

Wants Changes Made in Tariff

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Whose efforts toward getting better trade relations with Canada, are vigorous and energetic.

Their Meetings Will Be In Camera—Only Small Concessions Expected and Negotiations Will Probably Last a Week—The Prospect of an "Opening Wedge" In Reciprocity Will Be Welcomed Across the Line

Washington, Jan. 9.—A determined effort to lay the foundation for a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada was initiated Saturday, when Secretary of State Knox explained to the envoys the powers conferred upon the representatives of the Department of State, and the purposes of the United States Government in entering into the negotiations. There were just six members of the conference assembled in the snug little office in the State Department assigned to the committee.

Among the negotiators are Chas. M. Pepper and John B. Osborn for the United States, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and Hon. W. Paterson, Minister of Customs, for Canada. Secretary Knox himself gave up his afternoon to the conference. Indications are that the negotiations will consume at least a week's time. There is an enormous amount of detail to be considered, and the tariff schedules of both countries will be subject to most careful study, in the light of elaborate figures showing the extent of the exports and imports and the capital invested in various lines of industry likely to be affected by any changes in the customs duties.

As usual in the negotiations of a treaty, the participants are bound to absolute secrecy. It is, therefore, improbable that there will be anything in the nature of an authoritative statement available before the close of the negotiations beyond a mere announcement as to what progress is being made.

It is said that the conference will result in the addition of a few raw products to the free lists, reductions of duty on American manufactured articles not now largely made in Canada and reduced duties on some Canadian agricultural staples largely used in the United States. Even this much will be regarded by the State Department as a satisfactory accomplishment, as the opening wedge for the extension of the idea of reciprocity in supplementary conventions to be drawn in the future.

The first conference lasted about two hours, and an adjournment was then taken until Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Beyond the mere announcement that the conference had met to renew the negotiations, "initialled by the President some months ago," the only formal statement to be had was the following:

"It was decided that no statements would be given to the press until the results of the negotiations should become definite; thereupon an authoritative statement will be made jointly by the representatives of both Governments, and will be issued through the Department of State. Meanwhile, anything purporting to be information as to the progress of negotiations will be the mere speculation of individual writers, and the negotiators will not feel called on to confirm or deny any such reports."

Guest of Roosevelt.

New York, Jan. 9.—Earl Grey, the Governor-General of Canada, arrived here Saturday from Ottawa, and late in the afternoon motored down to Oyster Bay, where he was the guest Saturday night of Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill.

"My visit to New York, said Earl Grey, "is purely a social one."

At the Hotel Plaza, where the earl spent Sunday, he said he would be unable to accept the invitation of President Taft to attend the state dinner to be given at the White House for the representatives of the Dominion who are in Washington in negotiation with Secretary Knox regarding the proposed new reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada.

Found Dead In Woods.

Cornwall, Jan. 9.—Angus McDonald, son of the late Angus McDonald of St. Andrew's, who recently returned from the west, was accidentally killed in the woods near his mother's residence on Friday. He went out in the afternoon with a shot gun, and when he did not return it was thought that he had gone to his uncle's. On Saturday his body was found, and it was evident from the position of the body and gun that he had drawn the weapon towards him over a stump. Both barrels had been discharged, making a terrible hole in his abdomen, which must have caused almost instant death.

The coroner, Dr. C. J. Hamilton, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The deceased was a fine young man, 23 years of age.

A Long Season.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—F. T. Congdon, M.P., says a record was made last season in dredging in the Yukon. It extended over 233 days. It is remarkable that a gold dredge can work to every advantage up to two weeks of Christmas, there are difficulties in the Yukon not experienced in other countries, but it is being proved that they can be overcome.

Fire In Belleville.

Belleville, Jan. 9.—The Deacon Shirt Co.'s large and commodious three-storey brick and stone structure was completely gutted by fire on Saturday. The fire broke out at 4.30 a.m., and spread with such rapidity that the fire brigade were unable to stop its progress. Nothing remains but blackened walls.

PERILOUS VOYAGE OF A SMALL BOAT

Halifax, Jan. 9.—Battered by gales after a 4,000-mile voyage, with less than two tons of coal in her bunkers, and her food supply almost depleted, the tiny Government quarantine boat Alva, from Dartmouth, Eng., made Halifax via the Azores and Bermuda, yesterday morning. The net tonnage of the Alva is forty-eight tons. She left Dartmouth on Nov. 22, and after nine days' rough weather made the Azores, where she was detained thirteen days on account of storms. After leaving the Azores, the next port of call was St. George's, Bermuda, which was made in eighteen days. The Alva sailed from St. George's, last Monday. Soon after the port was cleared she encountered rough weather, and on Wednesday night the little craft nearly foundered, when a great sea swept over her. It was with the greatest difficulty that Capt. Tucker kept his boat afloat, and it is remarkable that the voyage was made without serious damage or loss of life. The Alva was built at Dartmouth for the Dominion Government, to be used in quarantine service in Halifax harbor.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY JUDGE

Regina, Jan. 9.—In a judgment handed down on Saturday by Justice Newlands, a far-reaching result will follow. The City of Regina imposed a floor space tax on the Dominion Express Co., which the company refuse to pay, claiming that, inasmuch as they paid the provincial tax, and, therefore, exempt from all municipal taxes. The company brought a test case on the matter before the court for an injunction to restrain the city from collecting such taxes. In his finding Judge Newlands declined to grant such injunction, and on the contrary holds that the express company is liable to pay the business tax.

The effect of this judgment is that all corporations doing business in the province are subject to the provincial corporation act, except railways, are likewise liable to pay a business tax to the municipalities wherein they are located, including banks, trust companies, etc.

ELEVATORS IN ENGLAND WILL BE THE NEXT STEP

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The Government is considering the question of terminal elevators facilities in British ports for the handling of Canadian grain exported via the Hudson Bay route. This is the strong statement made editorially in the Grain Growers' Guide, the official organ of the Grain Growers' Association of the prairie province, and the editor of which was one of the farmers' representatives who remained behind to confer with the Premier after the recent delegation had gone. The editorial says:

"Sir Wilfrid very frankly told the committee the attitude of the Government towards the undertaking. He stated that the Government was prepared to build the road and the necessary terminals for the handling of grain, and own them in perpetuity, but that the Government was opposed to operating the road after it was built, but gave the committee distinctly to understand that the question of operating would be left in abeyance until the road was well under way.

"The Premier also assured the committee that the Government, either through the board of Railway Commissioners are some other commissioners, was prepared to keep complete control, not only of the freight charges on the land portion of the system, but would also control the rates of any steamship companies that formed a part of the through export charges on grain from the prairie provinces to Liverpool, and that it was also contemplated by the Government to provide the necessary elevator and terminal facilities at Liverpool or some other English port for the handling of Canadian grain exported via the Hudson Bay route."

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

PROBABILITIES
Decidedly cold, with some light snow falls or flurries.

THE DAILY REVIEW

REVIEW WANT ADS
BRING RESULTS
One Cent a Word

VOL. LXII., No. 6 PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

EVIDENCE OF GEORGE M. TEASDALE TAKEN AT COBOURG

[illegible] Now Serving Term in [illegible] Selling Liquor Without a License, Testifies to a Conversation [illegible] Prisoner, In Which Latter [illegible] Wanted to Get McDonald to Keep His Mouth Shut.

Cobourg, Jan. 9.—Henry I. Matthews, jr., was on Saturday committed for trial on a charge of murdering Miss Brimacombe, a deaf mute, [illegible] Colborne. The final hearing was held in the Cobourg jail for the purpose of taking the evidence of George M. Teasdale, in whose hotel the murder was committed. Teasdale is serving a term for selling liquor without license. Teasdale bore testimony as to the good character of Miss Brimacombe. He said he had gone to bed early on the evening of Dec. 17. He was roused about eight o'clock by hearing somebody in the dining-room. He heard the clock strike eight, and said to his wife that they were having a pretty late supper. He didn't hear any noises except that. The next morning he heard the waiter go up to the third floor and knock on her door. He then got up. The room in which Miss Brimacombe was murdered is directly opposite that in which Teasdale and his wife slept. He went over to the door and opened it.

This was O'Rook's room, and he was away. He saw Miss Brimacombe lying on the bed, and thought she was asleep. He didn't know who she was, and walked over and took her by the arm. He found her cold and stiff. He thought it might be his wife and went back to his room. His wife rose up in bed, and he asked her if she had put anyone in that room. Then he went down stairs and told Don Haynes.

The evidence which the crown had come to get referred to a conversation between Matthews and Teasdale on Monday afternoon.

"Did you have a conversation?" asked Mr. Kerr. "Yes."

"What was said by Matthews?"—"Well, he asked me why I hadn't told him about the papers being served on him. He was wanted as a witness in my liquor case, and I was going to plead guilty. He said if I had told him, he could have been away."

"Anything else?"—"Yes, he said it wouldn't look well to have two papers served together."

"Why did he say that?"—"I'm sure I don't know," was the reply.

"Now, Mr. Teasdale," said the crown attorney, "was there anything said about this other affair?"—"Yes, he wanted me to get the old man, Toroso McDonald, to keep his mouth shut."

"Why did he say that?"—"I asked him why and he said because the old man had seen him in the kitchen when Joey was there." For the first time aMtthews smiled, then his face grew grave again.

The evidence given at the inquest by Matthews was read. In it, he had said that he had heard no sounds, such as some of the other witnesses had described. He denied having put his arm around Miss Brimacombe in the kitchen, saying that he hardly even knew her by sight. He said he had not seen her upstairs. This having been read, Mr. Kerr asked for a committal on the evidence, saying that he had no alternative. He pointed out that the doctors had stated that death had been the result of stangulation.

"There is no doubt that Matthews and the women were in the kitchen together, and they both disappeared. Smith went upstairs, and heard the moaning, and a man's voice saying, 'Shut up.' Matthews was not seen again until the sound had ceased, and he came downstairs with his vest open.

"Walking home with Edward, he exclaimed what fools we married men are."

The crown attorney also referred to Teasdale's evidence with reference to the conversation with Matthews, and the talk of "getting the old man to keep his mouth shut."

"Is there sufficient evidence before you to place this man in jeopardy of a trial?" asked Mr. Porter, in speaking for the defence.

"It would be utterly impossible to convict a man on the evidence before you." He asked that Matthews be discharged for lack of evidence. He spoke of the serious nature of the charge, and the fact that, if committed, Matthews would have to lie in jail until April, whether he be guilty or innocent. If he were innocent, it would be a great injustice; if guilty, the crown could at any time prosecute.

"On all points he is corroborated by the other witnesses. There is nothing else, but some slight suspicion, on which to make a committal," declared counsel. "You can't even say that the woman was murdered, for the doctors say that she might have choked to death. Now, in the face of that, can you commit him?"

The two magistrates deliberated for some twenty minutes, and ordered a committal. The trial will be in Cobourg on April 10.

Woman Arrested.

Hamilton, Jan. 9.—Annie Mirfin was arrested on Saturday afternoon on the charge of shooting Mrs. Maud Lampman (Maud Mulholland) with intent. The shooting took place last week at the prisoner's home, where both parties live. The plaintiff was not seriously wounded, although she had a narrow escape.

Appointed Administrator.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—A special edition of The Canada Gazette appoints Sir Charles Fitzpatrick administrator of the Government in the absence of Earl Grey.

In Sympathy With Ireland's Demand

PREMIER ASQUITH.

Who promises to start the Home Rule fight early in the coming session of the British Parliament.

WHERE DID THE FURNITURE GO?

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Le Pays wants to know what become of furniture costing $30,000, which the Hon. Mr. Tarte purchased for the Canadian pavilion at the last Paris Exposition?

Where did the curtains go that were admired by everybody who visited the exhibition, and which cost 26,000 francs?

What has become, the same paper asks, of the carpets and the furniture de luxe which Mr. Tarte installed in the reception rooms?

"Who," asks Mr. Langlos, M. P., "inherited the curtains, the carpets and the magnificent furniture? It appears that some of these articles are installed in the residence of a very honest man in Montreal, consequently the question in our mind is, did those who divided the spoils of the Canadian building at the last Paris exposition, pay or indemnify the Government at Ottawa for which was taken? In fact, did they pay the duty on these articles de luxe? Light should be thrown upon this affair as an investigation would no doubt bring some very interesting revelations to the surface."

Threaten Federenko's Family.

Winnipeg, Jan. 9.—M. J. Finkelstein, who conducted the defence of Savio Federenko, has received a letter from a friend of the latter in Russia, who says that the police have raided Federenko's home, seized all his papers and personal belongings and threatened his family that every member will be thrown into jail unless the Federenko agitation is immediately stopped.

Never Knew Their Danger.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—While 100 persons packed the Odeon Theatre yesterday afternoon the house next door caught fire. The fire department overcame it after $4,000 damage was done, and kept it from the theatre. The Odeon management decided it was best to let the performance proceed, and none of the audience knew of their danger till they were released.

Port Arthur Customs.

Port Arthur, Jan. 9.—Customs collected at Port Arthur for the year 1910 amounted to $485,113.57, according to an announcement made by Collector Holder. This is an increase of $52,524.20 over the total for the previous year.

INTERNATIONAL ACTION WILL BE TAKEN AGAINST AGITATORS

London, Jan. 9.—International action to stamp out anarchy will be, it is predicted here, a development of the near future. To the average Londoner, intensely excited over last Tuesday's sensational fight in Sidney street, the suggestion is welcome.

He is convinced that something more is needed than ordinary police measures and the conventional criminal codes of modern states.

Expression is given to the spreading sentiment by a forceful, but dispassionate writer who asks if all sensible men will not agree with him in thinking that altogether too little attention is paid by the great powers of Europe, America and Asia to the need and feasibility of concerted steps to stamp out enemies of order.

If the powers cannot arrange for concerted action, he argues, they might bright about simultaneous individual action to effect the "whole miserable brood of London's Peter the Painters" and Tokio Kotokus and Barcelona bomb hurlers, and Rome Mafia men, and New York and Chicago's Black Hand pests.

In Paris, where the prevailing view is that the duty of leadership in a campaign for international action against anarchy rests with France and the United States, because of their republican character, the point is made that "The mere existence of The Hague tribunal paves the way for indefinate multiplication of mutual defence measures."

Scarce In Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—The Anarchists appear to be at work, for, according to one Therien of this city, there is a conspiracy afloat to blow up the City Hall and the archbishop's palace. It appears that Mayor Guerin received a letter the other day signed T. Therien, written in French, saying that there was a conspiracy on foot, participated in by two men whose names were given in the letter, and which would result during the month of January in both the City Hall and the archbishop's palace being blown into the air.

His worship at once handed the document over to Chief Detective Carpenter, and it was learned soon after that his grace Mgr. Bruchesi had received a letter, also written by Therien, informing him of the alleged plot and of the coming destruction of the episcopal palace, as well as the City Hall. Both letters are now in the hands of the chief detective, who is endeavoring to find out what there is in it.

The mayor stated that he had received many letters during the progress of the Eucharistic congress, some of the missives declaring that his worship would be done away with during the passage of the great procession in September last.

ONTARIO IS AWAY AHEAD IN LUMBERING OPERATIONS

Total Yield From Forests In 1909 Is $30,050,364, and British Columbia Is Next With $11,374,989, Quebec and Saskatchewan Show a Decrease While Ontario's Is a Big Increase —Spruce Leads In Value and Cut.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—In a report on the forest products of Canada for 1909, issued by the forestry branch of the Department of the Interior, compiled from statistics supplied by operating sawmills, trade papers, prominent lumbermen, provincial, county and township officials, Ontario leads all the provinces in the value of lumber cut by the magnificent total of $30,050,344. British Columbia is second with $11,374,989; Quebec comes third with $9,48,9386, and the following provinces in the order named: New Brunswick, $5,336,974; Nova Scotia, $3,273,177; Saskatchewan, $1,448,079; Manitoba, $1,025,288; Alberta, $798,330; Prince Edward Island, $22,940. In the case of Quebec and Saskatchewan a decrease is shown over the figures for 1908, while Ontario shows an increase both in quantity and value of 17.3 per cent.

The number of mills operating in Canada, with the exception of a few small plants in Quebec, is 2,085; the quantity of timber cut, 3,814,942,000 feet board measure, and the total value $62,819,477. This is an increase for the Dominion of 13.9 per cent. over 1909. The return from the Department reads: "The 1909 reports are, without doubt, close to the truth and the most accurate yet received in Canada. There are still a number of small mills not reporting, particularly in the Province of Quebec, but their combined annual cut is only a very small percentage of the total."

For whatever the comparison is worth, it is noted that the total cut in Canada for 1909 is a little less than one-ninth the lumber cut of United States for 1908, and a little less than the lumber cut in the State of Washington for 1907. The per capita lumber production in Canada for 1909 was 468 board feet, or 27 per cent. greater than the per capita lumber cut production of United States for 1908.

In respect of Ontario the report says: "It holds this position (top) by virtue of its great annual cut of white pine, and by reason of its diversified forests, which give it a small annual cut of almost every wood produced in Canada. Ontario has been Canada's greatest lumber producer for a great many years; it produced over one-third the lumber cut in Canada in 1909, and the increase over 1908 cut was 17.3 per cent., or a greater increase per capita than that for the whole of Canada.

Spruce leads all other woods in quantity and value of cut. For 1909 the cut was 1,124,949,000 feet board measure, representing a value of $16,365,720; white pine, 1,046,447,000, value $22,563,417; Douglas fir, 469,658,000, value $6,850,579.

DEMANDED BILINGUAL TICKET

Quebec, Jan. 9.—The first conflict respecting the Lavergne law, passed at last session, occurred on Saturday last, and as a result actions of damages will be instituted by Mr. Trudel, notary of St. Roche, against the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway, and against Conductor Richards. Mr. Trudel resides at Charlesburg, but comes to town every day, and on Saturday morning he asked the railway agent at Charlesburg for a ticket printed in both languages. As there were no such tickets to be secured, Mr. Trudel refused to purchase any other, and got on board the train. When Conductor Richards came along, Trudel informed him that he had no ticket, and the conductor offered to sell him one, but as it was not printed in French, refused to accept it. As a result he was ordered off the train at Limoilou station, and had to walk into the city, and gave his counsel instruction to issue actions against the company and the conductor.

Went Through Ice.

Halifax, Jan. 9.—Two brothers, Ainslie and Miles Mariatt, aged 12 and 10 years respectively, were crossing Chocolate Lake, on the outskirts of Halifax, yesterday afternoon, on their way from Sunday school to their home. It was a short cut. The lake was clear of ice at the beginning of last week and had frozen over again in the last cold spell, but it was weak, and the two chaps went through. The older clung to the edge of the ice and was pulled out, but Miles went out of sight almost at once and was drowned.

Cartoonist Suicides.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Alonzo Ryan, aged 36, hanged himself at his home in this city early on Saturday morning. An inquest was held later in the day and the coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. The evidence was to the effect that deceased had lately been suffering from acute depression, brought about, it is understood by business worries. The deceased, who was the son of the late Carroll Ryan, was well known as a newspaper cartoonist, but he had recently been interested in the moving picture business.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

It is reported that General Booth will visit Canada.

An official statement regarding the trade negotiations was issued.

Sidney Haycroft was caught in a thrashing machine in Aldboro' Township and killed.

During the visit of King Alfonso to Melilla a pistol enclosed in a box was exploded and caused some alarm.

Elaborate plans are being considered for the erection of a new Oddfellow's Hall in Port Arthur, which will cost about $50,000.

The schooner Emma H. was damaged in a great storm off the coast of Nova Scotia, and Captain Gullin was washed overboard and drowned.

Randolph Labelle, a clerk of Winnipeg, was hurt in a gas stove explosion in his home, one day last week, and on Saturday died in the hospital.

The students of the Ontario Agricultural College and the Macdonald Institute at Guelph have petitioned the Minister of Agriculture to remove the ban on dancing.

Sixty-eight mass meetings of the miners belonging to the Ruhr coal fields in Prussia adopted resolutions demanding higher wages, in sympathy with the Belgian strikers.

A man, supposed to be John Fishley of Saskatchewan, was drowned in Port Hope harbor. His cries for help were heard, but nothing could be done for him, as there were no life-saving appliances about.

The London Morning Post fears that if America got Canada tied in some kind of commercial treaty, she might later declare that the proposal for a mutual preference within the Empire was virtually an infringement.

The Lord Selkirk Association of Winnipeg has decided to mark the centenary of that pioneer colonizer next year, regardless of the plans of the Continental Association promoting the world's fair. It is intended to erect a suitable memorial to Lord Selkirk.

Had Hip Bone Crushed.

Smith's Falls, Jan. 9.—Alexander Johnston, 76 years of age, was walking along the C.P.R. track when he saw No. 3 express train coming. He stepped to another track when onlookers warned him of the Ottawa express coming. He just cleared the track, but the buffer struck him. He escaped with a crushed hip bone.

Dynamite Exploded.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Felix Dusans, an Italian, residing in Ottawa, entered a shack on the Canadian Northern Railway at Shannonville on Saturday, when five sticks of dynamite exploded from an unknown cause. The small structure was blown to pieces, and the young man killed.

ELEVATORS IN ENGLAND WILL BE THE NEXT STEP

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The Government is considering the question of terminal elevators facilities in British ports for the handling of Canadian grain exported via the Hudson Bay route. This is the strong statement made editorially in the Grain Growers' Guide, the official organ of the Grain Growers' Association of the prairie province, and the editor of which was one of the farmers' representatives who remained behind to confer with the Premier after the recent delegation had gone. The editorial says:

"Sir Wilfrid very frankly told the committee the attitude of the Government towards the undertaking. He stated that the Government was prepared to build the road and the necessary terminals for the handling of grain, and own them in perpetuity, but that the Government was opposed to operating the road after it was built, but gave the committee distinctly to understand that the question of operating would be left in abeyance until the road was well under way.

"The Premier also assured the committee that the Government, either through the board of Railway Commissioners are some other commissioners, was prepared to keep complete control, not only of the freight charges on the land portion of the system, but would also control the rates of any steamship companies that formed a part of the through export charges on grain from the prairie provinces to Liverpool, and that it was also contemplated by the Government to provide the necessary elevator and terminal facilities at Liverpool or some other English port for the handling of Canadian grain exported via the Hudson Bay route."

TARIFF ENVOYS IN SECRET CONCLAVE AT WASHINGTON

Wants Changes Made in Tariff

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Whose efforts toward getting better trade relations with Canada, are vigorous and energetic.

PERILOUS VOYAGE OF A SMALL BOAT

Halifax, Jan. 9.—Battered by gales after a 4,000-mile voyage, with less than two tons of coal in her bunkers, and her food supply almost depleted, the tiny Government quarantine boat Alva, from Dartmouth, Eng., made Halifax via the Azores and Bermuda, yesterday morning. The net tonnage of the Alva is forty-eight tons. She left Dartmouth on Nov. 22, and after nine days' rough weather made the Azores, where she was detained thirteen days on account of storms. After leaving the Azores, the next port of call was St. George's, Bermuda, which was made in eighteen days. The Alva sailed from St. George's, last Monday. Soon after the port was cleared she encountered rough weather, and on Wednesday night the little craft nearly foundered, when a great sea swept over her. It was with the greatest difficulty that Capt. Tucker kept his boat afloat, and it is remarkable that the voyage was made without serious damage or loss of life. The Alva was built at Dartmouth for the Dominion Government, to be used in quarantine service in Halifax harbor.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY JUDGE

Regina, Jan. 9.—In a judgment handed down on Saturday by Justice Newlands, a far-reaching result will follow. The City of Regina imposed a floor space tax on the Dominion Express Co., which the company refuse to pay, claiming that, inasmuch as they paid the provincial tax, and, therefore, exempt from all municipal taxes. The company brought a test case on the matter before the court for an injunction to restrain the city from collecting such taxes. In his finding Judge Newlands declined to grant such injunction, and on the contrary holds that the express company is liable to pay the business tax.

The effect of this judgment is that all corporations doing business in the province are subject to the provincial corporation act, except railways, are likewise liable to pay a business tax to the municipalities wherein they are located, including banks, trust companies, etc.

Their Meetings Will Be In Camera —Only Small Concessions Expected and Negotiations Will Probably Last a Week—The Prospect of an "Opening Wedge" In Reciprocity Will Be Welcomed Across the Line

Washington, Jan. 9.—A determined effort to lay the foundation for a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada was initiated Saturday, when Secretary of State Knox explained to the envoys the powers conferred upon the representatives of the Department of State, and the purposes of the United States Government in entering into the negotiations. There were just six members of the conference assembled in the snug little office in the State Department assigned to the committee.

Among the negotiators are Chas. M. Pepper and John B. Osborn for the United States, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and Hon. W. Paterson, Minister of Customs, for Canada. Secretary Knox himself gave up his afternoon to the conference. Indications are that the negotiations will consume at least a week's time. There is an enormous amount of detail to be considered, and the tariff schedules of both countries will be subject to most careful study, in the light of elaborate figures showing the extent of the exports and imports and the capital invested in various lines of industry likely to be affected by any changes in the customs duties.

As usual in the negotiations of a treaty, the participants are bound to absolute secrecy. It is, therefore, improbable that there will be anything in the nature of an authoritative statement available before the close of the negotiations beyond a mere announcement as to what progress is being made.

It is said that the conference will result in the addition of a few raw products to the free lists, reductions of duty on American manufactured articles not now largely made in Canada and reduced duties on some Canadian agricultural staples largely used in the United States. Even this much will be regarded by the State Department as a satisfactory accomplishment, as the opening wedge for the extension of the idea of reciprocity in supplementary conventions to be drawn in the future.

The first conference lasted about two hours, and an adjournment was then taken until Monday afternoon at three o'clock. Beyond the mere announcement that the conference had met to renew the negotiations, "initialled by the President some months ago," the only formal statement to be had was the following:

"It was decided that no statements would be given to the press until the results of the negotiations should become definite; thereupon an authoritative statement will be made jointly by the representatives of both Governments, and will be issued through the Department of State. Meanwhile, anything purporting to be information as to the progress of negotiations will be the mere speculation of individual writers, and the negotiators will not feel called on to confirm or deny any such reports."

Guest of Roosevelt.

New York, Jan. 9.—Earl Grey, the Governor-General of Canada, arrived here Saturday from Ottawa, and late in the afternoon motored down to Oyster Bay, where he was the guest Saturday night of Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill.

"My visit to New York, said Earl Grey, "is purely a social one."

At the Hotel Plaza, where the earl spent Sunday, he said he would be unable to accept the invitation of President Taft to attend the state dinner to be given at the White House for the representatives of the Dominion who are in Washington in negotiation with Secretary Knox regarding the proposed new reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada.

Found Dead In Woods.

Cornwall, Jan. 9.—Angus McDonald, son of the late Angus McDonald of St. Andrew's, who recently returned from the west, was accidentally killed in the woods near his mother's residence on Friday. He went out in the afternoon with a shot gun, and when he did not return it was thought that he had gone to his uncle's. On Saturday his body was found, and it was evident from the position of the body and gun that he had drawn the weapon towards him over a stump. Both barrels had been discharged, making a terrible hole in his abdomen, which must have caused almost instant death.

The coroner, Dr. C. J. Hamilton, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The deceased was a fine young man, 23 years of age.

A Long Season.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—F. T. Congdon, M.P., says a record was made last season in dredging in the Yukon. It extended over 233 days. It is remarkable that a gold dredge can work to every advantage up to two weeks of Christmas, there are difficulties in the Yukon not experienced in other countries, but it is being proved that they can be overcome.

Fire In Belleville.

Belleville, Jan. 9.—The Deacon Shirt Co.'s large and commodious three-storey brick and stone structure was completely gutted by fire on Saturday. The fire broke out at 4.20 a.m., and spread with such rapidity that the fire brigade were unable to stop its progress. Nothing remains but blackened walls.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

EAST CITY

COAL

And Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter Street East
Phone 96

All sizes of the best mined Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

$7.50 Per Ton for December

Hardwood, $6.00 per cord. Best Mixed Wood, $4.50 per cord. First class Tamarac

WEIR & O'BRIEN

ARCH. WEIR JAMES O'BRIEN

The Daily Review

MONDAY, JAN. 9, 1911.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

The coming session of the Ontario Legislature promises to be a fairly busy one, the Whitney Government having many measures of importance to present. Notable in this will be some action on dual language in the schools. Dr. Merchant's report on this delicate and difficult problem will be ready, and there will be considerable discussion in the House. Sir James Whitney has never been known to side-step an important issue—and this is important—and one may reasonably look for some action in this case. The action taken by the Department of Education in the case of the schools in Glengarry, Stormont, and Russell counties, where violations of the law were proven to to exist, was quick and sure.

Hon Col. Matheson will probable be able to present his budget in the early part of the session, and it is promised that the financial statement will be very favorable, again showing a considerable surplus.

The Liberal opposition will again be seen in a light comedy role. Small in numbers, and not much larger otherwise, Hon A. G. MacKay's band of gallant braves will again "do its dooty" in criticism of the governmental actions. That is the function of an opposition, although as a real active, combative force the Liberal opposition in Ontario is about as destructive as a windmill which fans the atmosphere.

It has not been definitely stated as to when the amendments in the license administration law will be made—if they are made. There is room for some improvement here, although in this case, any alteration would probably be sweeping in its nature. In matters such as this, however, it is wise to make haste slowly.

AN ARBITRATION TREATY

The world is rapidly reaching the stage where war will be a thing of the past, as an arbitrament of international difficulties, although we have not yet reached the goal where nations cease to prepare for that eventuality. The "armed camp" will be with us for some time yet. But with the provision of means whereby war is rendered entirely unnecessary and made a crime against humanity, these war-like preparations will slacken, and in course of time cease entirely.

The folly of nations bankrupting themselves in the race for commercial and national supremacy has long been admitted by the very nations which are doing it. That the struggle for existence, for commercial leadership can be waged without recourse to a huge protective and offensive force, has been demonstrated, and when the nations find themselves financially embarrassed in carrying so useless a burden, such a struggle will naturally resolve itself into a question of internal economy, efficient organisation, and productive energy as among nations—not a case of grab, backed by Dreadnoughts and battalions.

It was not long ago that President Taft, in addressing the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, said.

"If now we can negotiate and put through a positive agreement with some great nation to abide the adjudication of an international arbitration court in every issue, which cannot be settled by negotiation, no matter what it involves, whether honor, territory or money, we shall have made a long step forward by demonstrating that it is possible for two nations, at least, to establish as between them the same system of due process of law that exists between individuals under a Government."

In fulfilling the idea foreshadowed by such a statement, President Taft has begun negotiations for a treaty with Great Britain, whereby arbitration will be the final resort in all disputes of whatever nature. This is not the first time efforts have been made towards this end. Under President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay negotiated seven general arbitration treaties, with as many European nations, but the Senate objected on the ground of unconstitutionality. The Committee on Foreign Relations reported an amendment, providing that in every case where arbitration was sought under a general treaty "a special treaty clearly defining the matter in dispute, the scope of the powers of the arbitrators, and the periods to be fixed for the information of the arbitral tribunal and the several stages of the procedure," must be negotiated. This means a reference to the senate in every case, whereby no arbitration results automatically.

President Taft hopes to overcome this. If he can succeed, the union of the two great Anglo-Saxon countries of the world—the world's best guarantee of peace—will pave the way for similar action by other nations. It is the initial, and deciding stage of a broad principle—and its world-wide importance cannot be estimated.

BANK INTEREST

In connection with the discussion on banks, and protection of the shareholders and depositors, it is interesting to note that very little is being said as to the increase in the rate of of interest given by the banks to savings depositors. The Metropolitan Bank annual statement, just issued, shows a net profit of nearly 15 per cent on the capital. The reserve fund is increased to 125 per cent. of the capital. That is a splendid showing, but on the exchanges the Metropolitan stock sells somewhere around $200 a share, or giving a net return of 7 1-2 per cent—not all the net profits being handed out in dividends, of course. How easy is it for a bank earning 15 per cent net, to pay a moderate dividend, say, 6 or 7 per cent., and devote the surplus each year to entrenching itself financially! That policy is responsible for the tremendous growth, and increase in assets of Canadian banks—a growth entirely out of proportion to the growth of ordinary commercial concerns.

The time has come when the rate of interest to the depositor should be increased. A 3 per cent interest rate in Canada—where almost any sort of good security can be bought to yield 5, 6 or 7 per cent—is not justice to the depositor who wishes to keep cash resources available. The government has the power to regulate such a rate, through its own post office savings department, and when the banks are enabled to show 10 and 15 per cent. earnings on their capital, surely the ordinary depositor is entitled to 4 per cent.

The loan companies, trust companies, and corporations doing a land loaning business, pay more than the regular banks, as a rule, and in the case of Canadian land, such loans are as a rule perfectly secure. In the west, real estate mortgages bring 8 per cent., and commercial paper 7 per cent. and 8 per cent.

Any man who has surplus cash, for which he will have no immediate need, can easily, with perfect security, find investments to yield much better returns than ordinary bank interest. In view of this, the large increase in deposits in the chartered banks of Canada is a remarkable evidence of the plentitude of money in this prosperous Dominion.

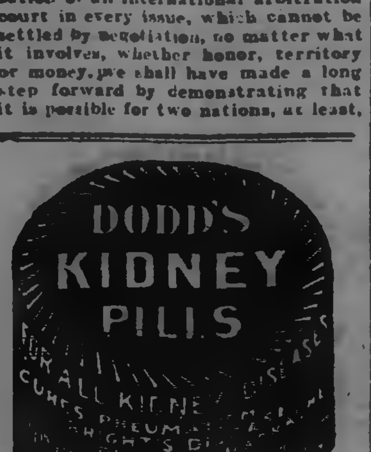
"SOAKING THE CONSUMER"

There is one point in the matter of tariff relations between Canada and the United States that has seemingly been overlooked. Supposing that reciprocity in natural products were established, as advocated by the dairymen at Perth. In the case of products such as cream, where the United States price is higher than Canadian, a free entry into the United States would certainly benefit the dairyman, but wouldn't it also raise the Canadian price to a level with the American?

Free entry of farm products into the United States means a wider market for the farmer, undoubtedly, and, as he claims, better prices.

But it means higher prices to the Canadian urban consumers, and means that in such staple products, Canadian prices will largely be dominated by American quotations—that being the larger market.

The farmers protest at the manufacturer "soaking" the consumer through the tariff. Yet in seeking wider markets and a higher price—which is good, legitimate business for them—they are doing exactly the same thing to other classes of the Canadian community as they claim the manufacturers are trying to do to them—as consumers.



OTTAWA POLITICAL GOSSIP

Ottawa, Jan 8.—The Conservatives meet the new year with hope and confidence. Not for years has the Opposition at Ottawa been so well organized and so free from personal or fractional strife. There is a feeling of coming victory in the air which is unmistakable. In the old days, room 16, where the Liberal members congregated, was a busy place, always crowded and often resounding with merriment and good cheer. The room assigned to the Conservatives, on the other hand, was apt, in those days, to be sombre and not frequented by many visitors. Now all is changed; the present Conservative members' room is inconveniently located but many people manage to find it. It is always crowded, and everybody seems to be in high spirits. When the members of an evening are waiting for the division bell there is much singing, laughing and joking, while room 16 looks like a charnel house—gloomy and deserted. It is so in the chamber of the House itself. It is now the Conservatives who are always in good spirits. The Government supporters do not spend much time in the House, and have no spirits for badinage or repartee. "The floaters"—people who are much in evidence at Ottawa, and are always anxious to be hand in glove with the powers that be—are beginning to take notice. R. L. Borden's reception at the opening of the session drew a crowd of rising sun worshippers almost without precedent. Men are inveighing loudly against the corruption of the Laurier Government in the streets of Ottawa to-day who apparently have been blind, deaf and dumb for the past fourteen years. When the news came from Drummond and Athabaska many a mask was thrown aside and contractors and others began to recall that they had always been Conservatives. There have been more more conversions during the past three months than at any time since 1896.

The Government, never strong, is now literally a one-man government. Mr. Fielding's enforced absence has left Sir Wilfrid Laurier without a single lieutenant who can be trusted to lead the House. Mr. Pugsley led the House once when the Government tried to force through the St. Lawrence Power Bill. His efforts on that occasion will not lead him to make a second attempt. Sir Frederick Borden, Hon Frank Oliver, Hon. Mr. Templeman and other Ministers refrain from taking any part in the business of the House, unless called upon to defend their respective departments. Hon Mackenzie King, the premier in petto, is not aspiring just yet to leadership. His experiences with the House have not been pleasant. An affable gentleman of good parts, he does not seem destined to be a successful parliamentarian. He talks overlong to begin with and he talks to the House as a college professor might talk to a class having thought it all out and proved it according to some book. He is shocked and pained beyond measure when his fellow-members say "Oh pshaw!" There is nothing in the text book to show what is to be done when the class refuses to be convinced. The only likely man in the Cabinet to-day is Hon. George P. Graham who is stronger on the stump than he is in the House. The situation of the Government is in striking contrast to the situation of the Opposition, which includes two dozen men who could be mentioned offhand, capable of leading the Government of the Opposition for a week or a month if called upon to do so by Mr. R. L. Borden. One can hardly imagine how the business of the House could be transacted by the present Government if Sir Wilfrid Laurier were prevented from being in his seat every day, and nearly every hour during the session.

Disintegration seems to be going on among the Liberals throughout the country, and it is amusing to hear them appealing to the Conservatives for help. The insurgency of their Nationalist wing in Quebec and the unrest among their followers in the west are political factors of the first importance. Instead of dealing with the Nationalists Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues are calling out to the Opposition accusing them one day of being in sympathy with the insurgents and urging them the next day to vote for the Government so as to destroy them. Exactly why Conservatives should mix in the family quarrel between Laurier and Bourassa has not been explained. The disclosures which came out during the debate upon the address show that the Laurier wing have nothing to boast of over the Bourassa wing on the score of loyalty. Mr. Borden stated the position of his party upon the naval question in terms clear and unmistakable. The Borden Government will be prepared to help the Empire in any emergency and will give the people a chance to say what are their views upon the proposed Canadian navy. The position of the Nationalists, if correctly stated by F. D. Monk and others, is not antagonistic. They are willing for a direct contribution to the Imperial navy if an emergency presents itself, and to bow to the mandate of the people and construct a Canadian navy if and whenever such a mandate is given. The Laurier Government stands in the mulish position of refusing to listen to any arguments, and of refusing to consult the people who have to pay the bills.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Montreal has 40,000 Hebrew residents. Oh, what a juicy place!

The Princess of Pless, formerly Mary Cornwallis West, spent $29,000 for perfume last year. This doesn't mean that she took to automobiles, dear reader!

Ex-King Manuel is said to be busily engaged in London with the French actress, Goby Deslys. Manuel has joined the profession by making a show of himself.

Dispatches from Belfast indicate that 50,000 Ulstermen are enlisting to take up arms if the Nationalists succeed. They say they may be Orangemen, but there's nothing yellow in their composition.

Brantford's publicity commissioner announces he has been able to secure five new industries practically without costing the city a cent. This is a unique record, indeed. St. Catharines is an example of the other kind. It has promised the Steel and Radiation Company a site of 25 acres. In addition it will raise $3,500 by debentures, and buy two adjoining lots. The company agrees to spend from $50,000 to $125,000 in wages, and expend $50,000 on buildings. The extremes are rather noticeable.

Heaviest Man to Fly.

London, Jan. 9.—Fully recovered after his unfortunate accident some three weeks ago, Mr. Grahame-White has promised to take Mr. Ecclestone, the heaviest man in England, up in the air in a week or two. Mr. Ecclestone, who weighs over 500 pounds, has no fear.

"I shall go up with Mr. Grahame-White or any other pilot without the slightest hesitation, and be glad of the chance," he said. "I am the heaviest man in Britain, and I have an ambition to take my big weight into the skies. You may be sure the event will come off."

The proceeds of the record flight are to be given to the Willesden Cottage Hospital, it being Mr. Ecclestone's intention to raise money enough to endow four new beds.

Laurier Declines Invitation.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will not attend the dinner to be given by President Taft on Wednesday next at Washington to the Canadian envoys to the reciprocity conference and Earl Grey, who is at present in New York. The Premier was invited by the President to attend, but has replied to the formal invitation that his Parliamentary duties will keep him from going. The House of Commons resumes after the holiday recess on Wednesday, and, as so many of the Cabinet Ministers are absent already, the Premier feels that his presence is necessary at the opening, as much important Government business is on the program for immediate discussion.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

Saturday Evening, Jan. 7.

Liverpool wheat futures closed to-day ⅛d lower than yesterday, corn futures unchanged to ¼d higher.

At Chicago May wheat closed to-day ¼c lower than yesterday; May corn, ⅛c higher, and May oats, ⅛c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

Winnipeg May wheat closed to-day unchanged from yesterday; May oats, unchanged also.

Jan. 6.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	96⅞	98	96⅜	97⅞	97⅛
July	99⅜	99⅜	99½	99½	99⅜
Oats—
May	37¼	37⅛	37⅛	37⅛	37⅛
July	38½	....	....	....	38⅛

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bush	$0 86 to	$0 88
Wheat, goose, bush.........	0 78	0 80
Rye, bushel	0 68	0 70
Barley, bushel	0 60	0 62
Buckwheat, bushel	0 49	....
Peas, bushel	0 78	0 80
Oats, bushel	0 28	....

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 24	0 25
Butter, store lots	0 21	0 22
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls.	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 25	....
Eggs, new-laid	0 45	....
Eggs, cold storage	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb	0 12	0 12½
Honeycombs, dozen	2 00	2 50
Honey, extracted, lb	0 10	0 11

New York Dairy Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Butter—Steady, unchanged; receipts 2870.

Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts 731; no exports.

Eggs—Steady, unchanged; receipts 4642.

CATTLE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—London cattle market lower for American cattle, 13¼c to 14½. dressed weight; refrigerator beef easier, at 9¾c to 10c.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 7.—John Rogers & Co., Liverpool, report to-day that there were only States cattle on the Birkenhead market, and altho trade was slow, prices held firm. The steers sold were hardly as good quality as last week's, and made from 12½ to 13½ cents per pound.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 7.—Cattle—Receipts 50; firm.

Veals—Receipts 150 head; active and 75c lower; $6.75 to $10.75.

Hogs—Receipts 6400 head; active and steady; heavy, $8.45 to $8.50; mixed, $8.45 to $8.55; yorkers, $8.50 to $8.75; pigs, $8.65 to $8.75; roughs, $7.25 to $7.50; stags, $6 to $6.50; dairies, $8.25 to $8.65.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 4600 head; steady; handy lambs and sheep active, heavy lambs slow; heavy lambs $5 to $5.75; handy lambs, $5 to $6.75; yearlings, $5 to $5.50; wethers, $4.15 to $4.40; ewes, $3.75 to $4; sheep, mixed, $2 to $4.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Beeves—Receipts 1817; nothing doing; feeling steady; dressed beef quiet, at 8½c to 10½c. Exports, 1472 cattle, 250 sheep and 2700 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts 262; steady; veals $7 to $11; fair western, $4.75; dressed calves, steady; city dressed veals, 12c to 16½c; country dressed, 8c to 13c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 5110; sheep steady, lambs a trifle weak; sheep, $2.50 to $4; lambs, $5.75 to $7.

Hogs—Receipts 3049; market steady at $8.50 to $8.75; outside quotations for pigs.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 400; market steady; beeves, $4.65 to $7; Texas steers, $4.25 to $5.40; western steers, $4.30 to $6; stockers and feeders, $3.75 to $5.80; cows and heifers, $2.00 to $6.30; calves $7 to $9.25.

REVIEW WANT ADVTS.

The Review want advertisements are read by thousands, for people want what they want when they want it.

If you need help,—Servants, maids, or workmen try the Review want ad columns.

If you have anything to sell, from a piano to an Auto, use the Review want ad columns.

If you have lost anything try a want ad in the Review and almost certainly you will recover the lost article. If you want an owner for anything found a Review want ad will bring the owner to light.

One Cent Per Word

Advertisements under this head 1c per word

Advertisers, if they prefer, may use as many as 25 words at the rate of 25c for one insertion, 38c for two insertions, and 50c for three insertions.

RATES

10 Words—1 TIME, 10 Cents
25 Words—1 TIME, 25 Cents
25 Words—2 TIMES, 38 Cents
25 Words—3 TIMES, 50 Cents
25 Words—6 TIMES, 75 Cents
LOCALS (Reading Type) 48 cts per inch (4 cents per line.)
LOCALS in Dark Type 60c per inch (5 cents per line.)

Lost or Found

LOST

SEVERAL DAYS AGO — COON SKIN STOLE lined with grey satin. Reward for return to the Review Office. 1d

LOST

ON SAURDAY NIGHT — BACK COMB, SET with brilliants. Finder will please leave at this office. 1d

Wanted

WANTED

FURNISHED ROOM — MUST BE CLOSE ON near hotels and depots. Box M. 3d

WANTED

YOUNG MAN WITH SOME KNOWLEDGE of sign writing and brush work. Apply, J. J. Turner & Sons. 3d

WANTED

DINING-ROOM GIRL, GRAND HOTEL. EXperienced. Apply at Hotel.

WANTED

GOOD STRONG BOYS. APPLY LUNDY Shovel and Tool Company, Perry street, 7 a.m. or 12 p.m. 3d

WANTED

A CHAMBERMAID. Apply at National Hotel dtf

WANTED

GOOD MAID WANTED AT ONCE. APPLY at Nicholls Hospital. dtf

WANTED

A BELL BOY. APPLY AT NATIONAL Hotel at once. 3d

SNOWDEN & MURPHY

Employment Agents
Auctioneers Pawn Brokers

GIVE US A CALL

If you want to make a loan.
If you want to sell your Household Furniture.
If you have any article you wish to dispose of.
If you are looking for a good position.
If you require any help.
If you want bargains in Watches or Jewellery.

AUCTION SALE every Saturday evening.

291 George Street. Opposite Opera House

AUCTIONEER

James E. Cope

Auctioneer and Valuator
FARM and REAL ESTATE SALES
Executed with Promptness and Care
OFFICE and RESIDENCE — 213 Stewart St.
At Munro House Saturdays

WE SELL Anything you want
WE BUY Anything you have to sell

JAY'S STORES
Phone 623. 360 Aylmer St Peterborough.

COAL

THAT IS COAL

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL, at

$7.50 PER TON

Hardwood

First-Class. . . . Best in City

Four Foot $6.00 Per Cord

Cut and split as desired

—AT—

J. E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111.

Medical

DR. FRANK C. NEAL

M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., London.
"Internal Medicine."
Special Attention to Diseases of Chest.
Hours: 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m. Phones: Bell 851, mach. 225
314 Rubidge Street.

DR. BUCHANAN

F.R.C.S., Edinb: M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Specialist Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 519; 169 Charlotte St. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m. 7-8 p.m.

DR. G. C. LEACH

Late House Surgeon of Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio; also of Cook County Hospital, Chicago. OFFICE—224 Hunter St., formerly occupied by Dr. Coughlin. Phone Bell 219. Special Attention to Diseases of Women

DR. E. A. HAMMOND

Late assistant Westminster Hospital, Brompton Hospital, National Heart Hospital, St. John's Skin Hospital, London, Eng. Also of Rotunda Maternity Hospital, Dublin.
Special—Disease of Heart, Skin and Stomach
Office—548 Water Street
Bell Phones, Office 468—House 1891

Osteopathy

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY

Osteopathic Physician
Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street entrance.
Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free. Bell Phone 549

Legal

RUDDY & BURNHAM

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc
Office — No. 379 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to Loan.
Robt. Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.

O'CONNELL & GORDON

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS AND NOTARIES
Hunter Street, two doors west of Post Office.
Daniel O'Connell George N. Gordon

A. E. DIXON

Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Office corner Hunter and George Sts., Peterboro
Entrance next to W. Madill's Drug Store.

R. E. WOOD

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, Etc. Office removed from Bank of Commerce Building to 435 George street, recently occupied by E. B. Edwards. Money to Loan.

W. H. MOORE

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, in the Supreme Court etc. Office—Hunter Street, first stairs west of Post Office.

HALL, HAYES & HALL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and NOTARIES PUBLIC, Hunter Street, Peterborough, next the English Church. Money to Loan at the lowest rates of interest.
E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor,
Louis M. Hayes, K.C. Basil D. Hall

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON

(Successors to Stratton & Hall)
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., Peterborough Ont. Office—Corner of Hunter and Water Sts., over Bank of Commerce.
R. R. Hall, M.P. S. T. Medd W. S. Davidson

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES
415 Water Street, Peterborough
Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck F. D. Kerr R. M. Dennistoun

Money

BENNET & GOODWILL

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, Etc., 376 Water Peterborough. Telephone No. 191.
Money at Current Rates
Upon Easy Terms.
J. W. Bennet E. L. Goodwill

Money to Loan

at lowest current rates

—on—

FARM, TOWN OR VILLAGE PROPERTY
ON EASIEST TERMS OF REPAYMENT
HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON
Successors to Stratton & Hall
BARRISTERS Office—corner of Hunter and Water Streets over Bank of Commerce

The TORONTO SAVINGS and LOAN COMPANY

Paid up Capital - $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - - - - 650,000.00

Savings Department

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.
Interest accrues from date of Deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of Banking.

Security Afforded Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1909 - - $3,120,201.18
Liabilities to the Public - - 1,368,771.88

Surplus - - - - $751,429.30

HEAD OFFICES:
437 George Street., Peterborough

Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Saturdays - 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

W. G. MORROW
Managing Direct

DOMINION

CHINESE CAFE

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch, don't forget to call

328 GEORGE STREET

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Paid Up Capital, Rest and Undivided Profits - $7,051,019.81

FARMERS

are offered every banking facility.

Sale Notes Discounted.

Peterborough Branch, George Street
G. C. WAINWRIGHT, Manager

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrier"

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"Because I haven't lost all my manhood," he answered roughly. "Yesterday you assumed the blame for this trouble and spoke of sacrifices, and—well, I don't know much about women, but for all I know you may have some ridiculous, quixotic strain in your makeup. I hope you didn't"—

"What?"

"Well, do anything you may be sorry for." At last he detected a gleam of spirit in her eyes.

"Suppose I did. What difference to you would that make?" He shifted uncomfortably under the girl's scrutiny.

"Suppose that Mr. Hilliard had called on me for some great sacrifice before he gave up that money. Would you allow it to effect you?"

"Of course," he answered. Then, unable to sit still under her searching gaze, he arose with flushed face to meet further discomfiture as she continued:

"Even if it meant your own ruin, the loss of the fortune you have raised among your friends—money that is intrusted to you—and—and the relinquishment of Miss Wayland? Honestly, now"—her voice had softened and dropped to a lower key—"would it make any difference?"

"Certainly!"

"How much difference?"

"I'm in a very embarrassing position," he said slowly. "You must realize that with others depending on me I'm not free to follow my own inclinations."

She uttered a little mocking laugh. "Pardon me. It was not a fair question, and I shouldn't have asked it, but your hesitation was sufficient answer." Then as he broke into a heated denial she went on:

"Like most men, you think a woman has but one asset upon which to trade. However, if I felt responsible for your difficulties that was my affair, and if I determined to help extricate you that also concerned me alone." He stepped forward as if to protest, but she silenced his speech with an imperious little stamp of her foot.

In spite of the cheering turn his fortunes had taken, it was in no very amiable mood that he left her at last no whit the wiser for all his questioning. In the hotel lobby below he encountered the newspaper reporter who had fallen under Fraser's spell upon their first arrival from the north. The man greeted him eagerly.

"How d' y' do, Mr. Emerson? Can you give me any news about the fisheries?"

"No."

"I thought there might be something new bearing on my story."

"Indeed! So you are the chap who wrote that article some time ago, eh?"

"Yes, sir. Good, wasn't it?"

"Doubtless, from the newspaper point of view. Where did you get it?"

"From Mr. Clyde."

CHAPTER XI.

CLYDE! You mean Fraser—Frobisher, I should say," gasped Boyd to the reporter.

"No, sir. Alton Clyde! He was pretty talkative the night I saw him." The reporter laughed meaningly.

"Drunk, do you mean?"

"Oh, not exactly drunk, but pretty wet. He knew what he was saying, however. Can't you give me something more?"

"Nothing." Boyd hurried to his hotel, a prey to mingled anger and contrition. So Fraser had told the truth, after all, and with a kind of sullen loyalty had chosen to remain under a cloud himself rather than inform on a friend. It was quite in keeping with the fellow's peculiar temperament. As it happened, Boyd found the two men together and lost no time in acquainting them with his discovery.

"I've come to apologize to you," he said to Fraser, who grinned broadly and was seized with a sudden abashment which stilled his tongue. Emerson turned to Clyde. "Why did you permit me to do this injustice?"

"I—I didn't mean to give out any secrets—I don't remember doing it," Alton apologized lamely. "You know I can't drink much. I don't remember a thing about it, honestly." Boyd regarded him coldly, but the young man's penitence seemed so genuine, he looked so weak, so pitifully incompetent, that the other lacked heart to chastise him. It requires resistance to develop heat, and against the absence of character it is impossible to create any sort of emotion.

"When you got drunk that night you not only worked a great hardship on all of us, but afterward you allowed me to misjudge a very faithful man," declared Boyd. "If you can't keep a close mouth and do as you are told you'd better go back to Chicago."

"Don't climb any higher," admonished "Fingerless" Fraser. "He's all fluffed up now. I'll lay you 8 to 1 he don't make another break of the kind."

"No; I was so com-cussed-pletely pickled that I forgot I even spoke about the salmon canning business. I'll break my corkscrew and seal my flask, and from this moment until we come out next fall the demon rum and I are divorced. Is that good news?"

"Everything is a joke to you, isn't it?" said Boyd. "If this trip doesn't make a man of you, you'll never grow up."

As if Hilliard's conversion had marked the turning point of their luck, the partners now entered upon a period of almost uninterrupted success. Boyd signed his charter, securing a tramp steamer then discharging at Tacoma; Balt closed his contracts for Chinese labor, and the scattered carloads of material which had been lost en route or mysteriously laid out on sidings began to come in as if of their own accord.

A brigade of orientals and a miniature army of fishermen had appeared as if by magic and were quartered in the lower part of the city awaiting shipment. At the dock one throbbing April evening the Bedford Castle berthed, ready to receive her cargo, and the two men made their way toward their hotel, weary, but glowing with the grateful sense of an arduous duty well performed. The following morning would find the wharf swarming with stevedores and echoing to the rattle of trucks, the clank of hoists and the shrill whistles of the signalmen.

"Looks like they couldn't stop us now," said Balt.

"It does," agreed Emerson. "We ought to clear in four days—that'll be the 15th."

"It smells like an early spring, too," the fisherman observed, sniffing the air. "If it is we'll be in Kalvik the first week in May."

"I'm off to tell Cherry," said Boyd.

His course took him past Hilliard's bank, and when abreast of it he nearly collided with a man who came hurrying forth. In the well groomed, fiery haired, plump figured man Emerson recognized the manager of the North American Packers' association.

"Good evening, Mr. Marsh."

Marsh whirled about. "Eh? Ah! Why, yes, it's Emerson."

Marsh informed Boyd of the anger of Mildred's father at his canning enterprise and also that Mildred and Mr. Wayland were to visit Kalvik on a yachting tour. Emerson was greatly amazed at this information; also he realized that Marsh had arrived on the spot because Hilliard had granted his opponents their needed loan. The men separated.

The next morning Balt rushed in on Emerson with news that the laborers loading the Bedford Castle had gone on a strike because the captain, Peasley, rightly refused a demand of $2,000 by the union.

"It's Marsh again," said Big George.

"Yes," Emerson answered; "it's a holdup pure and simple." A look of intense anxiety came into his eyes.

When Boyd returned some two hours later he found the dock deserted save for Big George, who prowled watchfully about the freight piles.

"Well, did you fix it up?" the fisherman inquired.

"No," exclaimed Boyd. "It's a rank frame-up, and I refused to be bled."

"Good for you."

"There are some things a fellow's manhood won't stand for. I'll carry that freight aboard with my own hands before I'll be robbed by a labor union at the bidding of Willis Marsh."

"Say, will you let me load this ship my way?" George asked.

"Can you do it?"

Balt's thick lips drew back from his yellow teeth in that smile which Emerson had come to recognize as a harbinger of the violent acts that rejoiced his lawless soul.

"Listen," said he, with a chuckle. "Down the street yonder I've got a hundred fishermen. Half of them are drunk at this minute and the rest are half drunk."

"Then they are of no use to us."

"I don't reckon you ever seen a herd of Kalvik fishermen out of a job, did you? Well, there's just two things they know, fishing and fighting, and this ain't the fishing season. When they hit Seattle the police force goes up into the residence section and stuffs cotton in its ears, because the only thing that is strong enough to stand between a uniform and a fisherman is a hill."

"Can you induce them to work?"

"I can. All I'm afraid of is that I can't induce them to quit. They're liable to put his freight aboard the Bedford Castle and then pull down the dock in a spirit of playfulness and pile it in Captain Peasley's cabin. There ain't no convulsion of nature that's equal to a gang of idle fishermen."

"When can they begin?"

"Well, it will take me all night to round them up, and I'll have to lick four or five, but there ought to be a dozen or two on hand in the morning." George cast a roving eye over the warehouse from the heavy planking underfoot to the wide spanning rafters above. "Yes," he concluded, "I don't see nothing breakable, so I guess it's safe."

"Would you like me to go with you?"

The giant considered him speculatively. "I don't think so. I ain't never seen you in action. No, you better stay here and arrange to guard this stuff till morning. I'll do the rest."

The following morning, true to his word, the big fellow walked into the warehouse followed by a score or more of burly fishermen.

Balt bore signs of strife. The big man's lips were cut, while back of one ear a knot had sprung up overnight like a fungus.

They fell to work quickly, stripping themselves to their undershirts; they manned the hoists, seized trucks and bale hooks and began their tasks with a thoroughly nonunion energy. Some of them were still so drunk that they staggered, their awkwardness affording huge sport to their companions, yet even in their intoxication they were surprisingly capable. George sought out Boyd and proudly inquired:

"What do you think of them, eh?"

"They are splendid. But where are the others?"

"Well, there are two or three that won't be able to get around at all." He meditatively stroked the knuckles of his right hand, which were badly bruised. "But the balance will be here tomorrow. These are just the mildest mannered ones—the family men, you might say. The others will show up gradual."

The work had not continued many hours before a stranger made his way in upon the dock and began to argue with the first fisherman he met. Boyd, approaching him, demanded:

"What do you want?"

"Nothing," said the newcomer.

"Then get out."

"What for? I'm just talking to this man."

"Will you go?"

"Say, you can't load that cargo this way," the man began threateningly. "And you can't make me go"—

At which Emerson seized him by the collar and quickly disproved the assertion, to the great delight of the fishermen. He thrust him out into the street.

"I'm a union man, and you can't load that ship with 'scabs.'" The stranger swore as he slunk off.

The first actual violence, however, occurred when the fishermen knocked off for the noon hour. Boyd called up the police department, then summoned Big George. It was with considerable difficulty that the nonunion crew fought its way back to resume work at 1 o'clock.

During the afternoon the strikers made several attempts to enter the dock shed, and it required a firm stand by the guards to restrain them.

The next morning found the nonunion men out in such force that they were divided into a night and a day crew, half of them being sent back to report later, while among the mountains of freight the work went forward faster than ever. But in time the city awoke to the realization that a serious conflict was in progress. The handful of fishermen, outnumbered twenty to one and guarded only by a thin line of pickets, became a center of general interest.

It was on the fourth day that Boyd espied the man in the gray suit among the strikers and pointed him out to his three companions, Clyde and Fraser having joined him and George in a spirit of curiosity.

Late in the afternoon, without a moment's warning, the strikers rushed in a body, bearing down the guards like reeds.

Emerson and his companions found themselves carried away before the onslaught like chips in the surf, then sucked into a maelstrom where the first duty was self preservation. Boyd succeeded in keeping his footing and eventually fought his way to a backing of crated machinery, where he stooped and ripped a cleat loose. Then, laying about him with this weapon, he cleared a space.

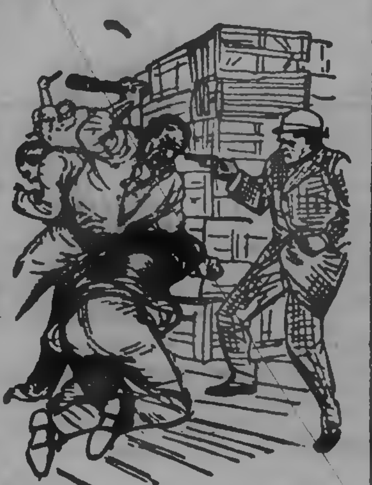
At the first alarm the fishermen had armed themselves with bale hooks and bludgeons and for a time worked havoc among their assailants.

Seeing Clyde in a helpless condition, Emerson shouted:

"Come on! I'll help you aboard the ship." He found a hardwood club beneath his feet and with it cleared a pathway for Clyde and himself. He suddenly spied the man in the gray suit, who had climbed upon one of the freight piles, whence he was scanning the crowd. The man recognized Emerson and pointed him out. The next instant Boyd saw him approaching, followed by several others. Then, though Boyd fell back farther, the others rushed in and he found himself hard beset. What happened thereafter neither he nor Alton Clyde, who was half dazed to begin with, ever clearly remembered.

Before he had recognized the personal nature of the assault Emerson found himself engaged in a furious hand to hand struggle. Then a sudden blackness swallowed him up, after which he found himself upon his knees, his arms loosely encircling a pair of legs. As he struggled upward something smote him in the side with sickening force, and he went to his knees again.

He could only raise his shoulder and fling an arm weakly above his head in anticipation of the crushing blow he thought was coming. But it did not descend. Instead he heard a gunshot. A weight sank across his calves. Then, with a final effort, he pulled himself free and staggered to his feet, his head rocking, his knees sagging. He saw a man's figure facing him and lunged at it to bring up in the arms of "Fingerless" Fraser."



HE COULD ONLY FLING AN ARM WEAKLY ABOVE HIS HEAD.

Boyd turned and beheld the body of a man stretched face downward on the floor. Beyond the fellow in the gray suit was disappearing into the crowd. Then he saw a gleam of blue metal in Fraser's hands.

"Give me that gun!" he panted.

"I may need it myself, and I ain't got but the one here. Let's get Clyde out of this."

Fraser lifted the young clubman, who was huddled in a formless heap as if he had fallen from a great height, and together the two dragged him toward the Bedford Castle.

That night under glaring headlines the evening papers told the story, reporting one fisherman fatally hurt, one striker dead of a gunshot wound and many others injured.

CHAPTER XII.

A HALF mile from Captain Peasley's ship the rival company tenders were loading rapidly with union labor. The next day Emerson and Clyde drove down to the dock with Cherry in a closed carriage, experiencing no annoyance beyond some jeers and insults as they passed through the picket line. Boyd had barely seen them comfortably established on board when up the ship's gangway came "Fingerless" Fraser radiantly attired, three heavily laden hotel porters groaning at his back, the customary thick waisted cigar between his teeth.

"Are you going with us?" Boyd inquired.

"Sure."

To be continued.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Sexual Weakness, Emissions, Spermatorrhoea, and Effects of Abuse or Excesses. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. [illegible] Toronto, Ont.

Headaches — nausea — indigestion — muddy complexion — pimples — bad breath — these are some of the effects of constipation. The mild, sensible, reliable remedy is

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES

They contain the latest discovered and best evacuant known, which empties the bowels without the slightest discomfort and without disturbing the rest of the system. Constantly increased doses are not necessary.

25c. a box. If your druggist has not yet stocked them, send 25c. and we will mail them. 25

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. Montreal.

FANCY GOODS

AT BARGAIN PRICES

All the latest Holiday novelties in China, Dolls, Toys, Baskets and things to wear, at most reasonable prices. See our stock—it will pay you to do so.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE

424 GEORGE ST PHONE 228

Wanted to Be a Sacrifice.

One of the strangest petitions ever received by a police magistrate has been presented at Calcutta. A young Bengali, with his forehead covered with heavy caste marks, entered the witness-box during the hearing of applications, and handed to the magistrate a stamped paper praying for an order to have his life sacrificed before the goddess Kali for the benefit of the Government, and also for the people of Hindustan. It added that the comet which had been appearing nightly in the heavens was a very bad sign, and the petitioner who signed himself Prani Nath Sadhoo, wished to become its victim. The magistrate declined, and told the Bengali to go home and pray to avert the evil happenings which might follow the comet, as that might prove more efficacious than the loss of his life.

Arthur Johnson, aged 22, of Jordan River, N. S. fell from a lumber schooner of Cape Cod and was drowned.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

RAILWAY TIME TABLE.

	ARRIVE	DEPART
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst, North Bay, Stouffville and Toronto	11.40 a.m. 9.40 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 5.35 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cobourg, Montreal and east	8.25 a.m. 5.30 p.m.	11.45 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Markham	10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and east	8.10 a.m. 8.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.00 a.m. 5.15 p.m.	8.25 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

GOING EAST—
11.29 a.m. for Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal
7.47 p.m. for Indian River, Norwood, Havelock Tweed.
12.10 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal,
1.01 a.m., midnight, Ottawa, Montreal.

GOING WEST—
5.26 a.m., for Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, New York Woodstock, London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago, etc
5.51 a.m. for North Toronto, West Toronto; connects with above train at West Toronto
7.42 a.m. for Cavanville, Burketon, Myrtle, Lindsay, Toronto.
4.26 p.m. for Toronto, Hamilton, Galt, Woodstock London, Chatham, Detroit, Chicago; also Fort William, Winnipeg and all points in Canadian Northwest.

EGGS

For Sale in Any Quantities

Cold Storage

In Full Operation

SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

W. SCOTT CO'Y

Both 'Phones 264

Children's Aid Society

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Information kept strictly private.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

GEO. COCHRANE,
Agent and Asst Sec

Phone 1320 76 George St

Get . . . the Latest

We supply the correct things in

WEDDING INVITATIONS

MENUS

PROGRAMMES

ANNOUNCEMENTS

CALLING CARDS

And PERSONAL STATIONERY

The newest and latest types papers and extremely good work.

Review Printing Co

PETERBOROUGH

WHAT HAPPENED TO OTHERS MAY HAPPEN TO YOU

During the last five years the Industrial Department has paid over 2,900 SICKNESS CLAIMS.

Here are a few of the most common diseases and the number of claims paid on same.

LaGrippe	570	Bronchitis	193
Stomach & bowel trouble	180	Tonsilitis and quinsy	177
Typhoid Fever	167	Rheumatism	149
Lumbago and sciatica	104	Pleurisy	103
Blood Poisoning	97	Abscesses	91
Pneumonia	90	Appendicitis	89
Nervous Prostration	8	Renal Calculus	70
Kidney Trouble	61	Boils	54

The Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Insurance Co. of Canada

Represented by

W. H. HILL

159 Hunter Street Peterborough, Ont

Phone 14, Bell or Machine.

There's A Difference !

No counterfeiter has ever produced a perfect dollar.

No imitator has ever equaled the Nugent Drug Co's Pine Tar Cordial in quality.

In buying Pine Tar Cordial, for coughs and colds, insist on having "NUGENT'S. All others are cheap imitations.

We have been manufacturing this preparation for nearly 30 years. It is one of the best cures for coughs and colds and all bronchial troubles, in the market.

Our sale of Pine Tar Cordial for 1910 was over 3000 bottles.

Price 25c bottle

Manufactured only by the

NUGENT DRUG Co.

Change in Business

I have bought the Blacksmithing Business of Mr. W. E. McCall, on Water St , and will carry it on in best manner.

Horse Shoeing and Repairs of all kinds promptly executed. Prices moderate.

W G. ROLAND

Flannigan's Oysters
Are the Best in the World
We have them.

The Juciest Oranges
Bananas
Grape Fruit
Sweet Potatoes
Celery, Letuce
and all vegetables in season.

New Canned Goods of Highest Quality

MINICOLA BROS.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Hunter Street · Both Phones 337

Place Your Orders
WITH US NOW FOR YOUR
AWNINGS : TENTS : FLAGS
or for anything you may require in our line for present or spring delivery.
Respectfully yours,
J. J. Turner & Sons
Cor. George, King and Water-sts.
Both Phones. Peterborough

A Gift That Only You Can Give

What would be better than a Portrait of Yourself? The kind we make? Come now before the rush and let us have the order. We are prepared to give you the best your money can buy.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO — 374½ George Street, East Side
The only Studio on George St.

Newest Styles
—in—
Hair Dressing

Have your hair shampooed and done for that party this week,

All the newest ideas in Coiffures, Switches, Puffs, Braids and Pads in all shades.

Miss E. Smith

523 George-st. Near McDonnel-st
Machine Phone 133.

WHO'S COMING AND GOING

Mr. John Hart, of Havelock, was at the Munro House on Saturday.

Mr. John A. Campbell ,of London, is registered at the Munro House.

Miss Minnie Jackson, 187 Carlton street, Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. John E Patten.

Mrs. Harvey was in the city some weeks ago as the guest of Mrs. Rothwell Antrim street.

Mrs. (Dr.) Husband, of Hamilton, is in the city owing to the illness of her brother, Mr. Wm. Bunton.

Mr. C. Gilbert, late of Glace Bay, N. S., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gilbert, Sherbrooke street.

Mrs. (Dr.) F. C. Neal will receive at her home, 314 Rubidge street, on Wednesday afternoon, January the eleventh, from four to six o-clock.

Mrs. T. O. Donaldson, 421 London street, will receive on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 12th, for the first time, and afterwards on the third Thursday of each month.

Mrs. John E. Patten, formerly Miss Ellen Ray, will receive for the first time since her marriage, at her mother's residence, 599 Water street, on Tuesday afternoon, from four to six o'clock, Jan. 10th.

At the time of going to press this afternoon, the Review learned that the condition of Mr. Wm. Bunton, the G.T.R. passenger ticket agent, was extremely critical, and he is in grave danger. Doctors are in constant attendance.

Mrs. Harvey, of Seventeenth avenue and Second street west, received yesterday afternoon for the first time since her return from the east and with Miss Cotton ,of Peterborough. She was wearing a lovely gown of black and white muslin, with touches of mauve, and Miss Cotton looked well in a becoming frock of fawn silk. Mrs. Hamly, who assisted during the afternoon, looked well in grey silk with large black picture hat, and as matron of ceremonies saw to the comfort of the guests and invited them to the tea room, where the table was centred with a shower of red carnations. Mrs. Harvey will receive in future on the first Wednesday of each month.—Calgary Herald.

St. Luke's Church Notices

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet on Thursday at 8 p.m.

The monthly business meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary will be held tonight at the Rectory at 8 o'clock.

The usual week-night service will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet on Thursday at 2.30 in the Infant Class room.

The Mission Band will meet on Friday at 4.15.

Choir practice at the residence of Mrs. Greenslade, King street, on Thursday at eight o'clock.

ADAMS'
15 Days' Cash Realization Sale

Is now going at full blast. All over the store prices have been reduced, in many cases to less than manufacturer's cost. Anticipate your present and future wants and buy NOW.

Corset Bargains

100 Pairs of new spring corsets, extra long, made of extra fine materials, worth regular $1.5c. During our Cash Realization Sale your choice for........ 98c

50c Corsets, sale price........	39c
75c Corsets, sale price........	63c
$1.00 Corsets, sale price......	83c
$1.25 Corsets, sale price......	98c
$1.50 Corsets, sale price......	1.29
$2.00 Corsets, sale price......	1.69
$3.00 Corsets, sale price......	2.63

Glove Bargains

25c Wool Gloves for	19c
35c Wool Gloves for	29c
50c Wool Gloves for	39c

Hosiery Bargains

25c Cashmere Hose for........	19c
35c Cashmere Hose for	29c
50c Cashmere Hose for	43c
75c Cashmere Hose for	63c

$2.00 and $3.00 Cashmere Blouses for 98c

Clearing line of Cashmere and Lustre Blouses, worth up to $3.00. Sale price for.............. 98c

ADAMS' CASH REALIZATION SALE IS ONE GREAT MONEY-SAVING EVENT. DON'T MISS IT.

Harry Adams

HIGH CLASS OF CONSTRUCTION ON C.P.R. GRAIN LINE

New Road Will be Thoroughly Modern One—50000 Bushels of Grain on One Train on This Line Says Sir Thomas Shaughnessy

Toronto World—The Canadian Pacific has, for some years now, been working on a wheat line from Victoria Harbor, Georgian Bay, to the tidewater at Montreal. It must be an absolutely standard line, especially as to grades. It completed the first of three sections when it double-tracked the line from Montreal to Smith's Falls. This is now standard. The second section to be taken up was from Victoria Harbor (the Georgian Bay Port) to Bethany, a dozen miles this side of Peterborough, on the Toronto-Montreal line. This section is about 86 miles. There is any depth of water at Victoria Harbor and elevator accommodation for ten million bushels of grain already erected. The section runs through Orillia and Lindsay to Bethany. The Toronto Construction Company have the contract for the first fifty miles and have the work well forward. Two days ago they signed a contract with Mr. T. R. Hinds and Mr. D. A. Deeks for the remaining 38 miles to Bethany.

The remaining section from Bethany to Smith's Falls, involves the construction of 140 miles of main line (Montreal-Toronto) with double track, new grades, diversions, etc. The surveys for all this new work have been completed, and some of it is now under way. It is Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's policy to complete it by next year's crop if at all possible. In the meantime this grain can come by the Sudbury line to Toronto, and thence to Montreal.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy said not long ago that he hoped to move 50,000 bushels in one train on this line, and his proposition is to carry the grain by rail from the prairies to Port Arthur, to transmit it there to boats direct to Victoria Harbor and by the new line that he is building, to rail it to Montreal and Smith's Falls. This new improvement from Victoria Harbor to Bethany gives the best grade and the highest class of construction that has yet been built on any portion of the Canadian Pacific.

An illuminating comment was made the other day by an independent engineer of national reputation, when he said that in his opinion, better than any Ottawa ship canal or a new Welland Canal, as far as the transportation of the grain of the grain of the Canadian West is concerned, would be a four-track railway with a 4-10 of 1 per cent grade from the Georgian Bay to tidewater at Montreal. Such a four-track road, he said, could carry the grain for less than any canal, and would be available for every day in the year and would handle much more than any waterway that could be constructed. His idea further was that such a road should be built by the government of Canada, with common use of it given to all the railroads, just as used by all the shipowners.

If this view is correct it shows how near Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's policy is to get right up to the top of the transportation of the grain of the West, for evidently that is the object on which his grain road is based. Those who know Sir Thomas, know that he knows what he is about, and he knows a good deal about the transportation question as well.

MISS LENA ASHWELL
England's foremost emotional actress, who comes to the Grand next Wednesday, Jan. 11, in the new problem play, "Judith Zaraine," founded on capital and labor. The seat sale opened this morning.

NEW CLASS TERM AT Y.W.C.A.

A new term in our educational work opens to-day, and we are anticipating even larger classes than during the fall term. This is a most opportune time to take out a membership ticket and join one or more of the excellent classes arranged for by the Educational Committee.

The literature class of the fall term when Dante was studied under the able leadership of Rev. H. R. Trumpour, will be continued during the winter term by Judge Huycke, who has kindly consented to lead the class in the study of "In Memoriam." We will surely greet Judge Huycke with a large class on Tuesday evening, 17.

The St. John Ambulance First Aid Class, so successfully taught by Dr. M. McCulloch, will be continued as a Home Nursing Class. The class will be formed Thursday evening.

Miss McCrae, of the Normal staff, will give drawing lessons, provided a sufficient number desire such a class.

Miss Steinhoff continues her cooking class to-night.

Miss Rosenburg will teach the dressmaking class, using the Practical Tailoring System.

The public school work class will meet as usual on Thursday evening at 7.30.

The Y.W.C.A. gymnasium classes are too well and favorably known to need special notice. The new term opens this afternoon with the intermediate class. The senior class will meet to-morrow evening.

The Social Bible Class will again meet on Friday at 6.30. The tea to be followed by the study at 7.30.

Will you not 'phone or call at the association and have a talk with Miss McCalla about the membership privileges and classes?

LENA ASHWELL IN "JUDITH ZARAINE"

To sum up in a few words the importance of the appearance of Lena Ashwell at the Grand Opera House next Wednesday, Jan. 11th, in C. M. S. McLellan's play, it will show for the first time to our public in a worthy vehicle an artist whose fine achievements as actress and manager have made her a leading factor in the dramatic seasons of London.

It will supply this fine actress with a role that promises to test her abilities, that of a woman caught in a maelstrom of strife and carnage, resulting from labor troubles, in a Pennsylvania mill town.

It will present for the first time a new, serious play from the author of "Leah Kleschna," one of the most interesting of the many good, high-class melodramas of recent years. McLellan, like Paul Armstrong, Richard Harding Davis and other of our writers who are not afraid of words, fearlessly uses the word melodrama in description of plays of the type of "Judith Zaraine," "Alias Jimmy Valentine," and "The Deep Purple."

"Judith Zaraine" deals with telling effect with a vital economic of the day. Naturally, an expert dramatist like McLellan, will not permit any theories on his part to clog the action of his play. The message of his play, if there is any, is merely incidental, and need not deter from any visiting the theatre, if their object is merely to witness a hustling play.

Miss Ashwell comes to America under the direction of Liebler and Company, who are noted for the splendid casts with which they equip plays that go out under their management. Miss Ashwell's leading man is Chas. Waldron, who made such a hit as the hero of "The Fourth Estate," and who is well on the road to stardom. The other players are all Americans, well-known to regular play-goers.

This engagement will offer the local public its only opportunity to see Miss Ashwell for several years, at least. Miss Ashwell's obligations as manager of her own theatre in London compel her to return home at the conclusion of the season, and her arrangements for future make it improbable that she will soon be induced to return to this country.

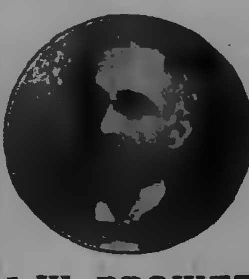
The Two Events of the Year

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back," an allegory, and "The Passing of the Thomas Shoe Factory," a farce, both attracted considerable attention in Lindsay this year, according to the papers.

THE CANADIAN LADY
For style, wear and comfort try The Canadian Lady Boot at $3.00, $3 50 and $4 00
T. C Elliot, 392 George Street.

TRY A REVIEW WANT AD.

What a Young Man Says:



"My education has been interfered with and my eyes have been my handicap all my life long. My parents did not realize this and I did not myself until too late, but I see now that if I could have had suitable glasses in my boyhood, life would have been very different today."

Many a child is considered slow at school, when suitable glasses is all that interferes with his or her education.

The Peterboro Optical Institute
IN THE MARKET BUILDING
J. W. BROWETT, Optical Specialist, Doctor of Optics of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto

REV. PRINCIPAL GANDIER AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Being Especially Privileged We Will be Held Responsible for Neglecting Our Many Opportunities—"Ye Have Entered Into Their Labors."

A very large congregation at St. Paul's church, yesterday morning, gave an attentive hearing to the sermon delivered by Rev. Principal Gandier, D.D., of Knox College, Toronto.

In his message the speaker brought before his hearers a vivid picture of the privileges and opportunities of the present age, for the further extension of God's Kingdom. These privileges and opportunities, he explained, were the result of the teaching, struggles and hardships of the past generations, and he appealed for individual efforts, as each had a work to do, and it should be done, no matter how insignificant or small that part might appear to be. We in Canada were particularly privileged and had opportunities known in no other land, and God would hold us responsible.

The text was John 4, 38: "Other men labored and ye have entered into their labors." And concluding with this verses 39 and 40 of Hebrews 11th chapter. "And these all have obtained a good report, through faith, received not the promise." God having provided some better thing for us that they without us should not be made perfect."

In his opening remarks Principal Gandier referred to the fact that the present day generation had gained by the labors of other men. The fruit of their toil is the capital with which we begin. The railways, steamships, telegraph, telephone and other inventions we take as a matter of course and neglect somewhat to consider the work of the men in the ages before, which has made all these things possible for us. We owe something to these men, and it ill becomes us to be puffed up with pride, and point to the crudeness of other ages. So is this true of religion. Men talk about the crude conception of God in the old days, but we must remember that if the Old Testament had not gone before we could not have the New Testament. Without the preparatory work of the Old Testament we could not have Jesus Christ.

It was for us that Abraham answered the call of God; it was for us that Moses left Egypt; it was for us that Jesus went to Gethsemane and to Calvary. If we could only remember how much it cost Jesus and all His faithful followers who have gone on before to give us our redemption; if we would only stop and consider what it would cost them, we would not be so ready to despise our heritage or sell it for a mess of pottage, as so many do. And Canadian Christians are especially privileged, all of which is owing to the pioneers who came to this land, and with patient endurance and self-sacrifice transformed the unbroken the unbroken forest into fertile fields, and into prosperous towns.

We came just in time to escape all these hardships and enter into the fruit of their work. Take our pioneer ministers. They might have had good positions in the Old Land, but preferred to come here. They travelled up and down the country preaching the gospel, baptizing the children, building up congregations, and we have the results of the work to-day all around us. We now have our day of responsibility. We have our churches, our colleges and missionary enterprises. "I wonder," said the speaker, "if any other people have the responsibility such as us. He referred to the great work done by Knox College since it was commenced, how much it has meant for the national and church life. Now there was a call to the members of the Presbyterian church, to permit of further accomplishment. Here was responsibility.

And it was the individual effort that was needed. No one, no matter how small his or her talents were, should shirk the duty before them. The strength of the congregation was through the combined work of each member. If we fall short God will hold us responsible for we have the best chance.

It is for us to impart to the people coming to our land that pure Christian faith which is part of our heritage.

There are some who say, let them remain as they are, but this should not be. Our fathers laid the foundation of the church and we must raise the superstructure. And in the faith, they had suffered and died, looking for a fulfillment of the promise which they did not receive. We must take up their unfinished work and add another stage towards the completion.

Through Jesus Christ and His redemption is to be effected the triumph for which the ancient heroes died, and their faith vindicated and we made perfect. Paul foresaw the day when the name of Jesus would be above all other names, though in his day the men spat at the mention of His name. And that day is coming. It is not come to-day, and will not have come until the whole world is evangelized. Then will the faith of the apostles be vindicated.

"I believe there is a true sense in which Jesus Christ is not made perfect without us," said the preacher. "Our love, our faith, our sacrifice is needed. Doesn't that give a different meaning to a Christian life. Jesus Christ is depending upon us, and this is the day. We must do this work.

We land in the breach between future generations. We must not only pass on our inheritage, but must give of it, enriched and enlarged.

There should be an ambition in every individual to have a part in the great spiritual temple Jesus is building. He wants every one of us to have a stone in that temple.

Principal Gandier spoke at Knox church in the evening, when a large congregation was present.

OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

At Meeting of Peterboro' Law Association—Were Guests at a Luncheon Given by Mr. G. E. L. Goodwill

The members of the Peterborough Law Association were at noon to-day the guests of Mr. J. E. L. Goodwill at an enjoyable luncheon at Hooper's Palm Gardens. Matters of an important nature were discussed and the affair was most successful.

The following officers were elected;

President—E. H. D. Hall.
Vice-President—J. W. Bennett.
Secretary—J. E. L. Goodwill.
Treasurer—R. E. Wood.
Trustees—F. D. Kerr and D. O'Connell.

At the conclusion of the luncheon a hearty vote of thanks was moved to Mr. J. E. L. Goodwill.

The Best

An Edmonton man called at the Grand Trunk Office the other day and stated that the Grand Trunk Pacific roadbed and equipment between Winnipeg and Edmonton was the best in the west, and, in fact, as good as any in America. He compared the roadbed to that of the Grand Trunk between Chicago and Montreal, which he conceded was the standard.

BIG SALE ON AT GALL'S, KEENE

A big sale is being held at Keene, of a great stock of groceries, rubbers, shoes, dry goods, stock foods, paints, etc. It is Gall's selling off sale. Prices in this sale have been cut to absolute cost, and the sale will last a month, beginning on Saturday, January 14. The entire stock is under immense reduction, and the people around Keene will do well to wait for the big bargains soon to be offered. Gall's store will be a scene of great activity, for it is not often that people can buy goods in small quantity at wholesale prices. Almost everything a person might want will be included in the offerings. Watch for the big sale.

St. Paul's Church

Announcements for the week are as follows;

Regular meeting of the Young People's Guild on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

On Tuesday evening at 7.45 a general meeting of the Board of Managers will be held in the Dominion Bank Chambers.

The members of the Fraser Mission Band and all those interested in Mission study will meet in the Guild room on Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

The regular midweek prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Teachers' meeting at the close.

The W.F.M.S. meets on Friday at 7.30 p.m.

Boys' Brotherhood on Friday evening at 7.15.

GRAND
OPERA HOUSE
Wednesday, Jan. 11
First appearance in this city of England's foremost emotional actress
Miss Lena Ashwell
Assisted by
CHARLES WALDRON
presenting C. M. S. McLellan's Powerful Play
"Judith Zaraine"
(Liebler & Co., Managers.)
Prices 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50. Gallery 25c. Seats on sale Monday morning

Real Estate

City and Farm Property for sale or to rent
MONEY TO LOAN.
C. BLEWETT, 332 George-st., Peterboro
Office Phone 1321.
House Phone 563

Walk Right In—to our store and we'll fit you with a pair of Regal Shoes that you can walk right in. Regals insure perfect fit and comfort.

REGAL SHOES

are the greatest shoe-values in the world, and we have the exclusive sale of them in this community. You can take our word for it—Regals give almost twice the service of ordinary shoes.

J. T. STENSON & SON
264 George Street.

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paper Hangers, Gilders Glass Embossers and General House and Church Decorators

All work guaranteed and executed with despatch. Our charges are moderate and we only use the best materials.

Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Address 762 Water St. Phone 1140.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks are tendered our many customers for making for us the most prosperous year we have ever had.

Hoping for continuation of favors for the future, we are,

Respectfully

GEO. RECORD
FRENCH DRY PRESSER AND CLEANER
173 Simcoe St. - 204 Charlotte St.

J. T. O'Connell & Co
REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

Garden property for sale, exchange or to rent.

5 acre park lot situated on river and close to G.T. Ry. tracks, nice orchard, good 1½ storey brick house, frame stables, hen house and hog pen, may be purchased at the low price of $800, as the owner is leaving the city.

8 acres land, nice and level, good garden property, nice view of the Otonabee river, 6 roomed frame cottage, frame stable, hog pen, hen house, good well, may be purchased at a reasonable price or the owner will rent by the month.

Good 2 storey brick house, 24x50, brick kitchen attached, house contains 10 rooms, bath and plumbing, furnace, electric light, lot 30x160, together with the joint use of a lane 12 feet wide. This property is situated within 5 minutes walk of J. T. O'Connell & Co's. The house requires a little paint and papering and is then worth $2,000. Can be purchased before Jan 10th for $1,800.

For further particulars apply to

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter st. Phone 376

PHOTOS! PHOTOS!

We produce the latest and best styles in photographic portraiture for presents. A trial will convince you of the quality of our work. All sittings finished for delivery within the shortest possible time.

W. G. LENDRUM
Phone 626 170 Charlote Street

Framed Views and Calendars
— FOR —
HOLIDAY GIVING
NEAT, APPROPRIATE AND INEXPENSIVE
SEE THEM AT
THE ROY STUDIO
148½ Hunter Street.

New Piano Warerooms
— and —
Real Estate Office
TAYLOR & WOOD
390 WATER STREET

COMMITTEES CHOSEN

New City Council Held Its First Meeting---Mayor Morrow Gave Address of Welcome---A Surplus of Between $4,000 and $5,000 from Last Year

It was a case of smiling faces and good resolutions this morning when the new Council Board for the city of Peterborough formally raised the lid on the city's business for 1911.

When the mayor took his chair in the Council chamber the aldermen from the various wards were seated from his right hand around the board as follows—South Ward, Ald. Buller and Duncan; Centre Ward, Ald. Metheral and Bradburn; West Ward, Ald. Edgar and Brown; North Ward, Ald. Kerneghan and Graham; East Ward, Ald. Anderson and Morgan.

On motion of Ald. Bradburn and Metheral, it was decided that the committees for the year be struck off by the committee of the whole council.

The mayor called attention to the fact that the mayor's banquet to the Council and the other civic bodies, would be held at Hooper's grill to-night at 9.30.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Mayor Morrow read the following address to the Council—

Gentlemen of the Council,—It gives me a great deal of pleasure to congratulate you on your election, and to welcome you as members of the City Council for the year 1911. I am sure that each member of the Council will do his best for the advancement of the city, and I feel confident that the members will work together pleasantly and harmoniously, and I trust that the year will be a record one in the growth and prosperity of the city.

As you are aware, there were two by-laws voted on by the ratepayers on Monday last, the first to assist the Bonner-Worth Company by loaning them up to $12,000.00 on their land and buildings, and the other to grant Chas. E. Dittman and his associates a franchise for the purpose of supplying natural gas to the city. The Bonner-Worth, while carried by a large majority, did not receive the requiring assent of three-fifths of the total number of ratepayers. The Ditman by-law, while it carried by a large majority, contains a provision giving a ten-year exclusive franchise and it will, therefore, be necessary to apply to the Legislature to have both of these by-laws confirmed.

There were several important works started by the city last year, which are still in an uncompleted condition. The sewer extensions and the storm drains in the south-western part of the city are under contract, and should be completed early in the year. The Isolation Hospital building is about finished. This building should be furnished and equipped at as early a date as possible, so that the city will be in a position to care for any contagious diseases that may require hospital treatment. The Smith street bridge will require more filling at the western approach and construction of sidewalks and hand-rails.

The matter of permanent pavements was taken up by last year's Council, and, owing to opposition encountered, was not proceeded with. Owing to the fact that we have some sixty-three or sixty-four miles of streets I am strongly of the opinion that some policy should be adopted by the Council for providing permanent roadways, and I believe it will be well for the Council to give attention to this matter at the earliest opportunity.

The Council have already given notice that they will apply for legislation at the coming session of the Legislature, to enable the city to assist in defraying the cost of a building for the Protestant poor of the city, and empowering the Council to levy a rate on the Protestant ratepayers for the maintenance of such inmates as may be sent from the city and for the same power to levy a rate on the Roman Catholic ratepayers for the maintenance of such inmates in the House of Providence as may be sent from the city. This, if carried out, will provide the very necessary accommodation for the Protestant poor of the city.

I would like to emphasize a statement made in my address to the Council a year ago in which I stated that the continued growth of the city depended to a very large extent on the securing and locating of new manufacturing industries. The Council of 1910 made a grant of $2,000.00 to the Board of Trade for the purpose of engaging an industrial commissioner. An official, namely Mr. H. V. Duggan, was engaged about the 1st of June last, who has been devoting his time to this work, and as mayor I have been kept in close touch with Mr. Duggan and know that he has been doing his work in a very systematic manner and I am strongly of the opinion that good results will accrue to the city from the expenditure of the above sum. I am of the opinion that the Council and the Board of Trade should act together in this matter for another year.

There is another matter which should engage the attention of the Council before very long, and that is the question of a new city hall. The present building does not provide adequate accommodation for carrying on the city's business, and in appearance it is not in keeping with the size and importance of the city, or with other public buildings. It compares very unfavorably with civic buildings in other cities not so large as Peterborough.

The quarters now occupied by the police department are very inadequate and unsanitary. I think this question should be discussed with the city trust commissioners to see if some scheme could not be devised whereby this building could be erected without issuing debentures for the cost thereof.

I feel satisfied that the members of the Council will give their best attention to the matters that will come before them, and that the endeavor of each one will be to transact the business expediously, and in the interests of the city as a whole.

COMMITTEES FOR 1911.

At the conclusion of the mayor's address the committee of the whole council met in the city committee room and the following committees were struck off—

Board of Works—Ald. Metheral, chairman; Ald. Graham, Anderson, Brown, Duncan and Bradburn.

Fire, Water and Light—Ald. Morgan, chairman; Ald. Edgar, Graham and Kerneghan.

Manufacturers' Committee — Ald. Buller, chairman; Ald. Edgar, Brown and Anderson.

Finance Committee—Ald. Bradburn, chairman; Ald. Buller, Metheral and Duncan.

Property Committee—Ald. Duncan, chairman; Ald. Bradburn, Morgan and Brown.

Legal and Reception Committee—Ald. Graham, chairman; Ald. Bradburn, Anderson, Kerneghan and Edgar.

NO POWER COMMITTEE.

The committee to look after the power interests of the city was dispensed with on suggestion of Ald. Bradburn, whose motion to this effect was seconded by Ald. Graham. Ald. Bradburn thought the mayor should look after power interests. Ald. Duncan proposed, however, to add Ald. Bradburn to the committee, and this was decided upon. This board of two will report to the Council when any power business has been transacted.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Ald. Graham the usual grant was voted to the mayor.

Ald. Duncan jocularly suggested that the salary for the chairman of the Board of Works be made $1,000 for the year.

Ald. Metheral looked as though he would like to second the motion, but didn't say anything.

GOOD FINANCING.

The mayor congratulated Ald. Bradburn, chairman, and the other members of the Finance Committee for the able management of the finances of the city during 1910. While the city treasurer's report for the last half of 1910 is not ready yet the mayor said the treasurer had informed him that there would be a surplus for the year of between $4,000 and $5,000.

FINGER WAS AMPUTATED

William Quibell, 164 1-2 Dublin street, had the second finger of his left hand so badly crushed in a shingle clipping machine, at Gray's shingle mill on Saturday, that the injured member had to be amputated this afternoon.

WITHDRAWS FROM THE FIRM

The announcement is made to-day that Mr. Manson Comstock has disposed of his interest in connection with the Peterborough Hardware Co., and retires. He has been with the firm for the last fourteen years, and for eight years of which he has been a member of the firm. His intentions as to the future are not decided on. His withdrawal from the business will be regretted, as he was popular and esteemed, and a factor in getting together the important business now handled.

ON THE STAGE TO-NIGHT AT THE ROYAL THEATRE

But to-day's vaudeville is the best yet, including Mr. Herb. Kendry's herd of trained goats, under the management of Mr. Prince.

Oma Crosby's kinkies, singing and dancing trio, introducing Master Russell Lee, phenomenal boy baritone. Al. Wilson, Xylophone soloist, in his great musical act. No change in prices for this extra big show. Complete change of pictures. All the latest, made by best manufacturers.

FINED $25.00

Robert Snelgrove was arraigned this morning at police court, charged with shipping apples in violation of the Inspection and Sales Act. The complainant was Inspector W. W. Brown.

His Worship imposed a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs, amounting to $28.30.

Will Give Recital

Miss Barbara Tennant (Mrs. H. W. Wadeley) will give a recital in the Grand Opera House to assist the King's Daughters of St. John's Church. Mr. Frederick Wright, Montreal, correspondent in Canada for the London Daily Telegraph is in the city to consult with the Committee of the King's Daughters, regarding the local appearance of Miss Tennant.

WANTED

TO RENT—FURNISHED HOUSE. ADDRESS particulars to Mr. E. R. Clarke, Contractor, The Auburn Power Co., or phone No. 338. 3d

IN MATTERS OF RELIGION ACCEPT WISE COUNSEL

In a special sermon to young men last night in St. Paul's Church, Mr. Pogue, speaking from the words, "Walketh not in the Counsel of the Ungodly," had some helpful words to say. He said in part:, "You will notice that the ungodly man has his counsel. He may complain, oftentimes about the Church's counsel, about the Church's creeds and doctrines, and yet the inconsistent thing about him is that he has his own creed, and his own opinion, and his own counsel. There are no men in a community who seem to know as much about religion as the men who make no profession of religion themselves; and there are none freer to give counsel to young men as to what they ought to believe. Do not walk in their counsel. When you want to know anything pertaining to matters of higher education you do not go to the man who boasts of the fact that he has never been to school in his life. When you want to know anything on matters of business or of scientific knowledge, you go to men who are specialists in these matters. Ought we not to do the same in things religious? Who are better capable of giving counsel and imparting information on the doctrine of Divine things than the men who all their lives have been living for God and in fellowship with God and who all their lives have been sitting at the feet of the Divine Master and learning of Him.

Is it not folly infinite to accept the counsel of men on religious matters who by experience, know nothing of the things of which they speak, and who boast of the fact that they know nothing of them? The days of the blatant Infidel are past. The unbelief with which the Church has to deal is a much more subtle thing. She has to contend to-day with it from men who are sometimes within her own ranks—from men who are teachers in our public institutions from thoughtful, educated men, who tell us that there is an irreconcilable warfare between science and religion between the latest results of scientific investigation and the religion of Jesus Christ.

I shall not attempt here any lengthened refutation of this assertion But I can say this much without fear of contradiction, that the leading scientific men of to-day are not only sincere believers in the religion of Jesus Christ, but that they assert that there is not one scientific discovery of the age that invalidates a single doctrine of revealed religion. My advice to the young men who hear me is that you do not accept the counsel of men on the subject of religion who are not themselves religious men, and who do not know the things of God and of religion experimentally.

ADMISSION OF FIVE CENTS TO SCHOOL PUPILS

For Poultry Show After Four O'clock, Each of the Three Days—800 Entries

No less than eight hundred entries were received up to Saturday night for the Peterborough Poultry Association's winter show, which commences to-morrow at the market hall. Many more will be received to-day and the list will easily go over the one thousand mark.

A staff of men are at work in the hall to-day and every detail is receiving attention.

All school children of the city will be admitted to the show after four o'clock on each afternoon for five cents. The general admission is fifteen cents.

Charged with insanity, John R. Wilson of Kemptville, is in jail at Brockville. He made a violent attack on his father.

Try a Review Want Ad. It Pays.

A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT

The Land of Flowers, Fruit and Sunshine

Why not escape the severe winter weather and possibly pneumonia and prolong your years of usefulness by a trip to the charming winter resorts of Florida, California and Mexico. It is an education and a rest, and change from the cares and anxieties of business will repay you. While increasing numbers are yearly doing this, there are many who should do so. The railways have made it easy and comfortable by the excellent service, and none more so than your own Grand Trunk System, the only double-tracked line to the south and west. Its reputation for dining car service, handsome parlor cars and "Modern Pullmans" is known to all wise and experienced travellers.

Full information, tickets, etc., from Grand Trunk Agents, or write J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto, Ont. 1d

Fire in the first floor of the Columbia hotel at London, Ont., did $2,000 damage.

Assembly No. 607

Manufactured by
—THE—
Mann Lumber Co.
PETERBOROUGH

All designs are perfect works of Art.

We have 150 patterns that you can choose from.

This is one of our numerous designs.

OBITUARY

CLIFFORD SAMUEL FREDENBURG.

The death occurred at one o'clock this morning of Clifford Samuel Fredenburg, at the age of nine months. He was the child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. George Fredenburg, residing at 30 Leyfayette avenue, to whom the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended.

The funeral will leave the family residence at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon, service being held at the hose at 2.30. Rev. W. C. Riddiford will conduct the funeral ceremonies.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

From Far B. C.

A donation of $5 has been received from a lady in British Columbia for the Children's Aid Society fund.

Special for This Week

With every purchase amounting to $1 (not sugar) we will give free, one dust pan. W. Robuck, Water and Smith streets. dtf

KID GLOVES

T. C. Elliot opened last Fall one of the largest Kid Glove Departments in Peterborough. All the best makes are shown — all shades

Meeting of Murray St. B.Y.P.U

The regular meeting of the B.Y.P.U. of Murray Street church will be held this evening. The topic which will be of a New Year character, will be taken by the president. This will also be the monthly consecration meeting when all members should be present Everybody is welcome.

Childrens 'Aid Donations

The Children's Aid Society beg to acknowledge receipt of the following subscriptions;

Mrs. Jaffray	$1.00
R. Munro	5.00
Master Frank Sherwood	50
A friend	2.00
A friend	1.00
Coldsprings Sunday school	8.50
Bricklayers and Mason's Union	5.00

NOTICE

Friday, the 30th day of February next, will be the last day for presenting Petitions for Private Bills.

Friday, the 10th day of February next, will be the last day for introducing Private Bills.

Friday, the 24th day of February next, will be the last day for receiving Report of Committees on Private Bills.

ARTHUR H. SYDERE,
Clerk of the Legislative Assembly.
Toronto, 7 Jan. 1911.

Butcher Business For Sale

The business carried on by A. L. Talbot, at No. 243 George-st., is offered for sale at once. Horse and vehicles, refrigerator, scales, cash register, etc.

Apply on the premises to

MRS. TALBOT.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
J. J. Turner & Sons — — — Owners and Managers

Monday and Tuesday,
Jan. 9th and 10th
At 7:30 and 9 p.m.

Matinees Monday, Jan. 9th, at 2.30 and 4 p.m. Price 5c.

HURLEY & HURLEY
The World's Novelty Gymnasts.
MISS ANNIE DEE
Singing Comedian.
These are two very fine acts.
Also complete change of Moving Pictures.

Some Special Bargains AT ROUTLEY'S

Crockery and China Section

30 doz. bread and butter Plates, Limoges decoration, gilt edges, each	5c
20 doz. China Mugs, tinted floral and gilt edge, each	5c
35 assorted China and Glass Trays, each	5c
10 English 97 piece Dinner and Tea Sets combined, guaranteed no better goods made, choice	$7 48
10 Limoges, 40 piece China tea Sets, pink rose decoration, gilt edge	8.69
15 China 40 piece China Tea Sets, kermes shape cups, pretty rose decoration	3.98
15 Chamber Sets, 10 pieces, pretty shapes and good decoration, choice	3 85
96 sets, Sugar and Creams (open) in Belleck. It will pay you to see them. Only per set	20c
35 pieces Foley ware, in Jugs, Marmalade, etc., worth four times our price, choice	24c

Specials

54 Ladies' Parasols, a variety of rolled gold and pearl handles, also sterling silver, worth $4.00 and $5.00 each, clearing at	$2.49
50 French Hand Bags, made of leather and not paper, regular high priced goods, clearing at	54c

We have many lines we would like to make you acquainted with if space would permit. All lines of toys at ridiculous prices at

TORONTO 262 Queen W. | Routley's | PETERBORO 379 George-st

O K

The Food Drink

Many people drink O'Keefe's "Special Extra Mild" Ale solely for its food properties. Being brewed of finest hops and malt, it contains all the body and brain building elements of these grains. It is because we use the best, that is so rich and creamy—so thoroughly enjoyable—as well as so nutritious and wholesome. It's "extra mild" remember, and never makes you bilious. In Crown stoppered bottles. No broken cork or tinfoil in the glass.

O'Keefe's

Special Extra Mild ALE

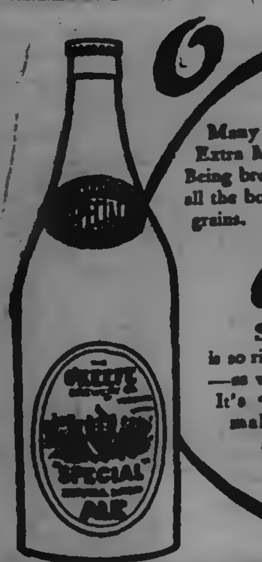
"The Beer that is always O.K." 228



SPORTING NEWS

STRONG LINE-UP FOR GAME IN COBOURG TO-NIGHT

The team to play at Cobourg to-night was picked at a meeting of the hockey club executive, Saturday and Heffernan and Sorel are to play.

"Heff" taking Charlie Ray's position at rover, that player being unable to work, on account of a recent injury.

Fred Denison will be used at cover. The team left on the noon train with the following line-up;

Goal—Derocher,
Point—Bond,
Cover—Denison,
Centre—Dobson,
Right—Sorel,
Left—Kelly,
Spare—Gitoux.

The Review will be represented at the game, which will be reported fully in to-morrow's issue.

SATURDAY-PRIZE-WINNERS AT YEOTE'S SHOOTING GALLERY

The following are the results of the shooting contests at the Yeotes Bros, shooting gallery on Saturday night;

PROFESSIONALS.

C. J. Smith	59
H. Solmes	59
T. D. Cole	59

SHOOTING OFF, TIE.

C. J. Smith, prize box of Marguerite cigars	59
D. Cole	54
H. Solmes	52
C. Duggan	58
Jas. Simmons	58
D. Dinnie	58
N. Perry	58
H. Smith	58
J. Powell	54
F. J. Pearson	56
H. M. Graham	58
A. Chapman	56
J. Rose	55
J. Pilling	54

AMATEURS.

No. 2 Target—

Hugh Mackay, winner	58
H. Youngman	58
J. R. Merritt	57
P. Hamlin	57
J. Reynolds	56
J. Huxley	56
P. Gettas	56
E. Hurtubise	56
N. Meeks	55
A. Millar	55
J. Clancy	56
W. Bickell	56
R. Parnell	56
B. Jones	55
A. Green	55
P. Parrington	55
B. Kemp	55
J. A. P. Stewart	55
P. Holland	54
J. McGowan	54
T. Matthews	54
F. Andrews	54
B. Fowler	53
J. Fitzpatrick	53
G. O'hearn	52

There will be four prizes given away at the shooting gallery this week, which are worth shooting for. Everybody has a chance—1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th prizes. We have six guns, three old and three new Winchester repeater. You can have your choice. The highest score is kept every week for three months and a medal is given the highest scorer, Ties to be shot off at end of three months.

HOCKEY GAMES
Of The Week

MONDAY.

Peterborough (I) at Cobourg.
Trenton at Belleville.
Pill Pounders vs. Machine Shop.
(Pro.) Picton at Trenton.

TUESDAY.

Cobourg (I) at Lindsay.
(Pro) Belleville at Port Hope.

THURSDAY.

(Pro) Trenton at Belleville.

BANK LEAGUE.

Dom-Ottawa vs Royal-Com.

FRIDAY.

Peterborough (I) at Trenton
(Pro.) Port Hope at Picton.

SATURDAY.

BANK LEAGUE.

Montreal vs. Toronto-Nova Scotia.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE.

Tool Room vs. C. G. E. Office.

CURLING

The annual games for the possession of the Shepheard-Needler trophy were curled for Friday at Lindsay between the Lindsay and Orillia curling club with the result that Orillia will look after the trophy during the present season, they having won it by the smallest possible margin of one shot. The Lindsay rinks in Orillia were defeated by 15 shots, while the Orillia rinks lost in Lindsay by 14 shots. Lindsay has won the trophy on six occasions.

According to arrangements no schedule games were played at the Curling rink on Saturday night. Several games of interest were played, however, affording some exciting moments.

Three rinks are wanted to go to Campbellford on Tuesday to meet a rival outfit at that place. Also two rinks to go to Keene on Friday, Jan. 13th.

PUCKLAND

The Lindsay Warder has the following to say in reporting the Peterborough-Lindsay O.H.A. game here on Friday night;

Although the Midgets were beaten, the score being 17 to 3, the large crowd that gathered got the worth of their money, because it is worth it to see the "Grillers" go. They are fast skaters, good stick handlers, and, being a very husky junior team, used their weight with effect. Heffernan, their cover point, and an intermediate man, too, plays splendid hockey. He is a strong check, and has everything—speed, stick-handling and a good shot. Hall, Matthews and Cough lin, played a good game, and figured in the combination. As a whole, the team skated faster, were in better condition, and combined better than the Midgets. When the Midget forwards got away with the puck, they were often caught by fast back checking on the part of the "Grillers." Several good chances to score were missed by the local boys.

In the Bank League game Saturday afternoon between five and six the Roya-Commercial seven won from the Toronto-Nova Scotia-T.S. and L. septette by a score of 5—1. The half-time figures were 2—0.

The Lock Works and C.G.E. office teams, met in the second game on the Mercantile League between seven and eight Saturday night. The electric men pulled out with a 3—1 victory. "Bill" Rose handled the bell.

Y.M.C.A. SPORT

In the Junior Basketball League the following games were played and resulted as follows:—Leaders defeated Sunny Gyms 2 to 2, Ramblers 11, Buster Browns 4, Hykers4 Roosters 2.

The members of the wrestling class are reminded that this is class night, commencing at 8 o'clock.

The Snowshoe Club will hold a tramp to-morrow, Tuesday evening, leaving the building at 8 p. m. A hearty invitation is extended to all withing to join in the tramp with us.

THE SCORES SHOOTING TOURNEY

In the Peterborough bowling alley and shooting gallery the scores last week were:—H. Solmes, 28; F. Turner, 28; C. Smith, 22; C. Gutterson, 26; R. Elliott, 26; Alex. Windover, 25; Alex. Acheson, 22. In the tie between Smith, Turner and Solmes, Solmes won, the prize being cigars.

LATEST NEWS OF THE G. T. P.

Fine Progress Being Made—Progress and Developement of New Town

The large number of enquiries that have been received by the Grand Trunk Pacific during the late fall and which are on the increase indicate that there will be an extremely heavy immigration, especially of Americans who will settle along the G. T. P. in the coming spring.

INCREASED TRAVEL

Further increase in travel is expected next year when a passenger over a number of branch lines will be undertaken. A line from Tofield to Calgary is expected to be completed next fall, but it is likely that a train service will be given over a considerable portion of thee line early in the summer. The line from Melville north through Yorkton to Canora, which is ultimately to form part of the Hudson's Bay line, has been completed as has also a large section of the line between Melville and Regina.

TRACK LAYING

Track laying has been carried a considerable distance beyond Balcarres and the steel should be carried into Regina during the early summer. From Regina a branch of considerable importance is being built easterly towards the International boundary. This will afford a more direct route to a large part of the immigration to Alberta and Saskatchewan from the western States. From Regina to Moose Jaw the preliminary work has been done the year on a branch line, ultimately to be extended through the southern portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta to Calgary.

FURTHER WORK IN SPRING

These branch lines will require some further work in the spring to bring them up to the high standard of road bed, that is being insisted on by the Grand Trunk Pacific, but the train service is to be looked for over them at an early date. West of Edson, work is being rapidly pushed on the main line as far as the crossing of the Athabasca River, a short distance the Yellowhead Pass by the early spring. This will afford access to the Jasper Park country to the tourist and mountain climbers, who have been eagerly waiting to get up an opportunity to get into that district.

PROGRESS OF TOWNS

Progress and development of towns has been more rapid throughout the year. The divisional points especially, have claimed great attention. On the average the divisional townsites, Rivers, Melville, Watrous, Biggar and Wainwright have added at least on -third to their population.

The other towns which have shown considerable activity are Tofeild Scott and Holden, as all are situated in the rich agricultural country. Early this fall, the Government section, that portion of the Transcontinental railway which is being built between Winnipeg and Lake Superior Junction, a distance of 260 miles, was put in operation by the G. T. P. and used for carrying a large quantity of grain.

IMPROVING MAIN LINE

If all accounts be true the G. T. P. are laying plans for further extensive improvements on its main lines already built as well as taking under construction, a large number of branch lines. Applications for these have already been made at the present session of the Canadian Parliament.

During the present year the G. T. P. have received a large number of passenger coaches, cafe, parlor, library cards, dining cars and baggage cars. These have all been built on the most modern lines. A large number of each class of car is now on order for delivery early in the spring. The railway has also added a number of locomotives, both passenger and freight, to its equipment this year. Great improvements have also been made in the company's steamship service on the Pacific coast.

St. John's Notices

Monday—Boys' choir practice; 7.30, Girls' Auxiliary; 8 p.m., A.Y.P.A. meeting. F. D. Kerr, Esq., will give "A Canadian Evening."

Tuesday—3.30 W.A. monthly meeting.

Wednesday—8 p.m., evening service; 8.30, Brotherhood meeting.

Thursday—8 p.m. choir practice; boys at 7.30.

Friday—8 p.m., Confirmation class in Guild room.

Saturday—9 a.m., boys' practice.

Last night about forty members of the choir, after evensong bade farewell to Miss Ruth Morris, a chorister, who is leaving for the West on Wednesday. Mr. H. W. Morphet expressed feelingly the regret felt at the departure of Miss Morris, and wished her every happiness in her new home.

St. John's Junior Auxiliary will resume business on Friday next at 4.15. Mrs. W. E. Conway asks that all members will be present, as the proposed work needs the best attention of all.

Moose Jaw curlers have opened what they claim to be the largest curling rink in the world.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM HUSTLING HAVELOCK

Havelock, January 7th. 1911.

Miss Myrtle Green of town is visiting friends in Madoc.

Miss Cavarly of Madoc is the guest of Miss M. Green.

Mr. and Mrs J. E. Fowler have returned home after visiting friends in Peterboro.

M. G. Young is the guest of his parents here.

Miss Lets Herrington of town was in Peterboro last week.

Mr. Bobby Carnrite of Tweed was in town last week.

Miss Olive Rose was in Peterboro last week.

Miss Kathleen McNicholl was in Peterboro last week.

Miss Rose West of Toronto is the guest of her parents here.

Miss I. Butters of Toronto is in town attending the funeral of her sister Mrs. Jack.

Mr. A. E. McGuire, who is working on the G. T. R. Toronto, visited his home here.

Misses Agnes and Stella Lynch, of Toronto spent the holiday with their parents.

Mr. Henry Seabrooks who has been spending the past three weeks with his parents here, leaves to-day for Calgary.

Mrs. S Robinson, of Fredericton, was the guest of Mrs. Harry Andrews last week.

Miss Dora Wilde has returned home after visiting friends in Peterboro.

Mr. Thos. Honeywell of Everett City, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. Mathison.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara are visiting friends in Eganville.

Miss Polly Chiles of Toronto is the guest of her brother, Mr. G. Chiles.

Mr. McCaffrey and Miss McCaffrey were the guests of Mrs. Dr. Thompson last week.

Mr. Harvey of town has returned home after visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barrigan visited friends in Hastings last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Haig spent the holiday with friends in Albion, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs Jas. Taylor of Madoc were the guests of Mr. I. Barlow last week.

Miss J. Christie and Mr. Fred. Gains of Toronto spent the holiday with Miss Hilda West, Trent Bridge.

Mrs. Dr. Kindred and daughter, Miss Madeleine, are visiting friends in Midland.

Mr. Frank Hill of Hastings was in town on Sunday.

Mr. W A Merkel of Kingston, was in town last week.

Miss Laura Kelly, who has been teaching for the past year at S. S. No. 6 Daisyworth, has left for New York where she will train for a nurse.

Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson entertained a number of her friends at a progressive euchre on Tuesday evening, when Miss A. Bryans and Mrs Meyer being the successful ones to win the prize.

Mr. Oscar Byrkell, who is formerly of town has been appointed teller- accountant at the Bank's new agency at Porcupine.

The new C. P. R freight shed which has been in view for some time has been finished and ready for service. It is one of the best freight sheds along the line of the C. P. R. The citizens are highly pleased as it is within easy reach of the business section and will be a great benefit to the town.

Mrs. C. W. Butcher is visiting friends in Toronto.

A hockey match took place on January 4th, when the town and school teams clashed. The school were the winners, the score being 6 to 2. Much interest was taken in the game by the citizens.

The girls hockey team will practice, for the first time on Friday night.

Miss May Vandervort has returned home after visiting friends in Ivanhoe.

Mrs. Alex. Innis was in Peterboro last week.

Miss Mollie Johnson of Norwood is visiting friends in town.

Miss Bailey of the Public School staff here sent in her resignation during the holidays, and Miss M. Driscoll of Trenton has been engaged in her place.

The Havelock Hockey team played against the Marmora seven on Friday night of last week.

Mr. Reggie Barlow was in Belleville last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bellighem and children are visiting friends in Peterboro.

The Ladies 'Auxiliary held their regular meeting at Mrs. Wm. Vance's on Wednesday of last week.

Many citizens are confined to their homes suffering from La Grippe.

Mrs. John Richards and son, Ross, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams visited friends in Tweed last week.

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARING

Mr. Chas. B Parcels, a respected resident of Belmont Township, left his home on December 7, to visit his sister in Lindsay. He registered at the Munro House on the same day, and has not been heard of since. His family and friends are very anxious about him and fear he has met with foul play. ei had about $150 with him. He is a prosperous farmer and his domestic relations are felicitous.

Mrs. Robert Jack who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, passed away on Wednesday, Jan. 4th. The funeral will take place from the family residence on Saturday, January 7th to Maple Grove cemetery. She leaves to mourn her demise husband and two children also her father, Mr. David Butters, her brother, Mr. Francis Butters, sister Mrs. Alex. Anderson, of town, and brother, Mr. T. Butters, and sister Miss I. Butters, of Toronto.

Mrs. John Petherick of Belmont, died at her home on Wednesday, Jan. 4, Age 79 years. She had been a resident of the township of Belmont, for 35 years.

FOR SALE

Iron Pipes for water and steam, Posts, Belting Pulleys, Shafting, Chains, Iron and Wood Pulleys, Steal Beams, Rails, Wire Fencing new and slightly used. Very cheap. Send for Catalogue, and state what you need.

The Imperial Waste & Metal Co.
7 Queen Street - MONTREAL

LUMBER

And builders' materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff—Mouldings, Casings and Base and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

SKATES
STRAPS, HOCKEY STICKS

Skates Sharpened and Repaired

MILLARD'S
BICYCLE SHOP
Hunter St., near Aylmer. Phone 1256

Australia's Hinterland.

The one problem in Australia which really overshadows every other, says an English paper, is that of the huge rich, unpeople northern territories—not only that section of the north which is at present controlled from Adelaide but the whole of northern Australia. It is an even greater problem than that of immigration, which to some extent forms a part of it. Here are enormous stretches of well-watered land capable of growing wheat, vast grazing areas, auriferous belts, rich tropical lands, innumerable natural products, deep rivers, and fine harbors. The portion known as the Northern Territory contains little more than 1,000 white inhabitants; the rest is populated on the same scale. There is need for a very rapid awakening of Australian opinion upon this vital issue.

THE ONTARIO CONSOLIDATED MINES, Limited.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $350,000.00
PAR VALUE OF SHARES 25c EACH

10 acres in the richest part of Cobalt, the world's most famous Silver Field. 4 acres prospected, showing 6 well defined calcite veins. Shaft 60 feet deep and all necessary buildings on property.

Write for prospectus, maps and special letter.

APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK FILLED IN ORDER OF RECEIPT.

FOR FURTHER PARTICULARS APPLY

MERSON & CO.
Members Standard Stock and Mining Exchange
16 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

The First Impression

Of a man and his business is given to those he corresponds with by the style and character shown in

The Stationery He Uses

If you want to have the distinction that goes with stationery with an individuality about it, come to

THE REVIEW

for your supplies. We make a special feature of this class of work, and turn out material that is exclusive in style and made from the finest stock. Included under this head are :—

Letterheads, Billheads, Envelopes, Circulars, Catalogues, Office Books, Loose Leaf Ledgers, Card Systems, etc., etc.

Come and talk it over, or phone 189, and our representative will call—

REVIEW PRINTING COMPANY

PLUMBING

HOT WATER, STEAM
and HOT AIR HEATING

GALVANIZED IRON WORK, ROOFING
and EAVETROUGHING

